G. F. Ward Dies
 After Long Illness

Dawson County lost one of its most respected and beloved citizens Thursday, October 8, when the death angel called G. F. Ward, resident of the Hancock community, to his final reward.

Mr. Ward had been a resident of Dawson County for the past ten years, and had been in the Ballard community and the past two in the Hancock community. He had made a host of friends not only in these localities but over the entire county.

He was born in Mulboro, Wilson county in 1890, and died in Lamesa, October 8 at the home of his brother-in-law, F. E. Patterson. He had been brought to Lamesa recently after he had been stricken with a baffling ailment, in order that he might be given the best attention possible. Members of his family and friends have kept a constant vigil at his bedside for several weeks before his death.

Mr. Ward had been a member of the Methodist church since he was 18 years of age and intimate friends say that a finer Christian life than his was unknown to them.

Funeral services were held at the First Methodist Church in Lamesa at 4:00 o'clock Friday afternoon with Bro. Berry Baker and Bro. J. G. Walker of Welch officiating. Interment was in the Lamesa cemetery where his grave was covered with a profusion of beautiful floral offerings. Members of the church and intimate friends say that a finer Christian life than his was unknown to them.

Surviving besides his widow are five children, Clarence Ward of Ballard, Mrs. Ellis Todd of Aubrey, Forrest, Thomas and Billy Ward of Hancock.

G. D. Holbrook Visits Dawson Co. Schools

G. D. Holbrook, Deputy State Superintendent, District 2, was in the county last week visiting schools applying for rural aid.

In commenting on his visit Mr. Holbrook said that he found general conditions in the schools much improved as compared with previous years. Buildings, he said, were in much better repair and school grounds more attractive. He was highly pleased to see more trees added to the grounds, and he expressed the desire to see the beautification of school grounds continued.

The greatest improvement, however, said Mr. Holbrook, was to be found in the Standard of Work that is being done in the schools of the county. He was pleased to note that many teachers are adopting new methods of teaching and teaching materials and devices. The fact that a large number of the schools were working toward standardization indicated a progressive spirit on the part of the school communities.

Mr. and Mrs. Red Haley announce the birth of a daughter on September 8, named Millie Hadesane.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Stump on September 25, a son, who will be called Abe Kenneth.

Miss Beverly Wells was ill and unable to be at her office the first of the week, but is recovered today.

Let's Talk about Clothes

Denton, Oct. 12—Velvet is one of the most popular material trimmings for fall clothes. Women are utilizing it not only on frocks, but for collar and cuff sets, hags, hats, and gloves. Velvet bows are new for suede or kidskin opera pumps, and velvet scarfs are plentiful with silk or wool sports suits.

The side seams of straight simple skirts are carefully copied from masculine suits and are covered with narrow velvet ribbon. Dresses have vertical bands of narrow velvet streaking down the front, adding inches to the streamline.

Prim, dashing street suits of dull black wool have lapels, collars and cuffs of velvet to contrast the suit. Some even boast sleeveless vestee effects and waistcoats in excitingly new and smart contrasting colors. With a very simple velvet skirt and several different kinds of blouses you can easily acquire a reputation for being originally dressed. Tunic blouses, skirt plaid wool or velvet jackets, the newest soft jersey blouses, and the glittering material for dress-up are a few of the possibilities.

Girls at Texas State College for Women discovered one of the most unusual blouse ideas this fall in a collection of imports. The skirt was of black velvet, the top of novelty soft but rubbery looking trick wool and silk combine. The blouse, puffed sleeves were worn just below the elbow, and the blouse effect of the blouse top reached well down from the normal waistline. Three-inch fringe was cut from the material to finish the blouse. The ensemble made an interesting model for dinners in town.

Senator Connolly to Speak In Hobbs

An announcement of a sneaking date of Texas junior senator, Tom Connolly, to be in Hobbs, New Mexico, on Monday night, October 26, has been received by local Democrats.

Tentative plans are to get up a delegation of Lamesa Democrats and make the trip to Hobbs to hear the Senator. It is hoped that the Lamesa band will make the trip.

Mrs. Noble Hostess At Bridge Luncheon

One of the most delightful social occasions of the season was held Tuesday when Mrs. J. Mac Noble Jr., was hostess to members of the Tuesday Bridge Club and several additional guests at a bridge luncheon at her lovely home in the south part of town.

Three tables were laid for luncheon and guests did full justice to the delicious three courses of southern fried chicken, fresh lima beans, tomatoes creamed potatoes, hot rolls, jello and nut salad, coffee, and pie with whipped cream. Games of bridge followed lunch, with high score going to Mrs. DeWitt Knox of Lamesa and low score to Mrs. Roscoe Holton, also of Lamesa. Guests were Mesdames Anderson, Whitsett, Wells, Caldwell, and Davis of Lubbock, City Simpson, Roscoe Holton, J. E. Garland, and DeWitt Knox of Lamesa, Whigham and Miss Lillis Gill.

The astonishing story of GULFPRIDE THE WORLD'S FINEST MOTOR OIL

THE results you get from GULFPRIDE OIL can be obtained from no other motor oil in the world!

For only GULFPRIDE is made from choice Pennsylvania crude . . . refined to equal the best motor oils on the market . . . and then further refined by Gulf's exclusive Alchlor process.

This process was developed by Gulf after 15 years of scientific research—the kind of painstaking research that is behind every Gulf product.

Read the facts below. Then replace your summer-worn oil with GULFPRIDE now. At all Gulf dealers.

(Left) BEATING THE BEST. No other process refines oil so thoroughly as Gulf's Alchlor process. When a blend of 6 of the finest Pennsylvania motor oils—already highly refined—was put through this process, 20% waste came out. Proof that the Alchlor process makes GULFPRIDE finer than the finest other Pennsylvania oils.

(Right) EASTERN AIR LINES' Great Silver Fleet uses GULFPRIDE only in every one of its 21 mighty planes. No other oil will do, because no other oil can match GULFPRIDE—the world's finest motor oil—for safety, stamina, and low cost per mile!

A GULFPRIDE USER drove from Bennington, Vt. to Portland, Ore., averaging 400 miles a day. He did not add a single drop of oil. An unusual record, yes. But except GULFPRIDE to take you farther before you need a quart than any other oil you ever used.

LIFE CYCLE OF THE SCREW WORM FLY

Flies have four stages in their life cycle. The adult flies mate and lay eggs, and the eggs hatch into maggots or the worm stage. The maggot, after a period of feeding and growth, transforms into a resting stage called the pupal stage and from this emerges the adult fly. Thus we have in the life of a fly four stages — the fly, the egg, the maggot, and the pupa.

The adult female screw worm finds a living animal that has a wound, preferably a fresh wound. The fly lays masses of creamy white eggs on the edge of the wound. Ten to 400 eggs are placed in a single mass, and these eggs hatch in from 11 to 21 hours.

As soon as the young maggots are hatched, they enter the wound and begin feeding. As the maggots continue to feed, they shed their skin several times, growing larger each time this process occurs. In from 4 to 10 days the maggots complete their development and begin migrating from the wound.

The maggots drop to the ground and enter the soil, penetrating to a depth of one to several inches. At this point the maggot apparently becomes inactive, but actually a great change is taking place. The maggot contracts, becomes rigid, and the skin turns brown and hardens to a leathery texture. This is the pupal or resting stage, and within the pupal case the insect is transforming into an adult fly. In from 7 to 14 days the process is complete.

During the overwintering period the insect sometimes spends as long as 34 days in the pupal stage. The adult fly breaks through the pupal case, comes up through the soil and rests upon some twig or plant until it has had dried and expanded and it is ready to fly away.

For five or ten days the adult flies feed upon various substrations, the males and females mate, and then the cycle is ready to repeat itself. This cycle is completed within an average of 24 days.

The screw worm fly will attack any cut, wound or abrasion in livestock, fowls, domestic pets, man or other warm blooded animals. It does not, however, deposit its eggs on carcasses or in any place other than a wound on a living animal. It will be seen readily that the screw worm fly population can be greatly reduced if wounds are treated and the screw worms killed. Each female screw worm fly is capable of laying from 2,500 to 3,850 eggs. This each maggot that is killed in the wound means the death also of an indefinite number of potential pests.

A screw worm case can be recognized readily by the watery discharge of blood and blood serum which flows from the wound and from the foul odor associated with it. Flies frequently lay eggs around infested wounds and thus worms of several sizes are sometimes found in the same wound. Screw worms feed with their head ends buried in the wound and with their tail ends turned out. Breathing occurs thru the exposed or posterior end of the maggot. This habit makes it easier to reach the breathing apparatus of the maggot with the fumes of benzol, which the United States Department of Agriculture recommends for use in killing screw worms in the wounds.

Following this treatment, the wound should be coated with pine tar oil, specific gravity 1.065, to hasten healing of the wound and aid in repelling further attacks from the fly.

Dawson County Democrats Go Over the Top

Carl Rountree, who has been chairman of the campaign fund committee of the Democratic party in Dawson County announces that the County has gone over the top in the giving to the Roosevelt-Garner Fund, and is the only county on the South Plains to announce reaching their quota. Something over $700 has been raised and contributions are still coming in. The quota for the county was $648.

At the last report, Lubbock county had raised only about $250.

Committeemen are proud of the Democrats of Dawson county and urge those who have not contributed to do so at once, as many of the counties are not going to give their share and it is up to others to bring up the average.

CORRECTING A MISTAKE

Several issues ago, we made a false statement which we would like to correct. In announcing Mr. Kirchner's locating a drygoods store here, we were under the impression that he would have a line of furniture also, but this is not the case. He is using the furniture, counters, shelves, and the like, that were already in the building.

Mr. Kirchner also informed us that it is the policy of his firm to use only local people on his sales force whenever possible.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth S. Farris announce the birth of an eight and one-half pound son on October 7. Mother and baby are doing nicely. Mrs. Farris was Miss Cleo Petty before her marriage.

Amelda Ann, small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Singleton, has been seriously ill this week, but seems to be somewhat improved as we go to press.

Mr. and Mrs. Waldo McLaurin are driving a new Hudson custom touring sedan purchased recently from Clyde Ragland Motor Company at Lubbock.

THE RED & WHITE STORES

Only the Best

Those fortunate housekeepers who have already formed the pleasant and economical RED & WHITE habit, know that when they order anything from that line they can be assured that they will be sent ONLY THE BEST. That motto has for years been the prime factor in all the policies of the RED & WHITE Stores in the United States and Canada.

And when you know that you will always have the best, at a price as low as you would pay for inferior merchandise elsewhere, why wait even an hour longer before joining the ranks of satisfied RED & WHITE customers everywhere?
