THIS WEEK IN AUSTIN By Preston Smith, Senator, 28th Senatorial District

Legislators here in Austin are saying that one of the hardest floor battles of the session will come on the loan shark bill...

The big issue probably will be written to prohibit or restrict chain operation of the loan offices.

The State of Texas has a constitutional bar against chain or "branch" banking...

The pending bill on small loan firms puts licensing and supervision of leading agencies in the hands of the State Banking Department...

The Legislature has a free hand in setting up regulations and supervisory procedures...

Groups of independent and local loan firms and the chain groups already have joined hands...

The proposed "uniform" plan calls for a maximum of 3 per cent per month on the unpaid balances...

Early Day Settler Here

It's a long way from the dusty cattle trails of the old Slaughter spread to the spanking newness of West Texas in 1961...

Born in Hunt County, E. C. first came to this part of the country in 1929 when O'Donnell was little more than a deep breath between Big Spring and Lubbock...

He has been a cowhand — once he rode horseback from Big O to Wichita Falls...

A farmer — in the long ago days before subsidization and soil bank — and finally, for the past seventeen years, a member of the O'Donnell Post Office Department.

Mr. Harris is one of the most widely known and best liked men in the area. His good nature and long service to his community attest to his efficiency in his job...

Country Editor

The need for the public school never changes but times and conditions may change or require to be changed in methods and practices of public education.

Our Texas public schools were created 107 years ago. In 1854 the law was passed establishing the public school.

It is a healthy thing in our democratic way of life to have intelligent understanding of the important functions of our basic institutions.

Plan now to attend and visit your public schools next week. You will enjoy the experience of going back to school — if but for a day.

Mrs. Matt Farmer and Mrs. Shorty Farmer and children visited at Weatherford and Ft. Worth last week.
