The survey is by the State Department of Health and is FREE with all resulting information confidential. Mr. Ellis said the O'Donnell group promised at Tahoka recently that 750 folks were available here for the test, otherwise we would have had to all troop up to Tahoka. The test takes only a minute or so and you will not have to remove your clothing. The Chest pictures would cost you at least $25 if made in a hospital. # Gov. Dewey Breaks With Top GOP Leaders on Arms Aid to Europe; Farm Aid Needed to Kill Rackets

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

DEWEY:

Breaks With Top Men

The hints at a serious rift in policy within the Republican party during the past few months took on definite form when Gov. Thomas E. Dewey took sharp issue with such top G.O.P. leaders as Taft of Ohio, Wherry of Nebraska, and former president Herbert Hoover over the defense of Europe.

In one of the bluntest statements ever made by Dewey, the New York governor said it would be "utmost of folly" to depend upon sea and air power to protect the U.S. against Communist aggression. He added, "Anyone who thinks you can defend the United States or any substantial part of the world with any two out of three branches of the armed forces, is ignoring every lesson of history."

He then urged faster mobilization and sending more American troops to Europe immediately. He said he felt the deployment of troops was no business of Congress.

This viewpoint is the exact opposite of Taft, Wherry and Hoover who have repeatedly demanded no more American troops be sent to Europe without prior approval of congress. They have also urged placing our faith in defense on overwhelming sea and air power.

Thus develops the serious rift within the Republican party that could have far-reaching results within the coming year. Politically it could mean that Dewey is dead as a possible G.O.P. standard bearer in 1952.

On the other hand, if Dewey's thinking is the expression of the majority of the Republican party, it could mean Taft, Wherry and Hoover will be stamped isolationists and doomed to ultimate oblivion.

In this connection, it was interesting to note that Dewey said, "Any isolationist speech is an aid to Stalin."

FARMERS:

Must Help Curb Rackets

With the government's order limiting the number of slaughterhouses that will be permitted to operate and the amount of livestock they can butcher, it became apparent it is going to take patriotism down on the farm to keep meat off the black market.

While big and middle-size slaughterers who provide most of the steaks and chops for the dinner table will be licensed, several hundred thousand farmers who usually butcher a few hogs, sheep for their own consumption or for local sale are exempt.

While these farmers right now don't account for much of the meat eaten in the United States, they are a potential headache for price controllers. During World War II many farmers sat up their own barnyard slaughterhouses with no more equipment than a tree, a rope, an ax, and a butcher knife.

It wasn't very sanitary, but plenty of racketeers were willing to buy the meat at fancy prices and truck it into the cities for sale at even fancier black market prices.

Price control officials are afraid that some farmers exempted from the slaughtering regulation might be lured into illicit butchering by the prospect of easy money. The job of keeping check on the farmers would require an army of enforcement agents, and is impossible under present conditions. For that reason it will take a lot of patriotism down on the farm if present slaughter regulations are to be enforced.

HOLLYWOOD:

Unpleasant Publicity

Hollywood, that land of make-believe so often in the headlines, appeared in line for considerable more publicity, but of an unpleasant nature.

The new avalanche began to roll when the house un-American activities committee announced plans to investigate certain Hollywood actors that would "inevitably" lead to a revival of the communism-in-Hollywood case.

In 1947 the committee investigated Communist influences in the movie capital in long and sensational hearings with the result that 10 writers and directors were convicted of contempt of congress for refusing to say whether they had ever been Communists. All went to jail.

The new hearings may do considerable good, but as in all such investigations, some innocent people can expect to be hurt.

EDUCATION

College Enrollment Drop Is Expected

Mobilization is having a drastic effect on colleges throughout the nation. A recent survey of American universities and colleges revealed that most institutions predict they will lose 25 to 50 per cent of their students before the end of this year.

Such a drop in enrollment will result in a sharp cut-back of faculty members, possibly as many as

Hitch-Hiker

William J. Newton, Jr., who first made headlines last August when he landed a seaplane at sea beside the "iron curtain" liner Batory and got into trouble with the FBI, is shown (left) as he was interviewed by correspondent Frank Conniff, after he turned up in Korea. Newton said he had hitch-hiked 12,000 miles to "kill some Communists" to clear his name of the taint of communism. The 8th army gave him a physical, turned him down as unfit.

PRICES:

Reach Record Level

The American public found itself in a strange position, one which it did not entirely understand and which presented frightening possibilities for the future.

The situation began to develop some weeks ago with the enactment of price-wage controls, which most people believed would halt the cost of living spiral. Shortly after the "freeze" went into force, numerous loopholes in the plan were made known by which many foods could jump from 5 to 200 per cent.

Later the gullible public was told by the bureau of labor statistics that wholesale prices reached a new record high despite the "price freeze." The main increases were in prices of food and farm products.

This, of course, caused immediate rumblings in labor's ranks. In turn, Secretary of Agriculture Brannan defended farmers against the charges that farm prices were "unreasonably high."

Economic stabilization administrator Eric Johnston, who has the most thankless job in the United States today, issued a statement saying that prices may advance a few more months and finally level off in mid-summer.

The average American had no desire to see any one group of the nation's economy — farmers, laborers, manufacturers — unjustly bear the greatest burden of price and wage controls. But the average American was worried about how far he could stretch his pay check without drastically lowering his standard of living. He wanted to know if he could stand it until the midsummer leveling-off took place?

KOREA:

Reds Counterattack

With stunning force and typical blood-curdling methods, complete with suicidal charges, bugle-blowing, bell ringing, whistle-tooting, and drum-beating, Chinese Communists launched a counterdrive against U.N. forces in central Korea.

The counterattack stalled the U.N. advance that began late in January and which had approached Seoul.

Eighth army officers reported elements of nine Chinese divisions and six Korean divisions were used in the counterattack.

At full strength this would mean as many as 150,000 to 200,000 men. However, heavy casualties had been inflicted on the Communists since the U.N. offensive began. Officials claimed Red casualties, by ground action alone, totaled 80,121.

Some military observers believed Communist armies in Korea had been hurt so seriously in recent weeks they could not continue an offensive for a long period of time. Others, however, were cautious with their predictions, remembering the overwhelming manpower available to the Communist cause.

Morale was reported high among U.N. troops during recent weeks as they pushed slowly toward the 38th parallel.

CIVIL DEFENSE

Knowledge of Biological Warfare Is Vital Link in Civil Defense

(This is the third of a series of articles on civil defense by Walter A. Sheard, Western Newspaper Union's Washington correspondent.)

By WALTER A. SHEARD

WASHINGTON, D.C. — With an enemy which places no value whatever upon the lives of individuals, which have no moral scruples as we know them, an atomic bomb is not the only peril faced by the American people in an all-out war with Russia.

Biological warfare against people and against animals is one of these perils. This sort of warfare which can spread a wide variety of disease including a number of viruses, rickettsiae, bacteria, fungi, protozoa and soluble toxins, may be waged from within by sabotage, or from without by enemy planes, and can be disseminated through a variety of media, chief of which are food, air and water. These infectious diseases taken in by humans through inhalation, absorption through the skin or by food, could be disseminated by aerial bombs and other munitions, by release of infectious aerosols from planes or from ground devices, taking advantage of favorable winds, or by release in ventilating systems of large auditoriums. Particularly effective is contamination of water sources.

In addition to humans, biological warfare against animals can be effective since meat, dairy and poultry products are an important source of diet for both military and civilian personnel. Production of wool and leather, might be curtailed and important biologicals and pharmaceuticals such as adrenalin, liver extract and insulin, entirely dependent upon animal glands and organs, could be cut off.

Such animal diseases as foot-and-mouth disease, rinderpest, fowl pest and foreign types of Newcastle disease appear to have greater possibilities for damage in this country.

By INEZ GERHARD

ON MARCH 4 "Theatre Guild on the Air" plans to do a full hour-and-a-half hour broadcast of "Hamlet", which will certainly be heard by the largest single audience that has ever heard it since Shakespeare wrote the play centuries ago. It will come from the stage of the Belasco Theatre in New York and will be heard over the full NBC network. Stars will be Dorothy McGuire of the movies and Pamela Brown and John Gielgud of the theatre, both now appearing in one of the season's hits, "The Lady's Not for Burning". "Hamlet" was modernized for GI's during the war, and the broadcast will follow along that line.

Irene Vernon, whose latest picture is "Sound of Fury" (a Robert Stillman production for United Artists), is one of the four judges who will hand out 15 savings bonds to the winners of the Num-Zit baby beauty contest. It's open to infants from 6½ months to 2½ years old, from March 1 to June 1. Entry blanks available at all drugstores.

GRASSROOTS

Let's Hope Economists Figured Income Accurately

By Wright A. Patterson

WHAT PERCENTAGE of each dollar we earn during the next fiscal year, beginning July 1, 1951, does the President ask congress to take away from us as federal taxes to pay for rearmament and the expenses of the government? That is an important question to each American.

The President asks for a tax that will produce a total of $71 billion. That is the highest total amount the nation has ever been asked to pay, but the President estimates that the total earnings of Americans for the next fiscal year will be not less than $240 billion, and of that amount we will pay out of each dollar we earn 25.9 cents. As a tax, that is mild compared with what we were charged in 1945, when the government took $2.42 out of each of our earned dollars, and at that time we were a long way from paying the war cost of that year, and added more than 70 billions to our national debt.

Now the President is insisting that we pay the cost of rearmament as we go, and not increase the national indebtedness, and he figures a tax of 25.9, or less than 30 cents out of each earned dollar will accomplish that result.

What the total may be depends entirely on the total of the national income, the earnings of Americans as individuals, corporations, stockholders or bond holders, farmers. If the President is right in his estimate of a national income of $240

Then there is biological warfare against crops in the spread of insect pests and plant diseases which constitute a threat to our food supply. It would be comparatively easy for low flying planes to spread such crop and animal diseases across the vast stretches of the country's great plains where wheat, oats and the meat animals are raised and where population is comparatively meager. The department of agriculture knows about many of these foreign pests such as Japanese beetle, European corn borer, Mediterranean fruit fly, citrus canker and other pests. Our most successful method of keeping down losses is development of strains resistant to specific diseases, which takes time. But it is likely that new organisms which present crop varieties cannot resist, may be introduced, even in peace time, and herbicidal chemicals might be disseminated openly over these vast crop areas where hostile planes might gain access.

OF COURSE CONSTANT vigilance, before-hand knowledge how to detect the effect of biological warfare on both humans and animals, the proper method of fighting the effects, and how state, towns, cities, and counties can be organized to fight these perils is a function of the civil defense administration. Probably one of the most insidious and dangerous methods of chemical warfare is the dissemination of so-called nerve gases, developed in Germany during World War II. These nerve gases are more toxic than any previously known war gases and are nearly colorless and odorless. They are liquids which yield toxic vapors when they evaporate and are laid down near the ground. These gases cut off breathing and blood circulation. Action is prompt and lethal and inhalation for a few seconds may cause death. Exposure to mild traces of the vapor causes bronchial restriction with difficulty in breathing, coughing and a water discharge of the nose. A slightly greater exposure induces painful constriction of eye muscles, terrific pain back of the eye-balls. Larger doses cause rapid and severe broncho-spasms, preventing both inhalation and exhalation. The victim becomes confused and cyanotic, may have nausea and vomiting and falls unconscious. The blood pressure falls, heart beat is slowed and may or may not start again.

The U.S. public health service has worked out treatments for all these inhuman forms of modern warfare in the biological and chemical field. The point is in learning how to combat it; what treatments to give in emergencies and in the long pull for recovery; to pile up stocks of the right kind of medicines, particularly atropine and tridione, plenty of gas masks, protective clothing, how to prevent contamination, hospitalization and a dozen other necessities in case of such an attack.

Doctors and veterinarians must take special courses in how to combat the effects and this professional manpower must come from the private ranks. Therefore full cooperation of the various state, county and local medical and related professional groups is essential. Be ready to volunteer.

(Next week's article will discuss national, state, and regional training centers in the civil defense program.)

BEWILDERED BOY

By Willard Olvan Persing

MY HANDS came up shoulder high. I didn't think the kid would use the gun intentionally, but scared and cold as he was his hand shook so much that I was more than a little worried. I wasn't going to startle him into waking any of the townspeople. They would find out plenty soon enough that I had been caught flat-footed by this teen-age bad man.

Otto was standing behind the counter, his hands resting easily on its scarred top. I couldn't figure it, but he was half smiling at the wild-eyed, boyish face that was half covered with a dirty white handkerchief.

"Sure, son," Otto was saying. "I'll give you the money, after I fix you a bite to eat."

The kid's eyes lit up for a moment, then he frowned and said, "You're trying to trick me into taking off the mask."

Otto shook his head slowly. "I'll put some sandwiches in a sack so you can take them with you." He turned his back on the kid and went to work at the sandwich board.

They seemed to have forgotten me, so I started edging around behind the youngster. I figured that was why Otto was stalling, but I had moved only a few inches when he stopped me.

"Take it easy, Joe, you're apt to ruin his appetite."

At these words from Otto, the kid spun around. I was staring at Otto, trying to figure out what in the world he had in mind. There wasn't any writing on the back of Otto's neck, and it was too deep for me, so

"This is the first time you've tried this?" Otto was asking the kid with the dirty handkerchief over his face.

I hooked a stool with my toe and pulled it out where I could sit down.

Otto turned around with a hamburger in his hand. He reached across the counter and handed it to me. "Maybe this will keep you out of mischief for a while," he said, grinning at my bewilderment.

After all, he was the one getting robbed, so I decided I might as well go along with whatever he was trying to do. All I stood to lose was maybe my job.

"This is the first time you've tried this?" Otto was asking the kid.

The kid's head nodded quickly, then he frowned and said, "What difference does it make? Hurry up with those hamburgers."

I was checking the kid's description again to see if there was anything I had missed. He had brown eyes and was waving a Luger pistol at us. His hair, if any, was hidden under an old cap pulled down over his ears. I was still trying to figure out how much slack there was in the bulky overalls when Otto dumped the cash drawer out on top of the counter.

He counted the money into a paper sack and placed it a couple of feet from the sack of hamburgers. "Thirty dollars," he said to the kid, "not much pay for the chance you're taking."

The kid reached out and scooped the two sacks together, using both hands. His right hand with the Luger came to rest a few inches from Otto's stomach. Otto slammed a huge hand down over the kid's hand and gun, clamping them to the counter.

I started to yell at Otto, if that gun went off, he wouldn't have a chance.

"Take it easy, both of you," he told me and the squirming kid. "That gun isn't loaded." To me he said, "I'm surprised you couldn't tell by looking at the extractor."

I didn't have an answer for that. "That thirty dollars is your next two weeks wages," Otto told the kid. "You can have all you want to eat." He slipped the gun out of the kid's fist and placed it out of sight under the counter.

The kid was still scared. "Aren't you going to tell the cops?" Otto grinned and pointed at me. "That's them, son."

The kid paled and wilted. That took all the fight out of him.

I stared at the kid for a minute, then stood up and headed for the door. "Time to make my rounds," I said. "Otto, you should hire some young fellow to help out in here, you're getting too old to do it all yourself."

Production Speed-Up Is Farmer's Biggest Problem
 Our present farm surpluses will be less of a worry in the coming defense speed-up than will our shortages, Ken Gapen of the U.S. department of agriculture reports.
 Gapen pointed out that getting increased farm production from now on is not expected to be as easy as it was at the start of World War II.
 Production was at a low level at the start of the last war and labor was plentiful, and less fertilizer was used. Also there were fewer tractors and other farm machinery.
 Now, however, we are at a high level of production and to push output still further above the high plateau we're on is going to be difficult.
 Gapen said farmers have one big advantage this time, however. They've won recognition among high defense authorities that farm production is defense production, and government leaders are determined to try to keep farmers free of the last war's shortages of supplies and essential equipment and manpower.

Easy Elegance Will Dominate Spring Fashion Picture

By Erta Haley

MOST OF US will find it hard to resist the elegance and luxury of the new Spring and Summer fashions which have just been previewed. There are no economies practiced in styles or materials in the new fashions, and they appear to be as enticing and feminine as it's possible to make clothes.

This luxury applies whether the silhouette is ultra slim or super-full, for even if the dress or suit is slim, there are ways of using material for luxury notes.

The rule-of-two is dominant in the fashion picture: two distinct silhouettes, already mentioned; two colors for every costume with the monotone ensemble a rare species; combinations of two fabrics contrasting each other, like the soft with the stiff, or the thin with the thick.

You'll be seeing double in many of the details, also. Twin collars as well as twin belts, double lapels, double sleeves, double hemlines, double brims on hats, double tiers on capes and double flounces on skirts are much evident.

Changes of interest are apparent in the new fashions. For example, interest has been drawn from the bosom to the hip in several ways. Shoulders are still seen without padding, but they have been widened as to be more interesting by means of cutting, collars and color.

Though you do not find any radical changes in skirt lengths, you'll be seeing that unpressed hemlines hold the spotlight. The puffed out hemlines of the skirts are both new and interesting. They'll be called the harem skirt, the lantern skirt and sometimes the "marquise cut."

Two Types of Elegance Seen in Fashions

Daytime clothes have an easy, casual elegance about them which makes for both pleasurable appearance and wear. This is contrasted with an elaborate, complicated and stately elegance seen in evening clothes.

Waistlines on daytime suits have a moulded, though not constrained, waist which gives the wearer a good sculptured, well-groomed look. The skirts on daytime clothes still look quite strict, but they do have a compromise in their "back flips" or morning glory flares for walking ease.

If you're looking for all the intricate details of eighteenth century or Edwardian dressmaking, you'll see it in the evening clothes. There are the boned bodices, puffed overskirts, back buttons, petticoats, crinolines and even hoops.

Many party dresses are in the short length that so many like for convenience and ease of keeping clean. These are seen with crinolined full skirts.

ONCE OVER

Who'll Control Price Controllers?

By H. I. Phillips

Q.—Why were prices fixed as of last Thursday?

A.—Because some Government officials couldn't spell Wednesday.

Q.—Why did Washington wait until prices had hit the skies before applying controls?

A.—It adheres to the old adage, "Never do anything today that would seem to sensible tomorrow, and always remember that a stitch in time can lose votes in any election."

Q.—Didn't Bernard Baruch last July warn that only immediate price controls could stop prices going through the roof?

A.—Yes, but Washington was using a pneumatic roof.

Q.—What is a "base period" price?

A.—The price at which a seller has raised prices in anticipation of a "base period" price.

Q.—What is scare buying?

A.—Buying done by a harassed housewife in search of a dozen eggs for an omelette, the nature of which is being fixed by a Federal Bureau which prefers soup.

Q.—Live animals, tree nuts, shark oil, pine gum, castor oil, poppyseed and muru-muru kernels are exempted from controls. Is this bad?

A.—Not unless you are in the habit of eating live animals with shark oil dressing and tree nuts for dessert.

Q.—What are muru-muru kernels?

A.—They must be something served in the lunchrooms of Congress.

Q.—A year in jail and a $10,000

Neckline Emphasis

A lipstick bengaline suit with a wide, face-framing collar shows the latest fashion features for Spring. The jacket is detailed with a cording of fabric and V-line slit pockets below the moulded waistline. Its lining is shell pink sheer crepe. Suit skirt is pencil slim and ultra smart.

Hips, Necklines Make Fashion News

The magnetic center of interest in the silhouette has shifted from the bosom to the neckline or the back. Taut hips are particularly noticeable in the skin tight suit skirts and dresses which actually "duck under" the hips in the back.

Necklines have risen discreetly, but backs are coming out into the open. Even many of the daytime dresses have low-cut backs and most evening dresses are daringly bared at the back.

Most dresses will have no padding or only the most modest of padding that is just enough to give a decent shoulder, but you'll find wide effects achieved with collars, yokes, flanges, big cape collars and extra deep or wide dolman sleeves.

Elbow length sleeves are being featured in many, many dresses and suits for daytime. These are puffed and are called by several different names such as lantern, parachute or cabochon. Some of them have small ties that you can adjust carefully and easily to your own comfort.

The briefest and fullest of boleros are also used to give the widening effect at the shoulders. Then, too, there's the paradox: the new cutaway shoulder that slants in almost like a halter.

Best of Materials Used This Season

A great deal of the elegant look in the new fashions is due to the excellence of materials used to make the clothes. Only the best fabrics are used, and, as already mentioned, generously.

You'll be hearing a lot about fabrics that are "atmospheric." This applies both to texture and to tint. You'll know just why the term is used when you see the tissue tafetas, zepher woollens and even wool chiffon, all of which look like they'd been created out of the air.

Silks are of major importance in the season's picture of fashion. They run the full gamut from mohair and rich ribbed ottoman to paper tafetta, chiffon, filmy silk organdies and oriental gauze.

Many of the heavy silk suitings include such interesting fabrics as raw silk plaids from Siam and Italian como silk.

There is a return to the silk print for daytime dresses. Designs used are abstracts and florals, with very little seen of the conversation prints.

The trend toward using two very different types of fabrics continues to hold a sway. For the season, you'll be seeing combinations of organza and satin, lace with tafetta, wool with faille, jersey with tafetta and wool with tafetta.

Though it's Spring, don't be surprised at the velvet trimming and piping which continue to hold interest. Other materials which will be popular include all-over embroidered linen, eyelet linen, the Spring flannels which are lighter than winter ones, and year 'round cottons that look like wool.

KATHLEEN NORRIS

We All Are of American Blood

I HOPE THE NURSE won't tell Johnny Bates.

I hope on her cheerful friendly visit this morning she won't sit next to his high hospital bed and say to him something like this: "Johnny, it's too bad. But (we're out of plasma.) It means your life, honey, I know that. You're white, you're weak now, and you need that warm red blood running through your veins, restoring that generous heart of yours—that young, hungry heart, to life and strength."

But there's no more. They aren't getting it, back there in busy, rosy, well-fed America. So they can't send it, you see that? You can't fake blood. All of us here, nurses and doctors and staff and your fellow soldiers — God knows we'd give it if we could! But we can't, and America isn't sending it, and so maybe you'd better use your failing strength to write Mother that you aren't so well; that she must remember that you loved her always, loved Dad and home and Sis and Fuzz."

I hope she won't say: "Johnnie, do you know that there are about 37 million strong healthy American men and women who could send you your life, if they would? You came out here to protect them. You could go home again — if they cared. They don't. They ought to be in line, outside the blood banks, only too humbly grateful that in your magnificent veins some of their own loyalty and love of America could be poured."

No Waking "But we're short of plasma, and that means we have to let you slip away into the sleep from which there's no waking. "Talk? Of course they talk. Of course they praise you and the other boys. Of course they feel that they are one hundred per cent behind our noble troops, the poor kids who have been sent out, through no will or fault of their own, to the hell of battle. They read headlines; they fear, they rejoice, lament. But when it comes to the personal sacrifice of just the few minutes it takes to ship life itself to these same soldiers, they yawn. They think instantly and comfortably that some one else is attending to all that."

I hope no nurse says this to a dying boy. It would be adding insult to the injury of war. But it would be true. Now if I have any influence over the younger women and the men who have been reading this column of mine for almost 20 years, I am going to ask those men and women to discuss the blood banks of the American Red Cross today. I ask them to say, "Could we?" not "who you suppose does it, Jim?" or "Didn't Joe Mason do that once?" I ask every separate man and woman to take this personally, and instead of looking about for someone else who might suitably contribute to the blood bank, make immediate arrangements to go there himself. I ask you to discuss it, to say at some dinner table when next you dine out "Have you done it, Margaret? Have you, Edward? Hasn't anyone of us here ever sent life itself to the boys who are risking theirs for ours?"

Save Ourselves Shame From the richness of our lives here at home we could settle this all-important thing in 24 hours. We could save ourselves the shame of ever hearing our hospital services again plead patiently for this help to the lives of our men. They never should have been obliged to do so. I hope the time is coming when the men and women we meet in daily contact will report as casually on their individual share of this responsibility as if it were taxes or gas bill. I hope when any girl sees the man of her heart cutting into a fat steak, in a warm, luxurious restaurant, with soft music playing, she will not be afraid to ask boldly, "You contribute regularly to the blood bank, don't you, Ralph?"

More than that. We surely want our boys to know that their welfare, their restoration to full health and strength is of vital importance to us. An overwhelming response to the demand for plasma would be perhaps as striking a way as we could find to assure them that our hearts and theirs are beating together.

Korea Resembles Tower of Babel

Speech Barriers Cause Battleground Comedy

COMIC SITUATIONS arise in Korea when troops speaking one tongue meet troops speaking another or try to communicate with the Korean people.

A Turkish patrol was sent to guard a railroad crossing. The guards took their orders literally and stopped even the train, which they would not let pass until orders from headquarters arrived. The train crew spoke Korean and Japanese, and none of the Turks knew those languages.

Some Turkish troops were sent to a hilltop to see what lay ahead and saw a battalion of South Koreans who caught sight of the Turkish red crescent and star emblem. The South Koreans immediately seized the Turks. While the Turks were trying to explain in Turkish, the South Koreans gloated in Korean. GHQ had to straighten out the mess.

An American correspondent was riding in a jeep with a lone GI driver. A convoy of trucks loaded with Turkish troops was stalled on the road, bumper to bumper. There was no room to pass, as some of the trucks had stopped two abreast. The corporal driving the jeep was a little bit skittish of the Turkish officers he saw, and the correspondent had to get out and ask for passage through the convoy. The Turks thought he just wanted to chat and explained to him (it seemed) in Turkish just what they were doing to relieve the traffic mess. The writer also thought he could detect expressions of solicitude about the correspondent's health and that of the family.

U.N. Victory

Foreign minister of the Republic of Korea, Col. Ben. C. Limb, (left) and American delegate to the United Nations, Warren Austin, congratulate each other after the United Nations labelled Red China guilty of aggression in Korea.

ARMY: Infantry to Europe

The army was reported planning to send the fourth infantry division to Germany to reinforce the new Atlantic pact army and the air force to assign more jet fighter-bombers to Europe.

The move was expected to be made as soon as congress approved an anticipated resolution voicing support for Truman's much-assailed plan to assign more U.S. ground forces to Europe.

BUDGET:

Battle Lines Form

When the question of money, whether it be the budget or taxation, is raised in congress there always develops a bitter battle. Now the lines are being formed in the 82nd congress over President Truman's $71.6 billion budget and his $16.5 billion tax program.

When the President's budget was first announced there was some opposition, but not the kind that indicated major conflict among the legislators. The situation changed radically, however, when the chief executive proposed a quick $10 billion tax bill to be followed by another $6.5 billion bill within a short time.

As soon as the tax program was announced, the legislators began their demands for cuts in the budget. The demands were not being made along party lines. Democrats joined the Republicans.

The conflict centered around aid to education, health insurance and the Brannan plan. To these, critics say slashes could be made in nondefense public works and army civil-function projects such as flood control, and in the regular civilian government agencies.

Before any budget and tax program is adopted the public can expect a bitter battle in congress. But no matter how much the legislators dislike the idea, it was also apparent that a tremendous budget must be adopted and some kind of pay-as-you-go method found to finance it.

KOREA:

U.N. Drives Northward

United Nations forces in Korea continued a slow and cautious drive northward toward the 38th parallel. The drive developed after limited probing attacks failed to find Communist troops in great concentration.

There were indications of increased Red resistance as U.N. forces neared Seoul, but in what strength was not revealed.

There was considerable optimism over the U.N. advance, but no one could say what would happen if and when the 38th parallel was reached. Rumors persisted that the U.N. armies would not go beyond that point.

The lack of stiff Communist resistance and counter-attacks was a mystery that caused considerable worry among U.N. commanders. It gave credence to reports that Communist armies had suffered heavy casualties from disease and cold.

The U.S. defense department reported 136,000 North Koreans captured in fighting since the war began. The department claimed 9,000 Communist casualties since the present U.N. offensive started.

LABOR:

A Complete Overhaul

It had long been apparent that labor and management relations in the rail industry needed a complete overhaul. The fact was highlighted by the unauthorized walk-out of switchmen in scattered rail lines across the nation, which seriously threatened the country's defense effort and thoroughly muddled travel and mail service.

The "sick call" strike tightened the squeeze on the nation's economy. At one time during the walk-out more than 250,000 industrial workers were made idle by blockage of rail transport.

Appeals by Charles E. Wilson, federal mobilization director, and W. P. Kennedy, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, sent thousands back to work, but did not eliminate the possibility of future labor disputes in the industry.

An all-important fact remained, a complete and final settlement of all questions between labor and management in the rail industry was mandatory if the nation's vital defense effort is to go forward during the next few years. It has dragged out too long.

ARMY: Infantry to Europe

The army was reported planning to send the fourth infantry division to Germany to reinforce the new Atlantic pact army and the air force to assign more jet fighter-bombers to Europe.

The move was expected to be made as soon as congress approved an anticipated resolution voicing support for Truman's much-assailed plan to assign more U.S. ground forces to Europe.

Doan's Pills Son-in-Law's Advice Pays

Frank W. Woche, 531 Apache Street, Houston, Texas, can't say enough for HADACOL. A retired steamfitter and plumber, he says that he's really enjoying life these days—for up until a few months ago he was run-down, and just couldn't seem to eat. Then his son-in-law suggested he start taking HADACOL, and after the first small bottle he picked up energy, and increased his appetite. He's now taken four large bottles, and says that he just wouldn't be without HADACOL. Mr. Woche found that HADACOL helped his system to overcome deficiencies of Vitamins B<sub>1</sub>, B<sub>2</sub>, Niacin and Iron.

Here is Mr. Woche's own statement: "I was so run-down and my son-in-law suggested I take HADACOL. I had lost lots of weight and was tired all the time. After the first small bottle I started feeling better right away. I have now taken four more large bottles and wouldn't be without HADACOL. HADACOL has done so much for me. It's wonderful and all of my friends saw how bad I was looking and now tell me how much better I look. I can't say enough for HADACOL."

If your druggist does not have HADACOL, order direct from The LeBlanc Corporation, Lafayette, Louisiana. Send no money. Just your name and address on a penny post card. Pay postman. State whether you want the $3.50 hospital economy size or $1.25 trial size. Remember, money cheerfully refunded unless you are 100% satisfied.

Dairymen Up Production By Feeding Good Legume

A number of dairymen are avid keeping their cows litera-ly stuffed with good legume hay to step up milk production and feed costs.

C. S. Rhode, of the University of Illinois, says 25 pounds of high quality alfalfa hay will furnish the protein a cow needs to produce 30 pounds of 4 per cent milk. It will also furnish all the needed calcium and is the best source of carotene and vitamin D during the winter months.

Alfalfa hay will provide both a pound of protein and 100 pounds of total digestible nutrients at lower cost than soybean oil meal, oats, corn and cob meal.

One pound of protein in alfalfa hay costs only eight cents, but costs 11 cents in soybean oil meal, 22 cents in oats and 25 cents in corn and cob meal.

Alfalfa will furnish 100 pounds of TDN for $2.50, but it costs $5.50 in soybean oil meal, $3.76 in oats and $3.13 in corn and cob meal.

Built in Texas . . . and helping build Texas

Ford is the only Automobile Manufacturer Building Cars and Trucks in Texas

ALL THE FORDS made are not built in Detroit. There are plenty of them built right here in Texas—last year over 128 million dollars worth of cars, trucks, parts and products were made at Ford's Dallas Assembly Plant. What's more, 1,722 Texans put them together or followed through with their consignment to dealers in the Dallas, Houston, Oklahoma City and New Orleans Sales Districts.

The folks who work in Ford's Dallas Assembly Plant and District Sales Offices earn over $7,000,000 every year. They spend it mostly in Texas. Texas benefits from Ford in other ways, too. For example: during 1950 Ford bought over $1,000,000's worth of material and supplies from Texas merchants and manufacturers and paid over $7,500,000 for incoming and outgoing transportation. Then, too, there is a total of over $148,000 paid by Ford in local and State taxes.

Yes, Texas is building a lot of cars and trucks for Ford . . . and in the process Ford is helping to build Texas, too!

Interruptions

Lesson for March 4, 1951

PEOPLE KEEP making your life shorter every day. For time is the stuff of which life is made, and you never do have a full 24 hours a day. After taking out what has to be spent in sleep, eating and so on, and taking out what has to be spent on your job, whatever it is, there still ought to be a few hours to call your own. But if you are like most people, you live from one interruption to another. If it isn't the telephone it's the door-bell. The more important you are, the more you are likely to be interrupted. Once there was a teacher who became president of the college where he had taught. In later years he mourned the change. "It seems to me," he said, "I never get a consecutive half-hour any more to think about anything. No day is ever what I planned. Life has become one long series of interruptions."

Unscheduled Stops THE LIFE of the Master himself, to judge from what we read in the Gospels, was a long series of interruptions. The tenth chapter of Mark is a good example. Jesus himself at this time had one great thing in mind: the Cross. He was going up to Jerusalem not to talk to beggars or to listen to lawyers' arguments or to hold interviews with puzzled young people. He was going to die.

A man on his death-bed might be spared interruptions. He could not be blamed if he said to interrupters one and all: "Sorry, I can't be bothered. See my assistants if there is anything you want done."

But Jesus did not say anything of the kind. He did not fume over the unscheduled stops on his life's highway. He took time to clear up misunderstandings; he took time for little children when even his best friends thought he ought not to be disturbed; he took time to answer the question of the rich young man; he did not brush off James and John when they came to him with their ill-considered petition; he even took time to take care of a beggar's need.

Ministries by the Wayside JESUS DID not always take the initiative in every situation, though indeed he controlled every situation. When the Pharisees asked him about marriage he did not say, "Let's not talk about marriage; let me suggest the topic of salvation instead." When the young man ran up to him, Jesus did not ask, "Did you have an appointment for an interview?" Jesus not only did not resent other people's initiative. He never seems to have resented an interruption in his life.

Does this example of Jesus mean that we ought not to plan our days ahead of time, or that we ought never to try to "budget" our time? Must we never plan any project, but always wait till other people suggest what we are to do?

Not at all. The example of Jesus means that if and when interruptions occur, if we share his spirit we shall not be irritated by them or resent them. For what Jesus did, always, was to make use of the interruption. Each one was turned into a "Wayside Ministry." Indeed, a large part—some would say the larger part—of Jesus' life was made up of just such by-the-way ministries.

Life's By-the-Ways HOW MANY of Jesus' teachings we would never have had, if no one had interrupted him or asked him questions! How many of his miracles would never have been done if he had refused to perform any but those he planned and scheduled himself! It is what we do "by the way" that makes up life's service, for the most part.

In Jesus' story of the Good Samaritan (no doubt an incident from real life) we are not told what were the original errands of the priest, the Levite and the Samaritan. Very likely the first two were on time for their appointments.

But the priest and the Levite missed a wonderful chance, just because the poor beaten traveler was not, so to speak, on their agenda. The Samaritan was delayed, and maybe bothered, by what he did for the man in trouble. But what he was willing to do by the way, something he had not planned for at all, won him the immortality of the Master's praise.

Fish Demand Careful Cooking to Preserve Delicate Full Flavor

MANY PEOPLE WHO really like fish have accustomed themselves to the disagreeable odors that often go with its cooking; many more people would be very fond of fish if it didn't fill the house with odors during its preparation.

How few home-makers realize that the cooking of fish entails no unpleasant smell! Here is a delicate food that is tender and tasty. When cooked only to the point of doneness, at proper temperature, its only odor is as savory as that of nicely cooked chicken or beefsteak!

Many of the broiled fish recipes call for high temperature, but for only a short time. If cooked just so, fish can be downright delicious. Do give it a chance.

YOU NEED DO little to fish to make it pleasing. It's tender and juicy, easy to prepare, delightful for meal variety. It can be seasoned or served with sauce, but in every way, it's good.

Creole Salmon (Serves 4)
1 pound can pink salmon
1 egg
1 green pepper, finely diced
1 small onion, finely diced
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon green pepper
1/4 teaspoon chili powder
1 cup canned tomatoes
1 cup bread crumbs
3 sprigs parsley, diced finely
2 tablespoons butter

Mix salmon and egg in saucepan. Add chopped green pepper and onion, seasonings, tomatoes and half the crumbs. Simmer for 10 minutes. Add minced parsley, cook 5 minutes longer. Turn into greased casserole, or individual baking dishes, sprinkle with remaining bread crumbs and bake in hot oven (400°) until crumbs are brown. Serve while hot.

Spanish Style Fish (Serves 4-6)
4 cod steaks
2 egg yolks
Flour
1/2 cup oil
3 tablespoons honey
3 tablespoons lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon allspice

Cut steaks into serving pieces. Add 2 tablespoons water to egg yolks and beat slightly. Dip fish into egg yolks and then into flour; brown quickly on both sides in hot oil. Add honey, lemon juice and allspice and simmer fish until all liquid is absorbed, about 5 minutes, turning once.

"Baked Fillet of Fish (Serves 6)
6 - 8 fillets of lean fish (sole, haddock, bluefish)
2 tablespoons butter or salad oil
2 teaspoons chopped onion or 1 clove garlic, very finely minced
1 bay leaf, broken very fine
2 tomatoes, skinned, thickly sliced
1 green pepper, sliced
Juice 1 lemon
Salt, pepper

Melt butter, add onion (or garlic) minced, with bay leaf, stir over low heat until soft. Arrange tomato slices with over-lapping slices of green peppers to cover bottom of Broiled lobster tails are a favorite with many for a good fish dinner. They will broil quickly, and are done when they turn a deep, rich pink. Serve them with lemon wedges and mayonnaise.

LYNN SAYS: Add Fanciful Touches To Everyday Foods

Add some finely chopped spinach to pancake batter and make spinach pancakes. Serve with pot roast or as a vegetable. This is guaranteed to make spinach a favorite even amongst those hard to convert.

Chopped liver seasoned and mixed with bread crumbs and egg makes a first rate main dish especially when the patties are wrapped in bacon and cooked with tomato sauce.

Large shallow baking dish. Sprinkle the sautéed onion or garlic over top. Add salt and pepper. Arrange the fish fillets on this "bed" of tomatoes and peppers. Sprinkle with lemon juice, salt and pepper. Cover with waxed paper; bake in moderate oven (350°) 20-30 minutes. Pour over this Mustard Hollandaise Sauce. Brown under broiler. Serve at once.

Mustard Hollandaise Sauce
3 egg yolks
3 teaspoons dry mustard
1 teaspoon tarragon vinegar
1/4 teaspoon salt
Cayenne pepper
2 tablespoons cream
6 tablespoons butter

Mix in medium small bowl (or top of double boiler) the egg yolks, mustard, tarragon vinegar, salt, cayenne pepper, cream. Place over hot water (not boiling) and beat until mixture begins to thicken. Add butter, bit by bit, stirring continuously until sauce is rich and creamy. Remove from over water. If too thick, thin with a little additional cream.

Broiled Rock Lobster Tails (Serves 4)
4 small rock lobster tails
1/2 cup melted butter
1 tablespoon lemon juice
3 tablespoons chopped parsley
Salt and pepper

Crack heavy back shell of lobster tails lengthwise to make tail lie flat. Turn lobster over and remove thin under shell with scissors. Combine butter, lemon juice, parsley, salt and pepper. Preheat oven and broiling pan at 400°. Place lobster tails on back on pan, brush with butter and set pan about 4 inches from heat. Basting frequently with butter, broil about 15 minutes or until lobster tails are well browned. Serve hot or cold with lemon wedges and mayonnaise.

Rock Lobster Fries (Serves 6)
2 1/2 pounds boiled rock lobster tails
1 1/2 cups flour
2 tablespoons salt
1 1/2 teaspoons pepper
1 1/2 teaspoons paprika
3 eggs, beaten
3 cups fine bread or cracker crumbs
Butter
Tartar Sauce
Lemon slices
Watercress

Remove cooked meat from lobster tails; cut into egg-sized chunks. Roll lightly in a mixture of flour and seasonings. Dip floured pieces in beaten eggs. Roll in fine bread or cracker crumbs. Melt enough butter to fill 1/4 inch depth in skillet. Sauté lobster until nicely browned on all sides. Serve with tartar sauce, garnish with lemon slices and watercress.

Tartar Sauce (Makes 1 1/2 cups)
1 cup mayonnaise
1 tablespoon chopped onion or chives
2 tablespoons chopped olives
1 tablespoon chopped sweet pickle
1 tablespoon chopped sour pickle
1 tablespoon chopped pimiento
1 tablespoon capers
Mix all ingredients, blending well.

Leftover pieces of fish are just the thing to add to a crisp green salad served with a lemon French dressing that's really tart.

When serving sauce with fish, take a bit of time preparing attractive lemon cups for serving the sauce accompaniment. Halves of lemon, scooped out and scalloped at edges are lovely.

Frankfurter scallop is easily made with sliced frankfurters and scalloped potatoes. Add about one tablespoon of prepared mustard to each cup of white sauce used.

Homemade ink eradicator can be produced by whipping up a solution of one part of chlorinated laundry bleach and ten parts of water. It's best kept in an old iodine or mercurochrome bottle with a rubber stopper to withstand the destructive effect of the bleach, and with a glass rod as an applicator. Use it along with a blotter just like commercial eradicator, but don't expect it to work on typewriter ink.
