WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS ----Truman's 'Non-Political' Tour in West Breaks Precedents, Also Hits Snags; Senate Fights to Recover Aid Slash

By Bill Schoentgen, WNU Staff Writer_

ODDS ON SECURITY Seeking to end what he termed a "desperate gamble" with the nation's security, Sen. Chan Gurney (Rep., S. D.) (left) opened senate debate on the measure to draft youths aged 19 through 25. Chairman of the senate armed services committee. Gurney here is discussing the draft bill with Senators Leverett Saltonstall (Rep., Mass.) and Richard B. Russell (Dem., Ga.).

NON-POLITICAL: Truman's Tour

President Truman's "non-political swing through the West could be described as non-political only in the sense that Mr. Truman, as a candidate for Democratic renomination, had jettisoned many of the rules of standard party politics.

It was a lone wolf fight he was waging-going over the heads of party leaders to talk directly to the people. And most of what he had to say to the people concerned the Republican congress and what he termed its inaction.

In Chicago, speaking before the Swedish Pioneer Centennial association, he hammered out a platform upon which he can be expected to base his chances for renomination.

Specifically, he lashed out at the idea that communism can be legislated out of existence.

From Chicago the President, with his entourage, headed for the heart of the farm belt, Omaha, Neb., and it was there that he was set sharp-back on his heels. He continued his lambasting of the Republican congress-this time concentrating on GOP farm policies -in a speech at the Ak-Sar-Ben coliseum in Omaha. Fantastically, in the coliseum which has a ca pacity of 10,000, fewer than 2,000 persons were present to hear Mr. Truman talk.

This phenomenon was variously interpreted. Some said the President's box office appeal had wilted. hers claimed the Nebraska Den cratic machine had done a miserably inadequate job in promoting his appearance. Probably closer to the truth was the plain fact that the "non-political" label of the presidential trip had backfired seriously. He made a political speech and had expected to get a crowd of friendly Democrats to fill the hall for the occasion But the White House previously had told the Democratic organization in Omaha to lay off the political hoop-la, and the organization acted in compliance with those instructions. Payoff came when nobody else showed up to fill the aching void which the Democrats created by staying away.

MINE TALKS: More Snags

As usual John L. Lewis was mining the channels of possible agreement in the latest series of contract discussions between him and representatives of the soft coal mine operators.

The explosive the UMW chief planted this time was a demand that the operators first guarantee welfare aid for distressed miners before they can expect his union to sign a new contract.

Thus, the "Lewis situation" in the United States was being brought to the fore again.

Already the possessor of enough government injunctions to paper the den of his Springfield, Ill., home, Lewis received another one before he would consent to bargain with the operators on a new 1943-49 contract. (The old contract expires June 30.)

S. District Judge T. Alan U. Goldsborough issued the latest injunction ordering Lewis to bargain with the Southern Coal Producers association. The mine chief previously had refused to bargain with the association because the 14 member groups were being represented at the contract talks by just one man.

However, Lewis bowed to the injunction and agreed to talk.

In the course of this talk one of the first things he did was to call the mine operators "fat cats" and then wave an arrogant club at them with these words:

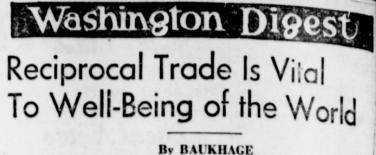

"We assume that you would deplore any impairment of your abnormal income after July 1. Such an assumption would seem to be a logical predicate for the making of a new wage agreement before that date."

Briefly, it looked as though Lewis was determined to strike again. Deprived of one snag, he immediately grasped another. As a result the first round of contract talks was fruitless.

Transition

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, in the manner of all old warriors. probably will remain a soldier at heart till the end of his days, despite the fact that he has discarded his military trappings for the cap and gown of an educator. Ike has settled down as president of Columbia university, and that's the only kind of president he wants to be, he says.

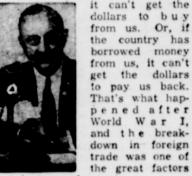

News Analyst and Commentator

WASHINGTON .- Despite the spirited battle over extension of the reciprocal trade agreement authority, nothing which even is best friends could hope to do about it would be definitive, for every one knew from the start that final action must be postponed unit next year.

Reciprocal trade agreements have been a definite part of our foreign trade policy for 14 years. If they were of any value in the past, they an of even more value now. But with an election a little more than four months off and congress trying to break a log jam of legislation, lengthy debate on the subject was impossible.

Putting it backwards, the reciprocal trade agreement policy is this: If a country is prevented by a high tariff wall from selling to us, it can't get the

But that isn't the only thing that tariff walls do. They tend to force isolationism, extreme nationalism on a country and behind the tariff walls, as ex-Secretary of State Cordell Hull used to say so often, grow the roots of war.

Secretary of State Marshall stated that the Gearhart bill would destroy the substance of the reciprocal trade theory, a theory which is not only the cornerstone of our general foreign trade policy, but the principle which we have insisted must be followed by nations participating in the European recovery program.

The secretary said that "only the shadow of the original act would be preserved in the substitute bill proposed by Representative Gearhart, while its substance would be destroyed." And he added: "I think our national interests would be better preserved to permit the trade agreements act to expire than to permit H.R. 6556 to be enacted."

weakening of the trade agreements act at this critical period in world affairs would "almost certainly be regarded by other countries not only as a surrender of our leadership in the international economic field, but as a repudiation of much that has been accomplished under our leadership in that field."

When we agreed to the European recovery plan (E.C.A.), one of the things we emphasized, demanded in fact, was that the countries receiving our aid would have to break down tariff barriers arainst each other and the rest of the world. We knew there couldn't be economic recovery if there was not a free flow of world trade. Even before the E.C.A. was ever thought of-since 1934, as a matter of fact-by vigorously pursuing the reciprocal idea, by concluding reciprocal trade treaties with so many countries (we have them will all but six or seven of the Marshall plan participants) we have encouraged the world to reduce tariff walls. Thus it would hardly seem consistent suddenly to reverse ourselves and go back to the old days of high tariff economic isolationism. The measure as the house presented it had another drawback in the eyes of Secretary Marshall and supporters of his point of view. The bill would force the President either to accept the recommendations of the federal tariff commission on adjustments above or below a certain bracket or submit them to a congressional veto. That sounds reasonable in theory, but what it does is to smash absolutely the whole basis for reciprocal trade negotiation. A nasty little joker in the measure stating that tariff commission recommendations must be made on the principle of protecting the speinterests concerned revealed cial the intent of its framers. That provision would destroy the purpose of negotiation by removing trade agreements from the field of the 'general good" and narrowing them down to a question of whether the particular industry is to be protected from competition. Thus, not only would international relations and conditions have to be ignored entirely, but broad national interests as well.

"restrictions on or crippling of the trade agreements program would have very undesirable repercus Discontinuance or impair. sions. ment would destroy consistency in United States policy and would undermine world confidence." Former Republican presidential candidate Alfred E. Landon came out in favor of the three year ertension of the trade agreements act as urged by the administration. He said that failure to extend the act would be contrary to the Republican policy plank of 1944.

Frequent public opinion polls have shown that the majority of the people favor trade treaties. In fact, persons who know what trade treaties are vote better than eight to one to retain them.

I'm no economic expert, but all I have ever read or heard about the old high protective tariff de bates, the experience under the Smoot-Hawley bill, the post-World War I debt repudiation and depression would seem to indicate that the high tariff idea should and would be dead as a dodo.

If not, it means we spin the whee! backward to the grand old days of high tariffs which killed foreign trade, made it impossible for for eign countries to sell us goods and spend their money here, or to pay back the money they owed ussimply to protect certain private interests.

This Convention Is Different

As the Republicans swing into action with the greatest hope they have had for electing a president since the fifth birthday of this year's first voters, there are a num ber of striking contrasts '> be noted between this convention in Philadelphia and former GOP conclaves One big contrast is in the size of the audience which actually will behold the speakers as they step forward onto the rostrum. In 1940. some 10,000 people not actually in the hall witnessed the convention

Two television cameras mirrored the scenes to a fairly select audience, some of it composed of persons fortunate enough to share the hospitality of the Railroad club in the same building as the hall. There one could escape the sound and fury, the glare of the lights, the heat and aridity, and could snack and sip in a comfortable chair. This year in Philadelphia, the estimated television audience will be counted in the millions, for networks will carry the scene to view ers from Massachusetts to Callfornia." Instead of two lonely cameras, there will be the pooled equipment and programming of the various nets.

AID SLASH: 'Less Recovery'?

Sen. Arthur Vandenberg was fighting mad at what the house of representatives had done to his political baby, the world recovery program, by slashing nearly a million dollars from the appropriations for the Europe-Asia aid bill.

On the Republican foreign policy leader from Michigan rested the administration's hope of reclaiming the appropriations cut in senate action on the measure.

Certainly, Vandenberg has a more than usual affinity for global aid program since it was he who labored to steer the Marshall plan to congressional approval last April. What the house had done was to approve a total foreign aid expen-

Legislators in both houses were treading gingerly about on the issue. throbbing with the knowledge that this is an election year and furthermore there are any number of American parents ready to offer material objections at the ballot box if their boys are called up for military service.

In the face of all this the senate. nevertheless, was trying to do some kind of a job. Its measure provided for the drafting of men 19 through 25 in sufficient numbers to bring the armed services up to their authorized strength. The bill would permit 18-year-olds to volunteer for a year's training, thus disposing of a universal military training act for the present.

Among the side issues that arose during the senate debate was the old bugaboo of civil rights. After an abortive two-hour filibuster by southern Democrats, the senate voted 37 to 35 to outlaw the poll tax as a requirement for voting in federal elections so far as members of the armed forces are concerned. Actually, it was a minor issue, inasmuch as most of the seven southern poll tax states still have in effect wartime suspensions of the tax for members of the armed services. Under the senate measure the draft would be authorized for five years, but the program is left flexible enough so congress each year could raise or lower both the regular and reserve forces to meet shifting world conditions.

Drafted men, after completing two years of service, would have to serve in the reserve for five years or, as a matter of choice, volunteer for an additional year in the regular services or two years in the national guard.

GERMANY:

New Plan

Pivotal point of a healthy and prosperous Europe, Germany long has been under scrutiny by the Allied powers who have been searching for a way to return it to the world family of nations without starting another squabble.

Zonal partition of Germany perhaps has been the biggest hindrance to the formulation of such a plan, and Russia consistently has objected to re-establishing an autonomous German government

Now, however, a new plan was afoot. The U. S. and five other friendly powers - Britain, France, Belgium, Luxembourg and The Netherlands - revealed a scheme for self-government in western Germany.

At the same time notice was served on Russia that occupation troops will remain there "until the peace of Europe is secured.'

The plan calls for international control of the Ruhr and for steps toward convening a German constituent assembly in the three western zones "to prepare a constitution for approval of the participating states."

That was the skeleton of a program which might put Germany back on its feet.

Reaction in the U.S. was favorable. The state department hailed it as a major step toward recovery in Europe, and it also was regarded as a body blow to Russia in the cold war.

But, although the plan asserted with some vehemence that "Germany must not again be permitted to become an aggressive power." there was some worry as to whether France would approve it.

Does the decision to go ahead with the political rehabilitation of western Germany to the exclusion of Russia's eastern zone mean that the defeated nation is finally and irrevocably split?

U. S. officials don't think so. The theory is that although it was Russia itself which forced the western powers to act without Russia, the new program does not preclude the participation of the rest of Germany in the new self-governing federation if and when the people of the Soviet zone want in.

Secretary Marshall used strong words in criticizing this clause when he said: "The bill, in effect, makes pure protection the sole criterion for tariff action."

Very few groups outside of the big industries which want to keep down foreign competition oppose the reciprocal trade program. The great majority of the chambers of commerce are for it. Earl Shreve, national president of the chamber of commerce, has said that any

But there is a greater contrast in the Republican political situation than in the delegates' physical surroundings between today and 1910.

No one who witnessed the Willkie stampede can forget. It was just about as unorthodox a procedure as history records, for the candidate was chosen, not in the hall, nor in a smoke-filled room either, but out in the sticks. If this is to be a "wireless" convention, the 1940 affair was a convention "by wire."

A group of high-pressure amateurs, who were no amateurs when it came to organized action, was putting pressure on the "big men" in every community, and the "big men" were getting to bosses or to the delegates direct by telegram and telephone. The Willkie amateurs "stole" the show from the professionals, and the professionals swore it never would happen again. It isn't happening this year.

Another highly interesting contrast between conventions - this time between 1948 and 1944-is the hectic atmosphere of today as opposed to the comparative calm then. There was a "Dewey-has-it-in-thebag" feeling back in Chicago fout years ago which took the zip out of the Chicago air. Also the war overshadowed the conclave then. The National Republican (the party newspaper) started off its lead article on June 26, 1944: "With the invasion news commanding the attention of the entire convention ...

Another contrast between '4 and '48 is in the attitude toward foreign policy. Then it was the most delicate question which faced the platform committee. Teday Senator Vandenberg has foreign policy wrapped up in a neat package signed with his name and sealed with his signet ring. That issue is no worry at all.

HE WASN'T the kind to pick a secretary by the color of her hair. Not Bill Hargrave. Both Paula and Nancy had been smart enough to know that. And for some time every one in the office had known that one of them, Paula or Nancy, was going to get the job. In fact, the decision probably would come through this afternoon. Hargrave was leaving town and wanted to get it settled.

The two girls could see him from their desks outside his office. Maybe it was only a set of proofs for the Zippo campaign that he was looking at with cool, keen eyes. But for a moment his finger seemed to pause above those two efficient little push-buttons. If he pressed the left one, it would be Paula's pulse that would go into high speed.

Paula couldn't keep her eyes off that light on her desk. She kept making mistakes in her typing and nervously ripping the sheets out to start fresh again.

She leaned across her typewriter and said to Nancy: "The boss is all dolled up today. Must be foing on a special trip with the new president of Zippo."

She was just talking to relieve her nervousness. Nancy took her time about answering. She wasn't used to having Paula talk to her in such an intimate tone. Not since they'd learned a month ago that they were both in line for a promotion, for the important job as Bill Hargrave's secretary.

"He does look nice," she said, finally.

Hargrave was young and outside of office hours he was said to be human. But that wasn't why he'd gotten to be one of the key men at Advertising, Inc. He was quiet, and some of the boys in the office hadn't realized how fast he was traveling until they somehow happened to get in his way.

Convention Eve

PHILADELPHIA .- On the eve of the 24th national Republican convention this City of Brotherly Love is slicked up in its Sunday best as the delegates and their alternates with thousands of visitors pour into the city and jam the lobbies of the hotels which are filled to the gunwales.

Broad street, the city's main downtown thoroughfare, has been dressed up with spanking new lamp posts and the convention auditorium has been given a new roof. Flags and bunting are everywhere, prices are hiked skyward as restaurants, hotels and the merchants prepare to get back that $250,000 guarantee with some to spare.

At convention headquarters in the Bellevue Stratford hotel the scene is one of utter confusion and activity. Hard by the GOP headquarters is the Democratic national committee headquarters which is preparing to hold the 29th quadrennial Democratic national convention next month.

Walter S. Hallanan, GOP national committeeman from West Virginia and chairman of the committee on arrangements, expects the largest crowd probably in convention history, certainly larger than either the 1944 or the 1940 convention, the latter also held in Philadelphia. As an indication of the difference in size and of the interest throughout the country, in 1940 at Philadelphia the convention was covered by 600 news and radio correspondents. At this convention more than 1,400 already have been issued credentials.

Set-up of the convention follows the usual pattern with only one new feature-the fact that a national convention will be televised, round the clock, for the first time in history.

All networks will pool their television from one control booth and the live show will be seen along the Atlantic coast from Richmond, Va., north to Boston. Other sections of the country, however, must be content with the newsreels. This year's convention will seat 1,094 delegates as compared to 1,057 delegates at Chicago in 1944. This is the fifth GOP national convention to be held in Philadelphia.

With Gov. Dwight H. Green of Illinois as the keynoter and Speaker of the House Joe Martin as permanent chairman, chairmanship of committees and the entire convention machinery appeared solidly in control of the so - called old guard faction of the Republican party and although the gossip in the lobbies, rooms, corridors and restaurants buzzed with all sorts of deals and combinations, unless something unforeseen happens this will not be

Hiyo Silver! Race to Old

Mine Ready to Start Anew DODGEVILLE, MICH. -The story of seven barrels of cliver abandoned in an old mine near here is being told and re-told again and is expected to cause a silver rush any day now.

Seems that a group of miners in the middle of the last century wanted more pay. The mine management refused to grant them an increase. Having just neadly capped seven barrels of silver, the miners climbed out of their hole to continue the argument.

Negotiations continued for months while the seven barrels of silver lay in the mine shaft. Finally, when an agreement was reached the miners discovered that the shafting had weakened and they refused to enter the mine again. The silver treasure never was extricated.

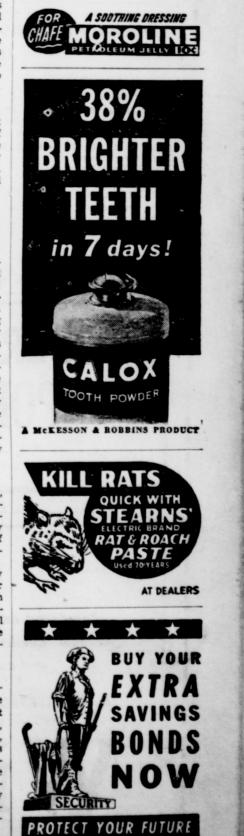

Conservatively, the treasure is estimated to be worth about $14,500. Carlos Wenberg, graduate of Michigan College of Mining and Technology, contends that the story is true.

BRING 'EM BACK ALIVE! The revival of "Gone With the Wind" has made lots of you wonder where are the movies of yesteryear, and why doesn't someone bring them back. When you enjoy a book you read it over and over. How many times have you read "Seventeenth Summer?" But, when you enjoy a movie-it's usually only the memory that lingers on; the movie, itself, disappears like yesterday's snow. According to a recent soda fountain survey, here are the epics you'd like to eat popcorn through again.

'STATE FAIR" - Jeanne was so lovely-and there must be a word for Dana, but we can't think of Then, there's that music! "JOLSON STORY"-It's practically everyone's choice for a revival at least once a month.

"MRS. MINIVER" - You'll even forgive Greer for "Desire Me" if she'll bring the Minivers Lack to town with her.

Well, when it comes to movies one good showing deserves another an open convention. For it seems certain that if the party bosses have their way the nomination will go to Sen. Robert Taft of Ohio.

Choices Lined Up

If Governor Dewey of New York and former Governor Stassen of Minnesota, who with Taft comprise the leading contenders on the early ballots, deadlock the convention, then first choice of the bosses would be Sen. John Bricker of Ohio.

If the delegates rebel at taking Senator Bricker who was the vicepresidential nominee in 1944 then all signs point to Sen. Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan. In considering Senator Vandenberg, however, his age likely would make him a one - term president; hence selection of a vice-presidential candidate is doubly important. Stassen has considerable backing and would be acceptable to Senator Vandenberg but the Minnesotan has so estranged himself with the Taft-Dewey forces and the national committee bosses that the chances are he has euchered himself even out of the vice - presidency. Speaker Martin is a possibility and some sources declare that with Vandenberg running on a one - term platform, Governor Dewey possibly might accept the vice-presidency.

Running Mates

Governor Warren of California, Senator Saltonstall of Massachusetts, Congressman Charles Halleck of Indiana, house majority leader, and Gov. James H. Duff of Pennsylvania are other vice-presidential possibilities.

Despite the setback sustained by Stassen in Oregon and the bitter resentment he has brought down upon himself from the party leaders, the widespread popular appeal Stassen engenders may balk the best laid plans of the party planners.

Rump Session?

Without Stassen or someone acceptable to Stassen on the ticket the party leadership is worried about the younger element of the party, the ex-G.I.s, the college students, the new generation of Republicans who refuse to think and talk politics of the McKinley era. Where will these young, active Republicans go in the election if the party bosses put over a reactionary candidate of the traditional Taft-Bricker type?

New Light on Profit

Some industrial leaders nowsdays refer to that old joker item, "profit," in a new way. Annual reports of corporations are beginning to list profit more properly as that part of the sales dollar spent for "use of the tools." This is an understandable way to designate whatever money is paid to stockholders or kept in the business for reinvestment or expansion.

If American workers have good tools they turn out good products at reasonable prices. Without good tools the picture would be different. We do have good tools and good plants, better than any other nation. But these things did not come by accident. These tools have accumulated because all of us have been free to save and invest. We have put savings into tools of production. These things are our capital.

Capital at Work

A hundred years ago each workman had only $550 invested for his use in the form of tools. Today more than 11 times this amount, or about $6,000 worth of tools, is back of the average American workman in his productive efforts. I terms of purchasing power, our average workman's wages have increased about five fold, even though he works only half as many hours as he did then.

Tools, then are important to all of us. Where do they come from ? The price of these better tools (sometimes they're expensive tools) has come from peo able to save from their incomes a little surplus to invest. Most of these folks today are in the income bracket of $5,000 or over. But through life insurance and bank savings, nearly everybody in America participates in these purchases of tools.

Danger Signs

Obviously, we have a high standard of living partly because of the laboraiding tools we have accumulated. That is fine. But we must not forget that it is possible for America to have such national policies that tool investments are not forthcoming. In fact, during 1930 to 1940 when our account in tools (capital) slipped downward 19.4 per cent, we found that our economy went backward rather than forward.

Looking at the record, we see that most of our tools were accumulated in the generation prior to 1929. From 1920 to 1930 new capital flowed to industry at the average rate of 6 billion dollars a year. But the years from 1938 to 1945 were dangerous years. During that pe-riod a yearly average of less than half a billion dollars went into tools for our workers to use.

Tools or Taxes? What was the trouble? One trouble was that government had entered the picture and had begun to siphon funds away from the capital market. Tool money was turned into taxes. New tools became scarce. People were afraid to invest. Even after the government had spent its part of the savings taken in taxation, depression remained and millions were still unemployed. We needed money turned to tools and incentive, not to taxes.

Unsound taxation policies must no be allowed to get in the way of good tools and incentive investments. Today our corporations are retaining smaller profits than may be turned into tools. In 1946, though it was the best year on record, manufacturing establishments averaged only 5 cents profit (use of tools) out of the sales dollar. The corporation average was less than that. We must not forget the importance of tools. We need profit, for profit means tools.

10 to 15 Children will Die 54 feet and two 25 ft. lots. JAMES BOWLIN

During the summer months June, July and August between 10 and 15 children will be crushed to death beneath the wheels of famly cars as parents and neighbors back out of or enter their drive ways. That was the forecast of the Texas Department of Public Safety today

Director Homer Garrison, stated that children will spend a lot of time playing out of doors these months and it is difficult for the driver to see them while looking thru the rear glass of an automobile. Vision also will be somethe vehicle as the motorist enters the usual driveway. By using extra caution upon entering or backing out of driveways, the lives of 45 children can be saved during this period.

Ten Million Votes If one of the first steps of socialization --- government ownership -- should come now in this country, ten million voters would be added immediately to the payroll of the federal government. Sounds unbelievable, doesn't it? Ten million votes could make quite a showing on a Tuesday of any November. Mr. Wallace, or any other candidate, could go far with that kind of backing.

There are approximately that many persons employed in the transportation industry in the United States. Transportation would be one of the first industries to be marked for nationalization, in this country as in Britain. This would include waterways, airlines, and possibly our trucks and their drivers. (Note on airlines: the British Overseas Airways Corporation, government owned and operated, is expected to show • $32 million loss!)

Is This Fantasy? Even in taking over American railroads, a would-be dietator could get possibly 1,500,000 votes. There are that many people employed by our railroads. Not all of them would vote the party line, at first. That would reduce the number of rail employees somewhat, until replacements were available. Of course, s new and revised form of WPA would be set up to absorb the unemployed. But even a WPA-er can vote. Either way, perhaps, the government would appreciate votes!

Lest we carry this satire too far. I will interrupt by saving that such a mess as the above is not sheer fantasy. It could happen here. The worst thing about it is that the general public, and even many folks in the transportation industry, are unaware of the danger. Yet, economic collapse and consequent government ownership is quite possible. FOR SALE: BUILDING 24 by The nation would not have to go Communistic or be conquered by Russia for this to happen. Socialism, Quickly

Yet, some of those who are closest to the transportation industry fear that collapse may come. The trouble hes in outmoded forms of Federal regulation. Too much bureaucracy can take us to socialism more quickly than we think. This setting of the scene for trouble goes back a generation. The nation has compromised on policies so long that the result is a patchwork of rules and regulations that creates as much inefficiency as possible. Over 50 government bureaus are charged with supervising some kind of transportation, with little overall coordination of policy. Actually, in event our common carriers find business no longer profitable, the government is already well prepared to begin the take-over.

2,4-D Formulas Classed In Three Major Forms

Since 2,4-D itself is insoluble in water, it is made soluble by treating it with other chemicals. This results in the manufacture of many formulations, all of which can be classified as ester, amine or sodium salt spravs.

Ester, amine and sodium salt dusts also are manufactured. The ester and the amine sprays are produced in liquid form, the sodium salt spray as a powder and the others as dusts.

The 2,4-D chemical is used extensively as a weed killer.

Summer Parties

ARE YOU PLANNING to do more than your share of entertaining during the warm weather? You'll want to tuck these tips into a safe place to help make the refreshment problem easy. For here are party desserts, sandwiches, cooling thirstquenchers and cookies that are sure-fire hits with whatever crowd you plan to serve.

Make parties easy on yourself, by working in advance, and thus keeping yourself cool and collected at least a half an hour before guests arrive. . . .

FOR BRIDAL or baby showers, or for simple commencement party serving, a plate of sandwiches and an ice cream beverage are perfect foods. You'll like these:

Chocolate Mix (Makes 1 Pint) 21/2 ounces unsweetened chocolate

1/2 cup water 3/4 cup sugar 1/4 teaspoon salt

1/2 cup heavy cream, whipped Place chocolate and water in saucepan and cook until thick. Use low heat and stir frequently. Add sugar and salt, bringing mixture to a boil. Let cool, then fold in whipped cream. Store in covered jar in refrigerator. For a cold beverage, use one to two tablespoons of the mix to a glass of milk, beating with rotary beater. Top with vanilla ice cream and sprinkle salt and cream of tartar and continue beating until the mixture will chocolate shavings or gratings on stand in soft peaks. top of ice cream. SCRIPTURE: Daniel 2:31-45; 8; 11; Mal-hl 3:1-5; 4; Luke 1:67-79; 2:25-33; John DEVOTIONAL READING: Psalms 130:1-8.

THE interbiblical period, covering approximately four centuries, is one of the great silences of history, save as the prophecies of God offer flickering light upon the winding paths in western Asia, northern Africa and southern Europe. A remnant of Jews resided in Jerusalem, whilst many others were dispersed about the face of the earth.

The Old Testament was translated into Dr. Newton Greek-the version used in the time of Christ. The Talmud and the 14 books of the Apocrypha were written. The synagogue arose: The schools of Hillel and Shammai were founded and flourished. The sects of the Pharisees and Sadducees originated. Buddha, Confucius and Zoroaster were beginning to influence life in the Far East, while in the Near East Zeno and Epicurus dominated philosophical thought. The Caesars ruled the Mediterranean world.

To understand something of this period from Malachi to Christ, we are asked to read the Scripture passages listed above. . . .

BEFORE JESUS CAME

"B EHOLD, I will send my messenger, and he shall prepare the way for me; and the Lord, whom ye seek, shall suddenly come in his temple, even the messenger of the covenant, whom ye delight in; behold he shall come, saith the Lord of hosts."

Did they fully understand the significance of these great words of Malachi? Hardly may we expect that they did, but they got their basis of hope, about which we studied last Sunday. Imagine the faces of the little children in the long ago as they heard of the coming Messenger! . . .

THE COMING CHRIST

L OOK carefully at the above Scriptures and see how both the Old and New Testaments center upon Christ. These great phrases are suggested:

The promised Christ, the expected Christ, the heralding Christ, the presented Christ, the enlightening Add sugar gradually and continue Christ, the judging Christ, the merciful Christ, the redeeming Christ, the restoring Christ, the guiding Christ, Space does not permit the citations, but a study of the passages will reveal each of these gifts and blessings in the coming Christ.

BETWEEN THE TESTAMENTS

D IMLY only do we envision that period of four centuries, but we have sufficient light to trace the steps by which the faithful amongst the Jews were cleansing themselves of idolatry as the fires of God purged away the dross of paganism and secularism. One will find rich reward in the reading of the Apocrypha and Josephus. Also, one will find in the opening chapters of the New Testament light which falls back upon those dark ages.

There were synagogue schools, taught, in many instances by very able men, such as Hillel. There was a groping toward the light. Men were hungry for the fulfilment of prophecy. It was the darkness just before the dawn. . . .

THE LIGHT BREAKS

"B LESSED be the Lord God of Israel; for he hath visited and redeemed his. people," Luke 1:68. Thus does the golden text for Sunday's lesson flash upon the waiting heart of expectant humanity the Good News.

The fulness of God's time had come. Jesus was born. Peace had come to men of good will. James Montgomery puts the Good News in these lovely lines:

Angels, from the realms of glory, Wing your flight o'er all the earth, Ye, who sang creation's story. Now proclaim Messiah's birth:

Come and worship, come and worship, Worship Christ, the new-born King. . . .

Preacher's Task

No religious doctrine has any redemptive power until it is translated into the terms of a specific situation or an actual problem. It becomes the task of the Christian preacher in this generation to do the translating. The question, "What would Jesus do?" is always with him.
