Business Firms, Clubs Urged To Enter Parade Floats As Rodeo Dates Near

Business and industrial firms, clubs and other organizations are being invited this week to enter floats or other exhibits in the Post Stampede Rodeo parade here May 26.

Cash prizes totaling $20 will be awarded first, second and third place winners in the mobile unit division. First prize will be $25, second prize, $15, and third place prize, $10.

"In order to make this year's procession the biggest and best in the event's history, we're calling upon all firms and organizations to enter in the parade anything that'll move," said Tom Power and Powell Shytle, parade co-chairmen.

An outstanding array of riding groups is already assured, with at least 12 short-horn classes and other mounted units having accepted invitations to ride in the parade. They'll be competing for first, second and third place trophies.

"We owe it to these visiting riders to have as many Post organizations as possible represented in the parade," said the chairmen.

Not only floats, but equipment of all types, including oil field machinery, farm equipment, etc., is needed to make this year's parade an outstanding one.

By contacting the Chamber of Commerce this week, those wishing to enter floats in the parade still have time to make water-lights. Pre-fabricated decorations for floats may be ordered at prices ranging from $5 to $12.

"While every group entering a float in the parade has a chance at one of the cash prizes, their investment will pay off through advertising and building of good will, even if they're not a winner," the parade chairmen pointed out.

Those wishing to enter floats or equipment in the parade are asked to contact Shytle or Power as soon as possible. "The more time we have to plan the parade, the bigger and better it will be," they said.

The chairmen said they will contact all businessmen and club officials within the next few days in regard to participating in the procession.

Other pre-rodeo development this week included announcement that May 22-29 has been set as "Western Wear" week by the western atmosphere committee headed by S. E. Camp.

Everyone is urged to dress "western" during the week in order to help promote the rodeo.

Meanwhile, other plans are shaping up for the rodeo, in which more than $3,500 in prizes is being offered contestants. This year's events will include a cutting horse contest, the first held here in several years. Other contests will include bareback riding, calf roping, cowgirl sponsor, saddle bronc riding, ribbon roping and wild steer riding.

Dances will be held every night on a pavilion enclosed by a new cyclone-type fence. Music will be furnished by an outstanding western orchestra.

CROP OUTLOOK BEST SINCE 1950

Hard Rains Boost '54 Total To 5.80

Post's 1954 rainfall reached a grand total of 5.80 inches through Wednesday, further brightening a crop outlook that already was the best since 1950.

A total of 2.34 inches fell from early Monday morning through Tuesday, with the heaviest precipitation—1.00 inches—coming late Monday night and early Tuesday morning.

Summing the picture somewhat, what was washing over about 75 percent of the county's corn crop, but the benefits from the soaking rains will far outweigh the loss agricultural oh-servers said.

Some hail accompanied the rain late Monday night, but the damage is believed to have resulted, County Agent Lewis C. Heaton, Jr., said Wednesday. He had heard of no damage from the hail. "There is a possibility, he said, of there having been enough water in the furrows from the rain to protect the cotton from the hail.

West and north of Post, above the raincoat, the fall was heavier than in town. In the Garner community, 2.81 inches is reported to have fallen before the early downpour of Tuesday afternoon, which deposited 63 of an inch in Post.

Also before Tuesday afternoon's shower, up to two inches were reported from the Graham community, and two inches at Justicetown.

The heavy rains are not believed to have caused much damage to grain crops. The moisture has put ranges in the best shape they've been in for many months.

The rains were the first since the early April drought broke, when 3.63 inches were reported in Post.

The rainfall total of 5.80 inches compares with a total of only 1.97 inches the first five months of last year.

The rainfall was general throughout the South Plains area, and observers point out that there is a possibility of the 26-county area coming up with one of the biggest cotton crops in history despite controls. Many dryland areas will be able to get back into the swing of cotton production, halted by three years of drought.

Band Director Is Employed

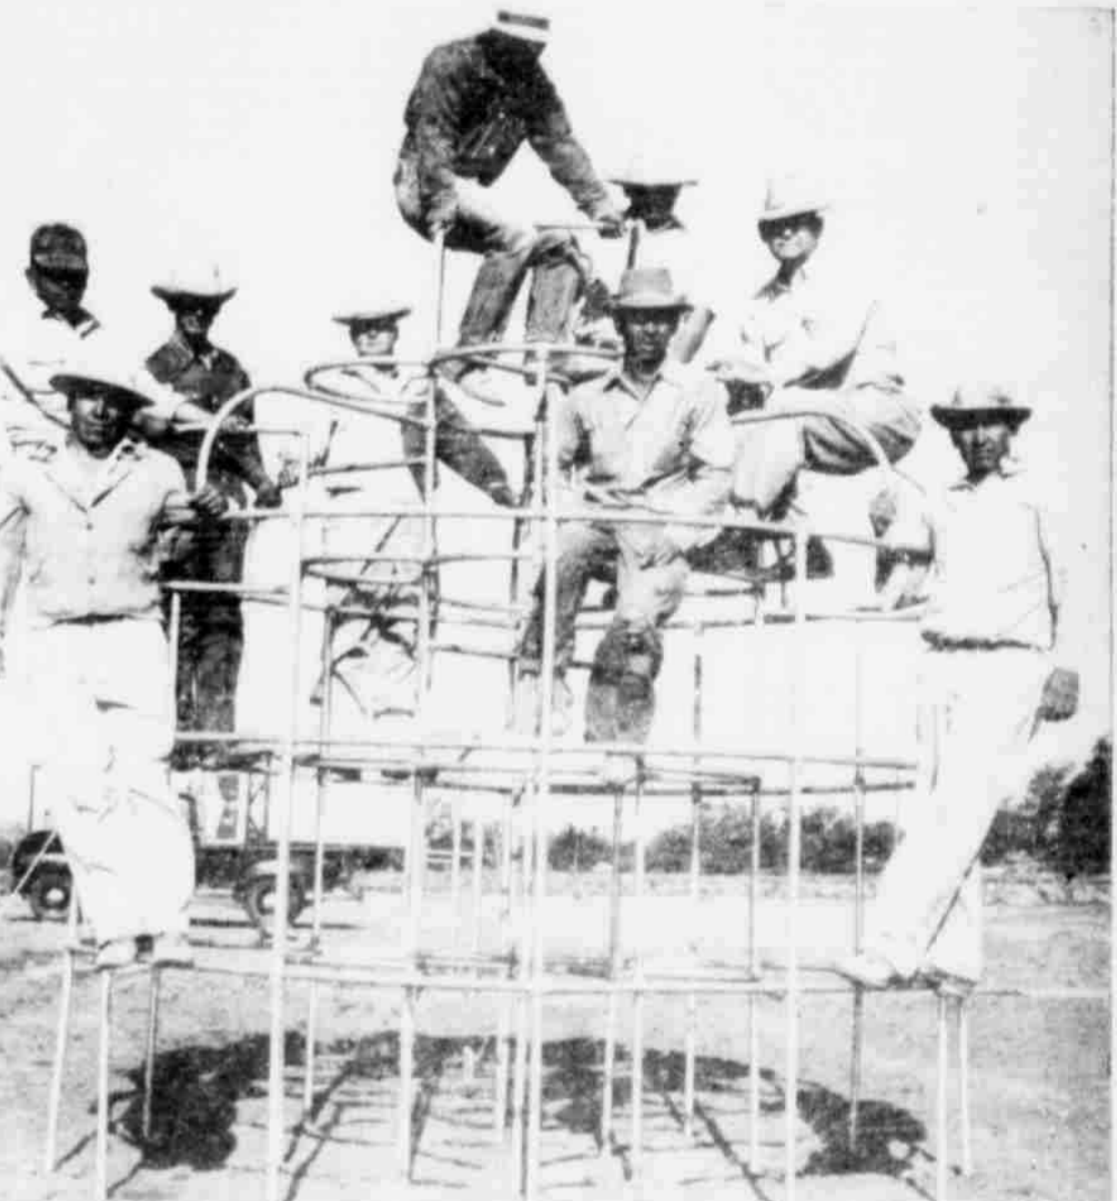

In two long sessions Monday and Tuesday nights, the board of trustees of the Post Independent School District hired a new band director, voted to purchase two new school buses and two second other buses.

The new band director is Bill Parks, 29, who has been band director at Glen Rose for the past five years. He is a graduate of North Texas State College, Denton, and spent three years in the armed forces. He and his wife and their 18-month-old son will move to Post about Aug. 1.

Parks will replace Bob Robbins, who has resigned after two and a half years here as band director.

One of the two buses to be purchased by the board will be a large one to use for school trips, according to D. C. Arthur, superintendent of schools. The other new bus will be placed on the Verbena run and the bus now in use there will be added to the Barnum Springs run, which is to be split into two routes for the 1954-55 school year.

The board also voted to accept the offer of Caprock Chevrolet. See BAND DIRECTOR, Page 8

Charges Filed Wednesday In Assault, Robbery Case

W. B. Jones, 38, was charged Wednesday with assault with a deadly weapon after he was arrested on a signed statement that he killed the dog together with the American Girl Club property sign after striking the animal. Albert Darby, in the head with a stick. The youth had been held as a suspect since about 11:30 p. m. Saturday shortly after Darby stumbled into a pool hall adjoining the cafe in a semi-conscious condition from a gash on his head.

In the signed statement made by County Attorney Pat N. Walker, the youth said he had been employed by Darby for the past three or four weeks to clean up and mop after the cafe was closed by the night.

He said that shortly after closing time Saturday night, he and Darby were in the cafe together and that his employer told him to lock the back doors and to be home by 11:30 p. m.

He said he went to the back to close the doors, but that he did not lock the door and that he decided while mopping to rob Darby. After finishing, he told Darby goodnight and went out the front door.

Jones continued that he went around the First National Bank and into the alley, re-entering the cafe by the back door and See CHARGES FILED, Page 8

Dog Poisoner On Rampage In City

"Poach," a fox terrier owned by the Leo M. Acker family, died a slow agonizing death Friday—the victim of a dog poisoner.

Other pet owners and parents of children who might accidentally get hold of some of the poison put out for dogs are warned that a dog poisoner apparently is on the loose in Post, since the Ackers' pet is the third in that neighborhood to die from poison within recent weeks.

"We thought a lot of Poach and as far as we know he never bothered anyone," said Acker.

Feeling the loss more keenly perhaps than the other members of the family is 10-year-old Leslie. Like other boys about his age, he hates to lose his dog, and the loss seems even more bitter when he knows that Poach didn't have a chance—a dog never goes against a poisoner.

People learned long ago that it doesn't do much good to appeal to a dog poisoner. The fact that a child might accidentally get hold of the poison doesn't seem to stop them from putting it out. The only thing to do is watch your pets—and your children.

Quota Is Exceeded In Cancer Crusade

Garza County had exceeded its 1954 Cancer Crusade total by $22,577 up to Wednesday afternoon, according to a report by Miss Wilma Pirtle, drive treasurer.

This year's quota was $20,000 and a total of $22,577 had been reported up to 3 p. m. Wednesday.

Ellis M. Mills, county Crusade chairman, said Tuesday that reports had not yet been received from a few areas.

Open Bids Monday On Seal-Coating

Bids for seal coating of several miles of county roads and city streets in Commissioners' Precinct 2 are to be opened at 10 a. m. Monday at the office of the county judge.

The advertisement for bids calls for asphaltic seal coat application on approximately 117,700 square yards of county roads southwest of Post, and 40,000 square yards of streets in the southwest part of the city.

Saturday Date Of Station Opening

Grand opening of the Phillips "66" Quick Service on North Broadway will be held Saturday, beginning at 9 a. m. Keith Kemp, operator, announces.

"There'll be refreshments and gifts for everyone who visits us," said Kemp. These will include favors for the children. With each fill-up of five gallons or more of Phillips "66" gasoline, drivers will be entitled to a wash job coupon (first 1,000 cars). One pair of ladies' nylon hose will go to each of the first 500 cars carrying a lady passenger.

Service at the station will include everything from a simple tire check to complete lubrication, Kemp said.

The operator is a longtime resident of Post and has had several years experience in service station operation.

Parents Urged To Have Check-Ups Made Early

Pre-school tests to be free

Post physicians have agreed to give free health examinations to children who will be starting school for the first time in September. It was announced Friday at the pre-school round-up held at Post Grade School.

The only fees charged parents in the required health preparations for their children's first year enrollment will be those for immunization and vaccination, it was explained.

Although attendance of pre-school children at Friday's round-up was below expectations, the all-day program was

Unmixed Bathing Time Is Allotted

The Post Ministerial Alliance has been assured by the City Commission that morning time at the new swimming pool will be made available to groups desiring unmixed bathing. The Rev. Roy Shaban, president of the ministerial alliance, said today.

The ministerial group had asked the City Commission to consider its recommendation that groups desiring time at the pool for unmixed bathing be looked upon with favor. Two meetings were held between representatives of the ministerial alliance and the city commission. At the second of these meetings, Mayor T. L. Jones told the ministers that morning time for unmixed bathing would be available. See BATHING TIME, Page 8

Pre-School Tests To Be Free

The parents attended a brief program in the auditorium and heard talks by Mrs. Vernon Ray, school health nurse, Mrs. Phil Twinnell, Parent-Teacher Association health chairman, and Dr. Harry A. Tubbs.

Parents of the pre-school age children were given health examination blanks for their children's check-ups. The principal said parents are urged to have their child's health requirements met as early as possible before opening of the 1954-55 school term.

Meritorious Service Award In Scouting Received By Dispatch

The Post Dispatch was presented a Meritorious Service Award for an outstanding contribution to scouting Friday night at the 28th annual banquet of the South Plains Council, Boy Scouts of America, held at the First Baptist Church in Lubbock.

"In recognition of Outstanding Service Rendered above and beyond the call of normal duty," read the award, which was presented by State Rep. Waggoner Carr, who is a council commissioner.

It marked the first time that a weekly newspaper in the area covered by the South Plains Council has been singled out for such an award.

The Lubbock Avalanche-Journal was presented a similar award for outstanding service rendered to the scouting program by a daily newspaper.

John F. Lott of Post was recipient of one of the first two awards of the "Wood Badge," a special camping and woodcraft award for adult leaders, to be made in the South Plains. The other Scouter receiving this award was Dr. Wallace Hess of Lubbock. The awards were made by W. R. (Bill) Postma, council executive.

Raymond Lupper of Lubbock, director of field services for the council, installed the following new officers:

Joe T. Salem, Sudan, president; J. C. Powell Jr., Brownfield, commissioner; Ralph Krebs, Lubbock, first vice president; Lott, second vice president; J. M. Wilson Jr., Floydada, third vice president; Jack Christian, Littlefield, fourth vice president; F. M. McLaughlin, Lubbock, treasurer; and Weldon Gibbs, Lubbock, assistant treasurer.

New representatives to the national council include Dr. E. B. Malone of Lubbock, L. M. McAdoo of Seagraves and Henry Teubel of Tulia. Holdover representatives are Dr. Clifford B. Jones of Lubbock, J. M. Wilson, Sr. of Floydada, and J. Ed McLaughlin of Ball.

Tribute was paid at the banquet to Dr. Malone, who retired this year as the council's president, an office he has held since 1934, and Kennedy N. Clapp, retired cotton firm executive, who has been a council commissioner since its organization in 1928.

Dr. Malone also presented greetings and introductions to the crowd, and Clapp was presented plaques by Lott, who set of them for their service to the 28-county South Plains Council.

When Dr. Malone became president in 1934, there were 20 Scout units in the area with a total membership of 753. Last year, the council numbered 269 units with 7,831 members.

Clapp has served the council since it began in 1925, beginning as the scoutmaster of Troop 4 in Lubbock. Although he has been a councilman since 1928, Clapp told the crowd Friday that his greatest thrill from scouting had come during his term as a scoutmaster.

Adult scout leaders receiving the Silver Beaver awards, the highest award by the council, were 1934 Brown Lubbock, John W. Jones, Ball, John W. Wilson, Lubbock, and James M. Wilson, L. Floydada.

That is not by Wilson marked another first for the meeting. It was the first time that a girl and son have been present at such a event. The elder Wittson received his award in 1948 since the award was instituted in 1932 only 30 have been presented by the South Plains Council.

Clapp made the presentation of the first award.

International service center were present at the Carr to announce R. H. Smith, Lubbock, Alex Klattner, station, Texas

At the close of the tour, and a program of hospitality at Fort Wayne, just at Springfield, representative units of most International Harvester models produced at the two plants were shown by the dealers to "transfer to their respective showrooms."

Members Of L. H. Welch Family Are Setting Area School Teaching Mark

The L. H. Welch family of Post, seven of whom are or have been actively engaged in teaching, was the subject of a feature story in a recent issue of the Lubbock Evening Journal. The story follows:

Texas celebrates its first century of free public education this year, and the L. H. Welch family of Post has helped it along during at least three-fourths of that time.

Mrs. Welch's father, the late N. T. Smith of Colorado City, began the family tradition and taught approximately 65 years in the area around Colorado City. Mrs. Welch is now teaching in the lower grades at Post, and Welch is teaching science in the upper grades there.

Of their seven children, five have been actively engaged in teaching. Twila is a speech therapist in the elementary grades in the Lubbock school system, and Jill teaches the fourth grade at Roscoe Wilson Elementary School. N. Lee Welch is principal of the River Road School near Amarillo, and Mrs. Arval Stewart is teaching in junior high school at Lockney. Another daughter, Mrs. A. J. Sales, taught homemaking at Wilson until spring of last year.

Jill, who is in her first year of teaching, and Twila, who has taught three years, say they also have four aunts in the profession.

Another sister, Buena, is majoring in business at Tech—"just to be different." A brother, Leslie, is still in the eighth grade, and his only interest at present is football.

When asked why she chose to carry on the family tradition of teaching, Twila said, "I like children and would rather work with them than with adults. Probably growing up in a big family had something to do with it." Jill agreed.

You'll never know how easy driving can be...

UNTIL YOU TRY A MERCURY

COME IN...DISCOVER MERCURY'S NEW 161-HORSEPOWER ENGINE, BALL-JOINT SUSPENSION, MERC-O-MATIC DRIVE AND EASY POWER FEATURES

It's an entirely different feeling from any car you've ever driven. So effortless and sure-footed you won't believe it until you try it.

The first thing you notice is the easy passing power that comes from Mercury's entirely new overhead valve V-8 engine. The secret is Mercury's new four-barrel carburetor with the two rear barrels vacuum-operated. These rear barrels deliver extra power at the precise second you need it.

Coupled with this new passing power is the biggest improvement in front-end design in many years—revolutionary new ball-joint suspension that lets you take every corner, every curve more smoothly—easier than you ever thought possible. Two simple ball-and-socket joints replace old-fashioned kingpins that tend to bind and make steering stiff. These smooth-operating ball-joints give you a new feeling of road stability... of extra-highway safety.

But you can make your driving still easier with Mercury's 5 easy power features.* Power steering, power brakes, a 4-way power seat, smooth, no-shift Merc-O-Matic Drive... even electric window lift.

Come in and let us show you how easy driving can be—and why it will pay you to own America's fastest growing car. Take a demonstration drive in a Mercury today!

Wind Erosion—

As explained in a memorandum of the state committee, the emergency program will be administered by the ASC committee in each county, with assistance from the Soil Conservation Service. The committee will determine if and when a farmer is in need of funds to control erosion. The program will be administered in connection with the 1954 Agricultural Conservation Program, and may be started immediately.

According to the memorandum, a farmer may secure payment for wind erosion control practices started on or after March 31, 1954, if he makes application for such before March 17. Those farmers planning to start any of the six practices in the future may secure federal payments if he makes application before the practice is actually started.

In his statement, Jones said he concealed himself in the bathroom with a stick about 18 inches long and two inches square that he had picked up before re-entering the cafe. He said that when Darby entered the bathroom he struck him with the stick and that Darby threw up his hands, partially catching the weapon.

The youth's statement continued that Darby did not fall, but leaned back against a table. Jones said when he saw the cafe owner was going to fall that he caught him and eased him to the floor. He said he then went to the cash register and took all the five and one-dollar bills.

His statement continued that he left the cafe by the front door and went home, where he washed some blood out of his shirt and hid the money behind a mirror on the bathroom wall. He said that after returning to his room, he found a bill still in his pocket and that he placed it between the pages of a Bible near his bed.

Jones' statement said he then went to bed and that less than an hour later the sheriff came to his room. He said he returned to the cafe with the sheriff and while there decided to tell him all about it.

The youth's statement said he had planned to leave Post the morning of the following day. Sheriff Carl Rains, who arrested Jones, said about $40 was found in his room.

Darby was returned to his home Monday morning from Garza Memorial Hospital.

million consecutive man-worked without a lost-incident is the safety record of the Southwest Electric Service Company. This longest continuous accident-free record is the company's accomplishment. It is only our safety record that is of vital importance to our customers. It is safety that makes it possible for us to provide dependable, economical service to our customers. Accidents are expensive in time and money when we reduce them to a minimum. Our employees have continued to work hard in the face of several strikes and now that they have returned to work, you are sure they will continue to add another million man-hours to our record. E. Watson, executive vice president and general manager, said that the accident-free period started on Jan. 30 of this year, and has continued to the present with no interruptions. The company has 100,000 man-hours of electric light and power employees. Last year, the company set a goal of 1,000,000 man-hours. The goal was set in 1953. Last year, the company worked one 910-hour period without an accident. Time ran out on them when they were again possible to million before the year's end.

was re-established and after a temporary suspension on Jan. 20 the string of accident-free days, which had nearly 3 1/2 months, reached the mark of 1,000,000 man-hours.

animately portray the magnitude of this accomplishment. It can be pointed out that it would take one man 2,000 hours a year—forty-four weeks, 500 hours a week—to do the million accident-free man-hours.

Western Public Service's safety record is one of the outstanding in the utility and power industry. The industry average for lost time accidents for 1953 was 1.5 per million man-hours worked. Southwest's figure was .0001 per million man-hours. The record for the Public Service Company is now down to .0001 per million man-hours.

Yankees Falling Apart?
That's The Question

There is a noticeable feeling of an impending change in the American League, says The Sporting News. Rival managers and players come to Yankee Stadium, take a good look at the Yankees and announce with conviction, "There will be no sixth straight pennant! These guys are washed up!" In past years, predictions by opposition sources of New York grief were guarded and a case of the wish being father to the thought.

Now, there is a far different situation. The other clubs are convinced that a new deal is in process of development, and there is great rejoicing.

There has been more than the normal cheering in the Stadium for visiting clubs. It is conceivable that the customers, like the opposition, are tired of seeing the Yankees win, season after season, and are ready for a change.

One thing is sure, says The Sporting News, this Yankee club is not geared for anything like the winning streak of 18 straight with which the Bombers of 1953 ruined the race as early as June.

Without Mickey Mantle in center every day, Stengel's outfield is not too formidable. Nor is the infield up to the old Bomber standard. Short and second have been harassing Casey and he has been talking of taking chances.

The Yankees had a lackluster training season, and since the pennant race got under way the weather has been rather unhelpful.

They are confronted with the absolute necessity of playing better ball, or moving out of the picture after having dominated baseball for five straight years, says The Sporting News.

"Break up the Yankees" was at one time the battle cry in the American League. After five flags in a row, can it be that the Yankees are falling apart?

Many New Features In 'The Dope Book'
Did you know that Al Lopez, manager of the Cleveland Indians, caught more games than any other major league backstop... and that he once ate lamb chops for 11 consecutive days while his club was on a winning streak?

Well, that's a sample from the breezy biographies of all 16 major league managers carried as a new feature of The Sporting News Dope Book, which has just come off the press.

These biographies contain many interesting anecdotes and little-known facts about all the big league managers. But that's only a part of the many interesting features, as well as facts and figures, contained in this handy, pocket-size publication of nearly 200 pages packed with features you won't find in any other baseball books.

The Sporting News Dope Book also contains the latest diagrams of the 15 major league parks. The distances down the foul lines and to each corner of the playing field are shown, together with the heights of the outfield walls.

OPENINGS IN NAVY

Chief E. H. Linenbroke, recruiter in charge of the Navy Recruiting Substation at Lubbock, has announced that the Navy has immediate openings for qualified young men between the ages of 17 and 31. Chief Linenbroke says the Navy is especially desirous of enlisting young men to fill vacancies in the electronic, fire-control, and radar fields, in which high-calibre, mentally alert young men are needed.

When a Yankee writer asked Enos Slaughter to recall some of the great plays he had made, he got a startling answer from the old pro, who said, "I didn't make any plays I shouldn't have."

terian of the game's Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N. Y. In addition, you'll find the complete 1953 major league averages, the official playing and scoring rules for this year, directories of the 16 major league clubs, Diamond Definitions and many, many other items.

To Cooper '9'

The Southland High School baseball team lost to Cooper, 7 to 3, Saturday in the District 9-B Conference playoffs at Odem Field in Lubbock.

It was a tough game for Ronald Huddleston, Southland hurler, to lose. He held the Cooper nine to four hits, but errors and walks was the Southland team's downfall.

The score was tied once, at 1-1 in the second inning, but Cooper scored four times in the third frame to take a long lead and Donnie Skipworth, winning pitcher, held the losers at bay after that.

Basinger, a 6-3, 190-pound Southland athlete, hammered a home run to pace the Southland attack and also had a pair of singles.

Displays, Demonstrations Set For Armed Forces Day May 15 At RAFB

The Army, Navy, Marines and Air Force have combined to present a variety of displays and demonstrations representing the military power of the Armed Forces at the Reese Air Force Base "Open House" on Armed Forces Day, Saturday, May 15.

Using the same slogan as last year, "Power for Peace," this year's Armed Forces Day will be distinguished as a time for tribute to the teamwork of the nation's armed forces and to the unity of the American people.

Although the observance is being staged at Reese AFB, it is by no means a strictly Air Force show. Reese happens to be the largest military installation in this vicinity and holding the observance here is more practical for participation of the various services concerned.

"All branches of the service will be represented affording visitors of the South Plains an opportunity to get an overall view of the combined might of our armed services and witness the close cooperation between branches of the service."

Read The Classified Ads!

On May 13 the main gate at Reese will open for visitors at 11 p. m., although the day's events will not officially get underway until noon.

Every effort is being made to provide South Plains residents an opportunity to see modern aircraft, both on static display and in flight. Flyers of Lubbock and Reese will consist of the latest jet aircraft to include the B-47 Stratojet and B-36 intercontinental bombers.

Maj. Gen. Morris J. Lee, Director of Personnel Planning, Headquarters, U. S. Air Force, will be the featured guest of Lubbock citizens and Reese AFB for the observance. Newspapermen from Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma City will be addressed by General Lee on the evening of May 14.

Lubbock military organizations which will participate in Armed Forces Day activities include the U. S. Army Reserves, U. S. Naval and Marine Corps Reserves, Army ROTC, Air Force ROTC, 132nd Field Artillery of the Texas National Guard and the Voluntary Air Reserve Training Unit.

Other events on the schedule include demonstrations by the Fort Sill, Okla., artillery team, mass flyers, and entertainment by Reese personnel. Among Reese entertainers are "The Trojans," a top-notch hand balancing acrobatic team, which recently returned from a world-wide tour of military installations with the "Tops in Blue" stage show. Also lined up is A/C Gus Mitchakes, popular vocalist, who will sing popular numbers. Music will be furnished by the Texas Tech band.

Two refreshment stands will be provided on the flight line with officers' and NCO wives in attendance. Soft drinks, hot dogs, coffee and ice cream will be among the items sold for visitors' refreshment.

Amply parking space will be available and air policemen on duty at the entrance will direct all visitors to the parking area. Schedules will be distributed to all persons as they enter, outlining the day's events and where they may be seen.

The city of Lubbock has appointed a committee to iron out plans for the joint project with Reese. Col. C. F. West, Reese commander and military coordinator for the Lubbock area, has also appointed a committee, headed by Maj. B. E. Motter, to work with civilian groups and various military organizations in the area in order to make this year's Armed Forces Day a success.

Abilene Roper Is Winner At Rotan

ROTAN—Jack Norton of Abilene won a matched roping contest here Sunday with a time of 1:30.3 for eight calves. John Burrus of Caradan had a time of 1:35.8.

Thirty-one ropers from 12 towns took part in a jackpot contest, with Burrus posting a time of 22.9 for two calves to take top money. Lester Morris of Maryneal was second with 25.4 and Jack Strickland of Abilene was third with 27.4.

Shivers Confident Of Drouth Relief

Gov. Allan Shivers, just returned from the White House Governors' Conference, has expressed confidence that the federal government will liberalize emergency drouth aid and that Texans will be able to find long-range solutions to their water shortage and soil erosion problems.

The Governor's recommendations to President Eisenhower included a one-year moratorium on any shift from fixed price supports. The 90 per cent parity policy should be continued to assure drouth-stricken farmers of good prices, he said.

Loans to small businessmen in the drouth area enabling them to restock their merchandise and continue their present credit policy toward local farmers and ranchers.

Loans to farmers and ranchers for living expenses and operation of their farms and ranches.

Soil conservation payments for immediate steps to stop wind erosion and dust storms.

Liberalization of FHA loan terms so repayments can be stretched out over 10 years; and a land management program, under the sponsorship of the Soil Conservation Service, on a long-range basis to prevent future wind erosion.

Meanwhile, Shivers noted various state agencies are continuing to work on the problem. The Water Resources Committee, established by the Legislature last year on the Governor's recommendation, is continuing to work on proposals to be submitted to the next regular session of the Legislature.

Texas Motorists Urged To Support '54 Vehicle Maintenance Program

"Check your car—check accidents, today. Tomorrow may be too late!"

In those words Col. E. R. Tilley of Houston, president of the Texas Safety Association, and service advisor for the Gulf Oil Corporation today urged all motorists to support the vehicle maintenance program being conducted throughout Texas this month in cooperation with the Texas Department of Public Safety and the National Safety Council.

This state-wide program is sponsored by all official and non-official groups in Texas.

Col. Tilley stressed the importance of having cars safety checked without delay.

"Accidents don't wait to happen," he said. "Bad brakes, worn out windshield wiper blades and other neglected parts will let you down in an emergency. And

Draft Delinquency Decreases In State

AUSTIN (Sp.)—The number of draft delinquents in Texas decreased 14 per cent in the first quarter of 1954, according to a consolidation of draft board delinquency reports at state Selective Service headquarters Wednesday.

At the end of March, effective date of the reports, 656 men were listed as delinquent by boards, in comparison to 725 at the beginning of 1954. Not all these men have been reported to U. S. attorneys.

"Considering the fact that we have 786,000 men registered with state draft boards, our delinquency problem is indeed a light one," Brig. Gen. Paul L. Wakefield, state Selective Service director, said.

General Wakefield said that 43 out of the 137 Texas draft boards had no delinquents listed as of the effective day of the reports.

A delinquent is defined in Selective Service regulations as "a person required to be registered under the Selective Service law who fails or neglects to perform any duty required of him under provisions of the Selective Service law."

Only a local board can declare a man delinquent. Delinquents are subject to loss of privilege also to prosecution, fine, and imprisonment.

It is estimated there are 78 million motor vehicles in use throughout the world.

March Retail Sales Up Over February

AUSTIN (Sp.)—March retail sales in Texas were 11 per cent below March 1953, according to Texas Business Research reports.

All 12 U. S. Department of Commerce reports show that sales by 3 to 10 per cent.

Department trends are expected for taxes, prices, and installment obligations. Farm incomes are everywhere except through Bureau researchers, though resumption of most business appears imminent.

City reporting March sales increases from totals include California, Lampson, each 10 per cent.

Goldthwaite retail sales March 1953 by 3 per cent gain in the same month.

Leading cities in retail the first quarter of 1954. Jasper up 10 per cent year.

'Think On These Things,' Seniors Told Sunday Night By Baccalaureate Speaker

Taking his sermon topic, "Think on These Things," from Philippians 4:8, the Rev. Charles R. Gates, First Methodist Church pastor, delivered the sermon at baccalaureate services for Post High School seniors Sunday night in the high school auditorium.

"While they call this the age of enlightenment," said Rev. Gates at the outset of his talk, "never before in history has man been so confused, so bewildered, so uncertain of the future."

"It could be," he continued, "that the principle of brotherly love—the Golden Rule—as well as the proven things of life is the answer to our problems."

"Let no one tell you that there is no hope—no way out: this is negative thinking and is utter foolishness. . . there is hope because there is light and that light is Jesus, who said, 'I am the Light of the World.'"

In order to find himself, man must be able to think, Rev. Gates told the seniors, and in order to be able to think he must go back to the very cornerstones of Christian character. He must develop the traits of truth, honesty, justice, purity and virtue, laying hold upon the things of life which have depth.

"Young people, I appeal to you tonight, like Paul appealed to the people of Philippi," said Rev. Gates, "that you think on these things. . . character is not something which can be purchased, but is something that we acquire in our daily living. . . character is measured by the quality of our thoughts."

"Our guide as the answer to our lives is to use this life to find our capacities, our ideals and our aims. . . think on the good things of life. . . look about you, look upon God's world—it is yours, all yours. God gave it to you."

"So, young graduates, tonight

I plead with you," concluded the speaker, "to form your lives upon the teachings of God, build your homes upon foundations that are sure, and walk worthy of the inheritance that is yours."

The processional and recession for the program were played by Mrs. Ray N. Smith Invocation was by the Rev. Shelby D. Bishop, Calvary Baptist Church pastor, and benediction by the Rev. Cecil Stowe, Church of the Nazarene pastor. Scripture reading was by the Rev. Roy Shahan, First Baptist Church pastor.

The program also included songs by members of the junior class.

Buddy Poppies Ordered For Sale Here May 24-30

One thousand VFW Buddy Poppies have been ordered by John Miller Post 6797 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars for sale here during the week of May 24-30.

The poppies will be sold by the post and its Auxiliary John Rogers is poppy sale chairman for the post.

The need for proceeds from sale of poppies has never been greater, according to Vada Lee Humphries, Department Auxiliary president.

"The post relief fund, the department service officer fund, the national service officer and rehabilitation fund and the National Home for widows and orphans all have a heavier obligation than in any post war years," said Mrs. Humphries.

Department Commander Justin M. Morrow stated: "It is my sincere desire that every post in Texas participate in the sale of poppies and that they utilize every facility including certainly their ladies auxiliary units to the end that the sale be made as outstanding one."

On Wednesday, May 24-30 at Buddy Poppies Week, Gov. Allan Shivers decided that "the 40 cent sale of the VFW Buddy Poppies will enable all citizens to look their gratitude to service men and have a part in contributing the assistance rendered to newly disabled war veterans and their families."

Wildcat Plugged And Abandoned

Operators have plugged and abandoned the Gray Mabee Drilling Co. and Morris Albert No. 1 Justice Estate, 2,000-foot wildcat venture in the southeastern part of Garza County, after finding 66 staves of oil on a drillstem test in the Mississippi.

The test was taken from 7,364 to 7,838 feet and was left open for one hour. There was a good show of air at the surface throughout the test. Total recovery was 120 feet of drilling mud with no indications of oil, gas or water.

The prospector has drilled 600 feet from south and east lines of section 3 Block 11, 1162N Survey three miles southeast of Jourdanton.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cockrell are on their vacation this week. He is employed at Forest Lumber Co. and she is deputy county clerk.

Garza, Other Texas Counties, To Get Federal Soil Saving Aid

Seventy-five West Texas counties, including Garza, have been certified by Governor Shivers for inclusion in an emergency wind erosion control program for which President Eisenhower has allocated $2,322,000 to Texas.

Shivers told reporters at a press conference Thursday he had been assured more funds will be available to Texas.

The President allocated a total of $10,000,000 for the five-state program from this emergency fund pending congressional action on a bill providing $15,000,000 for the same purpose. "I hope proper incentive will be given to land owners in the future to convert this land to permanent pasture and cover crops to combat wind erosion," Shivers said.

Counties certified for partial participation lie in that part of the state that has been hit hardest by prolonged drought, a drought now moving into its fifth year in some areas.

Shivers selected the counties on the basis of a joint recommendation by the director of the Agricultural Extension Service, the Soil Conservation Service's state conservationist, and the state chairman of the Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation committee.

The latter group will set up wind erosion control practices to be followed.

To help the state whip its drought and disaster problems and plan against the possibilities of recession or inflation over a long-range period, Shivers announced creation of a governor's economic advisory committee.

The governor invited the following to be members of the 16-man committee:

K. A. Anderson, Palestine, president, East Texas Chamber of Commerce; H. A. Beckwith, Austin, chairman, State Board of Water Engineers; Dr. J. L. Bullard, Kerrville, president, League of Texas Municipalities; John A. Couch, Haskell, president, West Texas Chamber of Commerce; Judge Jeff Dean, Robert Lee, president, County Judges and Commissioners Association; D. C. Greer, Austin, state highway engineer; W. Neill Greer, Houston, president, Texas Bankers Association; J. Walter Hammond, Waco, president, Texas Farm Bureau Federation; William J. Harris, Dallas, president, Texas State Federation of Labor; Weldon Hart, Austin, chairman, Texas Employment Commission; Egan Hunt, Harrison, president, Lower Rio Grande Valley Chamber of Commerce; William L. McCall, Austin, state realtor; J. I. Powell, San Antonio, president, South Texas Chamber of Commerce;

Jim Smith, Houston, president, Texas Association of Industrial Organizations; John C. White, Austin, state agriculture committee man; and John B. Winters, Austin, State Department of Public Welfare.

Stubble Mulching Gives Good Results In Farmers' Fight On Wind Erosion

The sand and dust storms now appear to be over. The northern last Saturday night brought a mild reminder of what this past blow season has been, but mostly people have just about forgotten how bad the dust storms were. People will say or think very little about them until the first bad one comes next fall.

Instead of forgetting, now is the time to make definite plans on how blowing can be stopped. And it can be stopped.

The most effective way of preventing wind erosion is to keep the land covered. Land that has a growing crop or good dead cover can't blow. It isn't practical to keep all land covered with a growing crop, but many tons of crop residue are plowed under or grazed to the ground each year that could have been used to a good advantage for soil protection. This practice of leaving crop residue on top of the soil is known as stubble mulching. This practice, unfortunately, hasn't received the attention and publicity of some of the other practices, but it will certainly give good results if applied regularly throughout the years. The effects of this practice, besides wind erosion control, are accumulative. By constant application soils are made more productive because the physical condition will improve, letting the soils take water more rapidly and hold it longer against evaporation, and the water and fertility storing capacity per foot of soil will be greater.

It is recommended that stubble mulching be applied to 60 per cent of the land each year. Moving each year to stubble mulch the 40 per cent untreated the previous year and so on, year after year. A hit-and-miss method skipping years, won't give the land the protection that is needed. This percentage is recommended for both land that is subject to wind erosion and to land that has no particular wind erosion hazards.

There are perhaps several crops that will give some protection against wind and benefits to the soil, but small grains and grain sorghums with only the grain harvested are thought to be the ones that will give the amount of residue needed. This residue, if in lengths that will interfere with the next crop, can be cut and the soil tilled with any implement that will leave the residue on top of the soil. Chisel and flat sweep type plows are the ones most commonly used.

Everyone agrees that wind erosion is a serious problem that covers several states, and we all further agree that something should be done about it. We, of the Post area of the Duck Creek Soil Conservation District, aren't in a position to do anything over the entire area or state, but each farmer and land owner can protect his own farm. As is often the case, soil blowing from your farm damages your neighbor's property.

Other people are interested in helping you to do this job. The Duck Creek Soil Conservation District is distributing posters covering, in picture form, the treatment of this problem, and the Agricultural Conservation Program is making a payment for stubble mulching.

Plan now. Keep your soil on your farm. Don't lose your top soil, the life blood of your farm, little by little year after year. It can't be replaced.

For further information contact the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office, or the local office of the Soil Conservation Service.

Draft Call Faces 10 State Doctors

AUSTIN (Sp.)—State Selective Service headquarters has been asked to deliver ten doctors of medicine for induction into the armed forces in June and July. Brig. Gen. Paul L. Wakefield, state Selective Service director, said Wednesday.

General Wakefield said that national draft headquarters issued a call on Texas for six doctors in June and four in July. No call was received for dentists.

Texas previously was asked to furnish one doctor in May, none in April, and two in March. Since inception of the doctors' draft law in 1950, Texas has received calls for 168 physicians and 106 dentists.

Texas veterinarians within the required age limits are registered in Texas under the doctors' draft law, but no calls have ever been received for them. Although a national call was issued in the past, Texas doctors of veterinary medicine were not affected by it.

'Mail Box Improvement Week' Is May 17-24, Postmaster Announces

Postmaster General Arthur E.
Summerfield has announced the week beginning May 17 as "Mail Box Improvement Week." This will be the sixteenth consecutive campaign to tidy up the official mail receptacles.
The local postmaster, Harold Voss, is requesting the rural patrons in this area to repair and beautify their mail box equipment and approaches to help lend brightness to the scenic beauty of the highway, roads and drives.

The Post Office Department is the most important agency in keeping the people of the nation informed. The rural delivery is a post office on wheels and many times these services are taken for granted and not fully appreciated. The carriers are trying to serve patrons promptly with as few mistakes as possible.
Errors are sometimes caused by patrons' names being omitted on the mail box, especially when a substitute serves the route while the regular carrier is on vacation or sick leave. The substitute is not always acquainted with the route as well as the regular carrier.

Many boxes, which are the highway billboards of the postal service, have become unsightly with rust, unserviceable due to a leaky condition, broken doors or no lids, missing signals, no names, supports being bent or rotted which need replacing, weeds and wild grass grown around the supports and approaches, and in many places the ground is rough and full of chuck holes.

Postmaster Voss asks the patrons to cooperate in improving their mail box equipment during the period May 17-24. He desires that the routes become a source of pride for the patrons, the Post Office Department and the carriers. For those patrons desiring additional information on the proper size and height for their rural box, they may obtain this information from the postmaster or the rural carrier.

50 Per Cent Of Population Has Postural Defects; Correct Posture Week Held

The most neglected structure in the United States today is the human body, according to Dr. C. J. Lewis, Jr., local chairman of Correct Posture Week.

No person is immune to the effects of poor posture which stems from neglecting the health of the spine. Regardless of age or occupation, the person who walks, sits, or stands incorrectly at his job and at home is affecting his health, Dr. Lewis said.

Research has shown that more than 50 per cent of the population has postural defects and the percentage runs as high as three-fourths in some children's groups. Occupations, child training, and organic structure cause poor posture, he stated.

The athlete, the industrial worker, the postman, the housewife—all could improve their health by correcting posture faults. "Seemingly trivial spinal injuries when uncorrected can have far-reaching effects inasmuch as the nerve energy supply is diminished. When a person slumps at his desk, in the car, or at home before a television set, he is cramping the heart, lungs, liver, stomach and even the circulatory system, keeping them from performing properly," Dr. Lewis pointed out.

When the energy supply is below normal and body organs cannot function normally, the cells of the body are weakened and become undernourished, quickly becoming susceptible to disease, he explained.

Dr. Lewis stated that correct posture should not be something learned in school and forgotten, but that it should be considered an everyday health duty.

The correction of common postural faults can be achieved by concentrated effort; however, if the trouble lies in misalignment of the spine or other organic distortions, a specialist on the spine should be consulted, Dr. Lewis advised.

Correct Posture Week is sponsored in Texas for the fifth straight year by the Chiropractic Public Health Committee of the Texas State Chiropractic Association.

Members report that the club still has reflector-type lawn signs for sale. Proceeds above the cost of the signs go into the Jaycees' park fund.

PARDON MY PRIDE!

ONE MILLION MAN HOURS WITHOUT A LOST TIME ACCIDENT

... I'm just bustin' my chest over the fact that my fellow employes at the Public Service Company have worked one-million man-hours without a lost-time accident.

They've been striving for this goal for a long, long time, and have been mighty close to making it before. Yes, they made more than 600,000 hours one time, and 990,000 another, but they never quite hit the magic million. This time they have!

This safety record is, of course, very important to you. The safe worker is the dependable, productive worker, and the one that makes possible the most economical as well as the best, electric service.

Making a million man-hours without a lost-time accident is like making your first million dollars—it's the hardest million. We're shooting for two, now, and hope to make it, for safety makes your service better.

PHS Honor Students Relate 'Facts Of Life' In Autobiographies

EDITOR'S NOTE: Following publication of the past several issues, the Post Dispatch is publishing a series of autobiographies of high school graduates. The autobiographies of two students were unavailable.

By BILLY GRAY
 Billy Gray came into this world at Snyder, Tex. June 20, 1936. My father and mother were disappointed because I was a girl and had a very disposition—I cried all the time.

By FLOYD SEATON
 I was born in the early morning of the 19th of June, 1936, in the little town of Gillett, Tex. in Karnes county. My father and mother were Mr. and Mrs. Jim Seaton. He was a little baby, weighing close to 10 pounds. But after a few days he seemed to lose some of his weight.

By JUNELLE TIGER
 Although I was rather small, I could just see the sun peeping up in the east. The date was Sunday, April 29, 1936. It all began in the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. Tiger in Post, Tex. After being disappointed three times, I was sure I would be a boy, but my only had another girl. This was different from the other one, how? Well, she had red hair and was very ugly (she's still that way).

By NATALEE TRACY
 I am all rather dim, but as I remember it all happened on Monday, May 11, 1936. You must bear with me as I try to remember because I was very small at the time. I took place in a small farm in Abernathy, Tex. It was a shock to my parents, and Mrs. George H. Tracy, as I was not what they expected. As I was a girl. On this farm I lived a very unusual life for six months. I moved to Dallas, Tex., the second most exciting experience to me. My hands froze. After that, I seemed to have acquired a taste for rat poison. Then I decided rat poison was no good, so I tried running out into the street and watching the cars try to avoid hitting me. Finally, after several narrow escapes, my army career began and a succession of moves started.

By VELTA CARPENTER
 Shortly before the break of dawn, Dec. 21, 1936, the household of Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Carpenter experienced a mild tremor. This tremor was preceded by an ear-splitting cry. This same cry was to be heard time and again at many a football game. I am speaking, of course, of the birth of Velta Carpenter.

By DONALD L. MOORE
 Perhaps I wasn't the best looking or the most brilliant child ever born but I bet I wasn't the coolest cat ever. This world shaking event took place on July 17, 1936, at 1:45 a. m. Thursday morning and the Kiowa, Kan., thermometers were setting on 120 degrees Fahrenheit. Yes, I was a red hot bouncing baby boy of 9 1/2 lbs. (I haven't gained very much since).

By JOY MARTIN
 In the course of the development of our universe the most natural phenomenon is the placement of the human element. Whether or not this placement is justified in relation to logical order is neither here nor there in my opinion. The fact of the matter is, whether it pleases anyone or not, is that I was born. Born, so they tell me, on the 28th day of September, 1936, in Post, Tex. Perhaps not altogether the most

By TOMMIE WILLIAMS
 It was a cold day on the first of December, 1936, when a blond blue-eyed girl was born at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Williams in Lubbock, Texas. When this little girl was hardly a year old, her family moved to Rag Town, a few miles from Post, where she lived until mid-term of the sixth grade when they moved to Dora, N. M. After 11 months they moved to Post where the little girl, now growing up, enrolled for her last term of the seventh grade. After having her one term the teachers decided to send her on to high school because they couldn't get rid of her any other way.

By TOMMIE WILLIAMS
 When she got to high school she looked around for something to do besides study. She found she liked basketball an awful lot, so she started playing. She played on the junior team her eighth grade and freshman year. When she was a sophomore she made the "A" team, except she wasn't on the main team, only on the main bench, but anyway once in a while she got to play a minute and sometimes even a quarter. Now she was getting up—playing on the team for a whole quarter, boy it was really worth every hour on the bench for every minute on the court. At last her big year came, she was starting forward—this was that she had been waiting for.

By TOMMIE WILLIAMS
 When she was in the eighth grade she went to a football banquet. I don't think I'll ever forget how thrilled and excited she was—going to her first banquet, and the football banquet at that. The next two years, nothing real exciting happened except about her basketball. To her that was her whole life now, but to others—Oh, yes, one thing happened. She got to serve at the junior and senior banquet, boy did she have a good time.

brilliant child ever conceived, but certainly the most beautiful (ahem!). My parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Martin, fortunately for me, were endowed with modern parental intelligence. Consequently they saw to it that my noticeably brilliant mind was given a good start. They pointed me in the general direction of Post Grade School upon reaching my sixth birthday. After a "remarkable" scholastic progress in the grade school levels, I was sent down the road to the high school, where my happiest days were spent.

Along with my intellectual prowess I was fortunate enough to be a part of the Post High athletic set-up. Mine was the pleasure of playing forward on the basketball team from 1951 to 1954 under Coach N. R. King. Although my dramatic capacity was limited to but one play, "Out on a Limb," the senior play of '54, I feel certain that the pleasure obtained from this wonderful experience shall live with me as though I were born in the theatre.

Class officership, treasurer, to be exact, was indeed my honor and privilege. Whatever I may have contributed to our fine student body is, I am sure, much less than they have given me. Alas, I was chosen favorite by my wonderful sophomore friends and once more by the beloved seniors of '54. But then this is too much goodness to be bestowed upon one individual. I am grateful—so grateful!

It was in PHS that I learned the real significance of good will toward our fellow men. And now that I am about to embark on the sea of "adulthood," I am happy to have been born and made a living part of this logical order of things and stuff in this, our wonderful universe.

I am happy to have been born, and I am grateful for my parents. My experiences in and around Post shall always live with me. My fondest desire now is that I can live up to the high humanistic standards I have been shown these 17 years. Many thanks to all who have contributed to my growth and development thus far.
