

Post receives federal approval for 28 units of public housing has been approved for 28 units of public housing by W. W. Collins, acting director of the regional office of the Public Housing Administration in Fort Worth.

Monthly rentals on the public housing units, some containing four bedrooms, would average an estimated $27.

The survey, conducted by five local women under PHA supervision, also reported 96 vacant sub-standard rental units in Post.

Next step in the unit planning will be for a government agent to come to Post and help the Authority make final selection of the sites and help complete purchase.

Maximum income limits for families eligible to live in the public housing units are $2,500 for one or two persons, families, $2,700 for three or four person families, and $3,000 for families with five or more persons.

AMA frames program on vital issue

Everyone is interested in the health and medical care problems of elderly people, and the matter has become a political issue of high importance. The rub comes in two ways. First, there is a lack of any general agreement or understanding as to just what the problem consists of, specifically speaking. Second, as a consequence of that, there is a lack of any general agreement as to what the proper solutions are.

One approach is found in the extremely controversial Forand Bill, which would give government-paid medical, hospital and nursing home benefits to all beneficiaries of the Social Security system. This bill has had and still has many adherents. But it also has aroused strong opposition, primarily on two grounds—that it would be enormously costly (about $2 billion a year to begin with and much more later) and that it would amount to an entering wedge into socialized medicine.

Very recently, the Administration offered a counter-measure. This, many believe, is a great improvement over Forand-type legislation, in that it is based on voluntary action by the elderly, with limited federal financial aid; would tie in with the private health insurance coverage, and would be less costly.

However, the American Medical Association, which has been making thorough studies of the medical care problems of the aged, finds that this program "is based on the false premise that almost all persons over 65 need health care and cannot afford it." That premise, the AMA's president, Dr. Louis M. Orr states, "is not a fact." Moreover, only 15 per cent of the more than 15 million people in this nation over 65 years of age are on old-age assistance. Of the remainder, an undetermined number need help in handling the financial burdens of illness. Neither the Forand bill nor the Administration bill, keyed as they are to the assistance rolls, would adequately meet the need.

The AMA, therefore, has proposed a positive program of its own. Here, in summary form, is what it says:

1. Medical care programs, including preventive medical care, for people now under old-age assistance programs should be improved.

2. The near-needy—that group of indeterminate size which can meet ordinary living costs but not health care costs—should be helped with a state-administered program of federal grants-in-aid to the states for the liberalization of existing old age assistance programs so that they can be given health care without having to meet the present rigid requirements for indigency.

3. Better nursing home facilities for the long-term care of the aged is the most urgent health care need of the time. The AMA supports federal programs for the provision of grants to help provide the facilities.

4. Voluntary health insurance and prepayment policies tailored to meet the needs of the aged for long-term nursing care must be developed as rapidly as possible. The insurers are now experimenting in this new area of coverage.

5. Home care—which the AMA describes as "psychologically, medically, and financially desirable"—should be expanded.

6. A basic change in attitude toward the aged persons is an urgent need. Most people over 65 are reasonably well and able to work. Compulsory retirement should be eliminated.

7. Many older persons are unaware of the need for continuing healthful nutrition and other practices that contribute to good health. Health education is needed, along with preventive medical measures instituted long before the age of 65.

8. One of the principal economic problems of the aged has been the constant erosion of the purchasing power of his pension dollar. Thus, any government program to help the aged must be anti-inflationary.

Dr. Orr sums up: "Sensible, economical health care programs for the aged that preserve freedom at the same time that they promote security must necessarily be limited to support for the needy aged and leave to voluntary, competitive, private enterprise, those activities needed to improve the health care of the rest."

THE AUTOBIOGRAPHIES of the ten top members of this year's Post High School graduating class will be found in the second section of this issue of The Dispatch. The autobiographies are even later this year than "The Caprock," the high school annual, but it isn't the students' fault. They had their autobiographies in plenty early for last week's issue. We just didn't have room for them until this week.

About the time the sketches on the lives of the ten honor students appear in print, the seniors and their sponsors will be nearing fabulous Panama City, Fla., the destination of this year's class trip. They're due back in Post Sunday morning.

"THE CAPROCK," the high yearbook—or annual, if you prefer—came in about the middle of last week, and many students started developing cases of writer's cramp right off. If you have a son or daughter in high school and can sneak a chance to read what some of their schoolmates write in their annuals, you can get in on some "inside dope" you might otherwise miss.

One thing "The Caprock" revealed, of which there had been no previous announcement, was the identity of this year's "Who's Who" couple in PHS. They were Bob Cato and Glenda Whittenberg—with full-page pictures.

THE HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT is making plans to change several thousand highway population signs as soon as the 1960 census figures become official. The Department also announces that new population signs may be applied for every two years in the time between now and the next federal census. So, towns like Post, which aren't satisfied with the census figures, can come up two years from now with a new estimate and get a new highway sign—which is probably what most of them will do.

One of the area newspapers reports that the mercury hit the 107-degree mark the other day. I don't believe it has been that hot yet this year, but I wouldn't bet on it.

A WHOLE LOT of activities were rolled into one big Cotton Week day celebration last Thursday, with the free barbecue and Postex Mills' open house. There were large crowds at both events, with more out-of-town people than usual attending. Things got off to a typically exciting start when someone saw the barbecue pit fire early Thursday morning and turned in a fire alarm.

The newest "rich Texan" joke is about the one who for his young son's birthday bought the kid a chemistry outfit—Du Pont.

RUSSIA'S ABILITY to send a man to the moon could be a step in the right direction toward world peace—if she sent the right man.

My friend up the street says any time you discover that neither your enemies nor your friends are saying unkind things about you, you have reason to be alarmed; you may be dead and not know it.

NOW THAT SCHOOL is out, the next big thing on the kids' schedule is the opening of the swimming pool at the City-County Park. Due to open about June 1, the pool should do a bang-up business. If the weather of the last few days is any indication of what's ahead.

We won't have the Bookmobile with us this summer, but the City Library, located in the high school building, will be open for three periods each week during the vacation months. Post people are urged to use and support the library.

THE SUMMIT MEETING in Paris reminded me of some of Joe Louis' fights when he was at the peak of his career... it was over almost before it started.

TB is everybody's problem

There's a rambling killer loose, and Garza County is no safer from his depredations than any other county. If we don't nail him quickly, we may never get him. The killer is the tuberculosis germ. We have the weapons—modern drugs. We must use them now or we may not have another chance.

Why the rush? Drugs that fight diseases when they're first used fail to work after a while because the germs develop defensive tactics. If that happens with the TB germ before the thousands of people with active disease are found and treated, we shall have lost our opportunity to wipe out this dread disease. Remember that TB is infectious. One person who has it can give it to many others, who in turn infect still more people.

The TB program is so crucial right now that the U. S. Public Health Service and the National Tuberculosis Association held a conference at Arden House in Harriman, N. Y., to find ways of dealing with it. They recommended an all-out country-wide community effort to find all people with active TB and treat them with modern drugs until they are no longer infectious. You may be called upon to help. Don't hesitate. TB is everybody's problem.

Little time now and then would help

There isn't any use directing this appeal at adults who "haven't anything to do," since all of us who are engaged in trying to make a living, either by working for a salary or by running a business, have about all we CAN do. But those of us with a few hours to spare one or two days a week could contribute materially to the success of the Little League and Babe Ruth baseball programs by offering whatever help we can give.

League officials, those half dozen or so fellows who give even more time than they can afford to the summer baseball program, tell us that it's surprising how even such little things can help as keeping scores one night, or handling the public address system, or working in the concession stand.

It's up to the adults to keep those things going, since the youngsters themselves are out there on the field playing.

Since there is usually someone at the evening games who can be pressed into service, the biggest need right now, at least as far as the Little League is concerned, is adult assistance in directing its farm system. These youngsters, some of whom will be playing on regular Little League teams before the season ends, play their games in the afternoon. As of now, they need adult volunteers to supervise the games and otherwise direct the program.—CD.

Our tribute to three teachers

The end of the school year is a fitting time to pay tribute to three school teachers who are retiring from the profession after an aggregate total of more than sixty years of helping educate our youngsters.

These teachers—Mrs. Maurine Lackey, Mrs. Lillie Kitchen and Miss Lois McWhirter—have devoted some of the best years of their life in the teaching profession, and their outstanding work as classroom teachers will live on and on as the youngsters they taught grow to manhood and womanhood and pass on to their own children many of the things they learned under these three teachers.

Mrs. Lackey, Mrs. Kitchen and Miss McWhirter were honored a few weeks ago at a reception given by three professional organizations of Post teachers, who recognized and appreciated the talents of the three fine women who were retiring from the profession. This little tribute will in no way measure up to the tokens of esteem already handed these three teachers, but it is sincere and from the heart. Teachers of the calibre of these three women we'd like to keep with us always... not only the students, but the entire community benefits from their efforts.—CD.

What our contemporaries are saying

W. H. Eanes, who has no objection to having other people know how he votes, says he feels there is very small chance for anyone to vote a secret ballot in Slaton unless the regular manner of voting here is improved upon.

According to Mr. Eanes, when more than two or three people are in the small spaces allotted in the City Hall for voting purposes, one must vote under such crowded conditions that most of those present would have to be almost blind to keep from getting some knowledge of one or more selections.

While Mr. Eanes is not quite sure how the ballots are handled after the voting is done, he feels that it would be fairly easy to trace them by number back to the person who did the voting. In most cases he does not believe there are many people interested enough in the outcome of most of the elections held here, to go to the trouble of peeping at the ballots but if any such shenanigan should be attempted it would not be very difficult.

Mr. Eanes calls attention to the fact that there has been considerable agitation in Post concerning a better method of voting to insure secrecy for those who desire it, and while he is not familiar with the voting habits in Post, he doubts that they could be any more careless than they are in Slaton.

While there is no way to prove that the man or woman who gets the most votes is the best man or woman for the position open for election the supposition is the voters will choose the one who will do the job and old John Q. Public is going to have to pay the bill he might as well take the responsibility and reap the benefits, if he is right, or pay the penalty if he is wrong. The voter at least has the right to make his choice without some blabber-mouth looking over his shoulder and breathing down his neck.—A. M. Jackson in the Slaton Slatonite.

Top graduates write life's highlights

The Post Dispatch Thursday, May 26, 1960 Page 3

November 12, 1950, was one of the most important days of my life. I became a Christian.

We reached Post in time for me to go to school in the old grade school building for two weeks. It sounds like a short time, but it was long enough for me to fall down the stairs, and get lost. I can remember how glad I was that the new building had no stairs to fall down, but I still got lost.

In 1952, tragedy, in the form of my little sister, struck my life. Actually I was very happy and proud, and I still am.

In the fifth grade I joined the (See GRADUATES, page 7)

Editor's Note: Again this year the Post is running the autobiographies of the honor graduates of the Post High School graduating class — a custom it has followed for the last 15 or more years.

SHARON JOBE
 November 7, 1941. The small West town of Post received the news that Japanese bombers had crashed over Pearl Harbor. On June 8, 1942, the newspapers were shouting word of the Allied dim hopes. It was on this day that one household was torn into a war-torn world. I was Sharon. My early childhood went with my mother in the care of my grandparents, as my parents were overseas. As most children do, mine pampered and would have given me the moon if they had thought I wanted it. I admit that I was spoiled. I even allowed to throw tantrums on the floor as long as I didn't scar my ration stamp. My early childhood days were so happy as I had every pet imaginable from turkeys to squirrels. I believe that I hated most were my two dogs as I guess most small dogs, but my grandfather kept them until I was seven. I believe my grandfather is the one I have idolized most of my life and the person after whom I like to pattern my life.

I was five. I realized the attention had turned toward my addition. Her name was Glenda. My grade school education was at Daggett Elementary in Fort Worth, Texas. When about to start the third grade we moved back to Post. It was the year Post moved into a new grade school, too. One December I called home and was told I had another new named Ginny. I began my high education in the new school, but at mid-term we moved into the new junior high school. In junior high something came into my life—Boys! I quickly that you not only were attractive but also had what a "cam" and "flip-flop" were, for about this time the boys noticed cars. We added another girl to our family; Julie made four girls. The big thing that year was the eighth grade graduation and getting to wear lipstick.

Now I was a teenager and a high school freshman. I was, like most freshmen in high school, interested in all these things: Cokes, records, cars, Elvis, make-up and the football banquet that I attended with the mumps. When I became a sophomore a tragedy came into my life, in fact, two. They were called Algebra II and biology. I escaped their clutches long enough to enjoy things like pep rallies, M. Y. F., Tab Hunter, pink nail polish and good books. When a student becomes a junior, he is expected to behave like an upperclassman should. No more can he get away with the foolish stunts that he pulled before this time. This year is one of the best years in school for juniors have so much to plan on and to do. Activities like the junior play, the all-important junior-senior banquet, and the senior trip.

Now I am a senior and about to graduate from high school. I am looking forward to the years to come with great anticipation and am looking back on the past 12 years with much sentiment. This has been a full, wonderful year that I will never forget. It has been a year filled with many "lasts". My last football game as part of the student body, the last basketball game of our district champions, the last lunch with the gang, the last day of school and that last night, graduation night, that our class of 1960 will be together as a body and sing, for the last time, our school song.

GLENDIA WHITTENBERG
 If I remember correctly, August 9, 1942, was quite a day. At this point, I believe it is necessary to say that many people have proven that often I do not remember correctly. Anyway, the day of which I am speaking was the day I was born. The event occurred at Hillsboro, Texas. Much to my regret I must say that my arrival was not the only event of importance that year because World War II was still very much in progress. For that reason my mother and I lived near Hillsboro for three years with my grandparents. After the war we moved to Mississippi because there were some school-teaching jobs open there. It was here that I learned that I didn't like to go to kindergarten because you had to take a nap every day and they isolated you when you had the chicken pox.

After about a year in Mississippi we moved back to a little town in Texas called Forsan, where we were to live for nine years. When two of those years had passed, I thought the greatest day in my life had finally come when I started school. It was probably because I thought everybody else in the world went to school. Well, I soon learned, among other things, that the summer months were really something to look forward to. I didn't really mind going to school as much as I had always heard we were supposed to, though.

I suppose my grade school years were similar to those of anybody else. I learned to like to read because we had a race in the first grade to see who could read more books. We never had a race in arithmetic, so I guess that's the reason I was never very fond of it. As time went on, I believe my greatest interest became sports. I didn't understand football very well, but basketball and volleyball could always hold my attention for any length of time.

It seemed that nothing began to happen until we moved to Post. Our eighth grade basketball team had a regular schedule and naturally I tried to participate. It also seemed that the eighth grade year was eventful, although I can't specify over one particularly extraordinary event.

In high school everything was quite different. It took quite a bit of adjusting, but luckily everyone was in the same situation. I guess most of the adjusting was in learning how to study because it seemed that we had quite a flair for extracurricular activities.

During the sophomore year the greatest events were getting the new black basketball uniforms, my first basketball sweater, and an FHA trip to San Antonio to the state convention. That was also the year that our one-act play won second in district. This was as good as first to us because no one but Floydada ever won first. Mine was the part of a grandma.

Being the junior play, the junior-senior banquet, and watching Kay Martin edit the annual while she called me her "assistant". That was the summer I thought I really took a big step when I got my first job.

Being a senior was quite different from anything I had ever experienced. I heartily recommend that no one miss it unless it is absolutely unavoidable. There have been so many nice things that I couldn't start to name them all.

At the present, the future is very blurred as I suppose it is for anyone. I do know that in the fall I will be enrolling in North Texas State College in Denton.

BOB CATO
 I began my humble life on the night of August 3, 1942, in the Slaton Mercy Hospital, Slaton, Texas. We continued to live in Slaton for two years while my father worked for the Santa Fe Railroad. However, soon after father joined the Navy and was sent to the Great Lakes Naval Training Center for basic training. Mother and I moved to Zion, Illinois, a suburb of Chicago, so we could be with him. After father finished basic training we moved to Klamath Falls, Ore., where he was stationed for two years.

After the war we moved to Post, Texas, where we have lived since. I started to school in 1948 in the old grade school but moved into the new grade school when I started the third grade. While in this new building, I made a wonderful discovery, that of girls! I graduated from junior high in 1956 and in September of that same year started my high school education.

My freshman year turned out to be one of the most mixed up of any I have ever experienced. About half of the time I didn't know what I was doing or where I was supposed to be. However, I somehow managed to struggle through the year and I believe that I have never spent three happier months than those summer months following my freshman year.

to Panama City, Fla. Next year I plan to enter Lubbock Christian College and begin preparing for a chemistry degree. After Lubbock Christian I plan to go to Texas Tech and get a BS in chemistry.

SANDRA MARTIN
 The summer of 1942, was a busy one for the Almon Martin family. They were staying in Lubbock. A few weeks before school started, the Martins moved to Snyder, Texas. There on August 24 Almon Jr. was born, only I came along. I fooled everyone by being a girl. Since I was supposed to be a boy, there was a shortage of names. My aunt stepped in to relieve the situation by saying that she had always wanted a namesake. So I was named Sandra May.

In 1944 we moved to Olney, Texas. Here, to my knowledge, I got my first spanking. The Presbyterian Church down the street was having a revival and I decided to go to church. Since I was only two or three years old, I wasn't allowed to cross the street by myself. I had trotted gaily across one street, and had started across another one, paying no attention to an oncoming car, when Daddy caught up with me. That was the first and last time I have ever been spanked for going to church.

In 1946 we moved to a little town in South Texas, called Sabinal. There I had one of the most terrifying experiences of my life. Just after we arrived at the parsonage I decided to go exploring. I discovered two interesting looking black lines across the street. Just as I was about to go investigate I heard an awful screech, and looked up to see a huge black monster with smoke coming out of its "hat", bearing down on me. I remember thinking this is the last of me, and then screaming as loud

FORREST FINANCE PLAN

REVOLVING CREDIT PLAN "RCP" FOR OPEN CHARGE ACCOUNTS

2. What may be bought on Forrest's Revolving Credit Plan?
 Any merchandise Forrest sells, providing that the price, plus the balance on the account, does not exceed the balance limit agreed on.
3. When may additional purchases be made?
 At any time . . . up to the agreed on total balance.
4. What size account is available?

If you pay each Month	$10	$15	$20	$25	$30	$35	$40	$50
You may carry a balance up to	$80	$120	$160	$200	$240	$280	$320	$400
5. May more than the scheduled amount be paid at one time?
 Certainly. This will increase the amount that may be added on.
6. Can the total limit ever be increased?
 Yes, with the approval of the Credit Manager.
7. What happens when the entire balance is paid off?
 The card stays in the file, waiting your next purchase. During this time there is no service charge or payments due.
8. Is there any charge for this service?
 Yes, there is a small charge added each month. It is 1% of the outstanding balance at the statement time. If the outstanding balance is $90.00, for example, the service charge would be 90c.
9. What is the purpose of the RCP Identification Card?
 The card will allow purchases without having to visit the Credit Department each time you wish to add something to your account.

Protection

We would not dream of sending our children out into rain or cold weather without covering them to protect them from the elements. With this same love we should help him... "put on the whole armour of God." Rains may come and go, but life has a challenge every day. Take your children to church, where they may receive strength for each week. "Seek the Lord and his strength, seek his face continually."

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Senior year was most eventful for honor graduates

 After I got in the high school I really felt big. At first I was just the little shrimp in the line. Then I became a member of the band, and finally right guide. I went from third to first clarinet, and changed to baritone saxophone my senior year.
 In the seventh grade we moved to a new junior high building. I graduated from Junior High in the fall I entered high school as a freshman. I joined the band, and I had a very enjoyable year except for my junior year when I wasn't in the band and sophomore year when I wasn't in the band.

at West Texas State. I plan to study art and someday use the art for myself and for others.

LINDA WILKS

January 10, 1944, a date that will go down in history. My history at least because on that date I made my first appearance into this cruel old world. I was really a perfect angel, for the first few seconds, then the trouble began. My favorite pastime, it seems, was crying, only at night, and holding my breath until I turned blue and my parents were in hysterics.
 Somehow I managed to survive until I reached the age of six and my parents could send me to school. The first two years I was lucky enough to make four grades. Unfortunately I haven't been that lucky again.

I attended school at Grassburr until the seventh grade. Then I came to Post. I graduated from the eighth grade in 1956 into long-awaited high school. Of course, it was exciting my freshman year. The seniors then always kept high school jumping and things were never dull. Nothing much happened my sophomore year. My junior year, however, was a blast. We did about everything to raise money for our trip and had lots of fun working on our play and banquet.

September, 1960, we became great big seniors. About all we've done this year is look forward to graduation and dream about our senior trip. Of course, our play was fun and a big success too. The juniors gave us a fabulous banquet and prom.

My senior year was saddened by the death of my grandfather, who has always and always will be a great influence on my life.
 My future plans are to attend South Plains College at Levelland.

GAY BRIGGS

I was born on October 11, 1941, in Post, Texas, to Mr. and Mrs. Ben F. Briggs. My brother, Wayne, was three years old when I arrived, therefore his comments on his new baby sister were few. I went to school here until I was in the fifth grade, then, we moved to Lamesa, Texas, which proved to be a very nice town. We returned to Post during my sophomore year of high school and I have finished out my high school education here. My future plans are to attend Merriman Business College in Lubbock.

PAT WHEATLEY

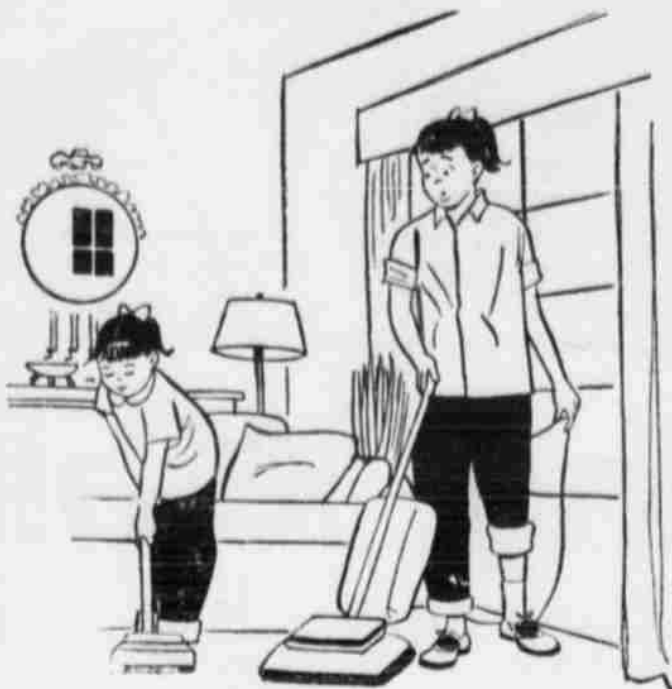

I have lived in Post all my life, since its beginning in November 18, 1941. My parents are Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Wheatley, alias "Henry and Posey." I have a sister, Barbara, and two brothers, Paul and Kent.

The blackest day of my life was the day I started to school. With the exception of first and second grades I have attended Post schools.

High school days have been lots of fun. As a freshman everything was new and exciting but in general year by year it got duller. This year was the most fun of the four. Senior year has been filled with fun, and activity. The highest honor I have received was being elected football queen. It was a wonderful, happy experience that every girl should experience. I have tried to participate in varied activities, and have found this to be very interesting and enjoyable. One loophole of the senior year was the fact that I did not play basketball. Although this was my fault, it was quite disappointing in this aspect.

My future plans are to attend college next fall. I have not decided where as of yet.

GREAT PLAINS PROGRAM IN GARZA COUNTY

By BOBBY J. GRAY
 Work Unit Conservationist

The Great Plains Conservation Program, which was started in Garza County in the early months of 1958, has provided farmers and ranchers with needed cost-share and technical help which has enabled them to apply needed conservation practices to their farms and ranches.

To date there are 23 active contracts in Garza County obligating $191,808.65 of government cost-share payments. These payments are carried out over a period of from three to 10 years.

Practices set up for cost-sharing in Garza County are: Restoring cropland back to native grasses; strip cropping; range seeding; establishing windbreaks; establishing waterways; constructing terraces; diversion terraces; spreader terraces; installing pipelines; land leveling; constructing wells for livestock water; installing pipelines for livestock water; brush control; and building fences as a means of dividing up large pastures to facilitate grazing.

TWO MOST POPULAR
 The two most popular practices in Garza County are terracing and brush control.
 The program pays 70 per cent of the cost of having terraces constructed.

The average cost of constructing a mile of terraces is about $180 per mile. This price will vary a little, however, as some fields need more dirt moved than others to fill up gullies before a good set of terraces can be run on a field. If the land is reasonably smooth, as some of the land on the Plains, the cost will run about $160 per mile and up to $190 to $200 a mile on some of the cropland below the caprock.

The average cost of spraying normally runs about $2.50 per acre, and the Great Plains Conservation Program pays 50 per cent of this cost.

WORKS WITH OTHERS
 This program is intended to be used in conjunction with other programs, such as ACP and Conservation Reserve, and does not replace any of them. A farmer or rancher may draw his $400 maximum limit through the ACP and still draw cost-share under the Great Plains Conservation Program.

The limit on the Great Plains Conservation Program is $2,500, times the number of years of the contract. A contract can run from three to 10 years, depending on the producer's wishes.
 Anyone interested in this program is urged to contact the Soil Conservation Service office in Post.

KAY MANEY
 was born on Sunday morning, October 16, 1941. My parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ira Kay for my mother O'Neal. I weighed 12 pounds and was seventeen inches long. At that time I had one brother and two sisters. I was born in the Maxey homeplace in Graham community, where I grew up. One of my brothers, who I love when I was born, who I remember from the catalog and after I was born would not come to see me.
 When I was four years old, our family moved to Central Point, Texas. I liked living there but I remember too much. One day I do remember was our visit to Lake National Park.

August of 1949, we moved to the Graham community. I graduated from the second grade. The year I was in the third grade I advanced through three, four and five. When I was in the sixth grade I was promoted to a baby brother. In the seventh and eighth grades, I was on the main string in basketball. I enjoyed playing and like to watch it played. Our singing class consisted of seven members and I graduated second in class.

I started in at Post High School as a freshman and I spent most of my senior year having a good time. I graduated in the year 1959.

My future plans are to attend Merriman Business College in Lubbock.

I have lived in Post all my life, since its beginning in November 18, 1941. My parents are Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Wheatley, alias "Henry and Posey." I have a sister, Barbara, and two brothers, Paul and Kent.

ers, and parents for encouraging and sacrificing to see that the youngsters get the best possible chance to make their mark in our new rocket age world.

In this connection you'll note in a separate front page story other good news that John Lott is offering a very valuable scholarship to a local student in nursing. John thereby is making an important contribution to the future of the community we know he will always consider his "hometown," although he and his wife, Ryla, have moved to Lubbock. John is not the publicity-conscious kind and he probably will be a bit miffed at us for all the fuss. But educational aid is very important and besides calling attention to those who step in to help the youngsters to give credit where credit is due, such publicity well could inspire others to help.

For those who want to help with any amount there is the community loan fund which has gone along for a number of years here without fanfare. A number of good local folks have put money into the fund and the Rotary Club has made it one of that civic club's projects as well. It provides two student loans for college purposes each year—starting at $800 for the first year and lesser amounts for future college years. The loans are repayable after graduation at $25 per month. There was no application for such loans by the class last year but three applicants already have asked for a loan this year and will be considered in the near future. Leo Acker is president of the organization this year. All members of the graduating class each year are notified of the availability of the loans.

Generally speaking, the start of legal liquor sales here has gone off smoothly. There has only been one or two isolated instances of alleged violations of the strict Texas liquor code and the guilt or innocence in these cases has yet to be determined or announced. The operators, state liquor board inspectors, local law enforcement officers, the city council and the county judge are to be congratulated for their cooperation and efforts in establishing this good record. While the drunk arrests have picked up some, this is due, according to Sheriff Carl Rains, principally to the attraction here of outside undesirable. Precinct 3 hasn't been flooded with taverns—a fear which concerned many of us—mainly because the liquor control board has exercised a tight rein on applicants with their investigations. All of the dropped license applications and rejections have come from the board investigations—not from any public complaint. As far as we can learn there have been few, if any, complaints from the public on any applications to date. A liquor control board source yesterday told us he knew of none whatsoever.

Mayor Powell Shyles recently received from the Lincoln school P-T-A a letter requesting that in the future the extreme northeast portion of the city's residential area no longer be referred to as "the flats." Powell told us in showing us the letter that he had no official way to name or unname "the flats." And that is very true. It has no official designation as such. The Lincoln School P-T-A letter pointed out that such a name was rather an opprobrious term (as Editor Didway would say). That means "abusive" or "infamous" according to Webster, so we guess Charlie is right as he usually is. Dr. Harry Tubbs, who is as good and helpful outside authority on words as Charlie is in our office, might come up with another term for it. But opprobrious will do—at least until we hear from Harry. Anyway, The Dispatch is delighted to hear that the Lincoln P-T-A has made the request and we'll go along with them on it—as far as this community newspaper is concerned. We'll no longer use the term "the flats" in The Dispatch.

Along the same line we expect to be hearing one of these days that the new business men along "Bourbon Street" would prefer another designation for that area too. We want to point out that the term generally was picked off the TV screen by local folks looking for a nickname for that area. If it's really offensive, we'll be glad to consider a change there too.

Post this week suffered a loss of several families with the reported moving of homebase for Burlington Industries' drivers from Post to Sherman, Tex. We've been unable to reach Bob Jenkins for confirmation of the move, or the cause, but we suspect it's a business move made with a more strategic location in mind for those making the regular truck runs to the West Coast. Anyway, we're sorry to lose these newcomers.

Cubs and Indians win here Tuesday

The Cubs defeated the White Sox, 17 to 7, and the Indians beat the Braves by nearly the same score—17-6—in Babe Ruth League games Tuesday night at Little League Park.

The four Babe Ruth teams, until their own park is ready, will play Tuesday and Friday nights on the Little League diamond.

The Cubs scored five runs in the third inning to break a 5-3 deadlock in their win over the White Sox.

A nine-run first inning started the Indians off with a rush in their victory over the Braves. Danny Pierce was the winning pitcher and Jackie Curb was the loser.

The wins left the Cubs and Indians with 2-0 records, while each of the other two teams have 0-2 marks.

John David Beverly graduates at Slaton

John David Beverly, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Beverly of Kilgore, is the only student from Post in the graduating class at Evans High School in Slaton.

John David maintained good grades throughout his high school career at Evans. He plans to enter Texas Southern University, Houston, this fall. His major field of interest at present is engineering.

like type of grooved material, aluminum and decorative tile. All upstairs windows on the west will be done away with and two of the upstairs front. The other windows on the upstairs front will be made into double aluminum windows.

The remodeled front will also include an attractive sign with "City Hall" lettered on it, Tate said.

The remodeling will include refrigerated air conditioning and central heating.

City officials point out that there is a need of more room for the fire department and that this also will be worked out in the overall remodeling plan. One reason that the council decided decided not to go ahead with remodeling of the entire upstairs was that they could not do this until something definite is worked out on the fire station, which occupies cramped quarters in the center of the present building.

Tuesday afternoon's rain, measuring only a trace, failed even to wet the top of Garza County's thirsty cropland.

Cubs, Indians take openers

The Ruth League activity got a good start here Saturday with two well-played games, one which there was a drawing of three prizes awarded openers.

In the first game, the Cubs defeated the Braves, 7 to 4, and in the second contest the Indians defeated the White Sox, 2 to 1, in a duel between David and the Indians and David and the Sox.

In a pre-game ceremony, Mayor Styles threw out the first pitch. County Judge J. E. Parker gave the invocation.

Clayton was winner of the first prize—a go-kart—in the second prize of a rod and the third prize of a coffee by Jimmy Hundley.

Sullivan's sharp single in the first and second scored Cornell to break up the Indians' 2-1 victory over the White Sox. Sullivan's game-winning hit came with two out in the sixth inning.

The White Sox threatened in the top of the seventh after Lee singled, stole second and went to third on an overthrow. Nichols fanned Teddy Scott and Gary Hays, and Manuel Mindieta, Indian leftfielder, made a sensational running catch of Ronnie Reed's hard looper to end the game.

Nichols held the White Sox to two hits and Lee gave up only three to the Indians. Nichols struck out 13 batters and Lee whiffed 11.

In the Cubs' opening game victory over the Braves, the winners scored one run in the first inning and added two in the third before the Braves dented the plate with two tallies in the top of the fourth.

J. C. Demming was the winning pitcher, but had to help from John Sepeda after loading the bases in the top of the sixth. Demming yielded only three hits, while Sepeda held the Braves hitless in the two frames he pitched. David Perez went all the way for the Braves to absorb the loss.

Tech's already 'going places' in Conference

LUBBOCK — Texas Tech's announced ambition four years ago—upon admittance to the Southwest Conference—of fielding representative teams was accomplished this year.

In only their third year of official competition, the Red Raiders managed to finish in the upper division of every sport engaged in.

As a result, Texas Tech would have placed fourth in an "all-around championship" race based upon participation in sports in which the Red Raiders had teams. Texas Tech did not compete in baseball or football but will launch title play in the latter sport this fall.

On an arbitrary 5-4-3-2-1 point system for first through fifth places, the Red Raiders would have scored 10½ points for fourth in track, tennis, and swimming, a fourth place tie in basketball, and a third in golf.

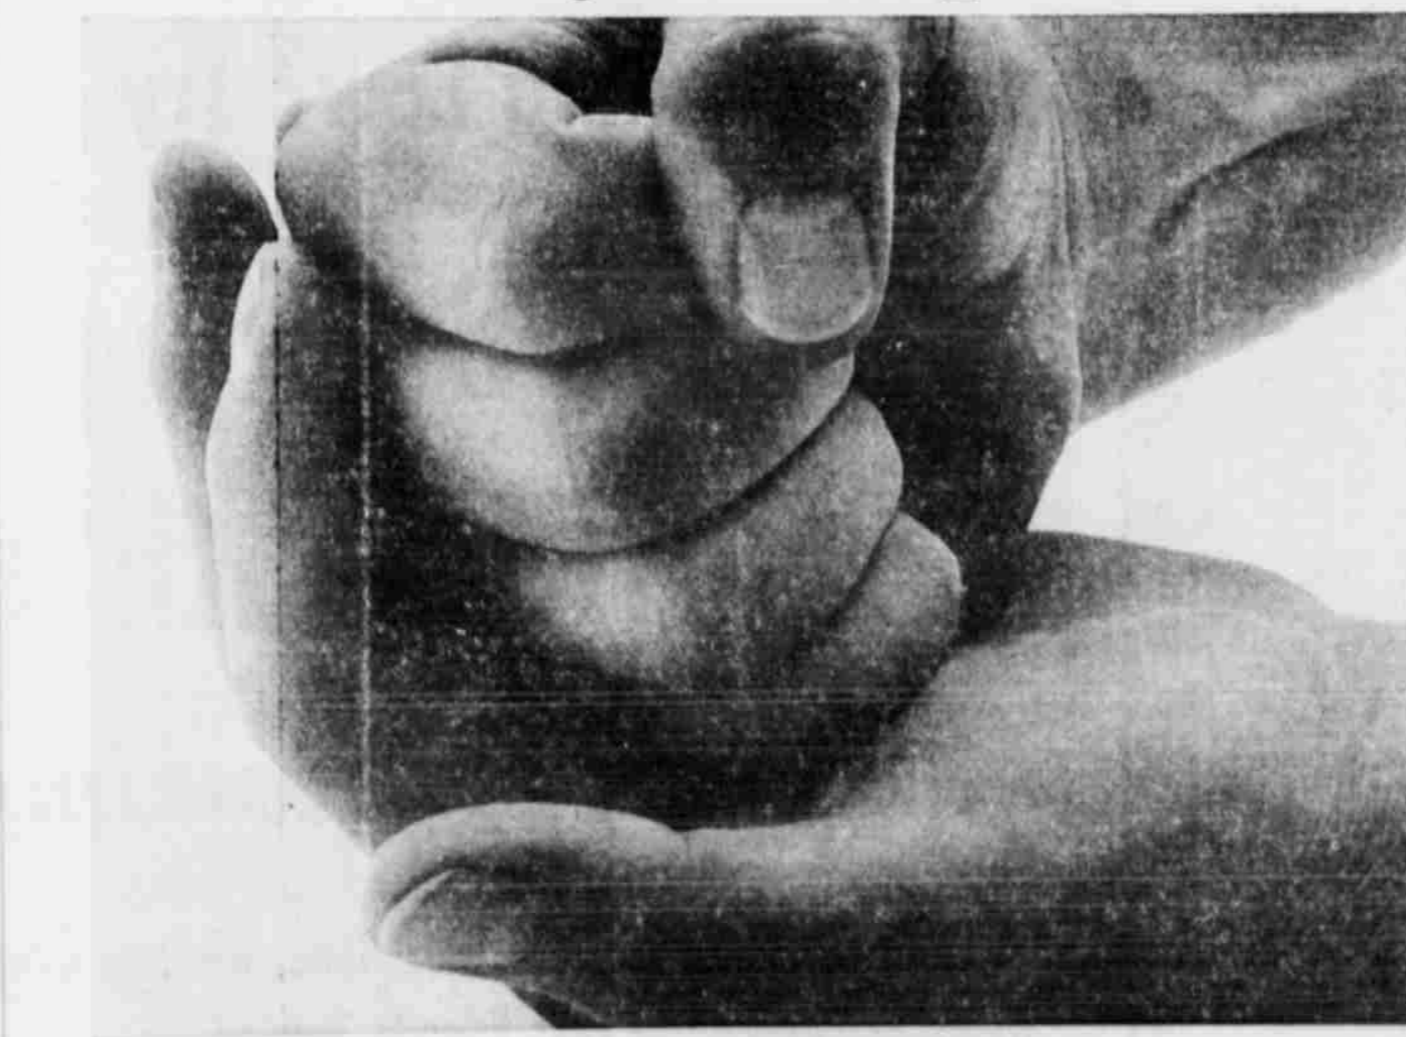

Southern Methodist, champion in both tennis and swimming, would rank first with 19 points, followed by Texas 17, Texas A&M 12, Texas Tech 10½, Baylor 6, Rice and Texas Christian 4 each, and Arkansas 1.

Tigers leading Little League

The league leading Tigers blasted the cellar dwelling Corvairs, 19 to 11, and the Red Sox nipped the Dodgers, 6 to 4, in Monday night's Little League games.

The Tigers came from behind with a 13-run fifth inning after trailing the Corvairs up to that point. The losers, still seeking their first win, scored seven runs in the top of the first, driving Johnson, the starting Tiger pitcher, from the mound. Moreau, who had relieved Tanner, was the losing hurler.

The Red Sox scored their six runs in the first four innings and then held off a Dodger rally to register their third win of the season against two defeats.

Cash was the starting and losing hurler for the Dodgers, while Nichols hurled three innings to receive credit for the victory.

In games last Thursday night, the Westerners edged the Red Sox, 8 to 7, and the Yankees slaughtered the Corvairs, 25 to 4, in a game that went only four innings.

Four runs in the first frame and three in the second got the West-

"Cash, acquired two months ago from Cleveland, was batting .342 as the Tigers completed the first four weeks of the season. He demonstrated a liking for the inviting right field seats in Detroit. In fact, he broke up one game with Kansas City by blasting the ball into the third deck.

"The following day, Dykes restored Steve Bilko to first base when the Athletics started their ace lefthander, Bud Daley. The Detroit crowd didn't like it. They cheered when Cash replaced Bilko in the second game of the double-header.

"For a while we'll use Bilko against lefthanded pitching," Dykes explained. "But Cash will be in there most of the time."

Water pact elections seen for mid-summer

White River Municipal Water Board directors had little to discuss Thursday night in their May meeting at Crosbyton's City Hall. Information from the FHA office at Fort Worth is that the agency is still awaiting information from the White River's fiscal agents before approving the water contract elections for the four towns.

Directors expressed the desire of holding the elections in July or August.

The water situation in the four towns is steadily becoming worse.

THREE TOWNS "SHORT"

Crosbyton reported it "almost ran out of water" Monday. Post "is anticipating water rationing soon and Spur's delegation left for home early to help 'fight a business distribut fire." Commented one Crosbyton director when the Spur delegation left early: "If we'd have had a fire like that here Monday we wouldn't have put it out with water."

A first draft of a brochure to explain the proposition to voters of the four towns in the water contract elections has been drawn by the publicity committee of the board.

Information from the FHHA agency is needed to complete the brochure.

Tom Bouchier, chairman of the White River water board, and Jim Cornish attended from Post.

ered most advantageous to the City of Post.

Bidders are expected to inspect the site of the work and to inform themselves regarding all local conditions under which the work is to be done.

Attention is called to the provisions of the acts of the 43rd Legislature of the State of Texas, page 91, Chapter 45, Art. 3159A Civil Statutes, 1923, concerning the wage scale and payment of prevailing rates of wages as established by the owner. The contractor must abide by the wage and hours laws of the State of Texas and must not pay less than the rate legally prescribed or as set forth herein, whichever is higher, which wage rates are on file in the City Office.

Copies of the plans and specifications may be secured from the office of the architects Contrell and Burns, 4565 Ave. Q, Lubbock, Texas, upon deposit of $25.00 per set of plans and specifications, which is refundable upon return of the plans and specifications in good condition to the architects.

'Slow Down, Live' campaign is set for traffic safety

AUSTIN — For the eighth Texas will be among those that will be actively engaged in the "Slow Down and Live" campaign. The Texas Safety Action will coordinate the program throughout the State.

As in prior years, the campaign starts with Memorial Day and ends with Labor Day. This year has been selected for the campaign because it is during these months that vacation travel reaches its peak.

J. O. Musick, TSA's General Manager, pointed out today that the "Highway Safety Driving Fun," emphasizes the fact for motorists to be safety-conscious whether they are using streets and highways for business or for a vacation.

"Most motorists, even though they have accidents, are good drivers," Musick said. "The danger is when we forget, even for a moment, to be safety-conscious and aware of the inherent dangers of driving."

"Thus, to make driving safe, highway safety begins with a safe driver," Musick said.

'Toby Tyler' is coming to Tower for four nights

As a circus showman, Walt Disney is right in there pitching with Ringling, Barnum and Bailey. Disney has staged the gayest show on earth for his old-timey technicolor circus drama, "Toby Tyler," showing Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at the Tower Theatre.

The whoopedoo of a marching band followed by 14 gilded wagons, a steam calliope, battalions of buffoons, wild animals and peerless performers from exotic places has turned Disney's back lot into a wonderland unmatched since the heyday of the Big Top.

Stars of Disney's story about a runaway boy who seeks his fortune with a traveling tent show of 50 years ago are Kevin Corcoran, Henry Calvin, Gene Sheldon, Bob Sweeney, Richard Eastham and a scene-stealing chimpanzee named Mr. Stubbs.

"Toby Tyler" or "10 Weeks With a Circus" is released by Buena Vista.

Bible Thoughts
"Bring Them Up"
 By RONNIE PARKER

 Paul says, "Ye fathers, provoke not your children to wrath; but bring them up in the nurture and admonition of the Lord." (Eph. 6:4) Cruel parents generally have bad children. Fathers are to correct their children out of affectionate concern. Then the mind of the child is to be nourished with wholesome discipline and instruction of the Lord—according to his will.
 A Christian father is said to have been at the side of his son who was dying. The father asked, "Are you afraid?" He answered, "No, I believe that Jesus is my Lord too, and that I will be at home with him." The father was moved of course, but then the faltering child laid his hand upon that of his father and asked, "Daddy, do you know what I will do first when I meet Jesus?" "No, son, I do not know." The dying boy smiled up into the face of his father and as his breath grew shorter and shorter, and said, "I will walk right up to Jesus and say, 'Master, I had the best daddy that ever lived.'"
 Fathers! Could your son or daughter say that of you? Are you following the Lord's instructions or do you find yourself too busy to train your children in the paths they should go?

If we made Gladiola Flour for Kissimmee, Fla...

we could get by with lower quality

...but we make it for YOU

We make just enough Gladiola Flour for our near neighbors—in Texas and a little bit beyond. These ladies are the best home bakers in the U.S.A.—and the sharpest judges of flour quality.

That works out fine for us. We know precisely what our customers want, and precisely how to make it. That's why snow-white Gladiola Flour outsells every other brand, every day, every year.

The women-folk in Kissimmee, Fla., just can't bake biscuits, cakes and pies like yours. They don't have Gladiola Flour. Only you and your neighbors can buy it. And, for the average family, it costs only about 1/2¢ a day more than the cheapest flour made.
