1945 Was One Of The Driest Years

Althou the years 12:17-18 are us-ually spoken of as the driest years ever experienced on the South Plains, it is now apparent that the year just closing brot forth even less moisture. Practically no crops were gathered during the 17-18 period, but this fact was a result of 'team farming', there being no tractors in use at that time,

Approximately five inches of rain was received this year up to Sept-ember 25th at which 1-10 of inch was received. Following rainfall was: Sept. 28-29: 1.73: Cct. 4th: 1.03; Oct. 7th: 07; Oct. 9th: .61:

FOR MEN NOW IN THE ARMY TO RETAIN THEIR PRESENT GRADES BY REENLISTING ...

Men now in the Army who reenlist before February 1 will be reenlisted in their present grade. Men honorably discharged can reenlist within 20 days after discharge in the grade they held at the time of discharge, provided they reenlist before February 1, 1946.

There's a long list of attractive reenlistment privileges in the new Armed Forces Voluntary Recruitment Act of 1945. The ability to keep your present grade is only one of them, but this privilege expires on January 31.

There are plenty of other reasons why many thousands of men have enlisted, and more thousands are enlisting every day. You'll certainly want to know all of the opportunities open to you. If you'll read them carefully, you'll know why a job in the new peacetime Regular Army is being regarded today as "The Best Job in the World."

HIGHLIGHTS OF THE NEW ENLISTMENT PROGRAM

Enlistments for 11/2, 2 or 3 years. year enlistments permitted for mer w in Army with 6 months' service. Enlistment age from 17 to 34 years inclusive, except for men now in Army, who may reenlist at any age. Men reenlisting retain present grades, if they reenlist within 20 days after discharge and before February 1, 1946.

The best pay scale, medical care, od, quarters and clothing in Army since last entry into service.

 Up to 90 days' paid furlough, de-pending on length of service, with fur-lough travel paid to home and return, for men now in Army who enlist. 7. A 30-day furlough every year at full

 Mustering-out pay (based upon length of service) to all men who are discharged to reenlist. Option to retire at half pay for life after 20 years' service—increasing to three-quarters pay after 30 years' ser-vice. All previous active federal milicounts toward retiren Benefits under the GI Bill of Family allowances for the term of enlistment for dependents of men with enlist before July 1, 1946. 12. Opportunity to learn one or more of 200 skills and trades.

Truman Seen as Standard-Bearer of the Democratic Party: Dewey Faces Fight In New York to Stay in GOP Race.

> By BAUKHAGE News Analyst and Commentator.

WNU Service, 1616 Eye Street N.W., | cate them. That was a major step-Washington, D. C.

National elections still are three years away, but Washington politicians and news correspondentsparticularly the latter-already are selecting "men to be watched."

The next campaign will be normal in at least one respect, namely, that the Democratic candidate for all practical purposes already has been chosen. Unless the party's hierarchy wishes to confess failure of a policy of government it has espoused with only occasional departures, the ticket will be headed by President Harry S. Truman. As a matter of fact, that can now be dismissed from conjecture; unless fate intervenes, Truman is the can-

However, passing of a President and the elimination from the political scene of an incumbent in the vice presidency, plus election of a Democratic mayor in New York City have combined to encourage election forecasting. Mayor-elect William O'Dwyer will not figure personally, but because he ran roughshod over the nominee of Governor Thomas E. Dewey, head of the Republican national ticket in 1944, he has brought national implications into what otherwise would have been simply a municipal ballot.

Who will be Truman's running mate, currently is a popular subject o, debate in political circles. Whom the Republicans will place on their ticket runs a close second. Taking those developments up in inverse order, attention first comes to Governor Dewey. His was the presidential chance discounted by the election of O'Dwyer in New York City, over Josiah Goldstein, a former Democrat turned Republican-a circumstance that didn't help him one bit in an overwhelmingly Democratic community headed for the past 12 years by Mayor LaGuardia. The Little Flower defied description by party label, but his replacement on January 1 will be regarded as substitution of a Democrat for a Republican. No one familiar with New York state politics needs to be told how poor are the chances of a candidate for governor who lacks city support.

Dewey faces the New York electorate two years hence. And he without city backing. If he fails to gain another term at Albany, that, plus his defeat for the presidency. just about ends him as a contender.

Competitors Loom

Assuming, if only for the sake of developing the thought, that this diagnosis by Washington scribes is accurate, upon whom does the mantle fall? The subject becomes difficult at that juncture, but there are two who stand out so far in front of other aspirants as to make them virtually alone in the field. One is a disciple of the old school, the other an ultra-modern in politics-the former, Senator Arthur Vandenburg of Michigan; the latter, former Governor Harold Stassen of Minnesota. A close third, and a vigorous contender, is ex-Governor John Bricker of Ohio. A political catalogue could hardly record three more differing types. Senator Vandenburg is the most politically orthodox of the three. His experience in public life has been confined wholly to the United States senate, but he has made the best of every political break. A forceful orator, he captures heatlines, is throughout the country. There is no bluster to his oratory: it has been pointed at specific objects and he has clicked. With the country facing an era of international dealings of transcendent importance, he is well versed in world affairs. He was chosen over several other illustrious party members as a Republican delegate to the United Nations conference at San Francisco, where he acquitted himself well. In the field of labor relations-second today only to international problems-he was the sponsor of the recent labor-management meetings in Washington, which, if they did no more, proved that employers and employees can sit down at the same table and discuss their difping stone toward amity. It was labeled the President's Labor-Management Conference. Both sides, and the rest of the nation, know it was Vandenburg's.

Former Governor Stassen stands in a position to become the first veteran of World War II to become President, just as the incumbent, President Truman, is the first veteran of World War I to achieve that high estate. Stassen has youth plus experience as the chief administrator of a state which is important politically and geographically. Like Vandenburg, he also was a delegate to San Francisco, but in any frank appraisal of their roles in international politics, he must give ground to the Michigan senator. However, Stassen has captured popular imagination by his forward-looking attitude toward the tantamount subject of the day, the atomic bomb. He has a faculty for capitalizing on Governor Bricker faces the drawback that "he's been to the well" before. He failed to win the Republican presidential non-ination in 1944 and had to be content with second place. But who could win against the wave of Dewey sentiment then washing over the nation? That he has made a splendid state administrator even Democrats ad-What he lacks is recognition outside his own state; he has suffered from the accusation that he is provincial. His declarations on foreign affairs as a vice presidential candidate a year ago weren't marked for their profundity, weren't convincing. Unless all present plans miscarry, Bricker will try for the United States senate. That would give him the national sounding board he needs.

Bricker is handsome (an attribute which cannot be overlooked in these days of women's vote), he's an able speaker and a war veteran. The latter will be a factor to be carefully weighed when the 1948 ticket is made up. And this time he'll have the whole fearted support of Senator Robert A. Taft of his home state, something he lacked in a practical sense before. Taft was a candidate himself. This time he says he will not be.

Democrats Vie for Vice Presidency

On the Democratic side, the goal hopefuls will be shooting for is the vice presidential nomination. The field is rather open, but not to the more obvious personages. There is, of course, no vice president today. Senator Kenneth McKellar functions on the job as president pro tem of the senate. Actually, in spite of public thought to the contrary, that doesn't make him the second highest officer of the federal government. Protocol places the speaker of the house next to the President. As a matter of record, President Truman has asked congress to enact legislation creating statutory succession to the presidency with the speaker preferred over the president pro tem of the senate should vacancies occur in both the presidency and the vice presidency. Translated into sports talk, McKellar is "in on a pass."

In any event, McKellar will be approaching 80 years of age when the next convention rolls around and would be out of the running on that score if for no other reason. A dark horse in the long-range predictions is Senator Brian Mc-Mahon of Connecticut. A first-term member, he trimmed the popular and able Senator John Danaher, Republican, to win his office. He has many of the attributes which won votes for Thomas Dewey a year ago-he's young, just turned 42; he has proved himself an able prosecutor while serving as chief of the criminal division in the department of justice when he cleaned up such messes as the Harlan mine outlawry; he's a White House intimate, a vigorous speaker, self-made man with a substantial accumulation of worldly goods gained in the practice of law, and he's chairman of the senate's committee to develop national policy on atomic energy. In gaining the latter distinction, he overthrew the senate seniority rule and by-passed older members ferences even if they cannot eradi- who aspired to that important post.

Spend More For Seek Arctic Bases Family Laundry

Americans Form Habit Due To Conditions of War, of Sending Out Wash.

CHICAGO.-Americans are spending more for laundry than ever before. Sending the family wash to a commercial laundry gained momentum during the war I ecause of the convenience and the shortage of household help. The industry believes the habit is firmly entrenched and that having eliminated the weekly wash day, housewives will not be anxious to revive it, says the Chicago Tribune.

Laundries collected 409 million doflars for services in 1939. Industry sources estimate this year's total at more than 620 million dol-

"There is every reason to expect that household laundry service will continue at a level higher than the prewar figure," said George H. Johnson, general manager of the American Institute of Laundering.

Maybe Spend More.

A survey of 3,500 customers of the institute's one plant in Joliet, Ill., Johnson said, disclosed that 98 per cent of the families serviced expect to send as much or more wash to laundries as they did during the war. Only 11/2 per cent indicated they intend to send less.

As to what the housewife can expect from laundry service, Johnson said: "The customer can look forward to a return to peacetime service and quality as rapidly as the plant can put those improvements into effect.

Laundries again will sew on miss ing buttons and turn or change shirt collars and cuffs. Special starching will be resumed and there will be broader use of waterproofing and flameproofing of draperies and cur-

Customers in crowded areas where delivery has been slow will get relief as soon as the local situation clears up, the institute manager asserted. But in some communities where service has been or a four to seven day schedule, he added, plants may continue their war time routings after delivery restrictions end.

Lack Skilled Workers.

Lack of skilled workers has slowed down laundry operation more than any one other factor. Johnson said. Whereas a skilled pressing machine operator can turn out 30 shirts an hour, production in some cases dropped as low as 12 to 15 during the war.

The girl who was accustomed to working in a laundry had just the skills needed in war plants. son said. "When the over-all employ ment picture improves, laundry service will improve as well.

Aging machinery has been another deterrent to the commercial laundry. Normal obsolescence replacements run 28 million dollars a year. Industry sources estimate pent up demand at 100 million dollars for machinery alone.

Receiving major attention is a oposed long-range agreement with Iceland providing for peacetime use by the army air forces of Americanbuilt Meeks field, one of the world's largest and most strategically situated bases.

This was revealed by reliable sources coincident with warnings from top American air force generals that the United States is vulnerable to attack through the Polar regions. Folsom and four of his top executives went over the entire electronics field with a group of newspaper reporters who are on the semifinal lap of a nation-wide reconversion survey. Production of new radio sets is so far behind schedule because of shortages in component parts that the entire industry will do well to turn out 400,000 units by Christmas, Folsom said. The war production board has forecast 2,500,600 sets by that time Nothing new has been added to

Once in testifying before the senate insular affairs com-mittee as secretary of war, Pat shouted: "You cannot call me liar. You can run your star-cham ber sessions without me. I have taken all I can stand." Whereupon he flounced out of the room.

Some years earlier, Pat appeared before the house Indian affairs committee to oppose opening the tribal rolls of the Choctaw nation to certain Indians who claimed they were euchered out of their tribal lands. And he was severely criticized by Webster Ballinger, who pointed out that just two years before, Hurley had represented the Wards, an Indian family which sought to have the Choctaw tribal rolls opened. Thus Hurley was in the position of arguing on both sides. of the same question in the brief period of two years.

Pat was not quite as ferocious in those days, however, and for some unexplained reason did not threaten to kick Ballinger out of the com-

Henry B. Wilson, then and now one of the most beautiful ladies in the capital. It is a long way from such lowly beginnings to his more recent interviews with Joe Stalin, his airplane flights through the Near East, and his powerful position as the right of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-

Al Wedemeyer over the question of sending a mission to the socalled Communist section of China to evaluate the importance of its military strength. For a while he and Wedemeyer weren't speaking to each other though they occupied

CHRISTMAS CAROLS

If you happen near the secondary office of Rep. Leslie Arends of Illinois, house Republican whip, deep in the sub-basement of the capitol, you can hear strange sounds echoing through the catacomb-like corridors.

Arends and his five colleagues are getting their voices in trim for a special trans-Atlanatic broadcast of Christmas carols - in which six members of the British parliament also will join-to be aired by the Mutual network on December 20.

Familiar carols, such as "Oh, Little Town of Bethlehem" and "Hark! The Herald Angels Sing" will be rendered by the legislators. The Americans and Britons will do a joint rendition of "Silent Night."

The other members of the Arends sextet are GOP Representatives, Harve Tibbott of Pennsylvania, Paul Shafer of Michigan, Harry Towe of New Jersey, Frank Fellows of Maine and William Hill of Colorado.

Are you one of those homemakers who finds herself with a refrigerator full of leftovers and does not know what to do? Yes, I know it is sometimes difficult to disgulse these bits of turkey or chicken or roast, but glance at some of these recipes I'm giving you today!

They'll prove to you that even the leftovers can be palatable.

If you have had a large roast, then serve all the meat from it sliced, until you get down to the bones and can cut off meat only in chunks or bits. Then go to work with your eggs, milk, etc., and make something out of it. Even the bones can be used as a base for delicious soup, after the meat is gone. Don't feed the garbage pail with rich tidbits that can really be good eating.

WORLD FELLOWSHIP OF CHRISTIANS

LESSON TEXT—Acts 10:34-43.
GOLDEN TEXT—The same Lord over all is rich unto all that call upon Him.—Romans 10:12.

Fellowship is impossible where there is prejudice and intolerance. The world is full of it even now, after we have fought a global war to stop such inhumanity of man to It would be a surprise even to some Christian people to learn that that with Him a man is not received because he is of a particular rase, color, education or social posi-God created all men, He loves all men, Christ died for all men, and every Christian ought to be desperately concerned that all men should hear about their Saviour and come

'God is no respecter of persons,'

to know the love of God. The church of Christ has its greatest opportunity now to show that the things it professes to believe actually work in the relation-ship of man to man. They will work if we will only let them! Our lesson presents:

I. Principle-God Is No Respecter of Persons (vv. 34, 35).

Peter had learned about God's love for the Gentiles by the vision given him concerning Cornelius. (Read Acts 10:1-33.)

Peter was a Jew, and God now used this vision to teach him a much needed lesson about the carrying of the gospel to the Gentiles. The Jews were (and still are-let us remember it) God's chosen people. However, they were not chosen for their own comfort, convenience or glory, but that they might be channels for the outflowing of God's blessing to all nations.

Cornelius was typical of those in every nation who are ready for the preaching of the gospel. He was a God-fearing, righteous man, but nonetheless in need of redemption. God brought this man, who was ready to receive the message, together with the man Peter, who was prepared to preach it, and the result was salvation.

Whatever it may be that keeps us from carrying the gospel to all nations, we ought to recognize as unchristian, and put it aside. It may be race prejudice, for it still persists; but it may be an equally deadly indifference to the needs of others. Let us, like Peter, go to them and open our mouths (v. 34) to pro-

II. Practice-Jesus Did Good to All (vv. 36-41).

The attributes of God are always active. He not only is good, He does good. So the principle, "no respecter of persons," is perfectly exemplified in our Lord Jesus who "went about doing good and healing all that were oppressed of the devil," and we may well place the emphasis on the word

The death of Christ for their sins (v. 39). His resurrection from the dead for their justification (v. 40), the coming judgment for sin (v. 42), and the remission of sins in His namethese are the essentials of Peter's message.

Note how plain is the truth. Jesus has come and has wrought redemption for all who will believe. Now must choose whether we want Him to be our Judge or our Reacemer. Either He is your Saviour, or He will be your judge. (John 3:17, 18.)

The proclamation of this message of redemption was never completed, even "while Peter yet spake these words, the Holy Spirit fell upon them (v. 44). Blessed interruption! Would that we might have more like it in our churches and Bible schools! This leads up to our last point, namely, that we have a III. Privilege—We Are to Preach to All People (vv. 42, 43).

Yes, it is a command (Matt. 28: 19, 20), but it is also an unestimable privilege to be called of God to tell all nations about the One in whom they have "remission of sins." Let us preach that message. Book reviews, political addresses, discussion of civic or social problems will not bring the result. Forums, clubs, discussion groups, unless they have for their subject the Word of God, need not expect anything like this to Preaching of the Word of God concerning the person and work of Christ, whether it be in a home (like that of Cornelius) or in a great cathedral (and thank God, some of them do have such preaching), will result in some soul finding Christ and receiving the Holy Spirit. It is worthy of note that these believers gave evidence of their newfound spiritual life by magnifying God, obeying His word, and testifying to others. It is to the credit of Peter and his companions that they recognized the workings of God's grace in the lives of these Gentiles.

May we also be quick to see, appreciate and encourage every true gospel work, whether it be among our own people or with some other ace, whether in our church or in especter of persons."

 Friendship ****

FEW words in the English langage are so little understood. Few words are so thoroughly

Friendship comes out of time. The building of friendship entails many hurts, just as it is responsible for countless blessings. So to prove friendship we must accept the hurts and the blessings with the same cordial smile, the same hearty handelasp. It's easy to show friendship when the going is smooth. When the seas th. When the seas get rough, the test appears.

And strangely enough, friendship is least needed when the sun shines. Friendship counts most when the skies are black and the wind blows

May 1946 bring you and I of th Index family that kind of friendship that will stretch that far and darn well stay stretched. A Happy New Year to one and all.
