Find Adventure In Field Work

Geodetic Survey, in Spite of Hardships, Appeals to Young Men.

WASHINGTON .- Those who think of the United States coast and geodetic survey as a highly professional and cloistered department of the federal government are only partly right. Its work is scientific, but its personnel often meets with adventure and sometimes is in dan-

Personnel engaged in basic geodetic control survey work in the interior areas of the country "may encounter poisonous snakes, wild animals and tame animals gone berserk," department of commerce re-

"They may find themselves clinging to a mountain ridge when a gale or blizzard strikes, or in deep gorges may be compelled to portage their boats and paraphernalis around rapids too rugged for navigation. In a mountain defile the lead man accidentlly may dislodge a boulder, causing a wild scramble among those behind him to avoid serious injury.

Appeals to Young Men.

"Despite hardships and dangers encountered on occasion, however, work in the open has a strong appeal to young men and the division of geodesy experiences no difficulty in maintaining field parties at full

"Every summer a limited number of young engineering students are given employment and distributed among field parties. They receive regular salaries and per diem allowances while employed and are assigned to the less difficult tasks. Not a few of them ultimately join the survey as permanent members. Often the work of field parties is centered far from human habita-

Geodetic control operations take into account the curvature of the earth. For this reason in flat terrain it is necessary to make triangulation surveys from a considerable elevation. To meet this need tall portable steel towers are in con-stant use by field parties. In addition to taking care of the curva-ture of the earth, these towers provide an observation platform extending above surrounding forest growth and other obstacles. On two occasions falls from these towers have been fatal.

Operations Varied.

Operations in geodetic control are varied. They include the determination of geographic positions -latitude and longitude-and the determination of elevations.

"In 1807, during the administration of President Thomas Jefferson, the bureau was organized as the United States coast survey," the report says. "Operations started in There were some interruptions to the work, but it has been carried on continuously since 1836

"Having always handled coastal control surveys, the bureau in 1878 was given the task of continuing such surveys into the interior and became the United States coast and geodetic survey. As a result of this practical control-survey work, a series of charts and maps covering the United States in its entirety today may be put together like the many pieces of a picture puzzle."

Burmese Rice Output Is Expected to Be Short

SINGAPORE, STRAITS SETTLE-MENTS .- Rice production in Burma and Java probably will be more than 600,000 tons short of internal needs this year, an RAF aerial survey discloses.

The survey showed that about 16,000,000 acres of irrigated rice lands in Burma, Java and French Indo-China remained uncultivated. British officials here believed Burma would be obliged to draw upon her surplus accumulated during the The Burmese government hoped to be able to continue some exports from that surplus.

Sarawak, Rich Borneo Kingdom, Is Now British

LONDON.-Sarawak, rich Borneo kingdom of the white rajahs, has become a British Crown colony.

An order in council put into effect legislation approved by the British parliament and Sarawak's supreme council.

Sarawak, Borneo state with 500, rubber plantations, was ceded to 000 inhabitants and 300,000 acres of Britain by its last white rajah, Sir Charles Vyner Brooke, 71, under an agreement by which his three daughters and some local officials receive the proceeds of a $4,000,000 trust fund established from Sarawak funds.

U. S. To Purchase Natural Rubber

Will Pay 231/2 Cents a Pound For 145,000 Tons.

WASHINGTON. - The United States has agreed to buy 145,000 ong tons of natural rubber from Britain, France and Holland for 231/2 cents per pound in the last half of this year, according to a state department announcement.

The price, which is basic, is 314 cents above the rate being paid up to July 1. This means either that domestic prices of raw rubber will have to be increased or the government will have to pay a subsidy to maintain the purchase program.

A joint announcement here and in London said that Britain, while reopening the Malayan raw rubber market to the United States, would stabilize conditions there by paying a price equivalent to 231/2 cents a ound for all available rubber.

Britain and the United States are the great purchasers of rubber.

The base price was described as being for "number IX ribbed smoked sheet." Other grades will be paid for at agreed differentials. This raw rubber, purchased by the U. S. Rubber Development corporation, will be made available to American manufacturers through government outlet agencies.

The official statement said that 'determining factors in the agreements reached were the continuing shortage of natural rubler in relation to demand and the present exceptionally high cost of produc-ing natural rubber in these areas."

The United States obtains the great bulk of its raw rubber from British, Dutch and French Far Eastern production but some is coming from such scattered places as South America, Siam, the Philippines and Africa.

Optometrists Pledge Their Eyes to 'Bank'

PITTSBURGH. - Three hundred optometrists agreed at convention sessions here to bequeath their eyes to "eye banks" so that their careers of vision improve-ment would continue after death.

Members of Beta Sigma Kappa, honorary optometric fraternity, meeting here in connection with convention sessions of the American Optometric association, pledged their eyes to the aid of diseased persons and ac-cident victims at the suggestion of their president, Dr. H. E Pine of Chicago.

"These men spend their lives improving vision," Dr. Pine as-serted, "what better means to improve people's sight exists than this method?"

Dr. Pine said recent development of new refrigerating methods made large-scale participation in a system of "eye banks" practical and efficient.

Man Once Was Larger Than Giant Gorillas

CHICAGO .- Evidence that some of modern man's earliest ancestors may have been giants ranging up to twice the size of a male gorilla was disclosed by Dr. Franz Weidenreich, research associate of the American Museum of Natural His-In a book called "Apes, Giants and Man," Dr. Weidenreich told of recent discoveries of a fossilized giant human jawbone in Java and a huge human tooth found in China. "It may not be too far from the truth if we suggest the Java giant was much bigger than any living gorilla and that the Chinese giant was correspondingly bigger than the Java giant-that is 11/2 times as large as the Java giant and twice as large as a male gorilla," he said. He added there were only "mere indications" thus far that the giants were older than all other known human types and expressed hope that the search for fossils could be continued in Java and China now that the war in the Pacific has ended.

100,000 Deaths Blamed On Systematic Starvation

BERLIN.-The Red army newspaper Taegliche Rundschau blamed overwork, systematic starvation and epidemics for the deaths of more than 100,000 men whose mass graves, the newspaper said, have ust been discovered.

The graves were found at a former German prison camp near Zeithain, Saxony, in the Russian occupation zone. The prisoners were mostly Russian.

'In the so-called camp hospital, 50,000 prisoners had lain ill and unattended and with their only exit the mass grave," the newspaper reported.

Farmer Looks Up at Plane, Sees Grandma in Cockpit

PITTSBURGH .- A small silver monoplane swooped over hay stacks banked into a turn above a farm at nearby Glenshaw. A young man in the barnyard looked up and exclaimed:

"Good gosh! It's grandma." There was no mistaking the happy face and gray hair of Mrs. Anna Hartman, 80, in the open cockpit of the plane. She was taking her first plane ride.

Some 13,000,000 men in the American armed forces alone fought four long years-with the hope that it might be the last time human beings would have to go through the terrible ordeal of war.

In the Paris conference comes the climax of their dreams, and already disillusionment has begun to set in. Already the dreams are tinged with nightmare - the spectre of another

Here are some of the distressing facts this conference has to face in trying to chart the peace of the

1. Historians criticised Woodrow Wilson because he was slow in negotiating peace. But he got started two months after the armistice and finished six months later, a total of eight months after the war. In contrast, it is now almost one year after the armistice with Japan and 15 months after the armistice with Germany, yet the final peace conference is only getting started. 2. The longer peace is delayed, the more the Allies fall out; the more the other nations forget their gratitude. So the longer the delay,

DELAY TACTICS PLANNED

Moscow's delay tactics were by no means accidental. They were carefully planned, and with three motives behind them:

A. The longer peace was delayed the more time Russia got to nail down its hold on the Balkan satellites - Hungary, Austria. Anti-Russian factions had to be stamped out; pro-Russian factions trained to carry on. This could not be done

B. The more uncertainty and unrest occurred in the non-Soviet-occupied countries - France, Belgium, the Netherlands — the greater the likely growth of Communism.
C. Finally, Moscow did not want the Red armies converging back to Russia. There wasn't food to feed them, and their quick return risked economic, political turnovers.

Thus, ever since V-J Day, Russia has been the greatest obstacle to plomacy during the early stages of this greatest of all diplomatic endeavors was just as guilty of sabotaging the peace as the Russiansperhaps more so. I say more so, because we pride ourselves on being more advanced, more alert, more idealistic.

Yet actually, our diplomats were just as woefully unpre-pared for peace as the army and navy were for war at Pearl Harbor. When it should have been ready for the most important peace offensive in history of the world, the state department was caught completely napping.

Congress has spent several months of intensive study to ascertain who was responsible for Pearl Harbor; yet no one has lifted a finger to probe the equally important disaster of our unpreparedness for peace. If senators probed the files of the state department, or even their own files, significant facts would come to

Kathleen Norris Says:

In the Looking Glass

Bell Syndicate.-WNU Features.

"Make home heaven. Make it simpler, smaller, if you like, but create about your telf and your own people a stronghold of security."

F. ONCE A YEAR, say, you could look right into your husband's mind and see exactly what he is thinking of you, what would you see?

Certainly it would be a stunning shock.

You might see that for some years he has been saying to himself, "if she doesn't stop that whining poor talk, one of these days I'll walk out on her."

He might say, "Why does she al-ways have to knock my family in that delicate, pleasant way? Why does she always sneak in some little dig at mother, and remind me that Sally's first husband divorced her? Sally's happy now, and mother's always kind to us. It gets me all nettles to have my wife always-al-ways-always finding some mean little thing to say about them."

Or it might be, "All right, go on running up big bills, go on complaining that you can't have what other omen have, and I'll break down someday and tell you just how sweet and comforting and companionable my little office sweetheart is." Unfortunately, since we can't look year after year, sometimes, hurting each other, in little ways or big ways. You hate to tell your husband where he fails you, it hurts his feelings so deeply, it hurts his pride. He hesitates to tell you where you fail him; he wants to, he means to, but the right moment never comes, and so time goes by, and he grows set in his annoying little habits, and you grow set in yours.

Find Out What's Wrong.

It is a wise woman who determines to discover these defects for herself. Only a very stupid one refuses to admit that she has her faults, her irritating ways, her tiresome limitations. Once admitting that in some way you fail your family and your friends, that there is something disagreeable that they all agree upon when they dissect your character, the next thing is to find out what it is.

Always being late with everything? Always talking poor? ways meeting him with the worst of the day's news? Always wishing things were different? Always in debt? Always critical of his family? What is it that those who love you, wish to goodness you would change? The reason I write of this universal situation is because so many homes are trembling now on the brink of trouble. More than ever before in our national history people are nervous, some without cause, some with cause. Men have come back from the war shattered in spirit; strikes are hard on striker and employer; business, housing, buying conditions are not normal and not apt to become normal for some time. Constant reminders of the cold and starvation overseas make our hearts heavy and our own security seem something of which to be almost ashamed.

This bad time can be and will be weathered, but not without a denand for new heroism upon every

HAVEN OF HAPPINESS

There are many small causes of friction even in the happiest families. It may be that the wife nags and whines. She may be dull and lifeless, even if she fulfills all her duties faithfully. Some women are extravagant and demanding. Others are always comparing their state with someone's else.

Many husbands seldom or never mention these wifely traits that so annoy them. They try to go along, realizing that their own faults may be pretty hard to endure too. If every wife could look into her husband's mind once a year, says Miss Norris, she probably would be surprised and startled at what she would dis-

During these trying posturar cears, when nerves are still tense, little irritations grow into serious quarrels. The divorce courts are full of husbands and wives who got on each other's nerves. It is every wife's duty, counsels Miss Norris, to try to make her home as pleasant as she can. It should be a little haven of happiness in a distraught world.

wife and homemaker and mother. It is upon us women that the heaviest responsibility falls, and in our hands lies the cure. We must stop hoping for men to change, conditions to change, costs to go down, paychecks to go up, and determine to change just one thing, ourselves. Change from nagging to pleasantness, from debt to solvency, from disagreeable criticism and sulky silences to that amiable, co.fident equanimity, that is the very essence of peace at home.

Stronghold of Security.

Make home heaven. Make it simpler, smaller, if you like, move it to less expensive quarters, cut out many of the things that you feel today you cannot do without, but create about yourself and your own people a stronghold of security, and egin the process by asking yourself just what, if you had a chance from the outside, you would want changed.

These are no days in which to be coldly reasonable, and expect reasonableness from others. These are days of desperate crisis; we are living through a time of psycopathic strain that already has broken us down into thousands of neurotics, thousands of cases of mental collapse. Not all of these are in our base hospitals; many of them are at family breakfast-tables, or selling things in shops, or, teaching our children in schools. The old world cannot suffer the fevers that have racked her for five years without having to face a long convalescence. So take hold of your own problem and reduce it not only to safety and sanity, but to happiness and harmony as well. There may have to be many changes. But make the first one in yourself.

Aluminum Wear

Heavy "cast" aluminum vessels are made by pouring the molten metal into castings or forms. "Stamped" aluminumware is stamped from sheets of the metal and then pressed into shape. It comes in three grades-light, medium and heavy.

The heavier the aluminum, the more durable the utensil. But, too, heavy aluminum wastes fuel. Thin, lightweight aluminum is less ex-pensive and lighter to handle, but it also dents and bends more easily.

Dick was puzzled and mystified. He shook his head finally. "I don't know what you're talking about. If there's any treasure on the schoon-er, I don't know of it."

Tucu was unconvinced. "Y'lay there an' think about it. Mebbe y'll remember, or we'll find it."

When he walked away in the gloom, Dick had ample opportunity to reflect. There came to his mind a vague remembrance that in his crazy chatter Captain Bedford had made reference to a prize-a treasure-he had found.

If Tucu believed there was any treasure hidden on the schooner, he would search for it, spend days overhauling every part of the craft. This would cause further delay, and time was precious. Any hour or day a ship might cross their path, and he might not be able to signal for

He concluded finally to favor the idea that there was something of value aboard, and that Captain Bedford had hidden it. By pretending that he and Rose knew of its existence, but couldn't locate it, they would gain time. With two treasures dangled before Tucu's eyes there was a possibility of eventually finding a way out of their troubles.

When Tucu appeared a few hours later, with the first streaks of dawn breaking in the east, Dick's mind was made up. He met the eyes of the old renegade with a look of com-

Dick smiled. "That was before thought you knew," he replied. didn't want you to know of it. I thought I could get away with it. That's why I didn't want you to board the schooner."

"Y'wanted to get the treasure an' the girl?"

"Wasn't any harm in that, was there?" laughed Dick. "You'd do as much if you had the chance." "Reckon I got 'em," leered the

"All right!"-shrugging his shoulders. "Don't believe me. Ask her!" The half-breed surveyed him quietly a moment, and then became convinced nothing was to be gained by stubbornness.

Threat of a Storm Forces Tucu's Hand

"If she don't know where it is, who does?" he demanded surlily. "Captain Bedford, of course. He hid it in one of his crazy moments. His daughter knew where it was before that, but now she doesn't know any more than you do. Her father's so crazy we couldn't get the secret from him. We were trying hard when you came aboard. If we found it we intended to escape in the small boat, and leave the schooner to you.

"Y'ain't lyin' to me ag'in!" ejac-ulated Tucu, eyeing his prisoner

"When did I lie to you before?" The other growled savagely, and made no reply. After a while, he asked: "What's this new deal y'had in mind? Spit it out."

"I wanted your word you wouldn't hurt Captain Bedford's daughter," replied Dick slowly. "If you promise not to harm her, we'll help you search for the treasure. If you find it we'll let you take it, if you leave the schooner to us. You don't want that. She's no good, and wouldn't Tucu studied the leaden skies. There may be another storm, an there may be only a little squall," he said. "I ain't sayin' which." "No, but you know which it is," smiled Dick. "It's a storm."

Tucu glanced uneasily around at the horizon again.

"Y'can't help any in searchin' the schooner," he decided finally. "But y'can lie here an' watch us." "Then you don't agree to a new

"If we find the treasure you an the girl can have the schooner," was the grinning retort. "Mebbe y'can ride out the storm an' to land. I'll leave y'on it.'

"The girl and the schooner," leered the other.

"And if the schooner goes down in the storm I lose both.

'No, y'can swim fur it. Two on a raft's more comfortable than one. an' that's the way y'was when we picked y'up."

Dick nodded. He had gained his point. Nothing would happen to him or Rose while they searched the nooner for the mythical treasure. In the meantime, almost anything might happen-a ship appear of a

"We'll call 'it a deal," he said finally.

His ready compliance awakened the other's suspicion.

"Y' got to help us in one way." he added. "You an' that girl's got to help us." "How can we?"

"By wheedlin' it out of the cap-Mebbe he'll listen to his daughter."

"I don't know about that; but I'll promise to do what I can. Let me see her."

Tucu was still suspicious, but as there was no other way he finally decided to grant this request.

The sun was rising in the east when Dick was led by two of the Caribs to the captain's cabin. His entrance into the cabin brought a little exclamation of delight from a dark corner. Rose Bedford came forward to greet him. "Oh, they didn't kill you!" she exclaimed eagerly. "I was afraid they "No, I got a knock on the head, but it didn't amount to much." He glanced around him. The cabin was empty except for his two captors and a third Carib on watch at the entrance. Tucu hadn't followed them. Dick took advantage of the opportunity to explain the situation to her. The Caribs didn't understand English. "Rose," he said eagerly, "Tucu believes your father's got some sort of a treasure aboard the schooner. and he's after it. I told him I'd

Instead of meeting him with glad eyes, her face darkened. Dick had an uncomfortable feeling that she was searching him with eyes of "I promised," he went on eager-

"that we would help him search for the treasure." "You promised that?" she repeated, slowly in a cold voice.

Rose Is Angered at Dick's Agreement

"Yes, to gain time," he contin-ed. "While he's looking for the treasure we may plan some way of escape. Tucu won't leave until he's searched every part of the schoon-er, and that will take a day or two."

She was quiet a moment, her eyes vaguely restless and uncer-tain. Dick had the impression that she was worried.

"Why does Captain Tucu think there's any treasure on the schooner?" she asked slowly.

Dick chuckled. "From the ravings of your father. He heard him chatter about the prize he'd picked

"And do you think there's any?" she added.

Dick was on the point of answering negatively when a queer expression in her eyes arrested him. glanced soberly at her, and then in-stead of putting in a denial he countered with the question: 'Do you? Is there any treasure on board?" remained noncommittal, glancing from him to the two stalwart Caribs, whose sleepy eyes indicated no interest in the conversation. Dick became suddenly dis-turbed in mind. If there was any particular sum of money or gold or anything else of special value, he had not improved matters by telling Captain Tucu he would help him in the search for it. In fact, he felt that he had complicated the situation. From the accusing eyes of the girl, he began to feel guilty of having betrayed a secret.

"I didn't know there was any-thing, Rose," he said penitently. "I supposed your father's chatter was all moonshine. I'm sorry if I've-

Searchers for Lost Mine Meet Tragic Deaths

OKLAHOMA CITY .- A barrel of liver, apparently loot from a Texas bank robbery in which the late Matt Kimes led his gang last fall, was

Mrs. Lowther called the FBI. D. A. Brice, special agent charge of the Oklahoma City FBI office, said steps would be taken to return the money-nickels, dimes, quarters and half dollars-to its owners. But the agents planned first to count the silver. At the time of the robbery last fall, the total loot was set at $19,883, of which $1,553 was in coin. Besides Melton, one other man, Alvin ("Chick") Rogers is in prison for the robbery.

Kimes died at a Little Rock, Ark., hospital after being run down by an automobile while he was the object of a nation-wide hunt. He led the Morton bank robbery while at liberty from the Oklahoma state peni-

Vicious of Aves Class ST. LOUIS .- Not the eagle nor the hawk, but the hummingbird is the most vicious of all the feathered folk. This mite of a bird, weighing less than an ounce, is the most destructive to members of its own species, according to August P. Abendroth, superintendent of birds at the St. Louis zoo. in death battles for supremacy at feeding grounds. Abendroth explained. They don't quit until one of them is killed. They are amazing creatures, noted for their speed in flights, which average 250 miles per hour. Six hundred wing beats a minute 10 per second-make them a hazy blur in the air. The tremendous amount of energy burned in flight makes it necessary for the bird to eat four times its weight in food daily. They feed almost every five minutes.

Abendroth pointed out that the wild hummingbirds feed on the nectar of certain plants. They guard these areas where these plants are located with protective flerceness. In captivity, where there is plenty of food for every bird, the instinct to maintain "spheres of influence" remains.

MAJOR UNDERTAKING-As highlight of its year's activities the Youth Council of Richfield Springs, N. Y., annually stages an I Am an American program. The above picture shows members of the high school orchestra and a vocalist participating in the program.

IN THESE UNITED STATES

Youth Council Sets Pace In Developing N.Y. Town

By E. L. KIRKPATRICK WNU Features

A town with a past can live in the present and look to the future, say young people of Richfield Springs, upstate New York center with 1,200 population. This is the consensus of the town's Youth council, started more than three years ago from a panel discussion on "Young People's Present Day Problems.

Some of the charter members as well as their followers were out-ofschool young people. On the present membership list are the names of beautician, bookkeeper, clerk, farmer, housewife, laboratory technician, machinist, secretary, school custodian, telephone operator, stenographer, and typesetter, so "everybody gets in and pitches or helps play the field. Each works where he fits and is most needed."

Stage Annual Program.

Chief activity is I Am an American Day program staged annually under the council's direction. Use is made of school band and chorus, American Legion, church groups, town board and boys' and girls' clubs. Highlights of this year's program were demonstrations by Cub, Boy and Girl Scouts, remarks by a new voter and an address by one of the town's ministers.

This youth group tackles other things as the months come and go. They "dig a bit into the annals of history" for indication of what's happened to Richfield Springs. which in the Gay Nineties was New York State's most popular spa because of the healing powers of its sulphur spring waters. "Then, we had hotels filled with visitors, livery stables of fine horses and all kinds of carriages that outshone most cars in today's modern garages," an old-timer recalls.

Varied Projects.

we do about what's left with us?" They consider how to clean and hometown and reported jubilantly make use of deserted hotels and other buildings, explore the needs and possibilities of local industries such as cannery and dairy.

Outstanding project is a fo rum to study the creation of good citizenship to world affairs. This reaches 150 youth and adults who meet weekly during the winter to formulate ques tions and work out unbiased answers to them.

Under direction of the council sponsor and the high school social science teacher it has quickened initiative, developed new viewbroadened horizons and brought needed co-operation in definite community projects. One of these was a community carnival, which was a financial success and a concrete demonstration of how folks can and will work together. Another was the realization of $1,000 through contributions and a comm nity dance for Christmas boxes and gifts to 200 hometown men and women in the service.

List Accomplishments.

To prove that other communities can "do as well as ours," Youth Council members explain that in their farming section of cash cropping, dairying and poultry raising, dairy manufacturing plant, two fishing tackle factories and a sports wear mill have been established as a result partially of their interest and agitation.

As war clouds lift, the council proposes to improve facilities for tourists at nearby Canadaraga lake, which offers boating, fishing and swimming in summer and skating

While we are planning for things ahead, we are doing more real living in the present with due respect to the past for cornerstones to build say Richfield Springs young

Spectacular Development of AAF Recalled at Anniversary

Developed from a three-man diviion without an airplane in 1907 into destructive force unparalleled in istory, army air forces celebrated its 39th anniversary August 1 with a new watchword, "Air Power Is

At its wartime peak in March, 1944, army air forces had grown to 2,383,000 officers and men, 64,591 planes, including 41,848 combat planes which flew 108,015,909 hours furing four years of war and dropped more than 2,000,000 tons of bombs in crushing the Axis war machine. But the big planes of World War II are on their way out of the air picture and the AAF rapidly is converting to jet-propelled aircraft to defend the security of

Guard Against War. "America's best insurance against a future war is an adequate alert air force," Commanding General Carl Spaatz said, in calling on the nearly 2,000,000 veterans of air actions all over the world and the 400,000 air force men to observe the anniversary occasion. Some interesting and little known facts about army air forces are Every airplane used in Europe prior to V-E Day was designed in this country before Pearl Harbor. From 1903 to 1940 the U. S. built only 40,000 planes but from 1940 through V-J Day, 295,000 were constructed. For every soldier in the air force, there was a civilian work-ing in an aircraft plant. First Bomb in 1911.

AAF planes consumed 10,000,000, 000 gallons of gasoline during the war. In all of 1944 not one aircraft was grounded for lack of fuel.

Total air power blitz of the AAF during the war included more than 2,000,000 tons of bombs and two atom bombs dropped and 459,750,000 bullets fired. First AAF bomb was heaved overboard by hand in 1911. It was an 18-pound "blockbuster."

The army's first airplane contracts specified that the flying machine had to be transportable on an army escort wagon to be pulled by two or four mules. They would have a difficult task with the AAF's new super-heavy bomber, the B-36, which has a wingspan almost twice the distance flown by the Wright Brothers at Kittyhawk, N. C.

Expand Rapidly.
On August 28, 1939, three days before Germany set off World War II by invading Poland, the AAF was regularly using 69 bases. Fifty months later in January, 1944, it had 1,400 bases, of which 800 were overseas. Almost 20,000,000 tons of AAF supplies were sent out of the country during the war—enough to fill a warehouse 75 feet wide with the front door in Washington, D. C., and the back door in Philadelphia.

New AAF developments now permit test pilots to check jet planes safely. The plane is put through its paces while the pilot stays on the ground. The secret is remote control and television. The U. S. spent more money developing radar than was spent on the atom

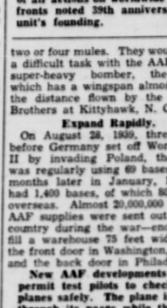

More than 42,000 WACs served in the AAF, 7,000 of whom were overseas in 21 different countries; 1,600 chaplains were on duty in the AAF at all times. Of the 282 Congression-al Medals of Honor awarded during the war, 34 were won by mem-bers of the AAF.

Compare Records.

The World War I air force had 35 pilots, 1,087 enlisted men, 55 training planes, 7 tactical squadrons -with a balloon school at Fort Omaha, Neb. Eight World War I aces are credited with downing 10 or more enemy planes or balloons; or more planes, no balloons.

First round-the-world trip by an army plane took 174 days in 1924. It took an air transport command plane 151 hours in 1945. It's a small world, with the men and planes of the army air forces a strong bulwark in making it a world of peace and guarding America's future.

ESUS AND THE SACREDNESS OF HUMAN LIFE

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 20:13; Matthew 5:21-24: 10:29-31; 18:10-14.

MEMORY SELECTION—But 1 say unto you. That whosoever is angry with his brother without a cause shall be in danger of the judgment.—Matthew 5:22.

Human life is sacred, and that is not primarily because of any law of man, but because God created man in his own likeness and image.

Since that is true, no man has any right to take the life of another for any cause except at the direct command of God. Only by the orderly process of law for the protection of society and in accordance with the Word of God may there be any such action by man toward

Both of these truths are declared in Scripture in God's covenant with Noah (Gen. 9:5, 6), which was made possibly a thousand years before the Ten Commandments were given to

I. The Prohibition of Murder (Exod. 20:13).

The word "kill" in this commandment is one which means a violent and unauthorized taking of life, and is therefore more properly translated "murder.

Not all killing is murder. A man may kill another entirely accidentalor he may be the duly constituted legal officer carrying out the law of the land in taking the life of one who has forfeited his right to live because he has slain another. There is also the right of self-defense, be it individual or collective as in war. But these are the only exceptions; let us not attempt to justify any other.

Murder is more prevalent than most of us suppose. In 1944 there was a murder every fifty minutes in our land.

Do not forget the deaths, the destruction of life, by avoidable auto-mobile accidents. Some of these were really murder because the one responsible drove with defective brakes, dangerous tires, or while he was intoxicated. Add to these the deaths in industry caused by failure to provide proper safe-guards or healthy working conditions, and by the exploitation of child labor, and we say that we should cry aloud, "Thou shalt do no murder.'

II. The Provocation to Murder (Matt. 5:21, 22).

Murder finds its provoking cause in the heart of man. Our Lord was concerned about correcting the desires rather than to apprehend the offender after the act had been committed. It is the better way, and the more effective one.

In this matter of murder, Jesus cut right through the outward aspects of the matter and pointed out that an angry hatred in the heart is the root of all murder. If we hate, we have murder in our hearts. Circumstances may hinder its fulfillment, but the danger is always there until we remove the cause.

May God help those of us who have strong feelings that we may not yield them to the devil in such anger against-our brother!

III. The Prevention of Murder (Matt. 5:23, 24; 10:29-31; 18:10-14). Prevention with God means more than putting up a barrier to try to keep men from killing one another. deals with the heart of man, when that is right the whole life will be right. There must be 1. A Right View of Self (Matt. 5: 23, 24). We must learn by prayer and humility of heart to suffer at the hands of others, to keep peace, to seek our brother's welfare.

Note that it is not even a question of how we may feel against our brother. If he has aught against us we are to do all we can to win him. We who believe in Christ are to be in deed as well as word the children of our heavenly Father (Matt. 5:45), loving not only those who are kind to us but also our enemies.

2. A Right View of God (Matt. 10:29-31). He who knows when a sparrow falls to the ground is concerned about the smallest detail of our lives. No man can lay hands of violence on another man without having to reckon with God about

Our God is not afar off and too concerned with eternal affairs to be interested in the sufferings of the individual. He is here now, and we should count him into every relationship of life.

3. A Right View of Man (Matt. 18:10-14). Even the little ones, apparently defenseless and at the mercy of a cruel world, have guardian angels who have access to the throne of God. He has a special interest in the lost and rejoices in the rescue of the one who has strayed, so we see that even those whom the world regards as weak and unimportant are in the mind of God for good. He watches over

The man who sees himself for what he is, end who realizes what God thinks of man, will find that he agrees with the command of 'Thou shalt not kill."

Eat With Relish If You Put Up Own Pickles, Chili

After you wash jars for canning. sterilize them by pouring hot water to fili, then empty water from them and set the jars inverted on a clean towel until ready to use.

Your family won't go without those tasty pickles, chili sauces and catsup if you put up your own supplies this sum mer and fall. We don't know what market condi-tions will be for these products during the next year, but if you have your own you won't be a slave to market condi-

Most canning budgets will permit putting up some relishes because as a general rule, they do not require too much in the way of sweetening. If these recipes prove too generous in quantity, cut them in halves or quarters and follow instructions.

I'm including old favorites in pickles and relishes which I'm sure will add much to your personal eating pleasure during the winter. It's easy to make pickles because they have enough vinegar and spices so that you will not have to worry too much about spoilage.

Now, let's get the jars ready and make plans for canning on the next fairly cool day that comes along. I know you'll want a good supply of these two favorite pickles for next winter:

Our wartime shortages of catsup and chili sauce have made many homemakers determined to have a plentiful supply of their own. Besides, what's better than the fragrance and superior taste of these home-made delicacies?

Sandpaper is useful in cleaning suede shoes. After a thorough brushing, go over them lightly with fine sandpaper, then follow with a cloth which has been moistened with vinegar.

Late fall is regarded as the best time to do house painting, for by then the long summer sun has removed all moisture from the wood.

To remove dust from wall paper, wipe with a soft wall brush or soft cloth. Hard rubbing will streak and roughen the paper.

Drab-looking flower pots can be brightened by going over them with ordinary wax crayons.

It is easier to iron dresses and blouses in this order; sleeves, back, front and collar. Heavy roof paint applied to inside of metal gutters will prevent rusting for a long time. To help restore the original lustre of gilt picture frames rub with a sponge moistened slightly with turpentine.

Tip on painting: Don't overload brush, dip it one-third its length, and keep the can about half full.

MRET MR. TOAD By The Old Timer

Now comes "Ike" Ledbetter with information that he has a pet toad down on his farm which may give his neighbor. Old Rip, the horned toad, quite a bit of competition.

Issac says that most any summer night when the lights are turned on out on his front poarch, a big toad glides out from the flowers beneath the eaves of his residence. As is gen erally known, the red ant also comes forth at nite following a hectic day. It seems that old Hop-Along Toad starts right in on those anta spearing them with his long ton-gue so quickly that it is almost imassible to see just how it is done The horned toad has some adv antages over the common toad in that ants do not always browse a-round at nite, which is about the only time toads take food.
