We Hope WR Election Carries Big!

city election Saturday determined to give the water contract authorization with the White River Authority a thumping majority.

They could make it unanimous

After 28 months of hard work, the White River directors have brought the project through the dark days of rising interest rates to the threshold of proper financing.

They have not been idle in recent months. The recession reversed the upward trend on interest rates. The directors waited. Time was in their favor. The rates began to slide down. They now see the possibility after the water contracts have been voted of obtaining an interest rate the four towns can afford over the long haul to finance the money for the big water dam.

Post folks well understand the background of this election. A surface water supply must be found. The community's underground supply is dwindling alarmingly. The town is growing and more water is constantly needed.

The White River offers us an abundant water supply for the next half century. White River water will boost the Postex Mills toward new expansions and new payrolls. It will help maintain the oil industry in the area through water flood-

Time is working in our favor. The state and federal government have finally gotten into gear on water loans. A good portion of the $4,000,000 for the White River dam will come from these two sources because the White River project is ready to roll at just the right time.

White River water for a few years will cost us more, but in the end-after the debt on the present insufficient system has been paid-White

Post voters will go to the polls at the special River probably will cost us no more than we are paying today.

The four towns have been awfully lucky.

Of course the timing could not have been better for governmental ban aid. But we have been lucky too with the men who are serving all of us on the White River board. They have pulled together through a lot of thicks and a lot of thins on this project and by plain sticking-to-it are at last ready to wrap it up with financing and construc-

We have sat in on enough of these board sessions and listened to them explain the problems and the possibilities so often on so many phases that we know the four towns can buy the whole project on faith alone if necessary-faith in that

They are not asking for such an expression. They give us the facts, the reasons, all the points about the proposition good or bad. They haven't tried to maneuver the publicity. They have let the chips fall where they may. They have been truly unselfish in their great community service.

That's why we think it is so important Saturday that everybody go to the city hall and vote. Your vote will tell them that they have your support and you approve of all their 28 months of work. Maybe this is putting it on a personal basis. But they deserve such a response.

The White River water contract authorization will carry here. But The Dispatch hopes it carries big-that it is unanimous. Then Tom Bouchier, Dr. A. C. Surman, and Rube Jennings, your directors, and Mayor James Minor who has done so much too will know it has all been worth those 28 months of effort.-JC clean-up campaign ever conducted here, last week's drive goes on record as one of the year's supreme efforts-in which more people worked and got more done than at any other time in the dozen or so years that the clean-up campaigns have been held here.

The biggest bouquets for the successful cleanup campaign go to the City of Post and the Chamber of Commerce, the sponsoring groups. But they would have been unable even to start such an ambitious drive if it had not been for the help they received from county commissioners, oil companies, merchants and volunteer workers,

Individual efforts were too numerous to be listed in this space, but deserving of special commendation is Buster Moreland, chairman, who gave freely of his time and efforts in organizing the campaign, then turned its direction over to co-chairman Edsel Cross and Everette Windham when business called him out of town on the day of the trash pick-up and haul-off. The co-chairmen, ably assisted by City of Post employes and paign.-CD

Described by many as the most successful Chamber of Commerce officials, proceeded to make it a day long to be remembered in "getting

> Many Post merchants gave employes time off to assist in the clean-up campaign. Others contributed enough money for the employment of 24

Truckload after truckload of trash was picked up and hauled to the city dumpgrounds between a.m. and quitting time late Thursday afternoon. The results of the clean-up campaign could be seen Friday morning. While not 100 per cent effective (few clean-up campaigns are), the day's work left the City of Post cleaner and less encumbered with trash than it has been in many Votes of thanks are also due the many home and business owners who did preliminary cleanup work in advance of Thursday's pick-up. It took a big effort to do such a big job so well, and the effort wasn't lacking in this year's clean-up cam-

Contest Fever Is Sweeping Country

Whoever said "The best things in life are free." doubtless had in mind the present day contest fever that is causing American business to lie awake nights thinking up things to give away.

It's getting so that the merest stroke of good luck - plus a box top or end flap or a labelcan do more for a person than a lifetime of toil and saving!

The most fantastic competition yet offers 1,196 prizes valued at more than $115,000 to a different set of winners every week for four consecutive weeks. And the top winner each week can name any spot on the globe and say: "I want to go there!" No matter where it is, he (or she) and three members of the family will be flown to this dream spot-and will be given $5,000 for spending money additionally. The travelers will also, of course, be brought home again, when they are ready to come. And the trip may be made anytime within a year of the time of win-

Thus, if you'd like to get away from it all and become a good-will ambassador to Marakesh, the Pampas, Tierra del Fuego or Novorossisk or Reykjavik, all you have to do is use the right toothpaste and submit the winning name for a little girl cartoon character that appears in tho manufacturer's advertising.

What bothers us slightly, however, is the fact that after the smoke clears away and the trippers make up their minds where they want to go, the little girl will have four different names.

So, maybe they'll have to have another contest to decide which one to use. But, in that case, what kind of a prize is there left to give?--CD

Some Things We Shouldn't Forget

All this talk about the hot weather-and we're doing our share of it-makes us think how prone the average person is to forget about how hot it was last summer. There was a mighty cold winter in between, remember.

Chances are last summer was just as hot as this summer, but there's really no harm in forgetting and thinking that this one is the hottest. There are some other things, however, that we should not forget. One is to be as saving as we can with water, and the other is to be careful about such things as grass fires, of which we've had a rash in the last few weeks.

We suppose that until the moment it becomes a stark reality, a lot of water users won't pay much attention to the city officials' warnings about an impending water shortage and the possibility of restrictions and rationing. Conservation of water and good luck in weather are about all that'll keep the water situation from becoming more critical this year than ever before.

That's another reason we should guard against grass fires in burning trash. Besides the threat to life, limb and property, fires take a lot of water to put out.

So, it's, all right to keep on forgetting about last summer's heat, and avowing that this is the hottest summer we've ever had, but let's not forget about this water conservation and grass fire

THURSDAY to THURSDAY

By CHARLES DIDWAY

WHEW! WHAT A weekend! There was Friday the 13th, Flag Day and Father's Day.

This Friday the 13th slipped up on us. We had no idea it was coming up when we went by Homer and Dezzie Gordon's on Wednesday the 11th to pick up two coalblack kittens they wanted to give

WE WANTED THE kittens because our yellow Persian cat, 'Babe," had disapperared while were on vacation and we thought he had gone for good. But an hour or two after we got home with the kittens, Babe showed up, lame in the left hind leg, and a little the worse for wear. He had been gone a solid week.

Friday the 13th still might have been uneventful if Babe and the black kittens had hit it off togeth-But they didn't and have been growling and spitting at each other ever since they met. The wife says something's got to give, but we're not that pessimistic we think the cats will be friends by the time another Friday the 13th rolls around.

FLAG DAY, which was Saturday, passed almost unnoticed, with Old Glory unfuried to the breeze at only one or two places. Many people remembered that it was the third anniversary of the big windstorm which wrecked three houses, tore up dozens of TV aerials and blew down almost as many flags.

Father's Day was made more enjoyable by the gift of a book we've long wanted to read, but had never been able to get our hands on. Our daughter and son-in-law Denton sent us a copy of James Joyce's "Ulysses," which we'd unsuccessfully looked for while we were in Denton a couple of weeks ago. They probably found it in a "Big D" book store.

AND, SPEAKING of books, book stores and Big D, Paul Crume had the following item in his "Big D" column in the Dallas Morning News a few days ago: "City Judge James D. Gamble opened a gift box from his brother the other day and found what looked like a handsome set of books. They turned out to be dummies, bindings put around a hollow box. Some of the titles: 100 Ways

Sign seen on a rural gas station - "Buzz twice for service, then keep your shirt on while I get my pants on."

THINGS ARE DIFFERENT today with the unemployed - they are being counted by Univac.

BY SITTING IN on a budget study, you can learn a lot of little things you didn't know, and school budgets are no exception. We were present Wednesday night of last week when members of the school board went over the proposed 1958-59 budget item by item.

We learned, for instance, that travel expenses set up in the budget are for the superintendent and the vocational agriculture and homemaking instructors. They also include pay for bus drivers for driving on special trips.

THE BAND DEPARTMENT this year gets $4,000, according to the tentative budget. Of that amount, about $2,500 will be used to pay off a note on new band uniforms, with the remaining $1,500 going for instruments and other band expenses.

Post Citizens Won't Be Asked Again To Make As Important A Decision As Saturday, June 21

Vote FOR The Water Contract—and Post's Future

Remember —

The future of Post hinges upon this election. Our underground water supply is rapidly failing. In 1953 nine water wells were pumping more than 1,500,000 gallons daily. Today 33 city wells can't pump this much.

Water rationing may come before the summer is out. It depends upon whether we get enough rain.

If you are a property owner in Post, can you afford to take the chance that water might be permanently rationed? What would your property be worth then? Could you continue to operate your business or expect employment in Post if this should happen? How much loss would you take on your property if you sell it at

Our Only Chance —

The White River affords us our real opportunity in this entire area for a surface water supply.

If we do not take advantage of the present opportunity to build a dam and reservoir with our three neighboring communities of Ralls, Spur and Crosbyton, we may never have the chance again.

Other people down river on the Brazos have water troubles too, and if the water that runs down White River is ever assigned to someone else our opportunity is gone.

Why We're Voting -

This is the third and last time Post citizens will vote on the White River project. This time we're voting on the proposition of authorizing our city council to make a water contract with the White River Water Authority to purchase water at not more than 30 cents per thousand gallons delivered at the city limits.

Approval Saturday will not bind the hands of your city council. They still retain full right not to enter into such an agreement if it would not be in the best interests of the city.

All four towns must enter into such water contracts before the $4,000,000 in bonds can be sold. Final plans for the White River project now are on the engineers' drawing boards. If no hitches develop, the contracts for all construction can be let by early fall.

Costs Won't Be Great —

Your directors of the White River Municipal Water district have worked hard for some 28 months to turn this dream into near reality. It will cost an estimated $4,000,000 to build this project, but the cost to the individual water user will not be large.

The average water customer in Post uses about 8,000 gallons of water per month. It now costs him 40 cents per thousand gallons. The White River project would raise this cost to about 70 to 75 cents per 1,000 gallons for the first years of operation. Water rates still would compare favorably with your other utilities.

Your water district tax on a home with a market value of $5,000 would be about $4.80 per year. This tax would not be needed after the first few years as reserves would be large enough.

White River water will cost you less as the years go by. It may cost you less in a few years than you are paying for water today.

Go To The City Hall Saturday and Vote YES

According to reports, percentgewise, the business slump has hit Canada to a greater degree

This is perhaps natural in view of the fact that so much of the goods sold to the U. S. by Canada have been sold s basis by a Canadian monopoly. A case in point is the fan-tastic prices U. S. newspaper publishers must pay for newsprint. As bulk of this paper comes from C. W. Harder Canada, Canada fixes price. ...

And even though there are complaints across the border of slow business, it is significant no attempt has so far been made to perk up sales through the medium of lower prices,

Thus, it is of great interest to everyone, as everyone is vitally affected by newspapers, that Sen. William Promire, Wisconsin, has introduced a bill in Congress to give the Small Business Administration sufficient funds to set up a pilot test plant on making newsprint out of low grade hardwood from the states of Wisconsin, Minnesota and Michigan.

Sen. Promire pointed out that in his state alone, almost half of the land, or somewhere over 13 million acres is covered with hardwoods with no other commercial value. The Forest Serv ice has found that this low grade material makes good newsprint.

He also points out that besides building a worthwhile industry and source of employment in these states, success of such a measure would be a most valuable step toward the preservation of American liberty. The Senator says, "It would relieve publishers from recurring newsprint shortages. When supplies of newsprint become short and prices rise, it is the smaller weekly and daily publications that are squeezed hardest. They often operate on extremely narrow margins under the best of circumstances; uncertain sup-piles and undependable prices their most essential raw material imposes a dangerous threat to the very survival of this extremely important sector of our free press."

It is not the intent of his bill to put the government into the paper business. Rather, it is merely that government set up and operate for a limited time a pilot test plant to prove that not only can newsprint be made from this low grade hardwood, but that such an operation is practical. Private centerprise would then enter into this industry.

Success of such a project would probably open the doors to entirely new competitive forces in the vital newsprint industry. At present, some of the giants of the industry, doing-business as American firms, are heavily involved in Canadian operations and thus are presumably involved in Canadian monopoly.

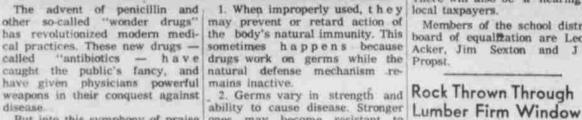

About two years ago the Senate Small Business Committee made a very searching inquiry into the newsprint situation and concluded until smaller independent press is relieved of reliance on imported newsprint, traditional American system of a free press would always be in danger.

In addition, the study pointed out, in practically every instance, the hometown newspaper furnished the only economical and practical advertising medium for independent business.

AUSTIN - If a lire-breathing, erner's Highway Safety Commisdragon were loose on the Texas sion. Scores of prominent Texans countryside - smashing cars and answered Governor Daniel's call to their occupants, slapping down give citizen support to official efpedestrians-there'd be no question about the need to get rid of set tentatively for Fall. the monster. An aroused public would demand that SOMEBODY per cent drop or 254 lives saved

In actuality, innocent people are being maimed or killed every day as they go about their business. Thousands are lost every year.

But somebody IS doing somesive "posse". They're going after the killer - the monstrous indifference, carelessness and other difficulties that bring death on Texas streets and highways.

Leaders are members of the Texas Traffic Safety Council creatod by the Legislature just a year ago. Gov. Price Daniel is chairman; Col. Homer Garrison Jr. director of the Department of Pubtic Safety, vice-chairman, Heads of numerous other state agencies are members.

Formation of the Council was the starting point for a campaign which, for the first time, brought the official power and prestige of state government to bear on a growing problem. For some years Texas vehicles and their drivers had been outgrowing highway facilities and outdistancing law enforcement agencies by sheer weight of numbers. In 1956 Texas had an appalling all-time high of 2,611

Governor Daniel called it a publie emergency.

Toll Drops By 72

With only a skeleton organization, the Council hammered away through 1957 at tightening enforcement, organizing holiday safety campaigns. By the end of the year the toll had dropped by 72.

In February of this year the governor appointed the state's first full-time traffic safety director. He is Brad H. Smith, veteran South Texas newspaper, radio and television man and past president of the Texas Press Association, who has for many years been a volunteer worker in traffic safety.

First move was to acquaint Texans with the enormity of the problem. In this Smith says he's had unstinting help from mass news media and volunteer assistance from every type of civic group.

In April Governor Daniel climaxed publicity efforts with a statewide broadcast calling for a "crack down" on two major traffic evils speeding and driving while intoxicated. Simultaneously, local traffic safety councils were formed in 190 counties. An estimated 5,000 people participated.

Meanwhile, the battle is being pushed on other fronts. A survey of traffic - controlling resources resulted in recommendation of a 7-point program to bring Texas up

1. A statewide program to bring greater public cooperation. 2 More rigid enforcement of present laws. 3. Adoption of the Uniform Driver's License Law.

4. A law to permit police to use chemical tests and other scientific aids to detect drunken drivers. 5. Development of strong, fair, effective traffic courts. 6. A State Highway Patrol double its present size.

7. Universal driver education in public schools supported by state

Other Groups Help Besides the state agencies working cooperatively through the new Council, other groups are part of the crusade. A major source of help is the 20-year-old Texas Safety Association, a pioneer group which finances its efforts on a voluntary basis.

Texas Legislative Council is studying traffic problems and will report to the 56th Legislature. Bringing new weight is the Gov-

Early Control Of Insects Important To Area's Cotton

With emphasis being placed this year on the production of high quality cotton. South Plains farmers are being urged to take every step that will aid in improving the staple of the 1958 crop.

One of the earliest moves which Plains farmers can make is controffing insects early in the sea-

Early insect control will help get the plant off to a good start and help hasten maturity, farm experts in the area say. Earlier cotton always is the best cotton picked in the area.

Research work at the Lubbock Experiment Station has shown over the years that control of thrips and fleahoppers, the insects which nearly always bother cotton in the early part of the season, will pay off in increased yields and more money.

In work done at the station in 1954, yields were increased an average of 830 pounds of seed per acre from three applications of insecticides. The gross value of these gains was more than $100 per

Dr. H. G. Johnston, entomologist with the National Cotton Council, said recently that uncontrolled infestations of early season insects can often offset advantages which have been bred into the plan t oinsure early fruiting and maturity.

Thrips and fleahoppers can result in a delay of two to three weeks in maturity if they are not controlled, entomologists point out in describing the benefits of an early season control program.

Water Rates Are Raised At Tahoka

TAHOKA - Water rates here have been raised by the city council with the increase affecting, principally, the users of large amounts of water.

The minimum rate, which has been $2 for the first 3,000 gallons, has been changed to 2,000 gallons for the same minimum. Rates for the next 10,000 gallons of water is being raised from 5 cents to 40 cents per 1,000. All water over 12,000 gallons used will be 30 cents per 1,000 instead of 20 cents.

This is the first increase here in water rates in 15 years, Mayor H. B. McCord said.

From what I have been able to ascertain from surrounding communities, your company has done an outstandingly poor job of public relations, and until such time as your attitude towards these communities and your subscribers changes, you aren't going to get very far on the requests you make for rate increases. It has been my experience that people don't object to paying for what they get, if they get what they pay for, and your company has given this whole area the general impression that you are going to give a little as possible in return for what you get. There have been too many promises on your part which have not been fulfilled, and in many cases you have asked com-munity subscribers to ante-up with no definite assurances for the type of services which a utility pany in your position should

I desperately hope that with a change of attitude on the part of your company and a group of people from this community who have a sincere desire to see this matter.

White River Water Is A Must For Us

Postex Mills are Post's biggest water customer. We use about 300,000 gallons a day in our plant operations. We want to expand and build a dye plant here. That will take another 125,000 gallons of water each day.

It's easy to see why the White River project is so important to this industry.

We put water to work in our mills. Water helps build payrolls. We now employ almost 500 Post people. Our future here is bright - providing we have enough water.

The election Saturday is a special city election to authorize the city council to negotiate a contract for water with the White River Water Authority. It is the third and final poll step.

Post's whole future hinges around obtaining a bigger and better water supply.

We here at Postex Mills urge our employes to vote Saturday and we urge every qualified voter in the community to go to the polls and approve the water contract authorization.

The president of our mill has served as one of the directors of the White River Municipal Water District since its first temporary planning organization some 28 months ago. He has given freely of his time and efforts because he knows it is the No. I project of this community.

The White River Dam today is very close to reality. By fall we can complete the financing and let contracts for construction. But first we must vote the water contracts.

THINK OF THE FUTURE Vote YES Saturday For The Water Contract
