Tobacco Important In Marshall Plan

Is Present Prop Of Tobacco Farmer

Tobacco, from the time of the Virginia colony, has marched along as an intimate part of the American story to the present day. In the wake of World War II, as the United States emerged the strongest economic power, the American cigarette became temporarily a universal wampum-the chief currency in both Berlin and Burma.

"You have a cigarette economy from Paris to Peking," a member told the house of commons in 1946. John Rolfe, husband of Pocahontas, would be astonished if he could see what he started when he and the tobacco industry directly paid in excise and import taxes nearly two billion dollars.

From Virginia and Maryland the tobacco fields, growing over 25 types, have spread into North and South Carolina, south Georgia and northern Florida, Connecticut and Massachusetts, and the great burley area of Tennessee, Kentucky and the north bank of the Ohio.

America and the world have smoked the tobacco in pipes, cigars and cigarettes, and snuffed it in powdered form and chewed it. The "chaw" is the most American of tobacco habits. European visitors have looked upon this habit with disgust. In 1947, addicts chewed 100 million pounds of tobacco.

VETERANS: Get Good News

Veterans of World War II were all set for a surprise bonanza.

The Veterans' administration announced in Washington that cash refunds totaling 2.8 billion dollars will begin for them about next January-that is, for all GI's who took out national service life insurance during the war. These were estimated to number some 16 million.

Under the new payments, announced by the VA, each ex-serviceman or his heirs would receive an average of $175 from life insurance dividends. Described as a "dividend" the money is to be repaid from two sources:

1. An eight billion dollar surplus which developed from the fact that G.I. insurance premiums were based by law on a standard mortality (death) rate table which turned out to be higher than needed.

2. Earnings from the surplus. In genreal, it was explained, every veteran who took out national service insurance and kept it in force at least three months will be eligible-provided the policies were not issued after January 1, 1948. No refunds are to be made on policies issued after that date.

the Railroad Agent Sells You The Wrong Ticket, May the Conductor Put You off the Train?

A railroad traveller paid for his passage to a distant city, but the clerk of the depot accidentally gave him a ticket good only to a nearby town. When the train came to this town, the conductor insisted that the passenger either get off or pay more fare. The man flatly refused. At last, the irate conductor dragged him bodily out of his seat and pushed him off the car. Afterward the man sued the railroad for damages. He maintained the conductor should have taken his word for the fact that he had already paid his full fare. However, the court disagreed, ruling that the man should have paid the difference then and settled the matter later with the depot clerk. Not all courts take this viewpoint.

"Is a Wedding Valid if the Bride Just Nods Her Head Instead of Saying "I Do?"

On the complaint of her husband, a woman was charged with adultry. At the trial, she claimed that she could not be guilty of that charge because she was really not married at all! Blandly she explained that, at her wedding ceremony, she had not said "I do" but had merely nodded her head. The court decided the wedding was valid

How Rough May a Policeman Be in Arresting a Drunkard?

A policeman was summoned into a cafe to arrest a drunken patron. The officer told the man to "come along," but the urunk just sat there motionless. Angered, the policeman snapped a handcuff on the man's left wrist and then ordered him to lift his right. When the drunk stubbornly refused to comply, the officer slapped him three times on the face with his billy-then led him away to jail.

As soon as he was released, the man sued the officer for using unnecessary roughness. The officer insisted that he had a right to "get tough" in such cases, but the court decided that he had gone much too far. Denouncing his action as "a vicious exercise of brutality," the judge ordered him to pay damages to his victim. The judge pointed out that citizens are not required to "jump at the snap of a police-

The short girl who tends to be somewhat plump will probably want to choose one of the many princess styles which are being shown extensively this season. This will give her the long, unbroken lines which her short figure needs to make it look dainty.

The princess styles come with or without straps, the latter in a very cleverly styled boned bodice.

Colors chosen should be solid so as not to break the figure and thus make it look shorter. If there's a desire for some decoration, you can get this in neatly by choosing a suit that is ruffled in a contrasting color on the bodice and on the children, girls 12 and 7 and a boy of 10. My 12 years of married life were ideal. Gene left me comfortable and the children are fine specimens. My mother died five months ago, and since then I have been bitterly lonely. I am writing to ask your advice about marrying again.

"I wouldn't be asking your advice," continues this very odd letter from a Texas woman, "if I knew whom to marry. But I don't. This town has no interesting free men in it. I have played about occasionally with men I wouldn't or couldn't marry, and have found no satisfaction in nightclubs, dancing, and shallow relationships of that sort.

'Do you know, and can you put me in touch with, two or three men anxious to marry a handsome, wellfixed woman who loves a good time, keeps a comfortable house, and needs a sympathetic companion?"

And "Dot," to call her that, goes on with a list of the qualifications she would expect in her new mate. He must be 40, he must have exceptional references and he must like a good time.

Selfish, Inexperienced

It is incredible to me that a woman so placed could be as completely inexperienced and childishly selfish as "Dot" reveals herself to be in this letter. I answered her personally, and at once, but I haven't much hope that my very forceful warning will have any

My reason for quoting her letter pitiful fact that, every year, thousands of women deceive themselves with the fond thought that a second and 7 and a boy of 10-well, no marriage will give them the happiness, the dear companionship that death has taken away. They will not recognize the simple truth that one happy marriage is more than the normal allowance, that their memory of Tom and his tenderness has been softened and exaggerated by time, and that their chances of finding a real mate in this sort of a risk are not one in a thousand. Loneliness and vanity and hope rise triumphant over all arguments, and every year we can all count among our friends the widows who want to try again. In all this, their children are the first victims. Mother has told them sweetly, pleadingly, that they must be nice to Uncle Dick who is going to come to live with them, and take Daddy's place. And for awhile how jolly Uncle Dick is with young Stan, how pleasantly he teases Carol and spoils Baby Sally.

Jealousy Enters But inevitably his newly-married jealousy begins to complicate everything, and the children are the first to feel it. Mother is torn between Dick's demand that she go with him on a three-day trip, and the claims of the feverish, bewildered sick child upstairs. Dick says impatiently that kids don't die of upset stomachs, and Mother agrees with him. But she doesn't go off in any very gay spirits, just the same.

The delicate attentions, the compliments, the murmured intoxicating promises all have faded out of Mother's life now; she is a har-rassed, overworked woman, with claims pouring in on every sideclaims that she simply can't meet. She loves Dick, but she didn't expect, in marrying him, to have to painted with stripes and exhibited.

But very often the picture is fa darker than this. Dick wants to help handle the business of his bride. He knows of investments that will double that comfortable income of hers. She mustn't be afraid, women are all too time she can make herself a very rich woman. What can Mother say? "1 married you, Dick, but I have no faith in your judgement.'

So she goes to the bank with Dick, and Dick takes her to a champagne lunch and assures her she has shown good judgement. And that, many times, is the end of her money, and often the children's money, too.

Letters aren't often as childish as the one I quoted in the beginning of this article, but all women have a way of bringing arguments into line when they plan the deep injustice to their children that a second marriage almost always involves.

And if this is the case in what Mrs. Wiggs called a "sod" widow, it is doubly the case when it is a "grass" widow who is concerned. Then children's delicate nervous system may be actually destroyed by the palpable efforts of Mother to show that she does love them. Only she has to love Uncle Dick, too, and Uncle Dick isn't always quite-well, you see, darlings -. The darlings don't see anything but one complicated, nerve-racking mistake piled on another, for the excellent reason that that is what the situation becomes. With no children, or with motherless children needing her, or perhaps with grown child, the experiment often is a success. But with girls of 12 sensible woman need go out of her way to invite that sort of trouble

Bethel, 23 miles away, on July 15. 1810, but the guiding fathers want the world to know that Bridgeport was his preference. It was here that P. T. wintered his "Greatest Show on Earth," the small wagon affair that became the forerunner of the circus which inherits the slogan. Incidentally, ever windful of get-

She said her system worked on 100 housewives in Cleveland, so there isn't any reason why it shouldn't work on a lot of others just as well.

Essentially, her plan involves the idea of sending the right kind of genteel, relaxed impulse from the brain to the nervous system. The nerves carry the good word to the muscles, which obediently become strong and supple without flexing or reflexing.

"Just pretending has the same effect as real motion, and it saves a lot of energy," Dr. Kelly has found. "A man can build up some muscles merely by thinking he's lifting weights. It's slow, but it works.

But Dr. Kelly specializes in problem girls. When a cranky, aching, overworked housewife goes to see the neurosomatic conditioner at the Shailer Emery Lawton foundation, she is put through a series of 24 treatments and gets home-work assignments of 10 minutes a day.

FROM 1500 B.C.

Allergists, specialists in allergy, tell us that there are many substances causing allergy that are still unknown or not suspected. One of the commonest causes is ordinary house dust, to which one or more of the family are allergic but blame their symptoms on pollen or similar substances.

Some years ago a magazine mentioned a case of allergy in which the father of the household, afflicted with asthma, traveled ahead of his family to locate a district where he would be free of asthma.

> While allergists have found some cases of allergy to be caused by street dust, it is more often substances in the air of the home that are to blame. Some of these substances are the children's toys stuffed with wool or cotton lint, insect sprays, heavy curtains, mattress fillings or feathers or cotton, certain domestic articles, the odors of perfumes, and powders, hair dyes, eyebrow and lip pencils.

The thought, then, is that where the cause of the allergic symptoms is unknown, and the usual test for foods and pollen have been made, the dust in the home-particularly in the bedrooms (mattresses) and in setting rooms (stuffed chairs and sofas)-should be carefully tested by an allergist. The cause of al-Finding such a place, he would send for the family. Shortly after the family arrived, his asthma search is made.

Do Tonsils Have a Dollar Value?

A businessman went to a surgeon for a nose operation. While he was under anesthesia, the doctor decided that the man's tonsils were in bad shape—and removed them. Later the man sued the sur-

However, the court sustained a jury verdict of $2,000. The jury said: "The law presumes every organ in the human body has some function to perform even though medical science has not ascertained it."

Urged in Tree Moving

Considerable care should be exercised when young fruit trees are moved from the nursery to an orchard or yard where soil fertility and other conditions may be less favorable.

Dr. A. Lee Schrader of the horticulture department, University of Maryland, points out that when trees are dug for shipment, part of the root system inevitably is lost. After the trees have arrived, new - sufficient to supply water and minerals to the entire tree must be grown in order to insure normal development. Lack of adequate root growth, Dr. Schrader warns, often results in death of the tree or, at best, a poor growth of new shoots, particularly where the soil is low in certain minerals.

European Corn Borer Reduced Crop in 1948

The European corn borer reduced the 1948 crop of field corn by 85, million bushels, the U.S. department of agriculture announced in Washington, D. C. Surveys recently completed by the bureau of entomology and plant quarantine, with cooperating agencies, indicate this loss in corn production is more than double that of 1947.

Mechanical Cleaner Suggested for Barns

If you're building a new barn, or remodeling an old one, it would be good idea to include plans for installing a mechanical barn cleaner. That's the advice of M. W. Forth, an engineer with the University of Illinois college of agriculture. Forth says it would pay to make provisions for a barn cleaner even though plans might not call for one right away.

Integrity and Contracts

One of the qualities in human beings that our civilization today needs so desperately is integrity, What is integrity? The word comes from a Latin term which meant "untouched" or "whole." That's about the way it is today. A man who has integrity is so morally sound that he is not to be touched —in a way that will affect his honesty and uprightness.

Many labor-management disagreements would disappear, if we honestly would undertake to solve them with each side of the conference table keeping its integrity. If each party to an agreement keeps his word—that is integrity. It used to be said of a neighbor I had: "His word is his bond." That's the kind of neighbor this world needs. It will require integrity from each one of us, if this world is to become a better place.

An Example

Let me illustrate-with a labormanagement example. Less than a year ago, the General Motors "cost of living" wage agreement with United Automobile Workers was acclaimed as a solution to the frequent wage battles that upset our industrial communities.

Under terms of the contract GM can raise or lower wages according to government statistics. As living costs rise or fall in reports of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, the company can adjust wages accordingly. While the formula did not rule out wage increases for other reasons, it was an honest attempt to solve the cost-of-living problem.

Pay Cut Due Last year under the contract GM employees got a flat 6-cent hourly raise, plus a "cost of living" increase of 5 cents. What are the prospects this year? Employees are in line for an increase not related to living costs, but under the formula will get a pay cut of 2 cents because the Bureau of Labor Statistics index of living costs has gone down. The effect would be to hold wages at about the same levels as last

Employees still would have the advantage of the decline in living costs. However, according to a recent Associated Press dispatch, a GM local in Cleveland wants to reopen the contract, which has more than a year to run. This local of 2,500 workers wants UAW headquarters to block the carrying out of the contract. According to the AP story the local's president said that workers' living conditions "ought to be of greater meaning than the sacredness of a contract

Moral Issues

Moral issues are involved when you talk about breaking contracts. As against a pay increase of two or three cents, a contract should have plenty of sacredness. What is involved is integrity. The contract was made in good faith. It has more than a year to run. If it does not meet the needs of the UAW, the parties will have determined this by the time for expiration. There are few human relationships that have greater meaning than do contracts. The courts of the land expect contracts to be kept. Good neighbors are made by men who keep their word. This applies to groups as well. Good citizenship requires integrity.

the tips I'm giving and see where you slipped. True economy depends upcess with every, jar you've up.

Lack of success in putting up fruit and berries may not have been due to any canning procedure. Your first essential job is to select sound fruit and berries. Fruit or berries must be firm and ripe. Over-ripe material may be used for jams and jellies but should never be canned whole.

Discard bruised berries or fruit as well as those which are specked. The fresher the fruit or berry, the better is your chance of canning. successfully. If you have your own orchard or garden, then you can go right out and pick the produce and rush it into the kitchen for canning. This is the ideal way to can.

Removing Skins T'S sometimes desirable to blanch fruit, or peel it. This process means dipping the fruit, such as apricots, peaches, etc., in hot water for a minute or so, then in cold water. The skin will slip off easily with just a slight pressure of the fingers or palm.

Whole fruits should be washed under gently running water and placed in a colander to drain as soon as washing is over. Berries may be dipped in and out of fresh, clean water in a basin and then placed in a colander to drain. Running water may break the berries

How to Choose The Best Syrup

IN THE CHART, it is suggested that you add syrup to the fruit or berries after it has been packed in jars. In some cases, it is advisable to precook the material in syrup before packing in the jar. For the small soft fruit such as sweet cherries and berries, use a No. 1 or a thin syrup made as follows:

Use three cups of water to one cup of sugar and bring to a boil.
The medium, or No. 2 syrup is used for peach-

sour berries,

rhubarb, cherries or gooseberries. It is made by using two cups of water to one cup of sugar and bringing to a boil.

The heavy, or No. 3 syrup is gen erally used on large sour fruits that have to be made extra sweet. Scum should be removed from the syrup after cooking, before pouring the syrup on fruit.

Corn syrup and honey may be substituted in whole or in part in making the syrup. All honey, and no sugar, will change the flavor of the fruits as well as make it slightly since they have a high percentage of liquid. One and one-half to two pounds of cherries or plums will yield a quart of the canned product.

Marching Songs

Lesson for July 10, 1949

WE did not win all the battles we fought with Japan. The day of a certain naval defeat near the Philippines, an American "baby" carrier, left to its fate, was doing its best to get away from the pursuing Japanese. All af-ternoon it dodged and twisted. Enemy destroyers and planes were hot on its trail, and it was a "sitting duck" in case they Dr. Foreman really got the range. No one on board expected to live. The only question in any they get us? But late in the afternoon, for some reason never explained, the enemy gave up the chase, and the American ship slipped off into the protecting night. The next day, as the men gathered for a special service of thanksgiving, the chaplain read the 124th Psalm. It came as a new Psalm altogether to those men even to those who had known it by heart:

"If it had not been the Lord who was on our side, when men rose up against us, then they had swallowed us up quick, when their wrath was kindled against us; then the . . . proud waters had gone over our soul. Blessed be the Lord, who hath not given us as a prey to their teeth."

"Let Me Write A Nation's Songs"

THE POWER to thrill has not been lost by the Psalms, as the men on that carrier found out. The group numbered 120 through 134 in our Bibles are known as the "Pilgrim Marching Songs, originally used by the Hebrews as they went year by year up to their capital city of Jerusalem and to the Temple which was the center of their religion. Then as now, the Hebrews were a singing people. A nation that cannot sing, a nation without songs, is a dismal country

Difference among various countries is symbolized by their songs, or the lack of them. The Chinese, for instance, have together in the same way that Englishmen are united in "God Save the King" or as Frenchmen once were by the "Marseillaise."

When it comes to pass, as once it did in the United States, that one part of the nation will sing one song (say, "John Brown's Body") while another part will not sing that song but another one (say, "Dixie,"), then civil war is at the gates. Only people who will sing together can be trusted to live together.

Singing Church

IN the long caravans, marching up the rocky hillside trails to Jerusalem, the ancient Hebrews put their faith into stirring words set to music. So it is always. All over the Christian world, wherever and whenever the singing is good, religion is warm and vigorous.

Where the heart is full, there will be song. Revivals of re-ligion are revivals of singing. To this day a stranger in a strange city, looking for a church home, is most likely to settle down in the church where the singing is the best.

It is not an accident that the Moravian church is at the same time the church that makes more Easter than some other churches, it is the church where at funerals the music is never sad but joyous, not mourning-songs but triumphant hymns of Christian faith. . . .

Patriotism and Religion

READ these marching Psalms through—the reading time is only a few minutes-and see for yourself how the ancient Hebrew men of God united their praise of Him with love for their country. To this day, in our Christian hymnals, patriotism and religion are often combined. The English national anthem, "God Save the King," is a prayer; so is "America the Beautiful." National hymns have a rightful place in a book of public worship. For while patriotism, by itself, is a poor substitute for religion, still a man who will not love his country lacks some-thing of being a good Christian, and on the other hand a man without faith in God makes a very poor
