Abernathy contractor successful bidder

12-block paving contract let on bid of $32,127.50

F. C. Land, Abernathy paving contractor, was low bidder here Monday night for Post's summer paving project.

He had a low bid of $32,127.50 for 12 blocks of paving, although there is almost certain to be several additional blocks signed up for paving by the time he can legally start work in late July.

The other bidder at a special city council session Monday night in City Hall was the Abilene Paving Co., Inc., with a bid of $33,750 for the same 12 blocks.

These bids were based upon a bid for the city providing the necessary caliche for the paving, to be hauled to the streets to be paved by the county.

Burglars hit at five firms here

Sheriff's officers reported yesterday afternoon that they were near the end of a break-in at five firms here late Sunday night or early Monday morning.

Reporting break-ins to the sheriff's department Monday were K & K Food Mart, Post Bowling Center, Carlos Little Mexico Cafe and two taverns, the Long Branch and the Hitching Post.

All that was reported missing from any of the five places was money from coin-operated machines, including the shuffleboards at the taverns.

Sheriff L. E. (Fay) Claborn Jr. said yesterday that damage to the machines probably amounted to more than the amount of money lost.

The intruders apparently were after money and nothing else at all the places. Nothing had been reported missing late yesterday from K & K Food Mart, but the manager had informed the officers that a number of small items could not be taken.

At the bowling center, a typewriter, adding machine and portable television set were in plain sight, but apparently nothing was taken except the coin machines.

The Little Mexico Cafe and the two taverns also reported nothing missing except money from the machines.

As reported to the sheriff's office Tuesday was a break-in at the school cafeteria.

Sheriff Claborn, Deputy Elton Price and other officers were conducting an investigation yesterday on all six cases.

Legion's July Fourth supper to be Monday

The annual July Fourth barbeque supper of James C. Cole Post No. 279 of the American Legion will be held at 8 p. m. Monday, July 2, at the Legion Hall.

Officers will be elected at the meeting.

Members, whether they are members of the American Legion, are invited to attend the supper.

The low bid, besides the 12 blocks of new paving, also included 30,000 square yards of seal coating on existing paved streets at 12 cents per square yard.

City Engineer Bob Isbell of Lubbock told councilmen that more blocks of local streets needed seal coating than there was money in the budget to do the job, but that as much would be done on the most needed streets as possible.

Several additional blocks of paving, including three blocks in Westgate Terrace, will be paved this summer.

The project cannot get underway until a notice to property owners involved is published three times in The Dispatch and then a hearing held. The notice and paving ordinance will appear in next week's issue.

The art of building good public relations in business organizations is the subject of a course entitled "Public Relations," to be taught in Post beginning July 10.

Jule Thomas, Training Specialist and staff member of the University of Texas, will conduct the course for owners, managers, and employees of retail, wholesale, and service organizations in the city, announced E. E. Pierce of the Post Retail Merchants Assn.

The week-long training program is being sponsored jointly by the Retail Merchants and the Retail Merchants Committee of the Post Chamber of Commerce, Distributive Education, the University of Texas, Division of Extension, and the Texas Education Agency. Meetings are scheduled Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday, July 10-13. (See COURSE, page 5)

Postex to close for vacation week

The Postex Cotton Mill will be shut down for its annual vacation week, July 1-9, it was announced today by Louie Burkes, plant manager.

The plant will close down at 7 a. m. Saturday, July 1, and will resume operations at 7 a. m. Monday, July 10, he said.

Burkes said all eligible employees are to receive vacation pay, based on length of service.

Grass greens at Caprock slated

Spencer Kuykendall and D. H. Bartlett got an enthusiastic response from 25 local golfers Friday night to build grass greens at their Caprock Golf Course and announced plans to immediately build the greens.

With pumps and pipe already purchased for the watering system, Kuykendall said they hoped to have the new grass greens ready for play this fall, possibly by October.

The course will be closed during the conversion period, but the closing date is yet to be determined.

Funeral services for Lewis Arthur (Ott) Nance, 63, longtime resident of the Justiceburg community, who died at 1 p. m. Saturday, were conducted at 10 a. m. Monday in the Hudman Funeral Home Chapel.

Mr. Nance, who was a widely known rancher, died in Garza Memorial Hospital where he had been a patient for 10 days. He had been in failing health for some five years.

He was a native of Scurry County, moving with his family to the Justiceburg vicinity about 1905 and later living in Crown Point, Mountaintain and Ft. Sumner, N. M., before moving back to Justiceburg.

In his youth, Mr. Nance was at one time an employee of the old Slaughter Ranch. He had served for a number of years on the board of the Garza Memorial Hospital.

The Rev. Almon Martin of Cisco, a former pastor of the First Christian Church here, officiated at the funeral services.

Elmo Favors of Snyder sang "Some Glorious Morning," accompanied by Mrs. Winnie Tuffing at the piano. Mrs. Tuffing, a lifelong friend of the family, also played the hymns, "God Will Take Care of You," "Nearer the Old Olive Tree," "Beyond the Sunset," "How Great Thou Art," "Where We'll Never Grow Old" and "Sunrise Tomorrow," and the cowboy selections, "Old Faithful," "Empty Saddles," "There's a Ranch in the Sky," "The Last Roundup" and "See OTT NANCE, page 8)

City Attorney Carleton P. Webb told Mayor Powell Shyties and the councilmen present that he will check this week with a Lubbock attorney hired several years ago to collect delinquent taxes for county, city and school district.

No suits have as yet been filed on the delinquent property, Webb said, whereas the attorney agreed to carry through on the project.

Mayor Shyties read a proposed new ordinance which would declare "dilapidated buildings within the city to be a nuisance" and would provide for either the repairing or removing of such buildings.

No vote was taken as all the councilmen were not present. It will be brought up at the next meeting, Shyties indicated.

Barbecue to highlight July 4th holiday here

Post will observe the traditional Fourth of July holiday Tuesday with a free barbeque in the City-County park sponsored by the Post Chamber of Commerce.

Nearly 1,300 pounds of Garza beef have been donated for the biggest local eating event of 1961.

Serving of the barbeque will begin promptly at noon and will last for an estimated two hours.

A string band will provide added entertainment for the event.

A crown of up to 2,500 is anticipated if the weather is right for such an outing.

An added attraction at the park will be the annual Fourth of July Swimming Party at the city-county swimming pool.

Treasure hunts, lucky numbers, and clown divers are included on the all-day program. The pool will open at 9 a. m. for the holiday and close at 5 p. m.

Most Post business firms will be closed Tuesday as it is a Chamber of Commerce designated holiday. Also closed will be county and state offices. No mail delivery will be scheduled.

$4,000,000 loan is authorized for White River water project

Funds available when tax rolls are completed

The Texas Water Development Board by resolution in Austin Friday officially authorized a $4,000,000 loan for the construction of the long-sought White River dam.

But the money won't be forthcoming until the White River Municipal Water District completes its tax rolls.

"It's up to us now," Marvin McLaughlin, Ralls banker and chairman of the White River district's finance committee, commented upon his return home from the state board meeting at Austin. The White River district tax rolls are expected to be finished in about another ten days.

Ott Nance rites are conducted Monday morning

Funeral services for Lewis Arthur (Ott) Nance, 63, longtime resident of the Justiceburg community, who died at 1 p. m. Saturday, were conducted at 10 a. m. Monday in the Hudman Funeral Home Chapel.

A special meeting of the White River directors probably will be called to set equalization board hearings in Post, Spur, Ralls and Crosbyton during the month of July.

By Aug. 1, the five-year wait for White River construction funds should be over.

McLaughlin said an effort to obtain $180,000 from the state in advance for site procurement failed because Attorney General Will Wilson wouldn't okay it until the tax rolls are completed.

The Ralls banker explained that the White River bonds will be advertised for bids and if a better bid is received from private sources than the offer now approved by the state the bonds will be sold in the hands of such private sources.

But the bonds don't have to be advertised, before state funds become obtainable, McLaughlin added.

The White River district was the first to have state funds "earmarked" for its project, but by the time it completes all loan requirements it probably will be third in line for actual state money.

The closest anyone has come to a perfect 300 game on the alleys at the Post Bowling Center came not during the recent three-week-end tournament, but during a practice session Friday by Center Manager Billy Miller. He missed by a single pin, scoring 299. Miller had 11 straight strikes and on his last ball left a single pin standing.

Incidentally, the best scratch game howled in the recent invitational came not from the some 250 men who participated, but from Patsy Miller, wife of the center's manager. Patsy rolled a 254 scratch in the ragtime doubles event.

The best previous high on the center's alleys—before Billy's 299 Friday—was Bo Jackson's 268 scored some time ago.

The new service manager at Caprock Chevrolet-Olds is Bob Harris, who comes to Post from Snyder where he had his own garage after being associated with Pat's Buick & Pontiac Co. since early 1959. Bob has been in the auto shop and parts business since 1953 when he started with the Hayes Buick Co. in Hobbs after completing Korean war service the previous fall. He, his wife, Mary Lou, Leigh, 7, Roberta Lou, 5, and Reba Lynn, 4, are making their home at 605 West Third. They are members of the First Baptist Church. Both Bob and Mary Lou are native Texans, coming from Goldthwaite.

Matthews takes Rotary office

Dr. James R. Matthews was inducted as the new president of the Post Rotary Club at that organization's Tuesday luncheon in City Hall.

He succeeds Marvin Hudman as head of the local Rotarians.

O. C. Thomas, Ralls Rotarian and postmaster, inducted Matthews into the presidency. Matthews has been treasurer of the Rotarians for the past year.

Hudman becomes the club's vice president for the new club year, beginning July 1, as the immediate past president.

Leo Acker in a brief ceremony presented past-president, past-secretary, and past-treasurer Rotary pins to Hudman, retiring secretary Jim Cornish, and Matthews.

Other new officers for the new club year are Lee Ward, secretary, and Walter Johnson, treasurer.

Hudman and Glenn Whittenberg were cited in the secretary annual report for perfect attendance during the year. The club gained eight new members and lost seven during the 12 months period. Rotary membership now totals 50.

The club will not meet next Tuesday because of the Fourth of July holiday.

GRAIN TRUCK BURNED
Eight tires and a part of a load of wheat were lost late Sunday night when a grain truck caught fire from a flat tire about a mile and a half south of Justiceburg. The truck is owned by a Lubbock firm. Post volunteer firemen answered the alarm and extinguished the blaze.

Planting-to-cultivating
Garza County's cotton crop is entering the planting-to-cultivating phase, with continued hot dry weather needed to get the cotton over the wet-weather blight. County Agent Lewis C. Herron said today.

Replanting following the heavy rains and wash-outs is under way in some sections of the county, mostly north and northeast of Post, the county agent said.

For July 8 liquor election

Absentee voting continues heavy

A record rush of absentee voters—actively pushed by the "wets"—continued to pile into County Clerk Carl Cederholm's office in the courthouse this week to cast their votes in advance of Precinct 3's big wet-dry election Saturday, July 8.

Seventy-eight absentee ballots had been cast up to mid-morning yesterday with four additional ballots out on mail requests.

Campaign tactics on both sides this time appear sharply different from the first wet-dry campaign in April, 1960.

In that one—which the wets won by a ten vote margin, 133 to 123—many of the town's churches and church-goers actively supported, campaigned and raised funds for an elaborate "dry" campaign for three weeks in advance of the voting.

NOW WITH LITTLE more than a week to go, there appears as yet no organized efforts by town churches in the battle over legalized liquor.

The petition requesting the second liquor vote was passed by a group of "drys" who live in the precinct. That 57 qualified precinct voters signed the petition indicates a good nucleus of strength.

The "dry campaign" to date has been a very quiet one—nothing like the emotional pitch reached in the 1960 wet-dry battle.

On the other hand, the second election this year finds the wets better organized as they now have a group of business men involved in the sale of legal liquor who will go out of business here should the drys win.

But the fervor also is missing from the wet side too. Lubbock has its own "Bourbon Street" now and legalized sales here is not a "get rich quick bonanza to serve 250,000 West Texans" as it appeared to be in the spring of 1960.

CAMPAIGN TACTICS on both sides this time are concentrated at reaching the registered voter and getting him to the polls.

All eligible voters didn't go to the polls a year ago in the first wet-dry precinct election. It looks like a bigger percentage will this time.

Then too there is more paid poll taxes this year than a year ago. Is the increase wet or dry votes? That's an important question.

With the Postex Mills shut down next week for its annual vacation period, the possibility arises that some of the eligible-to-vote mill workers may not be in town for election day July 8.

Absentee voting will close Monday. Normally, absentee balloting would continue through Tuesday, but next Tuesday is the Fourth of July holiday and county offices will be closed.

There isn't too much election talk in town as yet, probably because—neither side is making much campaign noise to date.

From the town standpoint, the situation is vastly different this year too. If Precinct 3 votes dry this time Post folks who want to buy legal liquor will be driving to Lubbock—instead of Big Spring—for their bottled merchandise.

Nichols said another meeting of the Junior Rodeo group will be held at 7:30 p. m. Monday in the district courtroom.

County unit system for schools

Feasibility of a county unit system of schools is to be thoroughly investigated in Crosby County, according to a news story in the June 22 issue of the Crosbyton Review.

The study and its ultimate outcome will no doubt be followed with interest in Garza and other counties in this area.

Consolidation of school districts, particularly in sparsely populated counties, is being encouraged. Senate Bill 80, passed by the recent session of the Texas Legislature, originated as an incentive for consolidation. The bill provides for the return to the consolidated district all money saved as a result of the consolidation, with this money to be used only for bond retirement or new buildings.

Garza County, with only two high schools—Post and Southland—and two rural schools—Justiceburg and Close City—remaining, might well benefit at some future date from a county unit system of schools.

In most counties, not necessarily in Garza County, however, a county unit system would involve construction of new high school facilities near the geographical center of the county, and a central administration of all the schools, which, of course, would be required in all counties going the unit system route, whether or not they needed to construct new high school facilities.

Guest speakers at the Crosby County meeting to discuss the possibility of a county unit system included Dr. Morris Wallace, head of the Education Department at Texas Tech. Dr. Wallace listed advantages and disadvantages of the suggested consolidation, emphasizing, however, that to him the advantages outweigh the disadvantages.

Let's live up to our heritage

One hundred and eighty-five years ago the demand for American independence had risen to a great cry, resulting in the adoption of the Declaration of Independence, the 185th anniversary of which will be observed in Post and elsewhere throughout the nation on Tuesday, July 4.

Some had long desired to take the step for American independence, but most of the colonists had hoped to remain in the British Empire; even so, however, the colonists wanted even more their rights of self-government.

Before the Declaration of Independence, the British King had called the American patriots rebels and summoned all British subjects to aid in bringing them to terms. The King removed the colonies from his protection and blockaded their ports. He hired 20,000 Hessian troops to try to keep the colonists in line and had crushed the Indians against the settlers.

In addition to these oppressions, the independence-hungry colonies could not secure aid abroad, nor could they make a treaty of commerce with a foreign state. First, they must declare themselves independent.

In the face of these obstacles, the patriots wrote the most shining page in this nation's history when they drew up and adopted the Declaration of Independence.

Today, with our frontiers established and ranking as the most powerful nation on the face of the globe, we Americans are prone to forget the spirit of freedom that inspired these early Americans. We take too much for granted, whereas they had nothing to take for granted. There was the seemingly impossible task of breaking loose from the domination of the then most powerful nation on earth, fighting dissension within their own ranks, and all this with a vir-

Among advantages, Dr. Wallace, listed the broader scope, increased personnel and more comprehensive program inherent in the larger school system; a more attractive program with greater variety of services, such as science, art and music, adequate library, distributive education, health, and supervision; better instructional program because of sufficient teachers and smaller student groups; more instructional supplies, better laboratories and more teaching aids.

The Tech educator cautioned that the county should not go into the program to save money. Larger schools can buy the most for the dollar expended, he explained, but the purpose of consolidation should be to secure better education, not to save money.

Among the disadvantages of a county unit system of schools, Dr. Wallace mentioned the risk of shifting control of the schools away from the communities; the loss of some local pride in schools, but he believes this would be only temporary; the common belief that size alone would provide better schools; and the cost, which he said would probably be a little higher than under the present system.

Such a county unit system in Garza County would be even easier to bring about than in Crosby County, where there are four high schools and two rural schools. But, regardless of what it would take for a county to convert to a unit system, we believe that everyone in these changing times might do well to follow the suggestion made at the conclusion of the meeting at Crosbyton which was: "We hope the residents of Crosby County will keep an open mind about this proposed consolidation until they know all the facts."—CD.

usually unexplored continent at their backs. Today, with those early problems having been solved for us by our hardy ancestors, this nation, collectively, can't seem to overcome problems that the patriots of the American colonies would have taken in stride. We can't even seem to come up with what it takes to squash a fanatical Communist who rants and raves at us from within hollering distance of our shores and with whom we take time to negotiate with on such things as the exchange of tractors for prisoners.

That's collectively. Individually, all too many of us fail to vote in important elections or to take any more interest in our government than scanning the front pages of the newspapers. With the heritage left us by those men who signed the Declaration of Independence, that isn't enough.

The Declaration of Independence is "the birth certificate of the United States." Today the engrossed copy of the Declaration, faded and almost illegible, is kept in a shrine of glass and marble in the Library of Congress. The purpose of the July 4th celebration is to honor this noble document, the men who signed it and all those who inspired it by their hue and cry for self-government. It is also a time to reaffirm our patriotism and to resolve to take our stand as good Americans by taking an active interest in our government and its affairs.

The Declaration of Independence is a statement of the American theory of Government and an explanation of the Revolution that followed. God had made all men equal and had given them the rights of life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. The main business of government was then, and is now, to protect these rights.—CD

He was 'independent's friend'

Olin Culberson died last Thursday at the age of 74 after serving the state for 20 years on the powerful Railroad Commission.

Culberson, as a member of the Railroad Commission, championed the cause of the independent oil and gas producer of Texas. Years ago he led the successful fight to halt wasteful flaring of millions of cubic feet of natural gas.

His frequent opposition to orders promulgated by majority vote of the three-man regulatory agency made him the "great dissenter" in the field of oil and gas conservation in Texas. He based his dissents on the belief that many laws and rules "favor the big boys" and are destructive of free enterprise.

Oil industry spokesmen throughout the state lamented the death of Culberson, praising him as a true friend of the independent operator.

J. Mark McLaughlin, partner with his father, C. T. McLaughlin, in Snyder, said Judge Culberson was "a fine gentleman with an extremely deep knowledge of the oil and gas problems faced by the smaller independent producer."

"I know that the state of Texas will deeply miss Olin Culberson," McLaughlin said. "His presence on the commission gave it the proper balance, and I hope he is replaced by a man of similar views and convictions."

The Snyder oil man's tribute to Culberson was only one of many voiced by oil industry spokesmen throughout Texas.—CD.

What our contemporaries are saying

A reader wonders whether we could say something that might cause those who drive fast on city streets to pause and think. He says that many small children live on the street and in the neighborhood. These children, if not closely watched, may unthinkingly wander into the street to play. Some automobiles, he says, pass his house at such speed that a sudden stop would be impossible. He thinks there is little excuse for fast driving in the residential sections. Any of us had much rather be killed ourselves than to run over a child. Regret, however, after the fact will not bring back a life or restore a maimed body.—J. M. Forbes in The Muleshoe Journal.

A good reputation may merely be proof that you have no inquisitive neighbors.—The Hamilton. We don't know what age you are, but it gave us quite a shock to read in a magazine this week that Rudy Vallee will be 60 years old this month. While Rudy and his megaphone were at their height a decade or so before we were interested in dance bands, we have always regarded Rudy as a young man. It comes as somewhat of a shock therefore, to realize that Rudy is aging and therefore, by logical deduction, so are we.—Harold Hudson in Ochiltree County Herald.

THURSDAY to THURSDAY

By CHARLES DIDWAY

EVEN WITHOUT the fireworks, which would be in violation of a city ordinance, July the Fourth will seem more like a holiday this year on account of the big barbecue at the City-County Park.

Then, too, the flags will be out, most of the town will be closed, and two baseball games are scheduled at Babe Ruth League park. Maybe the Fourth of July is making a comeback as a holiday here after all.

AND, I ALMOST forgot the swimming party scheduled for the Fourth at the City-County pool. That, too, will help make it seem more like old times.

If Post's merchants fall in line with the Chamber of Commerce's plans for planter boxes on Main Street, they won't be the first in West Texas to do so, but they'll be among the first. They have them up at Hereford and that town's newspaper, the Hereford Brand, says the planter boxes are attracting tremendous interest from visitors.

THE BRAND reports that at least one out-of-towner in Hereford was so impressed that he borrowed a one-minute camera to get a picture to take back to his own home town. "Beautification and general improvement were the primary aim of the committee in erecting the planters," reports the newspaper, "but, forgetting this angle entirely, the secondary reaction of creating good-will seems to have already more than repaid for the efforts of the sponsors. Hereford is definitely getting much favorable publicity throughout the Panhandle."

The man up the street says the most fascinating part about some people is the part you can't find out about.

EDDIE WARREN, former owner and publisher of The Dispatch, has been "getting out on a limb" again. That was the title of Eddie's highly readable column back when he was at the helm of The Dispatch. He tells us that following the severe windstorm of a few weeks ago, he did some broken tree limb lopping at his home here on West Main. He says the tree-doctoring job necessitated some climbing and getting out on the limbs.

The Slaton Slatonite has a new cleverly named front page column—"Sleyton Place" by The Judge. The play on words puts the new column title real close to "Pevton Place," the best-selling novel of a few years back. I can't help but wonder if The Judge should miss writing "Sleyton Place" a week or two and then go back to writing it, would he call it "Return to Sleyton Place"?

HERE'S WHAT the American Bankers Magazine, a publication which represents a traditionally hard-headed profession, has to say: "No business man or woman in any town should allow a newspaper to go to press without his or her name and address being mentioned somewhere in its columns."

Do you like the "shaggy dog" types of stories? Here's one:

A painter, commissioned to paint three wooden decoy ducks, did the work so expertly that a rump roaster and ate two of them and would have eaten the third had it not escaped by flying away.

A WHOPPING 70-page edition of The Ballinger Ledger was printed last Thursday, and since we exchange newspapers with the Ledger, a copy of the big paper reached my desk. Printed in celebration of Ballinger's 75th birthday—which the people there will celebrate Friday—the edition is the largest ever printed in the Ledger's shop. It contains almost 12,000 inches of advertising.

Seven sections of the newspaper are devoted to pioneer news and pictures, while 14 pages are devoted to current news happenings and pictures. The special edition received good home town support—with a total of 140 local advertisements. However, there were 72 out-of-town firms also carrying advertising in the special edition.

FRANCIS PERRY, veteran West Texas newspaper operator and former president of the West Texas Press Association, is publisher of the Ledger. Perry is also a former owner and publisher of the Slaton Slatonite, which got out its own historical edition a couple of weeks ago on the occasion of its town's 50th birthday.

Here is an "oldie"—maybe so old that you'd forgotten it: A forward-looking farmer placed a radio in his barn after the county agent told him that music would increase his milk production. Everything was going fine with the cows, but there was one disaster. His prize ram committed suicide when they played "There'll Never Be Another You."

Tax rate cut is seen for Scurry

SNYDER—Scurry County commissioners have announced that an automatic 21-cent reduction in the tax rates will go into effect on the fall as the result of county rates being paid off, and if no new rates are added before that time. Rates which have been paid off since the courthouse, which was built in 1911, plus a remodeling job in 1948, the original note on the original 48-bed Cogdell Memorial Hospital, and a road and bridge in 1952.

Commissioners said the rate will drop from $1.16 to 95 cents on $100 valuation. The assessed valuation of the county is $116 million.

'Operation Deathwatch' begins morning of 4th

Gov. Price Daniel said today that "every Texas driver owes it to himself, his family, his passengers and his State to make certain that he is not involved in a traffic crash at any time, but more especially during the traffic-crowded Fourth of July period."

The Texas Department of Public Safety said the official "Operation Deathwatch," during which all victims of violent or accidental death will be counted, will be observed from 12:01 a. m. to 11:59 p. m., Tuesday, July 4, making it a one-day holiday.

"But I feel fairly certain," the Governor added, "that Texas highways will carry an unusual amount of traffic also on July 1, 2 and 3, immediately preceding the national Independence Day observances. So again we appeal to all drivers to exercise unusual caution and to drive carefully and legally."

The Governor said the average daily traffic toll in Texas was nearly seven a day in 1959 and just over six a day in 1960. In the light of records for the one-day Fourth of July holidays in 1956, when 12 were killed, and in 1957, when 15 were traffic victims, Governor Daniel added, "It is quite possible that the normal average could be doubled on the Fourth, and this we want to prevent."

The Governor has asked all State and local law enforcement officials to "maintain steady pressure particularly on persons involved in speed too great for conditions and driving while drinking, and against all drivers who either cannot or will not drive safely and legally."

In 1956, when the DPS predicted 11 traffic deaths, 12 persons died. In 1957, with a prediction of 10, deaths totaled 15. In the past nine years, Fourth of July traffic deaths have been fewer than predicted only three times. Two of those better years, 1958 and 1960, followed strenuous Statewide campaigns staged under the Governor's sponsorship, in cooperation with State and local law enforcement agencies and civic groups.

People who have no money to speak of just have to do their own talking.

In Our Time

HOT OR COLD, SINCE ANCIENT TIMES IT IS KNOWN THAT HUMANS HAVE PROTESTED THESE TWO DISCOMFORTING FACTORS... AND MUCH EFFORT HAS BEEN USED IN TRYING TO KEEP COOL...

IN 1660, SIR CHRISTOPHER WREN, ENGLISH ARCHITECT, DESIGNED A SURVIVAL EXHAUST SYSTEM TO COOL THE HOUSE OF PARLIAMENT.

BUT TODAY ANYONE LISTENING TO REGULAR WEATHER REPORTS KNOWS THAT ANOTHER FACTOR, EXCESSIVE HUMIDITY, IS THE TRUE DISCOMFORTING AGENT FOUND IN BOTH HOT AND COLD TEMPERATURES.

AIR CONDITIONING BECAME A REALITY BETWEEN 1900-1918 WHEN ENGINEERS RECOGNIZED THE HUMIDITY CONTROL FACTOR AND PUT IT TO USE... TODAY, GENERAL ELECTRIC'S NEW PORTA-CART AIR CONDITIONER CAN BE ROLLED FROM ROOM TO ROOM, ADJUSTS TO FIT MOST ANY WINDOW... AND IS CAPABLE OF REMOVING AS MUCH AS 7.5 GALLONS OF WATER PER DAY FROM HOT HUMID AIR.

Check stations for deer kill are going out

AUSTIN—Deer checking stations generally over the state will be discontinued during the next hunting season. This has been announced by H. D. Dodgen, executive secretary of the Game and Fish Commission.

Last year a full-scale deer check station was maintained at Llano, and others in Northeast Texas. They were manned by biologists seeking information about the age and other characteristics of the deer killed. These check stations also established the number of deer taken, both in does and bucks, and the number of hunters who took them.

"They have served their purpose in many areas, and we feel little more good can be accomplished by them, except in a few counties where information of this kind is not available," he said.

Maintaining the check stations is expensive to the Commission. Also, in many instances, it has meant the hunters had to go out of the way to check their kill.

"The results, however, were most helpful and helped us to establish biological information necessary to our research work," the director said.

Many a man preaches economy, but leaves it up to his wife to practice it.

Farm pond safety is being urged

COLLEGE STATION—To youngsters, summertime is swimming time. This is especially true of rural children, many of whom have a convenient farm pond available. Unfortunately, many of these swimming excursions end in tragedy. All too often you read stories about children drowning while swimming in a farm or ranch pond.

W. L. Ulich, extension agricultural engineer, says most of the drownings that occur in farm ponds could be prevented if a few simple safety precautions were taken. The first thing to remember is to never let anyone, adult or child, swim alone. Children should never under any circumstances, be allowed to play alone anywhere near the pond.

It is also a good idea to keep life preservers handy, and to insist that non-swimmers wear them when playing in the pond. "Life preservers do not mean plastic bags," Ulich warns. Although a plastic bag will support a person when inflated, they puncture very easily.

Simple rescue equipment should also be kept at the pond. A long lightweight pole is very good for reaching swimmers in trouble. Another item that should be available is a length of light, strong rope. This rope should be at least as long as the pond is wide at its widest points. A lightweight float attached to the end of the rope will help if you want to throw it to a person in distress. Most ponds already have one good piece of rescue equipment—a small boat. If your pond does not, it would be a good idea to get one if at all possible.

Crosby man seeking board appointment

CROSBYTON—The name of J. M. Rankin, former Crosby County judge, has been submitted by State Sen. Preston Smith as a possible appointee to the State Board of Education. The office was made vacant by the recent death of H. H. Boulter of Lubbock.

Rankin was a candidate for the office when it was first created in 1949 and received 49 per cent of the votes at that time.

ANOTHER BIG REASON BEHIND THE BIG BOOM IN FORD SALES:

Ford Dealers were first with a long-term warranty ...because they have the car to back it up

For 1961 the warranty* on all Ford cars was extended to 12,000 miles or one full year, whichever comes first. This action tripled the existing warranty—and scooped the American automobile industry. It was dramatic proof of your Ford Dealer's confidence in the finest, most durable, most reliable Fords ever built. These are the cars with the new service-saving features most other manufacturers are just planning for the future. The '61 Ford goes 30,000 miles between chassis lubrications ... 4,000 miles before you need to change oil. Brakes adjust themselves automatically. The muffler is built to last three times as long as the ordinary type. Body and underbody are specially protected against rust and corrosion. And, Ford's Diamond Luster Finish never needs wax. STOP spending money on a car that's behind the times. SWAP for a '61 Ford while sales are booming and the deals are sensational. SAVE when you buy. Continue to save with the car that's built to be more service-free. *Extended Warranty—Each part of '61 Fords, except tires, is dealer warranted against defects in materials or workmanship for 12 months or 12,000 miles, whichever comes first. Owners remain responsible for normal maintenance service and routine replacement of maintenance items such as filters and ignition parts.

Child scratched by pet leopard

The two-year-old grandson of Charles E. Hipp, uncle of C. Wilson of Post, is recovering in a Wichita Falls hospital from cuts and scratches inflicted Saturday by a 70-pound leopard.

The leopard is owned by the child's grandfather, who is also the owner of the famed lioness Blondie. Hipp has had Blondie with him on visits with the Wilson family here, including one visit during Post's Golden Jubilee celebration in 1957.

The leopard was tied in the yard of the boy's grandfather at Graham. The child stepped too close, the leopard clawed him but he obeyed instantly when Hipp called him, the boy's mother, Mrs. Charles E. Hipp Jr., said.

The leopard, Mrs. Hipp said, apparently was only trying to play with the boy.

RECORDS SAVE TROUBLE

Back in pioneer times our forefathers found they could keep track of the family history pretty well with a few notations on the flyleaf of the family Bible. But life's not quite that simple any more. Great-grandpa wasn't covered by social security or workmen's compensation. He didn't have a bank account or safe deposit box, a car and a dozen home appliances being bought on time payment, or a half-dozen insurance policies. We have taxes great-grandpa never heard of and wouldn't have believed if he had. And had you asked him for a certificate to prove his birth, he'd have thought you'd taken leave of your senses.

The point of this is that the average American today has a good many important papers to keep track of. There are birth certificates, receipts, copies of tax returns, sales contracts, and a host of other papers. With a little tidy record-keeping, you can make life easier for yourself and your family when you are gone.

Here are some suggestions:

1. Get a heavily bound notebook folder or file folder as a central collecting point for all the records of your affairs.
 2. Put your especially important papers in your safe deposit box, but make a list of those papers and a brief summary of their contents to put in your home file.
 3. Get for your files copies of birth certificates for all members of the family, and add them to the file. Add your marriage license or at least a statement as to when and where you were married and by whom.
 4. Insert your will or a copy of it. If your will is kept elsewhere, include a note telling where it may be found.
 5. During the year, put into the file your income tax withholding statements and receipts for expenditures which may be deductible. Then keep a copy of each year's tax return in the file.
 6. Make a list of all the stocks and bonds you own and where they are.
 7. List all the places you have lived and worked and the names of persons there who you know. Include the schools you have attended and the dates you left or were graduated.
 8. If you may have benefits coming under a profit-sharing plan where you work, make a note of that too.
 9. If you're in doubt about whether an item should be included, put it in.
- This takes time initially, but it will save you both time and worry in the long run.
- (This newfeature, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

GET A LIFE PRESERVER

Every person who steps on a boat should check to see if there is a life preserver on board for him. Although boat owners are required to have them, a double check for yourself might save your life.

Pity the grouch — he's a guy who has sized himself up and got sore about it.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Freedom fighters do best in July

Ever since John Hancock put his name to the Declaration of Independence in 1776, July has been a favorite time for freedom fighters.

At least six countries have chosen the month of July to throw off the yoke of a foreign power, according to World Book Encyclopedia. And several nations have found the hottest month of the year a good time to relinquish control willingly of their possessions.

The Dutch may have started the trend. They declared themselves independent of Spain back on July 1, 1581. A few centuries later, in 1830, the Belgians got the idea and broke away from the Netherlands. July is cooler down in South America, but it never chilled the hearts of patriots, who gave Spain her beating in the early 1800's.

Spurred by Simon Bolivar, who was born in July, Venezuela declared its independence in 1811. Argentina issued its declaration in 1816 and Peru made the move in 1821.

Great Britain saw the handwriting on the wall and in 1867 it gracefully pulled out of North America. Canada became a self-governing dominion.

In 1946 it was the turn of the United States, and the Philippines was officially declared independent on July 4th. Six years later, Puerto Rico became a self-governing commonwealth.

In 1960 the focus shifted to Africa, where a host of countries peacefully made the transition to republics in July. These included Ghana, Somalia, Central African Republic, Chad, Congo, Dahomey, Gabon, Ivory Coast, Nigeria and Upper Volta.

THE TRUE MEANING OF NEXT TUESDAY'S FOURTH OF JULY HOLIDAY. IT'S

INDEPENDENCE DAY

The idea of government of the people, by the people, for the people was new to the world on July 4th, 1776. By the nation then born this idea has since been tried, tested and proved the best hope for all mankind.

Proudly we salute the founding fathers on this, the 185th birthday of our country. Firmly we are resolved that our heritage of freedom, dating back to that day, shall forever be maintained.

WASHINGTON AND
"SMALL BUSINESS"
BY C. WILSON HARDER

It is more than of passing interest that Luther Hodges, Secretary of Commerce, is talking quite openly of putting representatives of small business on the Business Advisory Council of the Commerce Dept.

As of this writing, this has not been done, but orders have gone out that sessions of this council shall be open to the press whenever a government man is addressing the council.

Some time ago the Hon. C. W. Harder, Secretary of the National Federation of Independent Business, voting through the National Federation of Independent Business, requested that small business representatives be included in the Federal Reserve Board. This expressed intention of Secretary Hodges is along the same line.

For many years now, the Business Advisory Council composed only of executives of huge enterprises, have periodically sequestered themselves at some spot such as Sea Island, Georgia, and in closed sessions formulated economic policies for the guidance of the executive branch of the government.

But up until this time, no one in official position such as Secretary Hodges has pointed out fallacy of developing programs and policies from viewpoint of huge business alone.

After all, the bulk of American employment is afforded by small and independent business, and there are many great and profound differences between the viewpoints and the needs of the giant corporations and independent enterprise.

So many of these differences are so obvious that it seems almost ridiculous that the executive branch of the government, unlike Congress which set up the House and Senate Small Business committees, has never brought small business into these consultations.

For example, there is bound to be profound differences of opinion between the head of a huge corporation operating in many counties throughout the nation, and an independent company operating on Main Street and depending on sales through the Main Streets throughout the nation.

In addition, there is no mantle of infallibility deserved by Big Business.

Perhaps the best example of this fact is the way that Detroit slept while foreign built compact cars made huge inroads into the American market to the detriment of many people including their own dealers.

As a matter of fact, small business is always more sensitive to what is going on. After all, it makes sense. The more reserve cash either an individual or a business has, the less sensitive it becomes. But those who operate on limited capital must of sheer necessity have keen awareness of what is going on at all times.

Thus Secretary Hodges' desire to put small business representation on the Business Advisory Council, if put into action, could do a great deal to make Commerce Department an integral part of U. S. welfare instead of the vague, little understood, and ineffective bureau it has long been.

Santa Fe Railway's uranium mining affiliate nears end of operations

GRANTS, N. M.—After 11 years of development and production, uranium mining operations of the Haystack Mountain Development Company near Grants are near an end. With a peak productive capability of several thousand tons a month, the pilot mining operation of Southwest uranium production is closing because of the exhaustion of commercial grade ore.

During the period of operation to date, the Haystack Mountain Company has produced more than half million tons of uranium ore for processing at nearby mills, and subsequent sale under contract to the United States Atomic Energy Commission.

The end of Haystack Mountain uranium mining operations will be marked by a dinner event at Grants June 29, honoring Thomas O. Evans, Chief Mining Engineer for Haystack Mountain Development Company, and "dean" of Southwest uranium mining operations. Among the guests will be Paddy Martinez whose chance find in 1950 of a piece of outcropped rock bearing distinctive coloring touched off New Mexico's multimillion dollar uranium mining industry.

Heading the committee on arrangements for the dinner tribute is Evans is his friend Carroll G. Gunderson, Grants businessman and public leader. It was to Gunderson that Paddy Martinez showed his original find of uranium ore, and whose interest led to its classification and identification.

Fellow citizens of Grants, and representatives of Government and industry from a broad area will attend the event to be held at the Zuni Mountain Country Club.

Power

If ye shall ask anything in my name, I will do it. John 14:14

"In my Name" . . . the accent is not on raw power—but on the right use of power. Christian prayer is not just a little chat with God prompted by selfish desires. It is a new engagement with God which leads to a deeper understanding of His will and grace. It requires spiritual sensitivity and God-given insight. Learn of Jesus Christ to pray—in the fellowship of those who are in His school of prayer.

State Capital NEWS
By Vern Stanford

AUSTIN—State Capitol is having a relatively quiet period—some what like the "eye" of a hurricane. Legislators are at home, and Gov. Price Daniel has gone to Hawaii for the National Governor's Conference. Officially, the "time out" ends July 10 when the special tax session begins.

But despite the lull, sharp gusts of differing opinion are still blowing. Before leaving, Gov. Daniel issued a parting blast at lobbyists in particular and critics of his anti-sales tax stand in general. He is thinking of asking for tighter lobby control measures, particularly in regard to reporting of money spent to influence legislation. He also accused opponents of his tax plan of being unwilling to compromise.

Lawmakers are having their say before the Daniel-appointed committee to study tax measures. Sen. Wardlaw Lane, sponsor of the Senate-passed sales tax bill, took a dim view of the "compromise" talk. Legislature compromised on taxes in 1959, he reminded, and the state government ended up more deeply in debt.

As to lobby control, Sen. Lane said the Legislature had already passed the measure that the governor had said would do the job. In general, Sen. Lane urged "a stop politicking and get on with the job" approach.

BEFORE LEAVING for Hawaii, Gov. Daniel signed scores of bills into law, vetoed a few, and otherwise cleared the decks from the 57th regular session.

He signed the bill which will allow the University of Houston to become fully state-supported in the fall of 1963. This bill was the cause of a month-long filibuster in the Senate.

He let become law without his signature a measure known as the Carling Brewery bill, also highly controversial. It was sought by the Carling Brewery which plans to build a $20,000,000 plant in Fort Worth. Under the bill, a brewery may continue to operate in an area even if it is voted dry. By not signing it, the governor demonstrated his lack of enthusiasm.

Altogether the Legislature passed 549 bills in the regular session. Only 14 were vetoed by the governor.

ATTY. GEN. WILL WILSON has launched inquiry into the prices being paid by the state for school buses.

Wilson announced courts of inquiry to be held in Austin, Dallas, and perhaps later in San Antonio. He said investigation had been under way for six weeks and had revealed that Texas was paying from 10 to 25 per cent more for school buses than other states. He said there was no evidence of identical bids, but that he felt there was a strong possibility of "rigged bidding."

School buses are bought by the Board of Control with state school funds on the basis of sealed bids. Bus dealers could, if found guilty of conspiring together over prices, be subject to both civil and criminal anti-trust suits.

(Courts of inquiry are not trials, but proceedings for the taking of sworn testimony to see if there is evidence for filing suits.)

State Board of Education to name successor to late E. H. Boulter

AUSTIN — The State Board of Education is now giving consideration to filling the vacancy on the Board created by the death of E. H. Boulter of Lubbock.

Boulter's successor will be appointed by members of the State Board of Education to hold office until the next general election.

To be eligible for membership on the State Board of Education, a person must have been in continuous residence in the district he is to represent five years prior to his election or appointment. He must be a citizen of the United States, a qualified elector in his district, and at least thirty years of age.

Counties in the 19th Congressional District include the following: Andrews, Bailey, Borden, Cochran, Crosby, Dawson, Dickens, Floyd, Gaines, Garza, Hale, Haskell, Hockley, Howard, Kent, King, Lamb, Lubbock, Lynn, Martin, Mitchell, Scurry, Stonewall, Terry, and Yoakum.

The law provides that persons holding an office or receiving employment under the State of Texas or any political subdivision thereof, or receiving any compensation for services from the State or any political subdivision thereof, except retirement compensation, are ineligible to serve on the Board. Also, any person engaged in organized public educational activity is ineligible for Board membership.

Board members receive no salary but are entitled to reimbursement for actual expenses of attending official Board meetings.

Only one delegate to the Continental Congress signed the Declaration of Independence on July 4, 1776, according to World Book Encyclopedia. That was John Hancock, president of the Congress. Most of the other members signed on Aug. 2, after a copy of the declaration had been engrossed on parchment.

Mr. Casey was the father of Mrs. V. F. (Bing) Bingham of Post.

He had entered the hospital eight days before his death for treatment of a heart ailment.

(Continued from page 1) mowing his yard after dark when the power mower hit a coat hanger—and then the coat hanger hit him—in the foot.

One of the biggest general belly laughs we've heard in ages came last week at the Rotary luncheon when guests were being introduced. One local business man introduced his guest as the unwanted variety—"Mr. so-and-so of the Internal Revenue bureau."

Kenneth May, one of the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal's area editors, wrote a nice front page feature yesterday on Mr. and Mrs. Bandy Cash of Justiceburg, parents of the major league's top right hand now, Norman Cash of the Detroit Tigers. Needless to say if the Tigers surprise by winning the pennant this year, the whole family is planning on seeing the World Series.

This district's state representative, Renal B. Rosson of Snyder, mailed us a six-page news release yesterday summarizing some of his views on the recent general session of the Texas legislature. It was too long for space use this week but maybe we can give you his full explanation in next week's edition. In a few hundred words he explained that he was supporting the limited sales and use tax measure as "the least objectionable way" to raise the money Texas needs to solve its tax problem. We can sympathize with the legislator who tries to explain how he proposes to best raise taxes because the whole general subject is rather unsavory to every voter.

Friday will be a big day for David Ratliff, this district's state senator from Stamford. He's going to be governor of Texas for the day. With Governor Daniel in Hawaii attending the National Governors' Conference and Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey out of the state tomorrow, this elevates Senator Ratliff, who is the President Pro Tem of the Texas Senate and third in line for the governorship, to acting governor for the day. We received an invitation this week to a dinner in the Driskill Hotel in Austin honoring Acting Governor and Mrs. Ratliff and an announcement that "Governor Ratliff will receive friends and guests in the governor's office in the Capitol building both morning and afternoon tomorrow. We can't make it, but we are happy to see Dave have "his day." It makes us wonder what kind a governor Dave would make if he had the job the other 364 days of the year. A good one—we'd guess.

Retailers saluted for contributions to bonds program

WASHINGTON, D. C. — American retailers were saluted today by the Treasury Department for their contributions to the U. S. Savings Bond program since 1941.

The tribute was expressed in a public service newspaper ad announcing July as "Retailers' Month" in the bond program's 20th anniversary year calendar of salutes to prominent volunteer groups. The ad recalled that local merchants had played a key role in mobilizing community support for the early defense bond program and for the bond drives which helped finance the Nation's war effort.

"Few groups were as well qualified to promote bonds as the retailers," the message said. "They sold over the counter, staged street rallies and parades, sponsored movie premieres, and used all their selling talents to get every citizen on the bond wagon and help speed victory. . . . The job they did has paid big bonuses. Since 1941 Americans have invested $121 billion in Savings Bonds, spent $78 billion for the things they wanted as the bonds matured, and are still holding a large $43 billion reserve as buying power for the future."

Responding to the Treasury tribute, Alfred C. Thompson, president of the National Retail Merchants Association, stated: "As citizens, we retailers are proud of the part we have had in the 20-year success story of the U. S. Savings Bond program. As merchants, we are grateful for the rich reservoir of buying power the program has provided for the business community—and the security it has provided for the nation. We earnestly recommend that Americans keep buying and holding U. S. Savings Bonds."

City and county radios to move

The county and city-operated two-way radio system is to be moved this week from the sheriff's office in the courthouse to the old telephone building just south of the city hall, County Judge J. E. Parker said yesterday.

Judge Parker said a sending set will be left in the sheriff's office for use of officers there, but that the round-the-clock radio service will be operated from the city building.

The building, which the City of Post recently purchased from the telephone company, was being wired yesterday, and radio operations in the new building are expected to be under way by the first of the week, Judge Parker said.

SANTA FE CARLOADINGS

Santa Fe carloadings for week ending June 24 were 29,648 compared with 30,940 for the same week a year ago. Cars received from connections totaled 11,027 compared with 11,160 for the same week a year ago. Total cars moved were 40,675 compared with 42,100 for the same week a year ago. Santa Fe handled a total of 38,109 cars in the preceding week this year.

Grass greens--

(Continued from page 1) ney, is being asked now. "Pay when you start to play on the grass greens course," Kuykendall told the golfers Friday night.

He said that the new grass greens will be built atop the present sand greens and will be approximately the same size. Some hole layout changes are being considered, such as lengthening No. 3 and shortening No. 4.

The conversion to grass greens is estimated to cost around $12,000. This includes $2,600 as the cost for erection of the new earthen dam which will provide the water supply.

The two-inch pipe and fittings for the watering system will cost another $2,200 and the two necessary pumps $750.

The rest will be for material and labor in construction of the new greens.

Kuykendall said the new tank will be stocked with fish this fall and course members will be offered fishing memberships at a slight additional charge.

In response to a question, he said they would consider construction of a small clubhouse for players if enough were interested in paying for its operation through monthly dues.

1961 building permits now total $363,792.05

Post's building permits for 1961 totaled $363,792.05 this week with issuance of a permit to Mrs. Lillie McCreo for the addition of a bedroom and shower to her residence at 406 West 12th Street.

Estimated cost of the improvement is estimated at $2,000.

Cotton--

(Continued from page 1) had not interfered with build-ups. As cotton begins squaring, farmers should check their fields closely to prevent the loss of large numbers of the first forms, cautioned the county agent. Fleahopper adults and nymphs, along with the small punctured squares, are often overlooked by the farmer if a close inspection is not made.

When cotton begins fruiting, the terminal area should be examined for the presence of fleahopper nymphs and adults, the agent said. If 15 to 20 fleahoppers are found per 100 terminals, a recommended insecticide should be applied to allow the cotton plants to set a good bottom crop.

Lamesa man is buried in Post

Last rites were conducted here at 2:30 p. m. Saturday for Frank Gibson, 56, of Lamesa, father of Mrs. Buford Finchum of Post.

Mr. Gibson was found dead sitting on the steps of the Methodist Church at Lamesa at about 5:15 p. m. Friday, apparently the victim of a heart attack. He had had a heart condition for several weeks, his daughter said.

He had lived in Lamesa about 15 years, having moved there from Greer County, Oklahoma.

The daughter of Post is Mr. Gibson's only immediate survivor.

The funeral services were held at the Hudman Funeral Home Chapel with the Rev. Bernard S. Ramsey, pastor of the First Christian Church, officiating. Burial was in Terrace Cemetery under direction of the Hudman Funeral Home.

Ott Nance--

Mr. Nance was buried in Snyder Cemetery under direction of the Hudman Funeral Home. Pallbearers were Bandy Cash, Hinton Fluit, Harry Woods, Sid Cross, Mason Justice, Bobby Tidwell, Riley Miller and Jim Boren.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Pearl Nance; one daughter, Miss Lois Nance of Amarillo; three sisters, Mrs. Morris Neff of Post, Ed Owens of Truth or Consequences, N. M., and Marvin McKinley of Mountainair, N. M., and two brothers, Elton Nance of Justiceburg and Clayborne Pirtle of Boise, Idaho.

Mother of Post resident buried

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Shannon were in Greenville last Thursday to attend funeral services for Mrs. Shannon's mother, Mrs. R. Cross, who died Tuesday of last week.

Mrs. Cross for many years was an art teacher, first at Henry College at Cumby, Tex., and then at Greenville.

She was born Mary King Mount Vernon, Tex., the daughter of Judge and Mrs. John King. Mrs. Cross' husband preceded her in death in 1945.

Funeral services for Mrs. Cross were conducted at the J. C. Coker-Peters Funeral Home Chapel in Greenville with the Rev. Cecil Fielder, Methodist minister officiating. Burial was at Calvary.

Besides the daughter of Post, Mrs. Cross is survived by two daughters, Mrs. J. E. Am and Mrs. Herbert Spencer of Greenville; three sons, Matthew Kyle Cross of Wichita Falls, Kriss Cross of Greenville, and sister, Mrs. High Green of Cumby.

Cattle are blamed for trailer wreck

A trailer loaded with household goods and being pulled by a pickup truck overturned east of Post late last night when the driver swerved the pick-up to miss cows in the road.

Sheriff L. E. (Fay) Claborn, of the investigating officers, said the trailer and the household goods were heavily damaged in the incident, which occurred about miles east on U. S. Highway 167. The pick-up and trailer were en route to Lubbock, the sheriff said.

Cubs threaten Braves BR loop lead in game tonight

Little Leaguers halted by Scout camp activities

The Babe Ruth League Braves played a full game ahead of the Tuesday night by trouncing the third-place White Sox, 11 to 6, while the Cubs were taking the measure of the last-place Indians, 10 to 7.

The show-down game, as far as league leadership is concerned, is scheduled for tonight when the Braves and Cubs clash in the first game at Babe Ruth League Park. The White Sox, still with an outside chance at the league championship, can stay in the running by beating the Indians.

Meanwhile, things are comparatively quiet over in the Little League with a 10-day lull having been called last Saturday because of the Boy Scout encampment.

Little League play will be resumed Monday night.

IN A MAKE-UP Little League game Tuesday night, the Red Sox took a firmer grip on first place by defeating the Corvairs, 19 to 10. The Sox pitched three innings from the win, with relief coming from Floyd Moreau went all the way for the losers.

Although out by the White Sox in the second of Tuesday night's Babe Ruth League games, the pace-setting Braves had little trouble in beating and bringing their season back to 7-3.

In the night's lidlifter, Cub pitcher Phil Vargas yielded only two runs—a single by J. Steel and a double by Dicky Vardiman—in leading his team to its 11-2 triumph over the Indians.

Denny Pierce went the route for the losers, being nicked for 11 runs. Louis Ayala, with three for two, did most of the winners' stick work.

POST TEACHER TOURNAMENT CHAMP

Charles Hopkins of Post (right) is presented a gift certificate by Bert Belcher of Seagraves after winning the Gaines County Golf Tournament Sunday. Finishes four strokes ahead

Hopkins wins at Seminole

Charles Hopkins, Post High School shop teacher, won his second golf tournament of the year Sunday when he fired a six-under par 210 to cop the fourth annual Gaines County Golf Tournament by four strokes.

With 18 holes to go, Hopkins had only a one-stroke lead, but he recorded a three-under par 33 fifth round that put him five strokes ahead of the field and he coasted

Legion nine loses 5th straight game

Post's American Legion Junior team lost its fifth consecutive game here Friday night, with Lubbock's Red Bell Cheks taking home an 11 to 1 victory.

The Post team was scheduled to complete its league schedule at Slaton Saturday night, but rain forced a postponement. The game is scheduled to be played July 8 at Slaton.

After the Lubbock team had scored one run in the top of the first, the Post team tied it up, but it was all Lubbock from there on in.

Eddie Valdez and John Sepeda each got one hit off the Lubbock pitcher for Post's only base blows. Lubbock got a total of nine hits off starter David Nichols and relief pitchers David Lee and Ruben Valdez.

Leslie Acker, Post third baseman was struck from behind the left ear by a pitched ball while at bat in the first inning. He was taken to a doctor by Lester Nichols and Phil Bouchier, but the injury was not serious, an x-ray showed Saturday morning.

in for the win.

Hopkins was one-over par for the first nine holes Sunday, giving him a 141 total after 36 holes. This was one shot better than Bill Dean of Odessa.

The Post schoolteacher then racked up birdies on two, three and seven while getting pars on the other six holes for a 714 total.

Over the same span, Dean fell out of the race with a three-over par 39, but George Dixon of Midland also shot a 33, Jerry Dixon of Andrews a 35 and Bob Cryer of Denver City a 36 to stay in contention—five strokes behind the leader.

The trio could cut only one stroke off Hopkins' five-stroke lead during the next nine holes, and the Post golfer put the pressure on by getting a birdie on the seventh hole and paring the final two for even par on the last nine holes.

Hopkins won the Morton tournament earlier in the season.

Raider football schedule for '61 more attractive

LUBBOCK—Although Coach J. T. King isn't selling his first Texas Tech football team short, he's willing to agree that the strength of the Red Raiders' 1961 schedule rather than the grid potential of the Raiders is mainly responsible for an upsurge in season ticket sales. "Look at the schedule—four Southwest Conference games in Lubbock plus West Texas State and Boston College, asserts King. Texas A&M, Baylor, and Texas Christian are always popular in this region, and Rice is coming up with a team that may be the favorite."

King figures, too, that West Texas State, with its strongest team in several years, and Boston College, returning its top 22 players, are also drawing a good share of attention. Aiding the ticket sale this summer is the fact that they may be purchased on the installment plan and that tickets are available on a season basis in all sections—including the option area—of Jones Stadium. Ticket application blanks and details on the installment plan may be obtained by writing Jimmie Wilson, Business Manager of Athletics, Texas Tech, Lubbock.

Cash considered mighty good bet for triple crown

Can Norm Cash of the Detroit Tigers come through with the American League's triple batting crown?

That's the question baseball fans the nation over, particularly those in Garza County, are asking.

Right now, the former Justiceburg boy and Post High School graduate is in a commanding position to win "all the marbles" in AL batting honors.

Through Tuesday night's doubleheader with Chicago, Cash was leading in batting with a hefty .377 average, was out front in the runs batted in department with 66, and was second in home runs with 24—three behind the 27 posted by Roger Maris of the New York Yankees.

Cash's .377 batting average was 16 percentage points ahead of Jackie Brandt of the Baltimore Orioles. In 170 games, Cash has been at bat 231 times, collected 87 hits and scored 58 runs.

In a doubleheader against Cleveland Sunday, Cash had one of the best days of his major league career. He hit a pair of home runs in the first game to give Detroit a 6-3 victory and also homered in the second game, which the Tigers lost, 4-3.

The red-hot Chicago nine defeated Detroit in both ends of a doubleheader Tuesday night. Cash got three hits in five trips in the first game, but went 0 for 4 in the second.

In Thursday night games

Dodgers derail Sox; Corvairs beat Yanks

The Dodgers chilled the league-leading Red Sox, 15 to 1, and the Corvairs blasted the Yankees, 24 to 10, in Little League games last Thursday night.

Clyde Cash pitched the distance for the Dodgers, limiting the Red Sox to five hits in the six-inning game. Kennedy was the starter and loser for the Sox, with Jim Jones and Butch Heaton appearing in relief roles.

The Dodgers scored one run in the top of the first, but the Sox matched it when they came to bat, on successive doubles by Kennedy and Long. That was all the Sox scoring. Cash gave up only three hits and fanned eight batters the rest of the way.

THE SCORE STAYED at 1-1 through the second inning, but the Dodgers went way out front with 10 tallies in the third.

Bartlett, with a perfect night at bat—three singles and a double—led the potent Dodger attack. The Red Sox' Heaton got two of the five hits yielded by Cash.

The Red Sox loss dropped them to a 7-2 mark on the season, while the Dodgers gained ground by climbing to a 7-3 mark.

The Corvair-Yankee game was cut short after four innings because of the 10-run lead rule.

The Corvairs went out front with seven runs in the top of the first, but the Yankees came back with four. An eight-run second inning by the Corvairs put them out front for good.

CLING JOHNSON, the Corvairs' starting pitcher, received credit for the win, getting mound relief from Floyd Moreau after three innings.

Cole, the second of four Yankee pitchers, was tagged with the loss.

Shortstop Donnie Windham was the Corvairs' batting star with five hits, three of them two-baggers, in five trips to the plate.

The losers got only three hits off the combined offerings of Johnson and Moreau.

Collazo hits two roundtrippers in Westerner victory

The Westerners gained ground on the league-leading Red Sox and the second place Dodgers Saturday night by blasting the Tigers, 21 to 10, in a Little League game.

In the second scheduled game, the fast-improving Corvairs were leading the Red Sox, 7 to 0, when the game was called in the bottom of the second because of rain.

The Westerners were forced to come from behind to beat the Tigers, who scored eight of their 10 runs in the first three innings. The Westerners went ahead, 9 to 8, in the fourth, then scored 12 in the fifth to ice the victory.

The losers rallied for two runs in the top of the sixth, but reliever Freddie Collazo fanned Bo Hutchins, Charles Harper No. 1 and Roger North to put out the fire.

Rivera, who relieved starter Joe Reno after two innings, was the winning pitcher. Charles Harper No. 1 was the starter and loser for the Tigers.

In addition to saving the game by his fine relief hurling, Collazo knocked two home runs for the Westerners. Rivera also homered for the winners.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

By VERN SANFORD

Earl Golding, the prolific outdoors writer from Waco, makes some interesting observations.

The News-Tribune columnist, who also writes for the Austin Statesman, notes that there seems to be a "pattern" of lake fishing, employed by anglers fishing the different lakes in Texas.

Once you stop to think about it, fishing styles do follow a trend and these tendencies vary in different sections of the state. Lake Travis fishermen, for example, employ methods quite unlike those used on Falcon. Fishing on Lake Belton differs from that on either Travis or Falcon.

Earl's research reveals that fishermen from the same town often fish alike. They sort of have their own trademark.

IT'S VERY likely a case of "follow the leader"—or copying the ideas of the most successful anglers. Exhibit "A" could well be the fast growing popularity of jig and eel fishing on Lake Buchanan, for example.

When a certain type of lure, or a certain type of gear, or a certain method of taking fish from their habitat "clicks" with an angler, he's likely to stick with it religiously. Only person who can change that pattern is a more successful fisherman.

That's when styles change! That's when even the better fishermen adopt a new method. And if it does prove more productive—man, most everybody switches to it—whatever it may be.

Golding's studies of the various fishermen, their habits, likes and dislikes, and their method of fishing, enables him to tell where an angler habitually fishes.

If you meet a tall fellow sitting atop his gasoline powered outboard motor and working his troll motor with his foot—he's a Lake Austin fisherman. This motor-riding procedure is an Austin trademark. See a fellow with a cushion on his big outboard, riding it like a saddle, and you figure he stands a mighty good chance of being from the capital city.

ON BELTON, IF you see a spin fisherman, you can almost be sure he's from Temple, as Temple is about the only town around the lake with an abundance of spinners. Most of the other boys are strictly casters.

And, if you see a guy with his troll motor on the front of his boat, and him sitting in one of those little low-hanging swivel chairs, out over the bow and just inches off the water, you know he's from Waco.

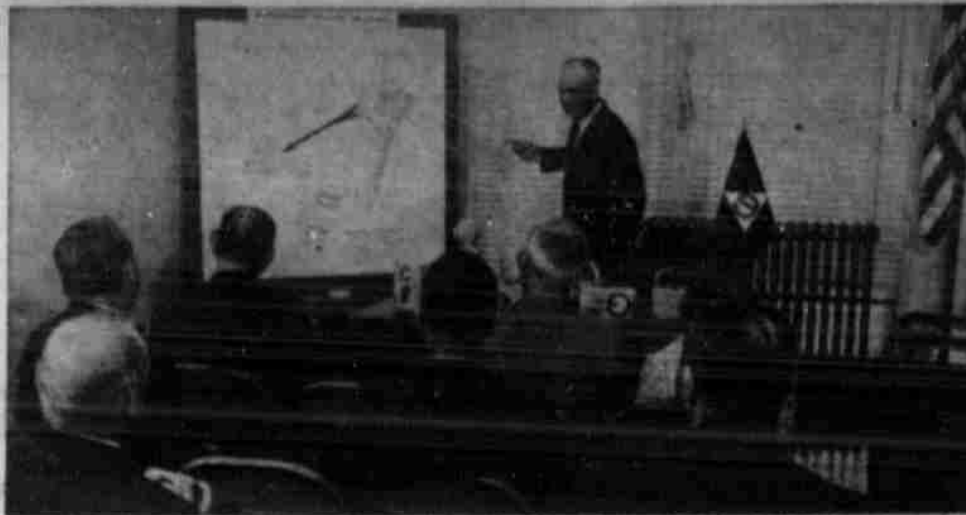

Nearly all the plug fishermen from Waco consider the chairs standard equipment.

All this just goes to show you that fishermen are different. They differ in both their ways and their means of fishing.

"If you're a good fisherman, you won't laugh at any of them," says Golding—referring also to the flat-bottomed boats the Wacoans use; and the bigger, broader, higher craft used by the Austin boys—because a good fisherman knows that he can learn something by observing others.

RAY CREEL, one of Waco's top fishermen, who moved to Zapata a few years ago, learned some new tricks when it came to fishing Falcon Lake.

He discovered that when the weather was cold and the wind was high the fish went to the bot-

ADULT CLASS in radiological defense at Wilmington, N. C., is given instruction on the use of monitoring instruments, reporting fallout levels, behavior of fallout, and other aspects of self-protection for home defense. The instructor is Col. Wilbur D. Griffin, training officer for the Wilmington-New Hanover County Civil Defense organization. He was hired under a new program, administered by the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization, to build up State and local civil defense by Federal payment of half the cost of new employees and administrative facilities. Cub Scout program is outdoors for summer

Cub Scouts of the South Plains Council, Boy Scouts of America, have moved their program outdoors during the summer months, it was announced by Jimmie Lumus of Lamesa, chairman of the council's activities committee.

"With the close of school," Lumus said, "boys have more time to do the things they like to do. More of our Cub Scout packs than ever before plan to keep up the fun of Cub Scouting throughout the summer."

He explained that indoor meetings this time of the year are not so desirable. The summer provides opportunities for packs to conduct informal activities in school yards, playgrounds, or some member's backyard. More than half the members of a Cub Scout pack are home during any one time.

The informal summer activities for Cub Scout dens, packs, and their families are natural, simple projects boys and parents can do together.

"BY PLANNING ahead with parents of Cub Scouts," Lumus said, "this summer will see worthwhile trips, outings, picnics, and visits to interesting places. Cub Scouts will soon know that getting to know their community is a form tom and gathered around the thorny huisache (wee-satch) shrubbery.

To get to the fish you had to guide alongside one of the trees, wrap a towel around the huisache bush's torso, then pull up. Next you dropped a plastic worm down into the water, right alongside the tree—to the very bottom—then jiggled the worm.

If no success at that spot you'd try another tree.

So, from these various versions it's quite evident that the way to success in fishing the numerous lakes in Texas—as Scribe Golding points out—is to follow this rule: "When in Rome, fish as the Romans do!"

of growing up."

There will be new things to think and talk about, Lumus commented, when they visit nearby historic spots, or go through local manufacturing plants or even a firehouse.

The Cub Scout theme for July involves harbors, stations, and airports. Boys like to visit new places, explore, test, and sample food. They like to know how these transportation facilities function. A visit to any one of them will keep them busy.

Such trips give Cub Scouts opportunities to learn about the nation's total transportation pattern.

The Cub Scouts will be on the alert for things they can build into a tabletop model in their own backyard. They will observe details of layout and construction so they will know about the flow of traffic and special items such as control towers, buoys, channel lights, docks, warehouses, and terminal facilities.

Swimming instruction for Cub Scouts is high on the list of activities for July.

At the end of July, Cub Scout Packs will turn their usual monthly meeting into a daytime picnic or early evening gathering. Families usually bring their pot luck meals to a grove or picnic area. The Cub Scout Pack usually supplies refreshments. Parents of Cub Scouts will be substituting for Den Mothers who may be away or on vacation.

One favorite pack activity is the Pinewood Derby which has developed into one of Cub Scouting's finest father and son projects. The derby uses miniature racing cars a few inches in length and a few ounces in weight. Cubs and their dads carve these from blocks of wood and decorate them. Several "cars" at a time race, in heats, down a 30 to 40 foot inclined ramp.

In this and other competitive games the Cub Scout learns how to win graciously and be a good loser.

Matinees slated for 'The Alamo'

There'll be matinees each of the five days "The Alamo" shows here, beginning today and continuing through Monday, according to John N. Hopkins, manager of the Tower Theatre.

"This is the great Texas picture we've all been waiting for," the theatre manager said.

"The Alamo" is a chapter of true-life history brought to completion on the parched plain of South Texas after 83 grueling days of shooting.

John Wayne, who for 14 years cherished the dream of bringing this epic to the screen, said of it, shortly after completing the climactic battle scenes, "This is going to shake hell out of people all over the world. And that is what I want most of all to accomplish."

The Technicolor spectacle cost $12 million to produce.

'Panda' sparkles with adventure and comedy

"Panda and the Magic Serpent," the new feature length color cartoon which opens Tuesday, July 4, at the Tower Theatre, is full of excitement and brilliantly alive with fun.

There will be a July the Fourth matinee showing, according to theatre manager John H. Hopkins.

Taken from a Chinese fairy tale over 5,000 years old, the story of "Panda" is just as fresh today for children and adults who see the story on the giant screen as it must have been to those who heard the tale many thousands of years ago.

The musical score is indeed wondrous and the beautiful oriental-type art and color is enchanting.

Cubs and Braves take Thursday night games

The Braves held onto top place in Babe Ruth League standings last Thursday night by walloping the last-place Indians, 23 to 8, while the Cubs were downing the White Sox, 8 to 4.

Chasing across 11 runs in the first inning, the Braves were never in trouble in their triumph over the Indians. The game went only through the top half of the fourth because of the 10-run lead rule.

The Braves made only two hits—a double by R. Villa and a single by Johnny Bilberry—in scoring their 11 first inning runs. They were helped by nine bases on balls issued by starting pitcher J. Steal and his first inning reliever, Jesse Morales.

THE BRAVES continued their barrage in the second inning, scoring four more tallies on doubles by Villa, D. Perez and Clint Johnson and a single by R. Soils.

The Indians notched the scoring column with two runs in the second, Dicky Vardiman's single scoring J. Williams, who was on through a fielding error, and Danny Pierce, who had walked.

For good measure, the Braves added eight more runs in the bottom of the third, and a six-run rally by the Indians in the top of the fourth fell far short.

In the Cub-White Sox contest, the Cubs opened the scoring with two runs in the top of the second. They failed to hit off starter Jim Doss in that frame, but five bases on balls, an error and a passed ball did the damage.

THE CUBS picked up three more in the top of the third on just one hit, a single by Louis Ayala. Then, in the bottom of the third, Benny Owen's single scored Braddock for the White Sox's first run after Braddock was safe on an error.

The Sox added another run in the bottom of the fourth on four consecutive walks, but the Cubs retaliated with two in the top of the fifth to make the score at that point 7-2. An error, a triple by Teddy Scott and a double by Doss gave the losers two more in the bottom of the fifth, but the Cubs stretched their lead by a single run in the top of the sixth when Ricky Welch, safe on an error, came home on J. R. Balder's two-bagger.

Charles Landtroop, who went five innings for the Cubs, was the winning pitcher, while Doss was tagged with the loss.

CROSBYTON—Crosby County commissioners have authorized the issuance of $150,000 worth of warrants to finance necessary repairs and changes on the county courthouse building.

A Lubbock architectural firm has been hired to draw up final plans for the courthouse project.

ELECTRONIC BRAINS

 FOR EXAMPLE: THE NEW SLO-SYN SYNCHRONOUS MOTOR MANUFACTURED BY THE SUPERIOR ELECTRIC CO., BRISTOL, CONN., CAN START, STOP OR REVERSE ITSELF UP TO 400 TIMES A SECOND.
 IT WORKS ELECTRONICALLY AND MECHANICALLY IN SAME MANNER AS HUMAN NERVE SYSTEM AND MUSCLES. THE MEMORY OF AN ELECTRIC BRAIN IS STORED ON TAPE WHICH TRANSMITS COMMANDS FROM AN ELECTRONIC TRANSLATOR CIRCUIT TO THE MECHANICAL MUSCLE.
 THROUGH SUCH ELECTRONIC AUTOMATION WE CAN MASTER THE TASK OF ORBITAL CONTROLS OF MACHINE TOOLS, POSITIONING OF PLANETARIUM DEVICES, REMOTE CAMERA FOCUSING AND HIGH SPEED FILM PROCESSING, OSCILLATION FREQUENCY CONTROLS, ETC.
 IN THIS AGE OF AUTOMATION, WE CAN THINK OUR ENGINEERING SKILLS THAT MAKE THESE THINGS POSSIBLE.

SAVE THOSE CROPS

The farmers have been busily engaged in harvesting their crops of wheat and barley, and many have a week's labor to perform before they will be through.

The harvest is abundant. It is hoped that everyone will take special pains to save his entire crop, for we know not how many or how few of us will be left to cultivate the soil another year. The present aspect of affairs behooves us to be economical with our supplies. Let us be diligent and put it away in good secure garner, there to remain to meet any exigencies that may arise.

With the present crop harvested entire, and preserved, the inhabitants of this part of the State can fight the enemies of our country for three years to come, without resorting to a plow for bread.—Hillsboro Express.

EZEKIEL IN PROPHECY

The Waco Southwest has a running account of a remarkable sermon delivered in that place Sunday week by Rev. Mr. Spencer, in which the prophecies in the 38th and 39th chapters of Ezekiel were so adapted to the events of the present day as to make a profound impression in the community.—The Weekly Telegraph, Houston.

The Texas Pioneer has reduced its size, but we are glad to learn has a year's stock of paper on hand for the size it publishes.—The Weekly Telegraph, Houston.

THE SHARK ARRIVES

The Schooner Shark brought over to Galveston the other day 7,065 pounds of fixed ammunition, 1,400 pounds gunpowder, and 200 balls for the 24-pound guns there. The ammunition was sent by the Confederate government for the use of Galveston.—The Weekly Telegraph, Houston.

CALL TO PRAYER

There is a public prayer meeting held at the Methodist church in the city every morning at 8 o'clock for the success of the cause of the Confederate States of America. All Christians and all patriots are invited to attend. It is said that the prayer of the righteous availeth much. While we are keeping our powder dry and learning to use it to advantage, let us not forget that the event is in the hand of the God of Battles.—The Weekly Telegraph, Houston.

TRUCULENT PIETY

The following medley of brutality and hypocrisy is the conclusion of the message of the governor of Wisconsin:

"The people will never consent to any cessation of the war, forced so violently upon us, until the traitors are hung, or driven into exile. The war began where Charleston is — it should end where Charleston was. The supreme Ruler can but smile upon the efforts of the law-loving, government-loving, liberty-loving people of this land in resisting the disruption of this Union. These gathering armies are instruments of His vengeance, to execute His judgments — they are His flails, wherewith on God's great Southern threshing floor, He will pound rebellion for its sins."—The Weekly Telegraph, Houston.

4th amendment also applies to traffic safety

On July 4, 1776, our forefathers set forth the Constitution of the United States of America in declaring independence from tyranny and oppression.

Each July 4 we as Americans celebrate freedom from restraints our forefathers provided for us on that day. Many thousands do it by taking pleasure trips in their automobiles. As a result of these millions of miles driven each July 4, hundreds of families have a vivid recollection of July 4, not as Independence Day but as the day a loved one was killed in a traffic crash.

Capt. E. L. Posey, in charge of the Texas Highway Patrol for this district, reminds us that a great American, Abraham Lincoln, said, "Study the Constitution." Lincoln further said, "Let every American, every lover of liberty, every well-wisher to his posterity swear by the blood of the Revolution never to violate in the least particular the laws of the country, and never to tolerate their violation by others." The captain said if Lincoln was living today he would certainly apply that statement to the traffic laws of our state.

The Fourth Amendment to the Constitution gives the right to people to be secure in their persons. Posey declared that to insure this right of all persons traveling on the highways this holiday period, he would have every available man patrolling the highways on the alert for traffic law violators. Posey declared his intention was the same as our forefathers, "To insure the pursuit of life, liberty and a happy return trip at the end of a pleasant holiday for the safe and legal driver."

I Give You Texas . .

By BOYCE HOUSE

With a mob was clamoring at the gate of the county jail. The sheriff pulled down. Suddenly, the door was broken by a mob of men. "Just a minute, men!" I yelled. Then after repeating the statement of the wounded conductor, I said, "This may not be the one. If you take the life of an innocent man, you will always be sorry." The men desisted and the wounded suspect was taken back to the hospital ward. Let us hasten to say that my action took no courage because Captain Mike Kehoe was there—and he was equal to a regiment.

I have made many speeches but they were planned ahead of time. Occasionally an idea comes, a phrase occurs, a joke materializes while I'm on my feet but if I relied upon "the inspiration of the moment," there would be no speech.

Consequently I admire this facility in others. Years ago, a lawyer, Frank Judkins, lived in Eastland. He was an excellent speaker. One night he was going to introduce a candidate and I asked him that afternoon what he was going to say. He replied that he hadn't the faintest idea, but he would just say what came to mind. (His speech was good, too.)

Judge Julien C. Hyer of Dallas, formerly of Fort Worth, is another fluent, ready speaker. He was going to discuss a number of campaign issues back in the 1930's in an address in Weatherford but, when he reached the subject of the soldier bonus, he found the audience so receptive that he devoted all the rest of his remarks to that theme.

FIRST CHRISTIAN SERMONS
Rev. Bernard S. Ramsey, minister of the First Christian Church, today announced his Sunday sermon topics as "Without A Doubt" for the 11 a. m. service, and "The Vain Profane" for the evening service at 7 o'clock. The evening service is the third in a series of the Ten Commandments. The public is invited to attend these messages. A supervised nursery is provided and the building is air-conditioned.

... it's no secret

"Why, I just read where some government bureau that reports on statistics says that electric service costs me only one and one-third cents out of each dollar that we spend at our house."

"Then I found out that the more hours I use Reddy Kilowatt—he's the electric servant, you know—the less he charges for each hour."

"You say your electric bill is higher? Oh, ours is, too, but we're using twice as many appliances as we did 10 years ago. Skillet, television, hair dryer, clothes dryer, why, those are just a few of our new ones. You're probably using a lot more appliances, too."

"On top of everything else, my Public Service neighbor told me the average hourly wage for that little fellow we were talking about, Reddy Kilowatt, is 21 percent lower than it was 10 years ago."

"I can't think of anything else that costs less today than it did in 1951. Can you?"

TANGIBLE PROGRESS in civil defense in Charlotte-Mecklenburg County, N. C., can be measured by the moving of its office from the trailer to the house, made possible by a new Federal cost-sharing program for State and local CD personnel and administrative expenses. Director Kenneth D. Williams and his secretary are in center. Hired under the cost-sharing program were Hugh A. Womack (on steps, at left), and Frank M. Culvern. The expanded staff now can turn plans into operational readiness. (OCDM Photo)

NEW LAW AIDS C.D. BUILDUP

New muscle for understaffed State and local civil defense agencies is now resulting from a Federal program to match 50-50 with States or localities the expenses of additional civil defense staff workers.

This new program, authorized by Public Law 85-606, provides $6,000,000 in the current fiscal year for the hiring of additional State and local civil defense personnel and to meet added expenses such as office rental, furniture, necessary equipment and official travel. This is the first time Federal funds have supplemented State or local civil defense salary or administrative expenses. States and localities have requested funds for 3,633 employees under this program.

FRANK R. ELLIS, Director of the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization, who administers the shared-cost program, stresses that the funds must be used to expand State and local civil defense capabilities and that hiring must be on a merit basis. Ellis declares: "We cannot maintain a status quo in civil emergency planning in the face of tensions that now beset the world. Civil defense at the local level must expand to keep pace with our national need to strengthen our resistance to aggression and measure up to the President's expressed demand for maximum effectiveness in civil emergency operations."

A typical example of how Public Law 806 is helping our States is that of North Carolina. Under its director, Major General Edward F. Griffin, the North Carolina Civil Defense Agency has hired 21 professional and clerical people to strengthen the State's readiness for emergency action. Hitherto its staff of 11 persons was laid-pressed to maintain a basic minimum of readiness for emergency preparedness.

THE STATE, which was allocated $113,000 by OCDM, passed on $53,040 of its allotment to local civil defense organizations for the hiring of an additional 39 persons. The bulk of these are clerical workers, whose shortage in the past often has hobbled the executive staff with routine but necessary tasks.

About Your HEALTH

A weekly public service feature from HENRY A. HOLLE, D.D., the Texas State Department of Health.

AUSTIN—Texas is a top prospect to become one of the first states to assume a new states' right—that of licensing authority for individuals and industries using radioactive isotopes.

Authorization for state jurisdiction in this function was assured in 1959 when Congress passed legislation to permit states to assume responsibility for radioactive isotope licensing by entering into an official agreement with the Atomic Energy Commission. Up to that time the AEC had exclusive licensing authority through the U. S.

Texas officially indicated its willingness to take over the licensing function when the recent session of the state legislature passed a radiation control act which names the Texas State Department of Health as the control agency and provides for a radiation advisory board of nine members to be appointed by the Governor.

Preliminary negotiations are now underway between State Health Department officials and representatives of the AEC to effect the actual transfer of licensing duties.

More than 400 Texas users of radioactive isotopes are currently under AEC license. Uses to which isotopes are being put in medicine, industry and agriculture are increasing every day.

So far no state has actually taken over the details of isotope licensing, but several, like Texas, have enacted enabling legislation to do so when they can demonstrate their capability for the complex assignment.

Based solely on organization and the technical qualifications of staff personnel, only Texas, Kentucky, California and New York appear to be in an immediate position to take on the licensing program.

Health Department radiation specialists said state control of radiological licensing holds many practical advantages for present or potential isotope users. It permits closer surveillance and supervision of activities vitally affecting the public's health. It means greater opportunity to develop peaceful uses of nuclear energy under a careful, state-administered program of control.

Under the Texas radiation control act, general or specific license—depending on the operation involved—would be required of anyone using radioactive by-products, radioactive sources, or special nuclear materials. The department will continue registrations of x-ray devices, under authority of State Board of Health regulations.

(A weekly feature of the Health Education Division, Texas State Department of Health.)

NEW INDUSTRY PHASE

A. M. Meekma, extension dairy husbandman, reports that a new phase of the dairy industry is beginning to show up in Texas. This service is the contract raising of dairy herd replacements. Many producers do not wish to raise their own heifers because they can make more profitable use of their space and facilities by increasing the size of their milking herd. On the other hand, some dairymen lack the necessary capital and facilities for producing Grade A milk. The two can form a profitable team, however, by one producing and the other raising herd replacements.

FARM SAFETY WEEK

July 23-29 is National Farm Safety Week, and W. L. Ulrich, extension agricultural engineer, says an excellent way to start preparing for it would be to make the farm pond a safe recreational area. Due to the hot summer weather, farm ponds across the state will be seeing plenty of action. Ulrich says the observation of a few simple safety precautions could prevent many of these outings from ending in tragedy. The cardinal rule is never let anyone, adult or child, swim alone.

Judging of the individual 4-H Clubs entered in the program will take place this fall, and cash awards or plaques will be presented to the top four clubs.
