Planting began in full swing in this section Thursday and the sound of the tractors heard throughout the day and night. Many farmers tried planting early in the week, but found fields entirely too muddy.

Total rainfall for last week in O'Donnell, according to the gauge maintained by government, was 6 inches, so Ben Moore, operator, says. However, the fall was heavier in places adjacent to this city. A heavy downpour was recorded near Newmoore Sunday, but only a sprinkle fell in O'Donnell.

The co-operation of the public is invited by the merchants and all purchases made before that time of closing. Persons in any store when the "whistle blows" will be awaited upon, but no other customers admitted.

Mrs. Shook, who has been employed at the C-C Dry goods for the past 11 years, will terminate her long tenure with that store Saturday.

Member of a pioneer family, and daughter of Mrs. M. E. Peorce, Mrs. Shook has an uncountable number of friends in this section who regret the family's departure.

Mrs. Shook is the present pianist for the Rotary club, and her services have always been cheerfully and willingly given to church and community.

Although unable to leave as soon as her husband, the Matthews Dry goods of Crosbyton quickly spoke for her services and she is to go to work as soon as she moves to that city. Her reputation as a courteous, efficient clerk preceded her.

More Bargains Offered For Trade Day

Here's good news for the people of this section!

A greater amount of bargains are to be offered next Wednesday by the O'Donnell merchants whose ads appear on the large page in this section.

In addition, an interesting program, which the sponsors wish to keep secret until the next Trade Day, will be offered.

The publisher wishes to call all readers attention to the ads appearing in this issue with bargains for Trade Day. Read those items listed, but don't think for one moment that those are all the various stores listed have for you. You are urged to do your trading at those stores and at each place you are almost certain to save on any purchases you wish to make.

And remember—just because that merchant is spending a part of his money for advertising do not think that he has to charge you more. Statistics prove that in 999 times out of a 1000 the merchant that advertises will sell as cheap, more often cheaper, than the one not advertising. And that advertising merchant does not consider that it is a burden to keep you informed of bargains in his store, but a SERVICE to you.

When you trade with an advertiser in the Press, you'll be trading with a business firm that will give you quality for the lowest possible amount.

Read those ads and others and take advantage of the savings.

And don't forget to be in O'Donnell next Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Bradford and daughter Barbara Rae returned Saturday to their home in Clifton, Arizona after a visit in the DeBusk home.

U. S. 'Aid-to-Britain' Shipping Losses Brings Convoy Issue Into Open Debate; 45,000 British Soldiers Are Saved As Nazis Complete Balkan Campaign

EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper. (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

CONVOY: Argument

The anti-convoy and pro-convoy fight in the senate picked up when the Tolley and Nye resolutions were given formal consideration in committee.

Both resolutions were defeated in committee, but only by a vote of 13-10, and this showed what strength the non-interventionists had gained.

The resolution would have tied the President's hands most effectively, in the question of using the American navy to protect shipments to Britain and other defending democracies.

Both would have demanded that the President get congressional approval for any conveying that might be done, and pledged congress to give or withhold it within 14 days.

This would have slowed the pace of the naval commander-in-chief to a walk. There was little repetition, however, of the charges that conveying already was being done.

Senator Nye, in some of his speeches, began to give figures of U. S. losses of equipment en route

GREEK: Bill Presented

The debacle in Greece seemed to be "small potatoes" as far as men and munitions were concerned, as compared with Dunquerque, but the pattern turned out to be almost identical.

There was little question but that the fighting had been as hard at one place as at the other, with probably more successful work done by the British in Greece than they did in France. It seemed that the Greeks were better co-operators than the French, whose morale was utterly shot long before the British began to fall back, and had to contend with clogged roads and fleeing millions.

But Churchill let the commons have the "Greek bill" of expenses as soon as he knew what it was, and announced he would permit a full debate on this motion:

A vote of confidence in the conduct of the war by the British government—and a vote of approval on the giving of aid to the Greeks.

Churchill said the British had put 60,000 soldiers into Greece, including

Striking Coal Miners Go Back to Mines

The first group of coal miners to return to work following an agreement ending the general shutdown of bituminous coal mines by the United Mine Workers of America (C.I.O.), which began April 1 and continued for a whole month. The miners are shown entering the shaft of the Dun Glee mine, near St. Clairsville, Ohio.

Says He's 'Gestapo'

Bruno Johannes Valianski, self-styled agent of the Nazi "Gestapo" secret police, at Ellis Island. He was questioned about a small theft, and unfolded a lurid tale of his service as an alleged agent of the "Gestapo" and revealed a swastika scar brand on his arm.

Across the Nation

The sun shone when we reached Peoria, Ill., from Washington en route to Chicago and then, after a press conference, I went out to see one of the housing projects built under the U. S. housing authority. Everyone with whom I talked, had the highest praise for Mr. Nathan Straus and the work which has been accomplished under his leadership.

The particular project which I saw was practically completed, except for the landscaping. There are two types of buildings, three story apartment houses and two story small houses. The rents are remarkably reasonable, far below the average for substandard housing in Peoria. I am sure all the officials are very pleased with what has been accomplished.

Later, I met the staff of the WPA for the district. I was very much interested to hear an account of the Workers Service project, which has just been operating during the past two months. They have set up centers of information for the workers, and they seem to have been able to make these centers very useful in the short time they have been open.

A number of the British Relief people, among them two small girls dressed in Scotch kilts, came at five o'clock to shake hands with me. I was glad to see Mrs. Johnson, who remembered having entertained the President and me in the 1920 campaign.

After the lecture in the evening, I attended a small reception. We boarded the train a little before midnight, arriving in Chicago early in the morning.

At noon, we started across the continent, bound for Los Angeles.

'WIDE OPEN SPACES'

We awoke the next morning to find ourselves some 7,000 feet up in the mountains, where the state of Colorado and the state of New Mexico join. A driving rainstorm, at times turning into snow, was with us all day and in places really deep snows covered the ground. We saw miles of prairie powdered with snow and have passed many, many cattle and sheep; none of them looking too happy at this last burst of winter.

The houses are so far apart in this part of our country, one cannot help but think that it requires a different quality to live and to be happy where so much of the time must be spent alone. Even the immediate family of a woman must leave her many lonely hours, for they go to work or to school. The man who earns a living out here must spend much time alone. Even the youngsters must have occasions when they know what it is like to see no other human being anywhere in sight.

It must be hard sometimes, and yet I think it must give one a sense of self-reliance. Perhaps the nearness to the soil and the great outdoors puts iron into their souls.

RECENT READING

I have read the American Red Cross report on war relief, and I think we can be proud of the record that the help made available by and through the Red Cross up to March 1 totaled in value $22,981,942. I was glad to note that relief to Finland had increased last month, but I was extremely sorry to note in the papers that a shipload of Red Cross supplies bound for Greece had come to grief on its voyage. Somehow, one feels that no Red Cross supplies should be war casualties.

There is a new quarterly magazine called "The Land," published by "Friends of the Land," which should be on everybody's table. It is a magazine which hopes to make us all conservation conscious, because people go down and come up with their land, and ours needs to be conserved.

Finally, I read a pamphlet called "Britain Under Fire." It is a collection of articles written by John Cowles, president of the Minneapolis Star Journal. I have read some before but gathered together in this way, they make impressive reading. One of them in particular interested me. It is called "What Will The Peace Terms Be?" I think these two paragraphs are worth much thought on our part:

"English trades unions and labor party leaders, who are co-operating completely with the Churchill government, have as one of their basic aims the re-establishment of strong, free trades unions in Germany as a bulwark against future militarism.

"To attain this end, they say Britain must help build a sound and thriving national economy in post war Germany."

'TRUE COMICS'

There is a comic magazine, which everyone of us with youngsters who like to read the comics, should hail with joy. It is "True Comics," published by the Parents Institute. Its quality is assured by the fact that Mr. George J. Hecht is the president and publisher, while the editor is Mr. David Marke. Junior advisory editors Janet Cantor, Gloria Jean, Mickey Rooney, Shirley Temple and Virginia Weidner ought to be able to help make this a really good comic magazine.

White House 'Firster' Is First Again

John Hunefeld, 75, who has headed the New Year Day reception line at the White House each year since 1924, was right on the spot again when the sale of defense savings bonds opened in the district. He was first in line at the city post office. Photo shows James Hudson making the sale to Mr. Hunefeld, as Mrs. Mary Hinton looks on.

Fire Demon Takes Heavy Toll in East

Damage estimated at about $2,000,000 was caused in the Ocean Bluffs, Mass., area as the result of a fire that destroyed a church and leveled more than 450 cottages. Only a timely shift in wind saved hundreds of other houses. The above photo shows a row of cottages burning fiercely when the fire was at its height.

U. S. Loan to China

Signing of a stabilization agreement involving the purchase of Chinese yuan by the U. S. stabilization fund to the amount of $50,000,000 was another important step in the monetary co-operation between the United States and China. Photo shows (seated) Henry Morgenthau Jr., secretary of the treasury, and T. V. Soong, representing China. Standing: Dr. Hu Shih, Chinese ambassador.

Wins Safety Award

SENATOR NYE
His bill: 40% loss, at sea.

to Britain by sea, and said that these ranged from 40 per cent to more than half. He then quoted a high defense official as saying, "they were nowhere near 40 per cent and were getting less constantly."

However, it was still apparent that Britain preferred to send American aircraft across the ocean by air rather than on the water, and the President backed up this effort by announcing he was asking for a survey to get all the commercial air transports possible, presumably to ferry the pilots back and forth who were in the transatlantic shipping of warplanes to Britain.

That this was a big industry and getting bigger was seen by the new revelations of the prices being paid to American pilots for doing the ferrying. Some of these salaries were quoted at $1,500 a trip, which didn't seem so much, but it was a good deal for a day's flying, and some of the bombers were making it in 12 hours.

Of course, there was the wait before you got back to earn another $1,500, but the pilots were getting astronomical "waiting salaries" as well. But there were signs that as American production was stepped up, this business was beginning to get out of hand, and that there was a woeful shortage of planes capable of bringing the pilots back to America.

There also was revealed another British immediate request for a quantity of mosquito torpedo boats, and also the fact that American supply was short, for Secretary Knox said, "We'll let them have some, and more as we finish them up."

Highlights

... in the news

Washington: President Roosevelt himself opened the government's multi-billion dollar defense savings campaign by buying the first bond himself. The ceremony was broadcast from coast to coast.

New York: Jesse Jones announced that the government debt would go to 90 billions, and that America, which had no sacrifices as yet, would be making them "and plenty of them."

London: Belgian circles reported that Germany is holding 128,000 Belgians prisoners of war.

London: British bombers claimed sinking or damaging 42,000 tons of Axis coastwise ships in a week. The British announcement said "evidently the Nazi rail strain is being relieved by the use of coastwise shipping in more favorable weather."

Chungking, China: Capt. James Roosevelt of the marines bobbed up in Chungking, watched the Japanese carry out an air raid on the city, praised the public's morale, and announced that he was going to fly to northern Africa to observe the war there. He said to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, "I'm here to learn."

WINSTON CHURCHILL

one division each (about half of the total force) of Australians and New Zealanders.

He said that of this number there were about 3,000 casualties (killed and wounded and missing), about 45,000 "got away to fight on other fronts," and 12,000 were still unaccounted for. This, presumably, included those left to screen the retreat (suicide battalions); and those lost at sea in sunken transports.

The prime minister said "British losses were small compared to the losses inflicted on the Germans, who on some occasions for two days at a time were brought to a complete standstill by forces one-fifth their number."

He said, further, that the conduct of the troops, especially the rear guard, merited the highest praise, and that the British demonstrated that prolonged air bombing by day and night had no power to shake their discipline or their morale.

Some members of the house wanted to know if the 45,000 had fled to Crete or had reached their own bases. Churchill said he believed the latter to be the case. He admitted that the army in Greece had been forced to abandon or destroy all of its heavy equipment, which could, of course, not be removed.

He was highly positive, however, not only of the escape of 45,000 men, but hinted that the other 12,000 "unaccounted for" probably would die or be taken prisoners—but might, possibly, escape somewhere else temporarily.

The Nazi communiques announced the Greek war over, the formation of a "new government" similar to that of occupied France, and the affair officially at an end.

RUSSIA: At Crossroads

Indication that Soviet Russia is facing a situation that is becoming less and less healthy for the Soviet's peace of mind came when it was officially announced by Moscow that 12,000 German troops, well equipped with tanks and heavy artillery, had moved into Finland by water with the evident intention of staying there.

The official announcement coupled with this move by the Nazis, at least former allies of Russia, with the decision by Russia not long ago not to permit further shipments of arms and munitions over her railroads, or through her country by air or land.

Just what the German objective was in Finland was not immediately apparent, but it was evident that if the Germans intend to go on southward through Turkey and Syria into Iraq and Iran, the Germans will certainly bottle up the Black Sea for Russia, and few believed the Soviet would stand for that without fighting, perhaps on the side of the Turks, perhaps alone.

This is the eventuality that most friends of an eventual defeat for Hitler and Mussolini and Japan have looked forward to, and Churchill hinted at it not long ago.

Billions of barrels of Texas oil reserves mean money in the bank for you as a Texan.

On constant deposit in underground vaults, they assure continued wages for Texas workers, lease and royalty payments for Texas farmers and ranchers, and tax revenues for our State and local governments.

Nearly 11 billion barrels of known oil reserves are on tap in 161 counties of our State. Texas oil men are now searching for new fields in 90 additional counties. They discovered last year almost three times as much oil as they produced.

These oil reserves can be cashed only through their production and processing by Texas workers.

As a means of safeguarding this backlog of economic security, you as a Texas citizen can and should expect:

(a) Sound conservation practices, (b) A reasonable taxing policy by State and local governments to permit healthy development without loss of employment through abandonment of properties, (c) Increased use of this great fuel source through creation of new Texas industries.

These oil reserves provide security for you and every other Texan

THE TRUTH SIMPLY TOLD

Today's popularity of Doan's Pills, after many years of world-wide use, surely must be accepted as evidence of satisfactory use. And favorable public opinion supports that of the able physicians who test the value of Doan's under exacting laboratory conditions.

These physicians, too, approve every word of advertising you read, the objective of which is only to recommend Doan's Pills as a good diuretic treatment for disorder of the kidney function and for relief of the pain and worry it causes.

If more people were aware of how the kidneys must constantly remove waste that cannot stay in the blood without injury to health, there would be better understanding of why the whole body suffers when kidneys lag, and diuretic medication would be more often employed.

Burning, scanty or too frequent urination sometimes warn of disturbed kidney function. You may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel weak, nervous, all played out.

Use Doan's Pills. It is better to rely on a medicine that has won world-wide acclaim than on something less favorably known. Ask your neighbor!

Private Papers Of a Cub Reporter

The harassed attache of the American Consul at Lisbon swears this happened: A small, shy little man leaned confidentially across his desk and said: "Please, Mister, could you tell me if there is any possibility that I could get entrance to your wonderful country?"

The little refugee moved toward the door, stopped, turned and asked, with a wan smile: "Morning or afternoon?"

Well, as most of us suspected, that Nazi aviator who escaped from a Canadian concentration camp has lamistered to Peru, forfeiting the $15,000 bail posted by the German Consulate. This is good news, because the government officials will henceforth crack down on them all, and there will be no bail for any of them.

INSTALLMENT 3 THE STORY SO FAR: er and wealth, but he had gained his position through wholesale cattle rustling and gunplay.

CHAPTER IV

They buried Dusty King five miles south of Ogallala, beside the Great Trail which he himself had pioneered.

Over his grave they piled boulders, after the fashion of the prairie men. Bill Roper himself fitted a cross of railroad ties, the most durable and massive timber available at Ogallala.

After that was all done, and night had come on, and everybody had gone back to town, Bill Roper went back to that lonely cross and squatted on his heels against the pile of stone.

After a while a ridden horse came toward the cross at a walk; and Bill Roper remained motionless, unseeing against the stones, as the horseman came up.

The rider stepped to the ground and walked slowly toward the cross, the reins of his pony on his arm.

"Quien es?" Roper said, "Oh, helio, Dry Camp."

Dry Camp Pierce came and sat down beside Bill at the foot of the stones. "Find out anything, in the town?"

"Hell, no." "No," Dry Camp repeated after him. "No, and they won't."

"You talk mighty sure, Dry Camp."

"I talk mighty sure because I am mighty sure. Nobody saw Dusty killed except the three men that done it; and one other man."

Bill Roper's hand shot out and caught Dry Camp's lean arm in a grip that bit like a trap. "Who was that?"

"Me."

There was a silence, sharp and hard, before Bill said, "How is it you haven't told anybody this?"

"Haven't had any chance to talk to you," Dry Camp said. "I'm telling you now, ain't I?"

"Who was it?" "Cleve Tanner; and Walk Lasham, and Ben Thorpe."

Dry Camp took a match out of the pocket of his cowhide vest and chewed the end.

"You see—" he searched for his words painfully, after the manner of men who are much alone—"Dusty, he tied his horse out back of the Lone Star Bar, in the angle of the wagon shed. There's a kind of a corner there, like you can't see into it from any place, hardy; and what with it getting dark—"

"Where were you?" "I was in Bailey's Harness Shop, next door. I saw Dusty turn off the walk, and walk back between the buildings. I'd been watching for him, because I wanted to speak to him a minute. I went back through the harness shop, and I was just going out the back door. And then hell bust in the wagon shed angle."

"The time it happened," Bill Roper said, "there must have still been a little light."

"Enough to see by, all right. These three varmints steps out of the shed quick and quiet. Dusty knew what he was up against, all right. His gun come out; but Walk Lasham grabs his gun arm with his left hand and bears down like he was wrestling him. Then the whole works seems to blow up, as all three of 'em let loose. They just stood and threwed it into him, and it seemed like he was never going to fall. Ben Thorpe pumped two more shots after Dusty was down, and dead."

That was all the story. Both of them seemed to recognize that there were no questions to ask, nothing to add.

"I promise you this, Bill," Dry Camp said at last. "I can't go up and testify against these men. You know why. If I let it be known that I'm here, that's the finish of me. But that would be all right. Only, what court, that we got, would believe me against them?"

Bill Roper said, "There isn't anything you can do, I don't suppose."

"Oh, yes, there is. There's one thing I can do. I'll have to kind of bide my time, and make it sure; but—I'm going to get me these three men."

"No, you ain't," Bill Roper said. "We're going to go at this thing a different way. Trouble with you, you're figuring these three men as just three men. They ain't. They got the biggest string of tough outfits in the country, and they spread all the way from the Rio Grande to the Rosebud, and beyond. We got to bust up the whole works, if we want to get any place."

Dry Camp was silent for several minutes. "What you aim to do?"

"I aim to start in Texas, where Cleve Tanner runs Thorpe's breeding outfits in the Big Bend; I aim to tie into him piece by piece, till Ben Thorpe is smashed out of the West."

"Lew Gordon will never stand for—"

"Then, by God, King-Gordon has come to its split-up!" Silence again before Dry Camp said, "And I suppose I'm expected to just kind of stand aside and stay out of it and see how you work it out, huh? Well, I won't do it, Bill."

"You're in this, Dry Camp."

"How am I in it?" "I've got to have me an outfit. It's got to be made up of boys that aren't afraid of Ben Thorpe or all hell; boys that haven't got anything more to lose. I'll need near fifty men. But to start off with I want Lee Harnish, and Tex Daniels and Tex Long; Nate Liggett—Dave Shannon—"

"Wow!" said Dry Camp. "You get those four or five in the same bunch, they'll eat each other alive."

"That's the kind I want," Bill Roper said. "I want a wild bunch such as the West has never seen before."

"And me—what am I supposed to do?" "You—you're heading south. You're going back to Texas and"

Roper said, "You show me how to clean a range or break a range; I'm telling you I don't care which."

Lew Gordon slapped his hand on the table; it fell with a dull and heavy wallop, but so hard it seemed the top of the table would split.

"Not No, by God! Not under my brand. Not in a hundred years..."

"Then draw up the terms of the sale."

Gordon was silent again, for a long time. He seemed very old, very tired. "Reckon you're man enough to make your own decisions, Bill."

"Thanks, Lew."

"But do me one last favor—will you? Don't decide here and now. Take a couple of days to think it over. It's for your own good. But I'm asking it as a favor to me..."

Bill Roper dropped his eyes, and for a moment or two he hesitated. "I'll take an hour, he decided in compromise."

CHAPTER V

Bill Roper walked slowly to the Gordons' tall house, on its rise at the edge of the town, and let himself in softly. He wanted desperately to talk to Jody Gordon; but it was nearly midnight, and he couldn't make up his mind to wake her.

As it happened, decision was unnecessary. In the fireplace some lengths of cottonwood log still burned, and before the fire Jody lounged upon a buffalo robe, wide awake.

"You've been a long time."

"I know." He stopped beside her, half raised her in his arms, and kissed her lingeringly. Her arms and her lips clung, making it difficult for him to think of the road he had chosen. But presently he sat beside her on the buffalo robe, and turned his eyes to the coals.

"There's some stuff we have to talk about, Jody."

"I can think of better things to do with firelight than just talk."

"Jody—King-Gordon is splitting up."

Jody brought herself up on one elbow. "Why, Bill—what do you mean?"

"Dusty's share comes to me, as you know. I—I'm taking it out."

"You're—Bill, you must be loco!"

"Maybe. I'm going against Ben Thorpe."

"But—but—" Jody was at a loss for words.

"Since the trail began, he's stood for everything we're against. Four of the biggest rustling gangs in the country are directly hooked up with him, it could be proved. He's stopped at nothing, and where he couldn't force his way he's bought his way. But now—he's gone too far."

"I don't get you."

"You're going to carry the war into the other camp, Lew. For every outfit that Ben Thorpe has grabbed by force of arms, he's going to lose two; for every head that has come into his herds by rustle and raid, two head of his are going to be missing when he makes his roundup count. First thing, I'm going to break Cleve Tanner down in Texas. After that—"

Lew Gordon looked Bill Roper hard in the eye, smiled a little, and shook his head. His voice was slow and deep, stubbornly emphatic, as a granite cliff is emphatic. "No. We've never gone outside the law yet, and while I live we never will. We play the straight game always; and if we lose—that's in the hands of things beyond us."

Bill Roper angered. "I know how you feel about it," he said, keeping his voice down. "You swayed Dusty that way always. If you'd looked at it different, the guns would have been out years ago—and it would have been Ben Thorpe that went down. As it is—Dusty King is dead. Now you want me to drift on as we always drifted on, and I'm supposed to forget that Dusty's out there under a pile of stones. Well, I'm not going to play it that way, Gordon."

"While you're with King-Gordon," Lew said slowly, "you'll play it as I say you'll play it."

"If you want to buy me out," Roper said, "you can do it at your own price. Because I'm going to do exactly what I tell you I'm going to do; I wouldn't run a sneak on you, Lew."

"You figure," Lew Gordon said incredulously, "that you, one youngster on horseback, can smash up Ben Thorpe? You wouldn't last forty seconds longer than a celluloid collar on a dead gambler."

"There'll be a few go with me," Roper said.

"Who?" "Dry Camp Pierce for one; Lee Harnish, Tex Daniels, Tex Long; in all, maybe fifty men that I think I know where to get."

Lew Gordon looked as if he would explode. "You're naming the most vicious outlaws on the plains," he said. "If you ever get those men together, it will be the most infernal wild bunch that ever—"

"By God," said Bill Roper, "I'll show you how to clean a range or break a range; I'm telling you I don't care which."

Lew Gordon slapped his hand on the table; it fell with a dull and heavy wallop, but so hard it seemed the top of the table would split.

auction, but King bid high to beat out Thorpe. Bill Roper, King's adopted son, raced home to tell pretty Jody Gordon the good news. The two happy lovers were in each other's arms when a rider soon brought the news that Dusty King had been killed.

"We're going to carry the war into the other camp, Lew. For every outfit that Ben Thorpe has grabbed by force of arms, he's going to lose two; for every head that has come into his herds by rustle and raid, two head of his are going to be missing when he makes his roundup count. WRIGHT A. PATTERSON

NAZI PROPAGANDA GOES ON UNCHECKED IN U. S.

ALL AMERICANS, from the President down to the least of us, condemn Hitler and Nazism. We want none of Hitler or his kind, or his ideology. We send men to prison for spreading the Nazi doctrines, and yet each week we are countenancing the spread of this thing we abhor.

The German Library of Information, undoubtedly financed by Germany in the interests of Hitler's Germany and all it represents, sends broadcast over America the most subtle kind of Nazi propaganda. Millions of copies of its weekly publication, "Facts in Review," are circulated in this country. The American postal system is used to distribute this publication. It boldly announces that copies may be obtained upon request and without charge. You find them in hotels, auto camps, in our training camps, and in all possible places where they will be seen and read, and your name, once on the mailing list, means receiving a new copy each week.

Typographically it is an attractive publication, well printed, beautifully illustrated. Each word in the text of its 44 pages is a eulogy of Hitler, his henchmen and Nazism. Its purpose is to convince American people that Hitler is working for the best interests of the world, that he is a world savior, that England would destroy world civilization if that country itself is not destroyed. While smooth, it is not even cleverly veiled.

With it each week are offered many other publications, any or all of which may be had for the asking.

Why, I wonder, is such an effort to break down American democracy permitted to operate?

Certainly it is known. Any officer of the government, any member of congress, as well as any citizen, may have copies of the publication, as many as he wishes, by merely asking for them. They will be sent through the American postal system for the purpose of convincing Americans that the German system of Hitler will prevail and that it is best for the world that it should.

To permit circulation of this propaganda to continue is hardly consistent with our American policy. It is the kind of thing that will lead to sabotage in American armament plants. It will appeal to the fanatic and the subversive elements.

ROAD TO ALASKA FEASIBLE, SAYS 'SLIM'

IN THE NAME OF NATIONAL DEFENSE serious consideration is being given in Washington to the subject of constructing a highway from the American line through British Columbia to Alaska. The defense purpose is for the moving of an army, mechanized or other, should we find it necessary to defend Alaska. The proposition is for the United States to provide the funds and Canada to provide the right of way and patrol it after the highway is completed.

Long, lean, weather-beaten "Slim" Williams, an old Alaskan sourdough, has agitated such a highway for several years. In the winter of 1931-32, "Slim" drove a dog team from Alaska to Washington as his first demonstration of the feasibility of his dream. In the summer of 1939, starting from Fairbanks in May, he made the trip through to Vancouver on a motorcycle, at least both "Slim" and the motorcycle came through but whether he carried the motorcycle more miles than it carried him, I am not sure. He insists he has proved that a highway to Alaska is practical.

There is today, and has been for many years, the beginning of such a highway. It is from Vancouver, following generally the course of the Fraser river, to Prince George, a distance of something like 500 miles. It was constructed in the gold rush days as a means of getting miners in, and ore out of the then thriving gold mining area around Prince George. It was, and is, passable for pack animals, but not wide enough for automobiles. Beyond Prince George, and as far north as Hazelton, is a trail followed by Indians and trappers. Beyond Hazelton are the unconquered Rocky mountains of British Columbia and Alaska. But "Slim" Williams says they can be conquered.

PRACTICAL THE PRESIDENT is said to favor a revision of the draft ages, reducing the minimum to 18 years, and stopping the maximum at 30 years, or less. That is practical.

THEN AND NOW IN WASHINGTON they will tell you today of a perfect working house of representatives majority, with some six key men directing legislation. During the twenties, and up to some 15 years ago, when the Republicans had a heavy majority in the house, one man largely directed the course of legislation. If Martin B. Madden said a bill was to pass, it passed; if he said no, it did not reach the floor. Madden was the house of representatives.

FARMER BROWN'S little boy, patched overalls, straw hat and polka-dot neckerchief, poses for a most practical cutout. He gladly holds a hose and sprinkles lawn or garden the whole day through.

In 16-inch size, the outlines for this over-all boy are on Z278, 15 cents. Trace him on plywood or thin lumber, cut out with jig, coping or keyhole saw and paint as suggested on the pattern, or as you wish. General cutout directions accompany the order. Send your order to:

JOHNSON OPENS CAMPAIGN IN SAN MARCOS

Congressman Lyndon Johnson opened his campaign for the United States Senate in San Marcos Saturday night, May 3. He declared the first problem of the nation is to prepare to meet the crisis with which we are confronted. He pledged his continued cooperation with President Roosevelt in the defense program and made an urgent plea for unity.

Outstanding features of the platform which he announced were:

1. Definite legislation which would prevent further strikes in national defense industries.
2. A national old age pension law which would give to every person in Texas, over the age of sixty, the same pension as paid by other states.
3. Full parity payments to farmers.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

By HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, D. D.
Dean of The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

S. S. Lesson for May 11

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

THE RESPONSIBILITY OF THE HOME REGARDING BEVERAGE ALCOHOL

LESSON TEXT—Deuteronomy 6:4-7; Jeremiah 35:5-10.
GOLDEN TEXT—Train up a child in the way he should go; and when he is old, he will not depart from it.—Proverbs 22:6.

The responsibility of the home regarding liquor is primarily that of providing a place for children to grow up under proper principles and practice. That means that the home should be a Christian home, where both parents follow Christ in life as well as profession. Young people about to establish a new home should give themselves without reservation to Christ. Those who began their home as a Christian home, but who have drifted through carelessness or unbelief, should renew their devotion to Christ. America needs many things, but first and foremost stands its need of real Christian homes.

I. Preparing to Meet Temptation (Deut. 6:4-7).

Temptations will come, and when they do it will be too late to prepare a defense against them. We are all "defense conscious" these days. We have seen in the sad events of the last year that there must be adequate preparation in advance if we are to withstand the enemy. That is doubly true in the realm of the moral and spiritual. We must build moral fiber and appreciation of spiritual things into the lives of our boys and girls from their infancy. How?

1. By a Consistent Example (vv. 5-6). Only the father (or mother) who loves the Lord with all his being and who has permitted God's Word to enter into his heart will set the right example. It is well to know something about child psychology, about the principles of rearing children, etc., but these, without a right relationship to God, are cold and powerless. But let the parents walk before their children in earnest Christian living, let them honor God's Word in their lives and in the home, and they will lay the finest foundation for Christian character in their children.

2. By Correct Teaching (v. 7). The parent should make the teaching of God's Word to children a matter of first importance. It is to be expected that the children will be in church and Sunday school with their parents (notice the word "with"—it's not enough to send them), but that is not sufficient. Blessed and fruitful is that home life in which the Word of God is a normal and easy topic of conversation, where spiritual things are discussed intelligently and without restraint. Every home can be that kind of a home, if the parents will do what they know they should do about it.

II. Standing in the Hour of Temptation (Jer. 35:5-10).

As a protest against the heathendom, the intemperance, and corruption of the city life of his day, Jonadab instructed his house or tribe to live an itinerant life and, above all, not to touch wine.

We are not called to imitate in detail their way of living, but rather to learn from them the principles of consistent temperance.

1. Remembrance (vv. 6, 7). Jeremiah was sent to test the Rechabites (not to tempt them to fall) by offering them wine, but to them it was a real temptation. They met it promptly and without fear, because they had in their hearts and minds the teaching of their "father" Jonadab.

Blessed is the boy or girl who in the lone and trying hour of temptation is not confused by the negative or unchristian example of parents, but who at once has a vision of a God-fearing father and mother, and a remembrance of their faithful teaching of God's standards of life.

2. Obedience (vv. 8-10). Here again is a lesson which must be learned from the tender years of babyhood, but which bears glorious fruit in the days of young manhood and womanhood. The parent who does not tactfully, kindly, but withal, firmly, teach children to obey has undermined their life in advance.

The Rechabites loyally obeyed the word of their founder, and passed their hour of testing with flying colors. They had his example, they knew his teaching, and life itself had proved to them that they were in the right way.

A closing word. The liquor interests are concerned because the consumption of beer is rapidly falling off and because most of their customers are "elderly or middle-aged." They are spending tremendous sums in advertising to "get the beer drinking habit instilled in thousands, almost millions, of young men who do not at present know the taste of beer."

That is their avowed aim. Shall they be permitted to put it across? Not if Christian people will put the influence of the American home squarely where it ought to be—against the liquor traffic.

... JUST LIKE MOTHER USED TO MAKE!
(See Recipes Below)

IT WAS WONDERFUL FOOD!

Remember flying home, pigtailed thumping, to smell supper, and guess? Remember being saucer-eyed as mother's marble cake took a blue ribbon at the fair? And remember licking the last bit of sweetness from the frosting platter?

I know you must remember. How could you forget? It was wonderful food!

And it's to the best cooks in the world—our mothers—that this week's column is dedicated. When you pay them homage on Mother's day, 1941, perhaps you'll enjoy using some of the following recipes, favorites of the long ago.

In those days, to be caught without plenty of food, and good food, too, for all comers was to show oneself a poor housekeeper, a bad hand in the kitchen.

But times have changed. A large "crook" of butter, a "basket" of eggs, and a "wedge" of cheese are no longer a part of the regular supplies on the shelf in the vegetable cellar. Nor are recipes penciled on the fly-leaf of the family ledger. But the basic goodness is still the same.

So, whether it be crusty brown doughnuts, chicken pie and jelly roll, huge, fluffy cakes, or rich chocolate pie, let's take mother back, down memory lane!

Lovely to look at and utterly delightful to eat is the Sour Cream Devil's Food Cake, which I'm sure was a favorite of grandmother's.

Sour Cream Devil's Food Cake.
2 cups sifted cake flour
1 teaspoon soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup butter or other shortening
1/4 cups sugar
1 egg, unbeaten
3 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 cup thick sour cream
3/4 cup sweet milk

Sift flour once, measure, add soda and salt, and sift together three times. Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar gradually, and cream together well. Add egg and beat very thoroughly; then chocolate and vanilla, and blend. Add about one-fourth of the flour and beat well; then add sour cream and beat thoroughly. Add remaining flour, alternately with milk, a small amount at a time, beating after each addition until smooth. Turn into two greased 9-inch layer pans and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 30 minutes, or until done.

Spread Felicity Frosting on top and sides of cake. Top with glossy chocolate coating, made by combining 1 square unsweetened chocolate, melted, 1/4 cup sugar, and 1/4 cup water. Cook over low flame until smooth and thick. Cool slightly. Double the recipe for three 10-inch layers.

Felicity Frosting.
2 egg whites, unbeaten
2 cups brown sugar, firmly packed
Dash of salt
7 tablespoons water

Combine egg whites, sugar, salt and water in top of double boiler, beating with rotary egg beater until thoroughly mixed. Place over rapidly boiling water, beat constantly with rotary egg beater, and cook 7 minutes, or until frosting will stand in peaks. Remove from fire, but allow to remain over hot water, and beat 2 minutes longer. Place over cold water and continue beating 3 minutes. Makes enough frosting to cover top and sides of two 9-inch layers.

Just like mother used to make. That's what you'll say when you taste the delicious cookies, made by the directions given below. When mother baked cookies she made them rich with butter and usually full of fruit, like:

Fig Oaties.
Boil 5 minutes in water to cover:
1 1/2 cups dried figs
Drain, clip stems and cut figs into thin strips (scissors are handy). Cream together:
1 cup butter
2 cups beet or cane sugar

Add:
3 eggs, beaten
Blend well, then add liquids:
1/4 cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
Sift together and add:
1 1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
3/4 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons baking powder

Add:
Figs
5 cups quick-cooking oats
Stir until well blended, then drop by small spoonfuls onto greased cookie sheet and flatten slightly. Bake in moderately hot oven, 400 degrees F., for 13 to 15 minutes. Press a nut meat, strips of fig or cherry into tops before baking if desired. For a glazed top, brush with hot honey after baking and place under broiler for a minute or two. Makes 5 1/2 dozen medium-sized cookies.

Do you recall the old cracker barrel? It was a necessity in days gone by when homemakers often made their own crackers, and even their own baking powder and bread starter. Thinking that perhaps in your spare moments you might like to try your hand at cracker making, I'm including a recipe.

Crackers Made With Yeast.
1/2 package granular yeast
1 pint warm water
1 1/2 quarts flour
1 tablespoon salt
1/4 cup sour milk
1/2 cup shortening
1 teaspoon soda

Set sponge of yeast, water and flour at night. In the morning add the other ingredients and flour to stiffen very stiff. Pound with rolling pin. Fold over and pound again. Continue until the dough is smooth. Place on a lightly floured board and roll in a thin sheet. Cut in squares and punch holes on top with a fork. Place in ungreased pans and bake in a 400-degree F. oven. These are inexpensive and very good!

Unlimited Debate

In the United States senate the members have the right to hold the floor for an unlimited time in debate. Unless otherwise agreed on in advance, a senator once recognized may hold the floor as long as he continues to speak, or until the session ends.

Debating time in the more numerous house is strictly parcelled out.

AROUND THE HOUSE

To keep the inside of a garage in good condition, remove rust that may have accumulated with coarse sandpaper, then rub over entire surface with olive oil.

Before baking potatoes, let them stand in hot water for 15 minutes. Then rub with butter or lard and put in oven. They will bake in half the time and will not shrink.

When rooms are to be painted, coat windows with a cleaning powder. If paint splatters on the glass it comes off easily when the powder is wiped away.

Many kitchens have a bare, unused wall space that could be usefully and attractively transformed into recessed shelves.

A teaspoonful of vinegar added to any boiled frosting before spreading will keep it from becoming brittle or breaking when it is cut.

If sugar is added to water when making flavored ice cubes, the cubes will not freeze clear or solidly.

Shrinkage in woollens is usually due to over-washing. In ordinary circumstances, three minutes is long enough for them.

Two tablespoons chile sauce or catsup poured over top meat loaf when half-baked gives a good flavor and rather crusty covering.

If kerosene is added to the water with which linoleum is washed it will loosen dirt and make washing much easier.

WOULD YOU BUY AN ARTIFICIAL LEG FROM A PLUMBER ?

Inferior repair parts are sold for International Harvester Company machines just like all other popular machinery, but the consumer takes an unnecessary risk when he buys them.

If the International Harvester Company manufactured or supplied inferior repairs for its machines it would not only face the loss of its reputation but its business. We realized that several years ago when we first started selling FARMALLS and other IHC farming equipment.

Our customers know that whenever they find repairs furnished them for IHC machines not as GOOD as the parts on a new machine they are NOT getting the genuine IHC parts.

If parts could be manufactured at a lower cost and sold at lower prices without sacrificing quality, this would be done. Competitive business forces this requirement. The right material for the purpose and the knowledge acquired through years of manufacturing enables International Harvester Company to produce quality that will not be found in imitation repairs.

A plumber might sell you an artificial leg at a much cheaper price than you could buy from a person who has spent his lifetime in study of artificial limbs.

We hope you don't need an artificial leg but its the time of year when your tractor does need repairs and may we suggest that you
