The Joe Louis Status

It is only natural that a fighter who held the heavyweight championship for over 11 years should still keep his grip on national interest.

We are referring to a fellow known as Joe Louis. Although his recent bout with Lee Savold is several days old, people still stop you to ask how the old-timer really looked.

No one will actually get the answer until he hooks up again with a younger, faster fighter by the name of Ezzard Charles.

As we somewhat dimly understand Einstein's "Theory of Relativity" it amounts to this—a train may be moving a bit slowly, but it appears to be moving faster in passing a stationary telephone pole.

Just after Joe's recent victory, I ran across my old friend Walter "Goodtime Charlie" Friedman, just back from the West. Goodtime Charlie, discoverer of Primo Carnera, has just signed up Max Baer for the wrestling circuit and taken over the management of a new colored heavyweight, Bob Golden, still in the army.

"No old man is going to beat Louis," Friedman said. "But a thing called youth is a different story—quite a different story. Give Louis credit, full credit, for the way he looked against Savold. But please don't forget that Savold is no Charles. Savold has been rusting for three years. Charles has been almost as busy as Joe has been. And Charles is still much younger and faster than either."

"So you don't think this fight has proved anything?" I asked.

"Yes, it has," Goodtime Charlie said. "It has proved that Louis has improved, no matter how bad Savold looked. But just how much I wouldn't know."

That seems to be the answer to the Louis improvement—how much? Weighing as much as he has recently, or even with a little poundage added, the Bomber looked thinner in the body. He seemed to move with more alertness, if not with greater speed. All of this could not be charged to Savold's lack of mobility.

The main thing the Louis-Savold fight did was to more than double interest in the next Louis-Charles meeting, provided, of course, Charles gets safely by Walcott in Pittsburgh in their July show.

Bolstering the Dodgers

There is one detail connected with the recent Cub-Dodger deal that can't be charged against the Cubs. As stupid and as one-sided as the deal was, it didn't slip the pennant to Brooklyn.

With seven members already set for any All-Star National League squad, Chuck Dressen had little to worry about winning a pennant. His N.L. All-Stars are Campanella, Roe, Newcombe, Hodges, Robinson, Reese and Snider.

Against this array of talent, one of the best National League teams in history, Brooklyn faced a league with no particular consistent strength.

For example, there was one first-class ballplayer on the Cubs, above the average. His name was Andy Pafko. So he was traded.

There were two good ballplayers on the Pittsburgh team—Kiner and Westlake. Westlake was traded away, leaving Pittsburgh with but one good ballplayer.

If Brooklyn doesn't win the N.L. pennant by 20 games it will be due to a long run of sleeping sickness, or because Dressen's tender heart has a feeling for suffering souls.

No wonder the Cubs are getting to be perennial last-place battlers. They either keep in their favorite home, the cellar, or they give someone else a sturdy battle for this eighth-place spot.

Pafko was just about worth the rest of the Cub squad. In the old days, the National League always gave you the big pennant race. Now it's the American League that supplies about 90 per cent of pennant interest and pennant action with the White Sox, Yankees, Red Sox, Indians and possibly the Tigers still in the gay and giddy grapple for the so-called gonfalon.

"Your contributor's recent letter about Eddie Arcaro's record was entirely incorrect," writes Irving Phillips. "All you need do is look to the record. This record of the National Jockey Standings from January one to June one, 1951, shows the following averages in order—percentage of winners to total mounts: Arcaro, 23.48 per cent; Borgemke, 21.7; Knowles, 21.10; Mares, 20.16. The same list shows Aikinson, 15.30; Shoemaker 19.53.

SCANNING THE WEEK'S NEWS of Main Street and the World

Reds Agree to Discuss Cease-Fire; Congress Extends Price Controls

PEACE IS POSSIBLE—Events of the last few days have created a belief throughout the world that there is a possibility of peace in Korea. The first move for possible peace talks was made by Jacob Malik, Soviet representative at the UN. U.S. Ambassador Alan Kirk later called upon Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko in an attempt to get a clarified version of Malik's bid.

Kirk reported that Gromyko suggested that in the first stage negotiations for a truce should be conducted by military representatives in the field, with political and territorial questions left for second stage discussion.

Then, acting on instructions from Washington, Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, commander of the allied armed forces, broadcast proposals to the Reds for a meeting aboard the Danish hospital ship Jutulandia in Wonsan harbor in North Korea.

After 29 hours of waiting, the Communists answered the broadcasts with a proposal for a meeting at Kaesong, just below the old Korean boundary on the 38th parallel. They suggested the meeting be held between July 10 and 15.

No official reaction to the Communist proposal was immediately available. Most observers, however, believed the delay as proposed by the Reds was a face saving device, so important in the Orient. But the Communist reply was an indication that the Chinese and North Koreans desire peace. The 10 day delay will also permit the Chinese and North Korean leaders to seek further contact with Moscow.

As expected, the Communists made propaganda use of Gen. Ridgway's proposed peace talks. Communist broadcasts began to pound away at the line that the allies asked for peace talks because the "armed aggression of the United Nations forces has ended in failure."

There was one other indication that the talks may not be fruitless. The Communists failed to mention their repeated demands of admission to the United Nations and control of Formosa as a price of peace.

A sincere desire for peace remains uppermost in the minds of every American, from home town to the largest city. Whatever the results of the peace talks, it must be an honorable peace before it will be acceptable to the American people. And it must be made clear to every American that a Korean settlement will not justify a slowdown in this nation's defense program.

Seeking Formula for Peace
Representatives of the United Nations with troops in Korea are shown as they held a "strategy" meeting at the state department to seek a formula for united action on the Russian proposal for a truce in Korea. UN officials reported peace prospects are definitely good.

A MONTH TO ARGUE

Congressional action in economic controls last week caused considerable comment in the home towns of the nation.

According to the average American's concept of government, the congress of the United States is supposed to reflect the will and desire of the people. With this basic principle in mind, plus the fact that congress rushed through a bill extending the nation's economic controls for 31 days, but slapping an absolute ban on price rollbacks and most new price ceilings, it began to look like the average man on Main Street approved the high prices that prevail today.

Two main facts caused most of the nation's reporters and analysts to this conclusion: (1) The cost of living for the average family is higher today than ever before, 8.9 per cent above that of June 25, 1950 (see story below); and (2) the refusal of congress to pass a bill to hold back this rising spiral—in fact, specifically forbidding rollbacks and new price ceilings.

The administration charged that the congress had allowed itself to be intimidated by special interests, pointing to the activities of the beef and textile industries, the national association of manufacturers, and the real-estate lobby in recent weeks.

Michael DiSalle, OPS administrator, put it like this: "Enemies of price control magnify errors and twist facts. They urge business-as-usual in unusual times. They deliberately confuse free enterprise with irresponsible license. They misconstrue and misstate OPS action to the point of outright dishonesty."

Presenting the other side of the picture, Senator Taft of Ohio, said: "There is no reason for rationing businessmen outside the defense program," and price rollbacks "are dangerous economically because they upset all normal business relations. They are a step toward socialism..."

The next month will be one of bitter debate on price, wage and rent legislation. What form it will finally take is anyone's guess at the moment. But it is a fantastic supposition that says the average American favors the high prices of today.

COST OF LIVING

The fact that this country has already taken the first dangerous step on the ladder of inflation was indicated again by the government's latest cost of living index.

The index of the bureau of labor statistics rose to 185.4 per cent of the 1935-'39 average. This figure is nearly 9 per cent above June, 1950, when the Korean war began and sets a new record high.

As a result, because of "escalator" clauses in work contracts, well over a million workers in the railroad industry received hourly wage increases.

The increase in cost of living was noted in apparel, house furnishings, rent, and miscellaneous goods and services. Food was the only item that showed a slight decline.

THE FUTURE

Assistant Budget Director Elmer B. Staats' prediction that defense-swollen federal spending will level off in 1955 at $65,000,000,000 a year and remain there indefinitely is an indication of things to come for the home town. It was an indication that defense spending will continue at a record peak for years and high taxes are almost a certainty.

Staats reported government spending during 1952 fiscal year, which began July 1, will run about $68,400,000,000. His forecast of a peak of between $80 and $90 billion in 1953 was startling.

Meanwhile, the treasury reported it closed its books July 1 about $6,000,000,000 better off than it had expected.

It had been estimated by the experts that the government would run more than $2,700,000,000 in the red during the past fiscal year. Actually, the government had the second largest budget surplus in history—more than $3,000,000,000 in the black.

Government tax receipts totaled approximately $48 billion between July 1, 1950, and July 1, 1951, the most money ever collected during a single year, outstripping the peak war-tax year of 1944 when revenue totaled $44,700,000,000.

FARM PRICES

New Decline Noted in Farm Prices

The agriculture department reported farm prices dropped about 1.3 per cent from mid-May to mid-June.

It was the fourth-straight month that the prices had declined, bringing them down to about 4 per cent below the record set last February, the department reported.

The department reported the decline reflected lower prices for a majority of farm products which were only partially offset by modest rise in prices of hogs, veal calves, butterfat, apples and turkeys.

On the other hand, prices paid by farmers for goods used in family living and in farm production held steady. No new farm products rose to levels at which ceiling could be applied, according to the mid-May report.

Farm Topics

Lack of Nitrogen Retards Corn Growth

Deep-Rooted Legumes Add Nitrogen to Soil

(First of Two Articles)

A soil-building, deep-rooted sweet clover crop grown regularly in the rotation made the difference between these (below) two corn fields. Both crops were grown at the University of Missouri's experimental farm at Columbia, Mo. Both had the same fertilizer treatment, including 3 tons of limestone and 150 pounds per acre of 0-20-20 fertilizer in the row at corn planting time.

The crop in the upper photo was grown on land that had a rotation of corn, small grains and shallow-rooted lespedeza. Even late in the season the growth is stunted and scarcely head high.

The lower crop was on land that had a rotation of corn, small grains and sweet clover.

Over a 14-year test period, the corn crop having the benefit of sweet clover in the rotation yielded 10.7 more bushels per acre than the other field. The average yields were 67.7 and 57 bushels per acre, respectively.

The sweet clover crop added extra organic matter to the soil, improved tilth and drainage and helped the corn crop make better use of the fertility in the soil. The taproots of legumes such as sweet clover and alfalfa probe down several feet into the subsoil. They drill out passageways for water and air. They condition the soil from the surface on down through the root zone.

U.S. Wheat Crop Makes Strong Comeback, Report

The latest agriculture department report on wheat prospects indicates a crop of about 1,054,000,000 bushels this year, or nearly 72,000,000 more than forecast a month earlier.

Such a production would exceed last year's crop of 1,026,000,000 bushels and would be only about 96,000,000 short of the government's production goal—a goal which would exceed prospective needs and add some grain to reserves for future emergencies.

Unfavorable weather, particularly drought in the southwestern great plains, and insects in the same area, coupled with cool, wet spring weather, had put the crop prospects under a cloud.

The indicated production—plus reserves from past crops—would supply plenty of wheat to meet any needs seen now.

The department made no estimate on corn production, but said producers were optimistic.

Portable Hog House

An example of a good portable hog house, which is large enough for four sows and can double as a farrowing house, is illustrated above. Any lumber dealer can furnish the lumber for the flooring and framework and the Masonite quarter-inch hardboard used for siding and roof. Note the double, full-length doors, divided midway horizontally, which provide easy access for both farmer and animal. Pigs are available from Farm Service Bureau, Suite 2037, 111 West Washington St., Chicago 2. Plan AFB-197.

Poisons Recommended For Tomato Pinworms

Farmers and home gardeners should watch their tomatoes closely from the time the fruit first sets until it ripens. During this period fruit worms and pinworms may attack the fruit.

For control of these pests entomologists recommend dusting tomatoes once a week and following heavy rainfall with a dust containing 5 per cent rothane and 5 to 6 per cent zincb.

Community Living

Lesson for July 22, 1951

THERE is one way to get along in any neighborhood without any trouble at all: just have nothing to do with any one. But that is not only not a Christian way of living, it is not practicable.

You need the community and the community needs you. If you want to tell the world goodbye, go rent yourself a room on the 17th floor of some apartment house in New York. You won't be bothered with callers! But if you live in the typical American town or country community, you not only cannot help knowing everybody more or less, but you want to know them, you need to know them.

The Community Includes Everybody

SOME communities cease to be communities and become exclusive clubs; no strangers can break in. A lady in a very old county in a long-settled state, said of her next-door neighbor: "That family came here sixty years ago; they don't really belong here."

Now a true community ought to include every one in it, and it isn't a real community until it does. Jesus' parable of the sheep and the goats suggests this.

The trouble with the "goats" was that they just never saw the down-and-out members of the community at all. Your own neighborhood has in it, perhaps, some lonely people, unfortunate people, some human left-overs. What is the community doing for them?

The Church and Its Own

ONE practical thing that Christians can do for their communities is to see to it that no Christian suffers want. However much we may disagree with the Mormons, there is one feature of the Mormon church which the rest of us might take to heart: in all the depression of 20 years ago, there never was a Mormon on relief.

Probably in most small communities the separate congregations are not large enough to do this kind of thing effectively; but surely in a community where there are as many as three or four different denominations, they might all plan together so that whenever any Christian got into a strait, the rest of the Christians would stand by to help him.

There will always be a need for general organizations such as the Red Cross or the Grange and the Community Chest; but if Christians always stood by Christians, the rest of the community would at least have less to worry about.

It Takes All Kinds

THE ideal community is one in which everybody is a Christian and indeed all belong to the same church. But such communities are few and far between. Most of us live pretty close—and sometimes uncomfortably close—to people who are not Christians, except perhaps in name, and who may be hard to get along with.

How can we live with such people in a Christian way? Paul, in Romans 12, makes some practical suggestions. He knew very well that no city or town in the Roman Empire was Christian or anywhere near it; yet he shows how to have the Christian spirit never-the-less.

Christians should be the most valuable members of any community. But are they? Is this true in your community? If so, what is it that the Christians contribute? And if not, is it maybe the Christians' fault?

The Law Above Laws

A group of people who act toward each other in no better way than the laws of the land require, may be a neighborhood but it is no community.

The laws (and useful they are, to be sure) can regulate our behavior, but they cannot touch our hearts. They can forbid us to harm our neighbor, but they cannot force us to feel kindly toward him. For complete community, something more than law is necessary; and again Paul puts us on the track of it.

Love is above all laws; it does not break laws but it goes far beyond them. It is not the law-abiding citizens who are the best ones; the true ornaments and treasures, the First Citizens of a community, are the love-abiding.

Tailor All Your Storage Space to Fit Changing Needs

By Ertta Haley

STORAGE space is one thing most families admit to needing more than any other item in their homes. Unless you have had the home tailored to fit your current needs, and all their needs, chances are that storage space is pinched.

When you get desperate about storage facilities, you've probably thought of discarding all items not constantly in use, but that's about as far as the matter really goes. You simply can't toss away all the possessions which are essential, though not in constant use. The problem then becomes one of finding or making storage space from what you now have, and you'll be amazed at how such space can be made.

Another problem then crops up, and this is really the key to the whole situation: where is the best place to store things after you've found the space?

Here's the solution: store it where it's most used. Extra blankets should go near the bed, not in a bedroom two doors away; record albums should go near the phonograph; books next to the chair or sofa; or bed where you do most of your reading, toys in the children's room and canned goods in the cooking area.

Vacation Ensemble

A summer fashion from a New York designer is this halter dress and stole combination. The dress, practical in black cotton, has a full length inverted pleat down the front and is belted in black velvet. Lavender and black striped cotton make the stole, edged with narrow black braid at the ends.

Cabinets with built in bins or doors which give you a cabinet for storage of almost any variety are a good investment. Use them in the youngster's room for extra bedding or in your own bedroom for the same reason. When nicely finished they can be moved into a living or dining room, or even a hall to store out-of-season clothing or rainwear.

When buying furniture, especially the units made for modern

rooms, you'll find they can be used in several different rooms in the home. Waist-high cabinets might find a place in dining or living area right now for linens, dishes or glassware. Later on the same cabinets will be excellent for use in den or extra bedrooms for storing clothing, shoes, accessories or bed linens.

Create Storage Space In Bedrooms Easily

Amazing storage space can be created right in your own bedroom. Consider for example the headboards that are now being made for the box spring and mattress arrangements. The simple ones come with bookcases which hold books, magazines, lamps and radios and take only a small space at the head of the bed.

More elaborate headboards come with cabinets in addition to the bookshelves. These, of course, can be used for bed linens, blankets, pads and pillows, thus making them convenient to the bed as well as releasing closet space for clothing.

Bed chests are another space saver. These may be made of composition or a lightweight aluminum, and slide easily in and out from under the bed. Use them for extra bedding, or when necessary, out-of-season clothing.

Headboard arrangements with shelves or cabinets can be purchased or they may be made if you have a man about the house who is interested in carpentry. Use them not only in the master bedroom but the other rooms as well.

In children's rooms, the headboard arrangement with shelves is excellent for toy storage. Later it may be used for bedding or clothing. In either case it gives storage space where you need it, and fits the changing needs of the user.

Shelf and cabinet arrangements above beds or couches can also be used for sewing supplies as well as for hobby collections, in adult's as well as children's rooms. In this case, have the shelves arranged attractively so they are decoratively pleasing.

How to Add More Closet Space

In many older homes, rooms themselves are large enough, but the closets are small. Naturally, this will crowd the wardrobe, making clothing difficult to keep nicely, and also an unpleasant job to put away.

Frequently it's possible to make a closet unit against one wall of the room in which to keep clothing, as well as shoes and accessories. Plywood is often used for the construction.

Wardrobes of this type can be papered any number of times, when you move or as you change them from one bedroom to another.

If the storage problem lies in the kitchen you can buy both wood and metal cabinets which will take care of brooms, cleaning or food supplies. Tall cabinets with shelves may be used for linen storage, in kitchen or laundry then later in the basement for canning supplies.

When you're pressed for space, and need the table tops for working, it's a good idea to buy cabinet tops which will give you both at the same time. This idea can be carried out well in the kitchen by means of cabinet units to use along bare walls.

Small Hanging Shelves Add Style to Rooms

If you have prized china, glass or metal objects, you can use space given by small hanging shelves to a decorative advantage. Used above a table, desk or chest in living, dining or other rooms, they give importance and interest to these pieces of furniture.

KATHLEEN NORRIS

Children Are Precious Harvest

WORDSWORTH wrote four lines, in his poem to the daffodils, that go like this: "For oft when on my couch I lie, in idle or in pensive mood, they flash upon that inward eye that is the bliss of solitude, and then my heart with rapture fills and dances with the daffodils."

That inward eye that is the bliss of solitude is a source of rare comfort to us all, when this year's Fourth of July brings us so much that is anxious, doubtful, depressed. We are living in a strange time of change and discomfort, and on all sides insoluble problems beset us.

War, juvenile delinquency, broken homes, high taxes, high prices, high angry words in high places—there's just too much of it all. And it has become too easy and too common to get the report on healthy, wealthy, popular young persons: "Patsy's gone off her rocker again, you know, back in the psychopathic ward," or "Johnny's acting so queerly that they've sent him away."

And as these clouds lower, and it takes real faith and strength of spirit to dispel them, I like to think back across the easier years, and take out memories to review and reconsider.

China Visit

China, for example, Rural China, not Europeanized Shanghai and Peiping. Swarming country China, level rice fields between sluggish canals. Muddy dwellings framing muddy compounds, swarms of ivory-skinned men and women in mudroni hanging in fringes over the dark doorways of basement hovels on Naples Hill. France, with everything for the tourist, and pinched courage and gaiety for the Paris throngs. France, where the very children look sharp and anxious. Germany, Austria, Poland, Belgium—no need to talk of them! And mighty England standing in long queues for hot-to-appealing food.

And then the inward eye comes back to another land, where the streets blaze with colored lights at night, and the motor cars nudge one another going to the ball games, and children troop to school in blazing socks showing under their jeans, and popcorn and chocolate bars are on every corner, and poverty rises to prosperity, and prosperity reigns in thousands and thousands of homes, wide-spread between the great clean oceans.

And it comes to the figure of a winter-spattered, weary old soldier in a buff-and-blue greatcoat, it turns to Washington, fighting against hopeless odds, enduring unspeakable hardships, believing in his dream of a free people in a free land, and bequeathing to us the reality of that dream.

And the figure of another Titan, gaunt, lonely, heartless, but holding us together; Lincoln, giving the vigils of long night hours that the nation might survive, and in the end giving his life for America.

Yes, it is good to get home in one's musings, good to get back under one's own flag, and realize for just what miracles the Fourth of July stands. There is no nation in the whole world that can give its people what we have, or one-half of it. There is no nation whose constitution permits the independence of thought and action.

Pretzel Honored After 90 Years

Industry Has Many Interesting Twists

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Pretzels—shiny brown and lightly dusted with salt—have come a long way in the last 90 years or so.

It is true that some pretzels in recent years have fallen among evil companions but the twisted cracker or biscuit also has been the solace of children and the accessory to good companionship. The pretzel, moreover, is in the news these days because it is celebrating the 90th anniversary of its commercial arrival in America.

Pretzel making began in the Pennsylvania Dutch country and some of the best pretzels still come from Lititz and Reading. Automatic machines turn them out by the hundreds of millions, but to the true fancier the tastiest pretzels are still handmade. Around Lititz, Pennsylvania, the twisting and baking of pretzels is the specialty of skilled women. They take penicillin strips of pretzel dough—flour, yeast and water—and with deft hand motions tie the dough into conventional pretzel knots.

The knotted dough is placed on pans or racks to rise and "set"; then the burgeoning pretzels are boiled for less than a minute in a potash or bicarbonate of soda solution. This treatment gives them their gloss and makes pretzels practically indestructible. Baking time is five to eight minutes.

It was hot summer weather, but when Amah next appeared she had felt sewed in neat squares over her quilted thick garments, on knees, elbows, and between her shoulders. Amah, working hard all her 60 years, had no room of her own, no bureau, no small privacy anywhere to store that treasure against the bitter winter. She put it where she could keep it. And she is typical of 300 million.

Russia. So much work to do, such hard work, such poor pay. Everyone hurrying, a faint scowl the national expression. And the old woman upon whom I called sharing two rooms with a boy and a young man, and exultingly showing me matches that lit when scratched, and a gas stove we would consider as dated about 1902.

Main Street Reaps Big Profits From Millions of U.S. Tourists

If Main Street happens to be on a national highway it will mean big business for the home town during the remainder of July and August. Millions of Americans will take to the highways to see the country. And they will spend millions in the home towns for lodging, gasoline, oil, food, soft drinks, souvenirs, and gadgets.

The home town that has a national park or historic shrine nearby, or is located in a beautiful scenic area, will reap the biggest dividend during the weeks that Americans live on wheels. But this opportunity to further home town economy is often neglected by merchants, civic clubs, and the publishers of local newspapers because they fail to tell the world about their assets. It's not too late for many home towns to do something about it.

The home town who plans to take off on a trip across the country is urged to give careful consideration to the widespread deterioration that has taken place along some of the country's main highways. It is wise to study routes before departure to avoid delays and inconveniences.

Over-all postwar highway construction has not been able to keep pace with the ever-increasing volume of motor traffic. In addition, one of the heaviest snowfalls in the history of the country covered many northern states last winter and resulted in widespread damage to road surfaces. Home towns located on highways in good repair will find traffic through town greatly increased during the next two or three months.

Motoring in the United States has come a long way since 1922 when a national magazine declared "anybody can drive across the country now in fifty days." However, the magazine warned that "anyone undertaking to drive from the Atlantic to the Pacific in thirty days has thrown the scenery of the journey away for the questionable privilege of watching chucks and rucks."

Today the motorist thinks nothing of allowing three or four days for a 1,500 mile journey, and maybe seven or eight for a coast to coast trip.

But due to the weather during the past winter and deterioration during the war years, this schedule should be revised slightly upward this year. Most states have labored to improve their road networks, but the motorist must expect to find many inadequate stretches of highways.

For the home town who has not yet decided where he will spend his vacation this year, here are a few figures on costs and events in the south, east and west.

Florida, nationally known as the winter playground of the nation, is making a big bid for summer vacationers this year. Many cities and towns, in cooperation with hotel and apartment house associations and merchants, are offering special vacation package deals for as little as $3.30 a day per person.

In many towns apartments are available for as little as $40 a week. Hotels are offering rooms at $5 and $6 a day that rent in winter for $22. Efficiency apartments, renting in the winter season for $110 a week, drop to $25 for the summer months. The average cost for motels will be about $2 a person during the summer months.

Motorists in the west will find prices very favorable when compared with the nation as a whole. One of the big attractions in the west as vacationers start rolling down national highways are rodeos. Here are a few dates and places of rodeos in the next few weeks:

Arizona

St. Johns, July 23-24; Benson, Sept. 1-3; Williams, Sept. 3.

Arkansas

Magnolia, Aug. 7-11; Russellville, Sept. 19-22; Hope, Sept. 27-29.

63 Million to Take Motor Vacations

According to the American Automobile Association some 63,000,000 persons will take recreation motor trips before the year ends, despite highway shortcomings caused by heavy snows and freezing during the past winter.

This prediction is made after government sources indicate there will be no shortage of spare parts and gasoline, and that tires will be available in nearly every part of the country.

Missouri

Brookfield, Sept. 1-3; St. Joseph, Sept. 20-23.

Montana

Butte, July 12-14; Shelby, July 26-29; Billings, Aug. 14-18.

ONCE OVER

Movie Houses Seeing the Light

By H. I. Phillips

THE movie theaters are on the spot where vaudeville once held its big problem in many areas, and there may be a historic step in the big deal whereby three movie-house chains, Loews, Paramount and Fabian, purchased exclusive video rights to the Louis Savold heavyweight fight. It is the first step forward getting the picture fans out of the living room and back into the theater. If it can be done with a boxing bout why can't it be done with football, baseball, the Kentucky Derby, a Kefauver probe, an Acheson "Information Please" program and even, ultimately, with a top musical, the Ringling circus, a political convention or an all-star Broadway drama?

There is no getting away from the fact that the moving picture as a novelty or special treat has been largely kayoed by video. Every home in many sections of the country is a movie theater, making it possible by a twist of the fist to get more action and variety in the living room in one night than you can get in the average movie theater in a week. At home you can see the pictures in your pajamas. You don't have to stand for those mile-and-a-half credit lines. And if you don't like the attraction you can get something else without calling a taxi, fighting with the house manager or writing a letter of indignation to Variety.

Home sweet home has everything the cinema palace has except the long stairways, the big lobbies, the militant ushers and the buttered popcorn. For generations the American home had to go to the theater, the ball park, the football bowl and the boxing arena. Now these places have come to the home. And a lazy public has taken as a good break the opportunity to be a playgoer or sports fan without getting off the couch.

The movie theaters are where vaudeville was when pictures came in. The difference is that they didn't get such a long warning. Video has come roaring out of the wide blue yonder like a bat out of Hades. (Incidentally, a bat out of Hades must put on quite a performance, and we would like to see it televised some evening.) Vaudeville was slow to see the menace and was dead before it realized it was sick. The movie men are swifter to get the danger signals. Video fans are, a way a great "captive audience," taken prisoner around the home and fireside. If the movies are to survive they have got to stage the greatest recapture in the history of war or peace. And they know it.

The amusement world will be watching the telecasts of the heavyweight fight in scores of movie theaters. If the cash customers turn out in force it will mean bigger and better mergers with television. But suppose the fight ends in a one-round kayo? Brother, the movie house operators had better have something good up their sleeves.

Typhoid Shots Are Summer Insurance

"Now that summer has come to Texas it is time for people who expect to enjoy camping and swimming during the warm weather to be sure that they are adequately protected against typhoid fever," according to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer. "Although the public health strides of recent decades have practically eliminated typhoid fever as a threat to persons living in communities with approved water supplies and good sanitation, the disease remains a real danger to those who swim, camp or picnic in remote rural areas.

"Typhoid fever is transmitted from one person to another by means of water, food or milk that has been contaminated by discharge from a patient suffering with the disease or from an apparently well typhoid carrier.

Spectacular reductions in typhoid fever cases and deaths as compared with those of a generation ago should not give the public a false sense of security. There has been 95 cases of typhoid and paratyphoid fever in Texas in 1951 in spite of community efforts to improve sanitation, isolate patients and supervise known carriers. This indicates that it is still highly desirable for individuals who may be exposed to unfavorable conditions to safeguard themselves by seeking protection at the beginning of the vacation season.

Immunization is a simple and safe procedure. Since this immunity lasts for only three years, any one who has not been inoculated since 1948 should receive new protection this year. In addition, persons who have never in the past availed themselves of this preventive measure should by all means do so now if they plan to participate in outdoor pleasures. All persons who are due for immunization against typhoid fever in 1951 should go to their physicians without delay if they have not already received the recommended inoculations.

GOOD WILL EXPERIMENT

Cincinnati Citizens Sponsor Summer Village for 54 Children

There is a universal language, more than the love that poets muse about, it certainly is the laughter of children. No better demonstration of that can be found than in the story of the first Children's International Summer Village, an experimental four-week duration summer in the hills near Cincinnati. Perhaps it will not be the village was inhabited by 54 children—six each from Vienna, Stockholm, Newcastle-on-Tyne, Nice City, Paris, Copenhagen and Cincinnati. They ranged in age from 12 years and they came from various income groups.

Mall call is a language all its own. Henry Roskan, an exchange student at the University of Cincinnati and a counselor at the summer village near Cincinnati, is the center of all eyes as he distributes letters from home.

Yet, for four weeks, they lived in harmony and laughter, learning the language, quirks, games, delights and angers of strangers, and they emerged friends. They returned to their native lands with a better understanding of international relations and harmonies.

It is hoped that this experiment, financed solely by public support from the citizens of Cincinnati, will snowball all over the world, and already similar villages are being discussed for next summer in Germany, Sweden, England and other countries.

How did it come about? Dr. Doris Twitchell Allen, a psychologist and member of the faculty at the University of Cincinnati, started thinking in terms of such a village shortly after World War II. Her own enthusiasm fired others. Finally, the camp site, a former children's summer camp, was acquired in 1950. The children arrived June 3 of this year.

The children to attend were selected by committees from their own cities. While scholarship was not a deciding factor, it turned out to be important. Actually, qualities of leadership and the ability to mix as extroverts with others were primary elements in final choices.

IN ADDITION to the children, two adults accompanied each group. The entire assembly from Europe gathered in London and was flown to this country. Those from Mexico City came separately. The adults lived in another camp and learned how to set up villages in their own countries.

While the program included outdoor sports of every kind, there were additional activities, such as trips around Cincinnati. For stay-at-home times in the evenings there was television. The Crosley Division, Avco manufacturing corporation, installed sets in the dormitories and lounge.

Television proved to be another fascinating facet in this strange new world of America. Only one or two of the children from the foreign countries had seen it before. And in this study of harmony, it was soon learned that Hopalong Cassidy and the Lone Ranger provide a meeting ground in any language.

Visitors at the village were quick to pick up one sound—laughter. It is possible that this sound, brought on by understanding fostered in future generations by such villages as that one in Cincinnati this summer and those being planned in the future in other countries, can offer a realistic approach to curing some of the world's ills.

ABC network, he has set a record by appearing at more county fairs than any other actor—more than 2000. In his time he has interviewed three Presidents—Coolidge, Hoover and Roosevelt. And he originated his "Rumpus Room" show on radio, now has successfully switched to television.

"We, the People's" Dan Seymour was named by the Boys Clubs of America as one of their seven favorite American fathers. Dan got his start with his son Steve and three daughters, rates with Bob Hope and General Ridgway.

Margaret O'Brien, slated to appear in "Junior Miss," on the summer theater circuit, suddenly changed her mind at almost the last moment, alienating the affections of a lot of managers who had booked her. They're stuck with the rest of the cast. Her attorney canceled her contracts on the ground that she is a minor and therefore they are void.

Ever since comic Josh Shelley joined the regular cast of ABC's "Holiday Hotel" he's had Don Ameche wondering what the next act will be. The other day Josh, at the piano, was warbling "I'll Be Home in a Minute, honey."

THE FICTION CORNER

THE DOCTOR

By Helen Janney

LINDDALE had two doctors . . . two doctors about as different in every way as any two men could be. Doc Boggs was old, in his eighties, and he shouldn't have been practicing at all. He was cross and ill tempered and he often got his patients and their prescriptions all mixed up.

3 Minute Fiction

For a while he dated this one and that, playing no favorite.

Doctor Willis, on the other hand was just pushing thirty. He was alert, dependable and pleasant to deal with. The women, especially, were most enthusiastic about him.

"Why," Mrs. Preston said, "when I called him for my Willie when he had the measles, he worked like a trooper. When Willie didn't do so well at first he actually cried. A doctor. What do you think of that?"

"I know," Mrs. Scott agreed. "He cried over my Martha, too. We both cried. He's sweet. I just love him."

You see, at first Doc Boggs was the only physician in town. People called him just because he was there. If they wanted somebody else they'd have to get a man in Bloomdale, thirty miles away. So everybody was mighty glad when young Doctor Willis came to Linddale to see about locating there.

The business men and the farmers gave him a lot of encouragement. The young married women who were expecting babies welcomed him. In fact, the only person who opposed him in any way was old Doc Boggs.

"It's a one doctor town," he said when young Doc went to call on him. "We don't need or want another one here."

Doctor Willis came just the same and set up his practice on Elm Street. He was single so he fixed himself bachelor's quarters in the upstairs over his house. Old Mrs. South who used to do for Dr. Boggs, went over to the young doc's now, which made old doc madder than ever.

IT SEEMED strange the way young doc took on when Doc Boggs finally passed on. Not many even shed a tear at the funeral.

But young doctor Willis sat there crying openly. It made everybody think even more of him than they did before, for they knew that the old man had absolutely refused to cooperate with the younger one and that he lost no opportunity to run him down to his patients.

"What a wonderful husband Doctor Willis would make," was the thought in the minds of more than one mother of a marriageable aged daughter.

The girls themselves busied about inviting him to parties and dances. There was open rivalry for his attention.

For a while he dated this one and that, playing no favorites. One summer after he'd been away on his vacation he came back with a wife, a girl from his old home town in Ohio.

Jean, that was her name, had such a nice way with her that she soon made friends. When people kept saying over and over that her husband was the sweetest, most tender hearted man in the whole world, she sometimes looked a bit surprised. Sure, she thought he was married. That was one reason she nagged him, but nevertheless she felt a bit puzzled at times.

And then she found out something that nobody else knew. She kept still and just smiled when they began to rave about her husband. She smiled and went about her business of picking up after him, keeping him well fed and mended and not really minding the times when he was thoughtless and inconsiderate as all husbands are at times.

The way she found out was that one night he came home to dinner quite late and dog tired, too. When she looked at him she saw that his eyes were red.

"Don't tell me you've been crying?" she said.

"Crying? Me?" he laughed. "What ever gave you that idea?"

"Your eyes. They look like it."

"It's those flowers . . . roses. Why is it people always send roses to the sick? Every place I've been today has had a bouquet of 'em. I hate roses. I'm allergic to 'em. I have to take shots all the time. Roses roses roses!"

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Rubber heel marks and the like can be removed from wooden floors easily by rubbing them with a cloth dipped in kerosene, benzine, gasoline or cleaning fluid. None of these liquids will damage the finish on the floor, but all will remove any wax that's present; so be sure to re-wax the spot after removing the marks.

If you take the blinds down, and washing is unavoidable, the easiest way to clean the tapes is to spread them out in the bathtub, scrub them with soapy water and a brush, and rinse them right where they are.

If possible, avoid using water on venetian blinds because, on wooden ones, it may cause warping and cracking of the paint; with metal ones, rust is always a hazard when the paint gets thin.

Dollar Less Elastic; Yet Farmer's Fare Improved

By Wright A. Patterson

THE figures used in this column were provided by the Home Economics Bureau of the North-eastern Life Insurance Company. That is an assurance of authenticity. The individual incomes of the American people have doubled and doubled during the last fifty years, since 1900. But in 1950 were we better off than in 1900? Did we live better?

In 1900 the cash income of the American farmer averaged $350. The farmers of that time had in addition to that amount of cash, the greater part of the family food, produced on the farm, and the family fuel from the wood lot of the farm. The cash income of the average farm today is fully three times that of 1900, and the farm still provides the greater portion of the family food, and much of the family fuel.

In the matter of clothes, and some furnishings and farm equipment, the cash receipts of today will buy but little, if any more, than did the cash receipts of 1900. The farmer, while he receives more cash, is not much better off than in 1900. More of them own more automobiles, more farm equipment but farm life and farm living is much as it was half a century ago.

In 1900 the hourly wage of the average industrial worker was 18 cents per hour, with an average working week of 53 hours in 1900, and only 41.5 each week in 1950. Despite the high prices for everything he buys the industrial worker is better off today than he was half a century ago. The money he receives now buys more at today's prices than did his wages of 1900 buy at the prices of that day, and in addition he enjoys more of today's conveniences or luxuries. Far more worker's families have automobiles, electric or other forms of refrigeration, more telephones, radios, an in sections where it is available, more television.

In addition to greater wages, most factory employees are paid for annual vacations of from one to three weeks, are allowed for sick time, have group life insurance, and several millions are assured of industrial pensions after reaching 65 years of age.

Both workers and farmers are living better, the homes of both are equipped with more conveniences and what in 1900 were considered luxuries, despite the high prices they must pay for commodities. Electricity has done much to modernize the homes of both classes. There is another class of Americans who are not as well off as in 1900; whose living standards have been lowered. That class is composed of those who must live on a fixed income, the thrifty ones who saved for their old age, and whose savings were invested in securities. There are many millions of such people, especially women, whose expenses, because of the constantly increasing costs, go up, but who have no corresponding increase in income.

For industrial workers the average earnings have increased from $8.75 in 1900 to $64.15 in 1950. While the cost of living index has grown from .55 in 1900 to 178.4 in 1950, food prices have raised from 59 in 1900 to 215.4 in 1950; pork chops from 119 in 1900 to 715 in 1950. Every item on the food index list has shown a heavy increase.

Much of the increase has been the result of political action. Technological improvements in production in industry has offset much of the increased wages and taxes, and prevented what would have otherwise been much greater increase in prices. But because of the increasing costs, caused by increased wages and taxes, federal, state, county and municipal, manufacturers have had to add to the prices of commodities, and all consumers, including both workers and farmers, have suffered from inflationary prices. When the new federal tax legislation is enacted it will mean another increase in taxes to be paid by consumers.

While our dollars do not buy as much, by approximately 50 per cent, as they did in 1900, increased income for both farmers and workers have kept pace with inflationary prices, and both are better off now, enjoy a higher standard of living, more conveniences and luxuries than they knew at the beginning of this century.

Dairymen Lose Millions Because of Low Quality

Every year the dairy farmers of the United States suffer heavy financial losses because too large a proportion of the milk and cream they market is lower in quality than it should be. It is estimated conservatively that they could add millions of dollars annually to their income simply by giving attention to those factors that promote high quality of product, dairy specialists report.

The Defense Department identified 135 more American casualties in the Korean war. The 351st casualty list included 29 dead, 76 wounded, 17 injured and 13 missing.

Lack of Nitrogen Retards Corn Growth
Deep-Rooted Legumes Add Nitrogen to Soil

(First of Two Articles)
 A soil-building, deep-rooted sweet clover crop grown regularly in the rotation made the difference between these (below) two corn fields. Both crops were grown at the University of Missouri's experimental farm at Columbia, Mo. Both had the same fertilizer treatment, including 3 tons of limestone and 150 pounds per acre of 0-20-20 fertilizer in the row at corn planting time.

The crop in the upper photo was grown on land that had a rotation of corn, small grains and shallow-

rooted lespedeza. Even late in the season the growth is stunted and scarcely head high.

The lower crop was on land that had a rotation of corn, small grains and sweet clover.

Over a 14-year test period, the corn clover in the rotation yielded 10.7 more bushels per acre than the other field. The average yields were 67.7 and 57 bushels per acre, respectively.

The sweet clover crop added extra organic matter to the soil, improved tilth and drainage and helped the corn crop make better use of the fertility in the soil. The taproots of legumes such as sweet clover and alfalfa probe down several feet into the subsoil. They drill out passageways for water and air. They condition the soil from the surface on down through the root zone.

High Quality Hay Can Reduce Feeding Costs

High quality hay can cut feeding costs about $24 per cow and milk producing costs by 26 cents per hundredweight, says Michigan state college farm economists.

Cows fed poor hay required 250 pounds more grain and 450 pounds more concentrates to yield the same amount of milk produced from high quality hay. Good quality hay is high in protein-carrying legumes, cut at the right stage.

During 1950 Texas 4 H boys made history with their exhibits of fat steers at the major stock shows of the nation. Grandchampionships were won at the State Fair of Texas; International at Chicago American Royal at Kansas City and the Houston and San Antonio fat stock shows.

Buffalo grass makes a good lawn grass for West Texas. Planting sod is the easiest method to follow in getting a Buffalo grass lawn established.

Poisons Recommended For Tomato Pinworms

Farmers and home gardeners should watch their tomatoes closely from the time the fruit first sets until it ripens. During this period fruit worms and pinworms may attack the fruit.

For control of these pests entomologists recommend dusting tomatoes once a week and following heavy rainfall with a dust containing 5 per cent rothane and 5 to 6 per cent zineb.

Hay producers lose two ways when they produce poor quality hay: first, it is low in feeding value and when offered for sale brings less money. Poor quality usually results from the failure of producers to use the proper harvesting, curing and storage methods.

In tests conducted by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, dry forage yields were increased from 350 to 1,330 pounds per acre on renovated K R bluestem by applying a combination nitrogen-phosphate fertilizer.

HUSBAND HAPPY—HIS CONSTIPATION GONE
 "My husband is a different man since he started to eat ALL-BRAN a year ago. For years he'd take a harsh laxative every morning and again at night. Now ALL-BRAN alone keeps him regular." Mrs. A. M. Earnsey, Cobb Island, Md. One of many unsolicited letters from ALL-BRAN users. This may be your answer to constipation due to lack of dietary bulk. Eat one ounce (about ½ cup) of crispy Kellogg's ALL-BRAN daily, drink plenty of water. If not satisfied after 10 days, send empty carton to Kellogg's, Battle Creek, Mich. Get DOUBLE YOUR MONEY BACK!

Housework Easy Without Nagging Backache
 When kidney function slows down, many folk complain of nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness. Don't suffer longer with these discomforts. If reduced kidney function is getting you down—due to such common causes as stress and strain, over-exertion or exposure to cold. Minor bladder irritations due to cold, dampness or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages. Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 40 years. While often otherwise caused, it's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filter flursh out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

FIRST AID TO THE AILING HOUSE
BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

QUESTION: I am planning to store a late model electric refrigerator and range in my basement. Naturally I wish to give them maximum protection. Have you any advice or instructions to offer?

ANSWER: The best thing to do would be to have servicemen from the two companies come and put the units in proper condition for storage. If your basement is reasonably dry, it should be safe enough for the units. But if it is even slightly damp, I advise you to store the units in a storage warehouse, or ask the companies to see if they can provide a better place. If the basement is dry, clean the range thoroughly inside and out. Remove any traces of rust by rubbing with sandpaper or steel wool, wipe with turpentine and then put on a thin coat of petroleum jelly on all iron, nickel and chromium plated parts. Porcelain enameled surfaces need not be coated. The refrigerator should be raised from the floor on blocks of wood about six inches high; this would give better circulation of air under it.

Can Luscious, Seasonal Fruits Now
(See Recipes Below)

Fruit Canning Helps
LUSCIOUS FRUITS AND BERRIES canned right now mean better meals for your family later on during the year.

Isn't it nice to open a can of applesauce for luncheon, without having to cook it just before the meal? Nice, too to take peach halves, pears or apricots for salad right out of a jar, isn't it? How about a berry pie? They're already in the jar, sweetened, ready to be put in a crust. Fruit for dessert? Open a can of pineapple, resting on the canning shelf.

Fruit is easy to can because it requires only the simplest of preparation. Some need skins removed by blanching in hot water. Then they're packed in jars and processed in a hot water bath or oven to cook them completely. If you want to prevent shrinkage on some types, pre-cook slightly.

Applesauce (Hot Pack)
3 pounds green apples
2 cups water
1 1/4 cups sugar
Wash apples, quarter, core and remove bruised or decayed parts. If fruit has to stand for any time, prevent discoloration by placing in slightly salted water. Drain. Add water and cook until soft. Press through sieve or colander to remove seeds and skins. Add sugar and bring to a boil. Pack while hot into clean jars. Adjust cap according to manufacturer's directions. Process 15 minutes in boiling water bath.

Baked Apples
Wash and core apples and place in baking dish containing enough boiling water to cover bottom of dish. Bake until tender. Pack immediately in hot, sterile jars. Fill to the top with juice from baking pan and additional medium syrup. Seal immediately. Medium Syrup: Use 2 cups water, 1 cup sugar, and bring to a boil before packing.

Apricots (Open Kettle)
This method gives nice, rich flavor to the fruit. Use firm, ripe apricots and drop into boiling water for 1/2 minute, then dip in cold water shortly and slip off skins. Remove stems. Place fruit in Medium Syrup and simmer for 10 to 15 minutes, then bring to a full boil. Pack immediately into hot sterile jars, filling the jar to the top and sealing quickly.

Berries (Hot Pack)
Use these directions for blackberries, blueberries, dewberries, huckleberries, loganberries, mulberries and raspberries, and help prevent floating which often occurs in canning them. Wash and stem berries. Drop into boiling thin or medium syrup (Thin syrup: 3 cups water, 1 cup sugar), and let stand 15 to 20 seconds. Drain. Pack immediately in hot, sterile jars and fill to within 1/2 inch of top with boiling syrup in which the berries stood. Seal jar and process 5 minutes in a hot water bath.

LYNN SAYS: Here are Aids For Fruit Canning
Work with tongs or gloves when removing jars from hot water to prevent burned fingers.
When a recipe calls for hot, sterile jars, this means they should be prepared by washing in hot, soapy water, rinsing in a large kettle, tub or pan on a rack or folded cloth. Pour boiling water over them and boil for 10 minutes. Take jars out of hot water as you fill them.

Sour Cherries (Open Kettle)
Wash and pit cherries. For pitting use a pen point inverted in a holder. Place cherries in preserving kettle immediately and add enough sugar to sweeten, about 1 cup sugar to each quart of berries. Add no water. Heat slowly to the boiling point. Pack immediately into hot, sterile jars, and seal each one before filling the next.

Currants (Open Kettle)
Wash, stem and pick over carefully. Use 3/4 cup sugar for 1 quart currants. Place fruit and sugar in kettle. Add no water. Heat slowly to boiling, shaking kettle to prevent burning occasionally. Boil 5 minutes. Fill hot sterile jars and seal immediately.

Gooseberries (Cold Pack)
Wash, stem and cut off blossom ends with scissors. Prick each berry with a fork. Prepare 3 cups medium syrup. Drop 1 quart of berries into the boiling syrup and let stand 20 seconds. Remove to colander and drain. Repeat, using another quart of berries. Continue until there are several quarts in colander for canning. Pack closely in hot sterile jars and cover to within 1/2 inch of top with syrup in which they were dipped. Seal jars and process 20 minutes in hot water bath or 70 minutes in a 250°F. oven.

Peaches (Open Kettle)
Use firm, ripe fruit. Dip in boiling water for 1 minute, then in cold water and slip off skins. Clingstone peaches are usually canned whole and freestone varieties are cut in halves or sliced. Cook peaches in thin or medium syrup for 20 minutes or until clear and tender. Pack carefully and tightly.

Pears (Hot Pack)
Peel and leave whole if stems are in good condition, or cut in halves and core. Drop into slightly salted water while preparing until all are done to prevent discoloration. Drain. Precook Kieffer and Sand varieties in boiling water until tender. Drain and use the water in making medium syrup. Cook Bartlett varieties in a medium syrup for 5 minutes. Pack in hot, sterile jars and fill with syrup to within 1/2 inch of top. Process 20 minutes in boiling water bath or 70 minutes in 250°F. oven.

Pineapple (Cold Pack)
Use fully ripe, sound fruit. Cut off butt end with sharp knife and twist out the top. Slice crosswise and pare each slice. Cut out cores and remove eyes. Pack in jars in slices, wedges or grated, as desired. Cover with thin or medium syrup to within 1/2 inch of top. Seal and process in boiling water bath for 30 minutes; or in oven 90 minutes at 250°F.

For oven canning, set jars 2 inches apart in a shallow pan. Heat oven to temperature necessary before putting in the jars, and begin counting the time immediately. If using an electric oven, do not use the top heating element.
When fruits are packed tightly in jars, you will not have too much space at the top after they're processed. A wooden paddle is good to use for this job, and so is a small olive bottle, the top of which fits nicely on the fruit or tomatoes as you pack.

Iron Curtain Also Cuts Bering Strait Fur Swaps

Washington, D.C.—The Iron Curtain is also a Fur Curtain between Big and Little Diomedes.

No longer do American cigarrettes, tea, flour and sugar buy Siberian fox pelts and walrus-tusk ivory across the three-mile channel of icy water which separates Russian from American soil, midway across Bering Strait, the National Geographic Society reports.

Russian soldiers man a lookout post on a rocky shoulder of Big Diomedes Island, easternmost sentry station of Soviet sovereignty. Staring across the International Date Line at U.S.-owned Little Diomedes, for three years they have cut off all trade and social calls among Eskimo families who literally have relatives on both sides of the world, yet are only a few minutes' paddle apart.

Since the glacial age the Diomedes, twin mountain peaks protruding above the surface of Bering Strait, have served as steppingstones between Asia and America. In 1887 Russia sold Little Diomedes with Alaska to the United States, but retained Big Diomedes.

Each island supports an Eskimo village. Their inhabitants scratch a living from sea and land by hunting walruses, whales, seals, bears and foxes.

Little Diomedes families, living closer to Siberia than to Alaska, once traded regularly with their Russian neighbors.

Kill That Smell
Oddest request ever received by a certain company was from a man who wanted an old car to smell like new. The concern, which manufactures flavors and fragrances, accepted the challenge and now the old jalopy smells like it just rolled off the production line.

Painful Corsets
In Queen Elizabeth's day ladies wore corsets which gave them a painful but elegant 13-inch waist; 50 years ago standards and waistlines had been relaxed to a more comfortable 18-20 inches; in the interest of health girdle manufacturers today generally set 24 inches as the minimum for foundation garments they make.

"I own a 360-acre farm and I know just about what I have to have in tires to get my work done. Maybe my soil is different, but it seems to me that Firestone Open-Center Tires pull better than any of the others."

EVERETT LEWISON.

Firestone CHAMPIONS For Both

THAT'S the way it is in most farming localities—Some farmers want Open-Center Tires, while others find that Traction-Centers do a better job in their soil conditions. In all probability, you have a definite preference, too.

If it's an Open-Center you like best, try the Firestone Champion Open-Center Tire. You'll find that its curved bars pull better, its Flared Tread Openings keep the tire clean, and its wide, flat tread wears longer than treads of other Open-Center Tires.

Or—if you think a Traction-Center Tire will do your job best, try the one and only Firestone Traction-Center, the choice of more than a million farmers. Remember—only Firestone gives you your choice between the greatest Open-Center and the only Traction-Center Tire on the market today.
