Things Few New Yorkers Know About New York:

New York isn't all stone and steel. Staten Island is dotted with small towns and fertile farm lands, by cracky . . . There are about 600 Indians in our burg . . . The Stock Exchange has its own medical dept. and tailor . . . Most odorable spot in town is Front street, where the city's supply of coffee is roasted . . . You can find almost anything in Manhattan, including a lighthouseat Fort Washington Point . . . New York's most expensive real estate is supposed to be Nassau street-as much as $825 a square foot has been shelled out for property there. . . . Meals in the city's hoosegows are planned by expert dieticians. No room service, however.

The tiny cemetery on Tenth street was the scene of our town's most macabre crime. The bones of a rich New Yorker, buried there, were once stolen and held for ransom. The remains were eventually recovered but the skeleton-nappers were never arrested . . . On Second avenue there is a 3, 9 and 19 cents store. Don't know the reason for the unusual prices . . . The stone fortifications that were used during the Revolutionary war can still be found near B'way and 190th street . . . Six different streets meet at Sheridan square . . . Oddest-named shop is the Chineseatery called Hang Far Low . . . The clock tower at the north end of Battery park sounds the signals for the watches kept on shipboard . . . Wall street is only about seven blocks long, but it's the financial heart of 48 States.

For some unknown reason, above 59th street several avenues suddenly change their names. Eighth avenue becomes Central Park West: Ninth avenue becomes Columbus avenue; Tenth avenue becomes Amsterdam avenue; and Eleventh avenue becomes West End avenue . . . No one need go hungry or homeless on the streets of New York. The Dept. of Welfare is ready to provide food and shelter for all unfortunates. Then how come there are so many panhandlers? . . . Haunted house legends have grown up around the ancient brownstone mansion that adjoins Woodlawn cemetery. No one has lived there for more than a century and it's completely furnished.

Five stories below street level subterranean vaults at the Federal Reserve Bank are barred by doors weighing as much as 90 tons. The best air raid shelter in town . . Juvenile delinquency isn't new. According to Police Dept. statistics, 50 per cent of the city's lawbreakers have always been under 25 years of age . . . Mayor LaGuardia has a tiger skin in his home to symbolize his victory over the Tammany tiger . . . Among the Weather bureau's unusual duties is collecting pollen to aid in the study of hay fever . . . Plenty of amusement spots in our town-over 700 legit theaters and movies.

You don't have to leave New York to enjoy natural scenery. The eye-filling sights along the Hudson are as beautiful as anything you'll find in any part of the world . . . A few New Yorkers who love to go to fires have private fire alarm boxes in their homes . . . Most popular part of the public library is its record booth where you can hear recordings gratis. You must make reservations two weeks in advance . . . For its post office in the RCA building, the gov't pays Radio City $1.00 a year rent . . . There is a deserted theatre under Carnegie Hall . . Swankiest elevators in town are at the New York Central edifice. Decorated with red Chinese lacquer and sky-blue ceiling . . . 50,000,000 pounds of food pour into New York every 24 hours.

Broadway is the city's oldest street. It was down early Broadway that a courier dashed shouting the news of the Battle of Lexington . . . More crimes have taken place on the Main Stem (between 47th and 49th streets) than in any other spot in town. No one knows exactly why. . There is a huge warehouse in Radio City's sub-basement . . . The opulent house at 73rd street and Riverside drive that resembles a castle was erected by Charles M. Schwab and cost two and a half million . . . A unique subway station is the one at 190th street. It's carved out of the side of a cliff . No trick is missed in an effort to improve radio programs. NBC's studios are coated with a special sound-insulating glue . . . Inside the Brooklyn Bridge abutments are large catacombs. A department store used to cache its liquor there.

Exotic East Indian merchants can be found on lower Fifth avenue. They sell "priceless" gems. One merchant is named Mohammed Ali . . . The Bowery Diamond market is one of the burg's picturesque sights. Diamonds worth millions are bought and sold on the sidewalk in the midst of the poverty-stricken sector . . . George Washington's love for the drama helped make New York a theatrical center. When he lived in the Big Town, Gen. Washington rarely missed a first

Make Drink Out Of Sea Water

Scientists Create Marvels That Save Many Lives, Dr. Ivy Reports.

CHICAGO. - Development of a chemical to remove salt from sea water, thus making it potable, and perfection of a method of canning fresh water for use as long as two years later are among the most important scientific developments of the war, Dr. Andrew C. Ivy, Northwestern university president of physiology, told the university's associates at a luncheon here.

Dr. Ivy also described for the business and civic leaders who give their support to the school the development of a ration which helps conserve water in the bodies of shipwrecked men, a new protective cream that prevents bomb flash burns, a ventilated mask for welders that protects their lungs against fumes, and progress made in the study of "bends," from which aviators and divers suffer.

Awarded Two Gold Medals.

Dr. Ivy, who joined the Northwestern staff in 1925 and received two gold medals from the American Medical association for scientific investigation, was named civilian director of the Naval Medical Research institute at Bethesda, Md., in October, 1942. He continues to be a consultant to the navy and war departments.

One of the first problems of the navy institute, Dr. Ivy said, was development of a can in which water could be kept aboard life rafts for long periods. In cooperation with two Chicago manufacturers, such a can was perfected and manufactured for use of fliers shot down at sea and those cast adrift from sunken ships. Because canned water could not be carried in quantity aboard rubber life rafts, the institute started working on a chemical to remove salt from sea water and now has a kit no larger than a pint can that will produce three gallons of water. Drink Treated Water.

"Although salt could be removed from sea water successfully," Dr. Ivy said, "there was a popular belief that sea water also contained a poison. To overcome this belief, members of the research staff drank chemically treated sea water for

"One laboratory worker drank it too fast and became ill. I drank it slowly and on the third day experienced a tremendous stimulation because of body dehydration, but we proved there was nothing wrong with sea water from which the salt had been removed."

Butterscotch candy, Dr. Ivy explained, has been found to be the best possible ration for men adrift at sea. Fat in the candy is burned in the body and helps to produce more water than the volume of the fat consumed.

The navy found sailors were being burned by the heat wave that fol-This heat wave, which reached a temperature of about 4,350 degrees, was instantaneous and of immeasurable duration. A cream was developed that prevents burns. To this a mosquito repellent has been added, which also protects men in tropical

Dogs' Feud Noisy Factor On Trip of Gripsholm

Nukie, a cocker spaniel belonging to Douglas C. MacArthur, nephew of the general and a secretary at the Vichy embassy, took a deep dislike to Purzel, a mixture of dachshund and sealyham belonging to J. Most of the din was raised by the other dogs-there were 16 in all aboard. They had survived the rigors of internment and German rations of two dog biscuits a week, plus endless amounts of potatoes.

Things Begin to Pop As Obese Woman Stoops

ST. LOUIS, MO .- A soldier and a rather stout woman entered a crowded streetcar. The woman carried two live chickens under her arm.

One of the chickens got away. The woman chased it to the soldier's end of the car. She leaned over to pick it up and a button popped off her coat. The button hit the chicken on the head. The chicken was either startled or stunned.

"That's right, lady," said the sol-"If they can't catch them, shoot them."

Socialites Do Wash Well, Albeit Slowly

CHICAGO, ILL.-Short of help and with about 12,000 pounds of linen ready for the tubs, the Children's Memorial hospital sent out an SOS to its women's auxiliary board. A corps of socialites responded, went to work in the laundry room, and whipped the job in twice the time it takes professionals.

Honolulu World's Tattoo Center Now

Soldiers and Sallors Keep Skin Artists Busy.

HONOLULU. - The slender kid in navy whites made a wry face and shivered slightly as the electrical tattoo machine set up a raspy

"No worse'n goin' to the dentist," he grinned to a buddy waiting next in line.

The needle in the hands of a shy lad with brown eyes was tracing a multi-colored floral design on the sailor's right forearm. The letters in the center spelled out the legend, 'To My Dear Mother.'

In front of the small establishment stood 18 other young men - some in army khaki, the majority in navy whites. All were waiting patiently to have the young tattoo artist or one of his three assistants ply their skin art on chests, legs or arms-wherever they preferred.

This particular s dewalk establishment, known as "Miller's Tattooing Emporium," is operated by 25-year-old Eugene Miller, a dark-skinned native of Hawaii, who is the "world's greatest and youngest tat-too artist." A large sign above his modest shop says so.

It is one of Honolulu's eight tattooing parlors where 33 operators are making the electrical pain machines buzz a golden flow into their coffers.

Almost overright, Honolulu has gained the dubious title of the world's tattoo center. Conservative estimates place the annual "take" at more than $500,000, with an average of nearly $60,000 per establishment.

The scene at young Miller's shop was typical. The stream of customers is never-ending during daylight hours. The shops are always filled with waiting customers.

One estimate fixed the daily number of tattoo victims here at 300 to 500, who pay an average of $3. For small, simple designs the price may be as low as 50 cents. But it costs $20 to $25 to have a big, elaborate leg or chest job.

Britain's Rocket Gun Is Like July 4, but Lethal

A SOUTH COAST TOWN, ENG-LAND. - A demonstration of Britain's rocket gun revealed that it is a prewar Fourth of July skyrocket on a lethal scale.

General Sir Frederick Pile, commander in chief of the British antiaircraft command, said that the gun had tremendous possibilities as an offensive weapon against airplanes, although he doubted that it would displace the present standard anti-aircraft gun.

Pile revealed that the British began experimenting with the rocket gun in 1933, but that only in the last three months has it been employed in the United Kingdom on a large scale.

The projector of the gun has four long rails resembling organ pipes lows explosion of Japanese bombs. | balanced between two sheet iron frames. Each shell slides between two rails and is expelled by a press button.

Navigator and Radio Man Of Fortress Aid Rescue

A FLYING FORTRESS BASE IN BRITAIN.-A British rescue launch summoned by radio was waiting when the Flying Fortress Buccaneer was forced down in the North sea by a fuel shortage after the latest American attack on Berlin, and her 10 crew men stepped across as she settled, hardly wetting a foot.

The navigator, Lieut. Norman W. Bashant, 27, of Faust, N. Y., had figured out where the bomber was going to splash. The radio operator, Sergt. Abraham D. Toporofskyu. 21, of New York, flashed the signals for help. "Toporofskyu spared us the ordeal of spending hours in a light raft by the swell job he did of contacting ground stations," said the pilot, Lieut. Hershel A. McGuire, 23, of Hotchkiss, Colo.

Soldiers Dislike Movies Showing Glorified Heroes

WASHINGTON. - American soldiers on the fighting fronts don't like movies with glorified war heroes.

Maj. Gen. Frederick H. Osborn, director of the army's morale service division, so reported to the war department after a 30,000 mile tour of the Pacific war zones, where he inquired into the entertainment preferences of troops overseas.

The men, who see Hollywood's latest offerings on makeshift screens near the firing lines, like newsreels, comedies, musical pictures and in formational films.

Typhus Battle Is Won; Admit Yanks to Naples

NAPLES. - Allied doctors apparently have won the campaign against typhus - bearing lice and American troops have been readmitted to the city. Naples was off limits to Allied troops on leave for several months while a typhus epi-demic was threatened. An official announcement said marked improvement in the situation had allowed a lifting in part of the restriction.

Washington

Washington, D. C.

BIG VS. LITTLE FARMERS Forty years have elapsed between the big-business battles of Teddy Roosevelt and Cousin FDR, but one issue which plagued the former is also plaguing the latter and is now before congress. It is the question whether government irrigation, government water, and government reclamation shall benefit the big landowner or the small.

The issue is now one of the hottest fights both in California and in congress, where Secretary of the Interior Ickes has been called to testify on a rider which Congressmen Elliott and Carter of California have skilfully smuggled into the rivers and harbors bill-a rider permitting big landowners in California's central valley to benefit from government low-cost irrigation.

The question in Teddy Roosevelt's day was whether any farmer holding more than 160 acres should benefit from government irrigation. The issue arose when the land kings of the Far West wanted to develop their ranches and speculative holdings through irrigation at government expense:

The West was for it, but the East objected. Eastern states claimed they would be footing the tax bill and that Western irrigation would come out of their pockets. The West replied that the irrigation projects of that day would provide benefits for small Eastern farmers who migrated westward tomorrow.

After a terrific battle, Teddy Roosevelt won out. Congress ruled that government - irrigated land tracts must be limited to 160 acres. That law still stands. But Republican Congressman Carter of Oakland, Calif., and Democratic Congressman Elliott of Tulare, Calif., have ganged up to change it with a rider exempting the central valley irrigation project.

Their amendment, already passed by the house, would mean that big ranchers in the central valley could benefit from the new irrigation project no matter how extensive their holdings. Even more important, it would mean that a lot of new land, not extensively cultivated at present, would be subjected to cut-throat speculation.

Ickes for Small Farms.

Secretary of the Interior Ickes, who has supervised the expenditure of $150,000,000 on central valley irrigation, is determined that the benefits shall not go to land speculators and big ranchers, plus some of the big liquor companies which have bought up California wineries.

The issue, according to Secretary Ickes, is whether the U.S.A. is going to become a nation of large landowners hiring Okies and tenant farmers, or whether the nation will feature medium-sized farmers operating their own land.

NOTE-Business men in the central valley are split over the issue Many merchants believe that medium-sized farms rather than poorer farm labor make for better business in neighboring towns. The Fresno Chamber of Commerce calls 60 to 80 acres of figs an economic unit for a family, or 80 to 120 acres of alfalfa. The Chamber has sent out booklets urging settlers to take up small land tracts.

FOUR-Fs.

Despite all the army howls for 4-Fs to get into war plants, it remains a fact that physical examination in many plants is so stiff that they can't get in. In fact, the physical in some plants is stiffer than in the army.

Many a patriotic 4-F has worn out shoeleather making the rounds of war plants, only to find that he can't get in. A punctured ear-drum, for instance, is considered just as important in a war plant as in the army.

In recent weeks, belated steps have been taken to relax some of these physical restrictions, but much still remains to be done. So you can't blame a lot of the 4-F-ers if they aren't in war plants.

Another difficulty which the War Manpower commission might weil dig into is the fact that anyone can quit work in a vital war plant but, without a certificate of availability, cannot transfer to another war plant -at least, not until after a 60-day

In other words, you can step out of an aircraft factory or a synthetic rubber plant and go to work in a barber shop or at a bootblack stand, or just loaf at home. They are not essential industries. But if you want to switch to a munitions plant, you can't-without a certificate of availability (which you probably can't get), or without waiting the required cooling-off period of 60 days.

MERRY-GO-ROUND I Busy as he is, President Roosevelt will soon be called upon to settle the problem of whether a rail worker's vacation week is six days or seven. Railroad workers were granted a week's vacation as part of the wage compromise last year, but the railroad executives now contend that FDR meant the vacation should be six days, not seven. If the railroad workers get seven days, they can stay away Sunday, which is a holiday anyway, plus Monday, or an actual total of eight days.

Porch Suppers Furnish Tonic For Appetites

Serve the family quickly prepared cool drinks made with flavored powders. They're economical and can be made in a flash by any member of the family.

Save Used Fats!

Wise homemakers will plan porch suppers for warm evenings. Not only will the family enjoy the gay informality of the porch but the changing of mealtime locale just naturally will pep up lagging of appetites that warm weather brings.

Checked cloths in bright colors will carry out the simplicity of theme that is customary when you "rough it" on the porch, or if you have them, fringed cloths or bric-abrac edged ones will do fine.

Centerpieces of fruit from the orchard or big bowls of colorful vegetables will dress up the table. Fat candles in squatty glasses will add a homey touch to supper, and the family will love to linger over the table just chatting until the last candle burns low. All this promotes a nice social atmosphere which we call home, and that you'll agree is important!

Keep to the simple and sensible with food and try to have foods combined on one platter so there aren't too many trips to the kitchen. Meat | pour sauce over them. and vegetables can go on one platter, salad in a bowl, rolls in a basket and dessert on one plate, everyone dishing out for himself in "help yourself" style.

Barbecued chicken is an appetite bracer and so colorfully golden brown it will make an immediate bid for attention at the porch sup-saves time and fingers. Carrots peel easily if blanched in boiling water for two or three minutes.

To retain the red color of beets, always cook them with about two inches of their stem left on when boiling.

Old coffee percolators are excellent for cooking asparagus. Stand asparagus in percolator, add boiling water, adjust cover and cook. The tips steam beautifully while the stems are cooked to perfect tenderness. To wash spinach, use warm water rather than cold. It loosens the sand from the leaves.

Kathleen Norris Says:

Just What Are You Doing?

Bell Syndicate.-WNU Features.

"Nothing but soup, crackers and cookies, but how those tired men and women flock to the counter after work hours!"

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

WOMAN asked me the other day if the letters I Aquote in these columns are genuine letters. I could answer her truthfully that every one is a real true human problem, but that I generally shift about the exact details, change the locale, and substitute for the real names other names that aren't particularly identifiable, like Brown, Baker, Davis, Smith. In the fifteen years during which I have been answering letters in this weekly article, I have never betrayed a confidence or been accused of publicizing what was meant to be private informa-

So when today I quote the letters of several women you may be sure they are real, live American women who have handled the difficulties of war times, each in her own way. In every case, they are women who have discovered that the only cure for nerves and sleeplessness and bitter anxieties, in these days, is work, hard work, and plenty of it.

There is a job for every one of us now, and the only happy women in the world today are the women who are busy. Get absorbed in some helpful activity, get yourself so tired that a smooth bed, a reading light and a book look like heaven to you every night and you'll get through this crisis successfully. To be idle, reading the papers, listening to the radio, brooding over world-madness, is the shortest way to a breakdown.

Mrs. Brown Boards Children.

Well, then, here's Mrs. Brown of Kansas City, aged 29, with two young children. Mrs. Brown boards children at one dollar a day, keeps them overnight for two dollars a night. She has four regular little customers, whose mothers are war workers and find the comfortable Brown home and garden a miraculous help. They call for their children every afternoon. Other young mothers, who need a day in town, or a day weekly for the Red Cross, gladly avail themselves of the Brown nursery. Two little brothers have stayed day and night for a month; Mrs. Brown gets $65 per month each for this care.

Does she get tired? Oh, yes, too tired to do anything but drop into bed after small boots have been cleaned and small clothes laid out after dinner. And what does Mr. Brown think of it? He likes it. His salary hasn't gone up in the last years; other expenses have. It was Mr. Brown who recently said to his wife that her nursery activities had removed the last gnawing worry that he had, in making him feel that should anything happen to him-the spectre that haunts all husbands and fathers!-she could take care of the children.

Then there is Mrs. Davis of Oakland, Calif. Mrs. Davis' husband and both sons are away in the services: she meditated opening a boarding

Help in a Red Cross canteen

GET A JOB!

Get into some useful war work, Kathleen Norris advises all women who are alone because their husbands or sons are away in service. Even women who have a little spare time can do something useful—and at the same time occupy their minds, and calm their nerves.

There is no cure for war jitters like hard work-plenty of work. People who come home too tired to do anything but drop into bed don't worry much-they're too exhausted. Jobs are everywhere -not only in factories but in restaurants, hospitals, Red Cross canteens-even your own home!

One married woman with two children cares for two or more children of war workers. Another runs a "soup bar" near an airplane factory. Many women are making a tidy income serving in some useful way. The money can go into war bonds, or a savings account for the time when HE comes home.

house: changed her house instead into apartments. Living space is at a premium in that city and her oldfashioned 12-room house made seven fine flats, in one of which she lives. Soup Bar Makes Money

Another smart woman is Mrs. Baker of Houston Texas. Mrs. Baker lives near a big plane factory; she had opened a soup bar.

Nothing but soup, crackers and cookies, but how the tired men and women flock to the counter after work hours! She has "rush hours" of course, but also she has a steady trickle of customers from 10 o'clock in the morning until she closes the bar at nine at night. She has two girls helping her: serves two soups daily. One a cream vegetable soup, the other a regular meal, like Italian minestrone. Beans, peas, onions, noodles, macaroni, tomatoes, soup bones-everything goes into it. She charges 25 cents a service and free helpings are taken for granted. Not the least contribution to the safety and order of postwar America comes from these women who are proving their independence, who have struck out in simple, wellworn grooves to establish themselves financially. Perhaps the millions of magnificent nurses and Red Cross workers, the women who are giving their whole lives in the army or navy services, are showing a higher type of patriotism, because of a completer sacrifice. But there is many a man out on the battle fronts now who would be glad to receive a certain type of letter from the moping, self-pitying little woman he left at home. A letter saying that she has waked up and is busy and absorbed and that when he gets home there will be a neat little nest-egg ready for a celebration.

Eggs are Protein Food

Unrationed eggs are a source of one of the best protein foods and so take the place of meat. In addition, their present low cost makes them an excellent source of practically all the known vitamins except vitamin C and of several minerals needed in the daily meals.

Those who wish to buy eggs now at low prices can easily store 15 or 30 dozen or more in crocks or wooden tubs or metal pails, with the use of water glass. Such eggs will keep for many months.

CORP. JIMMY KELLER walked briskly over to Sergeant Dikes. Now was the time to ask him, and even if the answer was no, well, you couldn't get ruled off for trying. Maybe all those hash marks on the sergeant's left sleeve didn't mean that he was as tough as most of the boys thought.

Jimmy was twenty-two, and a corporal of just three weeks. His blue denims bagged at the knees. Sergeant Dikes' uniform fitted him like the bark on the bluegum trees of the hillside where the artillery detachment was located. His face was rugged and bleak.

"I've been thinking, Sergeant, that the boys would be happier and do better work if we fixed up the camp a little."

"As how?" The older man's gray eyes roved over the scattered pup tents, the neat piles of barrack bags, and back to Jimmy. "Looks regulation. What's the matter with Jimmy gulped. Maybe it was dumb after all. The boys had said that the Sergeant would now him down. But he would make the attempt anyway.

"What I mean is, the boys have about four free hours every day. If they want to read, they have to sit on the ground. We could make a table and a couple of benches; fix up a spot to pitch horseshoes.'

When the sergeant spoke, the words came from one side of his mouth. "Corporal, when I was your age I had ideas too. Sometimes they worked, but mostly they didn't. And when they didn't, it was just too bad. So all I can say is this, Me, I go by the book. If it says so in the book, I do it. And if it doesn't say so in the book, I don't do it. You asked me, and I'm telling you. I won't say yes, and I won't say no. That's all, Corporal."

"That's all, Corporal."

"What did the top say, Jimmy?

May we?" About fifteen were crowded around the corporal.

"He didn't say yes, and he didn't say no," said Jimmy wryly. "He didn't even say maybe." he added with a grin. "But if you fellows will help I'll go ahead."

"If the old man doesn't like it he'll break you back to private,' said Sam Johnson.

"Make it an order, Jimmy," brightly suggested somebody. "Then if the brass hats don't like it we'll be in the clear." Jimmy joined in the laugh that followed. "Let's go," said Sam Johnson.

"But remember, if there's a beef, you take it."

"I'll take it," said Jimmy. He looked at the chevrons on his sleeve. Six months to earn those two bits of cloth, and now he might lose them!

The material arrived the next day, The obliging landowner had driven his truck to the lumber yard and delivered it himself with eight large horseshoes, just the right size and weight to pitch. By sunset the rough table, two benches and four chairs were finished and placed Stakes had been driven and two horseshoe courts marked out.

At four p. m. two days later, most of the boys were off duty until seven. Three sat at the table writing letters. Sam Johnson and others were on the courts. All the chairs were occupied. Jimmy had just repacked his bag when he heard a challenge from the sentry at the camp entrance. Then the colonel's big gray car rolled past the guard, and stopped within ten feet of Jimmy.

The colonel walked toward the table. Sergeant Dikes followed at regulation distance, his face expressionless. After what seemed an hour to Jimmy the Colonel spoke. "Who is responsible for these, ah--shall we say improvements?"

Jimmy stepped forward one pace and saluted: "I am, sir."

The Colonel looked at the others. "Anyone else accountable?" No one answered. "Very well, Sergeant, take the corporal's name.' turned to Jimmy. "I like the right kind of enterprise in the men of my command. These conveniences meet with my approval. Corporal, you will be acting sergeant from now To Sergeant Dikes he said,

"Make a note of that, Sergeant." As Jimmy watched Dikes "make a note of it" he saw him close one eye. And what was intended for a smile played for a moment about Sergeant Dikes' lips.

Buck Private Thought It Time for Change of Status

Accompanied by a driver, an American major in a motor vehicle was stopped by the sentry on guard at a cross-roads.

"Who goes there?" "One American major, a one-ton truck of fertilizer, and one buck private."

They were allowed to proceed, but at every cross-roads they went through the same formula.

After a time the driver asked if they were likely to be stopped

"I guess so," replied the major,
"Well, major," said the private,
"the next time we are stopped would you mind giving me priority over the fertilizer?"

The Railroad

* To speed the settling of the West, our nation wanted railroads pushed across great unsettled areas to develop rich but distant regions and to bind the country together for military and other reasons.

In the 1850's and 1860's, to means age railroads to push their into the undeveloped territory, Congress granted the odd sections on each with certain "strings" attached, and these grants varied in depth up to several miles.

The even sections retained by the government were for the most part sold to settlers at a substantial increase in price.

The Land Grant policy was very helpful in getting the vailroads started in those early day BUT ...

Isn't it out of date today?

In return for their Land Grants, the railroads originally were required, and an still required to do so in respect of military and naval property and personnel, to haul government passengers, freight, and mail at rates far below those applicable to ordinary traffic.

Since the Land Grants were made, railroads have paid out in reduced rates on government traffic many times the amount they have received from these Land Grants.

In the case of the Santa Fe, here are the figures: In more than 80 years which have elapsed since the

SANTA FE SYSTEM LINES

ONE OF AMERICA'S RAILROADS-ALL UNITED FOR VICTORY

Land Grants were made, Santa Fe's net realization from these lands has been abaut $23,000,000. In 1943 alone, the government received from Santa Fe, in the form of rate reductions, approximately $40,000,000.

Many governmental agencies as well as private shipper groups are convinced that the time has arrived for the entire repeal of these burdensome Land Grant requirements.

Campaign Visit

Judge Alton B. Chapman, of Floydada, was here Saturday meeting the voters and campaigning for state senator from this district. Judge Chapman is the youngest district Judge in the state, and prior to holding this of fice he was district attorney, being elevated by the voters after having served as county attorney. He is an affable gentleman well informed and has a pleasing personality. His statement to the voters appears in another column. Judge Chapman will again visit this part of the district in order to contact as many voters as possible.

Reclaim That Brush

Good paint brushes being scarce these days, it behooves the housewife to clean up old ones and give them better care, declares the Home Editor of Capper's Farmer, Topeka, Kan., whose advice on household matters is read by 1,250,000 farm families. Fortunately commercial preparations are available. The powder forms are perhaps easiest to use, since they are mixed with hot water in needed quantities.

Slick Chicks Find Key to Smoothness

THE time for coaching on this business of etiquette is beforehand, like right now, according to Holly Miller, whose column "Some Coaching Please" in Capper's Farmer is a popular feature among 'teen age boys and girls and their parents as well.

"Observe any slick chick or Beau Brummel and you'll notice the smoothness isn't done with mirrors," she writes. "It's a safe bet they've been beating the etiquette books."

Take that oft-puzzling question of "Who Goes First?" when youngsters step out for a snack.
"When entering a restaurant, the girl follows the waiter to the table and is seated by him," advises this Capper's Farmer authority. "If all the waiters are hiding—that gives Joe a chance to lead the procession and to seat the damsel.

"Of course a smooth pigeon never tears into a room a good 20 feet in front of her striving-hard-to-keep-up escort. He pulls the chair and she sits down from the left on the front half. Then she ups-a-daisies slightly and good old Joe slides the chair under her."

"I didn't ask why, because I knew it must be something the censor would not let him tell me. So because the time was up, I just said good night. Without ever talking it over, we'd always made it our rule never to say goodby. That was too frightening. Always it was good night."

"I was worried, Margo," said Frank, "because I'd just got word from our Navy's PBY's on patrol that a new Jap invasion fleet was coming down Macassar Strait, apparently headed for Balikpapan on Borneo. It has a fair harbor and is the last base they would need before they took over Java. And I couldn't see how we were going to stop them.

"But next day Colonel Eubank gathered his Forts together and they took off at 3:30 in the morning, so that they would be out over Macassar Strait in time to make their bomb run just at dawn.

"They had to come down below the overcast to see the target, which was two converging lines of Jap ships, heavily escorted-one coming in from the northeast and one from

"But we're desperate, and so are "But we're desperate, and so are the Dutch. Their entire bomber force now consisted of eight old B-10's (a 1934 model Martin twinengine bomber), which were based at Balikpapan. These boys knew them pilots I knew, who had lost the planes and been left when we had to pull out of the Philippines. If the Japs were ever to be stopped, it had to be now, to give our reinforcements time to get in—if we were going to get any. So that afternoon they made their last desperate stab-damaging that Jap fleet of course, but not stopping it. And just as these Dutch bombers were gain. In addition to which, they'd coming in to land on Balikpapan Field, they were hit by carrier-You can imagine how a pilot based Zeros and every plane destroyed. Now the Dutch had nothing, and everything depended on our

"So the next day they put out from Malang to strike at the Japs would take a chance with them in Macassar, and if possible sink a carrier. But what happened on that mission should not be my story. For I wasn't there. Two of our Sky Queens died that day in battle and I didn't see it. It doesn't happen often. Plenty of them had come crippled. Others were home beached, like Shorty Wheless' plane. Many others have cracked up when fog shrouded the field. But we'd lost only five by enemy action, and rarely have the Japs seen one fall. Colin crashed through the overcast near Clark Field, so they didn't see him -they saw Adams, but not Major Robinson. Seldom do our own boys ever see the old Queens go down in battle. So you tell it," said Frank, and here he looked at Sergeant

Boone, the gunner.
"I saw it," said the Gunner, "and I can tell you how they die.

"It began like this. Nine of us had taken off from Malang to Macassar Strait to look for carriers. We had only started, we were about sixty miles off the coast, slowly to get any vacation, so I climbing—had reached 7,000 feet tight formation. We assumed that they were P-40's, but we weren't taking any chances, because there in any tight formation. We assumed that tight formation. We assumed that they were P-40's, but we weren't taking any chances, because there is seemed to be quite a gang of them—maybe some reinforcements had arwhen we noticed some fighters in a Florida. And then he said a curious, we relieved. It hadn't occurred to thing.

"'Darling,' he said, 'I'd better Japan and with a few strokes of a paintbrush make five white star points around it.

(Shortly after this incident, the army air force emblem was changed, and the red central disk removed.)

"We didn't dream of this, but still we watched what we were so sure were P-40's. They were flying along with us, about three thousand yards away, apparently paying no attention. We didn't suspect they were Japs, mapping out their attack.

"There was nothing about this maneuver which surprised us, for the Japs so far had always attacked us from the rear. Then they wheeled in for their nose-on attack, and too late we saw those Army Air Force stars on their fuselages had been crudely forged.

"They concentrated on our first three planes, and remember now that this first attack, which caught us completely off guard and far below our regular altitude, happened in only a few seconds. One Fortress they hit only in the motor. The next Fortress, they put an incendi-ary through the bomb-bay gas tank they must have known through subversive activities in Java that we didn't have leakproof ones yet in that model. This set off the oxygen system, and the whole Fortress flared in front of our eyes in a puff of flame and smoke. Out of this we could see two or three parachutes floating down. Maybe the men dangling from them were alive. More probably they had never pulled the rip cords themselves, but the explosion opened the chutes.

'I was working the top turret gun, and from here I could see exactly what was happening on the third Fortress-Captain Duke Duphrane's ship-which was just on our left, and very close. I saw it, and so did Sergeant Jim Worley, the bombardier, who was working the little .30-caliber nose gun, and had brought down three Zeros. We all saw some of it, but Worley and I saw most. "First, we saw Duphrane's plane shudder as the Jap tracers crashed into its cockpit and into its bomb bay. But she didn't go down yet. For a while she continued on with her chin up, like those pictures you see of Marie Antoinette or Mary Queen of Scots walking proudly toward the scaffold. And she didn't waver or flinch, even when we could see that dull-red flames from the bursted gasoline tanks of that bomb bay were sprouting out of her, from the cockpit clear back to the tail. "We surged just a little ahead of er nose, and from here we could see Duke Duphrane and his co-pilot both slumped over dead, their heads leaning against the shattered pane of the cockpit window. So it wasn't any man who was keeping her chin up. It was the Old Queen herself who wanted to die this way.

"We dropped back and came in a little closer-you had an awful feeling you wanted to help, and you couldn't - and we saw Sergeant Keightley, her radioman and rightwaist gunner, climb through his escape hatch and bail out, and his chute open. And then her left-waist gunner, doing the same on the other side. We saw her tail gunner bail out and his chute open-they found him four or five days later on an island.

"She was enveloped in red flames now from nose to tail, and through her windows we could see flames shimmer inside her cabin, and as her plates melted she began to sink in a steepening curve, and along the wake of that curve we were to count seven parachutes, like seven swirling dandelion seeds.

"But as yet she hadn't gone down much, and our own pilot, Captain Strother-a brave, skillful pilot (who was presently to die-and every man of his crew feels he gave his life to save ours)-was keeping abreast of her, so that with our guns we could keep the Japs away in her last moments, and give her men a chance to jump. "The last to leave her was Sergeant Leonard Coleman, her turret gunner-we could see him working his .50's, but now he left his turret. We saw him go by the side window, and he was struggling to put on his parachute-which he hadn't worn in that cramped top turret, for it would have interfered with his sighting and shooting-struggling to get his arms through it like a jacket among those licking flames. We saw him go back to the rear escape hatch, saw him drop through it with his clothes afire; saw him jerk the cord-he must have done it immediately, because by the time he had cleared the flaming tail by twenty feet, we saw his chute crack tight-open. But then, almost instantly, we saw that parachute begin to billow loosely like a silk scarf in the wind, because-Oh, God!-we saw something else. We saw the poor guy had had to jump without having time to buckle the belt strap of his parachute-the price he paid for staying in his turret for a few last shots at Zeros, protecting the others while they jumped. Maybe he figured he could hold the ends of the belt together with his hands. Maybe his hands were so burned he couldn't work the clasp.

BAD NEWS FROM THE RADIO WORLD

America has just had one of the we relieved. It hadn't occurred to us that you can take the red sun of years. Both the Democratic and Republican conventions are to be broadcast by TELEVISION!

> Not only will you be in a position to hear the candidates; you will see them, if you don't exercise excessive precautions.

We had been sort of hoping that, due to the war, there might even be trouble hearing the conventions this year. It was bad enough in the old days to read about the happenings at a national convention of politicians. Then came radio and we had to listen. And now science is to bring the gasbags right into the old homestead, halitosis and all. "Why?" demanded Elmer Twitchell when he heard the news. 'What's the novelty in seeing Dewey? Who is in the dark as to how Roosevelt looks? Is there anybody anywhere who regards a peek at Bricker, Stassen, Hannagan or Spangler as a treat?"

Elmer was quite hot about it. "All conventions are the same." he declared. "It would be just as much of a novelty if radio announced a decision to bring Uncle Tom's Cabin to you by television.

"It looks to me as if the television arrangements mean only one thing: they expect a lot of crooners and hillbilly singers to show up for the nominations this year."

"What do you think the effect will be on the run-of-the-mill type of convention candidate?" we asked Elmer.

"It will finish him off," declared Mr. Twitchell. "Good looks and personal charm and entertainment value will be the first essentials for winning the presidential nomination from now on."

"You can imagine the situation," he continued. "Let's assume Bricker gets out ahead by a few votes. Hedy Lamarr will be dragged in to speak for Dewey. That will put Dewey away out in front. Then maybe Stassen will toss in Nancy Carroll to speak for him. Taft may counter with Dogothy Lamour. Finally they'll have to compromise on some handsome guitar player with plenty of oomph.'

Elmer has an idea the convenman band, that there will be a quiz program on it, that the nominating speeches may be sung by glamour girls and that cash prizes will be offered to voters who can spell "franchise" correctly.

This Dog's OPA Spirit Saves Master $4.50

SPRINGFIELD, MASS. - OPA restrictions might be cutting dog rations. But Fido has real OPA spirit. After his master had purchased a new bedspring for $16.75, his dog crawled under it, sniffing. He came out with a tag in his mouth. It read: "OPA ceiling price for this bedspring is $12.25."

Woman Takes Jobs With Eye to Loot

Habitual Thief With Record Given Another Terra.

LONDON .- "In telling you how long you are to go away again, & is only like telling you to go home, because prison must indeed be home to you, and no amount of punishment seems to have the slightest effect."

With these words Justice Cassels, at Lewes, England, sent Maude Harrison, alias Kathleen Abbott, 50 years old, to penal servitude for three years, to be followed by five years' probation.

Miss Harrison, a tall, bespectacled woman, had pleaded guilty to stealing property belonging to women with whom she had stayed at Bexhill and Sidley, and also to being an habitual criminal. She asked for 45 outstanding offenses to be taken into consideration.

In the calendar she was described as a cook, and Superintendent Simmons said that during the last 281/2 years she had spent 25 years in custody, and twice previously she had been convicted of being an habitual criminal.

In all parts of the country, Miss Harrison had obtained situations as a domestic helper, and she had been employed at many well-known restaurants in London.

The superintendent added that she had confessed that she obtained those positions only for the purpose of robbing her employers.

When apprehended by the police at Bexhill, the woman was alleged to have said: "I have given you a good run for the last 14 months." During that period she had not done a stroke of work.

Mr. Harold Brown, defending, said his client had told him that he could not say anything in her favor.

Before she disappeared from public view for another eight years, the judge told her: "Your occupation is to prey on the public and you have often robbed people who could ill afford to lose their property."

Old Alibi Is Worn Out:

Sympathy Racket Fails

CHICAGO.-The day when a husband could come into court and get a sympathetic hearing on his plea that he couldn't find enough work to keep up his alimony payments has passed, Judge Robert J. Dunne said in Circuit court in Chicago when in two cases he ordered men to get to work immediately.

Joseph Patrovsky, 41 years old, a butcher, haled into court by his former wife, Anna, 28, for being $290 in arrears for support of his wife and daughter, Geraldine, seven, was ordered to find a job in 24 hours and pay $200 within two weeks. He also was told to quit drinking and go on a milk diet.

Joseph Shuman, 42, a printer, had a job that pays him only $78 a month, so Judge Dunne told him to get a better one. His wife, Jean, 36, a secretary, is suing for divorce and asking temporary support for herself and their son, Morton, nine. He was forbidden to visit handbooks and ordered to pay $7 a week.

W ELL, well, look who's here! Meet little daughter of the household posing right in the very foreground of the illustration. She wants to make sure that you take note of the cunning black pinafore she is wearing, for it's the "latest style" and she has come to tell you

It has been the fashion among our Latin-American neighbors to dress their youngsters in black cotton. We have borrowed the idea this year and now it's quite the fashion-correct thing for little American girls to be wearing black pinafores. However there is nothing somber about these modish black aprons for they are gaily bedecked with bright embroidery, and smartest of all, the new handpainted decor.

There's an idea for you! Handpainted design on black sateen! The story-book motifs that decorate the pinafore pictured are handpainted, which together with the pastel piping that finishes the edges all around makes a most lovely color effect. Not only is handpainting enhancing cottons for the little folks, in the adult fashion world it's blouses that flaunt flower motives done by hand with brush and color that are the big It is likewise on party and the "last word" is the handpainted bathing suit.

Cute as a button is the little lady centered above in the group. She is wearing a trim striped cotton frock decorated with ready-cut cotton cherry applique. These appliques come in their own packages with complete sewing instructions. It's grand to have a collection on hand.

for this form of ornamentation adds color and individuality to simple dresses. It's a question as to which is the prettiest, the new handpainted technique or these appliques, which offer endless possibilities in designful arrangement.

This year, styles for children have come definitely under the Mexican spell. Take note of the dainty dress of cotton muslin shown to the right. It has a band of Mexican-inspired embroidery around the skirt, which brings into the picture vivid color

There's just no end to the clever styling given to cottons nowadays. It does not matter how simple a frock or a pinafore, it is sure to take on a clever trimming accent of some sort. A white cotton jersey frock that has a drawstring neckline and waistline tied with yellow rib-bons takes on a wide border effect about the skirt hemline worked with an applique of yellow cutout flowers.

Mother-and-daughter fashions are important on the fashion program. They are showing in the shops such clever twosomes as the new black suspender dresses embroidered in hearts and flowers in red, white and green with long-sleeved dimity blouses. Necklines and wrists have lace-edged ruffles and drawstring closing.

Little tots look too cunning for words in the smart blouse-and-skir dresses. One type has a skirt of red and white checked gingham with a deep border effect worked in red cross-stitch done on the white checks. The blouse is of white sheer, smocked about neckline and sleeves, using red thread. Lots of gay rickrack is also being used to trim in clever ways.

Flower Technique

More flowers will be worn during dress. Note that the becoming neck-

Tremendous Demand For White Jewelry

If you want to make the most of your looks, the stunning white jewel-ry, which is the "last word" for summer, will do just that for you. Wear white jewelry to accent your colorful prints. Frost your black dresses and suits with white plastic costume jewelry. An all-white vogue is on the way for summer and white necklaces, earrings and bracelets with your white costume makes an ideal ensemble. In the collections of white jewelry, you'll find plastic necklaces of lacy flowers that are too flattering for words. These are often matched with ear bobs and bracelets. The craze for summer white is also reflected in corsage sprays with complementary earrings done in the new gardenia white, grape clusters being a favorite motif. White beads, white cordand-plastic combinations are everywhere in evidence in the nowso important displays of glamorous white jewelry.

Tiny Sailors Maintain

Their Style Prestige Speaking in terms of the little hat that still maintains its style prestige although it must now share honors with the enormous brims that are coming into favor, milliners declare that the tiny sailor, tilted jauntily over the front hair arrangement, is proving to be one of the most successful hats brought out this season. The little flower-covered sailors are gay flatterers indeed, and are always bewitchingly veiled, which makes them all the more alluring. Smart too, are the wee sailors covered with check or plaid taffeta especially when they are complemented with gloves made of the same check or plaid.

FIRESTONE traction bars are built into the tread of a farm tractor tire to serve just one purpose. That purpose is to give traction.

Because the traction bar is the source of pulling power of tractor tires, it is obvious that greater traction bar length gives greater traction. By the same token, a shortened traction bar design, such as the broken center, gives less traction.

Firestone Ground Grip Tractor Tires provide up to 215 extra inches of traction bar length per tractor at no extra cost. And the bars are joined in the center to form a powerful, triplebraced, leakproof traction unit.

That's why farmers prefer tires built by Firestone, the pioneer and pacemaker in putting the farm on rubber.
