Drouth Causes Crop Changes In Large Area

With cotton acreage reduction seen as a success, backed up by Mother Nature who has forced involuntary abandonment of cotton areas, farmers are turning to the problem of what to plant in the place of cotton.

State Must Provide Funds If Federal Relief Is Continued

Washington, July 6.—The emergency relief administration has notified Governor Ferguson, of Texas, that unless the state provides funds to care for the unemployed, federal funds cannot be supplied in the future.

Harry L. Hopkins, emergency relief administrator, said today that advances had been made to Texas on the understanding that a bond issue which comes before the voters in a short time would be approved.

The emergency relief act provides that the administrator shall supply funds in an amount of $1 for each $3 of public money spent for the state. He has a fund of $250,000, 000 for that purpose of which he has already allocated more than $50,000, 000.

Good Rains Cover Territory Last Week

Heavy rains, ranging from beneficial to actual downpours, covered most of the county Wednesday and Thursday last week, with light rainfall in the extreme northern portion of Dawson county.

Heaviest precipitation in our immediate territory occurred Wednesday afternoon when the town, the northern and western portions received from half-inch to better than two inches of rain.

The southeastern part of the territory received a heavy shower Thursday, growing lighter as it neared town.

Though rainfall was decidedly peculiar in that it varied so greatly, reports from every community indicate that growing crops and gardens have been much benefited.

Childrens reported the heaviest rainfall, with Slaton, Slide, Brownfield, Ropesville, Post, and Lorenz and other West Texas towns reporting beneficial amounts.

There was no rainfall in Eastern and the adjacent territory, which needs moisture badly.

Federal Loans Explained By Director

Loans to farmers by the land bank commissioner as authorized in the emergency farm mortgage act, intended to be used "as entirely supplemental to the federal land bank loans."

R. S. Rodgers, who, as director of the Federal Land bank in Houston, Lubbock county correspondent of the farm loan commissioner, made that explanation Saturday.

Referring again to the supplementary object of loans made under the emergency farm mortgage act, approved May 12, Mr. Rodgers said many farmers could not borrow money to buy land from the land bank alone, but could obtain a sufficient amount with a supplementary loan from the land bank commissioner.

Annual Baptist Encampment At Leuders

The eleventh annual session of the Leuders Baptist encampment will be held at the grounds on the Clear Fork river July 11 to 13.

The strongest program ever arranged for any Texas encampment has been prepared and Rev. J. Howard W. White, of Dallas, business manager, "Attendance is expected to set a new mark for the camp, and Baptist throughout this section agreed to cooperate to attend."

Principal speakers for the two-week period will be Dr. W. Marshall Craig of Dallas, and Dr. W. R. White of Fort Worth.

T. O. Gardner, Mrs. Grace County, G. S. Hopkins, and Andrew Allen, workers from the state convention, will head the staff of teachers in charge of the Training Service and Sunday School work.

Other speakers and teachers on the program will include: Pres. J. D. Sandifer, Simmons University; Pres. Pat. M. Neff, Baylor University; Pres. J. C. Hardy, Baylor college; Dr. J. Howard W. White, P. M. Connell, Rev. J. J. Kellam of Dallas, and Rev. P. D. O'Brien, Colorado City.

The recreational side of the encampment is given a large place this year. Boating, fishing and swimming in the Clear Fork river, there will be such games as baseball, tennis, horse shoe and dollar pitching. Hiking and boating will also be sports participated in.

A meal ticket for the entire twelve days of the encampment, 37 meals, will only be $5; for six days $3. Camping equipment may be rented on the ground.

Woman Suffrage Movement Spreads To Poultry Tribe

Equal rights for females entered the head stronghold of the male's vaunted superiority here this week, when a turkey hen owned by Hal Singleton, went on a strike and ordered her mate, a dignified and venerable gobbler to take his turn at setting—or is it sitting—on the eggs and looking after their growing brood.

John J. Gobbler refuses to make a statement for the press, taking refuge in a haughty silence when the reporter tried to interview him, but he got red around the gills, so this publication feels that it will be safe to say that the domestic situation in his family is highly embarrassing to the well-known exponent of turkey dignity.

Mrs. Gobbler, on the other hand, quite brazenly parades her new found independence, and is apparently doing everything in her power to 'rub the humiliation in on her erstwhile lord and master. She serenely spends her days attending clubs, gossiping with other lady turkeys with the view of converting them to her own emancipated state and to the coquetish eyes at younger and more attractive gobblers.

The outcome of this unusual situation in the turkey tribe is being awaited with much interest here, speculation being rife as to the final outcome. Will Mr. Gobbler again rise in his might and reassert his authority and independence as a gobbler and head of a family, or will he meekly yield to the treasured independence which has been the pride and joy of gobblers for lo, these hundreds of years? Time alone will tell.

Cotton Acreage Contracts Are Piling In

With official estimates stating that two-thirds of the cotton acreage in 47 South Plains counties to be plowed under are already secured by contract, county agents and others in charge of the work state that this week the full quota of 41,000 acres will be fully, if not over-subscribed.

Check made with agents in these counties indicate that already 227,000 acres are contracted for, and this report is also made in contracts from Lamb and Garza went over the top by Saturday and three other counties without assigned quotas reported approximately 6,000 acres.

Lynn county's quota is 66,000 with 60,000 acres in placement contracts and more than that pledged. Special agents in the various communities estimate that Lynn county will plow up some 26 per cent of its total acreage of 200,000. A number of contracts from Gaines county have been turned back because of too high yields reported. An average of between $6 and $7 per acre is being reported to the committee in charge of appraising. By Saturday evening, approximately half the cotton growers around O'Donnell had placed contracts for acreage, and with the news of the extension of time to last night, (Wednesday), the committees have put forth every effort this week. One member of the committee states that the plan will release approximately $60,000 in this trade territory within the next six weeks, probably.

Since the rains last week, with consequent improvement in crop prospects, the majority of the farmers are taking advantage of the option plan. Several farmers have reported finding squares in their fields, which sounds as if O'Donnell will have cotton sometime before long.

Mrs. Miles Injured By Fall Sunday

Returning home from a rest cure at Christoval, Mrs. J. B. Miles of this city sustained a painful injury to the right leg when she fell at Big Spring.

She, with her brand daughter, Miss Louise Miles, and Mrs. F. O. Allen of Big Spring were returning home from Christoval, and had stopped at Big Spring, Mrs. Miles in some manner, lost her balance as she stepped from the running board of the car, and fell from a jagged piece of glass, seven stitches being taken to close the wound which resulted.

A physician was summoned to give emergency treatment, but Mrs. Miles refused to be hospitalized until before his arrival. Large veins had been severed, and the physician was obliged to tie up the ends of the vessels.

The index joins with other friends in the sincere hope that the injury will not be followed by complications of any kind and that she will soon be fully recovered.

Mr. and Mrs. John Johnson and daughters, Billy and Margaret, Lusk, and Mrs. Glen Brown, were in O'Donnell and had stopped at Big Spring.

Escaped Prisoners Retaken Last Week

S. D. Vowell, one of the seven prisoners who escaped from the county jail at Tahoka on June 28, was captured at Kilgore Thursday last week by Chief of Police Bob Goss.

On Friday, scores of West Texas men officers and Texas Rangers, with two bloodhounds, hit on the trail of the escapees who had taken up residence in Coleman and Randall counties, and the hunt ended in a running gunfight which led to the death of Stockwater Trammell and the capture of the other two. Dave the wounded outlaw died at 10:30 Friday evening in a hospital at Coleman.

The two, with another prisoner, Luke, were also members of the railroad party in June, and it was recently been found that the Trammells are former residents of this section, having worked at a local gin in 1927.

Schnitz Dick, who escaped at the same time, was captured at Kilgore, last month. Vowell was held at Kilgore, in connection with the robbery of an inn there, the chief of police stating that he believed Vowell to be the man who struck an officer with a sawed-off shot-gun and took his pistol. Vowell had the officer's pistol in his possession when he was arrested.

Besides Vowell and Dick and the three Trammell brothers, escaped prisoners were J. R. Romine, Jim Powell and Clyde Davis.

The two Trammells had been pursued by a posse headed by Sheriff Frank Mills of Coleman County. The sheriff stated that they all opened fire after the fugitives had been warned to halt. The brothers were returned with three six-shooters, and returned the fire from the posse.

A bullet, entering the top of the head and coming out through the nose, stopped Stockwater's final effort to a brush thicket near a bridge on Hord Creek, and Luke called to officers that he would surrender.

The two, who had been fleeing from officers in the territory for several days, and had paid several visits to a truck on a road and stolen another truck. Search for them in the immediate vicinity was instituted following the hijacking of Dr. C. W. Dean, five miles south of Abilene, on June 27. They are known to have stolen six different automobiles in their efforts to elude officers.

July is the last month for this duty under the law requiring that no transfers may be accepted after July 31. Parents and patrons are asked to keep their facts in mind.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy McGill spent several days in Clovis, N. Mex., last week.

U. S. Mail Carriers Must Pay Gas Tax

Austin, July 6.—The Texas attorney general's department today ruled that owners of vehicles carrying U. S. mail under contract or on rural free delivery service were not exempt from payment of the state gasoline tax.

Exemption would be granted if the United States government is to pay for the gasoline either on requisition or by reimbursement of the purchaser, the department held.

It was held in another opinion that gasoline sold to an army post for resale to officers and enlisted personnel also was subject to the tax unless the sale was made in the pursuit of governmental business.

seline Newsom read a poem, her own composition, which she had dedicated to the bride. Miss Doris McConal rendered a beautiful vocal solo and Miss Marie Miles gave an appropriate reading.

At the close of the program, two tiny fairies brought in a lovely basket filled with gifts for the honoree, and presented them to her with babyish simplicity. They were the little Misses Billie and Frank Gibbs and Betty Joyce James.

The gifts displayed a wide variety, all of them lovely and appropriate and each presented with congratulations and good wishes.

There is another good slogan, too, and that one is: "Employment is cheaper than charity." One of the main purposes of renovizing campaigns is to provide the unemployed with productive labor—as distinctive from work which is not necessary, and is given more or less to charity. During the past three years, millions of structures—hotels, warehouses,
