FIFTH YEAR, NINTH ISSUE

O'DONNELL, TEXAS, FRIDAY, MAY 23, 1941

For the Best Interests of O'Donnell and Lynn County

New Softball Leagues Named

Play in the newly organized softball leagues here is expected to get under way here sometime next week, it was decided at a meeting last night when managers of the various teams met at the High school gymnasium.

Two leagues are to be in play, it has been decided. Six teams will comprise the men's league and three teams were allotted to girls'.

Team managers present last night
were to represent Arizona Chemical plant, Wells-OK, Harmo-Mesquite, Farmers, Kirkland's Cups, High School.

Schedules are to be drawn up for ten-day games, with a provision for a round-robin tournament at windup.

School Supt. S. F. Johnson, John Million and James Applewhite to be the league heads.

Two Firms Here Undergoing "Face-Lifting" Jobs

Repainting and general interior arrangement were being made this week by two firms.

The Lynn County Motor Company, the entire showroom floor has been repainted into checkered effect, in blue and white tint.

Whitsett's Drug store is undergoing a repainting of ceiling and walls.

Blankets Made by Lamm School Are Shipped

Three "blankets for Britain" made by the grammar school pupils prior to the closing of school, were shipped out this week, so reports Johnny Saleh, who wanted the Press to mention the fact if there was a blank space to be filled.

Mr. Miller was in Clovis, New Mexico, over the weekend visiting with his daughter, Mrs. S. L. Wilson.

Santa Fe Car Loadings Show Healthy Gain

The Santa Fe Railroad System
carloadings for the week ending May 10, 1941, were 21,048 compared with 18,044 for the same week in 1940. Received from connections were 7,437 compared with 5,628 for the same week in 1940. A total of 28,485 cars were moved compared with 23,672 for the same week in 1940. The Santa Fe handled a total of 27,911 cars during the preceding week of this year.

Tire Opportunity Presented Now In Current Sale

Anticipating the year's first new peak in tire buying, scheduling of the annual Spring sale has just been announced by John Earles, owner of the Highway Garage, local Goodyear dealer, who points out that the opportunity is timed to coincide with the beginning of what may be the country's biggest driving period in any year.

Present plan for sales' dates covers the period from May 21 to 31 during the ten days of which dealers nationally will feature the first-line
G-3 All-Weather tread tire offered on a special trade-in deal, as well as the All-American in five popular sizes, attractively priced for the sale.

Backed by a written guarantee,
these tires built with improved Supertwist cord have increased body strength, the G-3 in actual test having averaged 20 per cent longer tread wear than other first line tires tested.

With rubber prices steady for the time being at least, despite a crucial international situation, now would be a logical time for those who need tires during the Summer to make replacements on their cars, in the opinion of Mr. Earles, especially since prices are lowered in a period when buying should be increasing, because of a seasonal demand for new tires to provide safer motor car operation on crowded highways.

Purchaser of Seeley House Does Remodeling

Remodeling of the house formerly owned by Marvin Seeley, but purchased by L. D. Spradling of Brownfield, has undergone remodeling.
Ed Heibsen and Lee Simpson are handling the work.

Lynn Cases Are Reversed On Technicality

Because the Lynn County special judge who convened the grand jury had taken the old, rather than the new, oath of office, the Criminal Appeals Court last week nullified
the jury.

Under one of the indictments, L.
H. Enloe had been tried on a murder charge and sentenced to eight years in prison; in the other, D. E. Harris had been sentenced to one year in prison for driving while intoxicated.

The constitutional oath of office was changed by constitutional amendment to eliminate the archaic anti-dueling clause; but in making this elimination, the court pointed out last week, the Legislature
also made another important change:

The old oath of office pledged the officer to carry out his duties "agreeable to the constitution and laws of the United States and this state."

The new oath of office requires the officer to swear personal allegiance to the government of the United States and the state, by preserving, protecting and defending the constitutions and laws. Commenting, presiding Judge F. L.
Hawkins wrote:

"In this present day and time when subversive influence and activities which would destroy our governments and the principles upon which they are founded are abroad in this country, it is a matter of much concern and importance that our public officials should be required to swear their personal allegiance to and believe in the principles upon which our government is founded."

Blocker in Christoval

Mr. and Mrs. "Shack" Blocker and Bobbie Dan went to Christoval Sunday.

Mr. Blocker, local grocerman who has been ill for several weeks, hopes to be benefited by taking the baths
while in Christoval.

New Daughter

Mrs. T. B. Franklin, Jr., and her infant daughter were returned home
this week from a Lubbock hospital.

The baby who was born last Tuesday has been named Sheridan
Ray.

Mrs. J. B. Sheppard of Clovis,
New Mexico, is visiting her mother, Mrs. M. E. Pearce, and other relatives this week.

John Rochelle, who was in the cafe business here at one time, but is now in Lubbock, was in O'Donnell Sunday greeting friends.

Mrs. J. E. Garland and Mrs. Ola
Tinkler of Lamesa visited in the J.
Mack Noble home over the weekend.

Three Trainees Leave For Camp

To fill the call for three Lynn county men for training in the army, two whites and one Mexican answered the call today.

Robert Draper of Midway, order
No. 32, and Melvin D. Brookshire, Grassland, order No. 215, left here at 7:40 this, Friday, morning on a bus for Big Spring and thence to El Paso, where they will enter Fort Bliss.

The Mexican, Ramon Torres, order No. 219, had been transferred to Bexar county, and was to be inducted into the service at San Antonio.

Two Negroes who had volunteered to answer the call for one Negro from this county on Monday, May 19, whose names were published last week, Johnny Burt Williams, an under, and John D. Walker, order No. 465, failed to pass the physical examination. Howard Anderson order No. 29, who had been transferred from Lynn to Karnes county, was selected therefore to answer this call, and he was inducted from that county Monday.

The Board is now sending out questionnaires to the remainder of the registrants in this county. Up to Thursday morning 150 had been sent recently, up to and including order No. 752.

War Department Lowers Age Limit For Applicants

Since the lowering of the requirements for the enlistment in the Regular Army Air Corps, states Major Jessee, U. S. Army Recruiting Officer for this District, there have been many young men with only an 8th Grade education who have succeeded in passing the War Department Test and thus were acceptable for this branch of the Service.

Most of these young men chose for their assignment the 14th Pur-sult Group, March Field, California, although there are also vacancies at the Air Base Detachment, Fort Sill, Oklahoma, and for the Photo Group,
Lowry Field, Colorado. Applicants for the Photo Group must desire Photographic training.

The majority of the young men who enlisted this month have decided to take the Airplane Mechanics Course offered by the Air Corps Technical Schools and open to any enlisted man in the Air Corps. These young men are wise for they quickly realized the value that such training will be to them in later years in Air Transportation.

Applications for enlistment in the Regular Army Air Corps can be made at the nearest Army Recruiting Station where young men without a high school diploma will be given an opportunity to take the

Hurt By Tractor

Boyd Barnett, farmer near O'Donnell, was injured Saturday when his leg was caught in a moving tractor.

It was reported that two bones were broken and it will be several months before he will be able to use the injured leg.

Hunter Fells Rabbit, But Also Puts Hole in Toe!

W. E. Ball, employee of the Arizona Chemical plant, recently moved to the South Plains from an Eastern state—and has hankered to shoot rabbits. Big, fat rabbits preferred.

A rabbit was shot by Ball Saturday night—via the hunter's big toe!
Sitting in a car, door open, Ball spied the fast-running rabbit headed for the car. Out came the 410 gauge shotgun, aimed toward the ground. Shadows under the car darkened Ball's vision, but he could still see the rabbit—and so he promptly banged away!

The rabbit stopped, and went to kicking in the roadway, but Ball's toe felt peculiar—as though drops of rain had fallen on it. The hunter looked at his shoe from the top and he saw a hole. He raised his foot and saw a hole underneath. He pulled off his shoe and glimpsed that he had a hole in his toe.

The shot had gone through his toe and felled the rabbit.
Believe it or not.

Rainfall Here Totals 1.60

Skies were still overcast Thursday and more rain was indicated to bring the week's total precipitation to even higher figures than the 1.60 inches recorded on the government gauge by Ben Moore. Slight damage to crops has been the gist of most farm reports.

O'Donnell's downpour was perhaps among the lightest in the area over the fore part of the week.
Much higher totals were reported in various communities near here,
some going as high as three inches.
While exact accuracy of the various gauges in the county might be questioned to some extent, no one doubts that higher totals than those for O'Donnell were due to be recorded.

Some replanting is expected, but most of the farmers claim they can take the rain and not "fuss" about replanting.

Interesting data relative to rainfall fell here from May, 1940 to December, 1940 was received by Moore Thursday morning. These figures were submitted to the weather bureau department by Moore and contain only those months since the official gauge was established.

The report is as follows: May 1.33; June, 2.43; July, 0.19, August,
2.20; September, 0.12; October, 0.63;
November, 1.74; December, 0.13.

About 10 inches of moisture has fallen in this area this year, so Moore says.

O'Daniel Signs New Law For Legal Publishing

Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel affixed his signature to the new newspaper publications' law in Austin Wednesday. Both the House and Senate had passed the measure in reasonably quick order.

The new publications law is to regulate publications of legals, thereby causing widespread publicity of legals, many of which have heretofore been posted where only a few persons might see them.

Any newspaper which has failed to be published every week for a period of one year prior to the appearance of the legal is deemed not a proper medium for the printing of legals.

The law is very strict relative to any newspaper missing an issue.

Watch Your Kidneys!

Help Them Cleanse the Blood of Harmful Body Waste
Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as Nature intended—fail to remove impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery.

Symptoms may be nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of pep and strength. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wise. That's why Dr. Doan's Pills, Doan's have been winning new friends for more than forty years. They have a nation-wide reputation. Are recommended by grateful people the country over. Ask your neighbor!

VOLUNTEERS FOR MARINE CORPS REQUESTED
 A mobile recruiting unit of the U. S. Marines Corps will be stationed in Lubbock, Texas, on May 26, 27, and 28. The sergeant in charge of the recruiting party will make his headquarters at the Lubbock Post Office Building, and will furnish free physical examinations without obligation to all applicants. At this time there is urgent need for thousands of new Marines, and vacancies are wide open among all Marine activities, in both the Regular Marine Corps and the Volunteer Marine Corps Reserve. Reservists will be enlisted for same four year period as regulars, with the sole difference being that the Reservists are to be assigned to active duty only for the duration of the emergency, following which they will be demobilized and allowed to resume their former civil occupation. Men who have registered for Selective Service are eligible to apply for enlistment in any service of their choice, providing they have not yet received induction orders, and provided also that they meet all requirements for enlistment. Applicants should be white, unmarried citizens of the U. S., without dependents, healthy, of good moral character, between the ages of 18 and 30. They must be able to read and write well enough to readily understand written orders and instructions. M. S. Ragsdale, Sergeant, U. S. Marine Corps.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

By Edward C. Wayne

Reports of Hess Flight to England Fill News Columns and Radio Lanes; Convoys Plus Strikes Plus Priorities Equal Headaches in Defense Program

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.) (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

BOMBSHELL: Human Variety

The Rudolf Hess incident was the dropping of a bombshell into the moors of Scotland which went up with a louder explosion than any of the tons of TNT that Hitler's aviators had yet sent across the channel.

Imaginations ran riot—the house of commons was in a dither—more than 20 basic theories were advanced to explain why Hess fled Germany in an airplane and dropped to earth in a parachute, and with the interweaving and variations of these, one had several thousand stories to choose from.

To list the British theories and those of neutrals would be futile because they were not only limited by the imaginations of their creators. To list the German explanations also would be futile because they obviously were the propagandic outbursts of a government whose nose was temporarily out of joint.

Outside of this, all was speculation, all was guesswork, but the guessers, most of them being paid at so much a word, let themselves go and endless columns were printed.

Yet the story was not being "overplayed"—most thinking newspaper men being at a loss for earlier comparisons in journalistic history, which, one must recall, doesn't go far back when history is considered.

But outside of the type of story that history presented in the Middle Ages and during the days of Caesar and Hannibal, and Anthony and Cleopatra, and Cassius and Brutus, and Helen of Troy, Hess' flight was unique.

Most newspaper commentators were willing to call it the biggest story in centuries and let it go at that. They wagged their heads and said, "What if Cordell Hull were to fly to Germany, or what if it had been the other way over the channel and Anthony Eden had made the trip?"

This was enough to settle the point as to the magnitude of the news to their own satisfaction, anyway.

Basic explanation of the Hess incident, on the standpoint of logic,

PRIORITIES: And OPM

A new difficulty in the U. S. handling of defense work loomed when William S. Knudsen, motor official and head of OPM, seemed to take as a personal issue the question of taking priorities out of his hands and giving them to a special organization answerable only to the army and navy chiefs.

Knudsen was quoted as saying that he would quit if the plan went through. Thus the question of priorities lifted its head as a vital defense issue, further complicating the picture.

Priorities were becoming a very real issue in business, also, many manufacturers finding that this one question might easily keep them from success or failure in carrying out contracts. The right to a priority of delivery of machine tools might alone answer an entire question of manufacture.

Knudsen took the attitude that if the work of production management was his, that to remove from his hands a vital tool like the right to decide questions of priorities, would be to make his task impossible, and to rob him of his prime prerogative.

WILLIAM S. KNUDSEN He forced an issue.

It seemed likely that unless this question was ironed out swiftly to the liking of the Danish-born production expert, the government might be looking for a new man.

STRIKES:

Up-Grade Again

The labor trouble tempo in the United States defense industry was on the upward curve again, with a $30,000,000 order for Browning machine guns held up at the Colt factory at Hartford, Conn., and other old labor difficulties threatening to break out anew, including the coal strike.

Always rearing its head was the threatened General Motors strike, which would, if it occurred, affect millions of dollars in defense work and about 160,000 employees, and John L. Lewis said that if the coal contract with southern operators was not forthcoming soon, he would call the 400,000 coal miners out again.

This brought the strike news back onto the front pages with a bang, and Representative Thomas of New Jersey, a Republican, called for a roundup of Communists in labor groups, and to order them all arrested on treason charges. This was the most drastic step suggested thus far.

SHIPS:

Britain Bound

President Roosevelt assured the nation that the administration's objective of 2,000,000 tons of merchant shipping for Britain would be realized by mid-June.

This assurance carried with it the important promise that the bill permitting the President to take possession of foreign vessels idle in American ports was in the category of "sure things."

The senate and house engaged in a desultory effort to write into the bill amendments chief among which was the Tobey amendment forbidding the use of convoys.

The whole convoy issue, as indeed all other news of the war on this side of the water took a back seat during the news ascendancy of Rudolf Hess, but the issue was there, ready to rip itself out into the open at an appropriate moment, and to become the central point of a whole congressional debate on the President's general foreign policy.

The 2,000,000 tons of ships for Britain within a month came as the Nazis were claiming 10,000,000 tons of British ships sunk by U-boats since the start of the war, and with the British, while admitting losses of at least half that amount, generally showing the pinch sharply.

Further drastic reductions in the meat ration (and little is as dear to the Britisher as his beloved beef and mutton) were announced and the general trend of commons debate indicated that Britain was feeling the ship pinch tremendously.

$5,000,000 Fire Sweeps Philadelphia

Fire swept through three city blocks of the Port Richmond section of Philadelphia, taking property toll of approximately $5,000,000 in homes and factories. A wall of water stopped the fire just short of Cramps shipyards, where large naval construction contracts are under way. Photo shows firemen fighting the blaze.

Giant New Battleship Commissioned

The 35,000-ton super-dreadnaught, U. S. S. Washington, has now joined the United States navy. This view during the commissioning ceremonies shows part of the after-deck with crew members lined up under the great ship's 16-inch rifles.

Wartime Rules Invoked to Guard Capitol

Capitol police begin checking articles carried by visitors, for the first time since World War I days, when a time-bomb exploded in the senate reception room. Acting under orders from the capitol police board, fourteen officers are stopping all visitors at the seven entrances to the building, and relieve all sight-seers of bundles, cameras, umbrellas and other articles large enough to conceal a bomb.

Into Guard Room!

Lieut. Col. H. Smith, military aide to the President, averted new attacks on American Peace Mobilization pickets in front of White House by taking one soldier into custody, himself, giving him the "bum's rush" into the guard room.

In Hess's Shoes

From now on the office of chancellor head in Berlin will be under control of Hitler, although the present leader, Martin Bormann (above) will remain in office. This will fill gap created by flight of Rudolf Hess, No. 3 Nazi, to Scotland.

My Week by Eleanor Roosevelt

A Happy Family In Seattle on my daughter's birthday and we celebrated by having a completely family day. At breakfast she was given a few presents and then her two eldest children presented her with the nicest possible gift. With the aid of their music teacher, they had each made recordings wishing her a happy birthday and playing two complete pieces on the piano for her.

At noon, to everybody's joy, we went off on the boat for a picnic lunch. I was told with great enthusiasm, that the cooking would be done by the gentlemen of the family, who would give us fried egg sandwiches. They proved excellent and the sun shone and we had a marvelous time. We returned early enough to play a while with Johnny, so he would not be disappointed. Then we had a birthday dinner with the necessary cake and candles. Thus ended a happy day.

The evening before my son-in-law showed Miss Thompson and me some of the movies taken of the inauguration in January and at various times when we have been out here. They will be a wonderful record for the children when they are grown.

MILITARY AIRCRAFT

The next morning we went down to the Boeing Aircraft factory. This was my first view of four-motored bombers. They also make smaller two-motored military aircraft, but I did not see any of them finished. One order of bombers was just completed, and the machines on the floor were there for modernization.

That seems to be one trouble with building military aircraft when a war is going on. In actual use, weaknesses of design or of armament are discovered and inventors try to find new ways of correcting them. This means that machines that have been out for a year, or even less, have to return for drastic changes.

This is a tremendous plant, covering an area which seemed at least a mile long as we walked around it. I was interested to find some women sewing in one section. They still do it better than men.

I never leave my family in Seattle without real regret, but I had to go. This was a rather longer visit than usual and we did more things which were not purely part of a family reunion.

Before leaving, I went to see some of the National Youth administration work. Their resident project here is not as yet finished, but they have some defense training similar to that going on in various places. I had some difficulty getting clear in my mind the various types of training which I had seen. That which is being done under the Apprenticeship Council and in collaboration with the Edison Vocational School, is under the Smith-Hughes act and has nothing to do with defense training.

Defense training is being carried on in three other vocational high schools. As in other places, they must take 50 per cent of the people to be retrained from the WPA program. I was told there had been some difficulty here because so many of their WPA people never had a skill. The other 50 per cent in this defense training program are either employed and coming in for refresher courses, or young people from NYA who can qualify, or from some other qualified source.

WPA CUTS I think it is safe to say that cuts in WPA everywhere in the country are affecting adversely the married or single woman who is the breadwinner for her family. In many cases a really serious condition is being brought about. The whole question of WPA cuts should have some careful revision and consideration. People removed from WPA and who still cannot find work, go on relief, with an increased burden on the locality and a loss of self-respect to the individual.

In addition to this just now, I think there is on the part of many of the women a great sense of injustice. In the case of NYA, the quota everywhere continues to be filled, because all eligible young people were never on NYA in the past.

Now I want to talk to you for a little while on the subject which has long been on my mind, namely: the improvement in our schools of physical education, instruction and guidance in healthful living, a wider recreational use of school facilities and the development of school camps. All these purposes are gathered together in a bill sponsored by Mr. Pius L. Schwert, a member of congress from the Forty-second district from New York state.

He suggests the appropriation of certain sums of money to be distributed to the various states for these purposes. I hope that in New York state this summer there will be some camps for high school students under the guidance of the school system. I feel that the draft is proving to us that our young people are not receiving proper medical care or adequate diet for the best possible physical development and the schools can do much to improve the situation.

BROADENING CHRISTIAN HORIZONS: PETER'S VISION

LESSON TEXT—Acts 11:5-18. GOLDEN TEXT—Then Peter opened his mouth, and said, Of a truth I perceive that God is no respecter of persons.—Acts 10:34.

"The best argument for Christianity is a Christian" (Henry Drummond). Peter presented just such an argument when, early in the history of Christianity, there arose a difference of opinion regarding his ministry to a Gentile and his family. The stumbling stone of offense became a stepping stone to higher things, leading to the place of broader horizons. Peter, instead of appealing to his apostolic authority or asserting his position, simply related what God had done. He presented the best proof that God had actually been at work; namely, a redeemed soul.

We may learn from this lesson that the way to broadened horizons and greater usefulness for the church is by

I. A Vision of God's Plan (vv. 5-10).

All men are equally precious in God's sight. God taught Peter very effectively that, whether Gentile or Jew, the Lord is "not willing that any should perish, but that all should come to repentance" (II Pet. 3:9).

When God speaks we do well to give heed to His message, even though it cuts across our ideas and prejudices, as it often does. It is not our plan that is important; it is God's plan and purpose. As we walk in that way we shall have

II. An Experience of God's Power (vv. 11-15).

The Holy Spirit had fallen on the Gentiles and they actually had been saved. Is it not singular that in the early church they could hardly believe that a Gentile could be saved? Now we are astonished if a Jew is saved! Why will we in our unbelief limit the Holy One of Israel?

The all-powerful gospel of the grace of God is still saving men and women, Jews and Gentiles, from their sins. Have you seen it happen? It is a great inspiration to faith and service. God is ready so to encourage us—He is the same today as He was when He sent Peter to Cornelius. Are we willing to run His errands, proclaim His message? To do so we need

III. An Appreciation of God's Word (v. 16).

The best way to learn the meaning of God's Word is to use it, live it, obey it. "If any man will do his will, he shall know of the doctrine, whether it be of God" (John 7:17). Peter had learned anew that God's Word meant just what it said. We who are God's servants should believe His Word and act on it in faith.

Observe that Cornelius had gathered a group in his household to hear the Word of God (Acts 10:27, 33). Could we not do the same? "Can't each calculate with exactness some time and place where the gospel is to be preached, and is it not possible to bring thither one's relatives and friends? Secondly, when present in a place of worship, can't each be prepared to say, 'We are all here present—all, family and friends, mind as well as body; 'in the sight of God—not to be seen by others, not conscious so much of others as of the presence of God; 'to hear all things—not to be amused or to sleep; 'that have been commanded thee of the Lord—not to listen to human conjecture or the exploiting of doubts, but to receive a positive message which is delivered in a reverent spirit and with the prophetic formula: 'Thus saith the Lord.' What would happen were all Christian churches filled with such audiences?" (Charles R. Erdman).

This brings us to what is most important of all in broadening our spiritual horizons.

IV. An Understanding of God's Love (vv. 17, 18).

God's love is for all people. Since He has not raised any barriers of race, creed, color, class, or social position, it is not for His followers, and assuredly not for His servants, to set up hindering restrictions which He does not countenance. If God intended to save Gentiles, Peter wanted to be an instrument in His hand, not a hindrance in His way. One of the needs of our day is that those doing God's work should not withstand Him and His love. He who is the same yesterday, today, and forever, is ready to work as powerfully today as He did in the days of Peter and Paul, or of Finney and Moody. Let us give Him liberty to work in and through us, not as we may wish, but as He desires. Who are we that we should withstand God?

Goal of Life

Oh, yet we trust that, somehow, God will be the final goal of all. That nothing walks with aimless feet, That not one life shall be destroyed, Or cast as rubbish to the void, When God has made the pile complete.—Tennyson.

BREAD TRICKS APLENTY!

(See Recipes Below)

'BREAD 'N' BUTTER'

Those new loaves of white bread featured on grocery store counters and in bakeries everywhere these days look just like the loaves of white bread you have been buying for years. But they're different—they've been "vita-mineralized."

"How?" you ask. Through the use of enriched flour—a wheat flour which contains added vitamins and minerals.

It was the Bureau of Home Economics of the United States department of agriculture which suggested, when flour standards here were under discussion, that fortified flour should contain a specified amount of vitamin B1 and of iron, and that nicotinic acid, riboflavin and calcium should be added.

Because American dietaries lack chiefly B-vitamins and iron, the accent was placed here. The law is that each pound of Enriched Flour must contain at least 1.66 milligrams of thiamin (B1); 6.15 milligrams of nicotinic acid (pellagra-preventing vitamin); and 6.15 milligrams of iron.

So, now in addition to being the most versatile and economical energy-yielding food, bread also provides, in economical form, additional nutrients essential to health.

And, since bread is the one food that probably appears more often than any other on the family menu, I'm going to give you a variety of new and interesting uses for this "health food."

A good sharp knife, a loaf of good baker's bread and your imagination will do wonders in developing, in your own kitchen, delicious creations that make your menus full of new life and interest.

Bread Buttercups.

Remove the crusts from a loaf of uncut bread. Cut lengthwise slices from the loaf. Trim the slices so that they are about 1 1/2 inches wide and the ends pointed. Brush with an egg and milk mixture and arrange in baking cups. It is best to brush the tips with a little melted butter so that they will brown more readily. Bake the bread buttercups in a moderate oven until they are delicately browned.

Pinwheel Sandwiches.

Trim the crusts from a whole loaf of uncut bread; cut in lengthwise slices. Spread the slices with any desired spread of the creamy consistency. Roll the bread firmly the narrow way. Small stuffed olives, nut meats or hard cooked eggs make an attractive center for the roll. The rolls should be tightly wrapped in waxed paper and chilled in the refrigerator before slicing.

Croustades.

Trim crusts from two or three slices of bread, making even-size squares. Remove the centers from all but one slice. Dip in melted

It's Picnic Time

Has winter made you forget the wonderful, carefree afternoons spent along sparkling streams or in sunny meadows, munching hot dogs, dipping into baked beans and ice cream? It's time to plan Sunday excursions and be lazy by eating off paper plates, with paper forks. And next week Lynn Chambers will delve into picnic atmosphere. Watch for her recipes of good things to eat out-of-doors!

butter, and put together to form square cases for creamed food.

Bread Patty Cases.

Cut three rounds of sliced bread. Cut holes in two of them and place on the first slice. Brush with a mixture of egg and milk (1 egg slightly beaten plus 1/2 cup of milk) and bake in a moderate oven until brown.

Checkerboard Sandwiches.

Remove the crusts and spread the slices with soft butter, and any sandwich spread of paste consistency. Then, alternating the slices, make two stacks of three slices each—one with a whole wheat slice between two white slices and the other with a white slice between two whole wheat slices. Next, cut the two stacks into half-inch slices. Spread with soft butter and another flavor spread, and alternate them again, making stacks of three-layer slices each. Press the stacks together, wrap each in wax paper and place in icebox to harden the butter. When ready to serve, cut crosswise into thin slices to give the checkerboard effect.

Ribbon Sandwiches.

Remove the crusts from four slices of bread, two white and two whole wheat. Put them together with different fillings, wrap in waxed paper and chill. Cut down through the four layers in thin slices to form a ribbon sandwich.

Try these tricks very soon, won't you? You'll receive no end of compliments on your ability to prepare these tasty and attractive "bread delights." They are all pictured at the top of the column.

If you're weary of serving the usual type of sandwiches when you entertain, here are "fillers" that will bring such phrases as "May I have your recipe?" from fascinated guests.

Egg Filling.

4 hard cooked eggs
1/2 cup chopped cooked bacon or 1/2 cup stuffed olives
Few drops Worcestershire sauce
Cream or salad dressing
Chop eggs, add bacon and Worcestershire sauce. Add enough cream or dressing to give a spreading consistency.

Ripe Olive Filling.

Use one cup ripe olives, minced; one cup finely diced celery; 1/2 cup minced nut meats, and salad dressing to taste. Combine olives, celery and nutmeats and moisten with dressing, then spread on bread.

Sandwich Loaf.

Trim crusts from a sandwich loaf of bread and cut in four lengthwise slices. Spread each slice with softened butter. For the three different fillings necessary, use any good combinations of flavor and color, such as minced ham and pickle, a yellow cheese mixed with finely-chopped green pepper, chives, parsley or watercress, and chopped tomatoes and cucumbers, or a tuna or salmon mixture. Each of these fillings should be mixed with mayonnaise or softened butter so that it spreads easily. The loaf may be made several hours ahead of time if wrapped in waxed paper and kept in a cool place. Prior to serving, it is iced on top, sides and ends with cream cheese softened to spreading consistency with water, milk or mayonnaise. Garnish with slices of stuffed olive, sprigs of parsley or endive. For serving, cut in thick slices. This loaf will serve 10 to 12 persons.

Even Court Ruling Couldn't Make Absent Plaintiff Talk

"I understand that you called on the complainant. Is that so?" demanded a browbeating barrister of a man he was cross-examining. "Yes," replied the witness. "What did he say?" "Counsel for the other side objected that evidence as to a conversation was not admissible, and half an hour's argument ensued. Then the court retired to consider the point, announcing some time later that they deemed the question a proper one. "Well, what did the plaintiff say?" repeated the cross-examining attorney. "He wasn't at home, sir!" was the answer.

INSTALLMENT 5

Dusty King and Lew Gordon were joint owners of the vast King-Gordon range which stretched from Texas to Montana. When building up this string of ranches, they continually had to fight the unscrupulous Ben Thorpe. He rivaled King-Gordon in wealth.

CHAPTER VII

These men whom Roper now gathered about him hated a particular man, not only as lawless as themselves, but a man who was more than one man. Ben Thorpe was a thousand men; operating under Cleve Tanner in the south, and Walk Lasham in the north, his innumerable retainers filleted the plains from the Rio Grande to the Big Horn. That Roper's men hated Ben Thorpe was no coincidence; Roper had picked men of personal grudge. Most of them had first been outlawed because they had not suited a single organization—the organization of Ben Thorpe.

Up and down and across half of Texas, constantly in the saddle, Bill Roper threaded his new organization. Sometimes Dry Camp Pierce was with him; more often he traveled alone. These famous gunfighters and outlawed men whom Roper gathered were just youngsters, mostly. Some of them were true killers; some merely reckless kids who had got off on the wrong foot. All of them were badly wanted by what little law there was.

One night in early June, Dry Camp Pierce and Bill Roper sat in the back room of a saloon, deep in Texas.

"Look," Dry Camp Pierce said. "I've stole cows until I could pave my way to hell with their hides. But—I don't know—to steal cows for Dusty's kid—"

Bill Roper's teeth flashed clean in his grin. "Whose cows?"

"I've stole cows—"

"You're going to steal cows that belong to me, now."

"I'm half of King-Gordon, now split. I've taken, out of King-Gordon, seven camps without cows; now I'm claiming the cows that Thorpe took from Dusty King. And from some other men that we're going to lend a hand to, pretty soon."

Dry Camp Pierce—he was called that because he hated to camp too near to water—went to work for Bill Roper as he had never worked before; and thus the king of cow thieves, the brand changer extraordinary, for once aligned on the side of the law that was not.

Ten rustlers' camps hooked into Thorpe-Tanner territory. . . . But Dry Camp also helped in other ways.

A hot June dusk, five days after the meeting at Whipper Forks, found Bill Roper at the Dry Saddle Crossing, where he was to meet Lee Harnish; and this meeting, too, was arranged by Dry Camp Pierce, though by this time Pierce was already far away.

Here ran the broad, many-channeled river, dividing two countries—a river whose split wanderings made two miles of intermittent shallows. At this border of a vast, imperceptibly rolling prairie stood a narrow string of adobe shacks. That was the Dry Saddle Crossing.

Two men—Bill Roper and Lee Harnish—sat in front of one of those abandoned shacks, and tried to get together.

"I've always understood," Roper said, "that you were acquainted some, below the line."

Harnish's hard eyes studied Roper, and for a little while nothing could be heard except the mourning of doves in the willow scrub by the water. Next to Dry Camp Pierce, Lee Harnish was the oldest of those to join Roper; he was twenty-eight. He was tall and lank, sun-baked almost to the color of an Indian; his green eyes were curiously blank, impenetrable, and he liked to look his man in the eye with the peculiar fixity seen in the gaze of hawks.

"I've been down there some," he admitted. "I've made a few drives into Chihuahua; one drive to Mexico City."

"If you had a big wet herd run to you just below the line, would you know ho to get rid of it?"

"I can't make out your hand," Harnish said. "King-Gordon never swung the long rope yet, that I heard of."

"I'm not King-Gordon now. My stunt is to smash Cleve Tanner; and I don't care what it costs."

"What's wrong with backing him into a shoot-out, if that's what you want?"

"That comes later. If I bust Tanner I can bust Thorpe. But if Tanner is gunned before he's busted, Thorpe will take over in Texas, and the chance to break up his Texas layout will be gone."

"You ain't going to bust him by running off a few head of cattle. This river crossing is slow work, kid."

"I figure to cross five thousand head within the next three months," Roper told him.

"Five thousand head won't even scratch the hide of Thorpe and Tanner, son."

"I know that as well as you. What it will do, it'll draw Tanner to throw his warriors onto the border. That's what I want. Because by then I'll be working somewhere else."

and power, but had gained his position through wholesale cattle rustling and gunplay. One afternoon King was killed by Thorpe and his two assistants, Cleve Tanner and Walk Lasham. King's adopted son, Bill Roper, decided to start a cattle war

"And you want me to take 'em on the other side—is that the idee?" "I want three dollars a head. American gold, paid off as the cattle come out of the water . . ."

Roper's ways of gathering his wild bunch were diverse, as diverse as the saddle men he gathered. One way or another, picking up a man here, three more there, he got all he needed, and more.

But certain other things had to be done, in order that the wild bunch would have work to do, planned in such a way that something would be accomplished that would stay accomplished.

On a steamy afternoon early in July, Bill Roper sat in Fred Maxim's San Antonio law office. Maxim was an attorney who, some thought, had worked under a different name, somewhere before; but here, assuredly he was in no one's pay.

"I'm not asking the likes of you what's what," Bill Roper said. "I want to know who actually owns range rights on the Graham stand."

Roper's ways of gathering his wild bunch were diverse.

The hard-bitten little man across the desk from Roper was still cadgy. "When it comes to ousting a man from possession—"

"You know who 'ousted' Bob Graham and his family from possession. Cleve Tanner took over that outfit by main horse-and-gun power, without decent cause or reason. Everybody knows that. I'm asking you now—"

"Taylor and Graves are already doing everything that can be done to regain possession of Graham's outfit," Maxim said, smiling.

It was the smile that Roper liked. "Suppose I hold the Bob Graham lands, and Bob Graham's family are living on it."

"Bob Graham hasn't got possession," Maxim said.

"Suppose he did have?"

"Never could happen. Ben Thorpe"

"Shut up a minute," Roper said. "I'm not asking you to put Graham back in possession of his range. I'm not asking you to save him from being put off again in the way he was before. What I want to know is, can you head off some cooked-up legal interference with Graham, after he's in possession again?"

Fred Maxim thought it over. "I can only promise you that I can cause considerable delay," he said.

"Months of delay?"

"Providing you can show possession—I'll keep you clear until hell freezes."

"That's all I want . . ."

Still July, at Willow Creek—

A barren range of hills, sand hills; golden in the dawn, purple in the twilight, barren always. Beneath them, what had been the Willow Creek camp of the old King-Gordon. In the bunkhouse nearest the river, five men lounging around a little room.

"All right, you hard guys," Bill Roper said; "you know who told you to come here. Dry Camp Pierce told you to come here. Maybe he told you what you could look for here, huh?"

These four gunfighters who met Roper here were none of them older than Bill; yet each was famous as a killer in his own right. Of them all Bill Roper alone had no name, no reputation. Yet, in respect for the name of Dusty King, they had come to hear him out.

Nate Liggett, a round-faced kid with eyelashes that looked as if they had been powdered with white dust, said, "Well, what seems to be your offer?"

against Thorpe in Texas. He made this decision against the strong opposition of his partner, Lew Gordon. Bill's sweetheart, Jody Gordon, pleaded frantically with him to turn back, but could not change his grim determination.

"I guess you already know Bob Graham," Roper said. "You know how a warrior gang of Cleve Tanner's jumped down on him, on some thin excuse, and run him off his range. They even took over his house and his windmill and his corals. Now, I aim to hand back that range to Bob Graham; he's waiting in Bigspring for the word. Your part of the job is simple enough—you just go and take it away from the Tanner bunch."

"Simple, huh? Just how do you figure this simple trick is to be done?"

"A lawyer in San Antonio kept the Rangers off when Tanner jumped Graham. Now we've got another better lawyer in San Antonio to keep them off when Graham jumps Tanner. The only question is, who's got enough salt to grab that range—and then hang onto it?"

"And what do we get out of all this?"

"Graham takes over the outfit and runs it. You hang around and help him, and see that he doesn't get run off again. For that you get a half interest in the outfit. You split it among you any way you see fit. I'll back Graham with cattle, and what other stuff he needs."

Nate Liggett said, "Bill, I don't see where we come in for no advantage."

"If you're satisfied with the lone wolf stuff you've been pulling, I haven't got anything to offer you," Roper admitted. "But I'll tell you this—the boys that string with me now will see the day when they'll run Texas; and Cleve Tanner, and Ben Thorpe, too, will be busted up and forgot!"

"It's a hefty order!"

"Maybe it is. This Graham business is a kind of experiment; it'll work if you make it work. But if it goes through okay—it's only the beginning, you hear me? You string with me a little while; and maybe, by God, we'll show a couple of people something . . ."

CHAPTER VIII

Hot, dry days of early August— As the first sun struck with a red heat across the plains, the Tanner men who held the Graham ranch were already saddling. All over Texas, cowmen were throwing together the last trail herds of the year; it was time for these Tanner men to roll their chuck wagons again, to round up the last of the trail-fit stock that remained in the herds which had belonged to Bob Graham.

Out from what had been the Graham corral, three riders swept through the dusty dawn; but they had hardly left the pole fences behind when six other riders confronted them, rising into their saddles like Comanches, out of the brush. The strangers closed in a semi-circle, unhurriedly, their carbines in their hands. In another minute or two the three Tanner riders were grouped in a defensive knot, while from the semi-circle of the raiders Nate Liggett jogged forward to talk it over.

"I don't think you want to go on," he said. "I don't even think you want to work for this outfit any more."

Two nights later, one hundred and fifty miles away—

With the approach of dusk, a peculiar light lay upon the valley of the Potreritos. In a reach of open grass a herd of five hundred head bunched loosely—tame, heavy cattle, already well removed by breeding from the old, wild, long-horn strain. But they had not bunched voluntarily. They shuffled restlessly, watching the brush! something was happening around them that they did not understand.

As the light failed, the figures of horsemen emerged from the brush, cutting mile-long shadows into the flat rays of sunset; the huge, heavy-shouldered man who signaled to his spread-out cowboys by turning his horse this way or that, in Indian horse language, was Dave Shannon.

They did not harass the cattle. Only, between sunset and the next daylight, no cow took a step other than in the direction of the Mexican border . . .

Dry-grass season; Texas scorched by the hot winds—

All across the southern ranges a peculiar thing was happening. As word spread from twenty points of disturbance, certain of the older cattlemen began to sense that there was a curious, almost systematic order to what in itself seemed a widespread disruption. All over the Big Bend country, eastward almost to the well settled Nueces, westward beyond the barren Pecos, northward to the fever line, was breaking a spotty wave of raids of an unparalleled boldness. Far apart, but almost simultaneously, hell had busted loose in a great number of places, covering more than half of Texas.

Notes of a Newspaperman

The Story Tellers: Raymond Leslie Buell, a Fortune editor, warns FDR is "in danger of becoming the American Chamberlain." That takes the President all the way around the block. He's been called "dictator," "warmonger" and now "appeaser." The name-callers invent the name to fit their special angle . . . There are six kinds of escort who are practically a guarantee of spinsterhood, an anonymous model reports in "Beauty Is My Career" in Cosmopolitan. The half dozen will spend plenty on a gal's face, but nothing on the third finger of the left hand . . . An editorial in the SEP states: "If the country is unable or unwilling for the duration of the war to freeze its economic disputes, to forget its class jealousies, to put out of its mind such a thought of equity of sacrifice, then its life is in danger" . . . Them's fine words. We hope the Statepost will set an example . . . Page 122 of the SEP has a cartoon about a silly ostrich with its head buried in the sand. It's good to know they can laugh at them selves . . . Read Stanley High's piece: "Hitler Ersatz Religion" in Reader's Digest. He says Germany is their God, Hitler is their Christ and Mein Kampf is their bible.

The Front Pages: The Associated Press contributed great space and ink to a group's selections. They honored outstanding American women—who "made the greatest strides in the last 50 years" . . . In the field of aviation the honored were Ruth Nichols, a South American lady named Mrs. Miguel Otero, and Anne Lindbergh . . . Amelia Earhart, in short, is not only Gone—but Forgotten . . . The Pulitzer Prize Committee's award to the Pulitzer paper in St. Louis (for getting rid of a smoke nuisance) was like seeing a man pin a medal on himself.

This column's orchids for the best editorial cartoon of the month go to Rollin Kirby of the N. Y. Post . . . In a sofa chair is "Isolationist" with his newspaper (featuring Lindbergh's opposition to British aid) on the floor . . . "Average American" (that's you and me and Kirby) is pushing a finger in The Old Man's direction and saying: "I don't want war any more than you do, but I don't propose to let this guy Hitler take ME over. And don't you call me a warmonger!"

In Daladier's new book, "France Speaking," there is a good tip-off on why France fell . . . Daladier once said sadly: "What can I do about it? Gamelin doesn't LIKE tanks!"

Easy to Reduce Weight When You Limit Calories

CREAMED CHUFFED BEEF 400 CALS	MUSHROOMS STEWED 140 CALS
LEMON MERINGUE PIE 300 CALS	LEMON JELLY 150 CALS

A TRUE slimming story! And a really happy ending, too, when a stout woman diets the calory way.

By limiting food calories to around 1,200 a day, she not only loses—as much as 24 pounds in three months—but feels radiantly younger. And the lovely part is that while reducing you eat as much as ever!

Have a graceful, girlish new figure—soon! Our 32-page booklet gives 42 tasty low-calory menus, a newly enlarged calory chart. Also tells how to enlarge. For a copy, send your order to:

Out-of-door pillows, used for the canoe or porch swing, should have an inner covering of oilcloth and an outer one of some attractive cretonne. These will remain uninjured through a rain.

To remove chocolate stains from table linen, sprinkle the spot with borax and then pour boiling water through the cloth.

When buying tea, before putting it in the caddy, spread it on a sheet of strong paper and place in a warm (not hot) oven for 10 to 15 minutes. The tea will go much farther and the flavor will be greatly improved.

Most silk lamp shades may be successfully washed with lukewarm soapsuds. Dissolve soap flakes thoroughly before adding them to the water and use a very soft brush to apply the suds to the shade.

Cotton corduroys look best after laundering if they are not ironed, but are merely brushed along the direction of the ribs while still slightly damp.

Masonry Via Wire

Even the laying of a cornerstone has been done over electric wires, says Colliers. Not long ago in London, 10,000 Masons in an exhibition hall watched a dignitary go through such a ceremony, every movement of laying the substitute stone actuating, through electrical synchronization, the laying of the real stone on the site of a hospital several miles away.

Masked Man Robs Levelland Bank

TAHOKA, TEX., May 22 (Spcl.)—The Levelland First National Bank was robbed of $21,000.00 early Thursday morning by a lone masked young fellow, who was waiting when the janitor came to work at 4:30 a. m. However, the bandit did not make his get-away until after 8:30, when the time-lock permitted the safe, within the vault, to be opened.

In a telephone conversation with

R. P. Weathers, his father-in-law, Bill Sewell, cashier and formerly of Tahoka, said the robber covered the janitor with his guns, and laid in wait for the arrival of other members of the bank's force.

A young lady stenographer was the first to arrive, and as the other employees came to work, one by one, he marched them into the vault with a pistol in each hand.

The safe in the vault was equipped with a time-lock set for 8:30, and it was necessary for the robber to wait until that time before the combination could be worked. After forcing a banker to open the safe at 8:30, the man scooped up the $21,000 and left the bank force locked in the vault.

Sewell told Weathers that the vault door had a safety-catch on it which was supposed to allow a person locked on the inside to open the door, but of all times, the device failed to work Thursday morning. However, the robber neglected to cut the telephone lines. From a telephone in the vault, a former employee of the bank was called, told the combination, and the imprisoned bankers were released in possibly ten minutes.

Whether or not the robber had confederates waiting on the outside, Sewell didn't know.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Hafer visited in Tahoka Sunday.

Bill Debusk was in Lubbock Monday on business.

REGISTRANTS WARNED TO NOTIFY BOARD OF CHANGE IN ADDRESS

General J. Watt Page, state selective service director, has issued a warning to all registrants that they must notify their local boards of any change of address.

Any wilful failure to do so may subject them to heavy penalties, as punishment for failure to conform to the Selective Service Act and Regulations has been fixed at imprisonment for five years or a fine of not more than $10,000, or both such fine and imprisonment.

Most failures along this line have been due to ignorance of the law, it is pointed out, and the authorities have been lenient in these cases, but investigation of them takes up much time of local boards, and registrants are warned that they must take care to conform to the law.

Accustomed to Danger in PEACE-TIME!
Ready for Emergency ANYTIME!

Preparedness is an Important Job with Your Electric Service Friends!

MOST of your fellow-citizens, whose combined efforts supply your electric service, work every day under conditions similar to war. Like every good soldier, they hope for the best but prepare for the worst—never knowing at what instant flood, fire, wind or other cause will create emergency conditions.

Mobilized for swift expansion of service to you as well as for maintenance of adequate service under all conditions, your electric service people also continually apply all their science, skill and effort to make your cheap electric service steadily cheaper—knowing that your greatest inducement to wider use of electricity—in industry, commerce or home—is lowered cost.

Even routine daily jobs are dangerous missions for some of your electric service friends—and throughout the entire organization, from power plant boiler rooms to accounting department files, every man and every woman receives highly specialized training to enable the entire organization to function perfectly no matter what demands you place upon it.

The average kilowatt hour cost of electric service has been steadily reduced. Your increased use helped to make this possible—your steadily increased use of your most versatile servant plus the ability of your electric service people accurately to estimate your expanding needs and to provide for them most economically.

WOULD YOU BUY AN ARTIFICIAL LEG FROM A PLUMBER?

Inferior repair parts are sold for International Harvester Company machines just like all other popular machinery, but the consumer takes an unnecessary risk when he buys them.

If the International Harvester Company manufactured or supplied inferior repairs for its machines it would not only face the loss of its reputation but its business. We realized that several years ago when we first started selling FARMALLS and other IHC farming equipment.

Our customers know that whenever they find repairs furnished them for IHC machines not as GOOD as the parts on a new machine they are NOT getting the genuine IHC parts.

If parts could be manufactured at a lower cost and sold at lower prices without sacrificing quality, this would be done. Competitive business forces this requirement. The right material for the purpose and the knowledge acquired through years of manufacturing enables International Harvester Company to produce quality that will not be found in imitation repairs.

A plumber might sell you an artificial leg at a much cheaper price than you could buy from a person who has spent his lifetime in study of artificial limbs.

We hope you don't need an artificial leg but its the time of year when your tractor does need repairs and may we suggest that you
