To the Voters of Dawson County

I have been too busy with the affairs of the office to see all of the voters of Dawson county and no doubt will not be able to see all of them before the primary, July 28th, but I desire that all consider this a special solicitation to vote for me for your next sheriff.

My record is an open book and I invite you to sift it through and through. If after you have studied my record as your sheriff and you think I have made you a good officer I want you to know I shall appreciate your support. If you want to continue my services and have the same sort of peace officer that you have had the past few years then I shall be glad to serve you again. No doubt, you will hear all sorts of campaign propaganda and maybe some untruths concerning me the next few weeks. I shall smile and go through the ordeal of taking such in the very best frame of mind that it is possible for me to do so. If any report gets so serious that my friends think it will hurt I want to make one request. Please come to me and I assure you that all reports will be tracked down, to their source. As a rule such reports act as boomerangs and amount to nothing.

I have two good men making the race against me, or rather I should say for the same office for which I am asking. What I shall say now is no reflection on them for they have good people who are supporting them. But I do know that the bootleggers, gamblers, thieves and whiskey ringers are fighting me. They are doing their best to defeat me and make a grand stand against law and order in this county.

I stand strictly for law enforcement in this county and against such cliques as would destroy our laws, women and children. I cannot help but resent to some extent the effort that is being made even in other counties by such people as described above to tell the people of Dawson elect. This is being done in order county who to elect and who not to that it will be easy for such law breakers to operate in and through Dawson county.

As long as I am your sheriff you can count on me and my deputies enforcing the law and in keeping our county as clean as possible. H. L. Hahn is deputy in the north end of the county, and will be glad to serve you at any time you need an officer quicker than I can be reached.

Work and vote for me on the grounds of protection for our citizenship and law and order as long as I am your sheriff.

Many Cooperate In Advertising

To the candidates for office in our county and in our district and our business men belongs much of the credit and praise for the widespread publicity campaign being conducted in behalf of the O'Donnell Tri-County Picnic next week, states the publicity committee.

When the proposal was first put before business men here, the question of getting the crowd was one of the first problems. Naturally, advertising costs money, and the finance committee was not overburdened with that commodity. But the publicity committee went into session, called upon business men and candidates, and they all responded in a magnificent manner.

The Index, as the medium chosen by the committee to broadcast the invitations to come to the picnic, wishes to publicly express appreciation to the candidates for the eager and wholehearted response to the plea for assistance. And we wish to call the attention of our readers to the number of political advertisements appearing in this Picnic-Political edition. Without them, our advertising campaign could not have been so successful as we believe it will be. Remember these folks when you cast your vote next Saturday.

And to the people of our community we commend the business men and merchants who have so loyally supported every move for this community event. Every move and every suggestion has been received enthusiastically, and the fine cooperation displayed in every way has been a revelation.

The publicity committee, individually and as a whole, extends their thanks for the hearty support accorded us in the advertising campaign, and we in our turn assure you that no effort nor thought has been spared to let everybody within the radius of a hundred miles, know that O'Donnell is having a picnic.

POULTRY SHOW TO HAVE NEW FEATURES TEXAS STATE FAIR

Dallas. Two new features will be found in the poultry department of the State Fair this year, it has been announced by Walter Burton, superintendent of the poultry section. These will be the capon show which will be staged by the Future Farmer division of the show, and a 16-day egg-laying contest open to any poultry raiser in the entire State.

The same rules which governed the club egg-laying contest in 1933, will govern the contest this year, it was announced. The egg-laying contest will officially open the day prior to opening day of the Fair, and will end on Saturday, October 20, so that the winners can be declared, the results tabulated, and the winning pens exhibited on the closing day of the 16 day exposition.

The capon show will be held under the direction of the Future Farmers of Texas, it has been announced by J. C. Dykes, of Texas A & M college. Birds of any breed will be accepted in the show. BAPTIST CHURCH

Last Sunday was a good day at our church, possibly the largest congregation we have had at all. We are having our services under the tabernacle where you can be cool and comfortable. Come and worship with us. You do not have to dress up, come in your shirt sleeves, overalls, or what you have. We are not so much interested in looks but we want the folks to hear God's message.

We appeal to our folks to be much in prayer for the revival now in progress at the Presbyterian church, Pray for the one soon to follow by the Methodist people and remember our meeting immediately following the Methodist meeting which closes on the second Sunday night in August.

We trust all the singers of the town and community will make their arrangements to attend. Let's praise the Lord in song. Remember services Sunday morning at the tabernacle.

Growing chickens and turkeys, much of the needed feed and food for flocks and family and depending on a variety of truck crops for cash is the way W. H. Nixon of the Henry Prairie community in Robertson county has weathered the gale of hard times. He tried an acre of cucumbers this year for the first time and the first picking paid all the expense of the crop except 10 cents.

A trench silo proved very profitable to H. F. Keist, Brooks county dairyman, because without it this feed would have been lost, due to the heavy rains last year. Mr. Keist has the only trench silo so far constructed in Brooks county, but a number of dairymen are so impressed by his savings that they will follow his example this summer.

Conserving moisture that is already in shrub beds is more important than watering them, says Mrs. Charles Galow, home demonstration club member of Shady Acres, in Harris county. A loosely, finely pulverized soil around the roots of the shrubs will not only hold the moisture but discourages the growth of weeds.

PUBLIC OPINION AND THE BANKS

By F. N. SHEPHERD
 Executive Manager
 American Bankers Association

WHILE banking today appears in a wholly distorted light in the eyes of some, the more reasoning elements in our population undoubtedly have a less jaundiced view than would appear from certain irresponsible orators, often posing as spokesmen for that indefinite quantity called "the mass" of our people.

Anti-social acts on the part of some bankers formerly have been the subject of spectacular exposures, but I can say without reservation that they were in no way typical of the acts and attitudes of the vast majority of their fellow bankers. The public mind was shocked into the belief that these untypical instances were far more representative than they really were, and this belief has been encouraged by political and demagogic elements.

The Bankers Today
 The bankers who are in charge of our banks today represent men who withstood the temptations and avoided the economic pitfalls of the great boom. If they had not they would not be there, or their banks would not have been able to survive the rack and ruin of the economic hurricane, by which even many banks and bankers, whose conduct was above reproach, have been destroyed. The other types of bankers, those that fell below the high standards of professional ethics and business prudence that characterized those that remain, have passed out of the picture. But they have left for those that remain a difficult heritage of suspicion and ill will.

How irrational this is, when we reflect that not more than three or four per cent of our entire population suffered personal loss because of what any banker did or neglected to do, whereas literally millions of bank depositors did not lose a single cent as a result of banking difficulties and really owe a vote of confidence and thanks to their own bankers who were true to the highest conceptions of their stewardship and brought their industry and their customers safely through the greatest business disaster the world has ever seen. It has been a peculiar feature of the psychological distortion of the times that many who owe nothing but gratitude to their bankers joined in blaming the banker far out of proportion with any rational consideration of the facts.

Be Careful of Food And Water On Vacation Trips

Austin, July 15.—Dr. John W. Brown, State Health Officer, warns those going on a vacation or picnic to be careful about their food and the water they drink if they want to avoid unpleasant after effects.

"As to foods," Dr. Brown said, "first, be sure that what you take is perfectly fresh. Second; take things that won't spoil. During the hot muggy weather that prevails at this time of the year, it is hard to keep any kind of food in good condition as every housekeeper knows. Rich, perishable food taken off the ice and carried around for several hours before using will spoil very quickly.

"It is better to avoid rich salads and indigestible combinations and to stick to the simpler things. Sandwiches—of which an infinite variety can be prepared—cake, the simpler the better—and plenty of fresh fruit, are usually safe and satisfying and should form the principal part of your menu. Whatever you take, don't overeat and don't indulge in all sorts of queer mixtures. If you do, the day after the picnic is not likely to be a pleasant one for you.

"And as a third precaution: Take your own drinking water unless you are sure that the water supply of the place where you are going to spend the day, is free of contamination. Thermos bottles, thermos Jugs, and fruit jars can all be pressed into service. It may be more trouble to carry water from home, but it is much safer than to drink water from a source that may be contaminated with disease germs, especially those of typhoid fever."

Hunting Stamp To Help Restore Water-Fowl in America

When hunters plank down a dollar for the new Federal hunting stamp at their nearest postoffice, they will receive no ordinary carrier of mucklage. Nearly twice the size of a special-delivery stamp, the hunting stamp shows a waterfowl scene which is the work of J. N. "Ding" Darling, who as a nationally known cartoonist long before he became chief, a few months ago, of the biological survey, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

"No one, however," says Mr. Darling, "is under any obligation to kill a duck just because he owns a Federal hunting stamp, nor is there any duty to prevent a man who wants to help restore the migratory waterfowl from purchasing several of these duck saving stamps. Every dollar will be devoted to the cause of conservation."

Authorized by the recent Congress and to be issued shortly by the Post office department, the new stamp will be on sale at post offices in all county seats, in all towns with populations of 2500 or more, and in certain waterfowl centers. The sale of stamps will provide funds to help conserve ducks and geese and other migratory waterfowl by the establishment of sanctuaries. Every year over 16 years of age who hunt migratory waterfowl is required to have Federal hunting stamp in his possession, affixed to the regular State hunting license or to a special certificate furnished by the postmaster if a hunting license is not required. The distinctive qualities of the stamp, it is believed, will also stimulate its sale among stamp collectors as well as sportsmen and conservationists. Over-shooting and the effects of the prolonged drought, the Biological Survey explains, have seriously decreased the supply of waterfowl. Drainage operations in past years have destroyed millions of acres of marsh and water areas formerly inhabited by waterfowl, fish, and other bearing animals. Much of the land so drained has turned out to be practically useless for farming or for any other purpose. The money received from the sale of the new hunting stamp will be used to remedy these mistakes of the past by restoring some of this wasted land to the country's wild life and to purchase other marsh lands not yet destroyed.

Not all the money for this restoration program, the Bureau points out will come from the pockets of the sportsmen, however, for the president, recognizing that wildlife, like the forests, is a valuable national resource, is planning to devote additional sums, to extending the sanctuary system.

The stamp sale will probably provide funds ranging between $600,000 and $1,000,000 annually, according to estimates by the Biological Survey.

Effort to Close Flood Gate Fails

Brownwood, July 14.—The surface of Lake Brownwood was slowly lowered tonight as efforts to shut down the flood gate, opened several days ago to allow relief water to flow to drought stricken rice fields 500 miles away, failed.

A plan to force the gate shut with jacks, tried late today, failed. The lake now contains 12,000 acre feet of water, 52,000 feet having flowed out.

The gate was opened to allow relief water to rush down the Colorado river to Wharton and Matagorda counties, where famished rice fields needed immediate attention.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Sanderson was the scene Sunday of a joyous family reunion, when children and grand-children gathered for a day's visiting. Commercial Failures Continue Low for June Austin, July 17.—Commercial failures in Texas continue low in comparison with last year, according to Dr. F. A. Buechel, statistician in the Bureau of Business Research at the University of Texas. During June there were 17 failures compared with 28 in June 1933, a decline of 39 per cent. During the first six months of the present year there were but 130 failures against 321 in the corresponding period last year, a drop of 60 per cent. There were, however, two more failures in June this year than in May, when the number was only fifteen.

Liabilities of the bankrupt firms totaled $194,000 in June, a decrease of 59 per cent from June last year; and aggregate liabilities for the year to date at $1,777,000 were 68 per cent less than for the first six months last year. Liabilities for June were, however, 37 per cent greater than in May, when they totaled $142,000.

EXAMINATIONS FOR TRUST INSTITUTIONS

New Move by Federal Banking Authorities Welcomed by Banks and Trust Companies, Says Bankers' Organization

FEDERAL examination of trust departments is the latest development in banking supervision and trust companies and banks operating trust departments are welcoming this development because it fills a long-felt want. It is stated by the Trust Division of the American Bankers Association. Despite the growing importance of American trust business in recent years examining officials have never given to trust departments the attention paid to commercial banking departments, this authority points out. Now the Federal Reserve System, in conjunction with the Comptroller of the Currency, has undertaken to bring the examination of trust departments up to the level of commercial bank examinations, it says.

Experts in trust work are being employed by the various Federal Reserve Banks. These experts will head the special staffs of trust examiners in the twelve Federal Reserve Districts. Special staffs are already at work in some of the Reserve Districts, including Boston, Atlanta, Richmond and Chicago. The Federal Reserve will examine the trust departments of state chartered members of the Reserve System.

Uniform Supervision. Meanwhile, the Comptroller of the Currency has built up over the past two years a staff of special examiners for the trust departments of national banks. All national banks are members of the Federal Reserve System. Since nearly all state-chartered trust institutions are members of the Reserve System the new plan will bring about what amounts to Federal examination for the trust business.

State examining authorities probably will follow Federal supervisory policies to a considerable extent. Hence, coordination of the procedure of the national banking system and the Federal Reserve System is expected to result in a uniform system of examinations for trust departments in all banks. This in turn would produce considerable standardization in the operation of trust departments, the division declares.

In recent years, Mr. Singleton explained, people have gotten into the habit of holding money orders for a long time or of using the facilities of the department as a bank. The department is planning to stop this practice.

With this fee plan, an order on which a 15 cent fee was charged, will have that amount deducted from the face, making the cost of the money order 30 cents.
