According to President Eisenhower, who proclaimed July 24-30 as National Farm Safety Week accidents, in addition to draining our nation's financial resources, bringing death, disability, suffering and hardship to thousands of farm people annually. Safety habits, therefore, are vitally needed if there are to be fewer deaths and injuries, less expense, grief and suffering on the farm and a prosperous national economy.

CHILDREN GIVEN HELP IN HEARING

The Texas State Department of Health several years ago started a program of services for medically indigent children who are severely impaired in hearing. Those who are examined medically, and the degree type of their hearing loss is determined. Many still retain some hearing ability provided sounds are made loud enough thru use of hearing aids.

Under this program, administered by the division of Maternal and Child Health, the use of such equipment is arranged. For those who have been impaired from birth, or thru accident or disease during early childhood the new sounds which they hear must be identified. Training in listening must be provided. One of the first steps in this training is the identification of sounds made by objects around them. These include vassing cars, barking dogs, closing doors, running water and the voices of people.

The Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council urges all Texans to be doubly careful now with cigarettes and fires. Pastures are dry and grass fires are on the increase. All available forage is needed for livestock feed.

TIPS GIVEN ON BOAT SAFETY

The Texas Highway Department, official boat registering agency for the State of Texas, cautioned all motorboat operators to use common sense afloat at all times.

The Texas Water Safety Act requires accident reports to be filed with the Texas Highway Department. Reports to date indicate attention and unsafe conduct on the part of boat operators cause 63 per cent of motor boat accidents. Weather conditions account for 21 per cent. The Department points out that some of the weather caused accidents could have been avoided if the operators had checked local weather reports. Statistics indicate that 90 percent of the operators involved in accidents have had more than 100 hours of experience — shattering the popular belief that inexperienced boat operators are the most accidents.

The Department urges a crew when pulling a skier to operate the boat and the skier to keep an eye on the skier's instructions to the operator.

A successful fly control program for the farm should include Breeding and collecting attractive to flies and chemicals should include and keeping a spray schedule as long as it is needed. Extension agents can provide information on fly control programs.

Know Your Law

In this unpredictable life of ours, it is the law's business to take a look into the future and say what would "happen if." Leases, For in your contracts, escrows, wills, insurance policies, and other legal documents, you had better say what would "happen if" some of our best laid plans go awry. Such events the law calls "contingencies."

Who gets the "earnest money" you put down, if you cannot go through with buying that house? What if you want to pay up that partnership goes sour, or a partner gets sick or dies? What happens if the people you name in your will should die before you do, or if you all perish in a common catastrophe like a car smashup?

The law is wise but it cannot do your thinking for you. It settles such questions — but not always to your liking. If you don't make a will, the law says who shall get your property. If you leave certain things out of a contract, the law assumes that you meant to put some certain things in. But how much better it would be in the first place to put them in the way you want them, by asking "what if?"

Take your will now: Four first desire, of course, is to take care of your wife and children—those nearest to you. But it won't hurt anything to put "contingent beneficiaries" in your will in case something happens to thwart your first intentions.

Free Speech Issue In Court Proceeding

LINCOLN, Ill.—Free speech was the issue here in a contempt of court case in which nearly 600 persons faced possible fines and jail sentences.

The defendants, many of them members of a reform group known as the "Good Government Council of Logan County," were cited for contempt for petitioning Circuit Judge Frank M. Bevan to replace a state's attorney in a case involving the prosecutor's friend.

Judge Bevan said the petition contained "odious, defamatory language concerning an official of this court." State's Attorney Edwin C. Mills.

Members of the Good Government Council contended Judge Bevan could not hold them in contempt and said if the prosecutor felt he was defamed by the petition he could sue them in a civil court.

The case arose when, as a result of action taken by the Good Government Council, Justice of the Peace Vincent Jones was charged with illegal diversion of funds collected in overweight trucking fines. Mr. Jones was charged with perjury, embezzlement and malfeasance.

The council followed up the case with a petition asking that Mr. Jones, be replaced by a special or assistant prosecutor.

interest engendered by her case became the opening wedge. Soon the barrier of prejudice was down and women were being admitted to the practice of law throughout the Nation.

Increased mechanization marked the Texas cotton harvest in 1950-60. Machine stripping and picking accounted for 44 percent of the State's upland harvest last year — up from the 25 percent for a year earlier.

Broiler condemnations at the processing plant are expensive to the producer. F. Z. Beanblossom, extension poultry marketing specialist, says condemnations at the nation's processing plants are taking an estimated $22 to $25 million annually out of the producers' pocket. Since Texas is a major broiler producing state, he says these losses are of prime importance.

The Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council, which is pushing a farm safety education campaign in Texas, tells us that farm life can be enjoyed by practicing safety each day. The Council asks farmers and ranchers to check their home electric and heating systems, to check and repair equipment, to keep children away from machinery and livestock. It warns against falls, resulting from hurry and unsafe ladders. The farmer or rancher is cautioned to make sure all farm equipment is operating safely and to stop machines before unclogging or adjusting them.

This is good advice, not only during Farm Safety Week, but the other 51 weeks of the year, too.

SS News ---

To qualify for social security benefits at retirement, how many work units will you need? "Most people don't know," John G. Hutton, District Manager of the Lubbock Social Security Office, said today. Many don't even know there is such a requirement, while others mistakenly think they can qualify for payments with only a year or two of work.

"Most people will need several years of credit," Mr. Hutton continued, "and the chances are, you will too." The exact number you will need depends on when you reach retirement age; 62 for women, 65 for men. People reaching retirement age now need 4 1/2 years of earnings. Younger people will need more. For example, anyone now under age 54 will need 10 years—the maximum.

Since payments in the future depend on your earnings now, it's important that you receive all credits due. If you work for wages, you should be certain your employer reports them with your correct social security number. If you are self-employed, you should be careful to use your correct social security number on your tax returns.

For additional information about the number of credits needed to qualify for social security benefits, get in touch with the Lubbock Social Security Office at 1616 - 19th Street, Lubbock, Texas. A representative of this office will be in O'Donnell on Wed., July 20 at 2:00 p. m. in the Elementary School and will be glad to assist in all matters pertaining to social security.
