

Pre-trial hearing held on liquor vote contest

Alternative pleas may not suffice

District Judge Truett Smith, at a pre-trial hearing Friday morning, postponed a ruling on defense counsel's request that the plaintiffs' alternative pleas be stricken from the suit brought against the Garza County commissioners' court seeking to set aside Precinct 3's liquor election.

Judge Smith told the counsel for both sides that he wanted more time to read the cases cited by them in Friday morning's hearing.

The judge said, however, he thought the main question in the case was the constitutional question and that he doubted if the plaintiffs' alternative pleadings would be sufficient.

The constitutional question in the case filed here is the same as that brought in Castro County by the drys—that precincts or other subdivisions in a county that was dry in 1935 do not have the right under Texas liquor law to local option elections.

The plaintiffs' alternative pleadings—the ones Judge Smith said he did not think would be sufficient—allege illegal and fraudulent conduct of the April 9 election in Precinct 3.

Judge Smith said he believed it would be necessary for the plaintiffs to be more specific in their charges of illegal and fraudulent conduct of the election and to prove that a sufficient number of votes were involved to change the outcome of the election.

County Attorney Carleton P. Webb and Pat N. Walker are counsel for the defense, Walker having been employed as a special counsel by interested parties.

The Lubbock law firm of Bass and Hobbs is counsel for the plaintiff, and Kenneth Hobbs argued the case at Friday's hearing.

The counsel for the defendants contended that "there is no allegation that any person or persons not authorized to vote, voted in the election," and that "the names of any such persons are not alleged by the plaintiffs although the tally lists were open and available to them."

"You can't whistle in the dark and say we want the election set aside because we don't like the results," Webb said at Friday's hearing. He added, "There is not a charge of illegal vote or fraud in the plaintiffs' action."

Webb also said that all the irregularities the plaintiffs said happened at the election were within the province of the election judge to stop.

In his argument, Walker said, "This is simply a case in which the plaintiffs are dissatisfied with the outcome."

"They held an election in another precinct the same day," Walker went on. "They liked the results there . . . they are not contesting it."

"They don't come in here saying there were twelve illegal votes out there," Walker continued, "but they come in here saying there were three irregularities."

The attorney for the plaintiffs said, "due to the irregularities listed in our petition, we feel that the election was not fairly held."

"These irregularities were such that they materially affected the outcome of the election," he added.

"The election was held under conditions very unusual, to say the least," Hobbs continued. He called attention to the three irregularities listed in the plaintiffs' suit—the county judge and county attorney going out and instructing the election judge not to demand poll tax receipts of voters; to sample ballots, and to the help given by one woman to other voters.

In his summary at the conclusion of the hearing, Judge Smith said he would follow the ruling of the appellate court on the constitutional question—the one brought up in the Castro County case.

ARCHITECT'S SKETCH OF CITY HALL REMODELING

The architect's sketch gives an idea of what the front of the city hall will look like after the $22,690 remodeling program is completed. The old filling station just west of the city hall has been acquired and will house the water department and tax office. It will include a drive-in window for convenient payment of water bills, as shown at extreme right.

Cotton is up, but more rain needed to hold it

The June rainfall total hit 1.10 inches here with light rains over the weekend, but more moisture is needed to hold stands of cotton in Garza County.

County Agent Lewis C. Herron said yesterday there had been enough moisture throughout the county to get cotton up, but that additional moisture is needed to hold it.

Some replanting of cotton is under way in areas north and east of Post where heavy rains Tuesday night of last week did some washing out of newly planted cotton.

The estimates included in the bid include $5,000 for paving the streets in the immediate vicinity of the building at a cost of $2.77 per running foot.

Building permits each $514,475

Construction picked up this week in Post with five building permits issued at City Hall for a total of $2,500, putting the 1960 permit total past the half-million mark. Total construction permitted at $514,475.

Permits for two new residences issued. One went to Thurman Jones for a three-bedroom brick house at 122 North Third. It will have asbestos pipe and a concrete foundation. Estimated cost is $10,000.

Man booked here after accident

Crabb, the driver of the car, caught a ride into Crosbyton where he reported the accident. He was not at the scene of the accident when local officers arrived. Deputy Sheriff Red Floyd said.

White river district directors will hold their monthly session at Ralls tonight. There probably won't be a whole lot to do—as the district is now waiting on the federal agency at Fort Worth to come up with final approval on proposed water rates for the four cities. The White River project has been bogged down for the last couple of months while fiscal agents for the district got together information asked by the regional office of the federal agency on water statistics for the four towns. That information has been secured and recently was submitted to the federal agency by the fiscal agents. The question now is—how long a time will be required for the federal agency to take action.

The next steps in the White River dam project will be for the agency to approve proposed city water rates figured on the purchase of White River water. Once the rates are approved bond elections will be called in the four member towns and the proposition voted on for the last time. The elections must carry in each town. That will be the final qualifying step—as the district understands it—needed to secure $4,000,000 in federal and state loans. With money in hand, the district will then launch into the proposition of site purchase and pipe line right of way procurement. Engineering plans are almost complete. As you can see a lot needs to be done before the first spadeful of earth can be turned at the damsite.

But slowly and surely progress is being made. We know a lot of Post citizens have grown discouraged by the apparent time-consuming delays in securing the loans for the project. Predictions as to when the work will start have had to be constantly revised to later and later dates. But the reader shouldn't lose sight of the all-important fact that slowly but surely progress is being made and the big jigsaw puzzle which is any water project is ever so slowly being put together.

The White River directors are a group of patient, dedicated men—the best for the job, we're convinced, one could find anywhere. If it has been painfully slow to the public, it has been much more painfully slow to them who have given hundreds of hours of their valuable time and no little expense money to the task of bringing the White River Water. Results less worthy than intent

In recent days, dozens of new stop signs have been put up at various residential street intersections in Post.

They are designed, we understand, to create through streets or trafficways to channel the heaviest residential traffic unimpeded down certain streets.

For example a through street has been created to the Garza Memorial Hospital to permit speeding ambulances to swing into the hospital at fast speed without the danger of intersection collisions.

But we doubt if the results are nearly as worthy as the intent.

There is little normal traffic along the through streets. Consequently the stops for crossing traffic become a constant irritation. The driver is prone to half-stop and then slide on. The driver using the through streets figures everybody is going to stop for him so he drives faster than usual and without consideration to cars approaching from the avenue intersections because he has the right of way.

Establishing the fact of legal right of way is no good accident preventative—as the state highway department will readily tell you. Many accidents are caused by vehicles "running stop signs" out onto highways with the driver on the highway not exercising caution because of the stop sign he knows should stop the sideroad driver.

Stop signs also are the cause of a good number of behind-bopping collisions by cars behind hitting a car ahead stopping suddenly at a stop sign the driver of the car behind doesn't know or see. And today these are mighty expensive if the grille is damaged.

The rule of thumb on stop signs and traffic signals for the highway department is that nothing is done to slow or stop traffic unless absolutely necessary from a safety standpoint because each such traffic signal is a potential crash site in itself.

We don't think Post today needs dozens of new stop signs, because the traffic doesn't justify it, and instead of adding to the safety of local streets they increase the hazard.—JC.

Such reunions are ties to past

Congratulations to our Fluvanna neighbors on the success of their two-day homecoming held Friday and Saturday.

These Fluvanna homecomings are held every five years, with class reunions as one of the highlights.

Among the more than 1,000 persons who attended the reunion barbecue dinner Saturday were many people from Justiceburg, Post and other Garza County points.

The Fluvanna school, which is one of the central points in the reunions, was one of the first in Scurry County. It opened in 1891 at the Light community with one teacher, a handful of students and a school term of three months.

When the Roscoe, Snyder and Pacific Railroad moved to the Fluvanna community in 1908, the school was moved, too. On that occasion, residents of the community held a three-day picnic and town lots were sold for $150 to $5,000.

The depression followed a boom—there were 400 pupils in the school then—with many of the residents moving to urban areas seeking employment. There were 113 students enrolled in the school this past term, according to School Supt. L. M. Dawson.

Today, most of Fluvanna's buildings are vacant and most of the community's residents are ranchers. The oil industry, however, gives a brighter aspect to the future.

Reunions such as those held every five years at Fluvanna are enjoyable ties to the glorious past of this section of West Texas.—CD.

Little League Baseball Week

National Little League Baseball Week is being observed throughout America this week by proclamation of the President of the United States. Locally, no special events are being held in connection with the observance, since the Little Leaguers are busier than ever on account of having to catch up with some "weathered-out" games.

Even so, it's a good time to commend members of the Little League organization and all others who have given so freely of their time and their money for the advancement of Little League.

A. Lee Ward, LL president, said that on behalf of the league's executive committee he wishes to express sincere thanks to the many parents, sponsors, managers, coaches, umpires, announcers, scorekeepers, and to all the many groups required to have an active Little League program.

"In this, as in all organizations," Ward said, "we have a few real work horses who have really set an example for the others to follow. We have watched these men work from dawn until dusk so that our children may have the best fields and the best equipment possible. To these men, we offer a special word of thanks."

The league president continued with, "Never have we found greater devotion to our youth . . . men who laugh with their boys when they are winning and then teach them to smile when they have lost; men who point with pride to the many people in the stands, the umpires, concessions operators, scorekeepers and announcers and truthfully explain to the boys:

"See, all these people are here because of just one reason—YOU. Win or lose, they are very, very proud to be an active part in your life and their only pay is your smiles and the satisfaction brought about by your sincere desire to be a better player and a better sport."

"Enrich your life by serving Little League in some way, if by just being a cheerful rooster for your favorite team, always acting as you want your child to act. We may well be moulding the future America in our hands. May God give us the knowledge and ability to make a more perfect mold."—CD.

'See Texas First' series starts

It appears that the ball has finally started rolling on the "See Texas First" campaign, with voters having approved a constitutional amendment last November for the spending of state dollars to draw more tourists to Texas.

As one of those who had wondered when and how the campaign would get under way, we got our answer last week when the first in a series of columns entitled "See Texas First" reached our desk.

The new column, the first of which appeared in last week's issue of The Dispatch, is a highly readable one, and there is another one in this week's paper. The column hits here and there over the broad expanse of Texas in brief items about tourist attractions, including places of historical interest.

We think you'll find this weekly feature an enjoyable one. Reading about the state's tourist attractions is the next best thing to visiting them, and, in the long run, less exhausting and easier on the pocketbook.—CD.

Death of a free press

One thing dictators can't stand is a free press.

Cuba has provided the world with another tragic example of that truism.

One by one the newspapers which were in any way critical of the Castro government have been silenced. The latest to suffer this fate was the distinguished Prensa Libre. Because of an effort to publish an editorial in which it said that the Castro revolution was employing "the strategy of Goebbels and dialectic tactics of communism," it was taken over by its workers, who are members of a government-controlled union. Its directors took refuge in a foreign embassy.

William H. Cowles, president of the Inter-American Press Association, states: "The confiscation of Prensa Libre by the workers of that newspaper means that Fidel Castro has crushed or seized all Cuban newspapers opposed to his policies or critical of the increasing communist influence in his regime."

The last effective voice of protest has been stifled in Cuba.

What our contemporaries are saying

Regardless of what you've made up your mind you can't do . . . you're right about it.—James Roberts in The Andrews County News.

Early rising is for the birds. When the watchman for the bird fraternity sights the first strain of dawn, the signal is passed on rapidly until all his feathered friends are alerted. They sing, chirp and argue over the deplorable political conditions in the bird world, and usually denounce the high prices of food. They ignore the obvious alternative that would make it possible to take care of this business later in the day.—Douglas Meador in Matador Tribune.

Some believe history should be only an account of facts. They should examine the recent Herrington affair. Citizens have been bemused by a deluge of contradictory statements, opinions and legal documents. Few if any persons on the spot have a total grasp of the situation. How much less would a historian, working 75 years from now, be able to unscramble such a tangle.

History may not, as Napoleon remarked, be "lies agreed upon." But it does seem to consist of opinions disagreed on, argued over and never solved.—Pat Bennett in The Crosbyton Review.

A government agency sent out a request to all cities, asking information on what was being done to protect the communities against H-bomb attacks. An angry young mayor sat down and penned this reply:

"Re atomic protection request, not worried here. We have a chamber of commerce which has repelled everything new in the past 50 years."—Penn Jones Jr. in The Midlothian.

THURSDAY to THURSDAY

By CHARLES DIDWAY

A FELLOW CAN come up with a lot of ideas when he's driving over miles of highways trying to roll as many visits as he can into a one-week vacation. But one idea I never fail to come up with is that most filling stations are passing up a good bet to pull in more trade by not putting up big signs reading, "Welcome to Our Rest Rooms," and having arrows on the signs plainly pointing to the approximate location of the rest rooms. Believe me, it would be a trade puller.

My biggest trouble on long automobile trips is finding a filling station's rest room with a minimum of trouble. Being the sort of timid soul who hates to bother anyone, especially when I'm just making a rest stop, I hesitate to ask the filling station attendants to direct me to the rest room and usually just head out and start looking for it. It isn't always easy to find.

AT A WAYSIDE station near Fort Worth one day last week, the wife and I stopped to have her filled up and checked under the hood. The fact that we were buying something sparked me with confidence, so I asked the burly attendant to direct me to the rest room. Without raising his head from under the hood, he motioned with it in the general direction of Dallas. I circled the station three times and never did find the rest room. The first time, a big red dog growled at me, the second time he lunged, and the third time he tried to take a chunk out of my leg. I gave up. It was only when I went inside the station to buy a Coke with which to wash down a tranquilizer that I saw the men's rest room nestled snugly in a corner. I'll bet that station attendant thought I was a dumb one—not knowing when he motioned toward Dallas with his head that he was indicating to me that the men's rest room was on the inside, in the left-hand corner and just to the right of the cigarette machine.

DRIVING THROUGH McGregor, we saw this sign: "Highway traveling is hazardous, and how. If you lived in McGregor you'd be home now."

My friend up the street says those who complain about the way the ball bounces are often the ones who dropped it.

THE EDITOR of the Montello (Wisconsin) Tribune recently answered some questions he had received from readers of his weekly newspaper. Here are some of the questions and the editor's answers:

Q. Why don't you have funny papers?

A. We think we have the funniest paper in Wisconsin right now.

Q. Why don't you have an "Advice to the Lovelorn" column, like Abby Lane?

A. None of our readers have any such problems.

Q. Why do you have all those misprints?

A. They're the most entertaining part of the whole paper.

Q. Why didn't you publish the poem I sent you?

A. It was a lousy poem.

Q. Why do you always say "we" when referring to yourself in the paper?

A. We want our readers to think they're outnumbered.

Q. Why don't you put out a bigger paper, like the Milwaukee Journal?

A. We plan on it as soon as the population of Montello equals that of Milwaukee.

Q. What would you give me for writing a weekly column of moral homespun philosophy?

A. A poke in the eye with a sharp stick.

Q. Why don't you write an editorial and tell those guys on the city council what they can do to improve the town?

A. Why don't you go down to the next meeting and tell 'em yourself?

Q. Why don't you print more letters to the editor?

A. Why don't you write me one? And sign it with your name, please—don't be chicken.

Q. Why do you devote space to such trivialities as "Joe Smith is feeling poorly this week"?

A. Because good old Joe has many pals who are concerned over his health, even if you are not. Who knows, somebody might read this item and send Joe a bottle of sympathy.

Miss Charlene Alexander wed to Ronnie Dale Short May 28

Miss Charlene Alexander, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Alexander of Lovington, N. M., and granddaughter of Mrs. Ethel Redman of Post, became the bride of Ronnie Dale Short of Lovington May 28 in the Lovington First Baptist Church.

The Rev. J. Samuel Phillips, pastor, officiated for the afternoon service before an arch covered with huckleberry foliage and flanked with baskets of pink gladioli, white carnations and lemon leaves.

Mrs. Wilson Knapp played traditional wedding music and Miss Nancy Short, sister of the bridegroom sang "The Lord's Prayer" as the couple knelt on a white satin prie-dieu at the close of the ceremony.

The bride wore a street-length dress of white eyelet embroidery, designed with a scoop neckline, full sleeves and a full skirt. She wore a white hat and carried a cascade of white rosebuds, feathered pink carnations and white velvet leaves atop a white Bible. She also carried out the tradition of something old, new, borrowed and blue.

Mrs. Enoch Dawkins, sister of the bridegroom, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Dan Berry of Eunice, N. M., and Mrs. Ben Alexander, aunts of the bride.

Dean Alexander served as best man. Groomsman were Dal and Bobby Alexander. They are brothers of the bride. Enoch Dawkins and Jim Jolly were ushers.

The bride's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Alexander, 810 West Avenue J, were hosts for a reception. Decorations depicted a white and pink color arrangement, and was voted the most outstanding.

Following the reception, the couple left for Lubbock where he will be employed this summer and enter Texas Tech as a sophomore in the fall.

Mrs. Short is a 1960 graduate of Lovington High School where she was cheerleader for four years and in school activities during her senior year. She was also Demolay sweetheart.

Short, a 1959 graduate of LHS was active in school sports, captain of the football team and class favorite. He attended Texas Tech last year.

Girl Scouts end 2 years work with 4-day outing at ranch

By CHRIS CORNISH

After almost two years of hard work—consisting of cake bakes, car washes, slave days, rummage sales and collecting coat hangers—Girl Scout Troop 352, under the leadership of Mrs. Clint Herring, set off on their long awaited trip to the Shangri-la Guest Ranch located about 30 miles from Fort Worth.

The troop left Monday morning, May 30, at 8 o'clock from the Herring residence, taking two cars, and arrived at the dude ranch the same day in time for a quick look-see and a wonderful supper. The day the troop arrived the place was over-flowing with 53 seniors from Diamond Hill, a suburb of Fort Worth, on their trip. The seniors left that night however, so the girls had the whole ranch to themselves almost for the whole stay.

Pam McCrary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Giles McCrary, met the troop at the ranch after her father drove her down from Dallas where she had been going to school at Hockaday.

There were plenty of activities, including tennis, swimming, horseback riding, hiking, listening to records, dancing and playing pool. The girls of the troop happily engaged in all the activities. While there, they made several trips into Fort Worth to bowl, skate and go to the amusement park. The girls really had a blast doing that.

After a wonderful stay, the troop headed for home Thursday, June 2, and arrived around 6 p. m. The girls who went on the trip were Jan Herring, Glenda Hutto, Kay Murray, Melinda Newby, Marsha Smith, and Chris Cornish.

The girls all want to thank Mr. and Mrs. Herring for putting up with them and even if they don't show it, they said they really appreciated it.

So... if someone knocks on your door and asks if you have any coat hangers if you would like to buy a simply yummy cake, it's probably a member of the Girl Scout Troop 352 earning money for next year's trip.

The Hand that rocks the cradle...

... How true that a mother's influence can be so great... "The Hand that rocks the cradle rules the world." Perhaps the child pictured here will, in the future, not be rocking a doll, but a precious new life. The influence brought to bear on her life now may be passed on to many others. Take your children to Church and train them in the ways of the Lord.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

— In a period of deep depression about state finances, Texas has had to pinch itself to be in the good news.

Supreme Court ruled that Texas does indeed own its tidelands and does indeed own its tidelands—just as Texas has been claiming for 115 years.

It's a long-range victory, at best. But as a moral victory, it's the thing since the Battle of the Alamo.

— Voters who oppose the federal income tax and the United Nations will find a haven in the Constitution Party.

Like the Republicans and Democrats, the Constitution Party will hold a state convention June 14 to name delegates to a national convention.

— At a preliminary meeting in Austin, delegates were selected and instructed to work for a ticket headed by J. Edgar Hoover for president and Tom J. Anderson of Nashville, Tenn., for vice president.

Constitution Party also nominated candidates for all statewide offices except governor. Gubernatorial nominee was omitted, because if he should receive 200,000 or more votes in a general election, state law would require the party to go the expensive primary nominating route next election year.

— Deficit or no deficit, the State Hospital Board says the hospital system has increased money needs that must be reckoned with.

Board has voted to ask the Legislature for a $107,000,000 appropriation for the 1961-63 period. This would be $34,000,000 more than the present allocation.

Part of the extra funds, about $2,000,000 a year, would go to hire extra people so present staffers could change from the present 44-hour week to a 40-hour week.

— But the main problem, says the Board, is that the hospital system is getting more and more patients and needs more money to take care of them. In addition, it has the problem of caring for many oldsters who are not really mentally ill.

— Another state agency with a story of urgent need for more state support is the Texas Youth Council.

Youth Council has the responsibility for trying to stem the tide of rising juvenile delinquency and also to provide homes for children who have none of their own.

— For this task in 1961-63 the Council is asking for a $13,695,636 appropriation—up by $3,500,000 from the present.

Some of this would be used for new construction at the Gatesville Training School for Boys, Gainesville Training School for Girls, a state home for orphaned Negro children and for additions to the Waco and Corsicana State Homes for orphans.

— It also would enable the Council to set up a parole supervision staff to follow up on the rehabilitation of youngsters released from training schools.

— E. W. Killian has been named by the State Hospital Board to be superintendent of a new state school at Denton which will care for 1,050 mentally retarded patients. Killian has been superintendent of the Austin State School.

— Rep. Frank McGregor of Waco withdrew from the race for Speaker of the House with a prediction that Rep. Wade Spilman of McAllen would win. McGregor said his poll indicates Spilman has 67 pledges with good prospect to get the nine more needed to win.

— James N. Ludlum has left his post as first assistant attorney general to go into private law practice with Jake Jacobsen, former administrative assistant to Governor Daniel.

— Texas farm prices, by mid-May were down two per cent from a month ago and 16 per cent from a year ago. U. S. Dept. of Agriculture noted that livestock and livestock products had the biggest drop—7 per cent from a month ago and 11 per cent from a year ago.

— The First Father's Day was observed June 19, 1910.

Applications for cotton classing are due Aug. 1

Cotton farmers who have not already filed applications to receive free classing and market information for their 1960 crop have until Aug. 1 to apply for these services.

Applications should be filed with W. K. Palmer, 610 23rd St., Lubbock. Palmer is in charge of the Agricultural Marketing Service's area cotton office which includes 37 Panhandle counties and the New Mexico counties of Quay and Roosevelt.

Procedure for preparing and filing applications has been considerably shortened and simplified this season. "However, promptness in filing is necessary, as time is needed for each group to arrange for submitting samples to the classing office," Mr. Palmer said.

Applications and instructions for applying may be obtained from Palmer's office or from the county agricultural agent.

Under the free classing service, organized growers learn the grade and staple of each bale of cotton they produce. Through market news they learn what cotton is selling for. These two services put them in better bargaining position when they sell their cotton.

More than 13.7 million bales of cotton, about 95 per cent of the 1959 crop, were classed under the Smith-Doxey program last year.

Rep. Frank McGregor of Waco withdrew from the race for Speaker of the House with a prediction that Rep. Wade Spilman of McAllen would win. McGregor said his poll indicates Spilman has 67 pledges with good prospect to get the nine more needed to win.

James N. Ludlum has left his post as first assistant attorney general to go into private law practice with Jake Jacobsen, former administrative assistant to Governor Daniel.

1300 MPH, piloted by SAC crews
New bombers to fly over Post

Supersonic jet bombers, soon to become a part of the Strategic Air Command's aerospace deterrent force, will begin flying over Post within the next few weeks.

The announcement by General Thomas S. Power, SAC Commander in Chief, said these missions will be flown in Convair B-58 Hustlers. The B-58 is designed to carry nuclear weapons at twice the speed of sound (Mach 2). No weapon will be carried on these flights.

Post is located in an area likely to be affected by B-58 supersonic practice bombardment runs on Joplin, Mo.; San Antonio, Tex.; and Little Rock, Ark. Routes for the supersonic bomb runs have been approved by the Federal Aviation Agency.

"Since the B-58 is the free world's latest bomber and will replace a part of SAC's B-47 Stratofortress, the training of SAC crews to fly in this supersonic aircraft is necessary," General Power said.

The B-58 supersonic training flights will be flown in a corridor from 300 to 350 miles long at altitudes ranging from 35,000 to 50,000 feet. Other B-58 low-level flights will be flown at subsonic speeds.

General Power said, "It is possible that the B-58 supersonic flights may cause sonic booms," but added, "there is no need for alarm."

The General said, "The sonic booms — man-made thunder-claps caused by shock waves from planes that crack the sound barrier—are going to be heard more and more."

Even in special tests where airplanes have dived from 35,000 feet and pulled out at 25,000 feet, scientists have measured pressure no greater than 5 pounds per square foot on the ground.

General Power emphasized that a sonic boom of this significance is far too weak to cause structural damage and pointed out that the B-58 bomb runs will normally be conducted in level flight.

WASHINGTON — The Army has issued a draft call for 7,000 men in August.

The previously announced quotas for June and July were 5,500 and 6,000, respectively.

The new call brings to 2,539,930 the total drafted or earmarked for instruction since the resumption of Selective Service in September 1950.

Quimby is chairman of the Community Services Committee of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, which sponsors the annual Short Course, and president of the Chamber of Commerce Managers Association of West Texas.

In charge of planning the program for the Short Course is Charlie Young, executive vice president of the Plainview Chamber of Commerce. Jack Lacy, executive vice president of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce, heads the planning group for the CCMA-WT convention.

CHEVROLET

OUT WHERE THE COUNTRY CAN TEAR A TRUCK TO PIECES—

Chevy middleweights get 1/3 more work done in a day!

Where they used to deliver 2,300 gallons of liquefied petroleum gas in other trucks, Petrolane Gas Service of Long Beach, California, can now deliver 3,500 gallons a day! That's 7 days a week usually, over back trails and up into high rock country with maximum GVW loads. And with Chevy's Torsion-Spring Ride paving every foot of the way! "You don't get any more jolting on washboard roads than you do in a passenger car, or any sideway on curves," says driver Bernie Stone. "I used to take some rough roads at from 5 to 8 miles an hour. Now I can go 30 over them." Petrolane has over 200 Chevrolets hauling for them.

If you think we're excited about Chevy's independent front suspension, you ought to talk to the truck owners who are profiting by it. They'll tell you Chevy's torsion-spring design is the hottest thing to hit the industry since trucks began. Drive one—that's the proof, short and sweet.

Vacation Bible school at Close City is successful; closes Sunday night

By MRS. WILL TEAFF

A successful six-day Vacation Bible School closed at the Friendship Baptist Church Saturday, with the closing program held Sunday night.

Visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Marshal Tipton and daughters Monday were Mrs. Wren Cross and grandson, Terry Cross of Grassburg.

Diana Foster of Snyder spent two weeks in the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Rosenbaum and Imogene, recently.

Dennis Earl Popham left Lubbock for Amarillo Monday to be inducted into the Air Force. Dennis is the grandson of the Will Teaffs and has made his home with them since the death of his mother when he was four years old.

Postings--

District from dream to reality.

The need grows more critical with each passing month—not just in Post but in the three other member towns.

Tom Bouchier, Dr. A. C. Surman, and Rube Jennings, Post's three White River directors from the very beginning, deserve the real appreciation of the community.

Readers must remember that thousands of dollars worth of legal and financial expense, and many other thousands of dollars worth of engineering work already have been done on the project—on an "on the cuff" basis, pending securing of the federal and state loans. It is a big project, drawing close to home now. The delays are aggravating but not unexpected. The White River dam is going to be built—probably in 1961—if the citizens in the four towns approve the project for the last time when it comes up for that final vote.

Postmaster Harold Voss came home last Thursday from the Texas convulse of the National Association of Postmasters at Fort Worth telling all that the Postex Mills really put Post on the Texas map—at least as far as Texas postmasters were concerned. Harold was on the door prize committee of the convention and took along some of those fine Postex sheets and pillow cases as door prizes. He reported the postmasters were really eager to win these Post products and Post got a whole lot of publicity out of the gifts. Harold's family attended the convulse with him. They went down to Fort Worth Sunday, returning home on Thursday.

Mason's Furniture Company celebrates the firm's birthday each year with a big birthday sale. This year it's the 45th—record of staying power and growth of which Marshall Mason and James Minor can well be proud. James' big page full of bargains for the birthday party, which starts today and extends through June 25, will be found on page 3 of today's Dispatch. Happy birthday to 'yah!

Over on page 3 you'll find Dural Wilson's announcement that he is opening the Doll House Pastry Shop with a drive-in window for customers at 315 North Broadway this weekend. He is moving his bakery equipment from across the street and changing the name from the Post Bakery. Dural has been in the unfortunate position of being caught "between building jobs". His old bakery quarters are being taken over by an expansion of Levi's Restaurant and the bakery front was remodeled while he was still in the building. Adding to all the moving complications, Dural became a father again during the last week which added to his responsibilities at home. Dural hopes to be in his new pastry shop Friday, but will make it Saturday if delayed on Friday. He'll have a formal opening later—after things settle down a bit.

Over on pages 12 and 13 you'll get a good example of pictorial advertising. J. Lee Bowen on page 13 uses a picture of his own remodeled home to let you folks know that he is Post's new Brickstone man. That's right. Lee "brickstoned" his home on West Main—and a mighty neat job too. On page 12, Editor Charlie Didway has another of his pictures in a Hudman Funeral Home announcement of their beautiful new 1960 ambulance.

Post's Precinct 3 is launching into Phase 2 of its legalized liquor operation—the development of the taverns, or lounges as most of them are known. Post has had two since the opening of the package stores. In today's Dispatch two more—Mac's Lounge, sporting a 106-year-old cherrywood bar from the Colorado gold camps of the last century, and the Cottage Lounge—announces their openings. What's more another pair have moved in Lubbock ready-built and old. He is a graduate of Southland High School.

Rev. and Mrs. R. E. Bratton visited in the Will Teaff home Tuesday evening.

Richard Bratton, grandson of Rev. and Mrs. Bratton returned to his home in Monahans last week, after spending some time here visiting.

Marsha Tipton attended the Vacation Bible School at the First Baptist Church in Post, and visited in the home of her grandparents, the T. H. Tiptons for two weeks.

115 average attendance second week of revival
The two-week revival at the Calvary Baptist Church ended Sunday night.

Rev. Jim Green of Bloomfield, N. M., was evangelist for the meeting, and Ivan Wasencraft of Olton was in charge of singing.

There were 13 additions to the church. Eight of these were by baptism and five by letter. Average attendance for the first week of services was 69, and a special "pack-the-pew" plan brought an average of 115 through the second week. Rev. Graydon Howell, pastor reported.

to location this week for openings soon.

Our latest "census" count in Precinct 3 shows 12 licensed liquor stores in operation, four taverns or lounges, two drive-ins serving beer as well as food, one restaurant serving beer with its meals, and four or five beer wholesalers warehousing here.

At least 30 new families by our best estimates have moved into Post as a result of the legalizing of liquor. The family heads all are employed in one of the new industry's outlets.

More and more we hear on Main Street, the merchants' comments that the coming of legal liquor to Post "wasn't so bad". They go on to say that many of the things they have feared would happen—haven't happened. Restaurants, filling stations, motels, groceries and other business lines have received increased volume. Legalized liquor has brought thousands of cars into Post in recent weeks. The traffic isn't as heavy as it was right after the opening—but it is a real volume. All in all, legalized liquor has made itself felt in the local economy.

Nobody can foresee the future. Slaton is going to vote in November on legalized liquor. At least that's the "straight dope" we received this week from the Slaton newspaper publisher during his Rotary "makeup" visit here. Whether it will be a city-wide vote, or some sort of precinct thing hasn't been decided. If it carries, it will drastically change the whole local picture as it will siphon off most of the current "Lubbock trade" from Precinct 3 stores here.

Have you noticed the trend in lures?

Remember when an artificial bait had to be big and brawny? Not today! Nowadays, the little ones are taking over... just like the little cars are doing.

And just take a look at the assortment of lures. There are thousands to choose from, in varied sizes and a multitude of colors.

Don't know whether the color is there to appeal to the women—as car manufacturers do—or for the catch'em-fish effect. Anyway you can buy your artificial bait today in coal black or all white, in polkadot—black dots on white or white dots on black—plus a mixture of other colors.

You can buy them in solids and various shades of yellow, green, gold, blue, chartreuse, orange, grey, tan, red, or what have you. And in chameleon too, if you like. I imagine.

Also, you can get them straight as a stick, or curved, or round, or flat—and in lots of in-between shapes—including cubes.

Peculiar part of it is, they all catch fish. Some do it better than others—natch. But we've never seen a lure yet that you couldn't catch a fish on—of some size or breed.

BEER CAN IN TUMMY
In fact, it's reported that one big bass on the highland lakes was found with an empty beer can in its tummy. (Evidently a goat-fish.)

Nothing seems to discourage the lure makers. Anglers too, for that matter, because they buy up the lures about as fast as man and machines can make them.

Anyway, our hat's off to the bait manufacturers. They have more competition than a big white bass after a large school of shad.

And these bait boys really are on their toes. Surely they must lie awake nights dreaming up new shapes, sizes and colors of lures. And I imagine when they can't sleep they count lures instead of sheep.

Don't know how many lure manufacturers there are in Texas, but I'm certain that Texas has its share.

One of Texas' oldest firms is the Bomber Bait Company of Gainesville. Another oldtimer is the Whopper Stopper of Sherman. Then there's the Old English Lure Company of Corpus Christi, and the Pico firm (Padre Island Company) of the same city.

Over in Houston is the Schumacker Company, one of the few that specializes in spoons.

NEWCOMER IN FIELD
Then there's the Hump Lure Company of El Campo. And the Hawk Lure Company of Austin. And a newcomer in the field, Schoolmaster Bait and Tackle of San Antonio.

Chances are Texas has a dozen more that we don't recall, or haven't seen or heard from. Anyway it's a thriving business that these bait boys operate, run by very able men, all keen fishermen as well as sharp idea men.

But what's ahead for them? There's a new craze now. The trend is toward artificial worms. It seems that these multi-colored, hook-imbedded, slimy looking wigglers are the ones that are landing the lunkers.

So, today you can get artificial worms odorless, or you can get 'em perfumed. They have them tasteless. They have them taste-ful. You can buy a must-flavored worm, eel or tadpole. Or you can buy 'em that look and smell like licorice.

And don't think for a minute that you have to slow-fish with all artificial worms, eels or tadpoles.

It's true that you should if you're after the lunkers, way down deep. But we can say from experience that five straight fast casts and quick retrieves into the same area brought up three keepers in black bass, with DeLong's new licorice-flavored "lad Poby", a very small, tantalizing, artificial lure.

We returned the bass to their habitat to "grow up"—but it proved one thing—black bass will go for that mimicking tadpole, and quickly, too.

SLOW AND EASY
On the other hand, we'll have to admit that the son, "Sandy", using a "Catch-Em-Quick" artificial worm, a white plastic job with black polkadots, pulled out a nice four-pounder by fishing in the same area, slow and easy.

We're convinced that artificial worms, eels or tadpoles will take fish. But, will all Texas lure manufacturers move into the artificial worm and eel business? I don't think so.

Why? First—because most of them don't want to. Second—they don't believe enough fishermen will master the technique of fishing with a plastic worm or eel. Third—there isn't as much thrill in catching a great big bass deep down as there is in watching one hit a surface lure. And—finally—it's a radical change-over from manufacturing the customary lures, to making

Rotarians told, shown convention

Rotarians at their Tuesday luncheon in City Hall received both a word picture and colored slides of the recent Rotary International convention at Miami Beach, Fla.

Ronnie Parker, president-elect of the Post Rotarians and club delegate to the convention, explained the theme of the convulse, "Building Bridges of Friendship", which drew 11,361 Rotarians from all over the world to Florida for the event.

Marvin Hudman then showed slides he had made at the convention which he attended on a Florida vacation trip with his wife.

Parker announced a meeting of Rotary directors and all past presidents to be held at 7:30 p. m. tonight in the community room of the First National Bank to plan the new club year which will begin July 1.

Youth conference talk heard by Post Lions

Ronnie Parker, minister of the Church of Christ, reported on the White House Conference on Youth and Children at Tuesday night's Lions Club meeting.

Parker attended the conference as an official Garza County delegate. At next Tuesday night's meeting, the Lions will have an out-of-town speaker, and will install officers at the next regular meeting, June 28.

COMMISSIONERS MEET

The Garza County commissioners' court transacted routine business Monday at the opening of their regular monthly meeting. Bills were approved and paid and the minutes of previous meetings read and approved.

Post cowboys in O'Donnell wins

R. E. Josey and Buck Craft, both of Post, were first place winners in O'Donnell's Golden Jubilee Rodeo, which closed Saturday night in a swirl of dust and rain.

In tie-down roping, Josey had the best two-calf total of the rodeo, 25.4 seconds, and won a belt buckle trophy in addition to cash.

Craft won first in ribbon roping with a time of 10.3 seconds, and had the best two-calf total, 21.6 seconds.

Jimmy Moore of Post placed first in the second go-round saddle bronc riding, and was second to Elson Rose of Lubbock for the most points on two rides.

It's the Law in Texas...

CONTINGENCIES

In this unpredictable life of ours, it is the law's business to take a long look into the future and say what would "happen if."

For in your contracts, leases, wills, insurance policies, escrows, and the like, you had better say what would "happen if" some of your best laid plans go awry. Such events the law calls "contingencies."

Who gets the "earnest money" you put down, if you cannot go through with buying that house? What if you want to pay up that loan and save interest? What happens if a partnership goes sour, or a partner gets sick or dies? What happens if the people you name in your will should die before you do, or, if you all perish in a common catastrophe like a car smashup?

The law is wise but it cannot do your thinking for you. It settles such questions—but not always to your liking. If you don't make a will, the law says who shall get your property. If you leave certain things out of a contract, the law assumes that you meant to put some certain things in. But how much better it would be in the first place to put them in the way you want them, by asking "what if?"

Take your will now. Your first desire, of course, is to take care of your wife and children—those nearest to you. But it won't hurt anything to put "contingent beneficiaries" in your will in case something happens to thwart your first intentions.

Review your will every year or so to see if it meets the new things that have come up, or arrange with your lawyer to write in "contingent beneficiaries"—those who will receive your property if your first beneficiaries should die before you do.

You may long ago have had your son provided for in your will, but what about those lovely grandchildren he and his wife have presented to you since you wrote the will? What would happen to them if things go wrong and your son

Soil Conservation awards program announced here

COLLEGE STATION — For the eighth time, a nationwide soil conservation awards program is being sponsored by the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company. All soil conservation districts in the nation are eligible to participate.

Jack Barton, soil and water conservation specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, said the program officially started on May 1, 1960, and would end on April 30, 1961. He emphasized that an early entry would be to the advantage of the conservation district because the sponsor, upon receipt of an entry, will provide material very valuable for recording the progress of the district.

Barton added that the program's purpose is to stimulate individual effort in soil conservation. The awards offered under the program are made on the basis of the administration of the soil conservation district; conservation education, planning and application; organization and activities of committees to assist district governing body and general district program and progress.

Plaques will be awarded to the winning districts, certificates will go to the supervisors of the winning districts and an all-expense trip to Goodyear Farms at Litchfield Park, Ariz., for a supervisor from the top winning district in each state.

should die before you?

Or take your widowed sister and her children now. Suppose you and your immediate family should be wiped out: Would you want your property to go equally to her and to your well-beeled bachelor brother? Or would you prefer to leave your brother some token of your affection, and then really take care of your sister?

You may be impatient with the law's long memory. Such things never happen, you think, but the court records are full of plans which failed. And so the law has ways in which you can provide for "what happens if." One way is the device of contingent beneficiaries in your will and insurance policies.

This column, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

Vet's Forum

Q. I am the daughter of a veteran who died as a result of service-connected injuries and am eligible to take training under the War Orphans Education Act. However, I am not interested in going to college. What other kinds of courses can I take?

A. In addition to classroom work leading to a college degree, the War Orphans Education Act provides opportunity for training in a wide variety of schools below the college level — technical institutes, business schools, some vocational or trade schools, normal schools, institutions offering training in medical and related fields, and junior colleges.

Q. I'm a Korea veteran and currently unemployed. Does the VA administer the unemployment pay program?

A. No. Unemployment benefits are administered by the U. S. Department of Labor through State agencies. Job-finding help, consisting of counseling and placement services, is offered by the U. S. Employment Service.

Q. What are the deadlines for finishing vocational rehabilitation training? I am a disabled Korea veteran.

A. Disabled Korea veterans discharged before August 20, 1954, must furnish training by August 20, 1963. Those discharged after August 20, 1954, have 9 years from separation or until January 31, 1964, whichever comes earlier, to complete training. Hardship cases may be permitted an additional 4 years.

Q. Is a disabled veteran taking rehabilitation training allowed time off for days when he can't be in school or on the job?

A. Yes, that is permissible. However, trainees must report their classroom or other absences, using the special Certification of Training form for that purpose, and wherever possible, permission to be absent must be requested and approved.

CAUTION WITH CHEMICALS
The Federal laws regulating the use of chemicals in agriculture are the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act and the Federal Insecticide, Fungicide and Rodenticide Act, and their amendments.

These laws affect all agricultural products which enter interstate commerce and are the basis for state and local laws in this field.

An example of this is in the control of the horn flies. The horn fly pierces the skin of livestock to suck blood. The pain and annoyance caused by these bites interferes with the animals feeding and resting, resulting in a loss of weight, decreases milk yield and indigestion.

Recommended for control of the horn fly: add to 100 gallons of water 3 1/3 quarts of toxaphene 60 per cent emulsifiable concentrate, or 8 quarts of 25 per cent methoxychlor, or 16 pounds of 25 per cent Korlan wettable powder, or 16 pounds of 25 per cent wettable powder Co-Ral. The above insecticides should not be used on lactating dairy cattle and Korlan and Co-Ral should not be used on dairy cattle under any circumstances.

Cattle should not be slaughtered for at least 28 days after application of toxaphene; 45 days for Co-Ral, and 56 days for Korlan. DDT should not be applied to either beef or dairy cattle.

LEW BULLION

WTPA scholarship has been awarded to Lubbock youth

Lew Bullion, 18, who has just graduated from Tom S. Lubbock High School in Lubbock, is the 1960 winner of the West Texas Press Association annual journalism scholarship.

Announcement of the scholarship award was made by the WTPA Scholarship committee headed by Joe Pickle, Big Spring.

Pickle had praise for Lew's application, but added that several others were of unusually high quality.

Yvonne Bredemeyer, 1509 Runnels, Sweetwater was named first alternate.

Currently Annelle Holman, who is attending McMurry College, Abilene, is the only other WTPA scholarship holder. Mrs. Mary Alice Cretzinger, another WTPA scholarship student, graduated from Texas Tech this spring and is due to edit the ex-student's magazine there next year.

Lew is the son of Mrs. Varee Bullion, 2405 Avenue N., Lubbock. He plans to enter Texas Tech in the autumn to major in journalism. In high school he has ranked in the upper fifth of his class and on the Iowa education development tests in his junior year he rated in the upper three per cent nationwide. He was an all-district mention in football and was a member of the track team. He held other school honors and was the only student to serve on the staff of both the newspaper, Western World, for which he was sports editor, and the school yearbook.

Writing books, magazine articles—and this column.

Many years ago, there was a genial businessman in Memphis, by the name of O. K. Houck. At a service club, he was introducing the speaker of the day, a prominent minister, and he said, "I go to hear Dr. Williamson preach once a year and that is often enough." He paused and the expressions on the faces of his hearers indicated embarrassment at his remark. Then he continued, "Yes, once a year is often enough; you get so much religion that it lasts you for a full 12 months."

Songs aren't as sad as in "the good old days." Some of the favorites in my boyhood were "Just Tell Them That You Saw Me," (the lament of a girl who had run away with a villain and has encountered someone from her home town.) Similar in theme was "You Made Me What I Am Today (I Hope You're Satisfied)". Then there was "Don't Turn My Picture to the Wall."

Can you remember when they used to print picket dictionaries which sold for a quarter? Those handy little books were full of information, too, such as: "Suppress—See repress." "Repress—See suppress." Well, anyhow, they showed you how to spell a word.

Kelly and Curtis among inductees

Oscar G. Kelly of Post was one of seven men forwarded for induction Tuesday by Texas Local Board No. 88, Selective Service System.

The seven men went by chartered bus to the Amarillo examining station. If they are found acceptable, they will be assigned to a basic training center.

In the group besides Kelly were Sonny Curtis, James L. White and Ramon R. Ramirez, all of Slaton, Freddy R. Johnson of Crosbyton, Emelio Fernandez of Lorenzo, and M. T. King of Lubbock.

Sonny Curtis, whose hometown is Meadow, sings with the "Crickets" of Lubbock, and has made a number of solo recordings, including some of his own songs. The "Crickets" have appeared on the Ed Sullivan Show, and recently toured England, the continent of Europe and Australia.

Speech therapy decision made

Trustees of Post Independent School District voted Monday night to employ a speech therapy teacher if the school qualifies for one from the state.
Mrs. Loree Thaxton of Post will be employed for the teaching position if she is available the trustees decided.
Supt. Smith told the board that a speech therapist from Lubbock screened pupils here through junior high school age and that he believes the school has enough children in need of speech therapy to qualify for a department here. Sixty pupils in need of speech therapy are required for a school to qualify, the superintendent said.
A speech therapy department would cost the school district only $500, with the state paying the teacher's base salary, Smith said.

Bible Thoughts

Our gospel meeting at the Post Church of Christ is only 4 1/2 weeks away. The dates are July 11-17. This year's meeting will be held by Jimmy Wood of Odessa, Texas. Our Bible Thoughts for the week were written by him.

"The Sheep and the Shepherd"

"I am the good shepherd, and the good shepherd giveth his life for the sheep." (John 10:11).

The most beautiful and meaningful picture of the Christ—Christian relationship that we have in all the Bible is found in this passage. Just as sheep are the most dependent of all domesticated creatures, man is the most dependent of all God's creatures, and he must have the constant help and protection of the good shepherd if he is to be saved.

When we become Christians we enter Christ, "the door that leadeth into the fold." As we live the Christian life we must have the protection of the church, "the one fold" to survive. As we grow in the faith we must be fed by him, "who leads us into green pastures and beside still waters," and when we die it is his hand we seek to hold "through the valley of the shadow of death." Through all this we can remember that Jesus gave himself for all the world and he desires that all have the protection of his fold.

'Home From the Hill' to show four days at Tower, beginning Sunday

"Home From the Hill", a powerful drama of a divided family, of a youthful love affair and of emotional conflict involved in the status of an illegitimate son, shows Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at the Tower Theatre. The Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture, in CinemaScope and color, is based on the best-seller and Book-of-the-Month Club selection by William Humphrey. Its cast is headed by Robert Mitchum and Eleanor Parker, with co-starring roles played by George Peppard, George Hamilton, Everett Sloane and former child actress Luanna Patten.

It tells the story of Capt. Wade Hunnicutt, his wife, Hannah, their son, Theron, and the backwoods boy, Rafe.

Leading landowner of a small Texas town, Hunnicutt's fame as a fearless hunter is exceeded only by his reputation as a chaser after women. Disillusioned soon after their marriage, Hannah has consented to remain in her husband's house only on condition that she be given sole charge of Theron's upbringing. But as the boy grows into manhood he comes to idolize his father, a devotee and respect further when the latter teaches him to shoot and encourages him to track down and kill a ferocious wild boar—one of the most thrilling sequences ever depicted on the screen.

It is when the love affair between Theron and Libby Halstead is broken up by the girl's father that Theron is given an acute realization of Hunnicutt's notoriety. Following a family quarrel, he learns for the first time that his close friend, Rafe, is his half-brother, unacknowledged by Hunnicutt—an acknowledgement that Rafe yearns to hear.

The story is brought to a crisis when Libby tells her family that she is going to have Theron's baby. It is a crisis marked by murder and retribution, in which each of the drama's leading characters follows his and her destined course.

WASHINGTON AND 'SMALL BUSINESS'

by C. WILSON HARDER

One thing that can be said about Earl Kintner, chairman of the Federal Trade Commission is that he is not a man to be diverted by major issues when there are minor issues to be concerned about.

Mr. Kintner is the one who made wide-spread headlines for himself on his intrepid and daring foray on disc jockeys. Of course, he was neglecting the real business of independent business by failing to stop predatory business tactics, which is also supposed to be his job, and which several Congressmen, including Sen. Hubert Humphrey have reminded him.

But now the FTC, which always claims it doesn't have enough money to stop predatory action in the market place has a new angle.

Somehow, according to the FTC's chief all picker, money has been found to implement the staff by twelve more people, of which ten are lawyers.

These twelve men, presumably all good, tried and true, will perhaps be known as the Library Commandos.

Because their job will be to continuously read the nation's newspapers and magazines to make checks of the advertising being run in these periodicals.

Now from the banks of the National Federation of Independent Business

Post publisher and wife leave for convention

Dispatch Publisher Jim Cornish and wife, Helen, left last night for Houston to attend the 51st annual convention of the Texas Press Association being held today, tomorrow and Saturday.

Topics ranging from world affairs to news coverage and column writing on the hometown newspaper will be spotlighted during the convention.

Cornish will be one of five publishers on an advertising panel to be conducted by Bill Pleuthner of the Batten, Barton, Durstine and Osborn advertising agency in New York.

Bringing the world to Texas' doorstep will be Vice President Richard Nixon, who will address the convention at a banquet on Saturday night, climaxing the three-day meeting.

GET-ACQUAINTED PARTY
Early arrivals at the convention will attend a Get-Acquainted Party on Thursday evening when they will have a chance to visit with movie stars Jayne Mansfield and Guy (Zorro) Williams.

Friday at noon TPAers go to the University of Houston for luncheon and a ceremony dedicating the university's new journalism building.

From there, a trip down the Houston Ship Channel by boat takes the publishers and their guests to San Jacinto Battleground where they will visit the museum and the Battleship Texas. Dinner that evening is to be at San Jacinto Inn, one of Texas' most famous seafood houses.

Awards in the Texas Newspaper Contests will be presented on Saturday morning following an early-bird breakfast. At the noon luncheon on Saturday, entertainment will be provided by Theatre Inc., presenting a "Sizzling Sixties Review" which will include excerpts from the Pulitzer Prize production, "Street Scene", and will star personalities from Houston stage, radio and television productions.

PRESIDENTS' BREAKFAST
Past presidents of the association will hold their annual breakfast on Saturday morning.

New officers and directors will be elected at the annual business session following Saturday morning's program. Committees also are to report at that time and the convention city for 1961 will be selected.

A special party for the ladies of the press has been scheduled for Saturday afternoon, when they will learn about cooking with wine. Al Moulin of the Wine Advisory Board in New Orleans will be the "instructor."

Saturday night's banquet, when Vice President Nixon speaks, will conclude the convention.

Program chairman for the meeting is Franz Zeiske, publisher of the Bellville Times.

ATTEND MEET IN ODESSA

The Charleston Convention
(An editorial)
We are in a measure disappointed in the result of the Charleston Convention. We have hoped for harmony and a nomination on which the party North and South could unite. We hoped that a platform recognizing the great principle that all rights of the several States not expressly delegated to the Federal Government should be enjoyed by the States in their individual capacity, and that under the Constitution each State has the same rights that any other can have. On such a platform and with such a nomination, our success would have been as certain in November as that November itself would come. The result has been that no definite action has been had and the members have separated to talk again with the people and to meet again after the other great party conventions shall have made their platforms and chosen their standard bearers.

Heenan, the real Victor!
Combatants for the World's Championship
We utterly condemn prize fighting as being unmoral, unchristian and tending to develop the brutality of our nature to an alarming degree. But the interest awakened in the public mind by the recent battle for the world's championship has been so great that we do not feel justified in withholding the full particulars of the contest. It will be seen that Heenan was the real victor. All accounts agree in this.
The number of rounds was 42, and after interference of the police after round 42, the Spirit of the Times (London newspaper) says: "Finding that Sayers could not or would not rise from his seat and his seconds refused to award him the victory that belonged to him, by throwing in the sponge, Heenan advanced upon him in the midst of his seconds and struck him where he sat... then he opened a free-for-all against everyone in that corner. His friends carried him back to his corner where he declared himself true champion of England and then left the ring."
The printers desire to acknowledge the kindness of Dick Dowling of the bank, in sending them a round of "kiss me quick and go", a new and fancy drink the flavor of which lingers on the palate like the memory of a dream of paradise and the hours.

Lubbock County leads in cotton

LUBBOCK — Lubbock County led the state in cotton production last year with 209,000 bales harvested, the Texas crop and livestock reporter service has announced.
Second ranking was Hidalgo County in the lower Rio Grande Valley with 198,000 bales.
Lamb County was third and Hale County ranked fourth.
The leader in producing American Egyptian cotton was El Paso County with three-fourths of the state's 27,400 bales.

Livestock production in Texas is gaining COLLEGE STATION — Texas' livestock production for 1959 showed a considerable increase over 1958, according to Lloyd Bergsma, extension livestock market specialist.

Livestock production in Texas set a new record in 1959. An increase in the average mohair price coupled with an increase in production of this new record, the specialist explained. During 1959, mohair accounted for 97 per cent of the U. S. mohair production.

Wool again outranked all other commodities in beef production. Although cash receipts and total value in 1959, Iowa exceeded Texas in gross income from cattle and hogs, Bergsma explained. Texas' larger gross is the result of the intensive cattle-feeding program in that state and in shipments of cattle and calves.

Wool and sheep and lamb production in Texas all showed an increase in 1959 over 1958.

Commenting on the market outlook for 1960, Bergsma said heavy market supplies of most classes of cattle have forced the market lower, thus making for a delicate market which reacts quickly to adverse weather or other unfavorable factors. Marketings of stocker and feeder cattle will continue heavy, and this could reduce expected heavy runs this fall. Lower priced feeders will fill the feedlots, the specialist added.

Reduced hog slaughter will result in a strong seasonal price advance, and efficient producers will be in a good position to take advantage of this increase.

Larger supplies of slaughter lambs will dampen the effect of a seasonal price advance. Increased competition from lower priced beef will influence the lamb price downward, the specialist concludes.

IN GOREE MONDAY
Mrs. L. H. Ingram and Mrs. Robert Cato were in Goree Monday where Mrs. Ingram attended a funeral and Mrs. Cato visited with relatives.

Not only is there more to see in Texas, but Texas also provides the best avenues to get there.

Texas has more private roads than any state in the Union. Today there are 1,591 miles of superb divided concrete highways.

The total will reach 2,700 by 1975.

Truly, there's more to see in Texas—and you can see it better.

Stone houses over 500 years old in Texas?

Yep, in our Texas panhandle.

None they don't build 'em like they used to any more.

These were built by the Pueblo Indians and were discovered in 1907. You can see them today just 18 miles southeast of Perryton.

A life-sized statue of Popeye, the seaman of newspaper cartoon fame, stands at Crystal City, south of Uvalde, in Southwest Texas.

Why is it there?

You guessed it. Crystal City is the spinach capital of the world.

Remember reading about the Texas Revolution and the final battle where General Sam Houston and his valiant Texas Army, thundering "Remember the Alamo", defeated the Mexican Army of Santa Anna?

Today this San Jacinto Battleground, just east of Houston, is a beautiful sight to behold.

On this "Battleground of Victory" there now stands the world's tallest stone monument. You can take an elevator up the 579-foot massive, air-conditioned, giant edifice and survey the entire battlefield.

A huge 35-foot, 220-ton "Star of Texas" rests atop the monument. It is as impressive as the majestic state it represents.

Scenic, quaint, metropolitan, recreational capital, year 'round weather—these words, true as they are, just don't describe San Antonio adequately.

This historic city has a little of everything.

It's the home of the Alamo and has many old and famous missions.

It's America's Venice, too. You can glide down the San Antonio River that meanders through the city. Your gondola or cycleboat will take you along the same river banks where a quiet Indian village once stood. You'll see beautiful and semi-tropical plants and flowers. You can stop off at a sidewalk cafe for an adventure in exotic foods, too.

Better plan a long stay in San Antonio. There's so much to see that you'll never want to leave.

Wilson.

Together with premiums posted for the Fair's Pan-American Livestock and Poultry shows, the horse show premiums bring the 1960 overall premium total for the State Fair Livestock Department to $120,770.

All horse show performances will be staged in the State Fair Livestock Coliseum.

Cuba's new mining laws discourage oil exploration for the present, Havana reports.

TODAY'S FLOW OF NEW PRODUCTS
—is at an all-time high. Processors of convenience foods spent over $100,000,000 in 1959 in research to develop more and better items. To produce and maintain sales of all types of grocery products, the food industry invested an estimated $154,300,000 in newspaper advertising last year.

Safe storage of chemicals vital to farm safety, Council advises

Safe storage of agricultural chemicals is vital to farm safety, is the word going out to Garza County farmers from the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council.

One recommendation the Council makes for safe storage of chemicals is to always use properly labeled containers. Chemicals may look like other compounds such as sugar or soft drinks. Without a label it is impossible to distinguish between a dangerous substance and one that is safe. Agricultural chemical labels not only explain how the material is to be used but also the safety precautions that should be observed.

The Council lists these Commandments of Chemical Storage:

Have an organized place for storage.

It is best to use or dispose of small amounts of left-over chemicals.

When chemicals of any kind are stored, be sure the label is kept intact.

Keep chemicals stored in a dry place away from fire or other sources of ignition.

Keep the chemical storage place locked to keep out children and others who are not responsible.

Store highly toxic chemicals, those having skull and crossbones on label, high enough to be out of reach of children should they get into storage area.

Never stack one chemical on top of another.

Check label for instructions so that chemicals that should not be stored together are separated.
