Bailey County Water Table Average Lowered

The High Plains Underground Water Conservation District has completed its annual program of measuring depth-to-water levels in the 73 wells in Bailey County. These wells are part of a larger network of more than 950 observation wells scattered all throughout the District's 15-county service area.

Dan Seale was able to complete 62 measurements of 'static' water levels in observation wells and tag them with the District's red identification sticker for owner information.

"I visited with several irrigators in the field who wanted to know what their water's doing," said Dan "We have the initial results for each county, but tabulated data on the entire observation network readings is not expected to be complete until mid-year."

Bailey County's 1981-1982 depth-to-water table below surface minimum level read was at 174.22 feet. This year's average change in depths-to-water in the county was -0.79 of a foot, which compares with a 1980-1981 county reading of -2.57 feet. Comparing the rate of change calculated this year for these wells shows a minimum decline change of +5.30 feet and a maximum decline change of -6.95 feet.

The Water District keeps a record of annual decline and rate of change going back to 1962. The data is used for making projections of decline rate, for determining the amount of water left in storage, and as a basis for the income-tax depletion allowance claims on landowner's tax returns.

Area Residents Plan Car Caravan

June Saylor, National WIFE President urged farmers and business men to attend the "Town Hall" meeting that has been scheduled by secretary of Agriculture John Block in Lubbock next Thursday. The meeting is set for 8 p.m. at the Municipal Coliseum on the Texas Tech campus.

Small in stature and quiet in manner, Mrs. Saylor, came across with an impact designed to stir the blood bath that the family farm has taken since 1977."

"Secretary Block is coming to this area to visit with the farmers, said Saylor, "This meeting is going to be a chance for us to meet with him and talk about our problems. He is coming out here to see if the situation is as bad as we have said it is. What we really desperately need is to meet in a civilized manner and talk to Mr. Block. He is a farmer and understands the way a farmer thinks, we just have to be able to get it across to him."

Congressman Kent Hance in a statement made at the Morton Chamber of Commerce banquet last Saturday night said that he had just had a town hall meeting in Lubbock, that afternoon. "Not once, not in the two and a half hours we met, did I hear one question regarding agriculture," Hance said.

In an attempt to bring farm organizations together, Mrs. Saylor and other officials are working hard toward the target of a National Farm conference, hopefully to be held within the next ten days. This will be comprised on the first level of all the top officials of every national farm organization in the country. The next step will be to meet with the commodity

He appeared before the company officer charged with using insulting language to his sergeant. "Please Sir," he protested, "I was only answering a question."

"What question?"

"Well, sir, the sergeant said 'What do you think I am' and I told him."

"IT'S WONDERFUL TO HAVE THE FIGURE OF A YOUNG GIRL..."

Says Evelyn Shults, grandmother of 18!

"I STARTED with Pat Walker's with a weight of 167 pounds. I'm 5 feet, 7 inches and I was outgrowing my "fat clothes." I've lost 31 pounds and 50 inches and everyone tells me how nice I look. I feel great!"

IT'S SO WONDERFUL to have a figure like a young girl and feel like one, especially when one is past 65, mother of 7 and grandmother of 18.

I REMEMBER when I could hardly climb the stairs without huffing and puffing and I had high blood pressure. Now I run up the stairs and have normal blood pressure without medication."

groups. "In the near future, we will see "Emergency Rural Crises Meetings" being called throughout the farm areas, in an effort to unite the farmers. We can either stand together, or we will go down, one by one," Saylor said. "We are not being paid attention to, because we are not demanding it. We have to make enough noise out here, out in the grass roots, to make ourselves heard," she added.

"I urge and challenge, every farmer, every wife, every businessman, to attend this meeting in Lubbock. We are getting a chance to be heard and that doesn't come along very often. We need to make the most of it, in an orderly fashion."

According to Johnny St. Clair, who is working closely with Mrs. Saylor, "Our situation on Main Street in Muleshoe is one of "wait and see". What happens to farmers in the next 60 to 90 days will determine whether many of the local merchants will remain in business or not." Another local businessman and banker, Harmon Elliott stated at the meeting that he feels this economy can turn around, but the change will have to come from the grass roots movement exerting pressure enough to require that Washington takes care of us. "They are on our payroll and should be working for us.... We have to some help from them to solve this problem." Elliot said.

In closing, Mrs. Saylor stated that "The American farmer is the missing link to Reagan's plan; we can either fight together or lose separately. These are some of the toughest times we will probably ever see in agriculture, and we've got to pull together."

A caravan to Lubbock conference is scheduled to leave Muleshoe from the Muleshoe State Bank parking lot at 6 p.m. next Thursday, February 25. All farmers, businessmen and other concerned citizens are urged to attend this meeting. Anyone wishing to attend and without transportation should contact Johnny St. Clair at St. Clair's Department Store.

Balengee explained that extensive analysis of all revenue data and customer electrical demands indicates a need to file for the increase with the Texas city commissions and the Public Utility Commission. When the new rate is approved, a $41.5 million annual revenue deficiency will be corrected.

The cost of electric service represents about two percent of the average family residential budget--the same as it was five years ago, Balengee said. He added that the unit cost of electricity is now the same as it was in 1927, when most families used 500 units of energy each year. Now, most families use about 7,000 units a year, Balengee said.

"We don't expect our customers to like the prospects of higher electric bills -- but we believe they will understand the importance of keeping the increases to a minimum as we are maintaining a reliable electric system," Balengee said.

Southwestern Public Service primarily provides electric utility service to a population of more than 1 million in a 45,000-square-mile area of the Panhandle and south plains of Texas, eastern and southeastern New Mexico, the Oklahoma Panhandle and southwestern Kansas.

"And the next lot of high quality cutters, fed on the best plastic roughage..."

Plastic roughage? An animal nutritionist at Kansas State University says within the near future cattle being fattened for slaughter could well be eating plastic roughage instead of hay. According to the KU scientist, plastic roughage is twice as cheap as hay, a lot cleaner and easier to handle. Half the roughage, he says, is recoverable and the rest biodegradable. Research on plastic roughage began in 1967 and changing economics has seen plastic grow steadily cheaper than hay. Studies show only 50 grams of plastic roughage is required per day to accomplish the same thing as four pounds of hay, saving feeders an estimated 11 cents per head per day. The plastic keeps the digestive tract clean and healthy as does natural roughage and is neither absorbed nor metabolized.

EDITORIAL

Rebound?

President Reagan is putting the best face possible on the current recession, and the prospect of large deficits for the next few years. He says the economy will begin to show signs of recovery in the first half of the year, and that things will steadily improve thereafter.

But many economists and investors are waiting to see if the Reagan forecast or the view that this is to be a longer and deeper recession is correct.

Mr. Reagan should know in a few months whether such optimism is justified. By March or April economic indicators will show whether the recession is bottoming out or whether it is still accelerating. If it turns out that Mr. Reagan has under-estimated the severity of the current dip, then defense spending should be spread over more years, some taxes levied to reduce the deficit and every tax loophole closed; these and other revenue-raising steps will be urgent by March if there is no change visible in the trend of the economy.

If Mr. Reagan fails to act quickly this spring, if economic events prove him wrong, it's unlikely that he or a Republican majority in the House will be elected in 1984. Already.

Ball's Warning

Former Undersecretary of State George Ball has spoken out on the issue of Polish freedom versus martial law. Ball reminds Americans that Poland was, in effect, included in Russia's sphere of interest in World War II agreements concluded by Franklin Roosevelt, Winston Churchill and Josef Stalin.

Ball is sympathetic with the hopes and dreams of the Polish people—for true democracy. But he also says that peace in Europe depends on retention of an effective power balance, and has for centuries.

We have enjoyed a cycle of peace (at least free of nuclear or all-out war) for 36 years, based on the Yalta agreements, which placed Poland in the Soviet orbit. As the Russians see it, the West is making a major effort to remove Poland from the eastern bloc, a state the Russians see as a buffer state from a security point of view.

Ball fears that if we are to avoid a nuclear war, we must let the balance of power stand, at least until internal events change forms of government from within the country. Any attempt to change the balance of power system by the West will not only threaten peace but alarm western European allies, Ball says.

The hope of the West, he asserts, is that the Polish people can gradually return to the path of democracy and individual freedom, on which they embarked last summer. This country and western Europe should encourage this trend in every way possible, short of moves which would threaten the World War II-arranged balance of power and a nuclear war.

Meanwhile, the imposition of martial law in Poland is a testimonial to all the world of communist ideology's bankruptcy and the West should never cease to point this out energetically in every way possible.

AUSTIN—Observers of the Texas political scene got a surprise this week when House Speaker Bill Clayton announced that he would not be a candidate for state-wide office in 1982.

Clayton's announcement was all the more surprising because the Springlake Democrat already had told supporters at a December fundraiser that he definitely would enter the race for land commissioner. The four-term speaker already had collected some $300,000 in contributions to make that race.

Clayton, a 20-year veteran of the Texas House, said he decided to bow out of the race to take advantage of a "unique business opportunity" involving his West Texas farming operations. Clayton acknowledged that his legal troubles in the Brilab case had "some negative factor," but he denied that Brilab influenced his decision not to run.

But don't count Clayton out of the political scene altogether. Clayton said he's going to hang on to the $300,000, and some observers already are speculating that Clayton might put the money to use in a 1984 congressional race or a bid for governor in 1986.

AUSTIN—The education of students in our public schools has traditionally been one of the Texas Legislature's top priorities. During the 67th session state payments to school districts for the education of public school students increased by approximately $1.4 billion for the 1982-83 biennium, as compared with the 1980-81 biennium. This increase pushes the number of public school dollars appropriated for the next two years to $8.2 billion, excluding funds used to pay the employer's share of the statewide retirement system for school district personnel.

In my opinion, the focus on education of almost half of all state appropriations for the biennium has made Texas an even stronger state. However, with the appropriation of such a large amount of money comes certain legislative responsibilities to determine exactly how the money is spent, if needs are adequately being met, and what the future holds in the way of public education.

The Select Committee on Public Education is one mechanism designed to study the entire spectrum of public education. The committee was created by Senate Concurrent Resolution 22 which passed during the regular session. Lt. Governor Bill Hobby chairs the 18-member group, and I serve as vice-chairman. Other members include appointees from the House and Senate, the State Board of Education, and the Governor's Advisory Committee on Public Education.

In addition, the Committee will be joined by an Advisory Board composed of approximately 100 educators and lay persons concerned with education from across the state. The primary purpose of the Advisory Board is to broaden the base of input upon which the Committee will base its decisions and ultimate recommendations.

The Committee has decided to direct its study in six basic areas. These include educational personnel; finance formulas and implementation of recent legislation; recodification of the Education Code; changing technology in instruction; alternative instructional arrangements including magnet schools and varying graduation requirements; construction, rehabilitation and repair; and capital debt financing.

Subcommittees have already begun their work in each of these areas. I believe that the Texas Legislature will continue its tradition of realizing the tremendous importance of quality education for all students. The Select Committee on Public Education and the recommendations it develops will be crucial as the 68th Legislature begins making decisions which will affect all Texans, especially our young people who will be attending public schools in years to come.

White had a "clear cut conflict of interest" in the matter because he was on the panel of five Democratic officeholders that adopted the plans.

White has asked the three-judge panel currently hearing lawsuits against the plans to uphold the district lines, but Clements says that would throw the matter back to the Justice Department.

Meanwhile, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and other Democrats charged that the Justice Department's decision was based on political considerations and aimed at increasing GOP ranks in the Legislature.

The Feb. 1 filing deadline for those legislative races may have to be postponed because of the ruling. The filing deadline for 16 congressional district races already has been pushed back.

Oilfield Thefts

Oil industry officials announced this week that theft of oilfield equipment has gotten so bad that they are forming a special panel to combat the problem.

Officials of the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association called a news conference to announce the creation of the Petroleum Industry Security Council.

Oil and gas producers have estimated losses from oilfield thefts amounts to some $100 million annually.

TIPRO President L. Frank Pitts said the new council's first efforts will include establishment of a statewide hotline to receive tips on thefts, conducting seminars on how to reduce "in-house" thefts and creating a standard system of marking oilfield equipment.

The new organization is a cooperative effort between TIPRO and several other oil and gas industry groups.

The oilfield theft problem was an issue during the 1981 legislative session, and a bill was passed increasing the penalties for such thefts.

John Tower
U.S. SENATOR for TEXAS
142 RUSSELL OFFICE BUILDING
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20510

The President's budget proposal for the next fiscal year reflects two basic commitments -- to control and where possible reduce the amount of federal spending, and to rebuild our national defense capability to a level which will enable us to defend our vital interests in the world.

The defense portion of the fiscal year 1983 budget is undeniably large, with spending projected to be $215.9 billion. But its merit should not be judged merely on its size. The validity of the budget proposal must be determined by the contribution it makes to our nation's ability to meet its defense needs, and the extent to which it uses the taxpayers' money efficiently.

Clearly our defense needs are great. We are forced to increase the level of spending for national defense now because we neglected that area in favor of domestic programs in past years. During that period, the Soviet Union increased its military investment. Thus, our capability relative to that of the Soviet Union deteriorated to an alarming degree. We began last year to redress these deficiencies, but must continue that effort this year and for the next few years.

Yet, even the magnitude of our needs does not give the military a blank check. Our dollars are finite, and our validated requirements are many. That means that we in Congress, and the Administration, have a special obligation to make certain that every dollar spent contributes the maximum amount possible to our defense.

The Defense Department has made an excellent start in this regard. During the past year, it has initiated a series of programs and actions to improve efficiency and management in the department.

These include a reform of the strategic planning, programming and budget process; reform of the process by which weapons systems are acquired; a major attack on fraud, waste and abuse; economies and efficiencies in a number of internal management operations, and creation of a Management Improvement Council.

Thus the budget which has been presented to us reflects new efficiencies. It also reflects the Defense Department's determination to budget realistically to reflect actual cost and inflation factors. This approach in some cases provides higher figures now, but these amounts are much less likely to be subject to cost overruns later.

I am confident that the budget the Administration has sent to the Congress reflects its officials' best efforts to use each dollar wisely. However, Congress still has an obligation to scrutinize each aspect of the budget.

As the Armed Services Committee begins examining the defense request, we will not approve programs which are not cost-effective. This has been the case in past years, and we will be especially vigilant this year. We also will be looking very closely at the procedures and management systems embodied in the proposal provide maximum efficiency.

On behalf of the committee, I already have requested the Government Accounting Office to audit several of the Defense Department's money-saving programs; I also have requested GAO to review compliance on cost overrun reports.

In addition, I have asked the GAO comptroller-general and his staff to provide further suggestion to the Armed Services Committee that will assist us in our scrutiny of the budget.

You, the American citizen, are entitled to a strong national defense. In every poll, and in your letters and comments to me, you have reiterated your determination that your federal government should provide you with this strong defense.

But you also are entitled a program of national defense which is free of inefficiency and waste. We in Congress will work diligently to make certain that you get both a strong and a cost-effective national security system.

WANTS MORE AID

Israel and Egypt, the largest recipients of U.S. economic and military aid, are due to receive hefty increases in fiscal 1983 if President Reagan has his way. Still, neither is entirely happy with the shape, if not the size, of the American lifelines.

ON LEASE EXTENSION

WASHINGTON --Interior Secretary James Watt is extending his self-imposed moratorium on issuing any oil and gas leases in 80 million acres of federally protected wilderness until late 1982 to give Congress more time to review the dispute.

CHARLOTTE MORRIS AND CHEYENNE BICKEL

Morris Chosen Valentine Queen

Roses and Romance created a lovely setting for the FHA Sweetheart banquet held Saturday night, February 13, in the Muleshoe High School cafeteria. Approximately 50 people, including special guests, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Horne, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Bass and Gerald Reed, were on hand to enjoy the occasion.

Charlotte Morris was chosen as this year's 1982 FHA Queen. Cheyenne Bickel was Charlotte's escort for the evening. Attendees for the queen were Kristi Heathington, escorted by John Isaac, and Connie Puckett, escorted by Todd Holt.

Entertainment was provided by Mollie and Kyle Degge of Muleshoe and John Jones of Denver City. Songs and love ballads were sung to carry out the romantic setting. Mr. Jones honored the queen by singing "The Rose" to Charlotte as she was crowned. The rose is the FHA flower.

Awards presented to outstanding members were for Concession Stand Work -Gloria Chavez, Eager Beaver Award-Lori Stroud Best Attendance-Shelly Sain, Best Officer-Donna Horn, Salesmanship Award -Kristi Campbell and Polly Harrison, and Baby Sitting Award-Joy Gabbert.

Lori Stroud recognized Mrs. Dorine Harbin for her 35 years in teaching, 12 of these here in Muleshoe. She noted that Mrs. Harbin's sincere understanding and care for her students has made her a loved and honored teacher.

The meal was prepared and brought by FHA students, and the decorations they made helped to complete the overall beautiful setting.

MHS Observes Patriotism Week

Harold Horne, superintendent of Muleshoe Independent School District, believes that patriotism is an American value which should be encouraged and cherished. For this reason, the week of February 15 through February 19 was designated as "Patriotism Week" in the Muleshoe Schools. The halls at Muleshoe High School vibrated with patriotic music, red, white and blue decorations, many patriotic speeches given on the public address system; and special patriotic symbols were distributed to all students. Teachers and students all cooperated to make this a week to remember.

Initiating "Patriotism Week" at Muleshoe High School was the Student Council, under the sponsorship of Mrs. Lola Pylant, who decorated all of the halls with red, white and blue streamers. Mrs. Elizabeth Black's art students created patriotic posters, and these were also displayed in the halls. The art students put a great deal of thought and "heart" into these posters, and they provoked thought on the privileges of being an American. Art students who made patriotic posters were Manual Garcia, Dolores Flores, Susie Pierce, Marsha Williams, Peggy Martin and Darin Bratcher.

Students in Steve Johnson's world history classes made tapes which were played each day during the morning watch time. On Monday, Stacey Barnhill gave a presentation on the Declaration of Independence, and she told the price each of the signers paid. Monty Hysinger, on Tuesday, explained the importance of the Constitution of the United States and informed students that this is the oldest written Constitution in the world today.

Jeff Meeks' intercom spot on Wednesday was about the American flag and all of the events with which it has been associated. He urged all to be proud of this flag. Thursday morning, Kristi Henry explained how the patriotic spirit of our forefathers led them to protect this great country.

Culminating the weeks' intercom spots were Robin Burgess and Jill Turner who emphasized the idea of all the good things true only of our United States which makes this the Great United States. Each student in Mr. Johnson's senior classes participated in this project by finding musical selections and information about our great American heritage.

Senior Civics students of Mrs. Jean Allison, some of our future leaders of America, began the week by writing essays entitled "What It Means to be an American." Each Civics class was given one day of the week to encourage others at Muleshoe High School to remember what it means to be an American. Each class member contributed ideas, art work, and time to make this a successful activity.

second period Civics class greeted all students in the halls of Muleshoe High with patriotic music and presented each with a red, white or blue ribbon tied on a finger. The theme these students had chosen was "Remember, you are an American," and after being tied with a yarn ribbon, each signed a poster with these words on it.

Third period government students on Tuesday presented everyone at Muleshoe High with a small American flag which they had made. Inscribed on each small flag were the words, "Proud to be an American," as well as on a large poster flag which

FTA Goes To Houston

The FTA State Convention was held at the Hyatt Regency in Houston, February 18-20. M.H.S was fortunate to represent their district by campaigning for the office of Recording Secretary. Rhonda Dunham was the candidate. Robin Burgess was also an important figure as she is chairman of the Constitutional Revision Committee.

Campaigning for Rhonda Dunham began on Friday and continued until Saturday noon. During the convention there were general session workshops, a dance and the election of new state officers. Wayne Precure, District XVII president, conducted a district meeting while at the state convention.

The voting delegates from Muleshoe were Wayne Precure, District XVII president; Jill Turner, District XVII Recording Secretary; and Susie Pierce, District XVII Corresponding Secretary.

Others attending the convention were Kelly Bayless, Scott Campbell, District XVII Parliamentarian for next year; Ronnie Angeley, Chapter president and Stephen Johnson, District XVII advisor.

While in Houston, the group stayed at the Hyatt Regency Hotel and went to the Strawberry Patch to eat. They also ice skated and shopped at the Galleria.

February 20-27 Is National FFA Week

This week, February 20-27, the Muleshoe FFA Chapter joins with nearly 8,500 other FFA chapters all across the nation in celebrating National FFA Week, starting February 20.

Throughout the week, the state's chapters are planning activities to support this year's FFA theme Vocational Agriculture Growing for America.

Vocational agriculture education and FFA are an American success story of Learning by Doing. They have produced a mighty work force for food and fiber to meet the needs of our nation and the world. Nearly $50 million worth of agricultural exports went last year.

National FFA Week has always included George each student and teacher signed to the accompaniment of patriotic music.

"I Love America" written on red hearts was the theme chosen by fourth period Civics students. Each small heart was pierced with a candy sucker and these were pinned on each student and teacher on Wednesday. A large red heart with the words "I Love America" was signed by all. Again, patriotic music was played as well on Thursday when fifth period class presented each student and teacher with a small red, white or blue star with the words "Shine On America." A large poster star with the sun shining on it with the same "Shine on America" inscribed thereon was signed by all students.

Sixth period civics students were responsible for Friday's activities and they chose as their theme, "Americans Pull Together." They began their activities by tying red, white and blue ribbons on the trees of the campus at Muleshoe High. Each of the sixth period students had red, white and blue paper strips; and during the week, they had asked as many people as possible to write on these paper chains why they love America. Friday morning, a long paper chain made with these signed paper strips was made and hung in the halls symbolizing that "Americans Pull Together."

All of the activities during "Patriotism Week" at Muleshoe High School generated a feeling of pride for this great country. Students and teachers showed excitement in being able to express a deep love for all of the privileges and benefits which are so often taken for granted.

- February 27 - Lubbock Cooper Speech Tournament.

Washington's Birthday in observance of his leadership in promoting scientific farming practices. Washington is considered the patron saint of the FFA and has come to symbolize the FFA Treasurer.

Activities planned for the Muleshoe FFA Chapter include a calf fry followed by games on Monday, February 22, and a skating party at Clovis on Tuesday, February 23.

Organized in 1928, the FFA promotes leadership, cooperation and citizenship among high school vocational agriculture students. Vocational agriculture education in high school prepares students for careers in agricultural production, marketing, processing and service.

VOCATIONAL AGRICULTURE / GROWING FOR AMERICA

An American Success Story

One of the best examples of youth in action on the American scene today is the FFA, the national organization for the students studying vocational agriculture in the public high schools. The Future Farmers of America is an organization run by the student-members under adult guidance.

Soon after vocational agriculture became a subject in many of the nation's high schools in 1917, instructors became aware of the need to provide practical training beyond the traditional classroom approach. Their idea was to make the instruction more interesting by making practical work experience competitive livestock judging, and agricultural leadership development activities part of the instruction. Vocational agriculture instructors and students eagerly accepted the learn by doing principle of a new organization called, Future Farmers of America.

The FFA was founded nationally in 1928 after similar organizations had started in several states. Right from the beginning, the FFA has stressed leadership, cooperation and citizenship—all vital to success in modern agriculture.

Today the FFA has a membership of 485,000 with chapters in approximately 8,000 high schools throughout the nation. The organization has state associations in all states and Puerto Rico.

Vocational agriculture or agribusiness programs are funded in part by the National Vocational Education Acts through the U.S. Office of Education, state departments of education, and the local school systems. The FFA operates under a federal charter granted by an Act of Congress in 1950 (Public Law 740, 81st Congress). The charter provides for all national board of directors and a board of student officers elected from the membership.

FFA activities are specifically designed to be a part of the instructional program in vocational agriculture. Members learn through active participation how to conduct and take part in public meetings, how to speak in public, and how to take a leadership role in their school and community.

Each local chapter and each state association elects its own officers each year. In all cases the teacher of vocational agriculture is the advisor of the local FFA chapter and the state supervisor of agricultural education is the advisor of the state association.

FFA members have full opportunity to practice the principles of democracy in conducting the affairs of their organization by exercising their privilege to vote at chapter meetings, serve on committees, and otherwise assist in carrying on the work of their organization. Elected delegates to the state and national convention, held each year, are asked to decide on major issues facing the organization.

Advancement through the degrees in the organization from the Greenhand through the Chapter Farmer, State Farmer, and American Farmer or Agribusinessman is based on achievement in farming, ranching, or agribusiness careers.

Nearly 8,000 public high schools have FFA chapters. One of the requirements for membership in FFA is that a student be enrolled in vocational agriculture. Students may retain their membership until they are 21.

Competition is a key element of the FFA from the chapter to the national level. Each year the FFA recognizes more than 80,000 members at local, state and national levels for outstanding achievement in activities related to agriculture career and leadership development.

Funds for awards are provided by more than 200 businesses, organizations, and individuals that sponsor FFA programs through the National FFA Foundation, Inc. The Foundation provides over a million dollars to make the incentive awards available to deserving FFA members in the following award programs: Star Farmer and Star Agribusinessman awards, 22 agricultural proficiency awards, public speaking, national chapter awards, national chapter safety, Building Our American Communities Awards, national judging contest, establishment in agriculture awards, and through state initiated programs for improving agricultural leadership. The cry for food in this country and around the world reaffirmed the need for continuing a strong program of vocational agriculture and the FFA. Thus there is a bright future for trained agriculturists growing for America.

EDUCATION FOR AGRICULTURE IN LOCAL HIGH SCHOOLS KEY TO FOOD FOR THE FUTURE

Bigger and bigger it grows... More and more it expects... Over and over again it must be fed... this nation of over 240 million people. A nation of people who've come to expect three meals each day; mothers who expect to have enough warm clothing for their children; families who expect a roof over their heads.

This throbbing demand from our citizens for food and fiber is satisfied only because of the success of American agriculture. In fact, America's agriculture provides enough food for us plus enough to share with others around the world.

The growth industry for America is her agriculture. Farms, ranches and agribusinesses are the production units for this industry—corn, soybeans, wheat, beef, pork, mutton, poultry, milk, cheese, butter, eggs, fruit and vegetables. These commodities are in abundant supply thanks to dedicated men and women who work in agriculture. Crop farmers, cattlemen, combine operators, farm wives, truck drivers, veterinarians, feed and seed salesmen, and many more.

But America's population will always need to eat. Thus there is a gigantic need for a dependable source of educated workers and leaders for the future of the agricultural industry.

Such a source is the program of vocational agricultural education in 8,000 public high schools in America. Vo-ag departments are hard at work producing, educating, training, motivating and inspiring future leaders for agriculture. These vo-ag/FFA programs channel youth with an interest in agriculture into careers for which they are suited. As students of vocational education in agriculture they are given the time-honored "Learning by Doing" experience.

These students are member of the Future Farmers of America—an integral part of the agricultural education process which challenges the student to learn, to do, to earn and to serve. Through FFA, students are motivated by incentive awards and competition, to adequately prepare for their future in the agricultural industry.

Supervised occupational experience programs aid all FFA members in their personal growth as agriculturists. Your own five acres of corn can be quite a learning experience—killing the weeds; planting and cultivating; worrying about the price of seed, fuel, fertilizer; operating harvesting equipment, or maybe repairing it; and finally deciding how to market.

There is a vo-ag teacher/chapter advisor who makes the lessons come alive. Perhaps an FFA Alumni member who is willing to share time. Plus parents who help when needed. Often agribusinessmen lend a hand, provide a loan, give advice or loan equipment. But in the end the student must apply what was learned in the vo-ag classroom to the five acres of corn. When this happens, more than the cornstalks "grow".

The FFA provides excellent opportunities for personal growth in leadership. A member may be asked by the advisor to give an FFA report at the local civic club luncheon, representing the chapter. The student prepares and practices and proudly dresses for the occasion in the familiar blue corduroy jacket with FFA tie. Discussion during the luncheon with the adults there turns to world markets or the price of food. The FFA member can respond. As the meeting closes, the FFA'er stands to recite a pledge of allegiance to the flag with the other citizens. More than the cornstalks "grow".

America grows.

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Sandy Creek examines the economy this week, more or less.

Dear editor: According to a newspaper article I read last night, "Analysts inside and outside government say the economy in the first quarter of 1982 will show a decline; but will show an upturn by the fourth quarter."

In view of the fact there are some people as well as some businesses, including some big ones, that aren't sure they can hold out till the fourth quarter. I think I have a solution.

The economic analysts are using the wrong numbering system and the solution is to change it. They ought to count the four quarters of a year like satellite launchers count for a blast-off. Four, three, two, one.

Thus we'd be in the fourth quarter now, not the first, and the upturn would be at hand. Inflation, interest rates and unemployment would be down and car sales, home construction and farm prices would be up.

To get my mind off terrorists, nuclear bombs, crime and the forthcoming political campaigns I have been keeping tab on economists and their ideas on what causes and cures economic trouble, along with which one I think comes closest to hitting the nail on the head instead of his thumb.

So far I've only found one who seems to know what he's talking about and I don't know who he is. He was being interviewed on television in one of those 30-second glimpses and I didn't get his name.

He was asked what caused the current recession and how can we get out of it.

He looked the camera straight in the eye and said: "I don't have the slightest idea."

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Defensive Driving Course Saves Money

New Texas law requires motorists to be covered by liability insurance.

Motorists who've never been covered may be surprised at the high cost of liability insurance. This cost can be lowered by taking the Defensive Driving Course (DDC).

Administered by the Texas Safety Association (TSA) the Defensive Driving Course was written and produced by the National Safety Council (NSC).

TSA statistics show those who complete the 8-hour DDC are better drivers. The Texas State Board of Insurance allows insurance companies to grant those who complete the course a ten percent reduction in insurance rates.

This ten percent discount applies for three years and can be renewed by taking the course again and is allowed for the principal driver of each family car. The discount applies to policies written by re-regulated carriers. Discounts are given at the discretion of assigned risk pool and country mutual carriers.

Fee for the course is usually $18.00. DDC is taught by more than 650 agencies across the state to more than 225,000 persons yearly.

Consult the yellow pages for Driver Improvement for an agency near you or call the Texas Safety Association (512) 451-7421.

ATTEND THE CHURCH OF YOUR CHOICE

Bedtime Story

"Tell me a story..." is frequently the last plaintive request before this little one closes her sleepy eyes for the night and drifts into that wonderful dream world of contentment and rest.

How often have we wished for the same kind of story that could lift the cares and burdens from our everyday lives that we also might find similar peace and comfort as this small child.

Within the reach of all is just such a story. Not a fantasy like Goldilocks and the Three Bears or Sleeping Beauty; but a true narrative founded upon the exciting words of God. The living story of the Bible should be as much a part of our lives as our daily bread. Read your Bible, rejoice in its comforting words and inspiring thoughts. Renew your understanding of this great story by regular church attendance by you and you family.

The Church is God's appointed agency in the world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving His neighbor. Without this knowledge in the love of God, no government or society of any kind will long prosper and the freedom which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond this however, every person should submit and participate in the Church because to enjoy the truth about man's life, death and destiny, the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Information For Veterans

Q. Recently I filed for Social Security and Supplemental Security Income benefits. I was advised not to expect a retroactive Social Security check if I'm eligible for and receive SSI benefits. Why would I not be eligible for my retroactive benefits?

A. If your claim is approved on or after July 1, 1981, your retroactive benefits will be offset by the amount of SSI that would not have been paid had you Social Security benefits been received when they were due. You, therefore might not receive any retroactive benefits.

Q. My mother is a recent SSI recipient and we're planning on opening a joint checking and savings account. How does this affect her SSI?

A. The total monies in your joint account is counted as a resource to your mother. If the combined accounts exceed $1,500, she would be ineligible for SSI until her resources are reduced below the $1,500 limit. In addition, any money you deposit to the accounts is counted as unearned income to your mother which also might reduce or terminate her SSI benefits.

Q. I receive SSI benefits and own my own home. I was told by the Social Security office that I had to report any changes in my household composition.

How would my benefits be affected if my niece came to live with me? Although you own your own home, whenever you share your household with someone other than minor children or a spouse, we must determine whether you are receiving any support from them. If your niece contributes more than her pro rata share of household expenses, the excess amount she contributes is counted as income to you.

Q. I retired six months ago and gave an estimate of my future earnings. My business has picked up and I expect I'll earn more than I estimated. Should I report now and make a new estimate, or wait until the end of the year?

A. Any significant changes should be reported as soon as you realize your estimate has changed.

Q. As a college student, I understand I'm to make a report at the beginning of each school year. What other events would I need to report during the year?

A. You are responsible for promptly reporting events which affect your payments such as marriage you stop attending school, you reduce your school attendance below full time, change schools or you are paid by an employer to attend school.

Q. After two years of receiving SSI benefits, I was advised that my case is being reviewed to see if I'm still disabled. Why is this being done? I thought I would receive benefits as long as I didn't work.

A. The Social Security Administration is obligated to protect and maintain the integrity of SSA's Trust Fund by initiating continuing disability investigations. This is a process by which another medical determination is made to see if you are still medically prevented from engaging in any substantial gainful employment. Your benefits are terminated at any point you are no longer disabled to work.

A recently published study of GI Bill usage over a twelve-year period indicates that more Vietnam-era veterans in Texas and elsewhere used their education entitlements than has been previously reported, according to the Waco VA Regional Office Director.

The study shows the percentage of veterans trained has increased over time from 60 percent among peacetime post-Korean conflict veterans to 72 percent among veterans who served during the Vietnam-era only.

The study also debunks the "Vietnam walkaway phenomenon" -- that veterans who began training after release from active duty discontinued their training a short time later. The study indicates that more peacetime veterans left training than did Vietnam-era veterans.

Further, it reveals, three-quarters of the veterans who trained after discharged used some form of VA educational assistance, and an average of 60 percent completed training or reached an intermediate goal.

The Congressionally mandated study, "The Utilization of Education Entitlements by Veterans of the Post-Korean Conflict and Vietnam Era", was prepared by Research Applications, Inc., of Rockville, Maryland.

The independent study used records from more than eight million veterans from June 1966, through September 1978, to determine the extent to which eligible veterans used their GI Bill entitlements and how many veterans had successfully completed their programs of education or attained their educational or vocational objectives. Also, more than 11,000 personal interviews from VA's 1979 National Survey of Veterans were used.

Other highlights from the 399-page study:

--California had the highest number of veterans who trained, 916,000. That's 14 percent of the national total. Alaska had the lowest number, 0.2 percent of 9,927 veterans.

--More than 72 percent of all veterans interviewed stated they were satisfied with the information they had received about VA benefits before entering education programs. The main reason cited by vet-crans for using VA educational benefits was to get or qualify for a better job.

--Nearly 80 percent of the veterans interviewed stated they were satisfied with the amount of financial assistance received and 81 percent said they received their GI Bill checks in a timely fashion. Almost 90 percent said their checks were accurate.

--More than 70 percent judged the government to be effective in covering their education expenses.

Since the inception of the original World War II GI Bill in 1944, nearly 18 million men and women have used one of the three GI Bills at an expense of about $51 billion. The post-Korean GI Bill permits a veteran to use education benefits within 10 years following discharge from service, or by December 31, 1989, whichever is earlier.

A new program, which requires financial participation by service personnel, is available for those who entered the military after December 31, 1976.

VA - MAY I HELP YOU?

Q. I receive an annual clothing allowance from the Veterans Administration. Has it been increased?

A. Yes, On October 1,

1981, the annual clothing allowance was raised to $305.

Q. Is the maximum amount of assistance payable toward the purchase of an automobile or other eligible conveyance for an eligible disabled veteran still $3,800?

A. No, effective October 1, 1981, the maximum amount payable was raised to $4,400.

Q. I wish to obtain a loan on the cash value of my National Service Life Insurance. What is the current interest rate?

A. The current interest rate is 11 percent.

Q. Are children of deceased veterans eligible for GI home loans from the Veterans Administration?

A. No, children of deceased veterans are not eligible for a GI home loan.
