Church Census An Important Effort

The churches of Post recently completed their church census project in which a house-to-house canvass was conducted to determine the various religious preferences of each family.

That was an important effort with volunteers working two Sunday afternoons to cover the city.

Now the beneficial results of that census survey will make themselves felt all over town. People who haven't been attending local churchesor the "unchurched" as they are called nationally -now will be contacted by laymen and pastors of the churches for which they indicated prefer-

Such preference cards were turned over to the

The "unchurched" who indicated no preference have been listed for possible "callings" by all local churches.

The laymen and pastors who come calling will be there to let these local people know that they are welcome and wanted by the various churches. They will be invited to church services, to Sunday schools, and to various other church organizations and functions.

Churches play a wonderfully important role in the lives of their members. And Post has an excellent group of churches to fill the religious needs of this community.

The recent church census is the cooperative method used to determine in what churches the unchurched" are most interested. From this point each church plans and conducts its own program to reach out and invite these people in.

In every community there are families which need to be reached and brought the rich benefits of church life-and Post is no exception.-JC

The Value Of Shopping At Home

Shop where you live.

This is a very important economic fact of life Post merchants have been emphasizing the last thirteen weeks with a full page advertisement each week in the Post Dispatch.

These messages have brought home the need to stop and think where we buy and what those purchasing dollars can do or won't be able to do for our own economic well being-depending on where we spend them.

When we spend our dollars out of town very few of them find their way back to Post again. When we spend them here on Main Street, they are used and reused again and again in this community. They go to help build our schools, run our town and serve us in many other ways.

Shopping at home is important to Post, and every town, economically. It is important to remember and through their series of full page advertisement-the last of which appears in this issue - Post merchants have carefully emphasized each economic point.

Your local merchants realize that there must be other considerations involved too in shopping at home. They know they must have the items in stock you want to buy. They know that they need to give good service and their merchandise be reasonably priced. They are trying their best to serve you in this way.

Besides these economic reasons the merchants have presented in their advertising series for shopping at home, there are several other reasons too. You expect your local merchant to always be ready for your emergencies. This he is glad to do, but you must substantiate him with your regular trade as well if you are to enable him to be ready for the emergencies. Your local merchant is always ready to service the products he sells you and stand behind them. When you don't shop at home these are two all-important factors you are not buying with your dollars.

Buying at home isn't simply a matter of friendship. Instead it is just good common sense. The Dispatch urges its readers to think carefully about "shopping at home" before they consider buying somewhere else.

Post to grow must be economically strong. We must keep all of our purchasing strength at home if the community is to remain a healthy attractive place in which to live.

Customers and merchants should work together toward this end. It will in time return rich dividends to both in a better community in which to live.-JC

Have Makin's Gone With The Wind?

The linking in recent years of cigarette smoking with lung cancer, heart disease and other ailments apparently has failed to cut down on the consumption of smokes. Perhaps the TV commercials have something to do with that. It's mighty hard to imagine anything so refreshing and relaxing causing any of the ailments attributed to it.

The TV commercials on cigarettes, including those oh-so-clever jingles, have almost written a new language for us. Winston isn't thought of any more as the first name of a British statesman, but as a cigarette that tastes good—as a cigarette should. Luckies taste better, and Cameis conjure up the thought of having a real cigarette. Chesterfields satisfied even back in the days when radio jingles were more numerous than the TV rhymes, and nowadays you're advised to smoke king-sized Chesterfields if you like your

The TV commercials are also teaching us that Marlboros may not taste better, but they certainly look better if held in the hand of men adorned with tattoos. And, of course, we've all learned that all the filter cigarettes have filter traps, but that Viceroy has many, many more than any of the others, and that if you smoke it, it's what you changed to a filter for.

Then, there are the specially cooled cigarettes, which penguins smoke, and another brand of which seems to make the setting more complete and romantic for a couple spending the day at a waterfall. Smoking the brand the penguins like will also make you strong enough to break the chains linking you to the hot cigar-

Since neither of the two TV channels we depend on for recepetion here air the Grand Ole Opry, we're not sure whether good old P. A. (Prince Albert) is still being plugged as a good tobacco for makin's. But since it's been a long time since we've seen a fellow roll one, we just imagine that the super qualities of what used to be called "tailor-mades" back in the days when sack and can tobacco was fairly common have crowded the makin's plum out of the pic-

One of the biggest let-downs we ever had came a year or two ago when we crossed the street to have a cup of coffee with a friend we seldom see-a friend who prides himself on the fact that he is still pretty much of a cowboy. He isn't one of the drug store type, but actually works on a ranch-he calls it a "spread"-and wears cowboy clothes that would shame those on the TV westerns for authenticity; our friend's cowboy duds look like they've been worked and slept in-not just freshly cleaned and pressed. Well, podner, what we started to tell you was that after finishing our coffee, we waited for this friend, whom we hadn't seen for a couple of years, to pull out the customary sack of Bull Durham-we wanted to join him in one just to see if we still had the touch. Imagine our letdown when he carefully extracted from his shirt pocket a freshly opened package of Kents. That did it, brother, that did it. If the gol-danged varmint wanted to live modernly instead of like he used to, why didn't he pack around L&M's.

Signs Point To Successful Rodeo

The coulty-wide advance rodeo ticket drive by the junior class of Post High School May 12-14 is a new wrinkle in rodeo promotion here and should prove a rewarding one. The advance sale, according to the rodeo association's advertising committee, is for the purpose of creating new interest in and bigger attendance for the four-night event. It should do just that.

Anything that will boost attendance at the rodeo will help make it a bigger and better event. At the same time, the percentage they earn from the ticket sale will help the juniors get their class fund started for their senior year. which usually takes more money than the class is able to accumulate during the nine-month school period.

Meanwhile, merchants and other business and professional people are urged to enter into the spirit of the rodeo by sponsoring floats in the parade and by decorating store fronts. The work already being put into this year's rodeo by the various committees indicates that it can be one of the biggest ever held here-if everybody cooperates.--CD

Found Any Spiders In Your Paper?

The News-Herald of Cuba City, Wisc., recalls the famous answer made by Mark Twain when he was asked if finding a spider in the newspaper meant good luck. SOMEONE TOLD US not a month ago that we didn't know what we'd missed by not having heard the "Tadpoles" and the "Starlets" sing. Now, after having heard both groups in a high school assembly program Friday morning, we know what we'd missed.

The Tadpoles are the junior high school boy's quartet and the Starlets are the junior high girls' sextet. Both groups are a credit to the school and to their director, Georgie M. Willson.

WE HAD NO idea when we went to the high school Friday morning to take a picture of an award presentation that we were going to step into such a wonderful assembly program as the one furnished by the high school a cappella choir, the high school boy's quartet, who are known as the "Loafers," and the Tadpoles and Starlets. The high school girl's sextet did not sing because of the absence of one of its

SINCE WE'RE ON the subject of choirs, we've just received a news release from Wayland Baptist College telling of the Internationa Choir's recent 4,000-mile Eastern tour that had Washington, D. C., as the turning point.

The International Choir was one of the hits here April 5 on the C. W. Post statue dedication program. In appreciation of their having appeared on the program here, Mrs. Marjorie Meriwether Post saw that they were extended a number of courtesies while they were in the nation's capitol.

ON THE CHOIR'S second day in Washington, Commander Ault, manager for Mrs. Post, and Mrs. Ault took over host duties and showed them the Lincoln Jefferson and Washington Memorials before taking them to Mrs. Post's estate for a tour of the beautiful home and grounds. Quoting from the news release from Wayland: "Mrs. Post has spent the past three years reworking 'Hillwood,' which is furnished with period pieces from around the world, including some which once belonged to Marie Antoinette. One room is paneled with paneling from a French chateau. The molded pineapples used atop driveway and estate fence posts indicate the hospitality to be found within.

'The Wayland group was also entertained at luncheon at Longchamps, immediately after their visit to the White House, where they were shown around by a presiden-"Mrs. Post had Commander and Mrs. Ault extend these courtesies in appreciation of the choir's singing in Post at the recent dedication ceremonies for the statue of her father, the late C. W. Post which she presented to the town he founded. The Aults, who had attended the statue dedication with Mrs. Post, and a group of friends attended the choir's concert at Pennsylvania Avenue Baptist Church in Washington."

IF SOME OF YOU who buy The Post Dispatch from carriers missed your newsboy last Thursday, it was because he had broken his collar bone. Wayne Pruitt, 11 years old and one of our newest salesmen, came in Thursday with his right arm and shoulder in a sling and said he'd be unable to sell papers until the next Thursday on account of having fallen off the back end of a moving car and broken his collarbone. Wayne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Pruitt, says to look for him again this Thursday.

Street Bond Issue Approved At Ralls

RALLS-Ralls voters have approved a $70,000 street improvement bond issue by a vote of 129

cient to pay the city's portion of an estimated 90 blocks of paving with curb and gutter.

However, the exact portion the $70,000 to be spent by the city will depend upon the amount of paving residents will agree to buy. Should only 45 blocks of paving be subscribed by property owners, then the city will sell only about $35,000, or half, the $70,000 bond blocks of new street paving is being completed this week, according to City Supt. R. H. Tate. Tate told the city council Monday night that the contractors are doing a good job on the paving. It was also announced at the council meeting that additional blocks to be caliched by the county will bring the total for the spring to 20 blocks.

The current street improvement also calls for seal coating of about 14 blocks of old paving in order to save street surfaces that are deteriorating.

New Tack On Tidelands

International boundary discussion at the current Geneva Conference may dim Texas' hopes in the tidelands struggle, Atty. Gen. Will Wilson noted in a recent speech.

Russia wants national boundaries to be 12 miles out from land, Wilson related, and the U.S. says 3 miles out. Texas, in a case to be heard by the U. S. Supreme Court Oct. 13, will be trying to protect its long-standing claim to 101/2 miles.

But, said Wilson, "the United States can't plug for a 3-mile international boundary and turn around and give Texas 10 miles." If the 3-mile boundary sticks, he said, Texas will then ask for oil rights to the 10-mile limit.

A special legislative committee investigating auto coverage rates was told by State Insurance Dept. officials that costs of both materials and labor have gone up. New rates, to be set next summer, probably will have to be higher, they said.

In addition to the staggering tab for fixing the modern-day palace-on-wheels, if it gets smashed, high accident records boost insurance rates in a locality

For instance, said a department official, Dallas' accident rate is only 60 per cent as high as Houston's. Hence, coverage that costs "People have to realize."

Bad news for budget balancers is an official estimate that state welfare and education programs will cost $62,000,000 more during 1959-61 than at present.

In studying future spending needs a Legislative Budget Board Committee noted that: (1) A constitutional amendment to be voted on next November will, if approved, add $9,000,000 to welfare costs. Proposed amendment would provide medical care for the needy. (2) An increase in the number of children would probably up the state's share of the minimum foundation school program by $44,-900,000. In addition, the amount in the available school fund will be less, creating a need for additional appropriation.

The next clue is a record of her enrollment at Close City Grade School in 1946. It seems that this is the institute she attended for six years (she gave Post Grade School a treat in 1947). It was during this time that she had a crush on Roy Rogers; lost her front teeth, learned to read and (if you can call it that) write.

I learned how to keep Junior Business, World History, from going to school by catching the measles, chicken pox, whooping cough, mumps, and other things in general, such as headaches, eye-aches, and ear-aches. It seems funny to me parents don't catch on. That is one thing I can say I learned in school.

My eighth grade year was very exciting. Graduation was waiting for me. We really thought we were "big shots" until we realized that we still had four years of hard that--who knows? I hope my next work waiting for us. But, there was one consolation, we had it more than half-way made.

Ranch Producer Is Plugged, But New Ventures Planned

The big drilling disappointment this week on the U Lazy S Ranch was the plugging of Paul Teas' Slaughter No. 2, a Spraberry producer which was deepened to test the Pennsylvanian and Ellenburger

No oil shows were uncovered in the Mississippian, Penn, or Ellenburger, James Simms, Teas' superintendent, told The Dispatch.

It was quite a disappointment as it is only 1,200 feet from the Slaughter 1-B, which is a good Pennsylvanian producer, and Teas had expected to find a 60 foot thick pay zone, but all the formations were unexpectedly low.

But despite this setback, Teas is going ahead with plans for two new drilling starts on the big ranch.

He is preparing a location for new test one location south of the Slaughter 1-B in the Teas' multipay pool, which would put it approximately 2,000 feet from his plugged No. 2.

Slaughter 1-A well in the Teas' Strawn field, five miles north and northwest of the Teas' multipay teacher in the Post Elementary

The possibility exists that the new Teas' test in the multipay field could become the sixth well in that field at least in one formawell, now below 4,515 feet, and of Post, treasurer. could come up with the fifth probe sixth producer.

So far the field has only three producers from the Ellenburger. The reason there are four producers from the Penn and only three from the Ellenburger is that Humble has come up with the fourth Penn well, but was dry in

So actually both the Shell and Teas' tests could come up with Saturday and slept aboard the Ellenburger producers without moving the entire field into the reduced producing days bracket.

Humble now is testing its No. 1-B Slaughter from the Pennsylvanian. It flowed 235 barrels of oil and 4 per cent basic sediment and water in 24 hours with testing continuing. Testing was through one-eighth inch choke with 350 pounds tubing pressure.

Shell Oil Company also came up with some disappointing news this week. Its Slaughter 1-E wildcat tested dry in the Pennsylvanian. Drilling is now continuing through the Mississippian for testing in the Ellenburger, but the outlook does not appear too promising, according to M. L. Pierce, Shell superin-

Pierce reports that road is now being built to the location of the new Shell Slaughter 1-F wildcat. Road also is being built to Shell's Miller No. 1, off the Slaughter Ranch in Borden County, Pierce

Drilling is continuing at about 3,000 feet on the Slaughter CD-1. two locations west of the Evans strike in the new Happy Strawn flield.

Also from Borden comes the report that Sinclair will drill an offset to Shell's Daton No. 1, the strike in as yet an unnamed field off the Slaughter Ranch.

Pan American's No. 1-A John Lott, the new Penn test on the Slaughter Ranch, is now drilling below 1,750 feet.

Farmers should keep a close check on cotton once

Also if no additional rain is received, farmers are reminded that the first summer irrigation should be made after the cotton begins blooming, according to Experiment Station officials. Earlier growth, retards fruiting and delays maturity. Additional summer irrigations tend to increase yields, but lowers quality, which may mean a lower net return off of cotton.

of Kennett, Kennett, Missouri; 1958 President, American Bankers Association to your family and your own home town

If you and your neighbors are spending and saving wisely today, tomorrow's economic problems will solve themselves.

That's true for your family, as well as the community in which you live. And that's why U. S. Savings Bonds are so important to every American.

The secret of saving is system. And for most Americans, Savings Bonds are the perfect solution for systematic savings. They're safe. They're sure. Easily bought. And easily converted into cash should an emergency

And now every U. S. Series E Savings Bond pays a new, higher interest-34% when held to maturity! It matures faster, too, in only 8 years and 11 months. And redemption values are higher, especially in the earlier years.

Leading bankers and industrialists all over the country, realizing the importance of thrift and savings to a sound economy, are giving their wholehearted support to the U. S. Savings Bonds program. Why not start your Bond investment program today-through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work or by regular purchases where you bank.

Church Announces Building Plans

A 24x30 - foot masonry building which will house two Sunday School rooms and an all-purpose room, is to be constructed as an annex to the Church of God of Prophecy at 111 East Fifth St., the Rev. A. A.

West, pastor, has announced. Building plans also call for addition of a sleeping porch and a bathroom to the parsonage, the pastor said.

Work was to get under way this week on the new church annex, with men of the church donating their labor, the Rev. Mr. West said. A loan for purchase of materials and for other building expenses has been insured by member - pledges, the pastor said.

The all-purpose room in the new annex will include kitchen facilities and will also be constructed so that it can be used for youth recreation purposes, according to the Rev. Mr. West. Plans are also being made at the church for outdoor recreation, including croquet and volleyball, this summer.

Filing Deadline Is June 30 To Qualify For Disabled Pay

June 30, 1958, is a very important date for many disabled people, John G. Hutton, district manager of the Lubbock social security office, said today.

Many people who are disabled have neglected to apply under the social securtiy disability provisions Hutton said. Workers, both men and women, who have been disabled for over a year have until June 30, 1958 to file application for the disability freeze or for disability benefits if they are 50 or older. Those who have been disabled for a prolonged period and wait until June 30 may forfeit their rights to disability benefits at age 50, to maximum old-age benefits, and to benefits for their survivors.

Hutton pointed out that there is no deadline for those who file within a year from the time they become disabled. The June 30, 1958 deadline applies only to those who have been disabled for a prolonged period.

For more information, pamphlets on the disabled benefits available under Social Security, contact your social security office today.

Actually, some observers on Capitol Hill believe the issue is so clear cut it will be possible to run a box score on final Congres-sional votes on measure.

These observers say that a vote for extension of this system will mean the voter is a supporter of monopoly business.

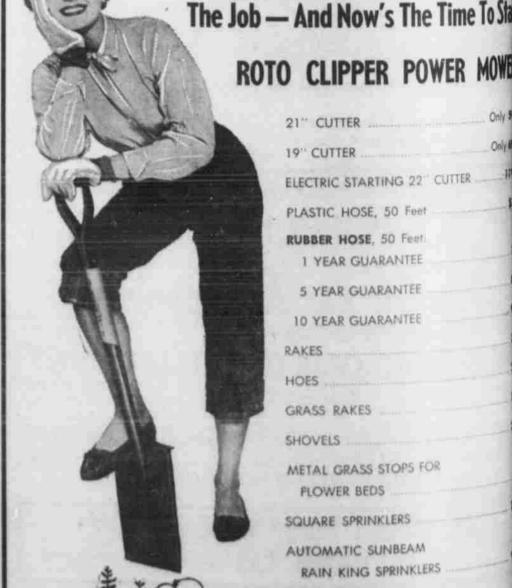

This may be a severe method of appraisal. On other hand, it is going to be hard to explain to a worker any vote that jeopardizes his job in favor of a 7 cents per hour wage slave in some Japa-nese monopoly owned factory.
