J. T. JOHNSON INJURED IN CAR MISHAP NEAR HERE

Two cars crashed into a trailer truck, injuring the drivers of each car at about 6:30 p. m. Wednes day nite on Highway 87 about 5 miles north of town. J T Johnson, who lives about 6 miles north of here, just south of the lake, driv ing a '46 Ford, received several broken ribs, scratches and bruises and was in a Tahoka hospital for a day or so. Leroy Davis, 68, of Utica, N. Y. driving a 1948 Olds convertible received scratches and bruises. Driver of the truck was not injured, the Lynn County News said. The trailer truck was going north and Davis, going north, in some way ran into the right front of the truck. The trucker stopped and the truck rolled backward and jacknifed across the highway. Mr Johnson, going south, atempted to go around the end of the trailer and in some way struck its rear. Both cars were badly damaged.

Cooking Spinach The only water needed when cooking spinach is that which clings to the leaves during the washing process.

Strawberries

High-quality strawberries should be firm, bright red in color, uniform in size, and free from sand and dead leaves.

Russian Dressing

Chopped green peppers can be used in Russian dressing to be served on salads, or in tartar sauce for use with fish.

Daily Quota

One medium-sized pepper will provide more than a person's daily vitamin-C requirement, as well as generous amounts of vitamin A.

Good Source of "C"

Fresh ripe strawberries, when served whole or immediately after being crushed, are a good source of vitamin C.

Two Attitudes

TAMES DUFF, the liberal Republican senator from Pennsylvania, in a recent television and radio interview said:

"I think the Taft movement and the Eisenhower movement are based on two different attitudes. The Taft movement is to get the professional politicians and the Eisenhower movement is to fulfill the wish of the grass roots."

If Senator Duff is a realist, however, as well as an astute politician, he will be forced to admit that nominations for the presidency are made in conventions and to carry a convention it is first essential to "get the professional politicians." Senator Taft, who has officially tossed his hat into the 1952 presidential race, was the butt of a stampeded convention in 1940 when a virtual unknown, Wendell Willkie, swept up the nomination.

Senator Duff, who is one of the leaders in the move to draft General Eisenhower for the GOP presidential nomination, while not ruling Senator Taft out of the picture, did say: "I wouldn't say he (Taft) couldn't beat Mr. Truman, but I will say that General Eisenhower would run an immensely better chance of beating Mr. Truman than anybody else."

Senator Taft in declaring, "I am going to run because I believe I can conduct the only kind of campaign which will elect a Republican to office," summed two of his three platform points in restoration of progress "within principles of liberty rather than socialism," and, restoration of honesty and integrity in government. His third point was an attack on the administration's foreign policy judgment.

This platform, however, could be espoused by President Truman, and probably will be, with the exception of criticizing the foreign policy. So actually, Senator Taft has come up with nothing new that has not been used by the Republicans in the past three campaigns.

Saltonstall's View

Another outstanding Republican senator, one of the most highly respected in the party's counsels. Sen. Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts, a tough, realistic Yankee, writing in the October issue of the American magazine says he believes General Eisenhower the man most likely to be elected President and then he says: "All other things being equal, practical politicians prefer not to nominate senators," though in speaking of Senator Taft's race in Ohio in 1950 he said the "voters there liked his person-ality and record."

But Senator Saltonstall, who is a canny politician, having been in life for thirty years and still elected to the senate from a state that of late has been Democratic, has a rather drastic formula for Republican victory in 1952. In spite what Senator Taft says about his ability to win, Senator Saltonstall in his article says: "If the GOP expects to win in 1952 it's got to prove it has learned the facts of modern political life, and it's got to forget those disastrous trial-anderror methods it's been using for the past two decades . . . what we need most is to convince the voters that the stand-pat Republican party of the 1920's is dead and buried . . .

Old GOP Is Dead

Senator Saltonstall believes the GOP has a great opportunity to win in 1952 if they recover farm votes, bring young people into the party, present a stable concrete foreign policy. and he says: "We must include in our domestic policy a sufficient assurance that social gains will not be knocked off the books, but rather increases without overburdening or break-ing the government." Further, he declares, the campaign is to be one of personalities.

. Platforms are out of date . . After the platform is adopted, voters ignore it . . . We must have a platform, I assume, but it is up to the candidate himself to convince the voters of the positive action he and his party will take to solve their problems." Senator Saltonstall summed up by saying that "we can win if we get off our platforms, get out of our cars and make friends. We can win if we make voters realize that the Re-publican party is looking into the future, not dreaming of the past, not attempting to restore the policies of the 1920's."

Inside Track

This reporter believes and has said so, that Senator Taft will get the GOP nomination, but looking beyond the nomination, he had better read up on Senator Saltonstall's program for winning at the polls. For as Senator Duff points out the professional politicians often misinterpret the wishes of the people and are no substitute for the votes of the grass roots.

The old Republican viewpoint is politically dead,

'Unite for Freedom' is Theme Of American Education Week

The 31st observance of American Education Week, November 11-17, has as its general theme "Unite For Freedom" and promises to be the most significant in the history of the movement.

The two major activities which distinguish American Education Week are school visitation and educational interpretation. The one brings the people of the community to the school and the other brings the school to the people. Openhouse and community events are invaluable in building home-school-community cooperation.

The purposes of American Educachanging conditions and needs. But the basic aim remains unchanged conditions and bring good schools within the reach of all never stops. The observance comes alive under the impetus of several specific objectives: to increase understanding and appreciation of the public school as the bulwark of our free government; show how modern schools are conducted; give pupils deeper insights into the values of education; provide special opportunities for the discussion of school tasks and problems; step up all-year interpretation; bring about closer home-school community relationships; and develop greater citizen participation in planning new school improvements.

It is estimated that over 10 million people will visit schools during the week. Millions of other are reached through radio, movies, newspapers and magazines, meetings, posters, sermons, leaflets, reports, parades, messages to homes and other ways. Each year during American Education Week the schools in the home towns report to their owners, the 150 million people of the country. Statistics do not tell the whole story, but a few figures show the significance of this investment in freedom and in America. According to most available reports, there are about 25 million pupils and nearly 950,000 classroom teachers and administrators. The number of school buildings exceeds 200,000; the number of school buses is nearly 105,000; school districts total approximately 95,000; and average salary of the instructional staff $2,846. On July 8, 1921, a report on Americanism and education by a special committee appointed to cooperate with the American Legion was adopted by the Representative Assembly of the National Education Association. This action led to the establishment of American Education

The National Congress of Parents and Teachers became the fourth sponsor in 1938.

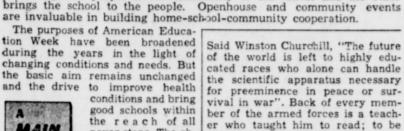

Time was, when a youngster could make his way with just a little readin', writin', and 'rithmatic. But those days are gone forever. Your child's future will forever. Your child's future will depend on his ability to understand his rights, to accept responsibility, to improve human relations.

The National Education Association has issued a small leaflet with a short discussion of each day's topic during the week's observance that is of interest to all home town-

OUR FAITH IN GOD. (Topic for Sunday, November 11.) Civilization is built and maintained by certain basic virtues established in the lives of people through the processes of education. For the ancient Greeks these virtues were wisdom, courage, temperance, and justice. To these the Christian father added three others: hope, faith, and love. These seven were emphasized for centuries as the seven cardinal virtues from which all other virtues were derived. Today we exalt faith in God as the foundation of our freedom. Faith in God-whatever the name used-is universal among all the great religions of the world, along with the ideal of brotherhood and some form of the golden rule. That faith finds expression in our society through emphasis upon individual worth and the effort to provide for the growth of every child through free and universal educa-

his share of the load, and take his own part. The schools are the first and last line of defense. The present struggle for freedom will outlast this generation. Somewhere in an unknown classroom today studies a child who may lead the world away from war to a world of peace and freedom.

SCHOOLS KEEP US FREE. (Topic for Tuesday, November 13.)
Our forefathers established the greatest system of free government in the world. Illiteracy and ignoprograms and securing needed rance limited them; great distances not united by highways and railroads separated them; religious dogmas divided them. But out of a New England Primer, McGuffey's Readers, and our free common schools they built a nation united and ever more free.

Truly the home, church, state, industry, business, and even war are able to build upon the highest level of common intelligence and skill the world has ever known.

EDUCATION FOR THE LONG PULL. (Topic for Wednesday, November 14.) Our founders built the public school into the life of the young republic. Their foresight in fortifying our country for the long hard pull ahead has helped our nation to survive and become a world

Now our schools face new and the observance had been "effective, complex problems for which they inspiring, and worthy of continu- must be thoroughly equipped. They ance." Approval was given to the can weather the storms and carry recommendation that Education out their mission for freedom if they are not disrupted through emergency setbacks or false economy.

> TEACHING THE FUNDAMEN-TALS. (Topic for Thursday, November 15.) The three Rs have long been known as the fundamentals. They still are and evidence shows that they are now better taught to more children than ever before in our history. But they are not the only fundamentals.

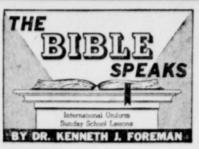

One must know how to care for his body, keep safe from traffic accidents, use leisure wisely and attain integrity of character. The right management of our common life in community, state, nation, and world calls for another fundamental-citizenship. The fundamentals of education in this age are numerous and complicated.

URGENT SCHOOL NEEDS. (Topic for Friday, November 16.) Piled on top of the accumulated shortages in curriculum, personnel, classrooms, equipment, and funds are the new needs due to the rapidly increasing school population. Indications are that elementary school enrollment will be eight million higher and high school enrollments two million higher in 1956-57 than in 1946-47.

Each year more teachers, school facilities, equipment, supplies, scientific apparatus, textbooks, libraries, and teaching helps will be required to keep up with modern instructional needs and requirements.

HOME - SCHOOL - COMMUNITY. (Topic for Saturday, November 17.) The growth and development of the child is influenced by every contact claiming his attention. The school brings him into a wide circle and seeks to build upon the foundation laid by the home and to equip him with knowledge, skills, habits, and ideals needed in a highly spe-

A People Delivered

Lesson for November 11, 1951

ONE of the strange truths about God-strange when we are not used to it-is that he can never be seen directly. No man has seen him nor can see him, the Bible tells us

(I Tim. 6:16). God cannot be photographed nor televised. The disc has never been made that will record his voice; it will not be heard on any telephone. Then how do people know God? By the eye of faith,

God in History

IT is so when we speak of "God in history." The historian can tell us what happened; but why does it happen? The last, the final, the allinclusive Why? is religion's question; and religion's answer, faith's answer, is always: God.

Take, for example, the well known story of the Exodus, when the Children of Israel got out of Egypt where they had been slaves for about as long as the Negroes were slaves in America before 1863. All historians agree (1) that Israelites were in Egypt; and (2) that they

But the history books do not read like the Bible. In the "Cambridge Ancient History" or in any history of the ancient Middle East, you can read the account of the Exodus with te miracles left out.

Furthermore, the historians never bring God into their tale. All they can tell us is what you could have caught with a moving picture camera or a recording machine. But God cannot be caught that way. The story of the Exodus, in the Bible, has another slant. The Hebrew folk never said "We escaped" or "It was a lucky break" or "Moses took us out." They always said, "God brought us out." If you had been there when they crossed the Red Sea (the original Hebrew in Exodus does not use the expression "Red Sea" in this story, and it may have been one of the Bitter Lakes or even an arm of the Mediterranean-it makes no difference), armed with your camera and sound-recording devices, you could have caught the roaring of the wind and after long hours of the hurricane you would have seen the water level going back and back till finally solid ground appeared. But when your pictures were developed you would not have seen God.

God in Our History

IT would not do us much good, in-deed, it would only make us jealous or bitter, if we thought that God had a hand in the history of Israel, but took no interest in the history of other people. Many centuries after the Exodus, the prophet Amos said that God not only brought the Israelites out of Egypt, but he also brought the Philistines out of Crete (Caphtor) and the Syrians out of Still later on in the Bible God's hand is said to be leading the great conqueror Cyrus of Persia (Isaiah 45:1-4), even though Cyrus knew nothing of it. God was there, but the eye of faith was not. God is always there; and sometimes the eye of faith is there to see him.

In the history of England two of the most famous events are the defeat of the Spanish Armada, and the retreat from Dunkirk. In each case the English people were to all appearances helpless, just as the Hebrews were helpless at the Red Sea; in both cases, as at the Exodus, "the weather came to their rescue. A great wind swept the Spanish navy to destruction; and a great cloud-cover kept the Nazi airforce pent in until the British army had escaped from Dunkirk. The weather, say historians. God, say voices of faith. Are not both

. . . Side of the Free

IS God on the side of the little nation? Not always. But taking history as a whole, Christian people have reason to believe as the people of the Bible did: that God hates oppression and vio-lence, and his "hand is against" nations that live by such means. On this Armistice Sunday it is well to remember that. If our cause is just it is not because we never lost a war.

Our cause is just if and only if it is the cause of human freedom. We have no assurance that God will stand by us otherwise.

March: His Honor Fillmore Overture: The Glass Slipper Yoder

> This number is a typical overture giving a musical description of the Story of Cinderella. The opening presents the step-mother and the chattering step-sisters followed by the descript-ion of Cinderella (a waltz). The audience will notice the three mice which are changed into horses, the march to the ball, the dancing at the ball, the rush home, and the search for the wearer of the glass slipper by the prince. The closing describes the finding of Cinderella by the prince and the happing ending to the Mac Dowell is one of the foremost composers of piano music in America today. This number is typical of his works, in a simple band arrangement by Alfred P. Zambarano.

Solo: Rocked In The Cradle Of The Deep Knight Baritone Saxophone Solo: Edmund Hobdy Accompaniment by the Band

Overture: Allan-A-Dale Hanson

In English ballads, a youth, aided by Robin Hood, breaks up the wedding of his sweetheart to an old knight and marries her himself. This number is descriptive of the story. The audience may be particularly interested in the number as it will be one of the required numbers for the Interscholastic League contests in the spring of 1952.

THE READER'S DATE BOOK-American Diabetes Society Plans Ambitious Campaign

In one of the most ambitious medical campaigns of recent the American Diabetes Association has announced plans to years, the American Endettes Association has announced plans to test 5,000,000 people for diabetes in an effort to find as many as the of the estimated 1,000,000 people who have the disease vithout knowing it.

The association, a non-profit organization whose 1,500 members are mostly doctors with a special interest in that disease, said testing will begin in most areas throughout the country the week of November 11-17, which has been designated as Diabetes Week.

Costs of the program, which involves no public fund raising, is being met by the doctors themselves and by voluntary contributions. More than 500 county medical societies and nearly 30 state medical societies are cooperating in the campaign with the association and its affiliates. Dr. John A. Reed, MAIN association tary, reports dia-STREET now ranks betes eighth among causes of death by disease in the United States, yet FEATURE s the only chronic disease for which there is a known control. A person in whom diabetes is discovered and brought under control sufficiently early usually can expect to live a full, active and useful life. Efforts will be made during Diabetes Week to make the general public as aware of diabetes as it low is of cancer, heart disease, tuberculosis and some of the other widely-publicized ailments. Schools and colleges, industrial plants, unions, service clubs, veterans organications, women's clubs and religious groups will participate in the campaign.

It isn't generally known that both Bill Talbot and Hamilton Richardson, Davis Cup tennis champions, both have diabetes. Whatever your profession, trade or business, you can carry on a normal life like Talbot and Richardson if-and this is a big ifyou discover it in time and bring it under control.

Diabetes can often be recognized by its common symptomsloss of weight accompanied by constant hunger and intense thirst, as well as itching, changing vision and pains in the extremities. In many instances, however, the disease is present without any of the symptoms making themselves

Diabetes Week offersd the home towns of the country an opportunity to participate in a promotion week that can have as far reaching results as cancer, heart, polio or tuberculosis drives.

God wanted them to have laws. They could not be a nation with-

In Exodus 21-23 we have a simple code which is the earliest

The majority of Christians look at it like this: The Ten Command-

SOME of these laws, indeed, could be taken literally today. For in-stance, take Exodus 23:2, first part

SPEAKS

For the home town folks who have been wondering just what the soldiers in Korea will have on the Thanksgiving menu, it is the traditional American feast: roast turkey stuffed with old-fashioned dressing, snow-flake potatoes smothered in giblet gravy, cranberry sauce, candied yams, fresh peas, corn, hearts of lettuce, celery stuffed with cheese, french dressing, pickles, olives, nuts, apples, oranges, fruit cake, hot mince pie, pumpkin pie, hot rolls, butter, fruit punch coffee, and hard candy.

And while the ingredients for the Thanksgiving dinners are already on the way to Americans in Korea, preparation for shipment of the foods for Christmas and New Year's Day dinners are also under way.

National Cage Bird Week Nov. 18-24

Not many people know that raising cage birds is a big business across the country, especially for many handicapped persons, pensioners and veterans. During the week of November 18-24 people interested in the industry will celebrate National Cage Bird Week and attempt to tell people in the home towns the importance of the industry and something of its history.

Raising cage birds is one of the biggest hobbies in the country.

World's Biggest Tree

While California's Big Trees (Sequoia gigantea) have no peer as a species either in bulk or age, there is a single tree that outranks even the biggest sequoia in diameter and may surpass it in age.

The botannical colossus is the Tule cypress of Santa Maria del Tule, six miles from Oaxaca in southern Mexico. It is a Taxiodium mucronatum, the same cypress as those in Chapultepec Park in Mexico City. The house Post Office in the old house office building and its two branches, one in the new house office building and one in the house side of the capitol, are under the supervision of Postmaster Finis Scott of Ten-All the incoming mail goes to the two office buildings, is sorted, and sent to the congressmen. The three other offices handle all outgoing regular first class mail, registered mail, parcels, insured mail, money orders, and a large amount that goes overseas. The two branches on the house side are used primarily by the press and secretaries of the representatives. During the summer the main users are the

The number of cocktail parties in New York, Washington or Denver doesn't settle the question. It has to be studied from a Christian point of view, and the big question is not: How many people do it? But, is it right for those who are their "brothers' keepers"? Is it right for those whose bodies are to be temples for the Holy Spirit?

Mulching Will Not Prevent Fre

Leaves, Grass, Juaw Are Good Materials

Even though many gardeners have used mulches for years and are aware of its value, they are not sure of their reasons for mulching. It is not to prevent plants from freezing, as often thought, but to prevent quick freezing and thawing.

It prevents drying out of plant tissues, and freezing and thawing from heaving plants out of the ground. It also prevents plant development too early in the spring when buds might be harmed by late frost.

The gardener looking for mulching materials could try leaves when available in quantity. They are satisfactory for perennials borders and beds, rock gardens and around evergreens and shrubs. Straw is another good material, especially good for strawberry beds. Oat straw is preferred over wheat and others.

Peat Moss is often used and does an excellent job of preventing temperature fluctuations, but has a tendency to crust on top. Grass clippings are good, too, if available in large quantity.

Ground corn cobs have recently come into use as a mulch, especially for roses. This material is reported to also improve the soil by stimulating the growth of microorganisms.
