The Salvation Army's new, modern Disaster Relief Canteen was displayed in Post last week and first to sample its coffee and doughnuts were two members of the local Salvation Army committee. Mrs. Marvin Hudman, committee member, and Clint Herring, treasurer, are being served coffee by Capt. Herbert Bergen, in command of the Salvation Army in Lubbock. Phone company makes formal offer on dials

Representatives of General Telephone Company of the Southwest today presented to the city council Monday night the company's offer to install a dial telephone system here by June of 1961. The offer, which provides for an increase in rates, had been presented to Mayor Powell and city council members in an early April.

L. (Dusty) Kemper of Brownsville, division manager; Claude Lamesa, district manager; and two other company officials presented the dial system at a special meeting of the council.

The council also passed two ordinances, one authorizing the issuance of interest-bearing time warrants to pay for the new fire truck and the other authorizing issuance of meters and bonds and mapping on the area recently brought within the city limits.

The council also voted to continue the city's participation in the school library program this year, in which the city pays a librarian's salary.

Warrants to be issued for the new fire truck, which was delivered this week, will not exceed $20,000, bear interest not to exceed 5 per cent and be payable within five years.

The city has concluded an agreement with the First National Bank for the purchase of the warrants by the bank and bounds and mapping by the PHONE CO. on page 5.

Oil field worker killed in wreck

Funeral services for A. D. Zachary, 35, who was killed in a two-car collision six miles west of Morton early Tuesday night, were pending this morning at Hudman Funeral Home. The funeral services and burial will be in Post.

Zachary, an employee of Hugueley Drilling Co., had lived in Post about a year. Survivors include his wife and four children, the oldest of whom is five years old.

Mrs. Zachary, who was visiting in Louisiana, arrived here Wednesday morning after being informed of her husband's death.

Also killed in the wreck was another oil field worker, Charles Kimes, 24, of Snyder, who was a passenger in Zachary's automobile, and a third man in the car, Kenneth R. Smith, 25, also of Snyder, was injured. Two occupants of the other car involved in the wreck also were injured.

Two plead guilty to possession

I. L. Lewallen and Donald Odell Hair pleaded guilty in county court Monday to charges of unlawful possession of beer for purpose of sale and each was fined $100 and costs.

Both men were arrested Saturday afternoon by Deputy Sheriff Red Floyd and City Marshal Otis G. Shepherd Jr. The officers said they confiscated 28 cases of beer from Lewallen's automobile and eight cases from Hair's.

The officers said Hair was arrested in the northeast part of town, and Lewallen at a bridge northeast of town.

Auditorium contract awarded

Post Independent School district trustees yesterday afternoon voted to let the contract for conversion of the high school auditorium into six additional classrooms and an assembly hall to H. R. Bundock, Inc., Lubbock construction firm, for $51,360.

The Bundock firm was the low bidder of six bids submitted at a special meeting of the trustees in the school lunchroom.

The low bid was slightly under the architect's estimate of $53,500 and was termed by Atcheson, Atkinson & Cartwright, architects on the expansion, as an excellent one.

Representatives for Bundock told trustees that the firm plans to complete the big remodeling job by Sept. 1, in time for use of the classrooms at the opening of the fall term.

A looming "steel strike" might cause some delay in supply deliveries, and the hall lockers might not arrive in time, it was pointed out.

The Lubbock firm plans a quick start on the project with only three months of working time left, but may wait a week or ten days to be sure enough needed materials are on hand or promised on needed delivery dates to assure orderly progress of the project once begun.

Bill Johnson, father of Walter Johnson of Post, probably will be named superintendent in charge of the project for Bundock.

Of the six bids received, five were $58,220 or under. The sixth was for $69,000.

Bidding on the project were W. B. Abbott & Co., Frank O. Bennett Jr., Hammock Brothers Construction Co., T. E. Shellburne & Son, and Parks Construction Co.

Postings

By JIM CORNISH

Post will welcome another new business next week—the Post Ready-Mix Concrete Co. — whose first announcement ad you will find over on page 7. The new concern will bring two more families to town and is slated to be a permanent addition to the business side of the community. Operators will be George Booher, now of Lubbock who already has purchased a home here, and Charles Woodfin of Slaton, who is looking. Booher has been with the Texas state highway department for the last 13 years. He has been a construction inspector for the department and thus has considerable experience in the concrete business. Watch for full details on the opening of the new firm next week. They've already secured a location on the Clairemont highway. George is scheduled to move his family here this weekend. His wife's name is Junanda and they have a daughter, Diane, 5. The Booher's are members of the Methodist Church. The new home they purchased is at 1005 West 12th Street, the recent Horace Henley display home. We haven't met Woodfin yet, but will give him a mention when we get to see him. Post of course can well use a ready-mix plant in its current construction "boom". (We hope the building folks don't jump on us as hard for using that dirty word boom as the oil people did).

City buys truck in expansion of garbage system

The size of the city's garbage collection department will be more than doubled next month by the addition of a new and larger garbage truck and employment of three additional workers, Mayor Powell Shytle said today.

Delivery of the new garbage truck is expected by June 15, according to City Supt. Henry Tate. Costing a little less than $6,000, the new truck will have a 16-cubic-yard capacity as compared with the present truck's 12-cubic-yard capacity.

Tate said tentative plans are to use the new truck for daytime garbage pickup in the residential sections of the city and the old truck for nighttime pickup in the business district.

No payment made in damages suit

A district court jury returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff Friday in the $150,000 damage suit brought by R. G. (Raymond) Sampley against Valton Wheeler, but an application of the law resulted in no cash settlement.

The jury had recommended that the plaintiff be paid $3,000 for injuries received in a traffic accident between the Hackberry community and Southland on Sept. 19, 1958.

Work all night on phone service

An oil field truck which caught and tore down one of the main cables across Broadway in front of the General Telephone office about 3 p. m. Wednesday put 190 phones out of order.

General Telephone, which only the afternoon before had a similar experience at Eighth and Broadway with a smaller 36 phone cable, rushed in repair help from Lamesa, Tahoka, Levelland, and Brownfield, besides the two local repairmen.

The repairmen worked throughout the night and figured to have service fully restored by noon Thursday.

Work under way on new $40,000 medical clinic

Work has begun this week on construction of a $40,000 Garza Medical and Surgical Clinic building at 308 West Eighth Street for Dr. John A. Carter.

Dr. Carter announced that the clinic building will contain office space for two physicians, x-ray, laboratory and emergency room.

Dr. Carter and Dr. James R. Matthews will occupy the new clinic quarters.

Wynne's guilty pleas bring $2,250 in fines

Hosie Wynne was fined $250 and costs on each of nine liquor law charges in county court Monday after entering pleas of guilty through his attorney, Pat N. Walker.

The total fines and court costs amounted to more than $2,250, with the court agreeing to payment of half the amount now and posting of a deferment bond for payment of the other half in 90 days.

Four other liquor law violation cases on the docket were continued when Walker, who is also their counsel, told the court that he would enter pleas for the four

Butane, dirt contractors, trucking service

D. C. (Billy) Hill has moved offices of his three firms into his new business building east on the Clairemont highway which he built himself as general contractor.

He also announced today, in connection with the move, a new butane repair and supply service available to all butane users in this area.

Work all night on phone service

The back half of the new 30 by 60 foot building is designed for and equipped as a butane repair shop. Bob Knight, an experienced butane mechanic, will be in charge and a complete line of butane parts and supplies are being stocked. Knight, who recently moved to Post from Muleshoe, has had 14 years experience in this work.

Hill says the service is the first of its kind in this area.

The new building is of concrete block and steel construction. The offices in the front half are air-conditioned.

The building will contain the offices of D. C. Hill Butane Co., A & B Dirt Contractors, and Hill and Hill Trucking Service.

Mrs. Hill is the office manager.

The Hills drew their own building plans and Billy served as general contractor during the 60-day construction period.

"We certainly appreciate the business we have enjoyed with our friends and customers," Billy told The Dispatch. He invited everyone to "drop in" and "look over our new building office over."

Hill entered the oil field trucking business here in 1948. In 1954 he added a butane business to his trucking enterprise. Only recently he and Al Norris purchased a dirt contracting business and named it the A & B dirt contracting.

School district sells $710,000 building bonds

The Post Consolidated Independent School District has sold their $710,000 in school expansion bonds, voted in April, to four different investment firms represented by Raucher, Pierce Inc. of Dallas at a 3.97 per cent average interest rate.

This was announced today by Supt. R. T. Smith.

He said the transaction was completed Saturday when the $710,000 was received here and placed on deposit.

Actually, the bonds were sold to Raucher, Pierce, Inc., last April 8, only a few days after the special bond election, at a special meeting of the school trustees.

The action was not announced until this time, Supt. Smith explained, because the bond issue first had to be rejected for purchase by the State Board of Education and the bonds then approved by the state attorney general before the transaction was completed.

Smith said that the bond issue is now set up for a 22 year pay-out period, instead of the 25 originally planned by the board as the shorter period effected a savings of about $140,000.

The school district, he added, has an option to pay off the entire bond issue at the end of 15 years, if it so desires, which could effect a considerable additional savings in interest.

E. R. (Buster) Moreland, president of the trustees, told The Dispatch that the best financial advice available to the trustees in April was to sell the bonds at that time at the 3.97 interest rate.

"The advice was sound, and we See SCHOOL DISTRICT on page 5

It's almost clean-up time again

It's almost Clean-Up Week time again when the Chamber of Commerce and city joins forces with the citizens to clean out the winter's trash accumulation and brighten up the town for summer.

This year it might be a whole lot better if we gave our attention to cleaning up more than just one week out of the 52.

This is what we have in mind. The city council for the last few months has been studying the problem of trash and garbage collection and is "on the verge" of purchasing a second garbage collection truck if Mayor Shryock and aldermen feel that the cost of the new truck and service can be properly financed.

Since it would be an added service over what trash and garbage collection the city can now afford out of the general fund, The Dispatch has supported the position that it should be added to the monthly utility bills as a proper utility charge.

But to go with an expanded trash and garbage collection program, the city needs—its city attorney has pointed out—an enforceable trash and garbage ordinance which will set forth citizen responsibilities in keeping the town and their neighborhood areas clean.

It might prove of some help to the council —although maybe they have the problem licked and are almost ready to go—to put a citizens' study group to work on the subject and then consider their recommendations for such a program. Such a committee could be broad-based and effective in not only coming up with the answers but selling the community on its cleanup needs.

And Post, which used to be one of the cleanest and most sparkling cities in West Texas in its beginning, needs an all-out and continuing cleanup program.

This is not, of course, news to your city council which has been working on the problem put into effect the full cooperation of the entire community will be needed—for 52 weeks each year, not just during the Chamber's clean up week.—J.C.

They took time — why can't we?

Memorial Day, or Decoration Day as it is called in some states, is one of the few holidays which have not been commercialized, but it has suffered from something just as bad—indifference on the part of the general public.

First held to decorate the graves of those who had fallen in a war which for four years had split the nation in half, the holiday has since gone through three major conflicts with the North and the South solidly united as a nation. Thus, today, Memorial Day is, as it should be, a nationwide observance.

We owe much more to our war dead than the setting aside of one day a year on which to honor their memory and decorate their graves. We owe to these men and women who have made the supreme sacrifice our very existence as a nation. Ironically, it was the blood they shed and the battles they won that have made it possible for us to be living in a nation so busy and so prosperous that we are prone to let our workaday duties make us forget the debt we owe them.

It won't take much time for us to honor our war dead Saturday. Their short time here on earth was transformed into an eternity in order to make it possible for the rest of us to go on living as free Americans. The "sacrifice" we make Saturday to attend memorial services for these war dead will be as a straw in the wind to the sacrifice they made.—C.D.

Boy Scout program gains ground

One of the best things that has happened to the Boy Scout program here in a long time came recently when the men of the First Methodist Church decided to sponsor a new Scout troop as well as take over sponsorship of the Explorer Post, which has been without a sponsor since the first of the year.

Post's "old standby" Boy Scout troop, No. 16, isn't enough for a town this size. In fact there is room here for at least four Boy Scout troops, and while it may be a long time before we have that many, it is better to have two troops than one.

The fact that Post is the home of C. W. Post Memorial Boy Scout Camp should be an incentive for a stepped-up Boy Scout program here.

The camp is now in the process of getting ready for a much bigger and better summer camping program, which will see Scouts here for one-week encampments from throughout the 20-county area served by the South Plains Council.

Scouters—as adult Boy Scout leaders are known—say that the reason Post has a difficult time keeping more than one troop going is not because there are not enough boys interested in the program, but because the number of adults interested falls far short of what it should be.

So, congratulations, to the Methodist men for taking it upon themselves to get another troop going here and to keep the Explorer Post on an active basis. These men are setting a good example for other groups to follow.—C.D.

Judicial redistricting is needed

Needed relief to courts in two judicial districts will be brought about if a bill passed by the Texas Senate gains Gov. Price Daniel's signature.

Introduced in the house by Rep. Wesley Roberts of Lamesa, the bill would take Terry and Yoakum counties out of the 106th Judicial District, leaving Dawson, Lynn, Gaines and Garza.

Anyone familiar with the far stretches of West Texas can see where there is just too much to get around to by one judge, one attorney and one court reporter in a district covering as much territory as the 106th. That is one reason such a backlog of cases, both criminal and civil, have been piling up in the six counties of the district.

It was almost as bad in the 72nd District, which included Hockley, Cochran, Lubbock and Crosby counties. Under the redistricting, Hockley and Cochran, along with Terry and Yoakum, would form the new 121st District.

In addition to piling more work than they can handle on the two district officials and the court reporter, the present sprawling districts are costing the taxpayers in the respective counties more money than they need to be paying. In addition to improving the efficiency of the judicial officials, the redistricting would also result in speedier justice in the courts.

One of those endorsing the redistricting is former 106th District Judge Louis B. Reed of Lamesa, who said it would bring "needed relief" to courts in both districts.—C.D.

Let's patronize the library units

With the high school library open two afternoons a week, the junior high library one afternoon a week, and the Texas State Library bookmobile visiting Post and Garza County every two or three weeks, none of us should want for reading material this summer—if we have time to read.

The school libraries are being kept open during the summer through an agreement made some three years ago by the city council and the school board. Books on their shelves are available to adults as well as to students.

Many new books have been added to the school libraries, and the bookmobile has just about any book one would want, or can get it through their loan service.

Residents of Post and Garza County are urged to patronize these three library units. The public's response to their services could well be a gauge for determining whether or not some sort of permanent public library is established here in the next few years.—C.D.

What our contemporaries are saying

The man who lives by the biblical admonishment to live meekly and inherit the earth, had better take a long look at his inheritance and the condition it's in.—The Rails Banner.

The woods would be very silent if no birds sang except those that sang best.—The Jayton Chronicle.

The sponge of modern life has absorbed our extra time. At the end of the war this nation anticipated a new era in which an abundance of leisure would prevail. People were concerned about the time they would have on their hands as a result of shorter working hours, retirement and the mechanized living. The pattern has been distorted and time has shrunk. The tempo of life has developed a phase of madness; a ballroom in which the dancers never cease their dancing.—Matador Tribune.

Daughters who once were tied to mother's apron strings now maintain a long-distance connection.—Ochiltree County Herald.

American statesmen seem to flounder when they go to Europe and get to hoss swapping with the bargainers of the Old World. The average home-body in Texas anticipates that our men will be unequal to the task and that we'll be sold down the river as usual in the current negotiations at Geneva. In addition to shrewd diplomacy, which England and France know how to practice, the Russian Bear must be dealt with. Ivan is being treated like a respectable citizen of the world. The average citizen of our country is alarmed by what he sees going on, though he makes no pretense of understanding it all. He knows, for one thing, who is sure to have to pay the bill for the commitments that will be made.—The Floyd County Hesperian.

THURSDAY to THURSDAY

By CHARLES DIDWAY

GRADUATION TIME in Post is always a good time for rain, according to an observation found in one of Eddie Warren's columns, "Getting Out on a Limb," by one of The Dispatch's front office girls while working up this week's "Remembering Yesteryears" feature.

It may miss this year. We're writing this column on Saturday, and last night's eighth grade exercises went off without a hitch as far as precipitation was concerned. So, if it didn't rain during Sunday night's baccalaureate program or Monday night's commencement, then the "graduation time rain" is another weather legend gone by the boards.

SINCE THE 49-star flag — accounting for the addition of Alaska — doesn't become official until July 4, the 48-star banner will still be in official use this Memorial Day, which is Saturday.

The 48-star flag will also still be in vogue for Flag Day in June. In fact, government officials have put out the word that it will be perfectly proper for everyone to keep using the 48-star flags until they wear out. Like some of us wear suits, hats and shoes.

OUTSIDE OF THE fact that response was good on the questionnaires, we haven't heard much lately of the city mail delivery project revived here a few months ago. It shouldn't be too long though before some sort of new development is announced.

Incidentally, while looking up something that didn't amount to a hill of beans in our ancient set of Encyclopaedia Britannica, we ran across a long-winded article on the postal service which contained a few notes of interest on the mail delivery system.

FOR INSTANCE, a delivery system existed in a number of the larger cities as far back as 1862, the carriers remunerating themselves by the collection of a voluntary fee of from one to two cents on each piece of mail delivered.

A uniform free delivery system was first authorized by law on March 3, 1863, and was established on the succeeding 1st of July in 49 cities. The number of carriers employed the first year was 685. The article didn't say how many of those 685 were bitten by dogs.

THE FREE DELIVERY system has grown rapidly, and on July 1, 1901, 866 cities and towns were included in the scheme, and 16,389 letter-carriers were serving a population of 32,000,000. That's as far as our encyclopaedia took us, but those of you with newer sets can probably come up with some more impressive figures.

Our friend up the street says he can remember when a button was something his wife sewed on instead of something to push.

A FELLOW WITH whom we'd like to shake hands sent in a bell-ringer of a question to one of the Sunday TV question and answer columns. Here's his question:

"This is a rough estimate, but no less than 500 violent deaths have occurred in Dodge City during the last few years via the programs 'Gunsmoke' and 'Wyatt Earp.' Since Dodge City only had a few thousand inhabitants back in the 1870s, it would seem that one out of every two men in town died of bullet wounds. Shouldn't Marshals Dillon and Earp be running out of varmints to plug pretty soon?"

There wasn't anything wrong with the answer, either, which was as follows:

"They're scraping the cottom of the barrel right now. Which may be one reason Wyatt Earp will move from Dodge City to Tombstone next season. After you've shot up the whole town, there's no body left to talk to."

Put this into your item of "no significance": Last year 20 million pounds of glue were used to stick labels on the nation's 15 billion beer bottles.

PARTING THOUGHT: The average man doesn't want to paddle his own canoe these days; he wants a motor on it.

It Can't

"Tell me, MacDougall, how does the wearing of mittens teach your children thrift?"

"Weel, money canna' slip through their fingers."

The "land of sky-blue waters" is also the most valuable iron-ore region known in the world. The World Book Encyclopedia reports that more than one-billion gross tons of first-class iron ore have been mined in Minnesota since 1884.

About four-fifths of the iron and steel in the U.S. is made in Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York and Maryland, according to The World Book Encyclopedia.

July 16 date for planning meet on food preservation

By Jessie Pearce

I believe that I have mentioned this before in my column, but I do want all of the women in the county to be aware of this coming workshop—a food preservation workshop.

On July 16 there will be a meeting of all women interested in the workshop. At this time it will be decided what phases of preservation will be covered, this decision to be made by the women themselves. Some of the possibilities are: making yearly food preservation plans; freezing fruits or vegetables, or both; canning; preserving and jelly making; pickles and relishes; or freezing prepared foods. If there are other subjects concerning food preservation that you would like help on, attend the July 16 meeting and ask for them. We probably will not be able to cover in one year all of the subjects requested, but we can start plans to cover them at a later date.

Latin-American and Negro women are invited and urged to attend this session. Separate sections will be planned for these groups when the actual preservation work starts.

At the July 16 meeting, we will not only decide what we want to do, but will set dates and meeting times. We will do this at the general meeting so that the workshops can be held on the days most convenient to the women who want to attend.

Mark July 16 on your calendar now if you want to attend the food preservation workshop. We will meet in the 4-H Club Building at 2:30. All women are invited and you must attend this meeting if you want to participate. It is the only way I have of knowing about your interest and how to plan the actual workshop.

See you July 16.

Corner on Cotton

BY BOB COLLINS

What does "competitive price" mean when we talk about cotton???. . . it doesn't necessarily mean a low price . . . but it does mean that cotton must be priced at a level where some other fiber can't be profitably used to displace it . . . and competitive price doesn't mean lower profits for the farmer, either . . . in fact, nearly everybody we talk to in the industry wants to see the farmer make more money so he will stay interested in growing cotton . . . think what a blow it would be to ginners, merchants, oil millers, warehousemen, spinners and weavers if all the cotton farmers switched to another crop . . . all these people are interested in seeing the farmer prosper, but nobody associated with cotton is going to prosper unless there is a growing consumption of raw cotton . . . there isn't going to be one unless cotton can do a job as good as any other fiber and as CHEAPLY.

Cotton Vs. Cotton.
Now what about U. S. growths competing with foreign cotton?? other items also enter the picture . . . there is certainty of supply and good shipments . . . both of these favor the U. S., but the subsidy that gets U. S. cotton down price-wise to meet foreign growths is subject to change . . . this may not favor American cotton . . . since we have announced that our cotton will compete price-wise with foreign grown cotton and since we say that we will increase the subsidy whenever necessary, foreign buyers are wary . . . perhaps by holding off their buying of the U. S. cotton they can cause an increase in the subsidy and thus get the fiber cheaper . . . or they think, "what if I buy U. S. cotton at one price and then the subsidy is increased?" . . . I'll be stuck with a higher priced cotton than if I had waited . . . the trade feels that we should have a subsidy that gets our cotton into the competitive market, but also it should be a firm subsidy, not subject to increase during the season . . . while the subsidy CAN be increased, the U. S. Department of Agriculture has just said that it hopes improved textile conditions and culture has just said that it hopes improved textile conditions and world prices will allow a decrease . . . also, the subsidy has never been increased during a cotton season . . . this may offset marketing disadvantages of a possible increased subsidy . . . all of this to show that making cotton competitive isn't a simple thing and while the main thing is price, there are many other factors.

FISHERMAN'S DREAMS

An enthusiastic fisherman, like this young fellow, has to be an optimist. His love of the sport is not so much in the size of the fish caught as "in the ketchin'." He loves the thrill of watching the bobble of the cork; the excitement of the sudden tug on his line. Often it isn't even necessary to have a fish. His dreams are sufficient to keep him standing at this old tub for hours.

How many of us are like this fisherman . . . willing to go through life living on dreams, subsisting on wishes, hoping against hope that in the end everything will turn out alright. There is no middle ground with God. Fisherman's dreams are useless in man's longing for Eternal Life. The church offers such a way to us all. Go to church; take your family or a friend.

© 1959, Coleman Adv. Serv., P. O. Box 4887, Dallas, Texas

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Modern chemicals have reduced cotton insects

By JOHN C. WHITE

Without modern chemicals to combat cotton insects, the Texas farmer would pay an annual toll to these pests amounting to almost one pound of seed cotton for every three pounds produced.

That figure represents an "average" loss to insects over a 20-year period. In some years, farmers would have given up half their crop to insect infestations, and in a few cases, three-fourths of their production, according to research studies.

The U. S. Research Laboratory at Waco has been studying the cotton pest problem since the late 1930's. It shows an average annual seed cotton yield of 1,049 pounds per acre from treated test plots. This is 309 pounds, or 42 per cent more cotton than the average annual production on untreated plots.

Insecticides are becoming more effective, too. The advent of modern organic insecticides have resulted in yield gains of 58 per cent. Before 1945, when farmers depended upon inorganic insecticides such as arsenicals and sulphur, yield increases amounted to about 34 per cent annually.

Highest cotton production on treated plots and the greatest increase over untreated plots occurred in the 1955 tests. Treated cotton produced 1,461 pounds of seed cotton per acre as compared with only 778 pounds on untreated plots. The greatest percent increase was in 1946 when 403 pounds per acre were harvested from untreated plots and 1,034 were gathered from treated land. The percentage gain attributed to insect control was a whopping 156.6 per cent.

The most troublesome pests during the years of research have been the boll weevil and bollworm. Until the mid-1940's, the cotton aphid was a big factor in yield losses but it has been losing its "punch" in recent years. The cotton fleahopper is erratic — causing heavy damage in some years and then practically disappearing in others.

The cotton leafworm and desert spider mite do not usually develop to proportions that can influence crop production.

In view of the proven importance of an insect control program, Texas farmers are urged to contact their local agricultural agents for aid in developing an efficient schedule of field treatment.

Tour of Plant X made by seniors

The annual visit of the Post High School graduating class to Southwestern Public Service Co.'s Plant X in Lamb County took place Friday.

The more than forty members of the senior class toured the big plant, after which they were served a barbecued chicken dinner.

Accompanying the seniors were their class sponsors, Mrs. Cora Fleming and Frank Krhut.

Bible Thoughts

"Children Are Made"

by RONNIE PARKER

In Matt. 18 Jesus had taken a little child and placed him among his followers and was teaching them that they should become as little children—be converted. Among other things he said "Whoso shall offend one of these little ones which believe in me, it were better for him that a millstone were hanged about his neck, and that he were drowned in the depth of the sea."

Jesus was saying that one who caused a child to fall, or to sin, or hinder them, would be better off in the bottom of the sea. By these stern words Jesus was not only emphasizing the supreme importance of the child; he was also emphasizing the responsibilities of older ones in training him aright.

Jesus was simply affirming the truth of that wise declaration of old "Train up a child in the way he should go; and when he is old he will not depart from it." (Pr. 22:6). The word does not read "Try to train the child." But what is affirmed is this—that a right training for the child today will issue in a right manhood or a right womanhood tomorrow. The Bible therefore teaches that children are not so much born as made. Parents! Wake up to your responsibilities!

Garza man makes bond at Lubbock on two charges

A 24-year-old Garza County man, Royce H. Robinson, was released from the Lubbock County jail Monday after posting two $3,000 bonds on charges of assault with a prohibited weapon and assault with intent to rape.

The charges against Robinson, whose home is in the Pleasant Valley community, were filed early Monday. He had been arrested early Sunday a few minutes after a Lubbock woman had fought off a man who accosted her in an all-night laundry and who had attempted to threaten her with a pistol.

After repulsing the man, the woman, Mrs. Kathryn Barr, gave police the license number of the suspect's car, leading to the arrest.

ROBINSON WAS arrested by two Lubbock officers east of the Tahoka Highway traffic circle on 64th Street.

Lubbock officers said that under questioning, the suspect admitted he also was involved in earlier attacks on women at laundries in Lubbock.

The Lubbock woman told officers that the man accosted her in the laundry at about 12:30 a. m. Sunday.

She said that after he pulled a gun, she told him to "put that silly thing away", and that he began to back away. As he moved toward the door and turned to flee, Mrs. Barr grabbed him by the collar of his coat.

THE PAIR struggled outside the laundry onto the sidewalk where the man broke free after striking the woman with the gun. She said he then ran down the sidewalk toward a nearby service station, warning her not to follow him.

Mrs. Barr said that while she was inside the laundry trying to phone the police, her attacker returned and got into his car, which was parked directly in front of the laundry.

The woman said that when she saw the man get into the car she ran out and tried to open the locked passenger-side door on his car. The man attempted to back the car, stalled it, then started up and sped away. But Mrs. Barr had time to note his license number.

MRS. BARR, her head bleeding from where the man had struck her with the gun, went back into the laundry and got in touch with the police. In the meantime, a passing motorist who had seen the struggle between the man and woman also called police and patrol cars were at the laundry within minutes.

After his arrest, Robinson was taken to the police station, where, according to officers, Mrs. Barr and one of the attacker's earlier victims identified him from a lineup of six men.

Board discusses oil contracts

Much of the monthly session of the White River Municipal Water District directors last Thursday night at Crosbyton was spent discussing the needed contracts with oil companies for surplus water.

These contracts must be finalized before the federal agency and the state will loan the $4,000,000 necessary for financing the big dam and water pipelines to the towns of Post, Crosbyton, Spur, and Ralls.

Tom Bouchier, board chairman, and R. J. (Rube) Jennings were the Post directors attending the monthly meeting.

The grand prize winner was selected by a different judge from the four division winners after the winners of each age division were determined.

Mr. and Mrs. Clint Herring, their daughter, Jan, and Pam McCrary left Saturday for a four-week flying vacation in the Virgin Islands. The four flew to Miami from where they were scheduled to take another plane for the air hop to Jamaica. Among the other interesting island stops scheduled by the Harrings are those at Barbados, Martinique, Guadalupe, St. Lucia, St. Croix, St. John's, Haiti, and the Dominican Republic. They will return to Post June 23.

Another building story of interest in today's Dispatch is that of the new medical and surgical clinic building which Dr. John A. Carter is building. This will be another good addition to the town, and raises the question of what the future holds for the present clinic building across from the hospital.

Local physicians are stressing the importance of early inoculations for children who will be starting school for the first time next September. As one doctor pointed out "the inoculations will take anywhere from three to four months," so it is important that parents begin having their children vaccinated now so they'll be all through with it by the time school opens. Although we haven't been able to contact all five local doctors on it, they are said to be pretty well agreed on charging the regular fee for the inoculations, but of making adjustments in cases where parents are unable to pay. In other words, it'll work out so that no beginning pupil will go unvaccinated if brought to one of the doctors. The school board a few months ago voted to make it compulsory that beginners have smallpox, polio, tetanus, whooping cough and diphtheria vaccinations. R. T. Smith, superintendent of schools, tells us that this policy will be adhered to except in cases where a child's parent presents a doctor's affidavit that vaccination would be injurious to the child. There usually are a few such cases. The superintendent said this exception is provided in legislation setting up the compulsory vaccination law.

Scout camping season is to open Saturday, Camp Post

Approximately 250 Cub Scouts and dads and 160 Boy Scouts and adult leaders will open the summer camping season at C. W. Post Memorial Scout Camp this weekend.

The Cub Scouts and dads will arrive Saturday for an overnight stay, but the Boy Scouts will hold one-week encampments, according to Frank "Chief" Runkles, camp ranger.

Runkles said approximately 600 Boy Scouts and leaders from throughout the 20-county South Plains Council will encamp here before the four-week summer camping season ends.

This summer, the Boy Scouts will find enlarged camping facilities, including three new campsites in a newly developed camping area of the 400-acre Scout camp.

The three new campsites, Runkles said, are across South Canyon.

There are less campsites this summer than there have been, but each campsite is much larger, Runkles explained. The number of sites have been reduced from 12 to eight, but these eight will accommodate many more campers than did the 12.

Water has been piped across South Canyon to the new camping area. There is also a new concrete-block shower house.

Last weekend, Runkles said, the camp held its first Webelos encampment, which proved so successful that plans are being made to hold several of these encampments next year. Webelos are boys who are graduating from the Cub Scout program into the Boy Scout program.

Camp Post is owned and operated by the South Plains Council. During their stay there, the Scouts will have an opportunity to participate in such Scouting activities as archery, compass, marksmanship, axeman, rope skills, pioneering, nature, first aid, campfires, and other Scouting skills.

All meals at the camp will be prepared in a modern dining room under the direction of Mrs. Oscar Gray of Post. She will be assisted by Mrs. Basil Puckett and a Mrs. Osborn, both of Post.

Shelby Berry, district Scout executive, serving the Quannah Parker District, will be camp director. Bill McGlaun, district Scout executive for the Comanche Trail District, will serve as assistant camp director.

Scout troops registered for encampments at Camp Post this summer are from Muleshoe, Earth, Lubbock, Silverton, Brownfield, Levelland, Whiteface, Post, Morton, Anton, Jayton, Crosbyton, Plainview, Spur and Amherst.

Of eight persons booked in Justice of Peace D. C. Roberts' court the last few days, four had paid fines and court costs up to 2 p. m. Wednesday.

Others booked were: D. A. Ivey, illegal passing; J. I. Ray, vehicle over axle weight; J. I. Ray, no commercial operator's license; Dewie Chavis, drunkenness; G. D. Osborn, leaving scene of accident.

43 are graduated in exercises held here Monday night

Forty-three Post High School seniors received diplomas Monday night at commencement exercises in the Post High School auditorium.

The diplomas were awarded by E. R. Moreland, president of the school board, following presentation of the class by Supt. R. T. Smith.

Students appearing on the program were Kay Gene Payne, valedictorian; Frances Barron, salutatorian; Victor Hudman and Jimmy Short. Another member of the graduating class, Clark Cowdrey, sang "Moments to Remember."

Invocation was by the Rev. Almon Martin, pastor of the First Christian Church, and the benediction was by Ronnie Parker, minister of the Church of Christ.

The professional and recessionary was played by Georgie M. Willson.

Scholarship awards were presented by Principal Glenn Whittenberg to Kay Martin and Diane Brooks.

Miss Martin's award was from Mrs. Mary Lee Wristen, Post Junior High School teacher, for the outstanding senior girl planning a teaching career. Miss Martin plans to enroll in Wayland College next September.

The scholarship award to Miss Brooks was from the Amity Study Club for the outstanding senior girl planning a career in nursing.

The graduating class was ushered in by junior class members Curtis Didway and Bob Cato. Also serving as ushers were seven junior girls—Pat Wheatley, Dorothy Kuykendoll, Glenda Whittenberg, Sharon Jobe, Linda Wilks, Rhea Peel and Leta Stone.

Garza pair held for burglary

Two Garza county young men, Wayne Parrish of near Graham and John Vincent Thrash of Post, are being held at La Grange, Ga., as wanted suspects in the burglary of Lubbock's Flamingo Club May 18.

Charges have been filed in Lubbock against the pair, both about 21, and Lubbock officers have gone to Georgia to return the pair to Lubbock.

The Flamingo Club break-in was reported by Luther Brammer of Lubbock, who also complained the suspects beat and robbed him of $12 and his clothing, leaving him in his car which was stuck in the club parking lot.

Sheriff Carl Rains said today that Garza officers had been on the lookout for Parrish and Thrash for the burglary.

School district--

Supt. Smith said the State Board of Education has the choice of purchasing such bonds if it feels it can offer the school district a better interest rate. This action helps keep the interest rate as low as possible to Texas school districts. The state board's action in refusing to buy the bonds, trustees point out, indicates that the district received a good interest rate on the $710,000 issue.

Irby G. Metcalf, president of the First National Bank, was the trustees' fiscal agent for the bond issue.

The Dispatch was not notified of the special session at which the bonds were sold in early April.

Former resident is crushed to death

Willie Joe Roach, 39, former Post resident, was crushed to death last Thursday when he was run over by an oil field truck while helping to load a rig on a lease three miles south of Kermit.

Roach, who was a truck driver, was killed instantly when hit by a truck which was backing up to a ramp.

Funeral services for Roach were conducted at Kermit, where he had lived for nine months. Burial was in Ira, where he had lived before moving to Kermit.

He is survived by his wife, Wanda Lee, and three sons, all of Kermit; his mother, Mrs. Lora Roach of Lubbock; his father, Eliza H. Roach of Honey Grove; one sister, Mrs. Lorene Taylor of Post, and two brothers, Floyd Roach of Big Spring and Jack Roach of Post.

Roach was at one time a school bus driver in the Graham Common School District.

In addition to relatives, a number of Post friends of Roach attended the funeral.

1,000 Buddy Poppies sold in four hours

One of the most successful VFW Buddy Poppy sales ever held in Post was staged Saturday when the Veterans of Foreign Wars post and its ladies' auxiliary, aided by a number of school girls, sold approximately 1,000 poppies in four hours.

Instead of being sold throughout the day, as in the past, the poppy sale Saturday began at 8 a. m. and ended at noon.

Sales were made from two downtown booths, one at the post office and the other at the First National Bank, with nine girls going from store to store to sell the poppies.

Nick Vukad, chairman of the sale for the VFW post, was in charge of the booth at the post office and Mrs. Jessie Lofton, chairman for the ladies auxiliary, had charge of the one at the post office.

School girls assisting in the sale were Becky Thompson, Bobbie Compton, Paula Smith, Cheryl Martin, Judy Cook, Judy Post, Linda Rogers, Mary Beth Farr and Kay Lofton.

The poppy sale chairman of the VFW organizations said they wished to thank the girls who helped sell the poppies, as well as everyone who purchased them.

Proceeds from the sale go to the benefit of disabled war veterans and members of their families. The poppies are made by disabled veterans in government hospitals.

City accepting bids on paving

Bids for paving and curb and gutter on 15 blocks of city streets will be accepted by the City of Post until 10 a. m. June 12, at which time the bids will be opened and read.

Mayor Powell Shytles said the city had not planned to do any new paving this summer, and that the blocks to be paved actually are what the city "didn't quite get around to" in last year's paving program. Most of the new paving will be in new residential districts in the northwest part of town. Some of it, however, will be in the northeast and southwest parts of the city.

Medical clinic

The $40,000 building permit for the new clinic building was "big" permit of the week.

Only two others were issued. One went to Ruby Hernandez for an addition to present residence and storm cellar for $300. The other went to L. R. Martin for an addition of room and bath to residence, $1,000.

The three new permits bring construction in Post to date 1959 to $390,457.

Eight Little League and Pony League clubs off and running

Cubs and Dodgers score opening night victories

The Dodgers and Cubs were victorious in Monday night's baseball opening at Little League Park, with the Dodgers downing the Yankees, 10 to 1, in a Little League game, and the Cubs swamping the White Sox, 13 to 6, in a Pony League contest.

The scheduled pre-game ceremonies were not held because of conflicting events, but the opening night was considered a success by President Ray Henderson and other officials of the youth baseball program.

A fairly large crowd was on hand, but started dwindling as the sun grew late and the weather became threatening. The Pony League game, which did not get under way until after 8 o'clock, was over until about 10:30.

THE CUBS, managed by Wayne Howell and sponsored by Coker Printing and Texas Electric, served notice on the other teams that they will be real contenders.

Ybarra no-hits Yanks in 10-1 Dodger victory

Jim Ybarra pitched a no-hitter for the First National Bank's Dodgers Monday night in their 10 to 1 victory over Postex Mills' Yankees in the opening game of the Little League season.

The losers' only run came on two errors and a passed ball in the fifth inning.

Ybarra struck out 14 Yankee batters and walked none in the six-inning game.

The Dodgers opened their barrage in the first inning when Valdez doubled and Ybarra singled. Smith had walked. After two runs had scored, Bartlett struck out to end the inning.

Smiles by Jones, Simpson and Valdez helped bring in four more Dodger runs in the second. They were successful in the third and fourth innings, but scored a single run in the fifth and two in the sixth, with doubles by Ybarra and Bartlett the big blows in that inning.

Charles Landroop was the starting pitcher for the Yankees, yielding the mound duties to Sutter in the sixth. Landroop struck out eight batters, while Sutter fanned five in the inning he worked.

The White Sox were held hitless for the Pony League pennant. Sylvester Collazo spun a neat five-hitter, while he and his teammates were collecting 14 hits off the combined offerings of two White Sox pitchers.

The White Sox, managed by Ben Howell and sponsored by Bob Collier Drug, were not at full strength. Their first-line catcher, Royce Chance, was unable to play because of illness, and Manager Howell, with a short roster, had to do some other shuffling around to field a team.

The Cubs got things going in the top of the first when Shortstop Price doubled to drive in two runs. Leadoff man John Sepeda's double was the only other base blow of the inning off White Sox Pitcher Henderson, but two more runs scored before the inning was over.

THE CUBS increased their lead to 7-0 in the second when Price again doubled to score Eddie Gonzales and Sepeda and then came home on an error and a passed ball.

The winners picked up six more runs in the third to make it 13-0. Glen Polk's triple, Collazo's double and singles by Wayne Gamblin and Danny Odom did the damage, along with three White Sox errors.

The Cubs went down in order in the fourth, with Reed coming out to pitch for the White Sox in the fifth. Polk was hit by a pitched ball—he was hit four times during the game—and scored on Price's double. Price was thrown out attempting to steal third and Odom and Collazo went down on strikes.

TWO MORE RUNS were scored by the Cubs in the sixth. Gamblin doubled, Sutter walked, and both came home on Sepeda's single.

The final inning was the big one for the winners, with seven runs crossing the plate before Gamblin struck out to mercifully end the slaughter.

Reed fanned Odom and Collazo to open the inning, but it was far from over. Gamblin reached first on an error, Reuben Gonzales was hit by a pitched ball and both scored on Sutter's single, his only base hit of the night. Taylor, who has gone in for Eddie Gonzales in right field, was hit by a pitched ball, and he and Sutter came home on Sepeda's one-base blow. After Polk was hit by the pitcher, Price brought him home on a lousy triple, and then scored himself when the second baseman bobbled Odom's grounder.

Henderson struck out seven and walked one in the four innings he pitched. Reed fanned seven and walked three in three innings.

IN PITCHING the five-hitter, Collazo struck out 11 and walked seven.

The White Sox were held hitless

THE SOX WENT down in order in the fifth, but scored three runs in the sixth. Freddie Collazo, batting for Valdez, walked to open the inning. Hair also walked, and Gordon drove in the two base runners with a line single. Gordon was thrown out trying to steal second, but Soto walked and scored on Henderson's ringing three-bagger. Henderson crossed the plate on a passed ball, and after Delroy Odom had walked, Mitchell went down on strikes to end the inning.

The Sox added another run in the final frame when Freddie Collazo walked, stole second and scored on Soto's single.

By CHARLES DIDWAY

The Little League and Pony League seasons got off to a good start Monday night, even though the scheduled pre-game ceremony had to be cancelled because of so many other things going on, with a number of the "dignitaries" unable to be present.

Both of the first two games were high-scoring affairs, with the result that the crowd—those who stayed—were kept a little later than most people like to be up watching ball games. But as the youngsters settle down later in the season, the tempo will pick up and there shouldn't be too many long night sessions.

Polly Duren did his usual good job of umpiring and kept the games moving once they got under way. He also had able assistants in the base umpires. In fact, the umpires were the only ones at the park who didn't seem to have the "first game jitters."

There's something unusual happens at most every Little League and Pony League game and Monday night's openers were no exceptions. In the Little League game, Jim Ybarra pitched a no-hitter for the Dodgers. "Something unusual" in the Pony League game was the fact that Glen Polk, Cub first baseman, was hit four times by pitched balls. "Give him a Purple Heart," someone yelled from the stands as Glen trotted down to first base after being hit for the fourth time. The other two times Glen was at bat he walked and tripped.

With the exception of the softball games on the new diamond at Postex Mill, the Little League and Pony League play will be about all we'll have for a while on the sports front. As the summer wears on, there'll be more and more golfing out at the Caprock Golf Course, with a tournament or two on the program. To the football fan, it always seems like a long time between the close of school and the opening of the football season, but in reality those summer vacation months pass pretty fast.

We've heard nothing official on it, but there'll more than likely be another swimming meet at the park pool this summer—they've gone over big the last two seasons.

In between what local sports we do have this summer, many of us will be watching with interest to see how long it takes the New York Yankees to climb out of the American League's second division.

Indians massacre Braves, 17 to 1, in opening tilt

The second night of play at Little League Park Tuesday night saw the Indians swamp the Braves, 17 to 1, in a Pony League game, and the Red Sox tame the Tigers, 21 to 4, in a Little League contest.

The Indians, sponsored by Levi's Ranch Cafe and managed by Pat Franklin, swarmed all over Garza Tire Company's Braves. The game was called at the end of the fifth inning under the 15-run lead rule.

David Nichols was the winning pitcher, with Pat Cornell helping him out in the fifth. The Braves got only two hits, both off Nichols in the four innings he worked.

The Indians' eight hits were all they needed in their massacre of the Braves.

Perez, who pitched two and one-third innings, was the loser. Coming on in relief were Moreau, Curb, and P. Nichols, but none of them were able to silence the Indian bats.

Eddie Valdez and Pat Cornell led the Indian attack, each getting two of the eight hits. The only Brave hits were two-baggers by Perez and Curb.

Red Sox defeat Tigers, 21 to 4 in LL contest

In the opening game for both teams Tuesday night, the Red Sox lambasted the Tigers, 21 to 4, in a Little League game.

Manager Dee Caffey's Sox, sponsored by Brown Bros., scored in every inning except the final one in their win over Manager Jess Cornell's Tigers, sponsored by the civic clubs of the city.

Leading batters for the Red Sox were J. C. Demming with two doubles and a single and Roy Long with two singles and a two-bagger.

Demming, who gave up only one hit in three innings, was the winning pitcher. He was relieved in the fourth by Joe Bob Blacklock, who scattered five base hits the rest of the way.

F. Vargas got two of the Tigers' hits, a single and a double. J. Bilberry got a lead-off triple for the losers in the fifth inning, scoring on Donnie Cornell's single.

TECH'S EXPANDED STADIUM

When Jones Stadium is completely enlarged and improved, it will resemble the architect's drawing (above) by fall of 1960, when the Red Raiders launch Southwest Conference football play. A new pressbox will be ready for this fall.—(Texas Tech Photo)

Tech's new pressbox to be ready by fall new pressbox for Texas Tech's expanded Jones Stadium will be completed by this fall.

Practically all traces of the former pressbox have been removed, along with the light pole that carried 24 bulbs and ran through the box. In place of the former pole will be the erected the first of six new standards, each carrying 96 bulbs.

On that one pole will be more bulbs than are currently on one side of the stadium. When the stadium enlargement is completed in 1960, Texas Tech will have the best lighted field in the Southwest Conference, with 576 bulbs as compared with the 144 now being used. This fall 206 bulbs will illuminate Jones Stadium.

Also under way is construction of athletic offices and dressing rooms. To make room for these, Texas Tech is moving its 3,000 end zone seats to the track.

Texas Tech is financing the stadium through the sale of options on choice seats in the stadium—at $300, $200, and $100, depending upon the location—and on seats in the first floor of the pressbox, at $2,500 a pair. Jimmie Wilson, business manager of athletics, is handling the option sale.

Turkey crop is looking good for this year

AUSTIN — Wild turkey will be plentiful this year, according to E. A. Walker, director of wildlife restoration, Texas Game and Fish Commission. "Last year was one of the most favorable years since the drought for increases in the wild turkey populations," said Walker, "and many young birds were raised and added to the bands now roaming the Texas brushlands."

Old roosts, which appeared abandoned and forgotten, are being reactivated. During the past fall and winter, wild turkey have been observed roosting in a number of old roosts that had not been used since before the drought.

Following the winter roosting in late February and March, wild turkeys go through what is known as a spring shuffle, according to Walker. The winter flocks break up and begin to disperse over wide areas in preparation for breeding and nesting. The usual procedure is for each old gobbler to collect a harem of females and move into a nesting area. "This location frequently is as far as 12 to 20 miles from the wintering grounds," said the director.

During the shuffle, it is not unusual for single hens to be lost for a period of time. "However," added Walker, "the calling and gobbling of the wild gobblers, which is always heard at this time of year, attracts the hens and they are usually successful in mating with a mature gobbler."

Grassland Cooperative Gin schedules meeting

The annual meeting of the Grassland Cooperative Gin will be held at 8 p. m. Monday, June 1, L. S. Turner, president, has announced.

All patrons of the gin are urged to attend and friends in the community are invited, Turner said.

An education program will be presented, with prominent speakers taking part. At a business session to follow, two directors will be elected and the audit report read. Refreshments will be served.

The Grassland Cooperative Gin, Turner said, enjoyed a good season last year, ginning more than 6,000 bales of cotton and clearing nearly $5 per bale.

The directors have already approved the purchase of new Mitchell 9-cylinder Super feeder-cleaners and two new Hardwick-Etter overhead cleaners and a separator, all costing more than $30,000. This new machinery, with other equipment installed last year, will bring the gin up to one of the most modern and efficient plants in the territory.

"A better grade of cotton and turnout for the customers is the goal that is steadily followed," the president said.

Assets of $50,461.70 in 1949 have increased to $165,905 as of March 31, 1959.

Officers besides Turner are T. L. Aten, vice president; Thurman Francis, secretary; Odie Tew, treasurer, and Amos Gerner, Glenn Norman, Bishop Mathis and Gerald Norman, directors. Tew is also manager, assisted by Ted Dockery, plant superintendent.

Tuberculosis code for Texas signed by Price Daniel

AUSTIN — An updating of laws pertaining to a disease almost as old as mankind was accomplished today in Texas by the signing of the Texas Tuberculosis Code by Gov. Price Daniel.

The bill (House Bill 421) makes plain the enforcement of compulsory isolation upon those who have contagious tuberculosis and who refuse to isolate themselves and protect others. Such enforcement has been had in various parts of Texas for two years, but it was felt procedure for enforcement needed to be clearly spelled out. This act does that.

Also contained in the code is a provision for penalty of fine or imprisonment of anyone — physician or otherwise — for failure to report a case known to them as contagious tuberculosis.

Also provided is that premises occupied by people with infectious tuberculosis shall be disinfected before the property is sold or rented to anyone else.

Draft of the act, sponsored in the House by Reps. Don Kennard and Don Gladden of Fort Worth, and Rep. Robert H. Hughes of Dallas and Sen. Crawford Martin of Hillsboro, was reviewed by various agencies concerned with TB control before its presentation in the House and Senate. Those agencies were the Texas Medical Association, the State Department of Health, the Board for Texas State Hospitals and Special Schools and the Public Welfare Department, the Vocational Rehabilitation Division and the Texas Tuberculosis Association, a voluntary agency. The latter, and the Texas Medical Association, cooperated to aid the senator and representatives in drafting the legislation, bringing together all laws having to do with tuberculosis — some dating to 1909 — and making them up-to-date and adequate.

NEEDS SHOULD BE DETERMINED

Fertilizer use is important to crop yield, says soil chemist

COLLEGE STATION — Determining your fertilizer needs will probably make the difference in whether your crop will show a profit or lose money, says William F. Bennett, extension soil chemist.

Several methods can be used to determine the fertilizer needs of the soil for a given crop. They are soil tests, plant tissue tests, field trials and deficiency symptoms. The ideal way is to use all of these methods together in determining fertilizer needs, said Bennett.

A soil test is the cheapest, most convenient way to determine fertility needs. It is also the most accurate way with the exception of extensive field trials. By determining nutrients needed and the proper ratio, soil tests can be used to determine how to make the most profit from money invested in fertilizers. Before taking samples of your soil, contact your county agent for information on how to take samples.

Plant analysis can be used to supplement soil analysis as a is for fertilizer recommendations, he said. At the present time, plant analysis testing is still in the experimental stage.

Field trials are the final test in determining the value of the grade and amount of fertilizer used. Unfertilized strips of four to six rows or 20 feet in width should be left across the field. Double the normal rate being used or decrease it by half the normal rate on several rows to see if a different rate would be more profitable. These strips will indicate whether the fertilizer pays.

Deficiency symptoms often help diagnose a situation and aid in determining fertility needs. Deficiency symptoms often are similar to the effects of a lack of moisture on plant growth, he added.

For further information on determining fertilizer needs, consult your county agent.

Texas promoting new summertime safety campaign

AUSTIN - For the seventh year, Texas is promoting the summertime traffic safety campaign under the Slow Down and Live slogan. The Texas Safety Association will coordinate the program throughout the Lone Star State. The theme for 1959 is "Can YOU Stop in Time?" As in previous years, the campaign starts with Memorial Day and will end with Labor Day. This period has been selected for the campaign, because it is during these months that vacation travel reaches its peak. J. O. Musick, TSA's general manager, points out, the theme, "Can YOU Stop in Time" emphasizes four basic causes of every accident. "A mechanically unsafe vehicle, a roadway hazardous in design or size, a driver inadequately equipped for his task or a driver whose mental and emotional attitude (often caused by traffic jams, drinking, fatigue, etc.) is such that it causes him to forget his normal safe driving habits." In Texas, last year, there were 2,342 persons killed and 126,842 injured in 72,362 traffic accidents. Most of these occurred because someone could not stop in time.

Grasshoppers subject of new publication by Extension Service

COLLEGE STATION - Every year grasshoppers destroy crops in some parts of the State. During severe outbreaks, the losses run into millions of dollars. About 5 million acres of rangeland was infested with grasshoppers in the Panhandle area of Texas in 1958. Of the infested rangeland only about one million acres were sprayed, leaving four million acres of infested land that received no control. Valuing the grass destroyed at the figure of $1.25 per acre, ranchmen in the Panhandle alone lost about five million dollars worth of grass. Most of the grass could have been saved at a nominal average cost of about sixty cents per acre by spraying at the proper time. As an aid to farmers and ranchmen, entomologists of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service have prepared a leaflet titled, "Grasshoppers Common to Texas." The leaflet discusses the different species of grasshoppers found in Texas and their identifying characteristics. Also included is a discussion of the life cycle of grasshoppers from the time the females lay the eggs to maturity. This leaflet can be obtained from your local county agent along with information on best control measures, or by writing the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas. Ask for L-428.

Grasshoppers subject of new publication by Extension Service

COLLEGE STATION - In 1958 the major insect pests of grain sorghum were the sorghum webworm and the corn earworm. Both insects were difficult to control in varieties of grain sorghum having characteristically "tight heads", said Neal M. Randolph, associate professor of entomology at Texas A&M. These insects often occur together in damaging numbers in heads of grain sorghum. Sorghum planted late in the season generally is subjected to more insect damage than are earlier plantings. The sorghum webworm does damage to grain sorghums especially during wet seasons and extensive losses have occurred throughout the eastern half of Texas, he said. The corn earworm, also called the tomato fruitworm and the cotton bollworm, is one of the most destructive insects attacking grain sorghum. It is often referred to as the "headworm" when feeding in the grain sorghum head. Randolph said that studies conducted by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station showed that fair to good control of the sorghum webworm could be obtained from certain insecticides. The insecticides used were: parathion, methyl parathion, thiodan, Sevin, Phosdrin, toxaphene, and Hercules 5727. Some of the insecticides are restricted as to use and the instructions on the label of the insecticide should be followed closely, he noted. Low infestations of the corn earworm persisted throughout both experiments and only fair control was obtained from the application of any of the insecticides used, the entomologist said. Methods and insecticides used for controlling the insects along with the results obtained, are discussed in Progress Report 2063, released by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station. Copies are available from the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas.

Harry Porters in move to Garland

Harry Porter, former manager of radio station KRWS, was here last weekend to move his family to Garland, Tex., where he has been since September.

Porter's invention, a submerged water heater, is now on the market and he has been at Garland in connection with the manufacture and distribution of the heater.

The firm with which he is connected is also making commercial water heaters from Porter's invention and these types of units will be installed in the new automatic laundry to be opened here by Wallace Simpson, Porter said.

The Porters have been residents of Post about two and a half years. Besides Mr. and Mrs. Porter, there are two children — Joe, 14 years old, and Lola Mae, 9 years old. The children finished the school term here, Joe as a freshman and Lola Mae as a fourth grade pupil.

Porter said he liked Post so well that he plans to move back in about two years — "as soon as we get everything to going good on our product at Garland," he said.

MORE PRODUCTION ON TREATED PLOTS

Modern insecticides are proving worth in control of cotton pests

COLLEGE STATION — U. S. cotton growers would pay an annual toll to cotton insects amounting to almost 1 pound of seed-cotton for every 3 pounds they produce without modern insecticides to combat them, the U. S. Department of Agriculture says.

More than 20 years of research by entomologists of USDA's Agricultural Research Service, in cooperation with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, show that although the percentage of production increase varies somewhat with the use of insecticides, more cotton has always been produced on treated plots.

Field trials at the ARS Cotton Insects Research Laboratory, Waco, Texas, show an average annual seed-cotton yield of 1,049 pounds per acre from treated plots. This is 309 pounds, or 42 per cent, more cotton than the average annual total produced on untreated plots.

The experiments show that, since the advent of modern organic insecticides to control cotton pests, yield gains have averaged 33 per cent. Before 1945 when growers depended upon inorganic insecticides such as arsenicals and sulphur, yield increases amounted to about 34 per cent annually.

Highest production on treated plots and the greatest increase over untreated plots occurred in 1955 when treated plots produced 1,461 pounds of seed-cotton per acre as compared with only 778 pounds on untreated plots.

Since 1939, when the Cotton Insects Laboratory was established at Waco, tests have been conducted to compare production on plots treated with new insecticides, with standard insecticides, and plots receiving no pest control treatment.

Only a few irrigated plots were involved in the study and those were analysed during the last three years.

Got its start during Civil War

Memorial Day becomes nation-wide tribute

While the South was fighting to free itself from the Union, its women were planting the beginnings of one of the most reverent national holidays of the U. S. — Memorial Day.

The nation was still torn by the Civil War when Southern women began to honor the dead from both sides of the Mason-Dixon line by scattering flowers on their graves.

According to research experts with The World Book Encyclopedia, the women of Columbus, Miss., decorated the graves of Union and Confederate soldiers in 1863. Two years later, Mrs. Sue Landon Vaughn, a descendant of John Adams, second president of the U.S., led some women in strewing flowers at a military cemetery in Vicksburg, Miss.

As the custom spread, Gen. John A. Logan, commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, was persuaded to set a uniform date on which to honor the Union dead. In 1868, Logan issued a general order to all Grand Army posts, setting aside

May 30 "for the purpose of strewing with flowers or otherwise decorating the graves of comrades who died in defense of their country."

The first celebrations in the North exalted the Union armies for their victory over the South. But the theme of victor and vanquished gradually disappeared.

As the U.S. passed through the Spanish-American War, the World Wars and the Korean War, Memorial Day became a tribute to the nation and to all those who have died for it.

Look to Milky Way Dairy Month theme

COLLEGE STATION — Look to the Milky Way! This theme highlights the U. S. Department of Agriculture's support of June Dairy Month. The campaign is built around "a galaxy of dairy dishes" designed to generate increased sales of milk, cream and cheeses, according to the Texas Extension Service. June Dairy Month is a major national event during which dairy farmers and other members of the industry join forces to get more dairy foods into hands of consumers. The Texas Extension Service and the U. S. Department of Agriculture support the dairy industry in this nation-wide marketing campaign because dairy foods are plentiful and milk production continues to run high.

AUSTIN — There's a "get on with it" mood among House members during this special session. House was the target of some criticism after the regular session having made almost no progress in money-raising.

This session the House began processing money bills at a fast clip. Initial action indicated there was less opposition in the House to Gov. Price Daniel's tax program than during the regular session.

Many in the lower house seemed to be in a mood to get as much as possible over to the Senate and "let them worry with it." Then, if the finance provisions still aren't solved at the end of this session, they hope people won't be saying that the House "let it go on its hands again."

Senate attitude toward the various money-raising approaches is largely an unknown quantity. No money-raising bill ever came to a vote in the Senate — either in committee or on the floor — during the regular session.

DEBT-PAYING BILLS — Three bills recommended by Gov. Daniel to wipe out the $65,000,000 state deficit received first legislative attention. These measures are:

1. "Bookkeeping bill" designed to drop $18,000,000 off the Aug. 31 deficit by crediting certain money to this year instead of next year.
2. One-year increase in the corporation franchise tax to bring in $17,000,000. Sponsor Rep. Joe Ed Winfree of Houston called it "a donation by Texas business" toward balancing out state government.
3. Abandoned property act, to transfer to the State Treasury rights unclaimed for seven years. Estimates vary as to how much would bring in; sponsors say about $10,000,000 the first year, $2,500,000 a year thereafter. It was re-written after its defeat last session, but bankers still are not happy.

First two of these bills received quick House approval.

GOVERNOR'S PERMANENT PROGRAM — To cover new money needs for the next two years, the governor is pushing a separate program, a "package bill" known as H. B. 7.

It would raise an estimated $11,000,000 in two years. Affected by the bill would be (1) natural gas, with a reduction from 7 to 5 per cent in production and addition of 5 per cent "overance beneficiary" tax, (2) interstate corporations, with a new complex taxation formula, (3) utility companies, with an increase in the gross receipts tax, (4) cigarettes, one cent per pack more, (5) other tobacco products, except snuff, to be added to sales tax fold, (6) liquor, increase from $1.408 (correct) to $1.50 a gallon sales tax, (7) automobiles, with sales tax increase from 1.1 to 1.5 per cent.

Rep. George Hinson of Mineola is sponsoring the bill. In the past weeks the governor has been making a vigorous round of conferences and talks, rounding up support for his program. He introduced it before the Legislature with a speech pouring fire and brimstone on the heads of lobbyists. He accused the "third house" of causing expensive delays.

OTHER TAX BILLS — As in the regular session, there is no lack of ideas for raising money. Besides the governor's bills, some have been proposed:

- (1) One per cent tax on all manufactured goods, by Rep. Jerry Sadler of Pecos. To bring in an estimated $200,000,000 annually. Businesses grossing less than $10,000 annually would be exempt.
- (2) 15 per cent general sales tax, by Rep. Frances S. Seelingson of San Antonio. Food, feed and fertilizer would be exempt.
- (3) One per cent tax on retail sales, one per cent on personal income and three per cent on corporate income, by Rep. Louis Anderson of Midland.
- (4) Five per cent tax on corporate net profits, by Rep. Dean Johnson of Houston.
- (5) Five per cent tax on trading stamps, by Rep. Joe Chapman of

TOO MUCH OIL — Texas oil allowable for June will be 282,738 barrels a day less than for May. Texas Railroad Commission set the statewide flow at 2,964,414 barrels a day on a 10-day producing pattern.

It is the lowest allowable since last July. Both independent producers and major buyers asked the Commission for a sharp cut. They said there is a surplus of petroleum and the threat of a glut on the market.

GONE WITH THE WIND — If you inherited some of grandfather's Confederate bonds, just look on them as keepsakes. Texas Supreme Court has held that the state cannot pay them off.

Holders of some state Civil War bonds issued in 1862 received legislative permission to sue the state for $46,000 payment on the bonds. Lower courts held the state was not liable because of a general statute of limitations against debts that old. Supreme Court upheld that ruling.

THEY WON'T EAT IT DOWN RIGHT AWAY

Termites in house no cause for panic, word from entomologist

COLLEGE STATION — Don't get panicky if you think you have termites in your house. They are not going to eat it down right away. This advice comes from James H. Hawkins, Extension entomologist.

First make sure they are termites, he says. It's easy to mistake ants for termites. Your county agent can help make positive identification. If they are termites take your time in deciding what to do as termites work slowly. You will have to know where they are getting into your home so look for their mud tubes. Termites build these tubes as travel routes when they are forced to bridge over concrete, brick, or other non-wood surface.

Use a flashlight and an ice pick and look for termite signs under porch steps around inside cellar walls, crawl spaces, or outside window sills. Look for mud tubes coming out of the tops of hollow concrete blocks. Jab wood that is in contact with masonry or beams which are near the ground level. If the ice pick goes in readily, it is a sign of trouble.

Several chemicals which are effective and long-lasting in controlling termites if applied properly are chloridane, lindane, and dieldrin, says Hawkins. He suggests using the oil or water emulsion concentrate forms of these materials or wettable powders. Dig a trench around the foundation of your home, dilute the insecticide with water, and pour it into the trench at a rate of four gallons to every ten linear feet.

If the termites are coming through a crack in a slab of concrete, it may be necessary to drill 1/2-inch holes, one foot apart and six inches from walls and pillars, through the slab. Then pour the chemicals into the holes.

Tackling a termite control job is hard, dirty work. Even if you have the incentive, in case of concrete slabs with imbedded heat pipes, better leave it to a reliable pest control operator, the entomologist advises.

Catholic Church is to hold vacation school

A religious vacation school will begin June 15 at Holy Cross Catholic Church, the Rev. James Erickson, pastor, has announced. The school will continue for two weeks under the supervision of two teaching sisters who will live in Post while conducting the school.

Father Erickson said the vacation school is not confined to children who have not yet received their first Communion, but to those who have, as well.

Charles W. Elliot, former president of Harvard, once confessed that the most unusual letter he had ever received came from a certain women's club. It read:
"Dear Sir: Our committee, having heard that you are the country's greatest thinker, would be greatly obliged if you would send us your seven greatest thoughts."

In Japan, a good housewife pulls thread from a garment, launders it, then sews it back together again.
