AROUND THE HOUSE

Planning to wash your lamp shades soon? The quicker they are dried the better for them. Turn an electric fan on shades as soon as they are rinsed. This prevents colors from running.

If hankies and other small flat articles start doubling back over the rollers when you try to put them through the wringer, squeeze some of the water out of the front end of the hanky with your fingers first, then feed it through.

Window cords will last longer and raising and lowering of windows will be easier if cords are dusted twice a year and rubbed with an oil-saturated cloth.

After an ironing board cover has been washed, it should be put back on the board while damp. When it dries, it will shrink up enough to be smooth and tight.

To sprinkle clothes without spattering everything around, lay them out in the bathtub and drop the water down on them. After that, they can be rolled up and kept covered inside your washing machine until ready to be ironed.

Pile fluffy mashed potatoes into an attractive shallow baking dish, sprinkle with paprika and brown in the oven just before serving.

If you prefer some commercial brand of sand-soap—especially for removing paint—and it isn't kind to your skin, add a little petroleum jelly to the soap before you use it.

Stale soap lasts longer than fresh soap. Buy in advance and remove the wrappers as soon as you get home, so the air can get at the soap while it's stored.

FINGER TEST YOUR COOLING SYSTEM

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS... by Lynn Chambers

Mint Flavors These Chocolate Ice Cream Puffs (See Recipes Below)

Dessert Contrasts

IF YOUR MAIN DISHES for the season are of the lighter variety, then your dessert patterns should be just a shade richer than usual to give the menu variety, balance and contrast.

To avoid loss of interest in food entirely, which is so apt to come at this season of the year, select some interesting desserts such as are featured in today's column. You have your choice of ice cream, puddings and cakes, all of which are unusual and good, too!

There's always audible approval from youngsters and grownups alike when cream puffs are served. And cream puff shells made especially tempting with a filling of ice cream are a dessert that really goes places. The cream puff shells are flavored with chocolate and filled with cool mint ice cream.

Chocolate Mint Ice Cream Puffs (Serves 6)

- 1/4 cup butter
- 1/2 cup boiling water
- 1/2 cup sifted all-purpose flour
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 1 tablespoon cocoa
- 2 eggs, unbeaten
- 1 quart mint ice cream

Hot fudge sauce: Add butter to boiling water; heat until butter melts. Sift together flour, salt, sugar and cocoa; add to butter mixture, all at once, stirring thoroughly. Cook, stirring, until mixture leaves sides of pan. Remove and cool a minute. Add unbeaten eggs, one at a time, beating until smooth after each addition. Drop by heaping tablespoons on greased baking sheet, two inches apart, shaping with wet spoon into rounds. Bake in hot oven (450°) 10 minutes. Reduce heat (350°) and bake 25 minutes longer, until lightly browned. Cool and cut off tops. Fill with peppermint ice cream and top with hot fudge sauce.

ORANGE DESSERT CAKE

needs no frosting, since the orange juice and sugar make a wonderful glaze for the top of the cake.

"Orange Dessert Cake"

- 1 orange, medium size
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 cup raisins
- 1/2 cup shortening
- 2 eggs, beaten slightly
- 2 cups sifted flour
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon soda dissolved in milk
- 1 cup evaporated milk mixed with
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice

Cut the orange and squeeze out 2 tablespoons of the juice. Add to this juice 1/4 cup of the sugar and reserve for glazing the cake. Cut out and discard the central core and the seeds of the orange. Grind the orange with the raisins, using the medium blade of the food chopper. Cream shortening and sugar together. Add the beaten eggs. Sift flour with salt. Add alternately to the egg mixture with the milk, beginning and ending with flour. Stir in the orange and raisin mixture quickly. Pour

LYNN SAYS: Fortify Leftover Foods With Extra Flavor

Slices of cold roast veal make an excellent sandwich when treated with a spread of anchovy paste and butter and fresh rye bread slices. Extend that bit of grape juice in the refrigerator by mixing with cranberry juice. Serve chilled for an appetizer.

Serve that last bit of cauliflower with a tangy cheese sauce and shower with toasted, salted almonds for a genuine flavor treat.

Butterscotch Pecan Cake-Pudding (Serves 6-8)

- 1/4 cup shortening
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 2 eggs, separated
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 1 cup sifted flour
- 1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup evaporated milk
- 1/2 cup pecans

Blend shortening and sugar. Add beaten egg yolks and vanilla. Gently fold in the beaten whites. Sift flour with baking powder and salt. Add dry ingredients to egg mixture alternately with the milk. Stir in the pecans and turn batter into a greased 1 1/2 quart casserole.

Pudding: 1/2 cups brown sugar, 3 tablespoons flour, 1 cup evaporated milk, 1/2 cup grapefruit juice. Blend sugar and flour. Stir in the milk and grapefruit juice. Mix well and pour gently over batter. Bake in a moderate oven (350°) for one hour. Serve warm.

Burnt Sugar Cake (Makes 3 9-inch layers): 2 cups sugar, 1 cup boiling water, 3 cups sifted cake flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 cup shortening, 4 eggs, separated, 1 teaspoon vanilla. Place one cup of the sugar in a skillet and heat, stirring constantly until sugar melts and becomes brown; remove from heat, add boiling water and stir until sugar is entirely dissolved. Cool. Sift flour, baking powder and salt together. Cream shortening with remaining sugar until fluffy. Add unbeaten egg yolks, one at a time, beating thoroughly after each is added. Add vanilla. Add sifted dry ingredients and caramel sirup alternately in small amounts, beating thoroughly after each addition. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into greased pans and bake in moderate oven (350°) 30 to 35 minutes.

Roast beef hash takes on improvement when it's served with a smooth, tart hollandaise sauce. You can skip the poached eggs since there's so much egg yolk in the sauce.

On the second or third night that you serve spaghetti sauce, try it with slivers of ham, sauteed mushrooms and a sprinkling of sweet basil.

Leftover sweet potatoes take an extra flavor and glaze when they are heated with a bit of orange marmalade.

New Chemicals Make

Federal Entomologists
In Experimental Study

New chemicals that make plants toxic to insects for short periods are being tested by scientists of the U.S. department of agriculture. These chemicals kill insects that suck the juices of treated plants. They are known to the entomologists as "systemic poisons" and should not be used by the public until further tests have been made.
Studies now are in progress to determine if these insecticidal chemicals will break down into harmless compounds within a few days or weeks. If they do, a new

Accused 'Spy' Ridicules Charges; Johnson Says U.S. Defense Okay; Britain to Cut Purchases in U.S.

EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.

LATTIMORE: 'Pure Moonshine'

Owen Lattimore, mustachioed, mild-mannered United Nations employee, was the big news of the Communist expose which Senator Joseph McCarthy had instigated and of which the highlight was McCarthy's charge that Lattimore was Russia's top spy in the United States and that he was in the employ of the U.S. state department.

IN AFGHANISTAN on a U. N. mission, Lattimore when informed of the charge, cabled a press association that McCarthy's "rantings" were "pure moonshine."

It appeared that McCarthy was out on the shakiest limb of his political life. Loudly asserting that he would base his entire case against the state department, which he charges was infiltrated with Communists, on the truth or falsity of the Lattimore case, the senator appeared to be off on the wrong foot at the start.

Lattimore was working for the U. N., not the state department. He had not been connected with them for five years, the state department said. His lawyers hung a libel suit threat on McCarthy, contending that when McCarthy named Lattimore as the "top Red spy" in a private session with newsmen, he was outside senatorial immunity. LATTIMORE expressed pleasure that McCarthy was basing his whole case upon him for, he said, when he returned to Washington and testified, McCarthy would "fall flat on his face."

Meanwhile, there was much controversy over whether FBI files should be opened to the committee studying McCarthy's charges. McCarthy contended the proof he needed were in these files and in other confidential files. FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover argued that the files should not be open because of the bad effect it might have on "many innocent people" and the fact that it would destroy FBI usefulness in many ways.

BRITAIN: Less Buying

Great Britain, stipulating many "ifs," planned to cut purchases from the United States and other dollar countries by as much as 25 per cent in the period from July 1, 1950 to June 30, 1951. By this action, the government hoped to cut its annual gold-dollar deficit in half by mid-1951.

THE DESIRED GOAL could be reached only under the following conditions, the government said:

- 1. Continued good business in the United States.
2. The lid is kept on wages, prices and dividends in Britain.
3. British productivity goes on improving with no sharp increases in costs.
4. Exports to dollar markets increase sufficiently to offset the cut in the value of the pound last September for $4.03 to $2.80.
5. Gold-earning exports to South Africa can be stepped up.
6. THE DOLLAR NATIONS demonstrate readiness to accept imports and to invest capital in non-dollar areas.

JAPAN: Treaty Urged

With Gen. Douglas MacArthur and U.S. roving Ambassador Philip Jessup agreed on the desirability of the move, strong pressure was building up inside the Truman administration for an early peace treaty with Japan.

THERE is conflict on the issue. It is a group principally within the state department which seeks an early treaty, while many others believe that the treaty project should be shelved in order to prolong indefinitely the present American control.

Added strength was given the treaty proponents when Great Britain urged months ago that a treaty should be completed.

AS might be expected, the Russians had to put their ear in. Moscow insists that there be a big power veto over all treaty terms, but the trend in Washington seems to be for the western powers to proceed by themselves if Russia should refuse to join in under acceptable conditions.

The Japanese treaty is seen by proponents as one line of action the United States could take to strengthen its position in that quarter of the globe.

SQUEEZE PLAY

Reds Knock U.S. Dollar Down to 4 Rubles

The Russians had come up with an economic squeeze play, and the U.S. was vigorous in its protests. Moscow had set a new 4-to-1 ruble exchange for the American dollar. The United States charged the new exchange rate was "completely unjustified."

A note delivered in Moscow demanded that the former exchange rate of 8 rubles for $1 granted to

Named to AEC

Thomas E. Murray, mechanical engineer who holds more than 200 patents and is an important figure in the auto and banking worlds, has been named by President Truman to succeed David E. Lilienthal on the U.S. atomic energy commission.

DEFENSE: How Adequate?

The people, themselves, would have to decide who was right in the controversy on how adequate are our national defenses in the event of another war.

Two highly important gentlemen in the defense setup had disagreed on the status of American defense strength.

General Dwight D. Eisenhower, supreme commander of Allied forces in World War II, had declared publicly that he feared United States defenses had "fallen below the danger point."

THE GENERAL'S REMARK stirred a wave of apprehension in many quarters and set some congressmen on a road which may lead to another look at military budget paring.

But, Louis Johnson, U.S. defense secretary, didn't agree with General Eisenhower. After a long conference with President Truman, he emerged to assert that our national defenses are "sufficient . . . unto the needs of the moment."

Just what Mr. Johnson meant by that was not clear, but it was quickly apparent that there could be read into the statement a conclusion that we are safe "at the moment" because no war has been declared. But those jumping to conclusion would immediately query: "How sufficient are these defenses at some other moment—say in the next six months, or next year—if war should come?"

JOHNSON SAID he had not discussed the situation with Eisenhower since the general's statement concerning defense and declined to discuss specific quotations from the Eisenhower speech. Asserting that he was in no "controversy with Ike," he pointed out that the present defense budget was put together by the joint chiefs of staff, Eisenhower is chairman.

General Eisenhower has been asked to tell congress what he thinks of the current defense setup and Johnson said: "When he appears before congress I don't want it to appear that I talked with him and tried to influence him in any way."

NEW 'BRAIN': Great Things

Factory workers may become obsolete in the future if a new mechanical brain—resembling a pinball machine on a jackpot ramp—will do what its inventor claims it will.

THE DEVICE, described as capable of operating an entire factory without human aid, is designated officially as the magnetic-drum-differential analyzer. The inventor, 31-year-old Floyd Steele, calls it Maddida for short. What Maddida can do was demonstrated at the opening of a three-day conference on computing machinery at Rutgers university.

Steele, who is also an aeronautical engineer at Manhattan Beach, Cal., said the machine was the forerunner of the completely automatic factory—where goods will be produced without help from the human hand or the human brain.

the American embassy be restored.

Moscow served notice last in February that, effective July 1, the U.S. embassy would have to pay $1 for four rubles. The effect of this, U.S. officials said, would be to increase the cost of operating the embassy by nearly a million dollars a year. While not a too-important development, the action was another aggravation.

Human Nature Acting As It Does These Days, You Don't Have to Look Far for Top Story Plots

By BILLY ROSE

In Battle Creek, Michigan, on July 30, 1949, a Mrs. Zilpha Perske asked her husband for a hundred dollars, and when he wanted to know what it was for she refused to tell him. One word led to a thousand others, and finally the hysterical housewife ran into the bedroom, took a rifle from the closet and shot herself.

Mrs. Perske hung on for two days, and during that time her husband not only gave his blood to keep her going but persuaded friends to do the same. A few minutes before she died, he learned what she had wanted the hundred dollars for—to surprise him on his birthday with a new hunting rifle.

One night in the Spring of 1924, in the middle of the Illinois flatlands, the engineer and fireman of a fast mail train found themselves looking in to the barrels of a couple of guns. The men behind the guns told them to stop the train and back it up to a crossing they had just passed.

At the crossing, four men wearing gas masks stepped out of a sedan. After shooting the glass out of the mail-car window, they tossed a tear bomb inside, and when the mail clerks came out the bandits went in. When they drove off, they took with them 60 bags of registered mail which contained two million dollars in cash, jewels and negotiable securities.

The case was assigned to Bill

Fahy, the post office department's ace inspector, and in a matter of hours, road blocks were set up, suspects were being questioned, and detectives from New York to San Francisco were on a 24-hour shift.

Two days after this historic heist, one of the army of dicks working on the case got a phone call from an underworld character who offered to give him the name of the man who had masterminded the stick-up. His motive for squealing, he said, was revenge, and when his yarn was checked the man he named was arrested and convicted and most of the two million re-couped.

The thief, as corny and contrived as it may seem, was Inspector Bill Fahy, and when he planned the hold-up, he was certain he'd get away with it because he knew he'd be assigned to track himself down. The thing he didn't figure on was the resentment of the underworld because he was muscling in on its racket.

ON AN EARLY morning broadcast out of Berlin a few weeks ago, Bill Downs of CBS relayed the following:

Shortly after the war, a German Hausfrau was notified that her soldier husband had died in a Russian prison camp. After the usual formalities, the Berlin authorities issued a certificate of death, and a few months later the woman remarried.

Last month she was informed by the commandant of the prison camp that her husband was alive and would arrive by train on a certain date.

The woman showed husband No. 2 the notice, and the couple decided that the sensible thing was for the three of them to sit down at a table and talk the matter out.

When the train pulled in a few days later, however, husband No. 1 didn't get off. The Russian officer in charge informed the wife that the excitement of the homecoming had been too much for the ex-prisoner, and he had died of a heart attack the night before.

When the woman got back to her flat, she found her second husband had committed suicide. A note explained that, under the circumstances, it was the only decent thing to do.

This is Your Paper What Is A Newspaper?

By William R. Nelson

EVERY AMERICAN old enough to read is familiar with the home town newspaper. Yet, how much do the readers know about it? How well do they understand its problems and actions; its place in their lives, in the community, state and nation? Just what is a home town newspaper?

Dictionary have varied definitions of "newspaper," but none contains the full meaning of the word. Even journalism's "Hall of Fame" editors have given widely differing definitions of what we in the United States call newspapers.

A home town newspaper, such as this one, is so many things, a all of them important, that it cannot be defined in a few words. It is similar to but still unlike every other business, profession, and institution in this community. Yet its services are so numerous and varied that it is a vital part of all of the others. And more, too.

The local newspaper is a mirror of its community; a clearing house for ideas; a library of local information; a market place; a sentry constantly watching over civic and official affairs; and a partnership in which the owners the advertisers, the readers and the community all have interests. In addition, it is a manufacturing plant for production of printed matter.

Unlike a foodstore, it cannot feed its community's people. But its advertising columns can nurture the food store.

It cannot render banking service, but newspapers have been banks' best protection against the damage misinformation or misguided interference might cause.

This newspaper does not practice medicine, but it can play a vital part in preventing disease or the spread of epidemics. It is not a lawyer or a court, but it can prevent or correct injustice.

Neither the publisher, the editor, nor the other members of the paper's staff will claim superior status in the community. They admit only that the paper tries to do its job. But to the outsider, whether President of the United States or traveling salesman, when the mood and measure of this community is desired, the place to go for the information is the office of the home town newspaper.

Stefan Schnabel, of "This is Nora Drake," son of the famous pianist, Arthur Schnabel, has an impressive record as an actor in radio, the theatre and motion pictures. His latest picture was "The Iron Curtain." Perhaps because he was so convincing as a Nazi on the screen, the U.S. office of strategic services used him in Europe during the war.

Dan Seymour has been made chairman of the board of judges of the Boys' Club of America. The Board screens thousands of recommendations to select the national boy of the year, a citation for outstanding junior citizenship.

Alan Dale, of "Sing It Again" (CBS Saturdays), must be the hat industry's best customer. Bobby-soxers have snatched four of his in the last two months. But his 35 fan clubs made up for that when they learned that the singer had been laid low with a virus infection. They sent him 46 assorted remedies. Dale played safe and stuck to his doctors' prescriptions.

They met again on the Warners lot; both have starring roles in "The Two Million Bank Robbery".

THE FICTION CORNER SANE AND SENSIBLE

By Richard H. Wilkinson

GAIL WATCHED TOMMY Berkeley and Rita Young disappear down the moon-flooded path toward the beach. His arm was about her waist and Rita's red head was very close to Tommy's blond locks.

Tears blinded Gail's vision. "That's what you get," she thought bitterly, "for being sane and sensible all your life. For being virtuous and loyal." Loyal! The word provoked a laugh. Loyal to what? To Tommy Berkeley? That was ridiculous. You couldn't be loyal to a man who didn't know what you were up to. Or at least it lost its effect.

Gail turned and started back toward the lodge. Two months ago she had come up here with her folks for the summer. The day after their arrival she had met Tommy Berkeley. They had danced and Tommy had looked down at her and said: "You're not pretty or beautiful, you're glorious, which is really a weak word to express what I mean."

Gail had known then why all her life she had been sane and sensible. It had been for Tommy.

At the point where the path skirted the tennis courts before coming to the lodge steps, Gail saw a figure and stopped, catching her breath.

"Hi there, Gail. I saw you walking down this way and followed." Even without the help of moonlight to etch out the features of the man Gail recognized the voice. It was Clark Davis. Davis was tall and good looking and dark. He was considered wild. He had a reputation. Mothers warned their daughters not to go out with him, though they didn't say why.

"Clark!" she forced a laugh. "You frightened me at first!" "Sorry," He came close. "I guess I've been frightening you ever since you came up here. I wish I didn't."

A path of molten gold streamed across the lake. Tentatively, Clark Davis slipped an arm around her waist. And when she offered no objection he stopped and swung her to face him. "Gail!" he cried hoarsely. "Gail!" And he took her into his arms. She yielded, gave him her lips in a long kiss. When it was over she broke away, suddenly, unaccountably, regretful, guilty, ashamed.

"Don't! Please! I—I think we'd better go back."

But Clark Davis didn't understand. He couldn't understand. He seized her wrist and jerked her up close to him. "Listen," he said tensely. "I love you! Don't you hear! I want you—have wanted you since the first day you arrived here. And you want me!"

"No. No, Clark! You don't understand. I was a fool to come here with you. Please let me go."

QUICK FOOTSTEPS sounded along the pebbles. A figure loomed out of the gloom. Davis felt a heavy hand on his shoulder. He swung around, saw Tommy Berkeley. Angry he swore and struck out. But Tommy sidestepped the blow and drove home a hard fist, catching Davis behind the ear, to the jaw.

Clark's feet went out from under him. He fell groaning.

"You dirty dog!" Tommy said, coldly brutal. "You ought to be hung." Then he turned to Gail, where she had sunk to her knees. He helped her up.

They walked along the beach. Tommy's arm supported her. They stopped at the foot of the path. "The dirty dog," Tommy said. "Why can't a man like Davis accept the fact that there are some good girls left? Why does he have to think they're all alike?"

"Oh, Tommy!" She smiled, dabbing at her eyes. "It—it's all right now. I—I was foolish to have come here with him. If you hadn't come along—"

He grinned. "Lucky thing for both of us. Rita and I were sitting on the big rock beyond the point. When we heard you cry out we thought there was trouble and she went back to the lodge by the road. I came over to investigate. I'm glad I found you, because now you'll be the first to know of Rita's and my engagement."

Spring Cleaning Can Be Eased by Planning, Scheduling

By Erta Haley

Planning and scheduling work properly will take a big edge out of your spring housecleaning by making it more efficient. True, you will still have the work to do when it's intelligently planned and carried out according to a pre-arranged plan, the work will flow more efficiently.

How can actual cleaning be made easier by taking a pad and brush in hand and going over the room by room? In the first place, you avoid a hit and miss method which is inefficient; in the second place, you have all duties listed and necessary equipment listed so there is no time lost in the actual work is started.

You do write things down, and have less of a tendency to skip important aspects of cleaning and a less inclination to "let the work go" while you idle away the time on the telephone or over the fence. The wise schedule allows time for rest, so the work is done for your peak energy periods when you can accomplish more.

Go through the house with pad and brush in hand and list everything to be done, room by room.

Efficient housecleaning chores

Do all work in each room such as washing woodwork, waxing windows, polishing silver and cleaning rugs, washing curtains and bedspreads, spraying closets and putting away clothes for the week.

Go over the list and notate the cleaning equipment and supplies needed for each task. Then you can conveniently make a list of what's needed and compile it all in a cleaning basket that can readily be moved from room to room as cleaning proceeds.

Your third step is to schedule your work for certain times.

Heavy Cleaning
Light Days

Most of us have regular duties that we may embark on a normal cleaning schedule, and these must be planned so these duties are considered sufficiently to allow for a minimum of discomfort in the daily schedule.

The laundry day, plan to do just the easier rooms thoroughly so that you can still abide by the schedule while at the same time you give yourself ample opportunity to finish the laundry.

On those days when you have actual cleaning planned weekly, do some of the bigger cleaning on the Spring housecleaning schedule.

Doing the big cleaning room by room eliminates having the whole house in turmoil and makes for peace of mind. Allowing whatever time you deem necessary when making the outline will help force you to adhere to the schedule and thus makes your work more efficient.

Gathering supplies together helps avoid a lot of time usually spent in hunting for a particular bottle of polish or cleaning cloths. Here is a basic list of cleaning necessities to use as a guide in stocking the basket or supply cabinet: bottled ammonia, gum turpentine,

Let Buyer, Merchant Both Beware

By Will Bernard, LL.B.

Would a Merchant
Be a Foolish Purchase?

An art dealer bought a group of paintings from a famous collector and put them up for sale. One day a money man became interested in a certain picture, believing it belonged to the special collection. But when it happened, this particular picture was just part of the dealer's regular stock. After some time, the woman said: "I'll take it."

... turned to their old affection for their father. Last summer we took adjoining cottages at the same beach place, and they swam and fished with him through vacation. This was a good arrangement for me, for I could leave them in his care, and occasionally go back to the city to see my friends or take in a show.

But when his decisions were later appealed to a higher court, both of them were thrown out. The upper court said that, while the judge did undoubtedly speed things up, he didn't do justice to anybody concerned.

Cleaning Basket

A basket equipped with cleaning aids saves many steps during Spring housecleaning. It can easily be carried from room to room and should contain such aids as waxes, polishes, cleaners, spot removers, window cleaner, brushes and cleaning cloths. These "helpers" when not in use can be kept together in a supply cabinet as shown above.

furniture polish, various waxes (for floors, windows, etc.) window cleaners, spot removers, starch vinegar, rug and upholstery cleaners, as well as soap and detergents, brushes, dust pan, cloths, brooms, floor mops and whatever else you use.

Use Time-Tried Methods For Special Cleaning
Each woman likes her own special routine for cleaning, but there are certain time-tried methods which should be adopted by everyone for the sake of efficiency.

Furniture gets lots of wear during the winter months when everyone is at home more than they are out, and it will need thorough cleaning and polishing to restore its condition. Painted and light woods will take a mild soap and water cleaning, rinsing, drying, and if necessary, a light coating of wax or special polish.

For darker woods, a liquid cream wax will do both cleaning and polishing. Don't spare the elbow work on dark finishes if you want high polish or luster.

Liquid furniture polish should be applied with a clean soft cloth. Let it dry, then rub with another clean soft cloth until no polish is visible. As the last step, rub to a satiny finish with a flannel polishing cloth.

A good cleaner for painted walls and woodwork can be made right in your own kitchen with the following ingredients: one cup household ammonia, 1/2 cup vinegar, 1/4 cup baking soda and one gallon of water. Use a sponge or a rough cloth. This loosens the dirt, dissolves grease, softens water and saves on soap. No rinsing is required.

There are several good cleaners for windows and mirrors. You may like the old stand-by of ammonia mixed with water; if you prefer, use a liquid window cleaner or a special type of wax which is applied and rubbed off to give the luster desired.

If you like woodwork to have a nice soft finish after washing, apply a cream or paste type wax after cleaning the surfaces. This is considered good treatment for such things as window sills, baseboards and floors since the pores of the wood are closed and a gloss is given the wood.

Wax should not be removed on subsequent weekly cleanings. Simply wipe with a damp cloth to remove soil.

Moth-Proof of the Home During Change of Seasons
Battling moths is a year-around job, but most of the work comes during a change of seasons when you are bringing out last season's clothes and storing away winter garments. Since wool is so easily affected by moths, great care must be taken with winter clothes to prevent their becoming infested.

Church-going is not necessarily a good act. Worship may be a quite wicked deed. Most people are slow getting that into their heads. They think that one act of worship on Sunday will somehow make up for a lot of bad behavior Monday through Saturday inclusive. But it is not so.

... It Looked All Right

THE TROUBLE with those people, the thing that made their worship sinful, was not some defeat in the act of worship itself. There was nothing they could do, Amos can think of nothing they could do, to "improve the worship program" as we would say.

... Religion, in short, cannot be shut off from the rest of life, as nearly everybody then thought and as too many people now think. Worship is simply no good if it is not lined up with a good life, a life good by intention and effort.

... Jesus underscored this same point. If you are at the very altar of God, in the act of offering him a gift, and remember that your brother has something against you, go and make matters right with your brother before you offer the gift. ### When Worship Is Wicked

Lesson for April 30, 1950

DON'T THINK for a moment you could stand before some Recording Angel, with a memorandum in your hand showing the number of times you had attended church last year, and expect to see the angel break out into a beaming smile. "Fifty-two trips to church, 52 Good Deeds!" you would smile confidently at him. But he might freeze you with a look of complete contempt. "Fifty-two sins!" he might say. "Next case!"

Can It Be a Sin To Go to Church?

... He does not condemn the people for having the wrong hymn-book, or for not having a good choir. He hasn't a word of blame for non-attendance at worship; indeed he comes down hardest on those who do attend. Apparently church attendance in Bethel was excellent—that was not their trouble.

... What Was the Trouble?
THE TROUBLE with those people, the thing that made their worship sinful, was not some defeat in the act of worship itself. There was nothing they could do, Amos can think of nothing they could do, to "improve the worship program" as we would say.

... Religion, in short, cannot be shut off from the rest of life, as nearly everybody then thought and as too many people now think. Worship is simply no good if it is not lined up with a good life, a life good by intention and effort.

... Jesus underscored this same point. If you are at the very altar of God, in the act of offering him a gift, and remember that your brother has something against you, go and make matters right with your brother before you offer the gift. See your brother before you see God! Or else God will not be at home to you.
