STUDY CLUB HOSTS BENEFIT PARTY

Seeking funds to give a playground to the children of O'Donnell the 1946 Study Club hosted a benefit 42 Bridge party Friday evening at the Legion Hall.

The sale of tickets to O'Donnell residents has been the first means employed by the society to carry its great humanitarian task, which includes physical improvement, recreational guidance and social benefit for our children which will in the future help mold better citizens.

Although a good response was given to the benefit in ticket sales and donations, there are still many who could not be contacted in this drive who should want to contribute. Every person in O'Donnell should be given a chance to participate in this much needed project.

Members of the club and others who attended Friday evening reported a very good attendance and plenty of good entertainment.

Let's hope that every resident in this area will look forward to the next opportunity to contribute to this worthy cause.

RESUMES DRILLING ON WILD CAT

As reported last week the wild cat test on Ed Dorsey's farm was abandoned as a "duster" but Doc Beach reported this week that drill machinery was reset Sunday and drilling resumed in seeking deeper exploration. It is the guess of the Index that data from the well proved sufficiently interesting upon detailed study to warrant additional expense in exploring possible deeper production. Only oil stains were reported from the first drilling which reached a depth of about 4300 feet.

PROMISING WATER DISCOVERY

No important deposits of underground water in this area? Well, don't believe it! Last week A. R. Kimbrell had a well drilled on his farm four miles east of here and at 15 feet from the surface the bit fell into a cavity and water started rushing in. At present water is to within a few feet of the surface and water production is estimated at 300 gallons per minute. It is thought that an underground "river" runs thru that area or else a "dyke" is present blocking the water bearing sand of this area. The immediate importance of this discovery can not be determined at present until further study is made but the fact that water is as important as oil to this area is accepted by all.

WON WRITES OF TON INSURANCE

the Secretary of Agricultural announced last week that the crop insurance program was money. I got in touch with Director of the Crop Insurance and other officials with hope of being helpful to West cotton growers who had participated in the program. Mr. Gibson, manager of the Corporation, explained that on account of losses of those who participated in last year's program had been those entitled to collect 1946 cotton insurance, but remain unpaid. To make additional payments, it is estimated that a total of 18 million will be required. Mr. Geissler, a Congressional approval of this amount will be necessary before outstanding certificate will continue to accept certificate checks will not be issued further funds are available. Government and Congress have entered into agreement with the Government and Congress to expect payment. The future of the program is uncertain, but it is unthinkable that Congress would refuse to appropriate the money to liquidate outstanding indebtedness, and in the position I am taking in this.

Republican Party is not concerned about the Southwestern producer, and in view of the republican leadership in the Senate, there will be difficulty in getting prompt action. In most people with whom I conferred agree that the necessary money will eventually be forthcoming. Action should be taken and immediately removed as soon as possible.

theory of crop insurance is that I have never felt that a program has been devised that nearly all cotton growers feel. Indeed, not more than 11 per cent of the nation's cotton farmers have thought well of the cotton insurance program offered them on any given to participate in it. The hope has been that with experience, a workable formula would be hit upon. But in view of recent developments, the whole of cotton crop insurance is uncertain than ever.

is a brief history of the program. By act of Congress, the cotton insurance program was placed in 1942 and 1943. It was then eliminated, but new legislation started the program in 1945 and that legislation is still in force. It was difficult to get sufficient support in Congress to pass a crop insurance law after the war went out of operation in 1945. The complaint was made that the Government was losing proposition and that the producers were not interested. It figures being cited to show small percentage of farmers participated. Nevertheless, political parties at their National Conventions had endorsed insurance and after several attempts, a new crop insurance law was enacted.

cially the cotton crop insurance program has always been a loss proposition for the government, from a net loss of over 400 million dollars in 1942 to an estimated loss of 38 million dollars for crop year of 1946.

stated, not more than an average of 11 per cent of the nation's farmers have ever been insured any one crop year. However, insurance coverage in 1946 was 28 per cent and the West Texas coverage was much heavier.

West Texas cotton producers will proportionately far more out of the cotton insurance than than any other section of cotton belt, and therefore have a stake in the outcome of the study over the 1946 insurance tests. The 19th Congressional district has collected, or will collect several million dollars. The range ranges from 95 per cent of cotton farms in several of counties to no insurance at all in other counties. The coverage in County was reported to be 55 per cent.

Mr. Gibson, Naymon Everett, D. Stewart went fishing Sunday afternoon down close to Gall. reported a good catch of perch.

Korea a House Divided Between U. S. and Russia

By BAUKHAGE
News Analyst and Commentator.

WNU Service, 1616 Eye Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

WASHINGTON. — A couple of months ago I wrote a piece about Korea for this column.

It was largely a factual report and when I wrote it I realized how little I, and perhaps some of you, know about Korea. I have been realizing that for many years but not too many. I think that the first time Korea meant anything more to me than a smear on the map was when I was quartered with a young fellow in France in world War I. He talked in his sleep. That was bad enough, but I couldn't understand what he said. So I asked him. He said:

"My father was a missionary in Korea. I was born there. When I have a nightmare I talk Korean."

Korea est omnis divis in partes duo, unam incolunt the Red army et unam (south of a dividing line drawn by Stalin and Roosevelt) by the American army.

The agreement was that the two nations would set up a unified provisional government and lure the Koreans back into democratic life.

Then things began to eventuate. Roosevelt died and he couldn't tell Stalin that "democracy" meant one thing to Americans and something quite different to Marxian schooled Russians. Oh, quite different.

But regardless of academic definitions, this has happened, according to General Hodge's own statements: The Russians have drafted Koreans in their zone into an army. They have set up a Communist regime in their sector.

We haven't done so well with our brand of democracy in our sector. Not because of lack of good intentions nor of the efforts of General Hodge (so his enemies admit) but due to a lot of things including the spectre of the past which has harassed the Koreans. They like America. But all they have got from us in the past is vague promises. Other nations beginning with Japan took them and tore them. They have faced a historical array of broken promises from the great nations.

Koreans thought they were promised independence "in a few days" after American occupation. That misunderstanding was due to the fact that the Moscow agreement was translated by a Korean who was possessed of more native optimism than knowledge of the English language. From then on, the Americans attempting to abide by their understanding of the Moscow decisions have tried in vain to get an agreement out of the Russians which would be the basis of a unified Korea behind a unified provisional Korean government.

Today Korea has become one of those explosive areas where two ideologies meet; where the two great empires left in the world (the U. S. and the U.S.S.R.) face each other for better or for worse. Neither thinks it should retire and allow Korea to erect a government which would take its pattern from the other.

What's going to happen now? We are going to get a little tougher with the Russians, and if we can be released from that ambiguous agreement will let the Koreans in our zone set up their own provisional government. They already have a parliament of their own, but General Hodge has a veto and he will keep it until we see some kind of a coalition, free from Communist pressure—or any other kind of pressure, of which there are a lot.

It will cost money.

Blast Proposal for Higher Teacher Pay

My folks came originally from New England. We followed the various migrations west in jerks. But my New England ancestry is the only reason I've always been proud of American schools. As school boy I had a tough time because I wasn't tough enough. There were a lot of fights that had to be negotiated. But I came out with the idea that I'd take the public schools of America because they taught democracy whatever else they didn't teach. Later, I studied abroad and didn't change my mind.

Then I joined the army and discovered from my buddies (I got five francs for writing letters for them), that parts of America I hadn't grown up in were as illiterate as parts of Europe which I'd held my nose going through, and that some of Europe was more literate than the United States, although at our worst we had a better school for the poor man, proportionately, than Great Britain.

Years passed and finally I began hearing complaints about our schools—including the high-literacy areas. I realized what teachers were being paid compared to dog catchers and garbage collectors and bartenders (not as much). I mentioned it on the radio. Most people complimented my stand for higher remuneration for education. (Of course we couldn't expect to pay as much as we pay for liquor to redden our noses or the women pay for cosmetics to redden their lips).

But what shocked my New England soul was some of the letters on the "other side":

From a teacher of "long and varied experience":

"The most important teachers in the world are the mothers and fathers, who are now earning wages less than the teachers in a great many cases. Lack of adequate pay for them is the greatest cause of education failure—and failure it is—because it does not aid properly those who need it worst."

From a California teacher who is "almost in despair over the situation":

"The school cannot substitute for the home; it can only supplement it. You can't teach children who have had no home training; you can't even teach those who have if your whole time and strength are consumed by those who haven't. Most parents will pay whatever they have to pay for a parking station for their children and will ask no further questions. More and more of the parking attendants are unwilling to deal with such children at any price."

From a Pennsylvania mother:

"If monetary remuneration were the only consideration for our services in this life—would there be nurses, doctors, welfare workers and ministers? Yet they abound in love and kindness and tolerance."

From a Virginia man:

"There is an adage to the effect, 'you get just about what you pay for.' The point is, when the school teacher does his job as well as the street cleaner or garbage collector, he will be paid accordingly; but as long as the educators are content to have the street cleaners do their job better, the educators should not complain that the street cleaner is better paid."

Gets Wasps Straight

Sixteen-year-old David Shappiro of Washington, D. C., one of 40 finalists in the sixth annual Westinghouse science talent search, cleared up an entomological "triangle" by mating "Mrs." Wasp with her proper spouse. The books had been wronging this couple for years. David's own collection of wasps runs into the thousands. He captures most of them in Rock Creek park and seldom gets stung.

OBJECTIVES IN MOSCOW

WASHINGTON. — As a military man, General Marshall planned two great offensives. One was in 1918 when he charted for General Pershing the transfer of one million men from St. Mihiel to the Meuse-Argonne front, plus 40,000 tons of ammunition, 34 hospitals, 93,000 horses, 164 miles of railway and 87 depots—all in a week's time with no enemy aviator discovering it.

The other was in the last war when as chief of staff he planned the historic landing on Normandy.

These two offensives, great as they were, in some respects are not as difficult as the two great peacetime objectives which George Marshall as secretary of state is attempting to win at the conference in Moscow. Those two objectives are:

1. A permanent peace treaty with the nation which has caused every major European war in the past century—Germany.

2. The end of our present suspicious, chip-on-the-shoulder relations with Russia and establishment of a permanent friendship with the nation which can be our most disastrous enemy.

Both, obviously are interdependent. And if Marshall can win real friendship with Russia, the treaty with Germany will be much easier to perfect.

LESSON FROM LATIN AMERICA

One of the great lessons learned from our Pan-American relations is the importance of teamwork. Prior to the good-neighbor policy we worked as an individual nation. We landed troops in Haiti, Nicaragua and the Dominican Republic. We banged Mexico over the head with diplomatic threats and mobilized troops on her border. Result: All Latin America disliked us.

Then Sumner Welles sold Roosevelt the idea of being a good neighbor, of sharing responsibility. So when trouble arose in the western hemisphere, the Pan-American nations solved it as a team. Result: Fewer mistakes were made and when they were made Uncle Sam didn't get all the blame.

The British empire hitherto has operated on a unit basis. It didn't worry about teamwork. Result: It is hurriedly liquidating parts of the empire and reaping bitter criticism in Palestine and Greece. Further result: The United States is asked to share the financial responsibilities—and the headaches—in one of those countries without having too much to say about the things that cause the headaches.

If we become the bankers for British headaches, the pain and the blame can extend to Turkey, Italy, North Africa and all over the world. That's why we should take a leaf from the Pan-American good-neighbor book and let the United Nations get busy in Greece before it is too late.

DEFLATED DREAM

Most interesting, though somewhat deflated political figure in the senate today is Robert A. Taft of Ohio, together with the question: Will he achieve his long-cherished dream of following the footsteps of his father up the front steps of the White House as President of the United States?

Not since 1940, when energetic, progressive Wendell Willkie stole the Republican nomination from under Taft's nose, has he forgotten for a minute his ambition to duplicate the father-son presidential success of John Adams and John Quincy Adams.

Viewing the 1940 Philadelphia convention in retrospect—after the trouncing FDR handed Willkie—Taft was not too unhappy about it. In 1944 he realized that FDR could not be stopped, and he was glad to let Tom Dewey and his Ohio GOP colleague John Bricker "take the rap." The big chance for the Republican party, Taft figured, would come after the war.

The results of last November's congressional elections definitely convinced Taft that he was right. The next two years held his big chance for the presidency. After 1948 it might be too late. He has played his cards accordingly.

Taft immediately put himself at the head of the Republican party as far as Capitol Hill was concerned. At first, Taft was riding high, wide and handsome. Today, his reins are trailing in the dust. He is scarcely riding at all. And what is especially depressing is that Taft's reverses have come not from Democrats but from his own forces which he assumed to lead.

UNDER THE DOME

Few people know it but a tight Truman triumvirate — Hannegan, Secretary of the Interior Krug and Attorney General Clark—has ironed out a lot of inner cabinet wrangles.

... Two women clutching passes to the senators' gallery asked the doorkeeper: "Is this where you go in to see the senators perform?"

... Now that he has left the RFC, George Allen is really expanding his business holdings. He even owns one per cent of the Broadway hit, "Born Yesterday."

All-Purpose Purse

Jenny has designed this bag for every type of woman from college girl to young sophisticate. Made of brown or black plastic patent, it has a zipper opening which is large enough to permit roomy items to go in easily. A gold disk adds a touch of glamour.

Others are still better if they have belts that buckle, either wide or narrow, depending upon the effect you want to create.

Old belts, particularly old leather belts, can be recovered with decorative fabrics to match your dress. Or, if you have material from which the dress was made, consider making a belt from it by covering a strip of buckram.

It's also possible to make the most of your belts by changing buckles on them. Look over old buckles first, and then investigate the possibilities at the stores. Items such as this are inexpensive but often mean the difference between success and failure in your clothes.

Gloves are becoming increasingly important in the wardrobe, and there is such a woman can do to make them outstanding just by little sewing tricks. All manner and means of trimmings may be sewed on the cuffs of worn gloves of fabric to make them new and fashionable.

Much is being made of puffs at the wrists of gloves. If, for example, you have taffeta trimming on your dress, you might buy extra taffeta and trim the cuffs of your gloves with it. Small pins and ornaments also may be used.

Be Smart!

That breezy Western look is cropping up in the new season handbags . . . not only in rich, brown tooled leather but also in the modern version of buckskin — so creamy rich in color. They're ideal matchmates for tweeds and spectator sports.

From the Sewing Bag

Reinforce weak spots on toes, heels and tops of stockings and elbows of shirts and sweaters before the hole actually appears. This will make the garment wear longer as well as enabling you to do a better job.

Rubber and oiled silk garments often are easily mended with adhesive tape.

Buttons stay on better if they are sewed with a thread shank. Never sew buttons on too tight if you really want them to stay on.

Slits that wear out under the arm are easily patched. It also helps to wear shields to prevent rapid wear.

A FRIEND of mine who operates on a very limited clothes budget tells me that she spends very little on things such as gloves, purses and belts. Looking at her, however, one finds it hard to believe. What, then, is the secret?

"There's no secret to it at all," she goes on to explain. "I simply make my own or renovate the things I have, copying the new fashions faithfully. You see I like to buy good basic clothes and add new, fashionable touches to them."

Actually it's a very simple matter to do this, particularly if you are a bit thrifty and fashionwise. And, what's more, it takes less time to whip up a belt out of an old piece of felt or grosgrain or a bag, than it does to make a dress.

One of the things I always remember about this particular friend of mine is that her white bags and gloves always appear immaculate even in the warmest, sunniest weather. Her trick? "Well," she explains, "I have one inexpensive pouch bag for which there are three or four covers. I make these at home—they take less than half an hour to sew together, and then I always have a fresh one to slip over the bag itself."

This might suggest that you could make "slipover" covers for some of your other bags as the material or leather on them becomes too frayed to look attractive. Use contrasting colored wools, for example and have both gloves and bag to match.

Bags May be Remodeled In Different Ways

In addition to sewing different kind of covers for the bags, there are other ways of freshening them. If you have a basically good bag in which the leather or fabric is not worn, then it may need just a little repairing to make it perfect again.

Save on your clothing budget . . .

Linings have a way of wearing out, but these usually are easily replaced. Select a good type of fabric, one that is dark but matching to the outer covering, one that is closely woven and will not snag easily.

It's easy to change coin purses and mirrors when linings and zippers are changed. They add a note of freshness to the bag.

Perhaps you are one of those lucky women who have a good bag with the material worn and shabby. If the frame is good, save it and discard the rest. Then cut new material to fit the frame, using canvas or buckram, and lighter fabric for lining. Stitch these together before attaching them to the frame. Add a smart new touch to the bag with bright new initials, pin or flowers, and you will have an entirely new bag.

Belts Add Much To your Costume

Have you been watching the latest fashions? One of the most important style notes is the belt. They may be wide or narrow, but they are definitely planned to give glamour to the costume.

Sometimes it is wise to have several different belts for a dress to give it different moods. Or, perhaps a dress you now have lacks that certain finishing touch because the belt, somehow, just does not go with it, or do anything for it.

Some dresses are better with colorful belts that tie and swoop.

By making own accessories.

Fashion Flashes

Several colors are being emphasized for new clothes. One designer stresses all gradations of beige. She likes to use with it yellow and green for contrast.

Another leading designer likes to make use of a misty sea green and a coral red. Clear, vivid shades of these colors are also very popular currently.

Better plan to have a straw hat if you want to be in good fashion. There are smooth lacy affairs for dressy occasions, or smooth, or rough ones for general daytime wear. Look for gay plaid trimmings on some of the perky ones.

Feathered trims of yellow, orange, salmon, gray, red, white and natural are extremely important.

JESUS LAYS DOWN HIS LIFE

LESSON TEXT—John 18:37, 38; 19:10-14.

MEMORY SELECTION—For God he loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish but have everlasting life.—John 3:16.

The cross of Calvary, from man's viewpoint, was "a paradox. There is something startling and seemingly incredible about the idea of a crucified king, particularly if those who do the crucifying are the king's own subjects. Kingship implies rulership over others, and not suffering and death at their hands. Pilate told the simple truth when he exclaimed, 'Behold your King,' and when he flung out the sarcastic question, 'Shall I crucify your King?' he was speaking more truly than he knew. They were, verily, doing the incredible thing of demanding the death of their King, their Messiah, yea, of the very Son of God" (B. L. Olmstead).

I. Jesus said, "I Am a King" (18:37, 38).

Jesus was before Pilate. The Jews had accused him of declaring himself to be king (see Luke 23:2). Pilate demanded, "Art thou King of the Jews?" (v. 33).

Jesus did not answer directly at first, but declared his kingdom to be "not of this world" (v. 36), indicating to Pilate that he was dealing with One who was more than an earthly king.

When Pilate persisted, Jesus openly declared, "I am a king." The expression "Thou sayest" (v. 37) carries the thought, "You say that I am a king and you are right. I am a king." It was in no sense a disavowal of his royalty, but a declaration of it.

Pilate, troubled, convinced of Christ's innocence but too cowardly to declare it, hid behind man's proverbial inability to know the truth (v. 38), and wrote himself into history as a hypocritical coward.

What have we to say—what have you to say, dear reader, to Christ's claim to Kingship over your life? Should we not say, "He is not only King of the Jews, he is the King of my life?"

II. The Priests Said, "We Have No King" (19:10-16).

Pilate, in fleshly pride, taunted Jesus with his power to determine his fate. He did have much power as the representative of Rome, but power over Jesus he did not have.

Majestic indeed was the reply of the King. In a brief sentence Jesus put Pilate on trial before the judgment throne of God. Only because the time had come for the Son of God to die was Pilate permitted to exercise his governmental power (see Rom. 13:1), and he would answer for his decision one day in the presence of God.

Of especial interest to us just now is the statement of Jesus: "He that delivered me unto thee hath the greater sin." It was the high priest Caiaphas who had that guilt.

Yes, and it was the high priest who declared, "We have no king but Caesar," after Pilate, driven by their cunning threat (v. 12), had sarcastically asked them, "Shall I crucify your king?" (v. 15).

The awful declaration which they made then was on behalf of the entire nation, and declared themselves against Jesus and loyal to the pagan Caesar.

No King? Countless are the men and women today who by their rejection of Christ have declared that they would not have him rule over them. And sad but true is the fact that those who neglect to receive his great salvation have rejected him!

III. Jesus Said, "It Is Finished" (19:25-30).

In his time of greatest anguish Jesus, in an act of tender thoughtfulness, provided for his mother, and gave the beloved disciple John a high place of privilege and responsibility. He thus, as he made his last request, brought together the two who in all his human relationships had been closest to his heart.

Ready for the final word before he died, Jesus received the refreshment which quenched his awful thirst. Then crying out with a loud voice, "It is finished" (Matt. 27:50), he commended his soul into the hands of the Father (Luke 23:46).

What was finished? The great redemptive work, the work of reconciliation and atonement. The Lamb of God had made his great sacrifice for the world—it is this that was completed. Our great Substitute had paid the great ransom price, paid it to the uttermost farthing.

"It is finished indeed. Others will yet preach and teach, and Jesus will work through them; as the King on David's throne his regal work will continue forever; but the redemptive shedding of his blood once for all is finished, and stands as finished forever" (Heb. 7:27; 9:12, 28; Rom. 6:10) (R. C. H. Lenski).

Hallelujah, what a Saviour! Is he your Saviour? If not, turn to him by faith just now.

WATCH JERUSALEM

Therefore thus saith the Lord God, how will I bring again the captivity of Jacob, and have mercy upon the whole house of Israel, and will be jealous for my holy name. After that they have borne their iniquities, and all their trespasses whereby they have trespassed against me, when they dwelt safely in their land, and none made them afraid. When I have brought them again from the people, and gathered them out of their lands, and am sanctified in them in the sight of many nations. Then shall they know that I am the Lord their God, which caused them to be led into captivity among the heathen: but I have gathered them unto their own land, and have left none of them any more there. After that I have poured out my spirit upon the house of Israel, saith the Lord God. Beware Great Britain and all foreign countries, and yes, America, your own nation. We had better befriend the Jews and do it now. They are God's chosen people as a nation and whom God said they are the apple of mine eye. Israel has sinned and paid their price. All they have not sinned any greater than the gentile nations of the world. Now we the Gentile world had better befriend the Jews of Jerusalem, Palestine and Land of Canaan. As soon as the nations of the world understand the truth and do not need them their land which already is theirs and give it out and leave it to them, and say "God bless you," the better off the nations of this world will be. I repeat, beware, nations of this world the way we are treating the Jews. Send for copy of Baptist Journal and Five Things Every Person Ought to Know. Subscription rate $1.00 per year. Glamorize Vegetable Dishes (See recipes below)

Interesting Vegetables

I sometimes think when I look at vegetables come to the table looking drab and colorless how futile it seems for them to have color and freshness in their fresh state if they are so mutilated by cooking. Look at their glorious greens and yellows at the market or in the gardens, and think how wonderful it would be to have at least a reasonable facsimile at the dinner table!

The secret is in their care and preparation. Wash and refrigerate them upon arrival in the kitchen. Then, do take care when you cook them . . . prepare just to doneness and you will save their crispness and color, and, of course, their nutritive values.

Use interesting methods of preparation to bring out their fullest delicate flavors. Make them into croquettes, toss them into a casserole or a salad, but do keep them looking like vegetables! Your own pleasure and that of your family will repay your efforts.

Baked Vegetable-Nut Croquettes. (Serves 6)
1 1/2 cups canned corn
2 cups seasoned mashed potatoes
2 tablespoons melted fat
1 teaspoon chopped parsley
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
Dash of cayenne
1/2 cup chopped nutmeats
1 egg, slightly beaten
2 tablespoons cold water
1 cup bread crumbs

Drain corn; combine with potatoes, melted fat, onion, parsley, seasonings and nutmeats. Divide mixture into uniform portions and shape into croquettes by molding into a pyramid shape with hands. Dip each croquette lightly into crumbs, then into egg which has been mixed with water, then again in crumbs. Place on a well greased baking sheet and bake in a moderate (375-degree) oven for 30 minutes or until lightly browned.

Snap Beans and Bacon. (Serves 5)
1 quart can or 1 1/2 pounds of fresh snap beans
2 medium sized potatoes, diced
1/4 pound bacon, diced
1/4 cup chopped onion
3/4 cup water
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper

Brown the bacon, add the onion and let onion brown slightly. Add to other ingredients. Bring to a boil, then cook over low heat, fresh beans 25 minutes or long enough to heat canned beans.

Creamed Corn with Green Peppers. (Serves 5)
2 tablespoons butter or substitute
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup milk
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon sugar
1 egg, well beaten
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
2 cups corn kernels, canned or frozen
Melt butter, add flour and blend

Lettuce

Combine apples, lemon juice and nuts. Toss with dressing and serve on leaves of lettuce.

Cranberry and Celery Salad.
1 pkg. lime flavored gelatin
2 cups boiling water
1 cup finely diced celery
1 can cranberry sauce

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water; cool. Slice cranberry sauce into 1/4 inch thick slices and cut into rounds with a cookie cutter. Arrange rounds in bottom of shallow pan. When gelatin begins to congeal, add celery and pour over cranberry rounds. When firm, cut into squares so that the round is centered in each square of gelatin. Serve on lettuce.

The Plowing Schogers Choose the NEW Firestone CHAMPION GROUND GRIP

CHAMPION FARMERS, and farmers generally, are changing to Firestone Champion Ground Grip tires . . . insisting upon them when they buy new tires . . . specifying them when they order new tractors.

That's because the new Champion cleans up to 100% more effectively; pulls up to 62% more; lasts up to 91% longer. And it rolls more smoothly over highways.

There are sound reasons for this superiority. The curved connected traction bars flare outward from the center, and mud falls freely from the wider shoulder openings. The extra high, curved, pyramid-like bars cut into the soil with a cleaving action, and because they are connected, the bars take a powerful "center bite" in the heart of the traction zone. Extra height, Triple-Bracing, and buttressing at the base give the traction bars greater strength . . . lengthen tire life. The curved connected bars are in continuous contact with the highway, insuring a smooth ride.

Insist upon Firestone Champion Ground Grips when you buy new tires, or order a new tractor. They cost no more than ordinary tractor tires.

They're called "The Plowing Schogers"—and with plenty of reason. Starting in 1930, Carl Schoger won six consecutive years in the National Plowing Match at Wheatland, Illinois. In 1930 and 1931 he won all three National Matches at Wheatland, Lily Lake, and Troy, Illinois. When he retired from competition in 1942, sons Clarence and Harry were ready to defend the family laurels. Last fall, Clarence won the National Matches at Troy and Wheatland, Harry, the younger son, won first in his class at Troy and tied for first at Wheatland. The Schogers have always used Firestone Tires. You'll find new Champion Ground Grips on their tractors today.

Take Care of Your Garden

The time to kill weeds in your garden is before they begin to grow! Hoeing the surface soil in vegetable or flower garden not only destroys sprouting weed seeds; it actually prevents their germination. As soon as the seedlings break through in the garden rows so that they can easily be seen, it is time to begin stirring the soil between rows and as close to the plants as possible without disturbing them. Either a hand hoe or a wheel hoe is an excellent tool.

If it rains a few days after the first cultivation, stir the surface soil again as soon as it is dry enough, but do not wait longer than a week before cultivating a second time,—rain or no rain,—unless the ground is too wet to work.

Weeds within the row will probably have to be removed by hand while the plants are small. Some gardeners find an old kitchen knife a handy helper. Or, a hand weeder is a convenient tool. As plants grow larger, they usually dominate so that weeds in the row do not prove troublesome. Onions are one exception; the spear-like leaves do not shade the ground enough to keep down the husky weeds.

For the good of the vegetables and flowers and for the sake of a garden's appearance, it is important to cultivate all through the gardening season. Besides keeping ahead of the weeds, tilling the surface soil slightly forms a mulch to prevent evaporation of moisture. It is particularly essential to stir the soil around plants as soon as soil and plants are dry enough after every rain. Care should be taken, however, not to dig so deeply near the plants as to injure the roots.

Another reason for cultivating the garden all summer is that stirring the soil allows air to enter. Next to moisture, ventilation is one of the most valuable means of releasing soil food to growing plants.

Annals Bring Abundant Bloom

Most home gardeners like to grow annual flowers. Coming quickly into bloom from seed sown each year, they are the easiest of all flowers to grow and bring a wide range of vivacious color for a long period.

Poppo and bachelor button are two of the earliest. The low-growing edgers, sweet alyssum and candytuft, are also fairly quick to flower from seed. The lovely balm, fragrant pinks, the graceful scabiosa, the hedge-forming four o'clocks, the colorful nasturtiums and petunias are next in line. Later come the tall cosmos, the beloved zinnias and the marigolds. Most annuals are so easy to grow that even children can raise them successfully. Special favorites for children's gardens and those of some grownups are feathered celosia, the oddly interesting cockscomb, and the gay woolflower.

One secret of growing near-perfect annuals is to use good seed and sow it thinly. In outdoor planting do not sow deeply but cover the seeds firmly so that they will make immediate contact with warm moist soil for speedy germination. When the seedlings appear, thin the plants so that the remaining ones will have plenty of space to spread and mature.

Most annual flowers are not particular about the kind of soil they grow

Along with terracing, Runnels County farmers applied 110,000 pounds of superphosphate to their farms and planted 20,000 pounds of hairy vetch during the small grain planting season.

FLU IS ON INCREASE

Reports coming in to the State Health Department from various sections of the state indicate that the number of influenza cases has increased to epidemic proportions in many areas. The reported incidence this week is 11,624 cases, however, this represents only a fraction of the actual number of cases in the state since many cases are not receiving medical care, and therefore remain unreported. There were perhaps an estimated 200,000 cases of influenza this week in Texas.

Commenting on this situation recently, the State Health Officer, said that most of these cases are mild and lend themselves to treatment readily. He pointed out that two cooperative factors are essential to victims of this disease: first to call the family doctor promptly when suspicious symptoms appear; and second, to take it easy for a reasonable length of time after the acute stage has subsided.

It is essential to realize that flu, no matter how mild the attack, calls for a period of convalescence, because serious complications can occur if this important fact is ignored. Flu is not mass controllable however these persons who maintain the highest possible health level at all times, increasing their resistance to communicable disease germs will have a protective advantage over those more careless persons who continually abuse their health.

The State Health officer declared that living by the laws of nature, getting plenty of sleep, daily exercise in the open, nourishing foods and good personal hygiene offers the best known bulwark against all respiratory diseases and added that avoiding habits of any and all kinds detrimental to maximum well being is a wise course to take in the pursuit of health.

CURVE FARMING PAYS

"Let no muddy water leave Runnels county." That's the slogan of the soil conservation program in Runnels County and County Agent J. A. Barton reports that 1946 came closer to seeing the slogan fulfilled than any previous year.

With sufficient crews and an ideal weather year, terraces were built on approximately 31,000 acres of Runnels County land during 1946, the county agent said.

It is about as unusual now to see a Runnels County farm with rows running up and down hill as it was some 20 years ago to see a terraced farm, said Barton.

Records kept in the County Extension office show that there are now around 145,000 acres on which some kind of terraces are doing the job of holding water and soil, says the county agent.

In addition to running terrace lines himself, Barton says his off-

Taft Swings to Right As GOP Senate Leader

By BAUKHAGE
News Analyst and Commentator.

WNU Service, 1616 Eye Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

WASHINGTON. — Recently the keen ears of the master politicians on Capitol Hill have been tuned to some strange squeaks and rattles developing in the otherwise smoothly running Republican senate machinery. It is confidently predicted on the Democratic side of the aisle that "Chauffeur" Taft had pretty easy going in the driver's seat up until the latter part of February, will have to jump out and tinker under the hood more than once.

be submitted annually to congress by the President's economic council.

With reasonable support from party stalwarts and with these powerful chairmanships in his hands it looked as though the senior senator from the Buckeye state easily could ride herd on the party vote, delivering it when and where he wished.

But, did you ever try to ride a horse or drive a cow with a large sized bumble-bee leaping from forehead to buttock or from cud to rump? Not so easy, and no bumble-bee ever buzzed or stung like the apis presidential.

Early in January I reminded you of the trouble the presidential bid was expected to cause when I quoted Republican National Committeeman Clarence Budington Kelland's remark:

"I don't think you are going to see the matter (Republican candidacy) jell at all until Ohio decides whether it's going to be Taft or Bricker." And it hasn't jelled. Although it was predicted Bricker would bow out, he has refused to bow. Quite the contrary, it is Taft who is bowing—not out, but to the demands of the right wing of the party. (Taft's friends insist Bricker will exit at the right moment.)

But Taft's first obedience was made toward the end of the Lillienthal hearings. He announced his opposition to the confirmation of the TVA head and did it with such abeyance of the famous Taft logic that eyebrows went up all over the place. The reason for departing from the common sense path that his superior intellect usually dictates soon became evident. Simultaneously his control of the party in the senate began to slip.

That was seen in the vote on the budget. In that case Taft took what most people considered the sensible, middle-of-the-road course. The four and a half billion cut rather than the six billion urged by the house.

What happened to force Taft's anti-Lillienthal statements? Well, a certain conservative commentator talked with Taft—criticized what he implied was a dangerous lack of conservatism for a prospective standard-bearer of GOP. Then, a well-known columnist came forth with the story that some of the powerful backers of the Republican party enlisted the support of a number of Republican lawmakers in the anti-Lillienthal movement. They began to whisper that perhaps Bricker would represent sounder, safer, saner views for the presidency. Taft heard the whisper and came out emphatically, if not too convincingly, against Lillienthal.

About that time the Roper poll revealed the percentage of preference for various Republican potential candidates, against Truman. And lo, all the rest, Dewey, Vandenberg, Stassen, Bricker, led Taft.

That doesn't mean that Taft will be last in the hearts of the delegates to the Republican national convention in 1948, but wisecracks are saying it does mean that Taft no longer will call the turn on legislation.

How is it the Russians permit it at all? And even if they don't put obstacles in the way, will the Russians listen? Are there enough radio sets with short-wave receivers to make up a worth while potential audience?

"These are the questions I asked. I'll try to give some of the answers. As to the Russian attitude, it seems negative. When the British first talked about broadcasting to Russia, a Russian official is reported to have said: "We have tried to cooperate with you. You have your kind of democracy. You believe in freedom of speech. So we have cooperated with you by sending you broadcasts in English from Russia. We have our kind of democracy. We do not believe in freedom of speech. So we hope you will cooperate with our kind of democracy by NOT broadcasting to us."

If that wasn't actually said, it ought to have been. It is too good to be untrue.

The British did not cooperate. Neither did 11 other countries, including Ecuador, which, along with the United States, are all now beaming their programs on Russia. I don't know about the others, but the British seem to have quite a following and since the Russian people are more interested in America than in any other country, I see no reason why the state department's effort shouldn't be quite as successful.

What are the chances? In the first place, radio listening has been developed in Russia. People are encouraged to have sets and they are short-wave sets because short-wave is the communication method used by the Russian government. That's because of the great distance.

How many have sets?

When Averill Harriman was there he made an estimate of 75,000 sets. A later estimate put the figure as 75,000 to a million. According to the Russian five-year plan the goal is 325,000 for the first year. We know that the Russians seized all the radio sets they could in territory they occupied; also the government returned all sets seized from Russian citizens during the war.

Byrd's Men See Land of Lakes

Planes Land on 'Oasis' Area Reported as Sighted Near South Pole.

LITTLE AMERICA.—A Mariner seaplane has landed in the inland lake "oasis," previously reported as having been discovered by navy flyers, according to official navy dispatches.

Crewmen reported they found the water there "definitely warmer" than elsewhere and noted what appeared to be ore-bearing rocks. Flying much farther westward, a second seaplane discovered outcroppings of dark red rocks.

No vegetation, steam or smoke was found by the crewmen who landed on a lake. They reported the oasis area of lakes bare earth rimmed with ice.

Their landing, believed the first by any seaplane on the continental area of Antarctica, was 200 feet above sea level. Other lakes nearby were of different levels, said dispatches released by Capt. R. S. Quackenbush Jr., chief of staff.

Get Sample of Water.

The plane brought back a sample of lake water which may help solve the mystery of a land of lakes existing amid the polar icecap. Quackenbush said the description indicated that the lakes might be formed by warm water springs.

The crewmen, while reporting the lake water distinctly warmer, did not specify whether they were comparing it with antarctic sea water temperature or what. No thermometer readings were taken. A few birds were flying around the lake area.

Lt. Comdr. David E. Bunker of Coronado, Calif., the pilot, said there was a glacier to the north and west of the lake region. More color photographs were taken. Bunker on a flight about 100 miles south of the lake region found several mountains at a height of several thousand feet above sea level and in one place measured part of the continental icecap at 8,300 feet above sea level.

Move Westward.

The second plane to the west of the lake region sighted "nunataks"—outcroppings of rock—above the icecap and said these were dark red. These outcroppings were found in the vicinity of Mount Gauss on the Wilhelm II coast. They first were picked up by radar. Quackenbush said the plane's magnetic compass behaved almost normally in the flight over the red peaks.

This plane was piloted by Lt. William R. Kretzler of San Francisco. The crew reported the continent had an average altitude of more than 6,000 feet at that general area.

The icebreaker North Wind towed the crippled cargo ship Merrick out of the icecap and then to New Zealand for repairs. The Merrick smashed its rudder on an ice floe.

Indian Princess Winner in Tiff

Over Payment for License Fee

BOSTON.—An Indian "princess" from Old Town, Me., gave the state of Massachusetts a history lesson—and thereby saved $25.

The visitor, Princess Goldenrod, had been told she would have to obtain a $25 peddler's license to sell baskets and Indian souvenirs at a sportsman's show.

Notified to appear at the statehouse, she had a ready answer. An old treaty between her tribe and Massachusetts Bay colony, she said, gave the Indians freedom from all state taxes and license fees.

State clerks conceded the point but noted she was not from Massachusetts but from Maine.

The princess had another answer. When the treaty was drawn, she said, Maine was a part of Massachusetts, and when the two became separate states each assumed the obligation to the tribe. That point was well taken, also.

92-Year-Old Hunter Kills 10

Quail With Borrowed Shotgun

GROVE, OKLA. — Ninety-two-year-old F. Needham killed 10 quail with his son's "new-fangled" gun, but he says in the future he'll use nothing but his old muzzle-loading shotgun.

Needham, who lives on a farm near here, usually uses his old gun, anyway. However, upon seeing a lush covey of quail in his garden and with no time to load his own gun, he grabbed his son's automatic 12-gauge and took a potshot.

The recoil knocked him down and Needham suffered a sprained leg and bruises. He vowed he'd have "no more truck with these new-fangled guns."

"Shells must be loaded with dynamite!" he muttered.

She farrowed 12 last July and all of them survived.

On January 17 she came along with a litter of 13 and at last reports everything was fine.

Miracle Drug Used To Halt Infection

Treats Surgery Cases Usually Calling for the Knife.

NEW YORK. — A new and powerful drug that treats many infections ordinarily requiring surgery has been discovered at Columbia university's college of physicians and surgeons.

The drug was named bacitracin in honor of a New York girl, Margaret Tracy, in whose injured leg the organism which produces the antibiotic was found.

An antibiotic agent is a biological product of a living cell which inhibits or kills other living cells, including bacteria.

Bacitracin, like penicillin, has a wide range of antibacterial action and has demonstrated ability to control many surgical infections by local injections.

So far the most consistent success has been had in the treatment of boils, deep abscesses and superficial abscesses, but also a variety of bacteria, in general the same ones combated with penicillin, appear to be sensitive to the drug.

These latter include several types of pneumococcus, the microorganism causing the common type of pneumonia, and hemolytic streptococcus, which is implicated in abscesses, inflammations of various types, septicemia, scarlet fever and apparently is associated in some way with rheumatic fever.

In the 100 cases of surgical infections treated locally with bacitracin, favorable response was demonstrated in 88.

Long Memory of Collie

Points to Real Owner

PORTLAND, ORE. — A left-handed collie that did tricks in court to decide his ownership and almost brought the rival factions to blows in the courtroom was awarded to Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Thompson.

"The dog himself decided the case," said Judge John F. Cahalin after ruling that the collie was the Thompsons' Tex and not Mr. and Mrs. William Travis Jr.'s Laddie.

The problem of the collie—or maybe there were two collies—arose from the fact that both Thompsons and Travis had a footloose dog which looked exactly like this one.

The dog shook hands with the left paw. He did tricks for both the Travis and the Thompsons, and also for the judge, who was an utter stranger. A veterinarian was unable to set his age exactly enough to determine his owner.

But when the woman who sold the Thompsons their puppy was taken to the stand, the dog leaped from his seat in the courtroom and tried to climb into her lap. That convinced the judge.

Wacs in Japan Permitted to Wear Givvies, Army Announces

TOKYO. — Enlisted Wacs, the cinderellas of Japan because they have to be in bed by midnight while their officer and civilian sisters continue to dance and play, brightened up today when the army said they could wear good old civilian clothes on week-ends.

Slacks and bobby socks in the daytime and formals at night, from Saturday noon to Sunday night, is the new order for the 700 enlisted Wacs in the Tokyo-Yokohama area.

But they still have to be in by midnight, except on Saturday, unless they certify they are going to a private home or rest hotel.

Dreaded Dole Is Back Again

In Great Britain and Wales

LONDON. — The dreaded dole came back to England and Wales. For the first time since the black depression days between the wars, hundreds of thousands of workers stood in silent queues to sign up for unemployment benefits.

"I never thought we'd see this again," said a thin-faced foreman from one of the North London industries forced to close by the electric power blackout.

He'll get the standard benefit—$4.80 a week for himself and $3.20 for his wife—after a three-day waiting period.

Japan Will Be Open for Business With United States

This same source predicted a big increase in Japanese exports during the next nine months.

PRAYER FOR CHRISTIAN BROTHERHOOD

MEMORY SELECTION—And now I am no more in the world, but these are in the world, and I come to thee, Holy Father, keep through thine own name those whom thou hast given me, that they may be one, as we are.—John 17:11.

The voice of the Son of God lifted in audible prayer! What could be more sacred and more blessed? He who had by act and example taught his disciples loving service (John 13), and had spoken to them words of comfort and assurance (John 14-16), now prayed for himself, for them, and for us.

While he spoke most intimately with the Father as his only begotten Son, he prayed aloud that his disciples might hear his prayer and join with him in it.

This prayer is often called the high-priestly prayer of Christ, and rightly so, for here the "one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus" (I Tim. 2:5) spoke as "the High Priest of mankind who begins his sacrifice by offering himself to God with all his people" (Godet).

First we find that he prayed for himself as he spoke of

I. Salvation Finished—Then Glory with the Father (vv. 1-5).

He looked up and said, "Father," that was all. No struggling, no pleading, just the recognition of his own divinity, his intimate and unique Sonship to God. Throughout this entire prayer the same close relationship is found. It was not as we would pray "Our Father," but "Father."

Jesus was the Son of God. Yes, he was and is God. He and the Father are one in blessed eternal, infinite unity. But as he is in the Father, we who believe are in him. So the poet well says:

"Near, so very near to God,
Nearer I cannot be,
For in the person of his Son
I am as near as he."

This divine Redeemer, who laid down his glory when he came to earth (Phil. 2:7, 8) to be a Saviour, was now ready to take up that glory again. He spoke of the work of salvation as completed—for in his obedient soul the death on the cross which was just ahead was already accomplished.

Now he was ready for the Father to glorify him even as he had glorified the name of the Father. That prayer was answered, and Christ now sits at the right hand of the Father in heaven. What a glorious Saviour we have!

His prayer was soon turned to those who had believed in him. They were precious to him, for they were given to him by the Father.

II. Out of the World—Then Kept by the Father (vv. 6-11).

There is something powerfully assuring to the believer to read the words of Jesus which declare that these who had believed on him had been given to him by the Father. They belonged to the Father, and he gave them to the son. They kept the Word of God, and thus they knew the Son as the manifestation of the Father's name. What could be more certain for time and eternity!

Note that they were taken "out of the world"—that does not mean that they left this earth. They lived here as we live here, but they were delivered from that evil world power which opposes God.

Some professed Christians who find their greatest delight in fellowship with the Christ-rejecting world had better read carefully here, for it appears that the one who is truly in Christ is not "of the world."

These disciples had to remain in the world (though they were not of it) and they needed to be kept. Now that the earthly ministry of Jesus was to be brought to a close, he tenderly placed them anew in the Father's mighty hand. Again we say, what could be more blessedly secure than that!

We must note that our Lord had a special interest and prayer for his own. Verse 9 obviously does not mean that he is not interested in all mankind. He died for them (John 3:16). But here his prayer was for his own, and in that prayer the world was left out. That makes us feel still more assured in him. He, the blessed Son of God and only Saviour, prayed for me, for you!

The closing words of verse 11 reach out into the third petition of our Lord, as he prayed for their

III. Unity in Christ—Then Testimony to the World (vv. 20-23).

The verses between the foregoing division and this one (vv. 12-19) are important. Our Lord was concerned about the hatred of the world for these who had received the Word of the Father, and yet he would not have them taken out of the world. They were to be his witnesses—even as we are to be in our day. They must remain in the world; but being one in Christ and sanctified through the truth, they were to be kept for God and used by him.

Glue pieces of felt under chair legs to prevent scratching painted floors. It's a good way to cut down on noise too.

When paints and varnishes fail to dry you can rest assured the trouble is the result of dirty or oily surface or a surface that has been washed with soap and water, some of the soap having remained on the porous surface of wood.

How you decorate your hat is more important than the bonnet itself. Ribbons, feathers, folderols and frills are all in order. Wear them on your bonnet to keep up to fashion par.

Keep a mirror hanging in the kitchen. Glance into it before you go to answer the door-bell.

Cut all the big letters from cereal and other heavy boxes. On rainy days, or when you are very busy around the house, the letters will keep the children happy and busy. Older children use them for playing anagrams and find them fun too.

When removing a pane of glass, or if fitting a new one, it often becomes necessary to give the glass a few light taps to loosen it or to push it into place. If a rubber crutch tip is placed over the handle of the putty knife there will be little danger of breaking the pane.

Make Your Easter Dinner Springlike!
(See recipe below.)

Easter Favorite

According to the calendar, Easter comes after spring officially begins, but we have always rather looked to this special holiday as a start of the spring season. Is it any wonder then, that we try to make the dinner menu for this day especially spring-like?

Traditionally we like to serve ham or lamb for Easter, but this is really up to you and your family as far as taste and budget is concerned. Whatever you plan to serve, garnish it properly and make the platter look as pretty as a picture.

A roast loin of pork does very well with a border of alternate browned potatoes and spiced crabapples. If you are serving ham, use the same garnish. But with lamb you might do well to substitute minted and spiced pears or pineapple for the garnish. In either case, the fruit serves as a delightful relish.

*Roast Loin of Pork. (Serves 6)

5 pounds loin of pork
1½ tablespoons salt
Pepper

Have loin of pork prepared at the market. Rub salt and pepper into the meat. Place in rack in an open pan and roast in a 350-degree or moderate oven allowing 30 minutes to the pound.

Roast Leg of Lamb.

Wipe meat with a damp cloth, place on a rack in an open pan. Rub meat with a clove of garlic and salt mixed with a few grains of ginger, pepper and paprika. Add to meat in pan.

¼ cup butter
1 sliced onion
1 bay leaf
Juice of ¼ lemon

Add about 1 cup of water to the seasonings and roast in a moderate (350-degree) oven 25 minutes to the pound. Baste frequently with sauce and drippings in pan. One-half hour before serving meat, pour excess fat from pan and baste thoroughly with the following sauce. Strain before serving.

Sauce for Lamb.

2 tablespoons butter
Juice of lemon
1 cup catsup
Worcestershire to taste
2 tablespoons vinegar

Melt butter in skillet, add remaining ingredients, blend and pour over meat.

*Easter Bunny Salad. (Serves 4)

1 envelope plain, unflavored gelatin
¼ cup cold water
¾ cup hot pear juice
¼ cup grapefruit juice
1 tablespoon lemon juice
¼ teaspoon salt
Green coloring
¼ cup cottage cheese
¼ cup diced celery

4 pear halves
8 whole blanched toasted almonds
Chopped almonds
2 packages cream cheese or ½ pound cottage cheese
1 small jar pimiento cheese
1 Soften gelatin in cold water. Dissolve in hot pear juice. Add grape-

LYNN SAYS: Ways to Make Hot Breads Delectable

Hot breads, whether they are biscuits or muffins, require a light hand in the mixing. Don't worry if the ingredients are not as smoothly blended as a cake batter. They shouldn't be for best results.

A toothpick test, made by inserting the toothpick, is fine for testing doneness. No dough should adhere to the toothpick when it is withdrawn.

fruit juice, lemon juice, salt and green coloring. Chill until mixture begins to thicken but still pours. Add cottage cheese and beat with rotary egg beater. Add celery. Pour into rectangular individual molds or large rectangular mold (cut in smaller molds for number of servings) which have been rinsed out in cold water. For each salad, place one pear half, cut side down on gelatin mold. At small end of pear place a ball of cream or cottage cheese about the size of a walnut to represent head of bunny. At large end of pear place a small ball of cheese for the tail. Place whole almonds on small balls of cheese for ears, using chooped nut pieces for eyes and nose. Use 2 sprigs parsley for whiskers. Garnish plate with small scrubbed carrots or carrots shaped from pimiento cheese with a sprig of parsley for top.

Quick Cinnamon Rolls.

2 cups sifted flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
4 tablespoons shortening
¼ cup milk
2 eggs, beaten
½ cup raisins

Sift dry ingredients together. Cut in shortening. Mix milk with eggs and work into dry mixture with raisins. Roll dough ¼-inch thick then sprinkle with sugar and cinnamon. Roll as for jelly roll. Cut into ½-inch slices and place in greased muffin tins. Bake in a hot (450-degree) oven for 12 to 15 minutes. Serve hot.

*Snow Cake. (Sugarless)

¼ cup shortening
2 teaspoons grated orange rind
1 cup light corn syrup
2¼ cups sifted cake flour
2¼ teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
2 eggs
¼ cup milk
1½ teaspoons vanilla

Blend shortening and orange rind; add corn syrup gradually, beating well after each addition. Add ¼ of the dry ingredients which have been sifted together. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Add remaining flour alternately with milk and vanilla. Mix thoroughly. Pour batter into two greased (350-degree) oven for 25 to 30 minutes. While still warm, spread chocolate crunch between layers and over top.

*Chocolate Crunch.

7 ounce package chocolate chips
1 cup oven popped rice cereal
Melt chocolate bits over hot water. Add cereal. Stir until well coated.

Anywhere You Look There's Oil

But Most Surprising of All Locations Is High in Colorado Clouds.

HAMILTON, COLO.—Look where you will—in the Pacific ocean, off the coast of California, in the jungles of South America, in the dust bowl of Oklahoma—you can always find an oil field.

Travel the world over and you will never see one in a more surprising location than the Wilson Creek field of Colorado. Anyone but an oil man, who takes his oil wherever he can find it, would wonder how the field ever was discovered in the first place.

For Wilson Creek sits precariously in the clouds on the continental divide, 8,378 feet above sea level. It's the highest field in the United States and you take your life in your hands to get there.

You start from Craig, Colo., over the "Little Burma Road," which is called that because it looks like the famous and equally hazardous wartime route over the Himalayas.

Giant Pin Cushions.
For 40 breath-taking miles, you wind around towering mountain peaks, looking dizzily off into space, while your ears pop as you gain altitude. You don't see a man-made structure the entire trip until suddenly you reach the roof of the continent and there you are at Wilson Creek where oil derricks stick crazily out from the mountainside like pins in giant pin cushions.

These wells are on shelves carved out of the sides of the peaks. A false move at any of these sites would send a careless man spinning a thousand feet down to a rocky canyon floor.

Amazingly there have been no such false moves to this day at Wilson Creek.

The nation's highest oil field was discovered in 1938 and until the mammoth development began two years ago at nearby Rangely field it was the biggest producing area in Colorado.

No Pumping Problem.

Gaining access to Wilson Creek involved a major feat in road engineering. Even after the road was finished, there remained the gargantuan task of keeping it clear of snowdrifts. Up here at the top of the continent a 14-inch snow in mid-May isn't unusual. There's an airfield for emergency use.

The Texas Co. and the California Co., a subsidiary of Standard Oil of California, developed Wilson Creek. There's no pumping problem. The oil just flows downhill to the nearest refineries.

Wilson Creek's 29 wells produce about 7,000 barrels of oil a day in the summertime from the Morrison and Sundance sands at depths of 6,000 to 7,000 feet. In winter, the paraffin in the crude gets stiff from the cold and hampers the flow of the oil.

This oil flows by gravity from the wells to the gathering tanks and from there the Texas Co. sends its share rocketing on downhill to a refinery at Craig. From Wilson Creek to Craig is a drop of 2,000 feet.

Woman Kills Her Baby Boy, Feared Father Would Take Him

WEBB CITY, MO.—A 36-year-old mother tearfully related that she had shot and killed her baby son, police said, because she thought her husband was going to take the child away from her.

Prosecuting Attorney Ralph Baird said Mrs. Ruth Gilbert Hampton signed a statement in which she said that she first sent three bullets into the six-week-old infant's body and then turned the revolver on herself. She suffered powder burns.

A quarrel with her husband, Tom Hampton, a truck driver, preceded the shooting, Baird said Mrs. Hampton told him. The prosecuting attorney said he would file murder charges against the mother.

Heap Big Talk Has One-Way Tongue When It Comes to Cash

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M.—An elderly Indian sat at the desk of Giles L. Mathews, chief field deputy for the Collector of Internal Revenue, seeking aid in filling out the income tax return.

"How much did you earn?" Mathews asked.

"Ugh," replied the Indian.

"What did you raise, or sell?" persisted Mathews.

"Ugh," said the redman.

"You'll have to tell me," Mathews retorted. "Maybe you have a refund coming."

"How much, and when do I get it?" demanded the Indian in perfect English.

Helicopter Rises 18,850 Feet For World Altitude Record

DAYTON, OHIO.—An unofficial world altitude record for helicopters of 18,850 feet was set by Maj. Ernest Cassell, the army's No. 1 test pilot.

A National Aeronautical association observer in an accompanying B-25 bomber announced that the figure, far beyond the previous record of 11,243 feet, would be certified to the association for entry in its records.

Army Is Studying Distance Measures

Latest Device Is Claimed More Exact Than Radar.

HAMPTON, VA.—A new electronic distance-measuring device, which the inventor claims is more precise in some respects than wartime radar and suited to a wide assortment of peacetime uses, is now under army scrutiny.

The instrument, called "Raydist" from a wedding of the words radio and distance, is a development of Hastings Instrument company here. Charles E. Hastings, 33-year-old head of the company, served 11 years with the national advisory committee for aeronautics.

Like Radar, "Raydist" measures the speed of high frequency radio waves in computing distances to "targets." A difference between the two is that Hastings' system requires a radio transmitter at the target point.

Radar bounces its waves off the target unassisted and measures distances automatically by the time required for these echo waves to return.

"Raydist," however, the inventor says, gives considerably greater exactitude and the present degree of error is less than one foot in a mile.

"Raydist" consists of two fixed receivers, which are the main recording station and reference station, and a mobile transmitter. It operates by comparing the phase relationship between signals received from the transmitter.

An important use of "Raydist," Hastings believes, may be in ground control approach for aircraft coming in for blind landings. He also sees it as suitable for surveying and aerial and surface navigation.

Three Children Married; Five Remain 'Next Trip'

CORAOPLIS, PA.—Albert Dinell, foundry foreman, watched two sons and a daughter marry at a triple ceremony, rubbed his hands briskly and exclaimed: "Now, if I can get my five other children on the next trip, everything will be fine."

Papa Dinell took the credit for promoting the three ceremonies and with a fine sense of responsibility, bought a house and converted it into three apartments as a wedding gift. He also studded the bill for an open house party with 400 guests and an orchestra.

Married were Lawrence, 25, and Yoland Loretta, Coraopolis; Joseph, 23, to Antoinette Magleri, Coraopolis; and daughter, Virginia, 21, to Albert Dalenzi, of Sewickley. The couples plan a joint honeymoon trip to New York. Ages of the five other children range from 8 to 19.

Byrd Finds Little America Has Moved Four Miles Since 1929

LITTLE AMERICA—a Mariner plane of the western task group has discovered a new bay in an exploratory flight over the Knox coast area of Wilkesland, Rear-Adm. Richard E. Byrd announced.

The bay, 200 miles wide east to west and 60 miles deep north to south, was mapped during a flight, Byrd told reporters.

The western group also discovered that there is a peninsula west of Adelle coast, where earlier maps had shown a bay, Byrd said. The admiral displayed a map of the Bay of Whales and the Little America area, prepared by Dr. Paul Siple, showing that the first Little America had moved 4¼ miles westward since 1929.

The entrance to the Bay of Whales is now only 904 feet wide, Byrd said, and Siple estimated that the bay walls are closing in at a rate of 4¼ feet per day. The latter measurement was made at a point along the tractor trail between the bay water and tent town.

Old Model T Auto Parts Are Big Help to Fire Department

MEMPHIS, TENN.—The model T Ford is a virtual museum piece, but delegates to a fire conference here were told how the T is being used effectively in three home-made fire-fighting inventions.

In one case, Model T valve springs were used to separate plates in a device over which hose was laid at points of friction when surging. The springs take up the surge and save the hose.

In a second case, a model T spindle and wheel have been adapted as a one-man, hand-powered hose re-winder.

A third invention mounts a model T starter to power a pumper reel for one-man re-winding.

Alexander Graham Bell Right Smart Man, Oldtimer Admits

HOLDEN, ME.—Howard S. Nauler, "nearly 90," was coaxed by his family into making a telephone call—the first in his life—to an 81-year-old crony who had never before used the contraption, either.

Thomas R. Merritt, 81, of Brewer, said he couldn't hear Nauler any too well, but agreed with him that inventor Alexander Graham Bell—born 100 years ago—had been a right smart man.

Brushing once a day will double the life of a felt hat.

Keep an old tooth brush in your sewing box. The next time you have to rip out seams with a razor blade, use the tooth brush to brush off little threads along seams.

Good knives are a housewife's helpers, so you'll want to take good care of yours. Keep them away from the stove, because heat destroys the temper of steel. If this happens the blade cannot be kept sharp.

Slip a convenient-sized oiled silk bag into your purse just before you go out to buy fish. Have the fish dealer slip the fish into this before wrapping it. On the way home no fish odors will escape the package, and there'll be less chance of liquid leaking on your clothes.

Coat the inside of lids on mustard or horseradish jars with a thin layer of paraffin and they'll not turn green.

To send coins through mail, cut a square from the corner of an old envelope. Slip coin in square and turn back the opening to hold it in.

Full your card tables, folding chairs and games out of cupboards or sliding racks built into waste space under the stairs.

Glue pieces of felt on the bottom of your vases and they will not mar the surfaces of the tables on which they are placed.

If you will place citrus fruits to be used in salad in hot water for a few minutes before peeling, the under skin will come off easily.

Race Horses Seriously Affected by Seasickness

Horses are so affected by seasickness that many thoroughbreds, after a rough sea voyage, have been unfit to race for as long as six months, says Collier's.

To avoid this hazard, a plane was used recently to transport six race horses from Limerick, Ireland, to Los Angeles, the first cargo of its kind ever flown across the Atlantic.

THE OLD TIMER WRITES

A mighty good example for colored folks of this section lies in the person of Joe McGruder of the Wells Community. Some of us have been keeping up cotton movements since he arrived out here in 1925 moving here with G. B. Morris from Spur that year. Joe was with him for 17 years and he is loud in his praise of Mr. Morris for having encouraged him to try to get ahead.

After Morris' death, Joe farmed with several of our local farmers including W. J. Jordan, W. L. Garden hire Claud Tyler and possibly others.

Joe is now on his own and the past year did very well. We believe he had a big hand in the cultivation of about 1-4 sections of farm land on a part crop basis. We do not have exact figures but the number of bales of cotton produced would make an east Texas colored brother sit up and wonder while there were also a large number of tons of maize laid up for market and feeding his shoats.

Joe has a large family but two big hogs were killed for eating purposes and two good cows are owned and made to produce well for the family's needs. A good garden is never left out of the picture. Joe says. There are at present time only five little McGruders in school.

TIME TO CLEAN HOUSE

A good old fashioned spring house cleaning is every city and community in Texas would do a great deal toward furthering good health in this state according to the State Department of health. From a practical standpoint the old adage that "Cleanliness is next to Godliness" is still well worth emphasizing.

A general cleanup program of state wide proportions with the objective of bettering health conditions for our citizenship should include surface cleaning, drainage, the cleaning of streets and alleys the cleaning of all parks and the clearing of weeds and rubbish off of vacant lots.

The destruction of mosquito breeding places and rat harborage, the proper disposal of garbage and trash and the general cleaning up of all premises will be of inestimable value in helping to keep down summer health hazards such as dysentery, typhoid and poliomyelitis. Ordinary sanitary housekeeping and the prompt removal of all waste matter in and around yards and homes in order to abate the danger of such diseases and insure good health protection thruout the State. The Department stressed the fact that many dangerous diseases are filth borne, and the only possible way to control them is to eliminate the insanitary conditions responsible for their spread.
