Suspect gives self up in rape case

Bennie Lee McIntyre, 18-year-old negro farm hand who was charged yesterday afternoon in Tahoka with the rape of a white housewife in the Grassland community, stopped the right man on US highway 380 between Post and Tahoka Tuesday afternoon.

The man driving the car he stopped was Garza Deputy Sheriff Corley.

He nervously told Corley that there had been some trouble at farm house and it was caused by a boy dressed like me. He said he was afraid he would get in trouble.

Corley radioed to Lynn County Sheriff Norvell (Booger) Redwine that he had somebody he thought might be wanted. Redwine drove to scene and picked up McIntyre.

This was just 15 to 20 minutes after the rape of the housewife and other of two had occurred, about 10 p. m.

McIntyre is being held at an unincorporated jail as a precautionary measure.

Frank Hill, publisher of the Lynn County News, said he was told that McIntyre had given Sheriff Redwine and District Attorney George Board of Lamesa a statement.

McIntyre was charged in Justice Court.

ice of the Peace C. A. Clem's court in Tahoka.

When he gave himself up to Deputy Corley on highway 380, McIntyre had been driving a borrowed pickup truck.

Publisher Hill said McIntyre came to the Grassland area some eight months ago from Rosebud, Falls County, in Central Texas and had been living in a barracks building at Grassland.

He drove a tractor on a farm near the one where the rape occurred.

Officers said the woman who was attacked was brought to Post and examined by a local physician. She is the mother of two children, one 10 and one 12.

Two guilty pleas in county court; three bonds set

Two guilty pleas were entered in County Judge J. E. Parker's court this week, one on a DWI case and the other for unlawfully carrying a pistol. Bonds were set in three other cases on charges of bootlegging in Precinct 3.

Christopher Torres Bernal pleaded guilty Monday to a charge of driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor Sunday.

He was fined $50 by Judge Parker, sentenced to three days in the county jail, and had his driver's license suspended for six months.

The other guilty plea came from Jose Banda Gutierrez Jr., Saturday for unlawfully carrying a pistol Friday.

He was fined $250 and $26.45 costs by Judge Parker.

Three were charged with unlawfully selling alcoholic beverages in a wet area without a license and each was released under $500 bond. The arrests were made on complaints filed Friday by the sheriff's department.

The three are Mary Flores, Leander Richard, two charges against him for two different transactions, and Patricia Ann Johnson.

White River district rendition forms to go into mail Monday

Joint session held on 'border dispute'

Another joint county commissioners' session was held in the courtroom Monday in the Garza-Borden border dispute which involves an estimated two sections of land—with oil wells—for tax purposes.

Borden commissioners are not yet satisfied with the situation.

Garza commissioners had a surveyor down yesterday to check the 1907 survey of the county line which the state of Texas recognizes.

It seems the county line was surveyed twice, once in 1892 and again in 1907. The difference is that the 1892 puts the boundary about a half mile further north than the 1907 survey.

The state of Texas has recognized the 1907 survey as the official one.

But by error, the property involved between the two "county lines" was billed for tax purposes by Borden County instead of Garza County for some 50 years before the error was discovered in 1957.

The property then was put back in Garza County and taxed by Garza County.

Borden County commissioners drove up Monday at their request to discuss the matter with the Garza commissioners. That's when the Garza commissioners decided to employ a surveyor too. Borden already has had the 1892 survey line re-surveyed.

44,916 cotton acres for Garza

Planting is beginning to get under way on Garza County's 44,916 allotted cotton acres, although the area needs rain for surface moisture before most area farmers will plant.

County Agent Lewis Herron estimated most of the cotton will be planted in May, and a majority of it possibly within two weeks.

The agent said the deep moisture is good, but top moisture is needed.

This is the largest cotton acreage for the county in many years. See 44,916 ACRES, Page 8

Return asked by May 15 to speed loan

White River Municipal Water district tax rendition forms will be mailed to eligible taxpayers in the cities of Post, Spur, Crosbyton, and Ralls Monday, May 1.

The rendition forms should then be returned to the address indicated on the form addressed to the taxpayer no later than May 15, 1961.

The board of directors of the White River district, holding their April meeting at Ralls last Thursday night, directed Tom E. Benton, the newly appointed tax collector for the district to proceed with the mailing of the rendition forms.

Following the suggestion and advice of government and fiscal agents, as well as the requirements of the law in connection with the issuance of bonds for the district, it is necessary that all property subject to taxation—real estate and personal property—be rendered at 100 per cent of the actual value.

The rate has not yet been set. It will depend upon the total rendition value of the property within the district as to the rate of tax.

The White River directors have the problem of securing the bond issue with enough taxable revenue to meet the bonded indebtedness retirement schedule, so that the lower the value of taxable property, the higher the rate and vice versa.

Due to the lateness of the year when such renditions of property for taxes, for the first time in the district, become proper it has been emphasized by the directors that prompt action and cooperation by all concerned is vitally necessary.

Proceeding under the authority of Article 7880-60 of the state statutes governing water districts, the directors have instructed the tax collector to send on to the Board of Equalization renditions of property belonging to taxpayers who neglect to return their forms by May 15, 1961.

The assessment of taxes is another preliminary, but essential step, to be accomplished before the district may proceed to the commencement of the acquisition of land for right-of-way purposes and to the letting of contracts for construction.

It was reported at the April meeting that plans and specifications for the White River dam are now being checked by the state board of water engineers, one of the prerequisites for securing a $4,000,000 loan from the state to finance construction.

Secretary Robert Work indicated a special called meeting will be necessary in early May to take additional essential steps as the district moves toward finalizing the loan.

Attending the Thursday meeting from Post were Tom Boucher and Dr. A. C. Surman, White River directors, and Publisher Jim Cornish.

Contract is let to remodel junior high for $54,700

Hammock Brothers of Lubbock were the low bidders Friday afternoon at $54,700 for the complete remodeling of the present junior high building (former Post High School building) during the upcoming summer vacation.

Construction will get under way as soon as school is out—in fact two of the rooms are being turned over to the contracting firm before school is out to enable them to start work on the two new restrooms on the first floor.

Supt. R. T. Smith said Hammock Brothers have assured the school trustees they will complete the remodeling prior to the opening of the fall term.

Pat Boone is to sing in Lubbock

How many local youngsters want to see Pat Boone and hear him sing?

You get the chance Monday night when the popular singer, film star, and author, will be the featured attraction at a patriotic rally in the Lubbock Municipal Coliseum at 8 o'clock.

No admission will be charged, nor a collection taken.

The rally is sponsored by Lubbock Christian College.

Four bids were received on the project. The second low bid was by Knox and Gailey for $59,900, and the high bid was $65,457.

The bids were opened by the trustees at 3 p. m. Friday.

Trustees were pleased with the low bid figure for which funds are available from a bond issue for school building expansion voted several years ago.

Remodeling plans include new ceilings, new floor, complete new electrical work and lighting, and renovation of the building's heating system. Smith said the wooden floors will be torn out, concrete slab poured and then covered on top with vinyl tile. The two new restrooms will have ceramic tile floors and walls.

With some partition moving planned, the building once remodeling is completed will have 16 classrooms, library, science lab, office for secretary, principal's office, book room, janitor's room and two larger restrooms.

Rites Sunday for former resident

Mrs. Annie S. Smith, 72, longtime former Post resident, died Saturday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Robert Paul, in San Antonio.

Funeral services were conducted here at the Calvary Baptist church at 3:30 p. m. Sunday by the Rev. Graydon Howell, assisted by the Rev. J. R. Brincefield of the Assembly of God.

Mrs. Smith, who was born Jan. 4, 1889, in Mississippi, is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Cecil Foster and Mrs. Melrose Curry, both of Post, and Mrs. Paul of San Antonio; 12 grandchildren; two great-grandchildren; one brother, George Moore; and one sister, Mrs. Linnie.

Levelland pair rule Spanish Fiesta here

Post played host to some 350 youngsters from 17 South Plains schools Saturday in the 14th annual Pan-American Fiesta which was climaxed with the coronation of Virginia Starr of Levelland as fiesta queen and Sam Newberry of Levelland as king.

The fiesta is sponsored by the American Association of Spanish and Portuguese Teachers.

A Mexican meal was served in the school cafeteria at noon and the all-day fiesta program wound up with a Spanish dancing contest in which there were no local winners.

Fiesta winners included: Spelling (first year) James Higgins, Floydada, first; Kenneth O'Neal, Floydada, second; Novis Johnson, Floydada, third; Frede Smith, Floydada, honorable mention.

Spelling (second year): Wesley Kinsler, Seagraves, first; Vella Sepeda, Sweetwater, second; Sarah Wells, Tahoka, third; Stephen Williamson, Levelland, honorable mention.

Dial phone open house success

Some 175 Post and Garza County residents turned out here Sunday afternoon at the General Telephone Company's open house at its new dial telephone building.

Three hundred local school children were conducted on tours of the new phone building and of General Telephone's Showmobile Thursday and Friday.

Phone officials were pleased with the turnout.

Chamber office is moved to City Hall

The Post Chamber of Commerce office was moved Saturday from 129 East Main street, where it has been located for several years, to offices in City Hall.

The Chamber will occupy the offices formerly used by the city marshal on the east end of the City Hall building.

Notices out to farmers on feed grain program

Notices were mailed yesterday from the Garza County ASC office to all county farmers on base acreage and payment rates for the government's new voluntary feed grain program.

Mrs. Inez Hartel, county office manager for the ASC, told The Dispatch that Garza County's base has been set at 997 pounds per acre.

To participate in the feed grain program, the farmer must agree to divert at least 20 per cent of his base acreage and can divert as high as 40 per cent. For this he will receive the acreage payments as listed above and will become eligible for price supports on feed grains and small grains.

Mrs. Hartel said farmers can begin signing up for the program Monday at the ASC office and must sign by May 31 to participate in the program this year.

Meeting held to organize farm bureau

Fifty-five to 60 area farmers met Friday night in the Community Room to hear speakers discuss the organization of a Lynn-Garza County Farm Bureau.

The Lynn County farm bureau is organized, but despite two years efforts, the organization has not been organized in Garza.

It was proposed that Garza combine with Lynn County for a single bureau office until such time as the Garza farmers gain membership to set up their office in Post.

Prater of Levelland extended that members of the Farm Bureau write their own policies.

Prater said he has a real battle on our hands if we want to keep agriculture from subsidizing agriculture, and going to control it.

Prater said the new feed grain program is a real good example of how to handle us freedom.

Polio still a serious threat

The people of Garza County, through the March of Dimes, have invested thousands of dollars in the development of an antipolio vaccine. Take it nationwide, and that investment runs into millions of dollars. Doesn't that make it a strange paradox that now that this highly effective vaccine is available its use is shunned by millions? Final conquest of paralytic polio has been blunted by apathy among so many people.

Here is a vaccine which has proved more than 90 per cent effective. The use of Salk vaccine as recommended by the nation's medical authorities could make paralytic polio as passe as smallpox.

Yet, as Harold Lucas, chairman of the Garza County Chapter of The National Foundation points out, polio is still a threat and a serious one to our nation's health.

It is true that remarkable strides have been made in reducing the number of cases that kill or cripple each year. But the fact remains that outbreaks are still possible. Four states experienced serious outbreaks last year. Epidemics can spring up wherever polio vaccination is down.

"Babies and Breadwinners" is the theme of the 1961 polio vaccination program. This theme is particularly well chosen, because it emphasizes the fact that more than one-third of children under 5 are not fully vaccinated, and that two-thirds of the young fathers, age 20 to 40 years, have not availed themselves of full protection.

The crippling and death inflicted by polio is a needless waste, which unfortunately occurs with great predominance among toddlers and fathers of young children.

The principal excuse for this waste seems to be that many people are hypodermic-shy. The thought of a needle frightens them, or they don't want to see their children cry. They would, the excuse goes, rather wait until the new Sabin vaccine, administered like cough syrup, arrives. The arrival of the new vaccine at the doctor's office, however, is not expected at the earliest until late this year, after the 1961 polio season has run its course.—CD.

Post Developments needs support

Considerable progress is now being made to interest many additional folks in Post Developments, Inc.

An expanded membership is needed of local boosters who want to see Post expand and grow with new industry.

Post Developments directors met this week to plan a financing effort whereby a complete industrial survey of Post and a confidential analysis of this community's industrial potential can be made by experts.

This is the best starting base for attracting such industry.

Rotarians and Lions were told at a joint meeting last week that some 90 Texas communities have similar organizations geared for a single job—to go after new industry.

The complete survey for Post would cost $3,000 and would not duplicate in any way the city planning survey which has recently been contracted for by the city.

That is a good sum of money, but the emphasis the Industrial Economics Research staff of Texas A&M College places on industry-hunting is to get all the facts and then get well organized and trained, with proper goals in mind before making the contacts.

That will take time, of course, lots of it. The survey itself would require four to five months.

One thing everyone should keep in mind in thinking about Post Developments, Inc., and getting more industry for Post: This community and its new search organization is first going to do everything it can to help its present cotton milling industry—Postex—and, if possible, to aid it in further expansion.

Post can use a bigger industrial base, but it is also mighty proud and happy to have the big Postex Mills here.—JC

Real guns are not playthings

The recent regrettable incident at Slaton in which a city policeman was accidentally shot and critically wounded while he and two fellow officers were practicing "fast draws" makes us wonder what's the use of trying to teach the younger people gun safety when police officers, of all people, set such examples.

"Playing" with loaded guns is just as dangerous for adults as it is for children, and playing is just what the Slaton police officers were doing. Furthermore, they were doing it in violation of a Slaton Police Department rule specifically forbidding the displaying of a deadly weapon except in a reasonable and legal act.

The officer whose gun was accidentally discharged during the fast-draw "exhibition" has been discharged from the police force, and Chief of Police Gene Martin says disciplinary action is being taken in the cases of the other two officers involved.

Except when necessary in the line of duty, officers of the law should leave the fast draws to the lawmen and gunslingers on television. Their guns are loaded with blanks.—CD.

An excellent start

Post folks who have had the opportunity to meet Louie Burkes, the new head of the Postex Cotton Mills here, since his recent arrival have been very favorably impressed.

Louie is a pleasant and very personable executive who wants to cooperate with community projects whenever and wherever he can.

Looking at his textile record, one is struck by the fact that Louie is not simply a sheets and pillow case man. He has many valuable years of experience in the manufacture of other textiles, too.

Maybe this means something for Post, and maybe it doesn't.

But we do know that if you haven't met Louie, you're going to like him when you do. Burlington Industries has a strong program of good community relations and Louie seems to be an excellent choice to maintain those relations here.

We think he and his family will like Post. We know he is going to find his new hometown a friendly place in which to live.—JC

GMH auxiliary has good start

Sixty-nine charter members—most of them active, the others contributing members—have gotten the Women's Auxiliary of the Garza Memorial Hospital off to a good start.

Monday of last week, the first of the auxiliary members, resident in new uniforms, were on the job at the hospital, volunteering their services in any way they could be of help.

Most hospitals of any size throughout the where of comparable size, the organization of the nation have women's auxiliaries, and since our own county hospital ranks with the best any volunteer group is a real achievement.

Seldom, if ever, has any organization "gotten off the ground" here with as many as 69 charter members, and we think such an accomplishment on the part of the Women's Auxiliary of the Garza Memorial Hospital is a sure sign of success for the new organization.—CD

What our contemporaries are saying

The trouble with not taking some kind of pills is that your friends will think you are over-confident. — James Roberts in The Andrews County News.

The Christian religion has been studied for ages, but it has been studied more than it has been practiced.—The Hamilton Herald-News.

Now that the shock of having two conservative candidates remaining from the field of 71 hopefuls somewhat eased, Texans can begin to size up the situation and decide the best course to follow in electing a new Senator. A run-off election must be held, the time yet to be set. From advance notices of both Democratic and Republican parties, Texas is going to be a battleground in this election. So make up your mind now to forget about your favorite television programs, listen to the politicians, or turn off that TV and get out that book you have been planning to read for the past year.—Hubert Curry in The Crosbyton Review.

Maybe there are some but we haven't seen a farmer yet who is satisfied with the new feed program. Brother, you haven't seen anything yet, if Secretary Freeman and his advisor, Dr. Cochrane, have their way and Congress doesn't throw a monkey wrench into the plans. Their philosophy of agriculture is for complete government control of everything connected with farming. Don't take our word—just read some of their stuff written in past years. It now appears the B-plan cotton grower will be penalized, and the new milo grower is completely out in the cold.—Frank Hill in The Lynn County News.

World conquest by communism is about the largest project the devil has ever undertaken. Outside of a few lumps of Christians, he has done right well with it.—Douglas Meador in Matador Tribune.

Observing the centennial of the Civil War doesn't appeal to this writer. We don't even appreciate reading about it. Our crowd was on the losing side. The recollections we were reared upon of "Reconstruction Days" are not happy ones. We'd like to try to forget what the old folks told us—about poverty, want, pestilence, lack of opportunity for their children, etc., etc. We also want to forget the hate. —The Floyd County Hesperian.

THURSDAY to THURSDAY

By CHARLES DIDWAY

I ALWAYS ENJOY the opportunity of using this column to congratulate a winning Post High School team, especially when it is a district winner. So, congratulations to the high school boys' debate team of Wayne Gamblin and Lee Williams, which won district a couple of weeks ago.

The debate team is Post High School's second District 3AA winner of the year, the golf team having copped the championship earlier this month. The fact that we've had no winners in such major competition as football, basketball and track, doesn't take a thing away from the honors brought to their school by the two debaters and the five or six boys who make up the golf team.

THE CHAMPIONSHIPS won by the Post's debate and golf teams and the girls' basketball title won by Slaton have kept mighty Denver City from making a clean sweep of just about everything in the district this season, although it is only fair to point out that Denver City did not compete in girls' basketball.

Also, I've been reminded, Slaton won the boys' doubles tennis championship in District 3AA. That leaves Denver City with having won titles in football—state as well as district—basketball and track, girls' volleyball, girls' tennis doubles, and one-act play.

SINCE THERE seemed to be so much interest locally in the recent telecast of the Academy Awards in Motion Pictures, I think the following resume of winners in past years—ever since the first Academy Awards, in fact—will be appreciated. Two Post soldiers arrive in Korea with battle group

Two Post, Tex., youths are two of the more than 1,000 U. S. infantrymen who recently joined the 3d Infantry Division in Korea as part of Operation OVUREP, the army's overseas unit replacement program.

They are: Pfc. Felix Bustos Jr., whose wife, Vasilia, lives in Post, and Pfc. Adam Camacho, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Federico Camacho, 202 N. G. Place.

The pair and the others from a replacement group of the 2nd Infantry Division at Fort Benning, Ga., became members of the 7th Division's Battle Group, 3rd Infantry (Old Guard) upon their arrival in Korea.

Operation OVUREP, a long range replacement plan, is designed to provide infantry replacements on a unit basis at battle group level. It was the first time since the Korean War that a battle group unit was replaced in Korea with a unit of the same size from the U. S.

Pfc. Bustos, 18, is the son of Victor Bustos of Post. He is an automatic rifleman in the 3d Infantry's Company B. He entered the army in April, 1960, and completed basic training at Fort Benning. He attended Post High School.

Pfc. Camacho is a rocket launcher and gunner in the 3d Infantry's Company B. He also entered the army in April, 1960, and received basic training with Bustos at Fort Benning.

Texas Calendar of Events ready

AUSTIN—State Highway Engineer D. C. Greer announced today that the summer edition of the Texas Calendar of Events—a Highway Department pamphlet listing tourist-attracting events throughout the state—is now ready for distribution.

Free copies of the Calendar of Events may be obtained by writing the Texas Highway Department, Travel Division, P. O. Box 5064, Austin.

Greer said that publication of the Calendar was another Highway Department endeavor to stimulate travel to and within Texas.

"The Highway Department has been given the responsibility of the tourist-advertising and travel-promotion program. For national media-advertising of Texas tourist attractions we have requested a legislative appropriation of $300,000. With this media-advertising backing we can encourage out-of-state tourists to visit Texas—see the colorful events held here and the scenic attractions we have to offer," Greer said.

The Calendar lists Texas events of interest from April through September and was compiled in cooperation with the Texas Chambers of Commerce.

Texas mental patients vary like you and your neighbor

What are Texas state mental patients like?

Like you and your neighbor and the acquaintance down the street.

The fact that patients in mental hospitals vary as much as people in the general population has come to light as a result of a two-year study which has just been completed under the sponsorship of the National Institute of Mental Health and the Hogg Foundation for Mental Health, The University of Texas. A book on the findings of this study, "Bridging the Experience From Hospital to Community," will appear in 1961.

The study, which was conducted in four Texas communities of under 50,000 population, aimed at determining the nature and dimensions of the problems of the patient who return to their home communities after hospitalization. Are they able to obtain jobs easily? Is there a social stigma which affects their employability. How can families and communities help them in their adjustments? These were some of the questions for which answers were sought.

Two Texas state hospitals, Big Spring and Terrell, cooperated in the study. It was headed by Dr. Robert L. Sutherland, director of Hogg Foundation. The field work was conducted by a full time social scientist, Dr. Fred R. Crawford, now Mental Health Research Consultant for the Texas State Department of Health, Division of Mental Health, and a psychiatric social caseworker, Glen Rollins, now director of the Dallas Association for Mental Health.

The patients were chosen to furnish a representative sample of all people discharged from state mental hospitals. Findings showed that they shared in common only the experience of having been in a state hospital. Patients who had been competent, productive citizens prior to their illness and hospitalization seemed to be able to resume this role in life on their return to the community from the hospital. For them communities can be of great assistance in vocational rehabilitation, family counseling, and usual social activities.

On the other hand, it was discovered that those persons who had been chronically ill either because of injury or age or had continuing personality defects before hospitalization were less able to come up to community expectations of a productive role upon their return to the community. For these persons, for whom there is no miraculous care, communities need to maintain an understanding attitude that there are mental handicaps as there are physical handicaps which prevent top achievement in some areas of life.

The communities in the study differed almost as much as the people, depending on their economy, location, and type of population. Thus, it can be seen that no one blueprint can fit either communities or people but that the citizens of each community will need to work toward providing the best possible setting for those neighbors who return to them from state hospitals.

Last year, 14,601 patients were discharged from the Texas mental hospitals. The Texas Association of Mental Health and its affiliated chapters urge Texans to observe Mental Health Week April 29 thru May 6 by welcoming them back into their community.

 We have just received the announcement that the Virginia State Convention at 2 o'clock p. m. passed the ordinance of secession. The news creates great rejoicing here.—Galveston News.

Houston—April 20. The news of the secession of Virginia was received here with universal rejoicing. Shouts and cheers went up from the crowd in the street. Men shed tears of joy over the event. LETTER FROM AUSTIN COUNTY
 As the time approaches for the assemblage of the state Democratic convention, the question presents itself, is there any necessity for the meeting of such a body? The Democratic party, according to my thinking, having failed in its great mission to preserve the Union, is now dissolved and absorbed in the Secession or Patrol Party of the Southern Confederacy, and the latter party is not confined to, nor entirely composed of the old Democrats, but on the contrary men of all shades of opinion. I am therefore in favor of a convention of all the friends of Southern independence, entirely without reference to old and defunct party issues, and would be pleased to see members of every old party, not only in the Convention but on the state ticket.—Weekly Telegraph, Houston.

MEASLES

Measles (Red measles, Rubella) is very rare under one year of age, and has the general feature of producing very rare complications when contacted before adolescence.

There is an incubation period of 7 to 18 days, and typically begins with the onset of fever, runny nose, possible red, bloodshot eyes, and is then followed in 2 to 5 days by the onset of the measles rash.

This rash begins as a blotchy, dusky, red spot generally around the scalp line, and 1 to 3 days later develop into red, raised bumps which spread over the body, even to the palms and soles at times. This rash does not fade on pressure.

Treatment should consist primarily of bed rest, liquids and measures to reduce the fever, aspirin in correct dose is generally sufficient. Local application of calamine lotion or weak soda water bathing may reduce the itching.

In case of extreme coughing, development of extreme nervousness or prolonged sleepiness, the advice of a physician should be obtained. Reading, prolonged exposure to T. V., or exposure to bright sunlight should be avoided while the eyes are sensitive to light.

Measles can be prevented by administration of larger doses of Gamma Globulin on the advice of the physician. This is usually thought wise only in extremely weak infants or pregnant women.

A smaller dose of Gamma Globulin calculated in exact doses by the physician, is often employed to "modify" the measles infection. This allows a person to develop future immunity by having the infection, while it substantially reduces the severity and possible complications of measles.

Measles is a mild, contagious disease which lasts 1 to 6 days, and then dries up, at times producing a mild scaldiness of the skin. The lymph nodes (or kernels) of the neck are generally enlarged.

WHAT IS KINDERGARTEN?

Kindergarten is the first year of your child's school life. When your child enters Kindergarten, he comes not to learn the 3 R's, but to build habits and share experiences which will help him learn the skills when he is old enough to do so.

In Kindergarten your child learns to get along with other children and with his teacher.

He will improve in physical co-ordination.

He will learn to work and play in a group and wait his turn when many want to use the same apparatus or tool.

He will learn to follow simple and reasonable directions, to share common property and to tell about his experiences before a group.

Your child will learn how to look at books, to love them, and to realize that printed words convey meanings.

He will begin to appreciate fine music and will be introduced to self-expression through singing, speaking, drawing, and painting.

Kindergarten is not a "play" class, because the child is always learning and developing. . . . As he engages in dramatic play in the playhouse, he gains information about home and family. Such material forms a major part of the subject matter in first-grade readers. . . . As he draws, works puzzles, or works clay, he is developing the use of arm and hand muscles which he will later use in handwriting.

In building houses or stores within the room he needs to consider size, proportion, and number, which later may make arithmetic seem more sensible.

Kindergarten is an adventure for your child. It is the beginning of an exciting new phase of life . . . the school years.

ABSTRACTS

While driving around a lake, John and Mary saw a "For Sale" sign on a piece of lake property which they thought they could afford to buy.

They made inquiry of the owner and agreed on a price. They inquired about title and the owner assured them that he would give them an "abstract." They took the abstract, which was a fat book of papers, and the deed, filed the deed at the courthouse and thought no more about it, assuming, as many people do, that an "abstract" is an assurance of good title.

Some years later they went to sell to a buyer who was better informed. He insisted that either the abstract be examined and an opinion given by an attorney that the title was good or that the sellers must provide title insurance. When they sought an opinion as to whether the abstract showed good title, they were dismayed to find that the title was not in good order, and that there would have to be a quiet-title lawsuit to dispose of some flaws in the title before buyer would accept it. Neither would a title insurance company write a policy of insurance for them without legal action to clear up the title.

John and Mary were astounded to learn that they were wrong in assuming that an "abstract" was an assurance of good title. An abstract is merely a record of every document which has ever been filed of record at the courthouse affecting the title to a particular piece of property. It may show good title or bad title, or no title at all. It is only a bundle of papers, as John and Mary discovered, which summarizes the state of the title. Its possession does not in any way assure good title.

Thus while one may be able to get possession and peacefully occupy a property with an unsalable title, difficulties will arise when the property is to be sold or mortgaged. To do so is only to postpone and perhaps increase the trouble and expense of clearing the title. It makes good sense to correct any title defects when you buy a property.

(The newsfeature, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

SPUR—Beginning with the 1961-62 school year, the Patton Springs School will be integrated. The segregated school system was abolished by a vote of 87 to 36 in a recent election.

The election was called when facilities at Roaring Springs being utilized by Negro students of the Patton Springs school district were closed.

To continue a dual school system in the Patton Springs district would have involved an outlay of approximately $9,000.

FOR

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	I Corinthians	12	12-21
Monday	Exodus	4	1-5
Tuesday	Matthew	6	1-4
Wednesday	Psalms	24	1-6
Thursday	II Corinthians	12	14-15
Friday	Genesis	49	48-49
Saturday	Matthew	28	18-20

When someone says, "It's for you," our minds begin to buzz with questions. Who is it? What do they want? Good News? Bad News? Work? Pleasure?

It's for you! Commanding words that summon our immediate attention. And those words apply as well to the Church as they do to a telephone call.

The Church is for you! Its services of worship, its program of religious education, its comforting ministrations in time of spiritual crisis . . . all for you!

And the Church has a vital message—good news for a discouraged world. It has a glorious work before it—a happy fellowship for men, women, and children of noble purpose.

The Church deserves your support. It's for you!

Highlights of new feed grain program explained

COLLEGE STATION—Grain producers should carefully weigh the advantages and disadvantages of the recently announced feed grain program and apply them to their own situations before making a decision on whether or not to participate. According to Texas Agricultural Extension Service economists, there is only one best way to make the determinations—take a pencil and paper and do some figuring. Figure the gains and losses that might be expected to result from participation or non-participation in the program.

The economists point out that the effect of the program on net farm income may depend on several factors. The farmer who participates may earn extra income from some of all of the following sources: payments for diverting corn or grain sorghum acreages in to conservation uses; higher support prices for grain sold under the program and earnings from labor saved and put to other uses. In addition, there may be savings in out-of-pocket costs which would have been spent for producing and harvesting corn and or grain sorghum from the diverted acres.

On the other hand, they say farmers going into the program should take into account such losses as the costs of plowing up corn or grain sorghum already planted; costs of maintaining acres diverted to conservation uses; costs of extra livestock feed which might have to be purchased to replace production from diverted acres or sold under the program and the reduced income from corn and or grain sorghum as a result to the reduced acreage.

The economists suggest that every grain farmer do some checking on the items listed and others which may apply to his particular farm to see how his earnings might be affected. The expected gains from participating in the program should be totaled along with losses that can be expected. The economists point out that only cost and return items affected by the feed grain program should be considered and these may involve other items of the farm business besides the corn and or grain sorghum enterprises.

Another advantage which should be seriously considered, say the economists, is the insurance phase of the program. Participation in the program will insure income even though the corn or grain sorghum crop is a failure. There may also be savings in production credit needed because of the advance cash payments allowed under the program and future crop yields may be improved as a result of conservation practices carried out on the diverted acres.

The economists emphasize that no corn or grain sorghum grower should pass up an opportunity to get the facts on the program, and in turn, urge that the information gained be used in making a thorough analysis of their own situation.

Information on feed grain program may be obtained from county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation offices and local county agricultural agents. Also by attending meetings which are now being held or soon will be in most grain producing counties of the state.

Rural accident toll mounting

The Highway Patrol investigated four rural accidents in Garza County during the month of March, according to Sgt. E. L. Stroud, Highway Patrol supervisor of this area.

The March accidents accounted for one person killed, two injured and property damage of $1,820.

This brings the total in this county for the first three months of 1961 to two killed, seven injured and property damage of $23,710.

I Give You Texas . .

By BOYCE HOUSE
Life is becoming too standardized. People are getting stereotyped. We don't have "characters" anymore, except in small towns—and, pretty soon, we won't have any small towns.

Now when I was a boy, there were roaming ex-convicts who lectured on prison atrocities; human flies who climbed buildings with no aid except their hands and feet; and, every now and then, there would be a visitor who was hard to classify.

One such individual came into town in a buggy drawn by a big shaggy horse; and, trailing on a rope, was the sleekest, silkiest racing mare you ever saw.

"Doc" Martin (that turned out to be the stranger's name) hadn't been in town any time at all before the sports were badgering him for a race with "Red" Traylor's big bay. The visitor seemed reluctant but, when mention was made of a $100 bet, his eyes brightened and he said, "All right—in a couple of days."

There was a half-mile track out at the grove and quite a crowd was there for the race, which was to be 400 yards. Each owner rode his own horse. Martin's mare won by a length but the bay was gaining. Everybody had been pulling for the local entry and there was clamor for another race—and over a longer distance.

"Doc" didn't say "Yes" and he didn't say "No" — in fact, he didn't say anything. They kept after him for two days, though, and finally he said, "I'll run my horse against Mr. Traylor's next Saturday—half a mile, but the bet this time will have to be $500." This was a rather sizeable amount but Traylor put up $200 and other sportsmen provided the rest.

The approaching race was the talk of the town and there must have been close to 500 people at the track. It was almost 2 o'clock which was the time for the start, and only Traylor and his bay put in their appearance.

Then "Doc" rode up—only he was on that shaggy plowhorse that had been hitched to the buggy. There was a general laugh.

It was well that the crowd laughed before the race for the uncouth creature made a runaway of it.

There was some haggling to the effect that the mare was supposed to have run but Martin declared, "The only stipulation was that my horse was to run—and he is my horse and he sure did run." So he collected and departed—"take" the sports in some other town.

The world no longer has such a figure as "Doc" Martin, wearing a slouch hat and a shapeless blue serge suit and grease spots, with his buggy and his sleek, silky mare and an old clodhopper of a horse that was a disguised thoroughbred. And so our lives are duller.

EGG PRICES TO DROP

Present indications are that egg prices will decline during the late summer and fall months to levels below a year ago. If the high hatching rate for egg type chicks continues, egg prices could be "distressingly" low during the 3rd and 4th quarters of 1961, advises F. Z. Norm Cash off to sizzling start

Norm Cash, Post high's bright-athletic star, is one of the big reasons why the surprising Detroit Tigers were in first place in American League standings last week.

The Tigers through Tuesday had string of eight straight victories, their longest win streak in 13 years.

Cash got off to a fast start this week in his efforts toward offing Osborne's challenge at first base and win a regular job in the Detroit infield.

While Osborne, the American League's batting champ last year, was sidelined for two games by being struck in the eye by a batted ball, Cash was socking the ball.

The April 26 issue of The Sporting News shows Cash the 17th ranked player in American League batting in the first few games with a sizzling .364 average. At that time he was hitting exactly 64 points better than Mickey Mantle.

Norm belted his second homerun of the season Monday in helping to lead the Tigers to that eighth straight triumph. His solo shot into the seats in the fourth put the Tigers ahead of the New York Yankees and they went on to a 4-3 triumph. Cash also got a single, hitting safely in both official trips to the plate.

The recent American League leaders listed Cash as tied for third in the American League in runs batted in with 7. That was before Monday's homer against the Yanks.

Last year, Cash alternated all year with Steve Bilko at first base, but wound up the winner. Bilko was picked up by the Los Angeles Angels in the new club "stocking" process over the winter months.

That made it look like Cash's job was cinched at first base.

But then the Tigers brought up Osborne this spring and the minor league belter has given Cash a hard run for the position during spring training in the South.

When the season opened, however, Cash was on first base in the inaugural day lineup. He has been there ever since.

POST TEACHER IS WINNER

Charles Hopkins, the Post manual training instructor who shoots golf balls as neatly as he can make almost any kind of furniture in the high school shops here, won a new golf bag Sunday by winning the consolation bracket of the championship flight in the annual Lamesa Invitational golf tournament.

He scored an easy 5 and 4 triumph over Marvin Wright of Big Spring with a three-under-par display of golf shots in the consolation finals Sunday.

Lubbock's Roland Adams won his third Lamesa invitational championship, downing Roy Peden of Kermit, 6 and 5 in the title final.

Hopkins trimmed Ronnie Craig of Lubbock, 2 up, Sunday morning to advance to the consolation finals.

Jimmy Hundley, another Post entry in the tournament was defeated in the semi-finals of the first flight, 3 and 3, by Bob Cryer of Denver City who went on to win the first flight finals that afternoon.

Hundley won his way into the semi-final round Saturday night by playing the last two holes of that match in virtually complete darkness, but paring the last hole even though it was so dark he couldn't see the cup when he was on the green putting. He won that one by a 3 and 2 score.

Punk Peel and Walter B. Holland were the other two Post golfers competing in the invitational meet.

Work begun today

Lights up

Erection of the new lighting system at the Babe Ruth baseball park was scheduled for today, Bing Bingham, president of the Garza County Youth Association, announced yesterday.

He said a "work day" has been arranged whereby several local oil firms were making employees available for the cooperative effort.

The Southwestern Public Service Company is overseeing the job as a public service and holes for the light poles were dug Tuesday in preparation for today's effort.

No bids have yet been received to lease the concession stand at the two baseball parks for the summer. A minimum bid of $400 is required. Bids should be submitted to Jim Cornish at the Post Dispatch within the next few days.

Anglers reminded to get permits

AUSTIN—This is the time of the year when many fishermen get caught without licenses, according to Capt. E. M. Sprott, director of law enforcement of the Game and Fish Commission.

In the arrest report for the month of March, there were 11 persons who were arrested for fishing without buying the regular $2.15 license required. This license is required for all persons between the ages of 17 and 65, who fish outside their home county, or who fish with any type of winding device, such as rod and reel, regardless of where they fish. The $2.15 license applies to residents and non-residents alike. It can be bought in practically all sporting goods stores and many other places throughout the State.

Game wardens also arrested 27 night hunters during the same period of time. Although several were arrested for netting violations, no arrests were made during the month for "telephoning" fish. In all there were 245 arrests which netted fines and court costs of $5,929.40.

The law enforcement director warned that with the approaching summer months, all fishermen should be careful to have their required licenses. While persons over 65 years of age are not required to have a license, there is an exemption certificate available for asking, and it is good to have one of these in possession because it properly establishes the age when the fisherman is checked by a game warden.

Texas tourist industry continues decline in '60

AUSTIN—The Texas tourist industry continued its headlong decline during 1960.

The Lone Star State lost a million out-of-state visitors last year, according to the 1960 Texas Tourist Report released today by the Texas Highway Department.

The total number of tourists visiting Texas last year dwindled to 11.5 million, as compared with 12.5 million in 1959. Tourists spent a total of $457 million in Texas during 1960, a figure well below the State's peak tourist year, 1957.

Bert C. Petty Jr. of Carrizo, chairman of the Texas Highway Commission, said he is deeply disturbed "at the consistently downward trend of the Texas tourist industry in recent years."

"Tourism is a vital factor in the economy of our State," Petty said. "Tourists pay $17 million annually in direct State taxes. The decrease in tourist trade means a loss of millions of new dollars to our economy and a drain on our tax resources."

He said the sharp year-to-year decline in tourism in 1960 is the direct result of intensive competition from other States.

"We are engaged in a 'war between the States' for the tourist dollar," he said.

However, Petty said he sees a "bright lining" to the tourist situation. He pointed out that the current session of the Texas Legislature is now studying a budget for $300,000 a year for the biennium to be used for tourism.

ist advertising. When appropriated by the Legislature, this money would be administered by the Highway Department, which is the State's official tourist agency.

"Texas needs this tourist advertising budget to get back in the competition for the tourist dollar," Petty said. "When the Legislature approves our media advertising budget, for the first time in history we will be able to compete with other States by advertising Texas' tourist resources."

"When Texas enters this field," Petty said, "the experience of other states indicates that a handsome profit could be reaped." He said New Mexico gets back $34 in State taxes for each dollar spent for tourist advertising and that Arkansas gets back $40 in taxes for each advertising dollar. "Some other States get even larger returns," he said, "since tourists generally buy those items which carry the stiffest State taxes."

The Highway Commission Chairman said the Highway Department's Travel and Information Division is now doing all possible "within the limits fixed by law" to attract tourists. The 1960 Tourist Industry Report reflects this activity, he said. "Although the number of visitors fell off a full million, the tourists who did come stayed longer and spent more—encouraged by the travel information services offered by Highway Department Tourist Bureaus plus the cooperative efforts of local organizations."

According to the report, the average visitor stayed six days in Texas, spending at the rate of $8.91 per day and traveling more than eleven hundred miles. Two out of every three out-of-state visitors on vacation—and the same proportion had been to Texas before. The Tourist Industry Report is an annual publication issued by the Highway Department.

Texas has 30 per cent of all U. S. petrochemical plants.

Get your tickets from any of the seniors or buy them at the door, but do not buy because the seats may not last. We hope you'll be able to come out and see MISS MAY QUEEN crowned.

It is a benefit of the senior class and the proceeds will go to the after-school trip.

Rural Civil Defense youth program launched in Texas

AUSTIN — The Division of Defense and Disaster Relief of the Governor's Office has announced a new state-wide youth program designed to draw boys and girls into active participation in rural civil defense.

In cooperation with the Extension Service of A. & M. College, rural civil defense information kits are being made available to every county agent in the state. The kits will be used to make benefits of the program available to all state rural youth organizations. The program, which will give organizations and individuals the opportunity to earn Youth Achievement Certificates, was developed nationally by the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization, with the assistance of national and state leaders and staff officials of 4-H Clubs, Future Farmers of America, Future Homemakers of America, and other groups.

"The purpose of the program is to help youth develop a civil defense awareness and show them how they may take part in their community and county efforts," explained James H. Garner, state civil defense coordinator. "The program is intended primarily for rural youth, but may be used effectively by urban young people."

Each kit contains rural civil defense texts and visuals, outlines for three discussion meetings, basic reference materials and a Leader's Guide. Many activities are suggested for adoption as group or individual projects. All are related to civil defense education and awareness, farm and family protection measures, or support of the community and national efforts.

State youth organizations who want their members to qualify for certificates are asked to make arrangements with their county and local units.

W. L. Shaffer, OCDM Rural Activities Director, stated that the kits are being delivered, through state civil defense offices, to more than 3,000 counties throughout the nation. He added that major rural youth organizations with more than 3,250,000 members cooperated in the development of the new program.

Further details and information regarding the program are available from local county agents.

Prices are down for farmer, but up for consumer

COLLEGE STATION — Farmers got lower prices for their 1960 produce than for that produced in 1947, but consumers paid substantially more for the foods, according to a research report issued recently by the USDA.

Where did this extra money consumers spent go? It was taken up by increases in marketing costs for wages, containers, fuel, freight rates, depreciation, rents, advertising, taxes and other costs. Market-er's profits as a percentage of the consumer's dollar showed no decided trend, but their total profits were up.

Although food prices were higher in 1960 than in 1947, the consumer could purchase more food with an hour's wages. This is possible because personal incomes have risen considerably faster than food prices. For example, an hour's work in 1960 would buy 2.5 pounds of beef compared to 1.9 pounds in 1947.

Retail prices of food rose less than prices for all commodities and services, the study showed.

Food prices since 1947 are up about one-sixth, but the Consumer Price Index has risen more than one-fourth. Relatively, therefore, food is a bargain for consumers when compared to the total of their other expenditures. Since marketing cost rose faster than the Consumer Price Index, the slower rise in food prices was due entirely to the lower prices paid to farmers.

In 1960, the farmer received only 39 cents of the dollar spent by the consumer for food, the study showed. The remaining 61 cents went to pay marketing charges. The farmer's 39 cents in 1960 compares with 51 cents he received in 1947

Careful planning is important to bobwhite quail production

COLLEGE STATION — Thinking about building a farm pond? If you are, some careful planning is in order, says W. L. Ulich, extension agricultural engineer.

Ulich says the first step is to decide what the pond is going to be used for—irrigation, livestock water, fishing, recreation, etc. If it is to be used for irrigation, and you have a choice of sites, locate the pond as near as possible to the fields to be irrigated. If the pond is to furnish livestock water, put it where the animals can make maximum use of it.

The watershed for the pond should be large enough to supply your needs and keep water in the pond during dry periods, but not so large that it will create flood hazards during heavy rains. Watersheds may vary from 10 to 100 or more acres, depending on the rainfall and how much water you want to store. If possible, select a watershed covered with grass or woodland. If you cultivate part of the watershed, however, be sure to use erosion control measures so heavy rains won't wash a lot of silt into the pond, Ulich continues.

After you have selected a tentative site, test the soil to make sure it will hold water. The best soil is deep to bedrock, and is heavy, with a lot of clay. Try to and with 32 cents in the depression years of 1932-33.

avoid sites with rock outcroppings along the bank, or with rock or shale ledges near the surface. Also stay away from sites having sand, gravel, peat or marl through which the water might seep. If you build the pond on a shallow soil, don't borrow the dirt for the fill from the pond area itself, but get it from some other area.

Ask an SCS technician to survey the pond site and prepare plans for the dam. After this is done, get two or more good farm contractors to bid on the project. Be sure you get a reliable man to do the work, as the earth has to be well packed and the overflow part of the spillways must be properly installed. If you expect to get cost-share payments, the structure and pond must be approved and meet ASC specifications, Ulich concludes.

TEXAS LAWMEN
SAMUEL H. WALKER
Ranger, Fighter, Scout
He was the "Colt revolver man"

History doesn't record how many early-day outlaws were delivered to the calabozo by live, healthy Texas lawmen... because Samuel Hamilton Walker knew how to design a gun. He had come to Texas in 1836, to join Captain John C. Hays' company of Rangers and soon distinguished himself for coolness and courage. In 1839 he was sent to New York to purchase arms for the young Republic. There he met Samuel Colt. Walker suggested certain changes in Colt's popular "Texas model" revolver, and successfully modified the pistol that made frontier history as the Walker-Colt. In the Mexican War years, Walker served as a fighter and scout, penetrating deep into embattled Mexico. He was at Mir, in Mexico, and was captured in that disastrous battle, escaped, was recaptured and survived the infamous death lottery, the Black Bean Episode. Only 37 years old, he was killed on October 9, 1847... the first of many Walkers who have brought military honor to Texas!

Texas could never have become a great state without the courage and devotion to duty of her lawmen... not without the commerce and industry that have provided prosperity and the good life. The brewing industry, too, has had a part in this development. Providing payrolls and the pleasures of moderate beverages, revenue and relaxation... "beer belongs." The United States Brewers Association is constantly at work with brewers, wholesalers, retailers and local authorities to assure the sale of beer and ale under pleasant, orderly and law-abiding conditions.

AUSTIN—House members astonished many observers by giving, for the first time in recent memory, a favorable vote to a general sales tax.

A 2 per cent retail sales tax by Rep. Charles N. Wilson of Trinity was approved 75-65, on second reading and 76-62 on final passage. It is now in the hands of the Senate.

Food, feed, farm machinery, seed, fertilizer, medicine and medical needs are exempt from the bill. Its tax yield is variously estimated at from $127,000,000 to $140,000,000 a year.

Before the bill was given preliminary passage, Wilson staved off efforts of sales tax opponents to put on amendments to make the bill also include a corporation income tax, graduated income tax and graduated oil revenue tax.

Governor Daniel announced his opposition to the Wilson bill before it came up on the House floor. After the House vote, the governor refused to say whether he would veto the measure if it should be finally passed by both Houses.

A teacher pay raise plan designed to offer more incentive for heads of families and career teachers has been proposed by Rep. Jack Woods of Waco.

Woods' bill would provide a lower raise in the basic minimum than is recommended by the Texas State Teachers Association, but it would offer higher increments (increases for experience) than TSTA asks.

Woods' bill would provide an across-the-board raise of only $134 a year compared to TSTA's $810. But under the Woods bill, a teacher with 10 years' experience would make $4,950 a year compared to $4,354 under the TSTA schedule.

Woods' bill would also make special provision for teachers, either men or women, responsible for the support of a household.

UH BILL STIRS FUSS

A bill to make the University of Houston part of the state-supported college system easily won its first vote on the floor of the House.

But in the Senate determined opponents filibustered to prevent the bill's coming to a vote.

House vote was 84-to-34 for the bill.

In the Senate, Sen. Wardlow

Lane of Center spearheaded the opposition with extended remarks. He protested the state could not take on another $10,000,000 a year for the University of Houston when the state treasury already had a deficit.

Lane was assisted by Sen. Hubert Hudson of Brownsville who declared the state should improve the quality of existing state colleges before taking on any more. To help fill up time, Hudson read recipes from a French cookbook.

BREWERY BILL VOTED

Senate finally passed a bill that would make it easier for the Carling Brewery to build a new $20,000,000 plant in Tarrant County.

Highly controversial, the bill has brought a pitched battle between "wet" and "dry" forces. All Tarrant County House members voted for the bill, but Fort Worth's senator, Doyle Willis, led the opposition.

Willis had little active help in the Senate, but after the bill was approved on second reading by voice vote, 14 of the 29 senators present asked to be recorded in the Senate Journal as voting "no." Final approval was by a slim 13-to-11 margin.

Bill would allow the brewery to continue to operate even if the area in which it is located should vote dry.

FREIGHT RATE BILL TUMBLES

In an about-face, the House turned down on third reading the freight rate bill it had approved on second reading.

Proposal would have allowed uncontested changes in freight rates to go into effect without hearing and approval of the Railroad Commission.

It passed by a narrow margin on second reading but was voted down, 71-65, on the vote for final passage. In general, railroads favored the bill, and truckers did not.

RACING MEASURE ALIVE

Rep. V. E. (Red) Berry's last-ditch effort to get the horse racing issue before the people survived opponents' efforts to kill it.

Berry's proposal for a constitutional amendment to legalize horse racing and parimutuel betting lost out earlier in the session. He is now trying for a referendum to let the people express their opinion on racing at the next general election.

Rep. Bill Healy of Paducah moved the proposal be sent back to committee where, it was assumed, it would die. Healy's motion for interment lost, 68-to-58.

SENATORS FLY LOAN BILL

Finding a generally acceptable plan for regulating small loan companies is proving fully as troublesome as many predicted.

Several senators were sharply critical of the House-passed loan regulation bill when it came up for hearing before the State Affairs Committee.

Proposed measure provides for interest rates ranging from nearly 40 per cent for the smallest loans down to 11 per cent for loans of $3,000 or more. Banks, building and loan associations and credit unions would not be under the law.

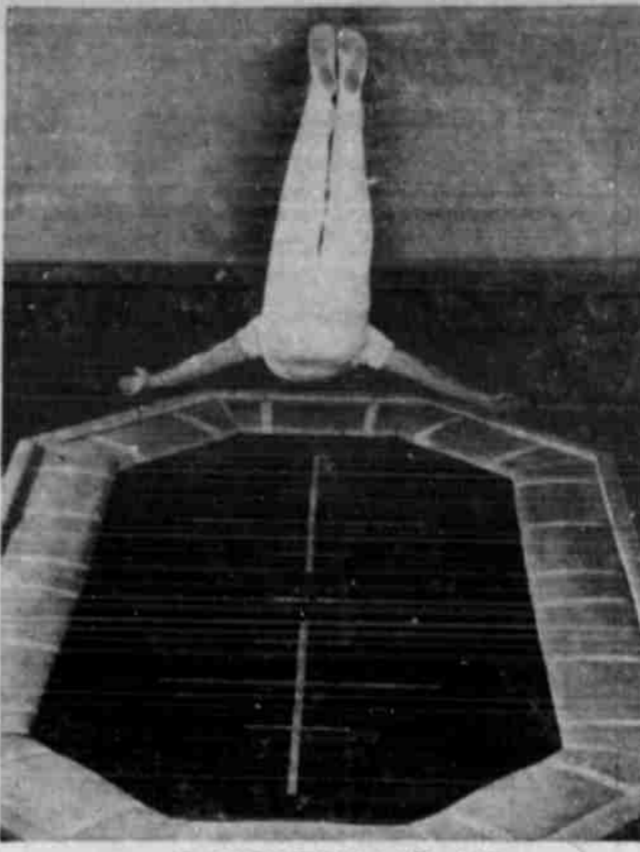

Sen. Hubert Hudson of Brownsville accused the Statewide Committee to Eliminate the Loan Shark Evil headed by Abner McCall, president of Baylor University, of having misled the public. Sen. Charles Herring of Austin predicted that legalizing 40 per cent interest would cause the people to "come down here and scalp us."

TWO CHANGES NIXED

Two proposed changes for the handling of criminal cases were voted down by the House.

One, sponsored by Reps. O. H. Schram of Taylor and James E. Barlow of San Antonio, would have allowed jurors in non-capital criminal cases to go home overnight. More people would be willing to serve on juries, said the authors, if they didn't have to be locked up during the trial. Opponents successfully argued that jurors turned loose overnight might be exposed to influences that would prejudice their decision.

Other proposal, also by Barlow, would allow defendants to be-nass indictment by pleading guilty. It would save offenders having to sit in jail awaiting indictment when they're planning to plead guilty anyway, said Barlow. Opponents protested tinkering with "Due process of law," said it might encourage guilty pleas by persons who have a good defense.

AUTOMATIC REDISTRICTING

A proposed constitutional amendment to provide for automatic congressional redistricting passed the House, 109-to-39.

Rep. Howard Green of Fort Worth is sponsor of the measure which would have to be approved by the people before becoming effective.

In this decade, it would not take effect until 1963. If, however, the legislature failed to reapportion congressional representation in the session that year, the job would be taken over by a redistricting board. Making up the board would be the governor, lieutenant governor, speaker of the House, attorney general and land commissioner.

A similar measure was passed in the 1950's for legislative redistricting.

OIL ALLOWABLE DWINDLES

Texas oil production for May will fall back to the all-time low of eight producing days.

Texas Railroad Commission fixed the production pattern which will cut back the daily allowable to 2,436,562 barrels. This is a drop of 233,794 barrels a day from April when nine producing days were ordered.

BLUE LAWS STUDIED

Revision of Texas' blue laws, or the books but ignored for nearly a century, is being studied by the House Committee on Municipal and Private Corporations.

Most cities make no effort to enforce the laws providing fines for both employees and owners of businesses staying open on Sunday. A bill before the committee would allow cities of 800,000 and over to set up their own Sunday business practices. Houston Mayor Louis Cutrer suggested it should be applied to all cities.

Most witnesses said they generally favored blue laws. Sunday business, they said, interfered with family and community life.

TAX UNCONSTITUTIONAL

Texas' severance beneficiary tax on natural gas has apparently come to the end of the line.

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson said he felt further court appeals would be useless. A district court, court of civil appeals and the Texas Supreme Court have all held the tax to be an unconstitutional levy on interstate commerce.

STATE SUPPORT ASKED

Despite the static over University of Houston efforts, another school, San Angelo Junior College, is bidding for admission to the state-supported college system.

SAJC also would like to be raised from a junior to a four-year, senior college. Supporters say one is badly needed in the area.

"SOME DAYS YOU CAN'T MAKE A NICKEL"

"A fella just doesn't have a chance. His mother stuffs him into a lot of fancy clothes. His dancing school teacher drags him away from the guys. And now this!"

Agreed. But boys often have to learn the hard way. Taking the world as it comes... assuming responsibility, then trying to make things a little better takes the special kind of strength and courage you find in Faith.

Those big problems will seem a lot easier for your youngsters to take care of if they can count on this strength of Faith. Now—and all during their lives.

This week visit your Church or Synagogue with all your family. It's never too early to find Faith.

Insect bites are more often fatal in Texas than snakes

Many are rightfully fearful of snakes, but the fact of the matter is that more Texans have been dying from the effects of insect bites than have died from snake bites.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS" BY C. WILSON HARDER

One of the major headline-making issues on Capitol Hill is to raise the minimum wage to $1.25 per hour and include under the law retail and service trade workers.

There are many facets to this issue, but with the great American sin of over-simplification, probably nurtured by the fact in W. Lee Brown's speech, there is always a "good guy" and a "bad guy," the anti and the pro of this measure are lagged in two categories. Those opposed are the hard reactionaries trying to drag America backward. Those supporting are liberal progressives seeking to move America forward. Obviously, neither position is completely right.

The nation's independent businessmen voting through the National Federation of Independent Business, have opposed raising, or extending the scope, of minimum wage law.

By and large, the reasoning appears to be, what good can be accomplished except perhaps in a few very isolated instances. For example, what family can lead the abundant life if paid only $1.25 for a 40-hour week. Or again, who can give reliable help at $1.25 per hour today. Thus, what good would be accomplished?

On the other hand, recognizing there may be some isolated instances of very low paid labor, it is wise to burn down the barn to destroy a few rats?

A CASE OF INSTANT SAFETY AT SEA

THE U. S. COAST GUARD has just approved this "jack-in-the-box" life raft that automatically pops out of its storage case and inflates in less than 30 seconds. There's room for ten passengers and survival equipment on this model.

United States Rubber Co., developer of this device, also equips the raft with a special mechanism that releases them if the boat sinks.

The "passenger" in the photo is using the raft's built-in boarding platform, enabling him to climb aboard quickly and easily — no rope ladders or other devices are necessary. Insets show how the rafts operate. Raft cases are mounted on ship's deck. They can be launched manually or, if the vessel sinks with insufficient time for normal launching, a hydrostatic trip line releases the stowage case which ascends to the surface. Tension on the trip line inflates the raft, causes the case to separate and the raft to emerge. Such rafts, now approved for certain kinds of passenger and commercial boats, may eventually replace wooden lifeboats on ocean liners.

FARM PRICES DOWN

In 1960, the farmer received only 23 cents out of each dollar consumers spent for food in the United States. The remaining 81 cents went for marketing charges. This compares with the USD's, with 31 cents in 1947 and 32 cents in the depression years of 1932-33. Though farmers got lower prices for their produce in 1960, consumers paid more for the food.
