Highway Department training crew of 'monitor men' for the atomic era

AUSTIN — Have you ever been on an "Easter egg hunt" where the object of search was not a source of dietic energy—but atomic energy?

A serious variation of this childhood game—updated for the Nuclear Age—was part of the recent specialized training of 132 members of the Texas Highway Department.

These radiological monitoring trainees—also known as survey operators—were taught to determine which highways in the Texas Highway System are safe for travel after a nuclear blast or release of atomic radiation in an accident, thus protecting the traveling public from entering highway areas containing dangerous radioactivity.

The trainees—drawn from the ranks of all 25 Districts in the Texas Highway Department—were instructed by Chester D. Hudlow of Tyler, Safety Instructor in the Insurance Division. Just before class meetings, it was Hudlow who hid high-powered atomic sources for his students to hunt.

(A source is a radioactive element which emits gamma rays and is used for field training and for calibrating the survey instruments.)

Students on the search didn't carry Easter baskets. But they did move around the area with bright yellow instruments. These instruments, known as survey meters and operated by batteries, spat out static noises when one of the sources was approached.

The sources—when not in use—are stored in a lead block and fit neatly into holes that confine their radioactivity. This heavy block itself is stored in a specially built concrete block house recently erected specifically for this purpose in the Maintenance Warehouse yard of the Highway Department's District 10 office in Tyler.

Hudlow, experienced in group leadership training and instruction, taught seven classes, each one lasting three days. Trainees received instruction in basic radiation physics, nuclear weapon characteristics, probability of fallout disposition, fallout and the winds, calculations of dosage and dose rates—and description, calibration, and reading of instruments.

All this instruction—with Precaution as the watchword—added up to one important thing: Preparedness in the event of an alarm being sounded for any emergency, where highway facilities might be endangered by radiation.

During any nuclear attack, the radiological monitoring trainees—just like other human beings—go into shelter too. Actually, their instructions are to not begin monitoring the highways until it is safe for everyone to come out.

When the ALL CLEAR is given, they come out of shelter, going out in teams of two to three men—with survey meters. These instruments measure the residual contamination present on the highways. They also use dosimeters which give readings (on an internal scale) of accumulated radiation dosage absorbed by the operator.

When readings show that the radiation in an area is such that prolonged exposure could cause physical damage, here's what might happen:

- (1) Barricades might be set up to close off the highway to traffic.
- (2) Minimum speed signs may be posted so that traffic will not tarry in the area and possibly pick up dangerous accumulated dosage.
- (3) Detour signs may be set up ahead of contaminated areas to route traffic around these areas.

If atomic disaster or accident strikes, the "monitor men" of the Texas Highway Department will ride the highways to protect the traveling public.

Proven insect repellent ready

COLLEGE STATION—You don't have to spend time fighting off insects this summer while you are out-of-doors. Such pests as mosquitoes, ticks, fleas, chiggers and biting flies can be made to keep their distance by applying a repellent developed by U. S. Department of Agriculture scientists on exposed skin areas.

The repellent is commonly called deet. Diethyl - toluamide is the chemical designation. It was synthesized and tested by chemists and entomologists of USDA's Agricultural Research Service. It is now available in ready-to-use containers under several trade names, and has been approved as the standard military repellent.

Deet is effective and safe for general use on the skin or on certain kinds of clothing materials. However, instructions covering the use of the repellent should be followed closely, because the chemical may affect certain paints, varnishes and some of the plastic materials. The repellent is safe for use on cotton or wool fabrics if they contain no synthetic fibers.

Smear it evenly on exposed skin areas, deet is effective for several hours. It has little or no odor, and it does not cause a greasy feeling on the skin.

Time to fight cattle grubs

COLLEGE STATION — Cattle grubs annually cost U. S. livestock producers between 100 and 300 million dollars, says R. L. Ridgway, Texas A&M College.

Losses to meat packers result from the carcass devaluation and trimming and hide damage, according to Ridgway. Losses on the farm and ranch result from skin irritation, nervousness of the animals, below normal weight gains and lowered milk production.

Cattle grubs may be controlled by conventional spray applications or pour-on or backline treatment. All grub insecticides should be used between the time heel fly activities cease in the spring and before the grubs appear in the backs of the animals, he adds. In most areas in Texas, the systems may be used between May 1 and Aug. 1. Co-ral and Ruelene may be used as sprays or as pour-on insecticides and Co-ral may also be used as a dip. Ronnel (Troine) systemic and may be fed to animals in the normal feed ration either in the feed or mineral. It is pointed out that materials should be used on beef animals or dry dairy

Bacteria speck can make shambles of summer picnic

Almost as quickly as you can say "please pass the potato salad," a tiny, microscopic speck of bacterial life can make a shambles of that great American summer time institution, the picnic.

Called staphylococci — "staph" for short — these pernicious bits of living matter are said by health authorities to be by far the most common cause of food poisoning.

About the picnic — if you're careless in preparing the food, staph may invade and multiply in items on the bill of fare. The ham, for instance, or the chicken salad, or the cream-filled layer cake. In a matter of hours, once eaten, they can turn a strong man into a cramped, tormented weakling.

But it's easy to prevent this fun-reckoning development: simply keep the foods chilled between the time of preparation and service, and a nd serve as soon as possible.

State health authorities are quick to point out that staph-caused food poisoning isn't limited to summer nor to picnics, but can occur whenever conditions are right regardless of the time or place. Conditions are more apt to be right during summer when outdoor eating is in vogue and staph can team up with heat and lack of refrigeration to spoil food.

As a point of academic interest, it isn't the organisms themselves that do the damage, but a toxin produced by adult organisms. Admittedly, the point is of little consolation to the wrung-out victim, but it does provide a clue to preventing other cases.

Staph germs are so widely distributed in nature—in nose and throat secretions, in exudate of boils and carbuncles, on skin and clothing, in the very air—that there is little chance of avoiding them completely.

The best thing is to keep them from getting in the food to begin with, by washing hands thoroughly before preparing food. Also, if you happen to have a boil, pimple, infected scratch, or a runny nose, it would be smart to leave the food preparation to someone else.

Refrigeration is the key to stunting staph germs. They can't grow in cold temperatures, but thrive in bountiful profusion at room temperature. Therefore, refrigerate susceptible foods at 40 degree temperatures. Use shallow pans so the ingredients will chill through.

Keep these facts in mind when you use your next picnic, then your only worry will be ants and wasps.

Friends and neighbors in this community were saddened by the passing of one of our most beloved pioneer citizens, Mrs. Don Odum left us Saturday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Odum came to the Grassland community 47 years ago. They were charter members of the Cen-workers in the community as long as they were physically able. We extend to this family and loved ones our heartfelt sympathy. May God bless them in their time of sorrow.

Mr. and Mrs. C. O. McCleskey, Mr. and Mrs. Odie Campbell and Mr. and Mrs. W. G. McCleskey visited M. C. Ritchey Sunday. We are sorry to report Mr. Ritchey is not feeling so well.

Rifle Assn. is opposed to more firearms laws

During recent months there has been unusually widespread publicity regarding proposed firearms control legislation. This has included federal, state, and even local control measures. Because of its prominence in recurring controversies over such legislation, the National Rifle Association (non-profit membership organization of nearly a half-million American sportsmen) believes it timely to publicly express its firm policy and stand on this subject.

Basically the NRA believes that, to be effective, fair, and consistent with other criminal statutes, penalties should properly be assessed against the improper use of firearms rather than against possession of them. The Association believes that experience has demonstrated that firearms legislation is of insufficient value in the prevention of crime to justify the inevitable restrictions which it places upon law abiding citizens.

Much proposed legislation involves the registration of firearms. "Registration" has become a much used (but little understood) catchword. Frequently proponents confuse or combine registration with a permit system. The NRA has always strongly opposed such legislation, for very logical reasons. Registration alone simply means an official listing or record of the firearms owned and possessed by citizens. Certainly the effect of such a listing in detecting or preventing crime would be so slight as to be virtually useless.

Since penalties for violation are usually only in the misdemeanor class and violations so easy, criminals simply ignore such a law. Only the law abiding citizen observes it, building a mass of records useless to law enforcement agencies. It has been stated that the listing would aid in returning stolen firearms to their proper owners. Yet the victim of such a theft can readily report his loss to police, just as he does with other stolen items, without the need of maintaining a central registration listing.

Registration alone is useless. Furthermore a wealth of instances in the past few decades show that such a listing is quickly seized by dictators and invaders to secure control over a nation or territory.

The permit system as written into most proposals invariably lends itself to administrative abuse. Customarily some official is given authority to decide who shall own a gun. Far too frequently this leads to arbitrary action, with either no provision for appeal or a complicated and expensive appeal procedure. Where a permit is required, such as for the carrying of a concealed handgun, the requirements under which such a permit may be obtained should be clearly set forth in the law. When those conditions are met issuance of the permit should be mandatory and it should license the act of carrying, not the handgun itself.

Proponents of gun registration too frequently compare it to the registration of automobiles, ignoring the fact that the latter is primarily a revenue statute with is-

Tommy Bouchier begins special science training

GUNNISON, Colo. — Tommy Bouchier of Post, Tex., joined 26 other high school science students from nine states here Monday for the start of a six weeks National Science Foundation training program at Western State College.

Under an $8,500 NSF grant, the summer science training program is for high-ability secondary school students. Dr. Aubrey Lawrence, professor of chemistry, reports the 27 high school juniors, seniors, and recent graduates represent the cream of secondary science students in the United States.

Objectives of the program are:

1) to help identify high-ability secondary school students who have excellent potential for becoming scientists; 2) to help accelerate the scholarly development of these students through providing opportunity for instruction in scientific content and methods by scientists of recognized stature; and 3) to help develop cooperation between colleges and high schools in increasing the quality of education in the sciences.

To be eligible, students had to have a grade average of B or better in science and mathematics courses and in their over-all high school education, and an expressed intent of the study of science or medicine in college.

Students will be given two primary courses—advanced chemistry and chemical mathematics. Classes will meet from 8:30 a. m. to 4 p. m. each week day. Formal classes will be held in the morning, with laboratory experiments, special projects and guest lectures filling the afternoon hours.

Assisting Dr. Lawrence will be Dr. Robert C. Duty, associate professor of chemistry; Jim Rupp, a recent WSC graduate who has a graduate assistantship at Oklahoma State University beginning in September; Jack Ruckman, a senior chemistry major; and Wilma Dunlap, a summer graduate student from Wichita, Kan.

The nine girls will be housed in Dolores Hall, while the 18 boys will live at Chipeta Hall. Counselors are provided for both girls and boys, and they will all eat at Escalante Terrace dining hall.

Two field trips to major plants in Colorado using chemical processing are being planned. A program of picnics and outings on weekends is also scheduled, Dr. Lawrence states.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Hendrix, Ann, Gene, and Nancy Jo, of Deming, N. M. spent a few days last week visiting Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Cox and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cox and Lin Allyn Thursday, Mr. and Mrs. Hendrix and Gene, Mrs. Robert Cox and Lin Allyn went to Abilene where they toured the Hardin-Simmons University campus.

INDEPENDENCE DAY

July 4, 1776

The Fourth of July holiday next Wednesday will be much more than a day to light firecrackers and shoot off roman candles and sky-rockets at night for the kids.

It will be much more, too, than a delightfully lazy summer holiday for family outings, picnics, fishing trips and such.

July 4th is celebrated in America each year because it is our INDEPENDENCE DAY — harkening back to the days of the Revolutionary War when the American colonists put their names to the DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE.

INDEPENDENCE DAY — is a THE FOURTH OF JULY — or time for us all to stop and think seriously of our American heritage of freedom in a modern, more faster-paced world. And of the dangers in today's new skyrockets which constantly threaten us from afar.

The lights of freedom have gone out in many nations around the world within a few short years. Others today are only glimmering. If we are to preserve ours, we must remain strong as a nation — both morally as well as physically — lend our support to freedom's causes, and be a vigilant and working citizenry.

Together we must maintain a strong national purpose and strive constantly to make America an even more blessed land of freedom and of opportunity.

On our FOURTH OF JULY holiday this year, let us resolve to be better Americans ourselves and thus make our nation stronger at a time when this country needs all of its strength and great unity of purpose as the leader of the Free World.

Braves declared winners of game with leaders

The Braves were declared the winners today of their game with the White Sox Tuesday night because Manager Ben Howell did not protest the umpire's final call before leaving the field.

Ben Owen, Babe Ruth league president, announced his decision on it at a league meeting last night. He said the umpire's final decision was wrong but that no protest was made. Howell said after the game he did not intend to protest it.

The pool decks also will have numbers on them. At an announced time each person can get beside a number and if their number is called they will win a free pass to the pool.

With the Purchase of a 1962 Ford at Tom Power—Ford

The decision gives the Braves their ninth victory and the White Sox their third loss and cuts the Sox' margin over the Braves to only one and one-half games.

Standings on the sports page today do not reflect the outcome of the game as at that writing it was expected the game would be finished.

The Sox were rallying from a 21 to 14 deficit in the bottom of the seventh. They had four runs home, the bases loaded, two out when the batter swung at a third strike which the catcher missed. Two runs scored and the batter reached first, but the umpire called the batter out because there were men on the bases. This does not apply to a third out.

Nine cases filed in county court

Nine cases have been filed in County Judge J. E. Parker's court during the last seven days, five of them for driving while intoxicated.

DWI charges and date of filings include W. L. Mathis, June 27; Norman Roark Hight, June 26, C. A. Redman, June 25; Tom Roberts, June 25; David Rogers, June 25 and Leon Jewell, June 20.

Other charges were Billy H. Jones, June 25, defrauding by worthless check; George Mendietta Jr., aggravated assault, June 21, pleaded not guilty, bond set at $500, and Marshall L. Hoskins, June 20, carrying pistol on person.

Integration—

riculum for next year as one economy measure.

Petitions containing signatures of 327 eligible district voters requested the election for trustees asked for such petitions.

The Post Ministerial Alliance, with the pastors of eight local churches voting unanimously, last week adopted a statement endorsing the integration move "as a matter of Christian conscience" as well as an economy move as proposed by trustees.

School trustees will meet Tuesday noon, July 3, to officially canvass the special election ballots. Action on the school budget is then expected as quickly as possible.

TAKE ME OUT TO THE BALL GAME

It was a beautiful day for baseball. Harriet's fiancé, Dick, was taking her to her first big league baseball game. They arrived just before the opening pitch and found their seats along the first base line in the fifth row.

Harriet was enjoying all of the color and excitement of the ball park, the baseball fans, the hot dog vendors, and, of course, the game itself. Suddenly a hard hit foul ball flew into the stands and struck Harriet, severely injuring her.

Harriet filed a lawsuit against the baseball club. She alleged that spectators should be protected from such injuries, and that additional screens should have been put up to prevent fouls from coming into the stands.

But the court said, "No" to Harriet. She had chosen to sit in the unshielded bleachers in preference to sitting behind a screen where the tickets cost more. Therefore, she had "assumed the risk" of being hit by a batted or thrown ball during the playing of the game. No recovery was allowed.

In such cases, the courts say that the spectator is an invitee to whom the invitor (the ball club) owes the duty to exercise ordinary care to render the premises reasonable safe for him.

"But," says the courts, "the invitor is not an insurer of the safety of the invitee; neither is the invitee protected against all hazard, nor relieved of all duty to himself for his own safety. And to the extent that the duty of self-protection rests upon the invitee, the duty of the invitor to protect is reduced."

The same rules as to "assumption of risk" are applied to most places of amusement and amusement devices. A swimmer must anticipate that a diving board will be wet and slippery. A person who rides on an amusement device and sees flying sparks takes the chance that a flying spark may strike his eye.

And one who goes upon a revolving floor device for the purpose of being thrown from it, accepts the dangers inherent in the sport so far as they are obvious.

On the other hand, if the danger is not apparent or obvious, the operator of the device has a duty to warn the rider or spectator. It is the ordinary risk that is assumed, not the unusual. Where, for example, a device was operated on a particular occasion at an especially fast speed so that it jerked and jolted violently, a rider who was injured by these unusual conditions was permitted to recover.

A patron of a place of amusement is entitled to be protected from hidden dangers, but he cannot go into a place of danger which he appreciates and understands, and then recover damages if he is injured.

PAYING GOD'S RENT

Two centuries ago a glassmaker in Pennsylvania provided the land for the erection of a church. But he attached a string to his gift. Each year the congregation must pay to him, or to his descendants, one red rose, forever.

Annually in a traditional service the members of that church fulfil the terms of their deed. In the words of a reverent visitor, "God's rent is paid in coin more worthy than man's."

What strange thrust of imagination devised such a price. Certainly it was more than a man's love of roses . . .

Wisely he realized our tendency to take for granted our blessings. Fer- vently he prayed that we would forever treasure the privilege of worship. Gently he reminds us that there is beauty and happiness in every sacrifice for the support of God's House.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Farm Topics

SYD CONNER
Garza County Agent

MESQUITE CONTROL
There are several methods for controlling mesquite, but one of the most economical and practical for the farmer is the aerial application of 2,4-D. This method is usually used on relatively pure stands of mesquite.

There should be plenty of soil moisture to make the mesquite grow vigorously and produce a dense foliage. At the time of spraying, the foliage should be dark green. This year the mesquite foliage is in the best condition in several years, and good results should be obtained from aerial control provided the moisture situation remains favorable.

Also, if rain falls during the spraying season, it is advisable to wait until the new leaf tip growth has turned dark green. This usually takes about two weeks.

The chemical mixture to use for aerial control of mesquite is 1/2 pound of 2,4,5-T, 1 gallon of diesel oil, and enough water to make 4 gallons of mixture. This four gallons of chemical mixture should be applied to one acre in a manner that insures complete coverage of the foliage.

A miracle should not be expected. The total root kill under ideal conditions is 25 to 35 per cent. The initial control will last from 5 to 7 years before spraying of the regrowth is necessary.

After the spraying, the pasture should be deferred to allow the grass to re-establish. Graze it during the winter, defer it the second growing season, then use it properly. The extra grass is what pays for the brush control practice.

For more information on aerial control of mesquite, contact your local county agent.

LAWN MOWER DANGER
The job of keeping lawns neatly trimmed and mowed will become more time consuming with the advent of warm weather. Power tools for doing the job are readily available and power mowers are regular equipment around most homes. These mowers, improperly used, can run up the cost of lawn mowing, cautions the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council, by being accident hazards.

The rotary type mower can become a lethal machine, warns the Council, if it is used to mow lawns or weeds where rocks, bones, pieces of wire, nails or other debris can be found. The cutting blade can be broken by striking a hard object and hurled through the air. Wire can be cut into short pieces and hurled at bullet speed. Be sure, advises the Council, that the area being mowed is free of such objects and that the mower is constructed so as to prevent objects being hurled toward the operator.

Furthermore, the Council suggests a few additional rules of safety which, if followed, could prevent many accidents involving lawn mowers or other power tools. "Never," they warn, "try to make adjustments to a mower with the engine running. It's just good business to remove the wire from the sparkplug before attempting to repair or adjust the cutting blade or remove accumulations of grass or weeds from under the mower."

Children should not be allowed to operate a mower nor should a person who is barefooted or wearing open toed shoes. The engine should be cool when refueling is done and if an electric mower is used be sure the extension cord is in perfect shape or you may be in for a shock, warns the Council.

SCREW WORM PROGRAM
"Though we are just getting started, I believe we are now on the road toward eradication of the screw worm in the Southwest," this statement by R. L. Murphee, De Witt County, expresses the feeling of officials of the Animal Disease Eradication Division, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Texas Animal Health Commission and Southwest Animal Health Research Foundation.

"I have had only one screw worm case up to mid-year," Murphee continued. "Normally I would have had 15 to 20 cases. Though part of this may be due to the winter freeze, I have found several blows or egg masses which have not hatched. They have just dried up and indicate the release of sterile flies in the area is helping now."

USDA officials explain the apparent leveling off of screw worm cases in many counties during the past week is just a preview of results that will be obtained once the new 75-million-per-week sterile fly production plant at Mission goes into operation. Production has been increased to almost 30 million flies per week at the temporary facilities at Kerrville, but this has not been sufficient to do the job.

Progress of construction at the Mission plant is another reason for the favorable outlook, the officials explained. Work is ahead of schedule, and the plant should be completed by mid-June. Fly production will be underway by July 1.

Eventual eradication of this costly livestock pest will come from a combination of the release of sterile flies and work by livestock owners. Stockmen should adhere closely to good screw worm management practices to protect their herds.

Every case of screw worms put out of commission now prevents thousands of cases three to five weeks later. In turn, this helps make more effective use of the limited supply of available flies and will speed up eradication, explained the officials.

Officials stressed that stockmen should now follow a regular preventive spray program using Coral or Korlan, following closely the instructions on the labels. These sprays give protection for two to three weeks.

Cattlemen in Texas are due praise for the support already given but officials of the cooperating agencies stressed that no one should let up in his responsibilities to the program now, the officials said.

These responsibilities include the regular spray program, close and frequent observation of all animals, pre-treatment of all wounds before they become infested with screw

TULSA, Okla. — The transfer of a Service Pipe Line Company district superintendent and the realignment of several of the firm's West Texas operating areas were announced today.

The district office at Lovington will be discontinued, Mariner said. The operations will be transferred to the Denver City district. P. N. Figley is district superintendent.

The company's Slaughter and Levelland operating areas will be transferred from the Denver City district to the firm's Lubbock District.

HOPPERS POSE THREAT

Grasshoppers are increasing in numbers in some sections of Texas and may pose a threat to crops and pasture forage unless controlled while still young, advise Associate Extension Entomologists C. F. Garner and R. L. Ridgway. Local county agents, they say, can supply detailed information on control measures.

FEMALE COLLEGE

The recent examination and concerts closing the present term of this institution well deserves a notice in your column. Rev. John Carmer, the Principal, and Prof. Prohl, of the Music Department, with their respective assistants, have proved themselves worthy of a front rank in our worthy corps of Texas school teachers. We have never witnessed a more satisfactory examination. It was honest and thorough on the part of the teachers and a decided success with the students.

The concerts have added to the high reputation of Prof. Prohl in this community. They were in beautiful harmony with the admirable character of everything in all the departments of this successful institution, is a very noticeable and most commendable feature of its merits.

In giving this merely sober statement to the public, we feel that we are doing but bare justice to a noble school.—Thos. Woordige, Com. of Examination — HOUSTON TELEGRAPH

There was never a time in our knowledge when the future was so gloomy in regard to a sufficiency of foodstuffs. Already from Texas to North Carolina corn is ranging from $1.25 to $2 per bushel. The wheat crop is absolutely destroyed and the chance for oats is slim.—THE BRENNHAM INQUIRER

WHAT FARMERS CAN DO

If we are farmers there is much that we can do. Enough has been said of the urgency of making cotton, and the necessity of raising grain. In this connection take a friend's caution. We have had a rainy winter—we shall probably have a dry summer. Therefore make your negroes put their ploughs deeper into the ground than you have ever done before. Remember that statement of that sagacious farmer in Middle Georgia, who said that he always "buried rain enough in March to do him until June." If we have good seasons and our crops are well-worked, we shall probably make bread enough for our own use. Besides potatoes, we should plant every acre of our own corn land in peas. As we shall have little or no cotton to pick, our negroes can pick peas. Of these our soldiers are very fond and no food is more healthful for them.—THE BELLVILLE COUNTRYMAN

JACKSON'S SURRENDER

By a little extra of the Houston Telegraph which we just had a glimpse of, we see that Fort Jackson had surrendered and that 10,000 Federals had landed in New Orleans and 10,000 more were to land soon. The railroad has ceased to run in Berwick's Bay. We are thus entirely cut off from all news from the states, and must, as the old lady said, manufacture it for ourselves.—THE AUSTIN INTELLIGENCER

SURRENDER DEMANDED

In order to allay excitement and prevent rumors gaining currency, we have obtained the following from official sources. Saturday morning the Frigate Santee had a white flag up as a signal of a desire to communicate with the shore. During the day a messenger came ashore, bearing the following demand:

Sir, in a few days, the naval and land forces of the United States will appear off the town of Galveston to enforce its surrender.

To prevent the effusion of blood and destruction of property—which would result from the bombardment of your town, I hereby demand the surrender of the place. I trust you will comply with this demand. I am respectfully, Henry Eagle, Captain, U. S. Naval Forces at Galveston, Texas.—THE GALVESTON NEWS.

Welcome To Summer

On a beautiful midsummer day, when your garden's at its blazing best, give a luncheon in its honor! Since most of the time everybody will want to be strolling or sitting outdoors, choose a menu that's easy to serve there. Colorful Fruit Salads, Assorted Finger Sandwiches, Minted Iced Tea and for dessert this Apricot-Banana Chip Pie made with Chipits—Chocolate Chip Cookies with Pecans. The rich, tender cookies that are just chock full of chocolate pieces and pecans, generously mixed and carefully baked as only Nabisco can do!

No, no matter what the thermometer says, greet your guests fresh and relaxed with this good to look at, good to eat menu.

Apricot-Banana Chip Pie

- 20 Chipits Cookies, finely crumbled, (about 2 cups)
- 1/4 cup butter or margarine, melted
- 1/4 cup granulated sugar
- 2-3 medium bananas, sliced
- 1 1-lb. 14-oz. can apricot halves, drained
- 1 cup apricot syrup
- 1 envelope unflavored gelatine
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 1 cup heavy cream, whipped

Thoroughly blend cookie crumbs with melted butter or margarine and sugar. Reserve 1/2 cup crumbs. Place remaining crumbs in a 9-inch square dish, pressing down on bottom only. Place sliced bananas brushed with 1 tablespoon lemon juice on top of crumb mixture.

Puree apricot halves. Heat reserved apricot syrup with gelatine and lemon juice; cool slightly then add pureed apricots. Chill this mixture until slightly thickened, reserving 1/2 cup apricot puree. Then fold into whipped cream until well blended, pour over banana crumb mixture. Swirl reserved 1/2 cup apricot through top, then sprinkle remaining crumbs around the outside edges. Chill until set, approximately 2-3 hours. Makes 9 servings.

It's My Turn ...

—By MRS.

Since most magazines one picks up now-a-days contain articles about how doctors are losing their popularity and need to improve their public relations I have a suggestion.

The thought was brought on while waiting in a physician's office in Lubbock to have the elder Miss C's eyes checked. The waiting room is used by four different doctors, therefore this one is appalled when we walk in and see all those hordes of people sitting there waiting (A more apt name for a room would be hard to imagine.)

I immediately get on the offensive and march up to the desk to announce our presence. Then, even though I try not to, I always ask if the doctor is running on schedule or are we going to have to wait forever. All I get from this question is a cold glare from the receptionist, and I'm sure the minute my back is turned that our slip goes to the deep, deep bottom of the pile.

Then I look around for a comfortable seat — preferably away from crying children and those patients that look sick. I manage to find an ash tray that isn't completely filled with gum papers.

Finally I discover I'm not alone. So I go up to the desk and announce that I've used my matches up (this is to tell them that I am still there WAITING) and could they spare one of the matches along with the other withering look.

By this time our child is acting like she doesn't know me and is seeking knowledge around at those people calmly sitting the awaiting their turns like they have all the time in the world.

Eventually our slip gets moved to the top from the bottom. Now they'd really like to get out of there fast before other people start acting up.

I always have the feeling of the doctor has been forwarding cause I'm treated most graciously and usually receive an apology for having had to wait.

Most of this could be solved putting up a time schedule comparable to those used at train stations. Each doctor's patients could be listed under his name. (Sometimes those big crowds are waiting on the other doctors. I needn't have gotten all upset. Pertinent facts about the doctor could be listed, such as—they were late getting back to the office (either seeing a patient, or so honest, just that they overslept noon) how long will it be till your turn, and all sorts of things.

This would at least live up to office and make the time pass faster. It would also give one time to run a few errands if necessary in the vicinity and still get back without disrupting the schedule more.

Herodotus wrote of the cotton plant as early as 445 B. C. Cotton was grown in Spain by the Moors in 700.

SERVE POLISH HAM FOR QUICK 'N' EASY LUNCHEONS

American housewives are "smartening up". No longer is it considered essential to spend hours cooking an interesting luncheon menu. The imported hams from Poland permit hostesses to spend more time with guests than with pots and pans. The quality of this thoroughly lean fine textured meat is juicy rather than dry and all sinew and fat is carefully trimmed to enable the family chef to utilize every single slice of this canned Polish ham.

Ways to serve sliced cold ham are legion. In today's column we suggest a garnish of dill and crisp sliced cucumber with a Tropical sauce that will surely become a favorite of every guest.

COLD SLICED IMPORTED CANNED POLISH HAM
1 3-lb. imported canned Polish ham (cut 8 slices per pound)
2 medium-size cucumbers, peeled, sliced thin
1 bunch fresh dill
4 radish roses

Remove ham from tin, smooth off the jelly (keeps ham from banging in can) save jelly for soup stock. With a sharp knife, cut 8 slices per pound. Allow two slices per person. If all ham is not sliced, wrap unused portion in metal foil. Replace in refrigerator. Arrange on platter, garnish and place sauce around platter.

TROPICAL SAUCE
1 cup water
1 cup brown sugar
2 tablespoons ketchup
1 tablespoon soy sauce
Mix together 1 cup water and brown sugar. Add ketchup, soy sauce, mustard, and pineapple. Bring to a boil; simmer for 10 minutes. Dissolve cornstarch in 1/4 cup water; add to sauce and cook, stirring until sauce is clear and thickens. Makes about three cups.

Peggy Butler becomes bride of Graydon Howell, Jr.

PEGGY Kathleen Butler and Earl Howell Jr., repeated wedding vows Saturday, June 23, at 1 o'clock in the First Baptist Church.

The couple are Mr. and Mrs. Stanley L. Butler, 211 12th Street, and the Rev. and Mrs. Graydon Howell Sr.

The double ring vows were performed by the Revs. C. B. Hogue, pastor of the First Baptist Church, and Graydon Howell Sr., pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church, before a candelabra and basket of white gladioli and chrysanthemums.

The bride wore a wedding gown designed and made by her mother, Mrs. John F. Cearley of Pecos. The modified princess gown of white mist silk organza featured a portrait neckline, long sleeves which tapered to points over the hands, a bodice and neckline accented by Chantilly lace appliques and sequins and a floor length skirt with a fullness on the front panel which folded into a sweeping chapel train. Her three-tiered veil of imported French silk fell from a crown of pearls. Her bouquet of cymbidium and carnations in garlands of white ribbon was topped with a white Bible.

The bride carried on the theme of her mother's wedding band; she wore a silver shoe and wore a strand of tiny pearls.

Stanna Butler, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and Mrs. Helen of Pecos, cousin of the bride, was matron of honor. Miss Lee Howell, sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid. The bridesmaids wore identical gowns of yellow tulle with short sleeves, fitted bodices were accented with gathered waistline darts and yellow whimsies, and they wore matching shoes of yellow. Attendants carried cascades of white gladioli.

Ritalynn Butler, sister of the bride, was flower girl. Candelabras were Lenny Howell, brother of the groom, and John Allan Howell, cousin of the bride.

G. White of Lubbock, brother-in-law of the groom, was best man. Groomsmen were Alton and Wayne Kiker. Coy Hudson of Pecos and Lenny Howell of Lubbock were ushers.

Margie M. Willson at the organ and Lex Roby at the violin played selections. Mr. Roby also played "Wonderful One" and "The Prayer" accompanied by Willson. The bride sang "White Dove."

The reception took place at the country room after the ceremony. Decorations carried out the theme of yellow and white. Mrs. Phil Crenshaw played piano.

Traveling, the bride wore a lime green summer suit with white accessories and an orange from her bridal bouquet.

L. C. McCullough, Mary and Kathy, returned home Saturday from a month's visit to Washington, D. C. While there they visited Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Hill, the former Miss Judy McCullough, in Kensington, Md., and Miss Judy's graduation from Reed High School. Judy is one of 650 graduates.

McCullough and Mike went to Washington to bring their families. The Larry McCulloughs returned home with them for a visit to Lookout Mountain the way home.

If not Monday, then sometime

Post Independent School District voters have the opportunity Monday to say at the polls in the special election whether or not they want to integrate our schools and save $25,000 in tax money next year and approximately $35,000 each year thereafter.

To show the importance of this saving, we would like to call to your attention that three or four years ago school district voters approved a $710,000 school building bond issue.

For our money we have received:

- (1) A new high school
- (2) A new gymnasium
- (3) A new football stadium
- (4) A new field house
- (5) The complete remodeling of the former high school building into a modern, functional junior high school.
- (6) All furniture and equipment for the new high school building.
- (7) The paving around the high school.

That's quite a construction package for any school district.

What does this have to do with Monday's election, you ask?

Simply this. Integration will mean a savings over the long run of about $35,000 a year without adding or repairing anything.

Something we'll go along with

Most anyone here old enough to read and/or to observe will harbor no doubts that early action should be taken on the Grand Jury's recent recommendations that new county jail facilities be constructed and that, in the meantime, the present jail facilities be cleaned up.

Some announcement of action, or inaction, on the matter should be forthcoming at the next Garza County commissioners' court meeting, which will be the second week in July.

Those county officials under whose office jurisdiction of the county jail falls long have recognized the need of jail improvements. They have recognized it, in fact, ever since the State of Texas ruled a few years ago that county jails must measure up to certain requirements. These requirements, incidentally, include separate facilities for men and women, as well as other standards.

The reason, of course, that this has not been done is that a new jail—even an improved jail—costs money . . . money which sometimes is not immediately available to a county government. The commissioners' court naturally has been re-

If you vote for integration and save that $35,000, the savings over the year will virtually pay for almost all of the principal and interest on that $710,000 bond issue.

The annual payment is now $41,825, principal and interest. By integrating, the savings alone would pay over 85 per cent of the total cost over the years ahead of our new high school, football stadium, gym, field house, high school furnishings, and the remodeling of the old high school into the junior high school.

That will give you something to measure the economic side of the integration issue.

The Dispatch stands firmly for integration. Economically, it's virtually a must. And then legally, it's just as virtually a must. It's the law of the land and simply a question of when and how it comes, not if it comes.

We urge every qualified voter to make his opinion count Monday by going to the polls and voting.

This is a community decision.

So many have said these past few weeks, "We knew it would come sometime." It has come. The issue faces the community Monday for its decision. And if it is rejected Monday, it will be back again. The issue is on the table-top now—and that's where it will stay.—JC luctant to saddle the taxpayers with a bond issue for a new jail.

But something should be done to improve the present facilities—just as the grand jurors pointed out in their recommendations.

Among the requirements of a new jail or a renovated old jail would meet are those of maximum security as far as holding prisoners is concerned, which is something the present jail is not noted for.

The possibility, as suggested by the grand jury's recommendations of the county and the City of Post making the new jail facilities a joint project, seems the best course to follow when it comes to the problem of financing. The City of Post, now with its own police court, should be as interested in adequate jail facilities as the county—and they no doubt are.

All in all, it looms at this time as a much-needed improvement which might be brought about sooner than many people think—not just because a Grand Jury has recommended it, but because it has been needed for such a long time.—CD

Little League sportsmanship

With the four new Minor League teams, Post now has 10 Little League teams at play in its summer youth baseball program, furnishing summer recreation to approximately 200 youngsters.

In addition, there are five Babe Ruth League teams, taking in approximately 75 more boys of a higher age group than the Little League classification.

Since this editorial mainly concerns the Little League, we'll forget the Babe Ruth League for the moment and get around to its equally beneficial program later.

What we started out to say was that anybody who thinks that sportsmanship and fair play are important have to give a nod of approval to the heads of the Little League baseball organization.

In the organization's handbook, the ideals of the program are outlined in a form similar to that of the Boy Scouts of America—good relations toward every other player and fairness at all times and to everyone.

The Little League emblem stands for progress in recreation for youths 12 years old and younger. The supervisors have foreseen far-reaching effects on the game's popularity. The Little League handbook stresses the need of all individuals involved in the program to help prevent commercialism from creeping into the picture.

This is believed to be a very wise decision concerning the sport, since commercial plugs to Little League star players would soon start the desire for individual performances and honors, rather than the team effort that is sought for.

Players are urged to support their league first—building a community or neighborhood spirit. The feeling of team spirit comes easy enough from the games that are played on the field, but it is at the league level where the boys get a chance to show their teamwork and can be a tribute to the area they represent.

Even as youngsters under the teen-age level, Little Leaguers are expected to show their sportsmanship during contests. No one but those directly involved in play at the time are allowed on the field.

The dignity of the Little League program helps develop a young man at a boy's age.—CD

Wednesday is Independence Day

Next Wednesday, July 4th, is the 186th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence—probably the greatest document since the Magna Charta assured men the basic freedom carried to further expression in the Declaration.

While no document is perfect insofar as its doctrines being carried out to the letter, the Declaration of Independence has come as near being perfect and establishing the freedom it proposes as anything else ever written.

The Declaration of Independence has established the United States as a haven of hope for the peoples of oppressed nations and they have flocked to our shores by the millions since that July 186 years ago when a new nation—and a free nation—was formed.

Today's troubled world continues as a testing ground for the Declaration of Independence, but we, as Americans, are confident that it will continue weathering the storm.

In observing this July 4th, let us not look upon it merely as a holiday for fun and frolic, but let us keep prominently in sight that historic document commemorated on July 4th—the Declaration of Independence.—CD

What our contemporaries are saying

The football team fumbled all afternoon. When a substitute, warming up in front of the bench, dropped a ball, it was too much for a rabid fan. "Send him in, coach," he yelled from the stands. "He's ready."—Frank Hill in The Lynn County News.

Any married couple, with a couple of youngsters, knows that marriage is a racket.—The Olney Enterprise.

We read Sunday where Lyndon Johnson had "lauded the war on screwworms" in a speech delivered at the dedication of the eradication center in Mission, Tex. It appears LBJ is really going "all the way" from political screwballs in the human kingdom to the animal and insect kingdom. You readers will recall his previous research on the camel.—Neal Estes in The Stanton Reporter.

Selling is one of the most important factors in our nation's economy. It is the magic formula which creates a desire for a product or service and causes the wheels of commerce to revolve, creating more employment, more use of materials and more money. Selling is a fine art and it is being pushed into shame by television and radio commercials which have reached a belligerent status. The customer is held by the hair of the head and beaten with words, songs, strange sounds and ridiculous conversation until the sponsor feels he has received full value for his money. It might be interesting to know the exact instant when a commercial stops selling and begins un-selling.—Douglas Meador in Matador Tribune.

THURSDAY to THURSDAY

By CHARLES DIDWAY

ONE OF OUR readers, who probably spends much of his time looking for such things, was still chuckling the other day over a classified as he said he'd read in The Dispatch a while back. This ad, he said, read about as follows: "FOR SALE—Three-room house with bathroom in country."

I won't say the reader didn't see the ad just as he described it, because leaving out that little old comma in between "bathroom" and "in country" could have happened mighty easy.

I DON'T suppose any more mistakes are made in the classified ads than anywhere else, but it does seem that a mistake in one of them is more mirth-provoking than one anywhere else. For instance, I saw this one a few weeks ago: "LOST—Bulldog. Will eat anything, fond of children."

Even getting the comma in that one didn't make it read as it was intended to.

ALL NEWSPAPERERS are prone to such mistakes in classified ads—not just weekly newspapers. Such things can happen anywhere. For instance, Lockwood Phillips, editor and publisher of the Carteret County News-Times of Morehead City, N. C., relates a personal experience. I quote from the News-Times:

A man with a sewing machine to sell placed a classified ad in the newspaper. The ad came out the next day as follows:

Monday: "FOR SALE: R. D. Smith has one sewing machine for sale. Phone 958. Call after 7 p. m. and ask for Mrs. Kelly who lives with him cheap."

Tuesday: "We regret having erred in R. D. Smith's ad yesterday. It should have read: FOR SALE: R. D. Smith has one sewing machine for sale. Cheap. Phone 958 and ask for Mrs. Kelly who lives with him after 7 p. m."

Wednesday: "R. D. Smith has informed us that he has received several annoying telephone calls because of an error we made in his classified ad yesterday. His ad stands corrected: FOR SALE: R. D. Smith has one sewing machine for sale. Cheap. Phone 958 after 7 p. m. and ask for Mrs. Kelly who loves with him."

Thursday: "NOTICE: I, R. D. Smith, have no sewing machine for sale. I smashed it. Don't call 958, the phone has been taken out. I have not been carrying on with Mrs. Kelly. Until yesterday, she was my housekeeper."

There are times, as may be seen here, when the well-worn slogan, "It Pays to Advertise," backfires. But it must be admitted that, even in these instances, advertising DOES get action—which reminds me of an ad in another paper. It read (as I recall it) like this:

"FOR SALE: The ladies of the First Presbyterian Church have discarded clothing of all kinds. They may be seen in the church basement any day after 6 o'clock." This one, however, doubtless paid off.

AND WHILE I'm off to this sort of a start, I might as well report on the six-year-old girl who submitted the following composition on "people" to her teacher:

"People are composed of girls and boys, also men and women. Boys are no good at all until they grow up and get married. Men who don't get married are no good either. Boys are an awful bother. They want everything they see except soap. My ma is a woman, and my pa is a man. A woman is a grown up girl with children. My pa is such a nice man that I think he must have been a girl when he was a boy."

The man up the street says the easiest way to get into trouble is to be right at the wrong time.

I HEARD A couple of fellows talking the other day about one time years and years ago when a "human fly" scaled one of the outside walls of the courthouse here without any straps, hooks or anything else to help him. "Human flies," old-timers will remember, were in vogue even before flagpole sitters and marathon dancers. It seems that nothing that exciting ever happens anymore. Twenty to thirty years ago, something like that was going on just about every Saturday. For instance, I read in a 1936 copy of The Dispatch where on Saturday, May 9, 1936, one Roy Franklin stopped off in Post while riding a Jersey bull from Amherst, Tex., to the Centennial then going on in Dallas. Bible Thoughts

By HERB SMITH

"Infant Baptism"

In past articles I have shown by the Bible that baptism is to erase sins. Do infants need to be baptized? It depends upon whether or not infants are sinful creatures when they are born. I will write on this question next week. Meanwhile consider some Bible examples with me.

1. Mark 1:5. "All baptized—confessing their sins." Do infants confess sins?
2. Matt. 28:19. Teach and be baptized. Do you teach infants the Word of God before you baptize them?
3. Acts 2:41. Those that "received the Word gladly were baptized." Do infants receive the Word gladly? In other words, do they submit to baptism willingly and without fussing and crying?
4. Acts 2:38. "Repent and be baptized." Do infants repent?
5. Mark 16:16. "Believe and be baptized." Do infants believe?
6. Rom. 10:10; Acts 8:35. Confession of Christ is essential before baptism. This is done by uttering with the mouth. Do infants confess their belief in Christ?

I do not believe, therefore, that infant baptism is taught in the Bible.

Q. What is the deadline for entitlement for GI loans for veterans of the Korean Conflict?

A. Entitlement for each Korean Conflict veteran extends for 10 years after the date of his discharge from active duty plus one year additional for each 90 days of active service. In no case may a Korean veteran's GI loan entitlement expire before Jan. 31, 1963, nor continue beyond Jan. 31, 1963.

TEXAS' CRIME SITUATION — Texas' crime situation looks a little better. FBI reports covering the first five months of 1962, based on statistics from the 12 largest cities, show a major crime down 6.7 per cent over the same period last year.

Across the U. S. in cities of comparable size, major crime rates are down one per cent.

The crime rate actually is down 5.4 per cent in Texas, according to a number of reports in 1961, despite a population increase during the year of some 100,000.

OUT OF JOBS—Finding a job in Texas is a little easier these days. The Texas Employment Commission reports that unemployment at 4.3 per cent in April is the lowest since the labor force as compared to 5.4 per cent a year ago.

Average factory wages rose from $1.10 a week last year to $96.10 in April. Range was wide, however, depending on the industry.

WATER SUPPLY — Texas enters the summer with its major reservoirs 76 per cent full.

Texas Water Commission reports that May rains couldn't keep up with use and evaporation, so the water supplies shrank by 291,000 acre feet.

As June opened, supplies were 76 per cent of capacity, compared with 83 per cent a year ago.

RULES AMENDED — The Texas Animal Health Commission, after hearing pleas of livestock market operators, relaxed rules designed to speed up the eradication of at least control of brucellosis (undulant fever).

Commission action amending the rules came just before they were to go into effect June 15.

Before the change, the rules would have required testing for brucellosis before cattle could be moved from one market to another.

As amended, the rule says the cattle may move from one approved market to another approved market without having to take the test. This was put on a trial basis.

Restriction of movement was opposed by representatives of the big stockyards at San Antonio, Fort Worth and Houston. Auction markets also had an ardent champion present.

James D. Sartwell, president of Houston's Port City Stockyards, said the economic effect of the proposed rule could be "dangerous", particularly so in view of "the predicted downturn in cattle prices now beginning."

Sartwell said Texas' cattle inventory includes many so-called "two-way" cattle, entirely dependent on market conditions, which are sold as either stocker or slaughter animals.

Most of these two-way cattle, he said, also are "trader" cattle and loom large as a volume moving from interior markets, purchased by a trader and consigned to the terminals for resale. He saw danger to this cattle movement in the proposed regulation.

G. C. Hagelstein of San Antonio's Union Stockyards felt livestock leaving any market should meet the requirements of its destination. But he said he was interested in protecting the industry and didn't believe the regulation did that.

John M. Lewis, general manager of the Fort Worth Stockyards, thought the Commission proposal would "strangle" the price-making terminal markets.

Charles Davis, operator of auction markets at Wichita Falls and Mineral Wells, suggested that animals should be tested when going "to the country"—but not from market to market. He called the rule unnecessary and a waste of time and money.

Norman Moser, commission member from DeKalb, said he didn't oppose the amendment but believed it would delay the testing program.

SAFE FOURTH — Gov. Price Daniel urged the 5,000,000 Texas drivers to help hold down the traffic death list during the July 4th holidays.

"Slow down and live" is the theme of the traffic safety campaign by which Texas traffic po-

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS" BY C. WILSON HARDER

It may not be necessary for a career bureaucrat to not know what he is talking about, but it seems to be helpful.

A case in point is the recent testimony given by Paul Dixon, current chairman of the Federal Trade Commission, in opposing one of the fair trade bills.

There is no question, either of his honesty according to all observers. Thus, his completely fallacious statements before the Congressional committee are all due to ignorance of how business is transacted in the United States, a common malady among bureaucrats.

Apparently ignoring the fields where fair trade laws would be the most beneficial, Dixon chose to confine his remarks to the grocery business.

He made a great fuss and bother over the high percentage of volume done by the major chains on their own private brands. He then asserted that if food items were fair traded, the independent grocer, unable to get private label brands, would have to sell national brands at fair trade prices, while chains would cut under these prices with their own private brands.

It was an eloquent presentation. Only one thing was wrong. It was not based on facts.

First of all, any independent grocer but the very smallest can have his private brand on practically any item he wants from bleach to coffee. He can get prices lower than the national brands, and the packers of "Joe's Market Tuna" of whatever the stores name happens to be, will not only run the product under Joe's label, but will warehouse it until Joe has room for it in the store. This is done every day.

But by and large, independent grocers find they do little business on private label because the consumer wants national labels.

In addition, Dixon warned against a danger that cannot happen.

Major chains refuse to buy a fair-traded item. And no packer can afford to turn his back irrevocably on potential chain store sales, as without chain store distribution, he is practically closed out of many markets.

The historical chain position in this respect is quite easy to understand. Chains feel when they stock a brand, they not only promote it, but also lend prestige to a brand. If they cannot sell it for less than their independent competition, they would then be doing nothing but helping that competition.

Thus, Dixon jumped on his horse and galloped off on much the same basis as if Paul Revere had warned the Patagonians were coming. He sounded a solemn warning on a situation that cannot happen as any food packer, food salesman, or food broker could have told him. If government lacks anything, it does lack in its ranks practical, experienced businessmen who know how business is done.

High on the agenda will be proposals to revise drastically the "safe driving insurance plan" by which those with accidents or traffic law violations pay more, while those without them pay less.

Statistics say the plan has cut rates for 78 per cent, raised them for 22 per cent. But the complaints about the plan being received by legislators indicates that even those who save aren't too happy with the possibility that one slip might run up their rates.

Drastic revision is possible. Without revision of the plan, a rate cut is in the cards. But if penalty provisions are reduced, it may wipe out the chance of a rate cut.

Board members and the insurance industry are divided as to what to do. Largest of the insurance agents' associations is taking a poll of its members to see what should be done about it.

New Home vote on integration to be Saturday

The New Home school board in Lynn County has called an election for Saturday, June 30, on whether or not the dual school system should be abolished and the schools integrated.

Mrs. Wallace Simpson

The election was called after petitions bearing the names of 93 citizens were submitted to the board.

With 595 children enumerated for the coming year and with five Negro students ready for high school, the New Home school will need several additional classrooms and has no place available to send the Negro high school students.

School officials said that unless integrated, one of two additional teachers will have to be paid entirely from local funds. Also six additional classrooms will be needed if the dual school system is continued.

School Integration vote Scheduled here Monday

Post Independent School District voters will go to the polls Monday in a special election to decide whether or not to integrate the Post schools for the 1962-63 school year.

Voters, as has been usual in other election campaigns here this year, simply aren't talking about the issue, just as voter reaction was extremely quiet to the school district, city council, and county and state primary elections in the last two months.

On each of those occasions there was a strong vote out on election day. The same is expected here Monday.

Only a light absentee vote had been cast through yesterday morning with absentee balloting ending this afternoon. Through Wednesday noon but seven absentee votes had been cast.

The election will be held in the junior high school library with voting hours from 8 a. m. to 7 p. m.

Election judges will be Mrs. Lucille Morris, Mrs. C. D. Hodges, and Mrs. Alma McBride.

The proposition to be voted upon, as it appears on the ballot, is: "FOR: The abolition of the dual public school system in the Post Independent School District. (For integration)."

"AGAINST: The abolition of the dual public school system in the Post Independent School District. (Against integration)."

The wording is that required by state law, which provides Texas school districts can legally integrate only with the approval of the voters.

School district trustees called for the election to determine if voters prefer integration as an economy measure which will enable the tax line and rate to be held or whether they desire to continue operation of Lincoln school and the sending of colored high school students to the Slaton colored high school.

A sizable tax boost, trustees say, will be necessary if integration is turned down.

Trustees are withholding action on the 1962-63 school budget which must be passed in July pending outcome of the special integration election Monday.

The proposed integration will save at least $25,000 this year and approximately $35,000 each succeeding year if voted, trustees have announced. The district was $41,000 short of raising necessary funds to meet the new proposed budget at the current tax rate.

The trustees already have taken steps to trim $16,000 from the budget in their pledge to hold the tax line if integration is voted.

Driver training already has been eliminated from the school curriculum. See INTEGRATION, Page 8

July 4th swim party planned here at city-county pool

Plans are rapidly nearing completion for the annual Fourth of July Swimming Party at the City-County Swimming Pool next Wednesday.

Wayne Runkles, pool operator, announced today that there will be contests, prizes, and fun for everyone during the day-long party. The pool will open at 9 a. m. and close at 7 p. m.

A season ticket to the pool will be given away as a door prize at 5:30 p. m. The winner must be present to win with those coming to the party registering.

Other special events include a thumb race at 11 a. m. which is open to all ages. A piece of cloth will be tied around the thumbs of each entry and they must travel the length of the pool keeping the cloth on both thumbs dry.

Another unusual event will be the 2 p. m. peanut race. Each entrant must travel the length of the pool carrying a peanut between the nose and the upper lip. Any person dropping his or her peanut will be disqualified.

Beginning at 2:45 p. m. will be a bug race, a "dry land event" in which non-swimmers can participate. Each entry must bring his own live bug. Any type of bug will do as long as it cannot fly or hop, Runkles said. All bugs will be placed inside a large circle and the

Junior Rodeo planned if stock, date possible

Post Junior Rodeo Association directors voted Tuesday night to hold the 14th annual Southwestern Championship Junior Rodeo here in late July or early August providing stock and an approved date for the event can be obtained.

Lester Nichols called a second meeting for 8 p. m. Monday night in the district courtroom to make a final decision on holding the event.

He was busy this week contacting rodeo producers for stock and checking with J. R. Todd, Odessa, secretary of the American Junior Rodeo Association, for an approved show date.

The late decision on holding the event this year has come because it wasn't until after the Post Stampede rodeo was completed that Nichols was given an answer by Stampede directors as to whether or not the Stampede rodeo arena would be made available this year for the junior rodeo and what terms for its use would be.

A $250 rental has been asked by the Stampede.

Junior Rodeo directors voted to have a committee of officers contact Post Stampede authorities to see if the arena couldn't be provided rent free this year in view of the $800 worth of repairs the junior rodeo association made at the arena last season.

Junior directors said they didn't want to go by the first week of August in conducting the rodeo here.

The Post school district's special election on whether or not to integrate the schools next year as an economy measure comes up for a Monday decision. The important thing is to remember to go vote. Absentee voting closes this afternoon with only a small number of absentee ballots cast. If that is indication of apathy in citizens' minds then a minority will decide the issue Monday. The Dispatch heartily recommends that every eligible voter go to the polls in the Post Junior High School and vote. It's a community decision which Texas law says we must all make together. The school budget and tax rate will be determined probably next week when the results are known. Don't forget that Monday is election day. Do your duty as a responsible citizen—and vote.

Post merchants are enthusiastically lining up for the first-in-history Sidewalk Sale scheduled for Friday and Saturday, June 13-14. The big interest in a good committee promotion is indicative that local merchants are ready and able to work together to give local trade area shoppers a Main Street literally lined to the sidewalks with bargains. You'll have a lot of fun and do your budget a favor by attending this one.

The big White River dam project is rapidly nearing the "big day"—when the bids will be let Thursday, July 12. We hear there may be up to 60 or 70 bidders on all or various portions of the project. The condemnation commission's decision Monday at Crosbyton will be important too. It won't be long before everyone will know whether costs estimated some five years ago will prove out in 1962 and the $4,000,000 will cover the total cost. We hear that dirt work right now is at low ebb around the country so the bidding seems to be hitting at an ideal time for some money-saving bidding.

We goofed last week on the VFW fish fry ad, advertising it incorrectly at $1 a plate instead of $1.50. It's corrected this week and we want to take the blame and put it on our own shoulders and hope it caused the VFW no embarrassment.

Funeral services for Mrs. Carrie Odom, 84, widow of Dan Odom and pioneer resident of the Grassland community, died at 7:30 p. m. Saturday in the Tahoka hospital.

Funeral services were conducted at 2:30 p. m. Monday in the First Baptist Church at Tahoka with the Rev. A. T. Nixon, route 2, Post, officiating. James Efrid officiated.

Burial was in the Grassland cemetery under direction of the White Memorial Home of Tahoka.

Mrs. Odom had been in failing health for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. Odom and their children moved to the Grassland community 47 years ago in 1895 from Grandfield, Okla. Mr. Odom owned and operated a farm, half mile west of Grassland until his death Sept. 9, 1951.

Since the death of her husband, Mrs. Odom has been living with daughter, Mrs. Ruel Smith in Tahoka.

She had been a member of the First Baptist Church since she was 16 years old. She was a charter member of the Central Baptist Church. Mrs. Odom is survived by three daughters, Mrs. B. A. (Grace) Brown, Mrs. Ruel (Mabel) Smith, of Grassland, and Mrs. Mabel Saunders of Houston; two sons, Ray Odom of Slaton and Earl Odom of Ropesville; eight grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

Postex entertains RMA luncheon today

The Postex Mills was scheduled to host this noon to a luncheon for all members of the Retail Merchants Association of Post with a meeting in the mill following the meal. The former Postex mill building, which has been converted into large meeting rooms.

Crashes bomber crash in which two are killed

Post Navy flyer parachutes into ocean

Called Mrs. Mills from Sanford, Fla., Tuesday to tell Mrs. Mills that her son was not injured and safely escaped the crash.

"I wanted to tell you," she said, "before you read about it in the papers."

The wire service story on the crash appeared in Wednesday morning daily papers, but did not mention Beauchamp as one of the men who had parachuted safely or that he was from Post.

A navy spokesman said in the wire service story that salvage operations were underway in an attempt to raise the wreckage of the A3d Skywarrior which flamed out and plunged into the sea while on a training mission.

Beauchamp, who has been in the naval air force for 20 years, grew up here and attended local schools.

Mrs. Mills said he completed all but his senior year in the local high school and completed it at Sand Springs.

Post to have sidewalk sale

Post is going to have its first Sidewalk Sale ever—Friday and Saturday, July 13-14.

Local merchants attending a special luncheon at Levi's Restaurant Wednesday noon voted unanimously to participate in the Chamber of Commerce Retail Committee event.

What's a sidewalk sale? Just what you might expect. The merchandise is put right out on the sidewalk at bargain haul-it-away prices.

There will be carnival atmosphere too with merchants and clerks dressing up in all kinds of costumes for the affair. There will be music and fun for everyone, the retail committee declared.

Some 30 local merchants already have signed up for participation. Others who didn't get to the luncheon for various reasons are expected to join.

It will be the most widely ballyhooped event in Post's recent merchandising history.

Maxine Durrett, Chamber retail committee chairman, for the event told merchants this is the first of a monthly series of Howdy Day promotions for Post.

Each will be different. G. A. Roach explained details at the luncheon on a Sidewalk Sale and Tom Power briefly reviewed the committee's promotion program for the event and the costs involved.

The retail committee has been hard at work on the project for the last two weeks.

"It's really going to be something different," Roach told the merchants. "Everyone will enjoy themselves and have a chance to buy bargains at ridiculous prices."

Merchants were enthusiastic. All of Post's retail trade territory will be reached in the promotion.

WOUNDED IN FIGHT

One person suffered a flesh wound and was treated at Garza Memorial Hospital and released Saturday night as the result of a fight, Police Chief Elton Corley reported. No charges were sought by the wounded man so no arrests were made, Corley said.

Date is set for softball game

Post Lions at their weekly dinner meeting in Levi's Restaurant Tuesday night heard a talk by Fire Chief Robert Cato and then decided to participate in a benefit softball game with the Mu Alpha Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Friday night, July 20.

Proceeds from the game will go to club projects of the two sponsoring organizations. Tickets will be $1 for adults and 25 cents for children.

Cato reviewed the history and development of Post's outstanding volunteer fire department from ten members to its present 25.

He reported 16 of the members completed a radiation detection course recently and two members go each year to the fire fighters training school at Texas A&M College.

Cato emphasized citizens should stay 300 yards behind fire trucks answering fire calls.

Next week, Leete Jackson from Texas Tech will bring movie highlights of the 1961 football season.

Louie Burkes is installed as new Rotary president

Louie Burkes, head of Postex Mills, was installed Tuesday noon in City Hall as the new president of the Post Rotary Club. The new club year begins July 1.

Burkes succeeds Dr. James Matthews, who automatically as past president becomes the club's vice president.

Walter Johnson will remain as treasurer another year and Lee Ward as secretary for another club year.

Installing officer at the luncheon for new officers and directors was Bruce Pember of Slaton, past district governor who spoke for some length on Rotary International's recent convention in Los Angeles.

"Rotary has a unique place in the world," Pember said. "People look upon it as having a greater potential for spreading international friendship than any other organization."

He cited the student exchange program sponsored by Rotary as one of these friendship projects. He said a district Rotary committee met in Lubbock Sunday to select from six applicants a student from this district to study overseas next year on a Rotary fellowship.

Dr. Matthews' final request as president were for more donations from members to make the Post Rotary Club a 200 per cent club in the Rotary Foundation program for exchange students.

Pember pointed to the club's efforts here to help sponsor a foreign student who will study next year in Post High School.

Condemnation hearing on dam site land Monday

The condemnation hearing to set a price on some 2,000 acres of land for the White River dam site is scheduled for Crosbyton Monday.

Mrs. Lee Walker and heirs of the Walker estate are owners of the land in question.

White River Municipal Water district directors already have purchased the smallest of three needed land parcels for the dam site. The actual dam site will be on the Walker land on which the hearing will be held Monday.

Marvin McLaughlin, Rails banker who is chairman of the district's land committee, has announced the district will deposit the amount required with the Crosby County court following the hearing to obtain use of the land while any appeals from the Crosby court's condemnation commission's decision are made.

Bids for construction of the long-awaited White River dam, filter plant, and water pipelines to the four towns will be received in Crosbyton July 12.

It is expected that contracts will be awarded by Aug. 1 after study by the district's engineers and actual dam construction will get under way shortly thereafter.

Legion sets annual holiday barbecue

Post's American Legion Post No. 270 will observe Independence Day with its annual party at 8 p. m. Tuesday, July 3, at the Legion building, J. M. Baylis, post commander, announced today.

Dispatch winner in state contest

The Post Dispatch received a third place award in the appearance division in the 1962 Texas newspaper contest, sponsored by the Texas Press Association.

The award was in the division for weekly newspapers published in towns of 3,501 to 6,000 population. Micheal Milmoie of the Canastota, N. Y. Bee-Journal, judged the contest.

Contest winners were announced last weekend at the summer convention of the TPA in Corpus Christi.

The Carthage, Panola Watchman placed first and the Pleasanton Express placed second in the appearance contest.
