PHA asks for construction bids on Post public housing project

14 duplex units will be built

The Public Housing Authority of Post, after six years of preparation, today advertised for construction bids for its long-sought public housing project.

Bids will be received until 2 p. m. Wednesday, April 29, when they will be opened by directors of the local housing authority in the Community Room of the First National Bank.

By a one-bid proposition, with bidders asked to submit their bids for the complete development of the housing project, which includes 14 brick duplexes, a management and maintenance building, and site improvements, such as sidewalks, curbs, streets, etc.

Thomas L. Harper, executive director of the local housing authority, said construction on the project is expected to get under way around June 1.

The "invitation to bid" for the construction project appears on page 4 of today's Dispatch. The bid invitation also is being published in daily newspapers in Abilene, Big Spring, Midland and Lubbock, as well as in the building contractor trade journals.

Plans and specifications for the public housing project can be obtained either from Harper here or from the office of the architect-engineer, Wyatt C. Hedrick of Fort Worth.

The 14 duplex housing units will be divided between two sites. Seven duplexes will be built for Latin American families (14 units) and the other eight units for Negro families on the former site of the Lubbock grade school which the housing authority purchased last year from the Post Independent Schools. The management and maintenance building also will be constructed on this site.

The three duplexes for six white families will be constructed at another site in the 200 block South Avenue F, also purchased last year by the housing authority.

The number of public housing units to be constructed for the three racial groups was determined by a sub-standard housing survey made in Post by the housing authority in 1958. That survey established the ratio to be used among the three groups.

The entire public housing project here is financed by the sale of bonds to private investors. Bond payments are guaranteed by the federal public housing authority.

Harper emphasized this point, as he explained that some citizens assume the construction is to be financed from local property taxes.

The local housing project will be under the operative control of the Public Housing Authority of Post, as will its construction.

The five members of the local housing authority, as appointed by the Post City Council are Lee Ward, chairman, Powell Shyites, vice chairman, Jim Cornish, Giles McCrary, and Frank Blanton.

Ward and Cornish are the only two active members of the original housing authority board named over six years ago.

Harper is employed by the housing authority full-time as executive director.

Harper explained that a maximum wage scale will be set by the housing authority as a qualification for occupancy for the low rent housing units. In other words only wage earners earning below the maximum set by the housing authority will be eligible with their families for occupancy of the housing units when completed.

Harper also announced that no applications are being taken for occupancy of the units as yet, but he can put families on a waiting list with formal application to be made later.

The housing authority in its bid invitation retained the right to reject any and all bids.

Getting an acceptable bid will be the last major hurdle to actual beginning of construction.

CURTIS CHRISTOPHER
New Piggly Wiggly Manager

Paul Jones resigns; Christopher is new Piggly manager

Paul Jones, manager of Post's Piggly Wiggly store for the last 18 years, has resigned to devote his full time to campaigning for Precinct No. 1 county commissioner.

Succeeding him as new store manager for Piggly Wiggly here is Curtis Christopher, who comes to Post from Lubbock where he was assistant manager of Piggly Wiggly's new Continental store at 5000 34th St.

Christopher was born and reared in Wilson and is a graduate of Wilson High School. He has been with Piggly Wiggly for two and one-half years, all of it in Lubbock.

The Christopher family includes his wife, Earlene, and small son, Randy, 18 months. The Christophers are living at 916 West Main St. They are members of the Baptist Church.

Jones had been with the Piggly Wiggly organization for 28 years. He started with the super market firm in Lubbock and also worked in Brownfield and Seminole before coming to Post.

Christopher assumed his new managerial duties Monday. He has been in Post for about two weeks becoming acquainted with the store's operation.

Sessions called here on juveniles

A four-hour course of instruction into the law as it pertains to the handling of juveniles (persons 16 years of age and under) has been arranged by Juvenile Judge J. E. Parker and the county's Juvenile Advisory Board.

Invited to attend will be members of the county bar association, the sheriff's department, the police department, township constables, the county judge, justice of the peace, city judge, members of the juvenile board, county attorney and city officers, elected city and county officers, and principals of county schools.

The instruction will be conducted in four one-hour sessions, from 4 to 5 p. m. on April 13, 14, 15 and 16, in the school cafeteria, Judge Parker has announced.

The course also is open to the general public.

3 trustees, 3 aldermen to be chosen

School, city elections Saturday, Tuesday

Large turnouts of voters are expected at the polls here Saturday for the school trustee election and Tuesday for the city alderman election despite the fact that not much interest has been aroused in the elections.

Three school board members are to be chosen in Saturday's election to fill Places 1, 2 and 3 on the board of trustees of the Post Independent School District. There are two candidates for Place 1, four for Place 2 and two for Place 3. This is the first year that school board positions have been filled by places here. In the past, if eight candidates were in the race for three school board places, the three who received the greatest number of votes were elected.

Four candidates are in the running for three city council places and the voting procedure remains unchanged in this election; the three candidates receiving the most votes will be elected.

The school trustee candidates by places and in the order in which their names will appear on the ballot are as follows:

Place 1 — E. R. Moreland and Marshall Ticer.

Place 2 — John E. Carter, M. D., Ted L. Aten, Bill Woods and Hoyt Hill.

Place 3 — Bob Macy and Russell Wilks Jr.

Moreland, Dr. Carter and Wilks are candidates for re-election.

The city alderman candidates in the order in which their names will appear on the ballot are Wesley Scott, Claud Collier Jr., Harry A. Tubbs, M. D., and Arnold Parrish. Scott and Parrish are seeking re-election.

The polls will open at 8 a. m. and close at 7 p. m. in both elections. Saturday's school board balloting will be held in the senior high school library and that for Tuesday's city council election at the City Hall.

Up to noon yesterday, seven absentee votes had been cast in the school board election and five in the city alderman election.

There will also be school trustee (See Elections, Page 8)

Charter banquet held

Big things expected of you, Jaycees here told

"You're under the gun now; you are expected to perform because you are young men." Pete Wright of Dimmitt told members of the newly organized Post Junior Chamber of Commerce at their charter presentation banquet last Thursday night in the school cafeteria.

Wright, a vice president of the Texas Junior Chamber of Commerce, speaking to a crowd of about 100 persons, told the Jaycees, "Tonight is your challenge night . . . your challenge to provide your community with service and at the same time develop leadership among yourselves."

"Do you level best, give it all you've got," Wright continued. "Make of this organization something of which your town will be proud."

"Community development is our number one external obligation and your community will see a direct benefit if you improve yourselves. Young men can change the world . . . what you do here can and will have an effect on the state, the nation and the world."

Prior to his talk, Wright presented the charter to Jaycee President Don Marth.

Marth and the other officers and directors were installed by Phil Orman, a state director of the Lubbock Junior Chamber of Commerce. Those installed besides the president: Ed Blanton, first vice president; Don Dunbar, second vice president; Darrell Eckols, secretary; Will Bigott, treasurer; Garland Huddleston, state director, and Frank Blanton, Ronnie Morris, Fred Myers, Doug Cunningham, and Wayne Richardson, club directors. ## Tag sales total 1,910 for county

A total of 1,910 sets of new 1964 auto license plates were sold up to the Tuesday night deadline in the county tax assessor-collector's office here, T. H. Tipton said yesterday.

A penalty was added yesterday for all tag sales after March 31. Tipton said the last minute rush was not as heavy this year, as car owners kept coming in a virtual steady stream for several days before the deadline.

Tipton "guesses" that tag sales for 1964 will be off slightly from 1963, 2,000 sets of tags were sold last year by the time the office got in its report.

Council candidates make statements

CLAUD COLLIER JR.

HARRY A. TUBBS, M. D.

In last Thursday's Dispatch, candidates for the Post school board were given the opportunity of making statements to the voters concerning their candidacy. This week it is the city councilman candidates' turn.

The candidate statement features have been published every year by The Dispatch as a public service.

Candidates for the city council in the election to be held Tuesday, April 7, are Arnold Parrish, Wesley Scott, Dr. Harry A. Tubbs and Claud Collier Jr. Parrish and Scott are candidates for re-election. Dr. Tubbs and Collier are new candidates.

Parrish is owner of Parrish Grocery & Market; Scott is a farmer, who resides at 905 West 6th St.; Dr. Tubbs has been a physician here for some 12 years, and Collier is owner of Collier Chevrolet.

CHECKS TO RETIRED MILL EMPLOYEES

POSTINGS

Profit Sharing Plan is new feature at Postex

Employees at Postex Cotton Mills, a unit of Burlington Industries, Inc., have recently received statements of their individual accounts in the company's new Profit Sharing Retirement Plan.

Each member of the plan received a personal report showing the amount of money credited to his account. Although the plan was not announced until March of 1963, Burlington employees do not contribute to the plan. The company contributed this year 10 per cent of its net profits, after taxes. Any non-salaried employee with three years of continuous service is eligible to participate in the plan.

Member accounts grow each year from company contributions and from earnings of the trust fund established in connection with the plan.

Members of the plan will share a total company contribution of over $4,300,000. The company contribution equals 3.7 per cent of the members' total wages.

Member accounts grow each year from company contributions and from earnings of the trust fund established in connection with the plan.

James D. Barbee, an executive vice president of Burlington Industries, C. A. Gibson, president of B. I. Cotton Mills, and Harold Bridgeman, division engineer, were on hand to present the first benefit checks issued from the new Profit Sharing Plan to recently retired employees of Postex.

Employees receiving checks were: W. C. Carradine, R. L. Cummings Sr., Mrs. Ollie Cooper, Paul Duren, David Hawkins, Andrew Sweeten, Mrs. Minnie Flowers, and Garth Smith, deceased.

Louie Burkes, plant manager, stated that this group represented a total of 90 years of service with Postex, four with 14 years or more. He also stated that this was the type loyalty and devotion that have come to expect and that has been an important factor in the continued growth of Postex.

Four are injured in car collision

Four persons were treated and dismissed at Garza Memorial Hospital last Friday for injuries received in a two-car smash-up at the intersection of Avenue F and U. S. Hwy. 380.

Police Chief Elton Corley, who investigated, said the accident occurred when a car driven by Mrs. R. D. Moore, 63, of Hamlin ran a stop sign and collided with one driven by Janet Bryant, 17, of Lubbock.

Mrs. Moore, riding alone in her car, was driving north on Avenue F, and the Bryant car was going east on Hwy. 380, Corley said. Miss Bryant, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Bryant, and Mrs. Moore all received treatment at the hospital.

Both automobiles were heavily damaged in the collision, which occurred at 12:15 p. m. The police chief gave Mrs. Moore a ticket for running a stop sign.

Metcalf, Williams buy stock in Slaton bank

Irby G. Metcalf, president of the First National Bank here, and E. S. Williams Jr., former Post man who is president of the Citizens National Bank of Lubbock, have both purchased stock in the Citizens State Bank of Slaton.

This was disclosed today in the announcement from Slaton that J. S. Edwards Jr., president of the Slaton bank, has disposed of the major part of his bank stock and will resign from active management.

Purchasing bank stock from Edwards, besides Williams and Metcalf, was Tommy Wallace of Roswell, N. M., who will move to Slaton with his family to become executive vice president of the Slaton bank.

H. T. Swanner, who is the bank's current vice president, will become president of the Slaton bank succeeding Edwards, according to the announcement from Slaton.

Wallace, who is 33, has been senior vice president of the First National Bank in Roswell since March, 1963. He will assume his new Slaton bank duties about April 15.

Wallace began his banking career at Wills Point, Tex. In 1952 he joined the National Bank Examiner's force, serving three years as an assistant and eight years as a national bank examiner before going to Roswell last year.

Wallace worked with Metcalf on the national bank examiner's force. He and his wife, Joyce, have three children, Shannon, 5, Shelli, 4, and Sheryl Beth, 7 months.

Let's take aim at Post's future

This is Texas Industrial Week—and a mighty good time for Post folks to take stock of their own industrial situation.

In the Postex Mills, this community has an up-to-the-minute modern industry of which any community our size could be proud.

Coming into our "industrial picture" in 1964 is the new White River lake and water supply which given some usual hard spring rains, should be in operation by summer.

This lake, according to engineers, will take care of all Post's foreseeable water needs for the remainder of this century.

This new factor, which will solve Post's principal industrial "ill"—a limited amount of water—is a challenge to the community to get up and after new industry.

The Chamber of Commerce industrial committee is considering several projects, one among them being a combination airport and industrial site.

Other news from the Chamber of Commerce front also is encouraging. A Community Workshop is scheduled here for late April, to be conducted by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce in behalf of the local chamber, in which all interested local residents will have the opportunity to express their ideas for community projects and community development.

The workshop is the first major step in a real overhaul of the Chamber organization which will eventually develop into an all-out membership campaign.

From the hundreds of suggestions gathered in the two-day Community Workshop, the Chamber will work out a program of work and initiate the most promising projects.

The Workshop is going to generate a lot of enthusiasm. And the beauty of it is that only one hour of anybody's time will be asked for attendance at the workshop. Surely, you can afford an hour FOR YOUR COMMUNITY.

All of these things are healthy for Post's future and for community growth.

This Texas Industrial Week, we should all take aim at Post's future, resolve to work together, to do our "individual parts" in community work ahead, and to be enthusiastic and cooperative with community leaders at all levels.

The most heartening thing to report about Post's future really is the new spirit of enthusiasm and cooperation which has spread over our community.

One of the prime factors any industry puts high on their shopping list in seeking communities in which to locate plants is simply "a good place to live."

Post is such a community. With an unlimited water supply at last within reach, it is time we really get to work together and take dead aim at our future.—JC

I ATE BREAKFAST earlier last Saturday morning than I have in many a moon and at the same time sat in on a meeting of one of the most "exclusive" garden clubs to be found anywhere.

The thing that makes this garden club so exclusive is that it spends all its time trying to organize when it meets for breakfast at 6:30 o'clock every Saturday morning at the Rocket Cafeteria. It didn't take me long sitting in as a "special guest" at last Saturday morning's meeting to learn why the club hasn't been able to get under way yet with any gardening projects.

A FEW MEMBERS were absent at last Saturday morning's meeting of the club. Those present, in the order of their appearance, were Lewis C. Herron, Fred Myers, Scotty Samson, J. B. Potts, Dad Greenfield and Mayor Harold Lucas.

Five of the members present Saturday spent most of the meeting time trying to convince the other member, Fred Myers, that he is president of the club and that the only way he can get out of serving is for someone to shoot him or for the club to impeach him. Fred can't abdicate, he was informed.

THE CLUB DOESN'T have a name yet and at the rate things are going it's hard to tell when it will have one. Right now, Saturday Morning Breakfast Garden Club seems about as good a name as any until they get all the officers properly installed and a constitution and by-laws adopted.

In the meantime, the gals of the Green Thumb Garden Club have no reason to worry about competition in their garden clubbing activities. From what I observed at Saturday morning's breakfast meeting, it will be a while yet before the Saturday Morning Breakfast Garden Club is in a position to give any organization much competition.

I DON'T MEAN to sound ungrateful. I enjoyed my breakfast with the club and appreciated the invitation to meet with them. I'm just reporting the proceedings as I saw them.

The Man Up the Street says that in times like these it helps to recall that there have always been times like these.

WHILE OUR federal government fumes and frets over replacement of the vice president when that office is left vacant, as at present, the Future Homemakers of America chapter out at Post High School has its succession arrangement well taken care of. The FHA chapter named no less than five vice presidents when it elected new officers recently. So, there is little chance of the vice president's office ever being left vacant there for any reason.

I SEE BY THE current issue of the First Baptist Church bulletin that the pulpit committee is considering calling the Rev. Joe Vernon as new pastor to fill the vacancy that has existed since the resignation of the Rev. Bill Hogue. I knew Joe Vernon when he was attending high school in Brownfield, where his father, W. M. (Mutt) Vernon, was school principal. Joe was quite an athlete in high school, where I knew him through my coverage of sports for the Brownfield newspaper. He played football at Hardin-Simmons University, where he graduated in 1951, and then went on to Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, where he received his B. D. degree in 1954. There's been a lot of water under the bridge since I've last seen Joe, but I've heard of him and his work in the ministerial field on the two or three occasions I've seen his father, Mutt Vernon, since moving from Brownfield.

My apologies to the new Post Junior Chamber of Commerce for the "goof-up" on the pictures at last Thursday night's charter presentation banquet. Something went wrong on two of the shots, with the only one turning out being that of the Jaycee directors. It doesn't happen too often, but when it does it's always on some picture you especially wanted to get.

A BROADWAY producer who went to a doctor for a check-up was told, "You'll have to give up wine and women—you can sing as much as you want to."

Don't forget to vote in Saturday's school trustee election.

Improvements added First Christian here

Many beautiful improvements and new appointments have been added to the First Christian Church recently, Bernard S. Ramsey, minister, announces.

The improvements include a fence across the rear of the church property, extending a city block and enclosing the parsonage property. The fence is of West Coast cedar, erected on a concrete foundation extending eight inches above ground level and is affixed to two-by-fours bolted to steel posts.

To further beautify the grounds, an underground sprinkler system is being installed across the front block-long lawn.

Large block aluminum letters reading "The First Christian Church" have been affixed to the front of the church and a white neon cross has been installed in the huge steel cross atop the bell tower. The lighted cross has been placed in the channel of the steel cross and can be seen for a considerable distance at night, the minister said.

All of the exterior woodwork of the church and parsonage has been repainted. "These very practical hancing improvements made possible through the city of Mr. and Mrs. Willpatrick," the minister said. In a dedication service Easter morning worshipers gathered dedicated new pations, which are of foam ered with a rich, old Also dedicated were shields, a new lectern a flower pedestal, all mat present furniture and ma sanctuary.

Lions' sight program ranks No. 1

For something like a dozen years now, the Post Lions Club's sight-conservation program has ranked on a par with any similar program sponsored by any civic group anywhere, and it is getting even bigger and better.

When the Lions donated the eye-testing reading equipment to the Post Public Schools a few weeks ago, it marked a new high point in their sight-conservation program. Scores of students of all ages stand to gain through the use of this equipment during the next few years.

Down through the years, the Lions have purchased eye glasses for needy children, as well as for adults, and have contributed otherwise to helping save the eyesight of those unable to pay for examinations, treatment and correction.

Sight-conservation is by no means the only beneficial community service program engaged in by the Post Lions Club, but there is little doubt about its being their No. 1 community project.

So, when the Lions Club stages its first annual talent show here April 18 for the benefit of its sight-conservation program, it behooves each of us to support the show wholeheartedly by our interest and attendance. It is one event to which you can pay the price of admission with the assurance that the proceeds are going for a good cause.—CD

Their interest merits your vote

The interest in their community and its schools that eight citizens have shown in filing their candidacies for election to the school board here merits a sizable turnout of voters in Saturday's school trustee election.

Regardless of for whom we vote to fill each of the three places to be filled on the school board, each of us should show our appreciation of these men's willingness to serve by casting a ballot in Saturday's election.

The Post Public Schools have made big strides during the 1963-64 school year and the trend of progress, instead of slackening, is gaining momentum. We can help keep it going by our interest in school affairs and one of the best ways to do this will be to vote in Saturday's school trustee election.—CD

What our contemporaries are saying

This Texas Industrial Week

Post's Two Major Industries —

- POSTEX COTTON MILLS

- GARZA'S OIL INDUSTRY

(Which Includes Brown Brothers, Et Al—And Many Other Oil Production Firms In This Area)

Governor's Proclamation

GREETINGS:

By resolution of the Legislature, the week of April 1-7 is observed each year as Texas Industrial Week.

Manufacturing is the most rapidly expanding source of income in our State, and through the Texas Industrial Commission we are actively seeking new plants and encouraging the expansion of others. In 1963 Texas ranked second only to New York in new plant locations.

It is important that Texans understand the need for maintaining an economic climate conducive to industrial development and the companion need for stable government on the State and local levels. In this era of technological change, it is essential that we encourage the creation of new job opportunities through industrial growth, resulting in more business, more trade, more income and more investment.

Industrial Week gives us the opportunity to show appreciation to Texas industry through the promotion, display and purchase of products manufactured in this State.

THEREFORE, I, as Governor of Texas, do hereby designate the period of April 1-7, 1964, as TEXAS INDUSTRIAL WEEK in this state, and urge all citizens to give due recognition to this vital segment of our economy.

JOHN CONNALLY
Governor of Texas

The economic well being of this community and area has been dependent upon our industrial base in cotton sheeting manufacturing and oil production as well as our area's farm and ranching productivity.

We recognize this TEXAS INDUSTRIAL WEEK the importance of our industries and pledge to you our continued support.

According to the statistics supplied by the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, when an industry adds 100 workers to the local labor force, the community gains: 359 more people, 65 more employed in non-manufacturing, 91 more school children, $710,000 more personal income annually, 100 more households, $331,000 more retail sales per year, 97 more passenger cars registered, $229,000 more bank deposits, and three more retail establishments.

What we can do to help you and to encourage you to expand further, we stand ready and willing to do.

We are proud to say that Texas is really "on the move" in industrial growth. Here in Post we are extremely proud of our present industry. As we consider future growth for this community we well know that our best hope for new industrial growth lies in your expansion and development.

Miss Lynda Davis becomes bride of Kent Galen Gibson at Tahoka

Methodist Church of Tahoka was the scene for the wedding of Miss Lynda Davis and Kent Galen Gibson, Saturday, March 28, with the Rev. Audrey White reading the wedding vows.

The bride wore a white floor-length gown with a scooped neckline featuring a scooped bodice embroidered with seed and crystal beads. The long sleeves came to petal-like flares at the wrists. The bouquet was accented with a busby and a white veil.

The groom wore a white tuxedo with a white bow tie. The bride carried a bouquet of white orchids. The bride is a graduate of Post High School and Texas Christian University in Fort Worth.

The bride's father, Mr. J. L. Davis, is a member of the Tahoka Methodist Church. The groom is a member of the Tahoka Methodist Church.

The bride and groom were married at 4 o'clock in the afternoon in the First Baptist Church in Slaton.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Davies, Route 2, Post and Mr. Sparkman is the grandson of Mrs. Fred Stottlemyre of Slaton.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal gown of ivory tulle with a fitted bodice and a full skirt. The gown featured a portrait neckline, long petal point sleeves, and a sculptured bodice adorned with garlands of re-embroidered Alencon lace.

The bride is a graduate of Southland High School and attended Texas Tech. She is employed by Globe Life Insurance in Lubbock.

Mr. Sparkman is a graduate of Slaton High School and Texas Tech and is a coach at Slaton Junior High School. The couple is at home in Slaton.

They wore blue cotton satin dresses designed with bell-shaped street-length skirts and white eyelet boleros which opened in the back to reveal covered buttons.

Headpieces were circlets of blue tulle attached to clusters of daisies.

J. W. Clifton of Dallas was best man. Tom Lacey of Ralls and Stanley White of Lamesa were groomsmen.

Ushers were Bill Davies, brother of the bride, Bob Martin of Littlefield and Greeley Myers and Ronnie Foster of Lubbock.

Wedding selections were by Larry Smith, soloist, accompanied by Miss Robin Davies, pianist. Mrs. Aubrey McNeely played organ selections.

Misses Kelly Jo Myers and Brenda Dabbs, were candlelighters; Sundee Stewart of Gail, niece of the bride, was flower girl, and Barry Copeland was ring bearer.

After the reception, Mrs. Sparkman donned a pink silk suit featuring a white overblouse with a cowl collar and bone accessories for the wedding trip.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL - ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

There comes a time, even in a chick's life, when the way must open to a greatly expanded world. When his confining shell no longer allows proper growth, he makes a point of throwing off his shackles and steps out into a big, strange world.

This comparatively simple phenomenon is paralleled in human existence as each child grows toward adulthood, and reaches out for the wider horizon. What he finds there will depend in great part on what he has been taught.

For this reason the early and continued guidance of Christian home and church are all-important. From these things the foundation of faith is built. Through faith and understanding the shackles of fear and bondage are dispelled, and your child grows spiritually strong to meet the ever-widening horizons and challenges of a modern world.

Know Your Candidate

JOHN C. WHITE
Democratic Candidate For Commissioner of Agriculture

John C. White is an ex-professor who believed so firmly in the agricultural lessons he taught in the classroom that he decided to get in a position to put them into practice statewide.

He accomplished his purpose in 1951 when he became Texas' sixth Commissioner of Agriculture at the age of 26.

White was born on a small tenant farm in Newport, Clay County and spent his youth on a farm. He attended elementary schools in Newport and Bellevue before graduating from Iowa Park High School. His father, E. H. White, is a retired farmer living in Wichita Falls.

White is a 1946 graduate of Texas Technological College with a degree in Agriculture. He has done graduate work at Texas A&M University. Before his career as a state official, he was first an instructor and later head of the Department of Animal Husbandry at Midwestern University in Wichita Falls.

The Commissioner believes that Texas agriculture and the industry it provides make up the keystone of the State's economy. Because of this and Texas' position as the nation's top combined producer of food and fiber, White feels that the job of Commissioner of Agriculture is of highest importance.

During his tenure in office, he has gained national recognition for his work on agricultural legislation and farm problems. He has served several times in the National Democratic Agricultural panel. On the state level, his work and recommendations for drought and an adequate water program have served as a pattern for legislative action.

White is immediate past president of the 14-state Southern Commissioners of Agricultural organization.

He was married in 1944 to the former Mary Jean Price of Hunt County while both were students at Texas Tech. They have three sons, Richard, 17, Edward, 12, and Jake Rayburn, 11.

Rates are raised on parcel post

An increase in domestic parcel post rates became effective here yesterday and at other post offices throughout the nation.

The higher rates do not affect air parcel post or international post.

The rate increase, averaging about 13.1 per cent, is expected to yield about $75,400,000 annually, according to the Post Office Department.

Catalog rates were increased approximately 13 per cent and will produce added revenue of about $2,400,000 if the 1962 volume is maintained.

The last parcel post rate increase before yesterday's went into effect Feb. 1, 1960.

To illustrate the effect of the new rates on the average patron, a six-pound parcel—which is average rate—for local area delivery will now cost 37 cents instead of 32 cents.

ARMY'S PROGRAM FOR GRADUATES

Sgt. Melvin Baker, recruiter, announces the U. S. Army secrets of getting ahead—an enlistment program for high school seniors and graduates. Within 60 days of graduation, they can select the technical training course of their choice before enlistment and be guaranteed attendance, in writing, by the Army.

Over 100 technical training courses are offered under the Army's graduate specialist program. There are courses in electronics, guided missiles, radar, television and radio up to 42 weeks in length.

Other courses include nuclear weapons, chemicals, aircraft maintenance, finance, helicopter maintenance, photography, surveying, etc.

"Choose your training, qualify, and have your course reserved before you enlist in the Army," Sgt. Baker said.

The recruiting officer can be contacted on his visits to Post or at 1110 Texas Avenue in Lubbock.

DEADLINE CREEPING UP ON INSPECTIONS

Department of Public Safety officials remind Texans who have not had their motor vehicles inspected that the April 15 deadline is less than two weeks away.

"Every minute of the inspection station's time is now at a premium," said Col. Homer Garrison Jr., director of the DPS.

Starting Thursday, April 16, Garrison said, officers will be obligated to start handing out tickets for non-compliance with the Motor Vehicle Inspection Law, which requires an annual inspection of vehicles.

Texas oil industry is in healthy condition, RR commissioner says

AUSTIN — Texas crude oil currently is selling for more dollars than any year since the Suez crisis in 1957, Railroad Commissioner Jim Langdon reports.

Langdon said this should be welcome news to the people of Texas because the Texas oil and gas dollar pays for 42 per cent of the state's cost of public education, and almost 60 per cent of the state's cost of teacher retirement, old-age assistance, blind assistance and aid to dependent children.

He stated that oil production is up three per cent over the previous year, and "an even more encouraging" jump is expected for 1964.

Langdon said the fact that the Texas petroleum industry was in such a healthy state after more than half a century of intensive development could be laid to two factors: (1) There was a lot of oil to begin with; and (2) it has not been wasted promiscuously.

Critics of the way the Railroad Commission has regulated the oil and gas industries disregarded the Commissioners' duty to guard the public interest. When they talked about allowables and production, they ignored the fact that natural gas has in recent years become an important energy source replacing to some extent oil; and that Texas was more dominant in gas production than in crude oil production.

Langdon is the newest member of the Railroad Commission, having been appointed last spring. Now he is seeking the voters' approval to serve the remaining four years

WHAT ELSE CAN WE DO?

We can form a real "community team" and adopt an attitude of cooperation and working together for this community's common good. We must be alert, each of us, to all opportunities. Attracting industry is a highly competitive field these days. It isn't the job for any one committee. It's the whole community's job.

OUR FUTURE LIES IN INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT

The Texas Industrial Commission up and down and across this big state is preaching the need for towns large and small to look to industry for their future. The Southwest is said to be the nation's greatest area for future development. As a state, Texas is now actively seeking industry and asks only that towns and cities cooperate to attract new plants.

WHERE DO WE START?

The answer is simple. It is with what we already have. The industrial base of our community is built upon our farm-ranch industry of our trade area, our fine Postex Cotton Mills, and our oil industry. Our first job is to encourage these industries to expand further and to create a business climate which will help them. And this is where our community has begun. We ARE aware of the needs of our cotton mills, our farmers, our ranchers, and our oil production companies. We ARE trying to help as a community. And we WILL continue with our best efforts to help them.

GOOD ECONOMIC CLIMATE ALSO A MUST

As Governor John Connally points out in his Texas Industrial Week proclamation, "it is important that Texans understand the need for maintaining an economic climate conducive to industrial development and the companion need for stable government on the state and local levels." These are important factors for all of us to remember. With able community leadership, Post should have no problems here.

.... A future that challenges all of us

WHITE RIVER WATER ALMOST AT HAND

For the last seven years, this community together with Ralls, Crosbyton, and Spur has worked to secure the White River dam and "all the water we can use in this century." Dream has become reality. The project has been completed. When the rains come, this community's one major weakness, a limited water supply, will at last be behind us.

OUR FUTURE LIES IN INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT

The Texas Industrial Commission up and down and across this big state is preaching the need for towns large and small to look to industry for their future. The Southwest is said to be the nation's greatest area for future development. As a state, Texas is now actively seeking industry and asks only that towns and cities cooperate to attract new plants.

Attracting industry is a highly competitive field these days. It isn't the job for any one committee. It's the whole community's job.

MAKING POST A BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

Many folks don't realize how important this factor is in attracting industry. Towns with all the necessary facilities—good schools, churches, recreation, etc., for enjoyable family living are the kind of towns industry wants for plant locations because it is in such towns that their workers will be happiest. Post is a fine town in which to live. Let us remember that in everything we do individually and together to make Post a better town in which to live, we improve this community's chances for future growth.

GOOD ECONOMIC CLIMATE ALSO A MUST

As Governor John Connally points out in his Texas Industrial Week proclamation, "it is important that Texans understand the need for maintaining an economic climate conducive to industrial development and the companion need for stable government on the state and local levels." ### Mrs. Hoover concludes it's time for nice weather

By MRS. O. H. HOOVER
Here I am at home again after my nearly losing battle with the flu, not well, but able, I hope to write a little news. I hope everyone feels better than I do.

We sure are having some pretty days—and about time. I have never seen the month of March so consistently windy and sandy to not have any bad sand storms. Sand just blew nearly every day. Here is hoping for a wet April.

Mr. and Mrs. Carlos McCleskey fixed lunch Easter Sunday for the entire McCleskey and Allen clans. Attending were Mr. and Mrs. W. G. McCleskey, Mr. and Mrs. C. O. McCleskey and Delbert, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Allen and daughter of Lubbock and Don Ritchey.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Huffaker and Mr. and Mrs. Kelly Laws and children spent the weekend in Colorado Spring, Colo., visiting relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Odie Campbell and Norma Jean and J. F. Moore visited friends and relatives in Edgewood over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Kenley of O'Donnell visited the Roy Applings Sunday evening.

Glenda Childs and children spent the Easter weekend with Mrs. Eva Childs and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Young.

Mrs. E. A. Thomas spent the weekend in Andrews with her children and granddaughters, the John Paul Lawson family.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Appling went to Kileen last Friday to visit their daughter, Mrs. A. Z. Short, and family; to Bryan to visit their grandson, Sharyl Lawson, and to Milno to visit their granddaughter, Mrs. Patricia Westbrook, and family. They came home on the Redbud Trail and report it was beautiful.

Visitors in the Methodist parsonage over the weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Joe McCright of Snyder, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Henson and children of Levelland and Mr. and Mrs. Jackie Yeats and Becky of Post.

Ceretha Jones and Carol Campbell spent a night last week with Ceretha's grandmother, Mrs. C. C. Jones.

MRS. C. C. JONES is visiting in Coleman for several days with her sister-in-law, Mrs. C. B. Hardin. Mrs. Hardin plans to come home with Mrs. Jones for an extended visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schkade and sons of Rotan were luncheon guests of their grandmother, Mrs. O. H. Hoover, Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Walker visited Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Huddleston at Post Saturday.

Mrs. Grace Thomas spent last week in Lubbock with her daughters, Mrs. Edd Young and Mrs. Betty Grace Hall and Tommy while her husband was fishing.

Mr. and Mrs. Amos Gerner visited Sunday evening with Mrs. Fay Claborn and son, Forrest, and Mrs. Frank Anderson and daughters of Roswell, N. M.

Nancy Norman spent the Easter weekend in Post with Mrs. Tom Boucher.

Wanda Markham and Debbye Anton visited Mr. and Mrs. Jess Propst Friday. Miss Ida Montgomery of Slaton was a weekend guest. He is able to get out some when the weather permits and is gaining some strength, Bernice reports. We wish for him more speed in his recovery.

The Bill Moore family of Seagraves visited the C. A. Walkers Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Edwards of Dimmitt visited her mother, Mrs. Martha Harris, Thursday.

Lopes look to District

The Post Antelope track and field team will take a rest this weekend as far as competition is concerned, but will continue workouts in preparation for the District AAA meet at Denver City on Friday, April 10.

Coach Glynn Gregg's sprint medley relay team placed fourth at San Angelo last Saturday for the squad's only points in the San Angelo Relays.

The sprint medley relay team turned in a time of 3:50.7 in placing fourth behind Aspermont, Menard and Winters. The Post team was clocked in faster time, 3:49.0, in its qualifying heat Friday.

Running on the Post team were Ronald Simpson and Butch Cross, 20's; Danny Pierce, 440, and Ruben Solis, 880.

The 440-relay team failed to qualify because of a dropped baton, but would have had its best time of the season thus far, Coach Gregg said.

The mile relay team, with a time of 3:39.2, barely missed qualifying for the finals.

Coach Gregg said he expects to enter a full slate of athletes in the district meet at Denver City April 10.

The host Mustangs, with their well-balanced squad, are odds-on favorites to repeat as district champions. Post, Slaton and Frenship are expected to stage a real battle for the runner-up position. Slaton appears to be the strongest in the field events, but Post and Frenship have the edge on the Tigers in the running events.

The district freshman and junior high track and field competition will be held at Denver City on Saturday, April 11. Post will have teams in both divisions.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

By VERN SANFORD

Distemper and infectious hepatitis, the two most common diseases of dogs, are not mysterious. Veterinarians know what causes them. They also know how to diagnose the infections, and take preventive steps to ward off the germs. Yet these two highly contagious diseases kill more good hunting dogs each year than all other diseases combined.

In fact, the average reader would be surprised at the number of expensive purebred dogs struck down every day by these omnipresent diseases. Carelessness of dog owners is the direct cause of most of these deaths. Lack of information is another reason.

Some people don't know the true facts about vaccination; others keep off the immunizations until it is too late.

Distemper is the No. 1 killer of dogs.

A DOG OWNER may recognize the symptoms of the disease in the morning and by that afternoon his pet may be dead. Death is a frequent end result of this highly contagious disease.

Even should the dog recover, it is apt to have permanent nervous symptoms which cannot be cured.

There is nothing new about distemper. Scientists have been researching it for ages. An effective vaccine was discovered more than two decades ago.

A European named Carre isolated a virus which he believed to be the actual cause of distemper. Other scientists discovered that dogs often were infected with certain bacterial germs which they declared were the true causes of distemper.

First concrete findings to back up Carre's discovery came from two English scientists, Laidlaw and Dunkin. They studied distemper for several years.

ALTHOUGH THEY confirmed Carre's findings, they proved that true virus distemper is a relatively mild disease and the more serious complications usually are the "secondary bacterial invaders" of the disease.

With these two highly contagious diseases it is foolhardy to gamble. Get your dog immunized against both while it is still young. You owe it to the best friend and hunting companion you'll ever have.

Some general symptoms of distemper are sleepiness, drowsiness, high fever . . . and sometimes with diarrhea . . . and periodical vomiting.

Occasionally an animal will appear to be completely recovered only to have a relapse. He may develop convulsions or fits 14 to 30 days later.

This is the most serious stage of distemper since the virus by that time has penetrated the nervous system.

Leave the dog alone during these fits and don't become alarmed. The pet isn't "mad" and it won't bite.

Should the dog recover, prognosis is apt to be poor. The animal may be paralyzed, retarded or develop a permanent muscle twitch.

For preventative protection your dog should be immunized while it is still young. Distemper is most prevalent and severe in dogs at the age of six to eight weeks.

ALTHOUGH IT IS not as widespread and common as distemper, infectious hepatitis is just as deadly. Usually this disease strikes young dogs, so early immunization is important. Vaccinations are permanent.

Some apparent symptoms of infectious hepatitis are a severe lassitude or drowsiness, lack of appetite, high temperature and tenderness in the abdomen in the region of the last rib.

Infectious hepatitis is most prevalent in dogs from six weeks old to a year. It is highly contagious.

If you have a litter of puppies and one shows symptoms of the disease, better have the vet administer serum to the other dogs immediately. Reason is: the virus passes from one dog to another, from food dishes or water containers, or even from the hands of persons who have handled a sick dog.

Know Your Candidate

W. SEARS MCGEE
Democratic Candidate for Supreme Court of Texas
Place 1

Upon his return from service, McGee studied refresher courses at the South Texas School of Law. Then he rejoined his old firm until he was elected Judge of the County Court at Law in 1948.

He served in that office for two additional terms before joining the University of Houston Law School faculty in 1950 as instructor in Civil Practice and Procedure. McGee held this position until 1952 when he was appointed to the newly created 151st District Court. He resigned one year later to assist in the business of his uncle, who was in ill health.

McGee was elected Judge of the 55th District Court in 1958 for his first term. He was re-elected in 1962.

Judge McGee maintains an active pace in both professional and civic affairs. He is secretary-treasurer and vice president of the Houston Junior Bar Association; is on the legislative committee of the judicial section of the State Bar; is vestryman at Palmer Memorial Episcopal Church; is director of the central branch of the Y.M.C.A.; and is a member of the Community Council. He has served three years as a State Bar Association director.

Today he is president of the Houston Council for Deaf Children; is a member of Sons of Hermann, S.P.J.S.T.; Gray Lodge No. 329 A.F.&A.M.; Scottish Rite; Arabic Temple Shrine; and is vice president of Little League Baseball.

Judge McGee is married to the former Mary Beth Peterson of Yoakum. They have six children: James Sears, Rice University senior; Mary Gray, University of Texas as sophomore; and four—Claire, Alice, George and Erwin—in his Houston Public Schools.

McGee lives in his native Houston where he was born on Sept. 29, 1917. He attended Houston public schools and Rice University, then received his law degree from the University of Texas in June, 1940.

His oil and gas and general civil practice with a Houston law firm was interrupted by World War II duty in 1943. He served 3 years in the Navy, with 15 months of the time being spent in the Pacific area aboard a destroyer escort.

Highway contract awarded in area

SNYDER — Contract has been awarded to Henry L. Stafford on a U. S. Hwy. 84 project that extends 7.961 miles from 12 miles northwest of Snyder to the Garza County line.

The contract calls for grading, structures, base and two courses of surface treatment for additional lanes at a cost of about $549,348.

Another U. S. Hwy. 84 project on which work is under way begins at the east city limit of Snyder and extends 6.389 miles to the northwest. The contract, calling for base and hot mix asphaltic treatment, was for $791,609.19.

Justiceburg pupils go on egg hunt after presenting Easter program

The Justiceburg school children entertained their mothers and other guests with an Easter program at 2:30 p. m. March 25, and were in turn entertained with an Easter Egg Hunt and refreshments by the Women's Club.

The program was opened with Lee Merri Cross giving "Easter Wish" followed by the reading of scriptures from John 3:16 and Psalm 121. The 3rd, 4th, 5th and 6th grades sang "In the Garden". Mrs. Sid Cross led in prayer.

Denise Schlehuber gave "Happy Easter Day"; Elizabeth Torres, "What Easter Is"; and Sonya Bevers, "A Child's Faith". Piano solos were played by the following: Rafael Rios, "Winter Is Coming"; "Mr. Big and Mr. Little"; Flora Rivera, "Mr. Bunny"; and Robert McWhirt, "Peacock Puzzle."

A play, "The Fable of the Rabbit", was presented by the first three grades. They also sang, "Here Comes Peter Cotton Tail" and "Edward, the Easter Egg." Rafael Rios sang "The Wind" and Liddie Bell Mize "Little Things."

The program, under the direction of teachers, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Franklin, was concluded with a play entitled "Easter Eggs" including a cast composed of Nona Forrest, Barbara Boren, Elizabeth Torres, Sonny Bevers and Danny McWhirt.

Finding prize Easter eggs in the hunt that followed were: Jennifer Miller, Bruce Gene Reed, Denise, Robert, Elizabeth and Sonya.

Mrs. Riley Miller and Mrs. Douglas McWhirt were in charge of refreshments. Punch, ice cream and

EAT WELL

Even though you're 60 or 70, or more, don't "retire" from good eating habits. All of your life you need foods that will give you protein, minerals, and vitamins, and foods for energy and warmth.
 Unless you have a special health problem, food specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Research Service say you should continue to include in your daily diet (1) milk products, (2) meat, poultry, fish, eggs, or dry beans and peas as occasional alternates, (3) bread and other cereal products, and (4) fruits and vegetables . . . and some fats and sweets.
 If you cook for two, or just for yourself, the "large economy size" is no bargain. Part of it will grow stale or spoil before it can be used, and leftovers can be dull. When you do have leftovers, don't just "warm them up"—make a new and interesting dish by combining them with each other or with freshly prepared foods.
 You can prepare a nourishing meal even on a one-burner hot plate—for example, a one-dish meal that includes meat and vegetables. Or cook one food in the bottom of a double boiler while another warms in the top. Food cooked in a heavy, covered pot will stay warm while you use the burner to cook another.
 In any case, make mealtime pleasant. If you don't want to set the table, fix an attractive tray and take it to the television or that window with a view.

bleach that is safe for the fabric and dye.
 If the fabric is not washable,ARS clothing specialists suggest you sponge the stain with cool water or force cool water through it with a small syringe. Use a sponge under the stain to absorb the water. If the stain persists, rub detergent on it and work the detergent into the fabric. Rinse the spot well with water. A greasy stain can be removed in the same way as directed for washable articles.
 Caution: Fumes from all grease solvents are toxic. Use only with adequate ventilation. Some solvents are also flammable. Read label and follow carefully any precautions listed.

Longtime residents of area move to Floydada

Mr. and Mrs. I. L. Chandler moved to Floydada this week after having been on the same farm six miles west of Post for 19 1/2 years.
 The Chandlers will live in Floydada, but will help their son, Charles Chandler, farm a place three miles south of there.
 Charles and his wife, the former Betty Sue Norman, have lived on the farm near Floydada for the last three years. They have three daughters.
 The farm the I. L. Chandlers have been on here for 19 1/2 years is one of L. G. Thuet's places.

RETURNS TO COLLEGE

Curtis Didway returned to West Texas State University at Canyon Monday after spending Easter with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Didway. Returning with him was David Dennis, also a WTSU student, who spent the holiday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Dennis of Gail.

FAMILY VISIT

Mrs. L. C. McCullough and Mary Ellen returned home Easter Sunday night from a month's visit in Kensington, Md., with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Fairall. The Fairalls are the parents of a daughter, Holly Meade, born March 15, and weighing 6 lbs., 14 ozs. Mrs. McCullough and Mary Ellen rode home with Sgt. Larry McCullough and family who had been in Maryland visiting relatives. The McCulloughs' son is stationed at Reese AFB at Lubbock.

STUBBORN CHOCOLATE STAINS

Special holiday treats—the traditional box of Christmas chocolates or a dessert topped with chocolate syrup—often call for special treatment after the party's over.
 Chocolate stains are usually no problem if given proper attention, say textile chemists of the U. S. Department of Agricultural Research Service.
 If the fabric is washable, sponge the stain with cool water or soak it for 30 minutes or longer. If the stain remains, work detergent into it, then rinse thoroughly and allow the article to dry. Use a grease solvent to remove any remaining stain. If colored stain remains after the fabric dries, use a chlorine or sodium perborate bleach or hydrogen peroxide. Be sure to use a PIT BARBECUE—To serve at Ge. Spertman's Cafe, 222 East Main (Adv.)
