RODEO DATES ARE JULY 23, 24, 25

According to Johnny Ellis of the O'Donnell Roping Club the date for the annual RODEO has been set for July 23, 24 and 25th with Goat Mayo to furnish the stock. Within a short time committees will be named to work on the various rodeo projects. There is apt to be a special rodeo event for sheriff candidates of Lynn Co. Major General O'Donnell will be invited to lead the parade if he is in the States, and the Hollywood actress, Miss O'Donnell will be invited. At least those are a few of the early ideas.

Getting down to the heart of the matter... at least Johnny's heart... THE PARADE. Mr. Ellis said this year's parade will put to shame any parade ever held on these baldies. Johnny has declared a holiday on selling care and the gleam in his eyes can only mean PARADE.

Mr. Ellis is already "pumping" your ed. on rodeo spirit. Shucks, it will get you 10 hell be doing the same to YOU within the week.

Mayor Hash has declared July as Rodeo month and urged business people to forget business if there's rodeo work to be done.

Summer Homemaking Girls Conduct Nursery School

Nursery school at the Home-making cottage got off to a good start Monday. The school will continue for 2 weeks from 9 to 12 each morning. It serves as an observation laboratory for the girls enrolled in summer home making. This is only one of the group projects which will be carried on by the home making girls. The preschool children have a regular schedule each morning which consists of playing games outside, reading and telling stories, learning songs and listening to music, art and crafts such as modeling clay, finger paint and color work. Also they have a rest period and refreshments. The children are very enthusiastic about the school and are enjoying the training. The following children are attending:

Larry Childress, Don Koeninger, Jo Ann Schooler, Terry Hochman, Judy Pierce, Edna Summers, Billy Singleton, Mary Ann Farrington, John B. Lee, Benny Moore, Stanley Cook, Martha Hedge, Kathy Lollar, Elaine Clayton, Rebecca Clayton and Peggy Carruth.

The home making girls attend this project for 2 weeks, then they carry on some supervised home experiences during the summer. For this work, if satisfactorily completed the student receives one half credit to be applied toward graduation. The following girls are participating in this project:

Frankie Young, Donna Hodges, Druella Cook, Kathryn Vickers, Mary Pierce, Wynell Summers, Shirley Sutton, Carol Thompson, Kay Hancock, Mavis Veach, Betty Cook, Wanda Cunningham, Annette and Patsy Maburin.

The other project which another group of girls will participate in this summer will begin the 30th of June. It will consist of a reading center, story hour and craft classes. Watch the Index for later news concerning this project.

"Sun Ring" Seen Here

Folks here were treated to a rare heavenly show Monday from 10 to 10:30 a m when a large sun ring appeared. The sky was faintly overcast and the ring was perfect, reflecting all of the beautiful rainbow colors. This natural event was caused by an ice cloud in the far upper limits of atmosphere, probably 70,000 feet or more, acting as a projection lens for the sun's rays, throwing the projection on lower clouds at an estimated 8,000 feet. The icy cloud acted as a prism. Only rarely do sun rings form, especially in the morning. Moon rings are fairly common appearing several times a year.

According to Mr. Stewart of Gail the $150,000 bond issue election in Borden County last Saturday carried 76 to 61 or a majority of 15 votes. May Hits Normal In Rainfall

The month of May was neither dry nor above average in rainfall but hit near the normal with 2.97 inches. Following were the rains recorded in town:

May 1	.10
May 18	.62
May 27	1.60
May 31	.65

As can be seen from above the rains were not effective until mid May and the storm of the 27th, which was nearly complete in area coverage, was an old fashion get-the-tubs-out, planting rain.

The localized storm of Saturday night, May 31st, covered an estimated 25 sections with O'Donnell near the north border. The fall was generally good 3 to 4 miles south of here, 4 to 6 miles east and 7 to 8 miles southwest. Some cotton was baled out. The shower, wa of the summer variety with much wind, thunder and lightning and small hail.

Farmers Working Around Clock

Farmers are working around the clock planting to beat the deadline of June 10th for safe planting. Only with present day tractors could this big job be done. Nearly every acre is going to cotton and any necessary replanting will then be to feed. The '52 crop stands a fair chance of being a bumper but the big draw back is lack of sub-soil moisture from 2 feet to 6 feet, the feeding zone of cotton in August and September.

Health Dept. Costs Little

How much is a year of health protection worth to you? How much is it worth to you to have maintained a staff of experts to control flies, mosquitoes, rats, and disease bearing vermin. How much is it worth to conduct those well child conferences and super-veniences immunizations in your town? How much is it worth to you to know that your food supply is protected and that it is fit for human consumption?

How much are the tuberculosis chest x ray services and the states general disease control organization worth?

How much is it worth to insure that your city water supply isn't full of contamination. Those public health nurses who teach expectant mothers how to handle themselves and their babies what are their services worth to you as an individual?

Would you say all this is worth more per cent per year than the cost of a single pack of cigarettes. That's exactly what Texans are paying for health services today 20 cents a year per capita. And there are other services besides those mentioned.

It isn't enough to pay for the sort of health protection State Health Officer Geo. W. Cox, would like to see Texans have. Out of every tax dollar collected in this state, about one cent is spent on the protection of the public health.

"Too much economy in health work, is dangerous," the health official cautioned.

With the expenditure of fifty cents per capita, Texas could approach the national average in this country, Dr. Cox said. As things stand today, Texas is near the bottom among the states in the amount spent for health work.

"When you cripple a health department by fund cutting, you end up with more rather than less expense. Money put into public health is repaid many times over in reduced sickness and lives saved," Dr. Cox said.

Every optometrist must have an eye for business.

No Wear" Service!

Now Adeline is doing fine... thanks to one of the greatest services ever offered the motoring public—a service that helps engines last longer, perform better, use less gasoline and oil!

It's exactly the same service that kept test cars new in Conoco's spectacular "50,000 Miles—No Wear" road test!

In that famous 50,000-mile test, with 1,000-mile drains and proper filter service, test car engines showed no wear of any consequence; in fact, an average of less than one one-thousandth inch on cylinders and crankshafts. Gasoline mileage for the last 5,000 miles was actually 99.77% as good as for the first 5,000.

Now you can get this same 1-2-3 "50,000 Miles—No Wear" Service, at your Conoco Mileage Merchant's today!

The above photographs show the inhibiting effect of a new product that retards potato sprouting. Both bags, from the same crop, were stored for three months. The untreated bag (top) was covered with sprouts and no longer usable. The treated potatoes (lower) showed comparatively few sprouts and remained firm and edible.

Heavy growths of moss on trees do cause damage. The moss does not take food from the tree but shades and crowds out the leaves. This prevents the leaves from manufacturing the food needed by the tree for healthy and normal growth.

Developing the pullet flock on the range will cut feed bills and permit poultrymen to grow laying replacements that are clean and healthy.

Farm and ranch work over the state will soon be shifting into high gear now that the long over due rains are arriving. Members of the State Farm and Ranch Safety Committee urges rural residents to practice safety on the job.

Efficient Grass Feeding Builds Profitable Herds

Grass-fed cattle going to market with a moderate finish may never top the market, but nine times out of 10 they make the stockman most for his investment. Grass-feeding is the natural way to grow cattle, livestock specialists believe.

A major line between the soil and man's food, grass can be grazed directly, made into hay or silage. It offers a year-around supply of forage or feed for your herd. Cattle are able to convert forage into beef most effectively if the producer manages his range wisely and efficiently.

Cattle are selective in their grazing, choosing the best smelling and tastiest grasses. Ideally, there should be a succession of new growth which will supply adequate amounts of desirable forage over a long grazing period. In many areas this can be done by growing pasture mixtures with cultivated grasses.

A cow can hold from 120 to 180 quarts in its four stomachs. To fill them she will eat 100 pounds or more of green grass each day when the pasture is good. She also requires from 10 to 15 gallons of water. The producer should keep these facts in mind to gain the best and most efficient use of his pasture.

New Type Gate

A new type gate that eliminates the problem of opening a gate when sheep crowd into a corner is illustrated above. The gate is 16 feet long. The height of the pole at the top is determined by the balance. The gate pivots near the center at both ends. It locks at both ends near the bottom and can be released with the one lever shown. The gate may be opened in either direction, is easy to operate and no lifting is required.

Homemakers can make the cleaning job easier by using a wheel cart or table on which is carried the supplies needed for doing the cleaning jobs.

One Nutrient Will Not Nourish a Crop
Balanced Food Elements Needed for High Yields

It takes the teamwork of plant nutrients, good soil tilth and plenty of moisture to produce 100-bushel per acre corn crops.

Each of the principal plant food elements—nitrogen, phosphate and potash—has its particular job to do in building strong roots and stalks and developing well finished, fully matured ears. Each reinforces the others.

University of Illinois agronomists demonstrated that you can't depend on any one nutrient to do the whole crop feeding job. When nitrogen alone was added to corn, yields were only one-third as much as when lime, nitrogen, phosphate and potash were used. Phosphate alone gave only half as many bushels of corn per acre and potash alone, only one fourth.

Keeping the soil in good tilth is just as important as maintaining a balanced nutrient level. This can be done by following a rotation that puts in a well fertilized legume-grass crop a year or two before corn planting.

Land plowed out of a good sod crop is well conditioned to make maximum use of nutrients and moisture and to produce extra bushels of corn per acre. Such soil is mellow and porous. Drainage is good. Water is absorbed quickly and more of it is stored for the use of the crop.

Agronomists point out that another requisite for high corn yields is good seed and a stalk population sufficient to make use of the soil's nutrient supply. They advise planting well adapted hybrids that are particularly suited to your growing conditions. A stalk population of from 14,000 to 16,000 is needed on most loam soils.

Texas farmers can be using a combination of good farming practices, increase the output of their farms. These practices include: balanced cropping system to fit the farm, planting some deep rooted legume, balancing crops and livestock, use of fertilizers and supplying organic matter to the soil. Soil tests will serve as an aid in putting some of these practices into operation.

Know Your Law

The privilege or rule against self-incrimination in connection with court proceedings and legislative committee hearings. The statement, "I refuse to answer on the grounds that it may tend to incriminate me" has become familiar to many. Some do not understand the background of the legal principle which allows a person to remain mute in such circumstances.

Lawyers say this is one of the most important basic rights of the individual in this country. The Fifth Amendment of our Federal Constitution provides that "no person shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself." The early American statesman insisted that this guarantee become a part of our law for excellent reasons.

The doctrine against self-incrimination is most probably an outgrowth of "trial by ordeal" practiced in the ancient days of England. A person accused of a criminal offense had to plead either guilty or not guilty at the time he was arraigned for trial and still does today. However, in those days the accused had neither the benefit of counsel nor the right to testify in his own defense, and either plea ultimately amounted to just about the same thing.

If the accused pleaded guilty he was hung a little sooner than was the case if he pleaded not guilty. This situation, understandably enough, caused many persons charged with crime to stand silent on arraignment and not plead either way. When that happened, the accused was subjected to torture to induce him to plead one way or the other.

Incredible methods of making a person talk were used with almost total success. In some cases the accused was placed in close confinement with a bit of bread to eat one day, a sip of water the next, and so on from day to day until he consented to plead or died of starvation.

On other occasions heavy weights were placed in his chest above the heart and attendants stood on the weights, or he might have been reclined on a bed of sharpened stakes. Investigations in those areas are primarily because of alleged deviation from the rules of the church.

With memories of such atrocities, it is plain to see why the colonists from England made such practices prohibited by their fundamental laws.

The privilege against self-incrimination is not only incorporated in the Federal Bill of Rights, but is also guaranteed under the constitution of all but two of the 48 states. Our Texas Constitution provides that an accused "shall not be compelled to give evidence against himself."

The right of a witness to refuse to answer on these grounds has been repeatedly sustained by the

Missouri Dairy Stud Outstanding

Planes Used to Speed Delivery of Semen

Artificial insemination of dairy cows has received such wide acceptance in the highly developed Ozark dairy section that the Missouri Farmers Association has established a shipping schedule by three planes which cover approximately 95 counties daily.

The association's stud at Springfield is composed of 55 of the nation's finest dairy bulls.

The semen is collected in early morning and the airplanes take off with it at 5 a. m. the same day. It takes the planes approximately 3 1/2 hours to cover three routes of 350 miles each.

The semen is parachuted to the inseminators by a pilot parachute attached to a half-gallon bucket in-ulated and protected from shock by foam rubber on the inside.

Association's stud includes Jersey, Guernsey, Holstein, Milking Shorthorn, Brown Swiss and Angus.

Ozark dairymen report they are highly pleased with the quick and more efficient service.

courts of the United States. Although the U. S. Supreme Court has not directly passed on the question of self-incrimination before a legislative committee, there is a fair inference that the privilege established by the Fifth Amendment protects witnesses in Congressional investigations as well as in judicial proceedings.

75 Per Cent Farm Fires Preventable

Inspection is Answer To Farm Fire Prevention

Two University of Illinois researchers believe that farmers could prevent 75 per cent of farm fires if they would inspect for hazards and eliminate them.

The two researchers, Dean Winter and Gilbert Sauer, of the University's agricultural engineering department, reached their conclusion after inspection of 53 farms in that state.

"It's lightning, faulty wiring and poor heating systems that are burning down most Illinois farm buildings," they report. "On the farms we visited, we often found the wiring or the furnace in poor condition. Lots of farmers didn't have lightning rods."

"Most of these conditions could be corrected by farmers themselves. Our survey found that probably 75 per cent of farm fires could be prevented if fire hazards were pointed out to farmers and they would remove them."

The only answer is routine inspection by the farmer every few months and quick elimination of the hazards.

Farm Wife to Encourage New Homes, Remodeling

A group of researchers are convinced there's some truth in the warning, "never underestimate the power of a woman."

The real impetus to home building on the nation's farms will probably be generated by Mrs. Farm Wife herself, they say.

Farm women, explain Minneapolis-Honeywell researchers, have 51 per cent more children than city women, and obviously large families—50 per cent of farm children under 18 are in families with four or more children. Therefore, they see the big building push coming from this annual farm family baby crop. These births create a demand by the farm wife for roomier quarters.

Secondly, the expected manpower shortage on farms means that many a farmer will remodel his home to make housework easier for his wife who will have to shoulder more of the chores. The researchers see more automatic equipment, ranging from heating systems to dishwashers, being widely installed to help her keep pace with her new labors.

And if that's not convincing enough, the diligent researchers further point out that the signs are that farm incomes will be up some 5 per cent over last year's record estimate of $37.5 million, indicating that farm families will have the money for construction or remodeling purposes.

200,000 Farm Tractors Operate on Butane Gas

More than 200,000 farm tractors, either factory designed on converted, now run on liquefied petroleum gas. Many farmers report that by using liquefied petroleum gas, engine maintenance can be reduced up to 50 per cent. Known also as butane, propane, tank and bottled gas, the fuel also has many household applications such as cooking, house heating, water heating refrigeration and incineration.

Last year 2,308,000 hogs were produced in Texas. Consumption within the state of pork and pork products was equal to about twice the production. The difference between supply and demand came from other states.

Plans for constructing barbecue and outdoor furnaces, trash burners, lawn chairs and other outdoor furniture are available from local county Extension agents.

Farmers using rotary hoe equipped tractors have reduced the cotton hoeing and chopping bill by as much as 60 percent. Cross-cultivation and mechanical cotton choppers have also been used to cut hoeing and chopping costs. The latest weed and grass control research is with chemicals.

Homemakers by taking advantage of the present broiler and fryer situation, can cut the family grocery bill by extra birds and storing in the freezer locker box or in the home freezer for later use.

Pecan producers have only a few days to apply control measures for the pecan nut casebearer. It is now time to make the first application. Once the insect gets inside the nut nothing can be done.

OLD AGE HEALTH IS A PROBLEM

In the past, medicine and public health have concerned themselves largely with the health and disease problems of youth and middle age said Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer. We have neglected our aged population and have waited upon the devastations of time before extending aid to the old.

Our population each year includes an increasing number and percentage of older people. In 1950 in the United States, it is estimated that there are 11,000,000 persons over sixty five years of age, as compared to 3,000,000 in 1900. In absolute numbers, aged persons among us have almost quadrupled in the last fifty years, whereas the proportion of elderly persons to the remainder of the population has nearly doubled.

Dr. Cox stated that preventive medicine, private medical care and social services have assisted in extending the life span. As encouraging as this fact may be there is an accompanying: the aged are subject to the chronic disease which because of destroying tissue structure, heart disease, cancer, diabetes and other long term illnesses resist the physicians most skillful attack and are notably disabling and lethal.

To insure health and peace of mind to our old people, preventive and curative medicine and services can contribute technical prevention and care. These techniques should properly include early discovery of beginning disease processes through periodic examinations that begin in early life and continue for one's remaining years. By such means many cases of chronic disease, with all their agony and sure fatality, might either be prevented or, through the substitution of different living regimens, be rendered tolerably.

No one objects to how much you say if you say it in a few words.
