Here's A Letter

Mr. W. G. Forgy, Editor, The O'Donnell Press
Dear Wm. (Bill):
Just want to compliment you for having enough of what the government mule has to print the article about the rat campaign and tapering it off with the suggestions about the sanitary conditions about town during the fall when all the Mexicans are here.

The part about the toilets interests me more than the rat campaign, and I do believe that there can and should be something done about it.

We have an old warehouse back of our place that the Mexicans and Negroes even break into to use for a toilet and we cannot blame the Poor Devils as there is not, so far as we know, one toilet that they can use in our entire city limits.

To my mind, this is a much greater problem than the rat program and one that if attended to could bring us much greater returns both from the standpoint of health and financial gain.

We hope that you will bang away at this all year until you finally create enough interest to get someone to do something about it, and, just as a starter, we enclose check for $10.00 to help pay for some of your space and will be glad to donate a reasonable amount for a fund to be used for the sole purpose of sanitary conditions for the Cotton Pickers, if and when you can create enough interest through your column to get such a drive started.

Again, I say, Rah, Rah, Rah, for your intestinal fortitude. Thanks, LEVI NOBLE.

We appreciate the above letter, and have no hesitancy in urging that rest rooms be provided for transient workers, but that problem is the problem of every citizen of O'Donnell. Not the City Council, Rotary Club, not just private citizens, but everybody.

Consider angles which have to be considered. The city simply does not have the money to build such places, to take care of the sewage bills. The tax rate of O'Donnell cannot be raised another penny to take care of the matter. The present council has reduced a one-time debt of O'Donnell from way over $100,000 to about half that amount, and the members have to say "no" many times and curtail spending in every way to pay off on that debt.

Funds to build public restrooms for transient workers could be secured by donation, or by fines upon the populace for traffic violations. If the latter method could be used, (which wouldn't be popular at all) then the money could be raised very easily and about every car driver, every pedestrian would have a hand in the money-raising because every person in O'Donnell violates some good rule of traffic about daily.

If a majority of the people of O'Donnell care not one whoop about conditions, then nothing will be done. And, frankly, we don't think anything will be done about it because not enough people practice the Golden Rule. It was fine to vote for W. Lee O'Daniel because he espoused that rule, but living up to it is another matter.

Wonder how we would expect to be treated if we traveled in some other part of the nation, or in some foreign country?
Oh, but that's different!

Mrs. Albert Koening and her mother Mrs. M. V. Smith were in Lubbock Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Singleton and two children moved to Lamesa this week to make their home.

Mr. and Mrs. James Dulin and two sons left this week for Amarillo where they will reside.

Hattie V. Hayes Enlists In WAAC's

Mrs. Hattie V. Hayes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur McMillan of O'Donnell, was enrolled by the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps at the Lubbock station, and will leave for one of the various induction points of the WAACs.

Each woman enrolled will take over a soldier's job, leaving his for combat duty. More women are urged to join this important organization.

Mrs. Hayes has two brothers in the army, John D. and James W. McMillan.

War Bond Pledge Program Opens

A state-wide Rural War Bond Pledge Program to reach every farm and ranch family in Texas during the period January 11th to January 31st has been announced by Frank Scofield, State War Bond Administrator, Austin.

Deen Nowlin, Lynn county chairman said that Lynn county would cooperate in this general move and that the County Agricultural Victory Council would be asked to assist with the sign-up.

Mr. Nowlin pointed out the importance of every individual investing in War Bonds in 1943.

Mrs. J. D. Lumpkin was in Lovington, New Mexico, over the week end, returning Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Allen and family have returned after a trip to DeKalb, Texas.

Mrs. E. C. McDonald was in Crowwell attending to business the fore part of the week.

Mrs. Dallas Vaughn was hostess to the Sew and Chatter Needle club members at her home Thursday.

Merchants Again Urging Buying Of Victory War Bonds

In co-operation with the U. S. Treasury department, various patriotic O'Donnell business firms are sponsoring another series of advertisements in the Press, urging the purchase of War Bonds.

Local business men realize the urgent necessity that all who can buy War Bonds and Stamps, and thereby giving the government the money to finance the prosecution of the war.

A constant drive through the use of publicity is urged by the Treasury Department, as experience has shown the largest advertisers in the nation that it is the week by week advertising that pays and prompts action. And action is the vital theme in promoting the day by day sale of War Bonds.

The merchants listed are doing their part. Do yours by letting them know you appreciate their efforts to "keep things going" even when they are having plenty of troubles of their own.

THANK YOU
Our thanks to Mrs. E. W. Hester, Rt. 2, M. B. McMillan, Rt. 3, T. O. Ferguson, Rt. 1, and C. L. Brandon, Rt. 2, for the recent Press subscriptions.

Rotary Makes Plans For Rat Killing

Further plans for the staging of a Rat Extermination campaign will probably be made next Tuesday at the Rotary Club luncheon when County Agent Judge C. Smith of Tahoka and a district representative from Lubbock will be present to discuss the best way to conduct the drive with the club membership.

While the Rotary club willingly sponsors the drive, it is agreed that the program will not be anything like a success unless townspeople co-operate and do their part. The job needs to be done, and co-operation of all will assure that it will be done.

That the city council members are trying to secure some responsible person to take the job of cleaning the streets, and will welcome suggestions, was the word given the Press Thursday.

C. H. Doak, a member of the council, but not speaking for that body, said that the problem of keeping the streets clean would be helped greatly if people would quit throwing paper into the streets, and dumping refuse from stores into the alleys.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Soviet Offensive Stretches Westward; French Cooperation in North Africa Paves Way for Unified Allied Campaign; Fierce Buna Battle Marks Pacific War

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.) Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Gen. Henri Giraud, newly designated high commissioner of French North and West Africa, reviews American fighters soon after his appointment as successor to Admiral Darlan. The appointment of the French general, famous for having twice escaped the Nazis, did much to satisfy the elements disoriented over the "deal" with the assassinated Darlan.

AFRICA: Cooperation

World-wide cooperation of all French leaders not captives of the Axis powers was deemed almost a certainty when Gen. Henri Giraud, successor to the assassinated Adm. Jean Darlan as high commissioner of North Africa, named Gen. Alphonse Juin as commander in chief of the French forces in Africa.

Juin commanded French African forces at the time of the Allied occupation in November and had since been collaborating with the pro-Allied French regime.

The previous appointment of Giraud had a unifying effect which was missing under Darlan. French North African civil and military forces rallied around the new commander, as did Gen. Charles de Gaulle, leader of the Fighting French, who would have no part of Giraud's predecessor.

Battle in Tunisia

Although the Allied North African headquarters acknowledged that British and American forces had withdrawn from a hill position six miles northeast of Medjen-el-Bab—which they held for less than a week—competent observers said that the Allied position as a whole was not materially affected.

In another area of operations it appeared as though Field Marshal Erwin Rommel was intent only on getting his broken Africa Corps to Tunisia for the Axis final stand on the African continent. Rommel had three possible lines of defense on the Libyan coast. But British eighth army patrols broke through the first one at Wadi Bei El Chebir, 55 miles west of Sirta and 138 miles east of Tripoli. Rommel's chances were lessening. And above all, the Middle Eastern command appeared confident.

Plot Nipped

An assassination plot against Giraud and Robert Murphy, President Roosevelt's minister to French Africa, was nipped in the making when Giraud announced the arrest of 12 persons, including two who helped the American landing at Algiers.

First initial dispatches said that Giraud has announced that 12 persons were arrested to prevent "further assassinations." He said that "it is better to prevent than punish" and that those arrested were not going to be shot.

RATIONING: Little Hoarding

Despite the fact that more than 200 canned food items will be rationed soon, American housewives have made very little attempt to stock their cupboards in advance. Office of Price Administration spokesmen here pointed out.

The absence of hoarding was due to two factors. Consumers must declare all canned goods on hand, on the basis of which deductions will be made from the ration points allotted each person; the feeling that hoarding would be emphatically unprofitable kept many a person from ordering more than the usual supply of foodstuffs.

Even though a tremendous printing job is yet to be completed, OPA officials expressed hope that the point-rationing program would get under way some time in February.

DRAFT: 3 1/2 Million in '43

Approximately 3 1/2 million men—18 through 37 years old—will be called to the armed forces during 1943, draft officials here announced. They will be called at an average rate of 250,000 or 290,000 a month.

About half of the quota will be drawn from the 18 and 19 year olds who completed registration in December. The other 1,750,000 will be childless married men since the pool of unmarried men available for military service is practically exhausted.

ANOTHER LESSON: For Adolf

Last winter Adolf Hitler learned his first lesson about Russian winters: That they are plenty cold and plenty inhospitable. This year he is learning another lesson: Russian soldiers fight equally well (and in some cases better) in winter as in summer.

Russia's drive on the southern flank of the vast eastern front has now reached proportions of a major campaign. As the Nazi forces fell back before Rostov, Soviet troops had succeeded in capturing Kotelnikovskii—a vital link in German positions and a point which Hitler had commanded to be held at all costs. Ninety miles below Stalingrad, loss of this point meant the extermination of Gen. Hermann von Hoth's sixth army—or what remained of its 22 divisions surrounded near Stalingrad.

What was even more important, however, was that the net was closing more surely on the million Nazis in the Caucasus. With Rostov's capture Adolf would have a sad looking report card and his next lesson in Russian would begin.

CHINESE MISSION: Ordered Home

Gen. Hsiang Shih-wei, head of a Chinese military mission to this country, and a majority of his staff have been ordered home by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, it was announced in Washington.

The mission was sent here 11 months ago to contact the joint Anglo-American military staff and to confer with U. S. military officials.

Chinese sources said the return was prompted by the apparent decision of the joint staff to concentrate the efforts of the United Nations on sectors other than the China front. Dissatisfaction in Chungking was reported over what it considers the minor role assigned to China in Allied strategy. It was said that Hsiang and his colleagues have decided there is no likelihood of a large scale offensive against Japan in the near future. The closing of the Burma road was an important factor in the Allied-China plan of strategy.

SOUTH PACIFIC: Advance in Buna

Japanese tenacity was nowhere in greater evidence than in the bitterly fought Buna front in New Guinea. Allied headquarters spoke repeatedly of advances against stubborn Japanese resistance.

Striking at Jap coastal fortifications, ground troops eliminated a triangular enemy stronghold of 12 bunkers, then were forced to deal of a counterattack. The desperately defended bunker triangle, approximately 1,800 yards from the coast, had been bypassed earlier in the Allied drive toward the Buna government station. It was surrounded several days before, after tanks and infantry had gone ahead to smash through to the coast and thence turn west to advance on the Buna air strip.

Up the coast from Buna, Allied bombers hit at the Lae airbase and at Kavieng in New Ireland. Fires were started at both places. Bombers also struck at the Gusmau airfield in New Britain.

GANGSTERS: Arcium in Chicago

Described by J. Edgar Hoover, FBI chief, as the toughest mob in the nation, Chicago's Roger Touhy gang, which escaped from Illinois Stateville prison in October, was rounded up by the G-men. Five of the seven who escaped were taken alive while the other two died under FBI bullets when they tried to escape a carefully prepared trap.

Hoover personally led some 30 G-men in the final round-up of the criminals.

Personalities in the News

Shown at left is Gen. Henri Giraud, successor of the slain Adm. Jean Darlan as high commissioner of French North and West Africa, who said he will raise an army of 300,000 Frenchmen in North Africa to fight on the Allied side. Center: Juho Rangell, prime minister of Finland, who, according to reports, attended the Jap "victory party" on December 7 in Helsingfors. Since then the state department has ordered the Finnish information center in New York to cease issuing news releases and pamphlets. Right: William Hodson, New York city commissioner of welfare since 1933, who will undertake a confidential mission for former Governor Herbert Lehman, director of foreign relief.

Kiddie Cooks Learn Value of Vitamins

Children from the age of five at Central school, Long Island, N. Y., are learning the principles of nutrition and the art of preparing and serving well-balanced meals. There was a time when a boy would rather be dead than caught wearing an apron, but the dusky young man at the left doesn't mind in the least being helped into a garment by a fellow cook. Center: This pupil has a man-size bowl of cereal before her. She has learned the value of the vitamins and minerals in the whole wheat and in brown sugar. Right: First important step in the cooking of vegetables is the removal of sand. And that's what these kiddie cooks are doing.

FBI Takes Desperate Touhy Gang

The Touhy-Banhurst gang of seven prison breakers—one of the most vicious gangs in the history of crime—was rounded up in Chicago by the FBI. Failure to register for the draft provided grounds for intervention of the FBI. Two of the gangsters were killed in the roundup. Photo shows the bodies of James O'Connor and St. Clair McInerney being removed from building in which they were trapped and slain by federal men, who later captured other members of the gang, including Roger Touhy and Basil Banhurst.

West Point at War

By Maj. Gen. Francis B. Wilby (Superintendent of West Point Academy)

Being a newspaper columnist and reporter is a new experience for me. However, I feel that I can give you a Reporter's Report to the Nation from West Point, which should be of interest to every red-blooded American.

I wish that everyone could visit West Point for just one day, and see what I see. You would get an inspiration that you cannot help but feel when you see the men of the Corps and what they are doing. They are not only fitting themselves for winning this war, but also for winning the peace, and preventing, if possible, the recurrence of such other world conflagration as we are passing through today.

As you know, a cross-section of American youth is selected from all parts of the country to come to West Point. They are selected by the most democratic of methods, many of them by winning competitive examinations.

Starting with these young men, we aim to develop a rigorously trained soldier-officer, a job which is greatly facilitated by the fact that the Cadets themselves sincerely desire to make the most of the opportunity they have here. With the rapidly changing weapons and new methods developed in modern warfare, we are constantly working to keep up to date and give the latest, most accurate information and training to the Cadets.

WALTER WINCHELL is on a tour of duty outside Continental U. S. Duty in absence, contributors will substitute.

The Cadets learned and were doing everything a thoroughly trained enlisted man ought to be able to do and before the Summer was over, they looked like veterans.

Summer maneuvers don't end the story of tough training at West Point. Summer maneuvers are just a phase of the year-round program which is built to train fighting leaders.

Every minute of the 16-hour day (6 a. m. to 10 p. m.) is filled by a tight schedule of instruction, study and athletics plus tactical training in the arms and branches of the Service. The program is designed to turn out officers schooled in all types of army operation, and each Cadet is familiarized with the use of every weapon from the pistol to the airplane.

So one can see the West Point is TOUGH—physically and mentally. He has to be.

At the close of the Summer, the Cadets came back into the classrooms for what we call academics. During the Winter months emphasis is placed upon academic instruction while the schedule in tactical training is somewhat reduced.

A reporter probably would say that we have a highly mathematical and stiff engineering course. Perhaps that is right, but the West Point curriculum aims at teaching a man to think, to reason, and to draw sound conclusions expressed clearly and concisely. Mathematics and the sciences provide this training of the mind which we believe is so essential in order to produce the finest military leaders.

I am happy to announce that this week the West Point instruction is being given a first-hand inspection by some of the leading educators of our country. I have invited Doctor Compagn, President of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Doctor Hopkins, President of Dartmouth, along with the principal military experts on training in our Army today, Major General Bull of the Replacement Training Center of the Ground Forces, Brigadier Hubert of the Training Division of the Services of Supply, Brigadier General Edwards of the Training Division of the War Department General Staff and Colonel Schlammer of the Field Training Command of the Army Air Forces, to meet, confer and review our plans for the new 1-year course at the Military Academy. With this course we propose to produce a graduate of West Point who will have the finest education and training it is possible to afford in the world available. By constantly keeping abreast of the latest developments we aim to do the job which American and Americans have asked us to do.

In the days of Robert E. Lee and U. S. Grant, West Point produced men to meet the challenge of the era. John J. Pershing fulfilled his task in the days of the Kaiser.

During the past Summer over 1,000 West Pointers went through the most rigorous field maneuvers that have been held in the history of the Academy. Every phase of combat training was given the Cadets. They worked, they sweated, they maneuvered over the hills and through the rivers of northwest New York State, as well as here at West Point. They had a good taste of how modern campaigns are fought.

During these maneuvers some of the toughest combat problems were carried out by the Cadets.

Co-operation Is Pledged On Soil Conservation

(From The Lynn County News)
At a meeting of members of the Board of Supervisors of the Lynn County Soil Conservation District and two members of the AAA County Committee with the commissioners court Monday, the court gave its assurance to those agencies that it would cooperate with them to the fullest extent practicable in carrying out the soil and moisture conservation program.

The main purpose of the meeting was to work out a plan whereby the county would make road equipment available to the District in assisting farmers who cooperate with the District in soil and moisture conservation work, and an understanding, seemingly satisfactory to all parties concerned was reached.

Present were all members of the commissioners court, consisting of County Judge Chester Connolly and Commissioners Pat Swann of Wilson, Lonnie Williams of Draw, John Anderson of O'Donnell, and Leon Jennings of Joe Stokes.

Representing the Soil Conservation Service was H. E. Mather of Tahoka, and the Lynn County Soil Conservation Board was represented by R. L. Littlepage of Midway, chairman, and John Sander of Wilson, Lloyd McCormick of New Home, and P. E. Askew of Wells. The Lynn County AAA Committee was represented by R. R. Adams of Wells and B. J. Emanuel of Gar-nolia.

County Judge Chester Connolly, presiding, opened the discussion with the statement that the commissioners court was desirous of extending all assistance possible to the District Supervisors in carrying out their program. He continued by stating that in every case attention to the county roads must have first consideration but that whenever equipment could be spared from road work it would be made available to the District.

R. R. Adams, chairman of the AAA County Committee, explained to the group how the 1943 farm program would assist farmers in terracing and other conservation work. The 1943 program, Adams stated, is much more liberal than in previous years in respect to terracing. In past years the farmer was limited in the amount of payment he could earn by carrying out soil building practices. In 1943 there is no limit set on the amount allowed for terracing.

Payment for terracing will be made at a rate not to exceed 80 cents per hundred linear feet of terraces built. This amounts to $42.24 per mile and the farmer can be paid for as many miles as are needed on his farm. All terraces must meet AAA specifications, Adams stated, if the farmer expects to be paid for this practice. He also explained that this payment could be drawn as soon as the terraces are completed.

Commissioners Anderson and Jennings stated that some of their equipment is leased to the Government for war work and they will be limited in the amount of equipment they can furnish until this equipment is returned. Commissioner Swann announced that his equipment is being repaired at this time but that some of it would be available soon. Commissioners Williams and Anderson stated that they expected to be able to make some equipment available for use by the District Supervisors about February 1st.

The charge to be made for 1943 for the use of the maintainer or a tractor and grader has been set at $3.50 per hour. No schedule was set for the rental on elevating graders, but it was suggested that the charge would be not less than $5.00 per hour.

R. L. Littlepage, chairman of the Board of District Supervisors, urged all farmers to arrange whenever possible to supply their own equipment for building terraces. Littlepage stated that he hopes to build a terracing machine for his own use and that he would make it available to his neighbors if he is successful in

BY BETTY CROCKER, GOLD MEDAL FLOUR ECONOMIST

AN OVEN DINNER THAT'S EASY

- Full O' Bologney
- Buttered Carrots
- Lettuce or Cabbage Salad
- Cherry Carnival Dessert
- Milk
- Other Beverages

Here's a cozy home dinner for a winter's day. One you can have baking in the oven while you write thank you notes to friends who remembered you for Christmas—or make a list of New Year Resolutions—or write your good wishes for the New Year to relatives and friends. The main dish is inexpensive and really very good eating. Your family will be delighted with it. We call it "Full o' Bologney"—and as you read the recipe you'll see why.

FULL O' BOLOGNEY

- 1 1/2 cups cut-up bologna (1/4 lb. cut in 1/2 inch pieces)
- 3 tbsp. butter
- 2 cups cubed uncooked potatoes (1/2 inch cubes)
- 6 tbsp. all-purpose flour
- 2 tbsp. minced green pepper
- 1/4 tsp. salt
- 1/4 tsp. pepper
- 2 cups milk

Arrange alternate layers of bologna, potatoes, green pepper, dry ingredients which have been sifted together, and dots of butter in a 7 or 8 inch baking dish . . . until all the ingredients have been used. Pour milk over all. Bake about 1 hour and 15 minutes in a moderate oven (350° F.). This makes 4 to 6 servings.

CHERRY CARNIVAL DESSERT

- 1/2 cup shortening
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 2 eggs
- 2 1/4 cups all-purpose flour
- 1 1/2 tsp. baking powder
- 1/2 tsp. soda
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1 cup milk
- 2 to 2 1/2 cups drained sour pitted cherries (No. 2 can)
- 1/2 cup chopped nuts

Hot Cherry Sauce
Cream the shortening, add the sugar gradually, and cream thoroughly. Blend in the well beaten eggs. Sift flour once before measuring. Sift flour, baking powder, soda and salt together, and add alternately with the milk to creamed mixture. Blend in the well-drained cherries and nuts. Pour into greased and floured pan. Bake 45 to 50 minutes in a moderate oven, 350° F., in an 8 x 12 inch pan. This makes 12 servings, 3 inches square.

Hot Cherry Sauce

- 1/2 cup sugar
- 2 tbsp. cornstarch
- 1/4 cup cherry juice (from No. 2 size can of sour cherries)
- 1 cup water
- 1/4 tsp. almond flavoring
- Dash of salt

Mix sugar, salt and cornstarch together in saucepan. Blend in the cherry juice and water. Boil until the mixture thickens and the starchy taste disappears (about 10 minutes), stirring constantly until the mixture boils but only occasionally after that. Blend in the almond flavoring. This makes enough for 6 generous servings.

Hot Light

Light is a phenomenon which manifests itself when matter reaches a high temperature. Obviously when energy is employed in heating a substance just in order that it shall give light, there is waste of energy when heat is produced also. An ordinary electric light bulb is hot to the touch when it is activated by an electric current. And the heat it generates is wasted energy.

Science has worked for generations on the problem of producing light without at the same time producing unwanted heat. The cold light given out by a glow-worm has not yet been even approximately copied by our science.

Sentinels of Health

Don't Neglect Them! Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood stream free of an excess of toxic impurities. The act of living--"use it or lose it"--is constantly producing waste matter the kidneys must remove from the blood if good health is to endure. When the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide distress. One may suffer nagging backaches, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes--feel tired, nervous, and worn out. Frequent, scanty or burning passages are sometimes further evidence of kidney or bladder disturbance. The recognized and proper treatment is a diuretic medicine to help the kidneys get rid of excess poisonous waste. Use Doan's Pills. They have had more than forty years of public approval. W.M.U. RELEASE

THE STORY SO FAR: Charlotte (Cherry) Rawlings, an orphan at Saint Dorothea's convent school since she was seven, knows almost nothing of her early history. Judge Judson Marshbanks and Emma Haskell are her guardians and when she is twenty, Emma gets her a secretarial job with Mrs. Porter in San Francisco, for whom Emma is housekeeper. At the Marshbanks mansion she meets the judge's dictatorial old mother; meets the judge's daughter of his Amy, rich debutante and Fran, his gay young brother. Emma tells Cherry that her unmarried sister Charlotte was Cherry's mother and she learns from the judge that Amy's father was also her father. Kelly Coates, a young artist, takes Cherry along so Fran will visit his studio. Cherry can see he is very much in love with Fran and is jealous. Mrs. Porter dies and Cherry goes to Stanford University, living with the Fringes at Palo Alto. Fran tells Cherry she has decided to do the honorable thing and see Kelly no more. Soon afterward she asks Cherry to marry him, although she will always be the "unattainable woman." Her answer is no; she wants no Fran in the background. Emma tells Cherry that she is not Charlotte Rawlings but Amy Marshbanks, her sister having secretly exchanged the babies. Judge Marshbanks confirms this, saying he has a statement Fred swore to on his deathbed. His mother, unobserved in a deep chair, overhears this, seizes the papers and throws them into the grate fire. Amy, twenty-one in a few days, is sent to marry Count Gogo Constantino. Kelly calls to see Cherry and congratulates her on being Amy Marshbanks. Cherry is happy when Kelly says he hasn't seen Fran in weeks.

Now continue with the story.

CHAPTER XIV

"I never guessed it because it isn't true," Amy answered, in proud distaste.

"It is true, my child. Your father was a fascinating man. Women were drawn to him."

"Cherry and I are the same age," Amy protested. "He was married. I don't—of course, I don't believe it!"

"Cherry was born two months too soon. Her mother was Charlotte Rawlings, the younger sister of Emma Haskell, who was your grandfather's nurse for years—my housekeeper after that . . ."

"You are not hurting me," Cherry said steadily, interrupting. "You are talking of Amy's mother."

Amy turned to Cherry, pathetic and bewildered. "What is all this, Cherry? What's she talking about? I think my grandmother's losing her mind. What's it all about?"

"I saw Emma a few weeks ago, up in the mountains," Cherry began, speaking in a voice suddenly hoarse and weak. "She told me that—that there had been a mistake in—in you and me—in our identities, Amy, when we were just newborn babies . . ."

"Of which there is absolutely no proof!" put in the old lady harshly.

"There was proof. Judge Marshbanks will tell Amy so if she asks him," Cherry was beginning, when she interrupted again in her turn: "You mean I'm not Amy Marshbanks, and my father's and mother's child and Grandfather Welling's grandchild? But that's so idiotic."

"You are right, Amy," said Mrs. Marshbanks, more quietly than she had yet spoken. "You are absolutely right, my darling, and I am proud of you. And now, girls, no more of this. It's late, and I am going to bed. Good night, Amy."

"What do you suppose got her?" Amy asked in a whisper when they were in the hall. "She gets the most back-brained ideas! Come into my room, Cherry. No, come on in a minute. Is any of that true? Was my father really your father, too?"

"Emma says so," Cherry admitted, sick of the whole thing.

"Uncle say so?"

"Yes. Yes. He told me long ago. When I was here after Mrs. Porter died."

"Honest?" Amy asked, between a smile and a frown. And Cherry could see that she was not wholly pleased with the idea. "So Emma said my father—" mused Amy, a dimple appearing in her flawless little cheek.

"Not Emma. Emma's younger sister, Charlotte. She was only nine. She was just out of boarding school."

"That makes us cousins, doesn't it?" Amy asked, still marveling at the strangeness of it. "No, it isn't," she corrected it quickly, "makes us half sisters!"

Cherry was standing looking at the other girl steadily. "I think I'll go to bed, Amy. I'm terribly tired." She went to her room and began to undress.

Before she fell asleep she heard a knock and the judge came in, and his voice in the hall: "Uncle Jud, did I speak to you a minute?"

"Tonight?" said the judge's pleasurable voice in answer.

"If I could, Uncle!"

All right, trot down to the library there's a fire there," Cherry heard him say, and then Fran's voice, "If it's that comic opera, Jud, be firm with her!"

She followed Amy down, and there in the silence abovestairs, Cherry nervously excited, got into bed intending to wait until Amy came up, and then, if she could from Amy's room, how the conference had been. But she was too sleepy. Long before the light in the hall went out she was deep in dreams.

They were troubled dreams.

When Cherry reached the door, Martin was on his knees, and the body of his master shot through the heart was resting against his shoulder.

Someone was in danger. A hoarse voice called out, "Help, help, help!"

Cherry sat up in bed, terrified at darkness, sweat suddenly cold on her hands and spine and brow. What was it? Somebody had called "Help!"

A shout came from the floor below, and then the sound of a revolver shot clove the darkness sharply.

Cherry was at the door now. The hall lights rushed up and the light over the stairs. Amy was at the switch, pallid with fright; stout, sturdy Molly, with May and some of the other maids behind her, was running down from the upper floor. Fran, clinging to the banister, was on the stairs.

"What was that?" Fran said, in a quick quiet voice. "Let's not lose our heads. It was nothing."

They all ran downstairs after Fran. Old Martin, the butler, was in the lead and they saw him pause at the library door. "They've got him!" he said brokenly.

When Cherry reached the door, Martin was on his knees, and the body of his master, shot through the heart, was resting limply against his shoulder.

Days went by. There was a dreadful silence in the house; a feeling of emptiness, even though it was filled with people. Old Mrs. Marshbanks murmuring to Fran in Fran's room; Amy tearful and frightened in hers; Cherry coming and going with a colorless, shocked face; Gregory Marshbanks, tall and good-looking and serious, home from college; Molly and May, the two upstairs servants. Helene the maid, the Chinese cook and his helper, Martin the butler, Rousseau the chauffeur, and these were all there.

And besides these were officers of the law who had opened doors and blocked boxes, taken their posts gravely and regularly at the entrances, checking everyone who went out and in.

Judge Marshbanks had fallen back across his own chair, had slipped to the floor; it had been his voice they had first heard, shouting for help; Cherry recognized it as she remembered that dreadful sound in the silent night.

Since then the place had been in full possession of the authorities. The family, the servants were being eternally summoned for questions.

Fran had repeated to everyone's satisfaction her simple story. She had come home from a Burlingame party with her husband at about midnight. She had felt restless and headachy that evening, and Judge Marshbanks, who always was glad to get home at a reasonable hour, had been delighted to bring her back before the party was well under way.

The judge, her story went on, had gone into the library for a talk with his niece, Amy Marshbanks, and Fran had gone to bed. She had heard nothing until his dreadful cry of "Help!" had rung through the house.

Amy was a poor witness in her own behalf, crying bitterly, and breaking out with frightened self-defense with every word. She had asked Uncle Jud to talk to her that night—no, she wouldn't say about what—no, she hadn't gotten angry at her nor she at him—yes, it had agitated her a good deal—she had cried—yes, she had said, "Then I'll kill myself!" as Martin testified. But Martin, going about to put out the lights, knew that she had gone upstairs before he spoke to Uncle, before Uncle said to him, "I've a little business to finish here, Martin. I'll put out the lights!"

"Had the announcement of your prospective marriage anything to do with this conversation, Miss Marshbanks?" Amy had been asked. "Not exactly," Amy had answered. "Not exactly." Amy was twenty-one now, and society had been duly notified, through the press, of her intention to become the third Countess Constantino.

On the other hand, the murdered man's mother had proved an incomparable witness. She had answered questions thoughtfully, even-ly, not wincing away from even the most appalling details.

"Who killed Judson Marshbanks?" headlined the newspapers. Everyone speculated, and everyone's guess seemed as reasonable as that of everyone else's.

"Cherry, you must have a theory," Kelly said one day when they were climbing the hill at Sausalito behind Topcote.

"I have about four," she answered judicially. "And Amy would add one to that. She has strong suspicions of you."

"Interesting," commented Kelly. "But after all, she may have no more than four," pursued Cherry, "for one of my four is Amy herself. Oh, I don't really think she had anything to do with it!" she interrupted his quick, surprised look. "But she had a motive. She knew that Uncle Jud was the only person who could really do anything about this question of her identity and mine. She was frightened—about the shame of it, and the money, of course, and above all, about Gogo. Amy knew in her heart that Gogo would leave her flat if anything like that came out."

"Do Amy," Kelly said, in a mildly pleased tone, "suspects me?"

"I don't say she suspects you. But she knows you liked Fran, and that you were there that night, and she asked me the other day if I thought by any chance you and Uncle Jud could have had a quarrel."

"Ha! I wonder if she suspects Gogo?"

"She was in perfect terror until he'd been cleared."

"Amy acts like a person completely innocent."

"She does, but at the same time she and I and the old lady are hiding what did actually go on that night, what the discussions and quarrels were about, and I marvel sometimes that they, the police, don't smell a rat!"

"There's Fran," Kelly said thoughtfully, stuffing his pipe.

"Oh, she wouldn't! Who was she telephoning to that night, Kelly?"

"Any one of a dozen men. Men fall for her the way soft coal goes into basements."

A few moments later, they returned to the house. Cherry pulled on her hat and handed Kelly her coat to hold for her. "I hate to go back!" she said.

"You don't have to go back, you know," he said, after a moment in which he had cleared his throat.

"It would be so good," she said, her raised face close to his, "to be long here. Just peaceful days and meals and digging in the garden and climbing the hill!"

"Why don't you do it, Cherry?"

"Because from the very beginning, Kelly, from the time I first knew you, I've known you didn't love me. And if I ever came here," Cherry said, "I'd want you to be so mad about me that you could hardly bear it. I'd want you to feel that marriage—marriage between us—was a miracle, and that if ever we had a child it would be a miracle to you, too, just as it would be to me!"

"And suppose I said that it was that way with me, Cherry," the man answered, catching her lightly by the upper arms with both big hands, holding her face to face with him. "Suppose I told you, on my sacred oath, that for weeks, months, I didn't know what was the matter with me, and that after you went away this summer it came to me suddenly that it was you—that it's been you for a long time. What would you say then, Marchioness?"

"I'd say—" she stammered, "don't—don't fool me, Kelly."

"Cherry," he asked, and now she was crushed so tight against his heart that she could not find breath to answer, "will you marry me, darling? Will you change my whole life for me, and make it the most wonderful life that any man ever had in this world? Will you, Marchioness?"

After a while he had to take her home. For even with the most expeditious plans in the world, they had to wait until such time as they could drive to San Rafael for a marriage license, and Cherry had to obtain permission from the authorities to leave the Marshbanks house.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

JESUS WINNING SOULS

LESSON TEXT—John 4:27-42. GOLDEN TEXT—He that reapeth receiveeth wages, and gathereth fruit unto life eternal.—John 4:36.

Man's need is the same wherever and whoever he may be. The Christ who met the need of the distinguished religious leader Nicodemus did the same for the poor sinful woman of Samaria.

The incident at Jacob's well in Sychar took place when Jesus, leaving Jerusalem because of increasing hindrance to His work, went up to Galilee. Unlike His Jewish brethren, who detoured around the land of the hated "half-breed" Samaritans, He "must needs go through Samaria," for there was a sin-sick soul that needed Him.

Our lesson abounds with instruction regarding soul-winning, both in principle and in practice. We here find Jesus:

I. Winning a Soul-Winner (vv. 27-30).

The faithful and kindly ministry of Christ led the woman to faith in Him as the Messiah. She left her water pot and ran at once into the city to share her new-found joy with everyone she knew.

Since the first expression of spiritual life is testimony, the one who brings a sinner to Christ not only saves a soul, but also wins a worker for Christ. One fears that we often assume that winning men to Christ is enough. We should expect that the new light should shine forth into the darkness.

So we have a two-fold reason for soul-winning; saving a soul from perdition, and setting a life on fire for testimony. It's a great business. Why don't we do more of it?

II. Instructing Soul-Winners (vv. 31-38).

This work of soul-winning requires a sustaining grace which this world cannot give. Jesus by His own example showed His disciples how that strength comes from above.

He who had seated Himself at the well, tired and hungry, to await the return of the disciples with food, had been refreshed in the doing of the Father's will—in reaching this forlorn woman. "The greatest thing that ever occurs in the world is the transformation of a human soul, and the greatest joy anyone can ever have is to act as the divine agent in bringing about such a transformation" (Douglass).

There is another thing these soul-winners needed to learn—even as we need to learn and re-learn it—that the time to win souls is now. How prone the human being is to procrastinate. Tomorrow—next Sunday—next week, we will speak to someone about his spiritual need. Next year we will give more liberally for missions, or for the work of soul-winning in our local church. But "look on the fields." Do you not see "that they are ripe already unto harvest"?

Again, soul-winners need to remember our Lord's words in verses 36-38. Not only the reapers receive the reward, but also those who sow and those who labor in order that the harvest may come. The man who plows is just as important as the one who reaps—perhaps some would say more important. Some of us who are called to be God's plowmen should remember that and be encouraged in our labors.

Like the perfect laborer that He was, Jesus did not require of His disciples what He did not do Himself. So we find Him again in the work of evangelism. He practiced what He preached.

III. Practicing Soul-Winning (vv. 39-42).

There is real danger that those of us who have a measure of leadership in the church may be quick to tell others what they ought to do—and not do it ourselves. This is particularly true in this matter of soul-winning. One is apt to write, preach and teach about it, and then neglect to do it.

The disciples had been to town for bread. One wonders whether they had talked to the store-keeper about Christ. Have you?

Jesus did not theorize about it—He really sought men for God. The testimony of the woman He had won sent a host of people out from the city. He spoke to them the word of life and they believed.

This was evidently "group evangelism" as distinguished from the "personal evangelism" which won the woman. They are both important, and belong together. Some are saying that the days of group evangelism are gone. We doubt that, but certainly the days of personal evangelism are always here. Let us be busy about that kind of soul-winning—and God may so bless that we will have a real revival. Are you ready for it?

The Best Prayer
He prayeth best who loveth best
All things both great and small:
For the dear God who loveth us,
He made and loveth all.

—COLERIDGE.

JANIE.. YOU HAD ME JEALOUS TONIGHT!

TOM: All those brothers of yours... talking up your hot rolls. I didn't have a chance to tell you how swell they were!

JANIE: Silly! They weren't any work, either. They're a new Fleischmann 2-hour kind... and full of extra vitamins when you make them with Fleischmann's Yeast.

TOM: There is real danger that those of us who have a measure of leadership in the church may be quick to tell others what they ought to do—and not do it ourselves. This is particularly true in this matter of soul-winning. One is apt to write, preach and teach about it, and then neglect to do it.

The disciples had been to town for bread. One wonders whether they had talked to the store-keeper about Christ. Have you?

Jesus did not theorize about it—He really sought men for God. The testimony of the woman He had won sent a host of people out from the city. He spoke to them the word of life and they believed.

This was evidently "group evangelism" as distinguished from the "personal evangelism" which won the woman. They are both important, and belong together. Some are saying that the days of group evangelism are gone. We doubt that, but certainly the days of personal evangelism are always here. Let us be busy about that kind of soul-winning—and God may so bless that we will have a real revival. Are you ready for it?

Folks, be sure you buy Fleischmann's. It's the only yeast that has added Vitamins A and D as well as Vitamins B, and G!

When you bake with Fleischmann's, all those extra vitamins go right into your breads with no great loss in the oven!

W. S. OF C. S.

The Women's Society of Christian Service met Monday afternoon at the Methodist Church for a program and business meeting.

In the business session the treasurer's report for the past year was given by Mrs. Earl Curtis.

Mrs. Joe Garner, supt. of supplies, gave a report on the supplies sent by the Society the past year. Two committees were appointed.

Mrs. Ben Moore Jr. brought a topic, "I Confess My Faith" by Madame Chiang Kai-shek.

Mrs. Hollowell led the devotional. She chose two articles from the Christian Advocate, "A Call to New Dedication" and an editorial by Roy L. Smith. The main thought of each was the Week of Dedication, which will be from Feb. 28 to Mar. 7.

The Society will meet next Monday at 3 p. m. at the Church for the Pledge Service.

Members present were Mesdames Raymond Ballew, Gus Sherrill, Ben Moore Sr., J. W. Gates, Ben Moore Jr., A. H. Koeninger, H. H. Hollowell, C. D. Pickens, Earl Curtis, Henry Warren, C. C. Coffey, Lindsey, Joe Garner, R. O. Stark, Joe Schooler, and Ervin Jones.

WEST TEXAS MUST FURNISH MORE WAACS

A new quota for the West Texas Army Recruiting District calls for the enrollment of more than four times the number of WAACs during January, February and March as have joined the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps during any previous three month's period.

Lieut. Col. Marvin B. Durette, Commanding Officer of the West Texas Recruiting and Induction District, stated that every effort will be made to reach this quota. He said that it is going to take the help of every one of the 76 counties in the district to attain this goal.

WAAC officers will visit practically every town in the district during the three months' period. Public meetings will be held in many of these towns to give the public Army Auxiliary Corps. Newspapers, full information on the Women's radio stations, theatres, women's clubs, and various other civic organizations will be asked to aid in this recruiting drive. Women are urgently needed to take over non-combatant assignments that relieve physically fit soldiers for fighting duties.

The pay scale, which is the same as the Army's, will be distributed along with other information on advantages of training: the clothing, food, lodging and care of women, and all the attractions of membership in the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps.

All organizations willing to help in this recruiting drive should contact the Headquarters of the West Texas Recruiting and Induction District in Lubbock.

Mesdames Waldo McLaurin, Roy Gibson, L. T. Brewer, John Etter, Ben Moore and "Tech" McLaurin were shopping in Lubbock Tuesday.

THESE FAST MOTOR LAUNCHES of the Netherlands Navy carry a real sting. Armed with guns and depth charges, they are ready to make things hot for Axis planes or U-boats in the Caribbean. Today the Netherlands is serving the United Nations on the sea not only with naval vessels, but with her large merchant fleet, some ships of which helped land the U. S. expeditionary force in Africa.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hoffman, W. L. Palmer and Harry Clemage and Helen Jean were in Lubbock Tuesday. Mrs. J. P. Bowlin and Miss Ruth Van Meter.

MRS. ROBINSON WAS CLUB HOSTESS

Mrs. L. E. Robinson was hostess to members and an additional guest Tuesday when she entertained her club.

In games Mrs. C. H. Cabool won high and slam prize and Mrs. Guy Bradley won bingo.

Others playing were Mesdames Hughes, Henderson, Porgy, Noble, Jordan and the hostess.

FROM CHILLICOTHE

Mrs. W. W. Hancock and her son Supt. W. E. Hancock and Mrs. Homer Hancock were in Brownfield and Plains attending to business Monday.

Supt. Hancock has resigned his position in Chillicothe and is awaiting his call for Navy service.

What's This War About, Daddy?

Honey, in a place called China, children can never play as you can... because men in airplanes roar overhead and shoot them, and burn their homes.

In other places... in Norway and France, in Poland and Greece and Russia... children have their mothers and daddies taken away from them... led off to a prison called a concentration camp. Their children may never see their parents again.

Many of these children—boys and girls just like you—don't get enough to eat. Many of them have starved to death.

Why is all this happening? Because there are evil people in the world, who call themselves the Axis, who do these things. And it's our job to make them stop—to see that they never trouble the world again. That's what this war is all about.

To do our job we've got to knock out the Axis. And a lot of us Daddies would like to do it with our own fists... or our own guns. We can't all do that. There's other work that Uncle Sam wants us to do.

So let's help knock out the Axis with that work. Let's take a dime out of each dollar we earn while working and buy War Bonds and Stamps to turn our dollars into America's tough new tanks and planes.

So... tell your employer to set aside 10 percent of what you earn every payday in the War Bond Payroll Savings Plan. Then, each time it adds up to $18.75, you'll get a bond.

Your Government will use that money to smash the Axis. Every dollar is a nail in Hitler's coffin. Every bond a bomb to blow the Jap off this earth. And your money is an investment against that time when peace returns and you will no longer have to answer that question:

"Daddy, what's this war about?"

WHY U. S. WAR BONDS ARE THE SAFEST, PLACE YOU CAN PUT YOUR MONEY!

- 1. They are obligations of the United States. If this isn't safe, nothing is!
2. For every $3.00 you invest in War Bonds you get back $4.00 at the end of 10 years.
3. They do not fluctuate in dollar value—are never worth less than you pay for them.
4. You can name one individual either as co-owner or as beneficiary right on the face of the bond.
5. Your savings in War Bonds cannot be lost or stolen. Each bond is registered at the Treasury Department.

Budget That Meat, Serve Delicious Stews
(See Recipes Below)

Stretch That Meat!

Today most of you homemakers find the meat situation actually testing your mettle. In your trips to the butcher's you may find many cuts of meat you haven't used often in the past, and less and less of the cuts you know how to use and that your family has eaten rarely. But those are the meats available for your menus, and thus I'm going to give you some first aid in preparing them.

Fortunately, the cheaper cuts of meat, along with liver and kidneys and the other entrails not included in the meat rationing program are as rich in proteins and minerals as their better known relatives. Cooked correctly, they can become as popular.

"Extend the meat" should become the motto of every family for the duration. The way to do it is to include unrationed cuts plentifully through the menus, use cereals and meat extenders such as oatmeal and bread crumbs on rationed cuts, and substitute fowl and cheese in the menu for steaks and chops as often as possible.

Veal kidneys combine with beef in this especially delightful and nutritious stew—and stretch that beef to serve eight people. It's a colorful main dish with bright carrots and button mushrooms:

*Beef and Kidney Stew.
(Serves 6 to 8)

- 3 veal kidneys
- 1 pound beef, cut in strips
- 1 cup sliced carrots
- 1 cup sliced onion
- 1 cup cubed potatoes
- 1 cup sliced or button mushrooms
- 2 tablespoons worcestershire sauce
- 1 tablespoon salt
- 2 tablespoons chopped parsley

Remove skin and fat from kidneys; soak in cold, salted water for 1 hour; cover with cold water; bring slowly to boiling point. Drain; cut into small pieces. Roll beef strips in flour; brown in hot fat. Add 4 cups stock from kidneys and cook 30 minutes. Add kidneys, vegetables, sauce and salt. Cook 30 minutes. Add parsley. Thicken if desired.

Have you done much with liver? Then you know it is a dish of distinction, worthy of being served even on special occasions:

Lynn Says:

The Score Card: Citrus fruits, apples, Hubbard squash or acorn squash offer bargains during the cool crisp months. Include them in on your menus.

What to do about those recipes calling for whipped cream? You can use a little of the cream off the top of the bottle, if you chill it well for a day or so, and chill the bowl which you use for whipping... and the beaters too. Some of the brands of canned milk will also whip, if they're well chilled, along with the bowl and beaters.

If you're unable to obtain chocolate or cocoa sometimes at the grocer's, use victory type of cookies utilizing honey, corn syrup and the wheat flour for darker cakes.

Inexpensive delicacies to help you on the slender meat-rationed days: boiled, baked tongue with raisin or cranberry sauce; pigs feet; oxtail soup; hocks; brains; tripe with broiled mushrooms.

Liver Loaf.
(Serves 6 to 8)

- 1 pound of beef liver
- 1 onion, chopped
- 1/2 pound pork sausage
- 1 cup dry bread crumbs
- 1 teaspoon worcestershire sauce
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 1 teaspoon celery salt
- 2 beaten eggs
- 1/2 cup liver or chicken stock

Cover liver with hot water and simmer 5 minutes. Drain liquid to use for stock. Force liver and onion through food chopper. Add remaining ingredients. Form into a loaf in a pan and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) 45 minutes. Serve with broiled bacon or tomato slices, if desired.

Rice With Pork Liver.
(Serves 6)

- 1 1/4 pounds pork liver, sliced
- 4 strips bacon
- 3/4 cup rice
- 3 tablespoons chopped parsley
- 2 or 3 sliced carrots
- 2 sliced onions

Fry the liver with the bacon until brown, then add rice which has been soaked in water for a half hour. Cover with hot water or chicken stock, add parsley, carrots, onion, salt and pepper to taste. Simmer slowly until tender, about 40 minutes.

Oatmeal is an excellent source of the B vitamins and proteins and therefore makes an excellent meat extender. Here it's used to make that meat go further:

Meat Loaf.
(Serves 8)

- 1 1/4 pounds of beef or beef and pork combined
- 1/4 cup onion, minced
- 1 cup oatmeal
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 1/4 cup catsup
- 1 egg, beaten
- 1 cup water
- 1 teaspoon poultry seasoning

Combine all ingredients and blend well together. Pack into a loaf pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) about 45 to 50 minutes. Serve with the following sauce:

- 2 tablespoons butter
- 2 tablespoons brown sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
- 1/2 cup catsup
- 1 teaspoon worcestershire sauce

Melt butter in skillet, add remaining ingredients, heat through, and pour over meat loaf when baked.

Some time ago shortening was unintentionally omitted in the list of ingredients for the following cookie. Here is the corrected recipe:

- *Oatmeal Drops
- 2 cups 3-minute oats
- 1/4 cup shortening
- 1 cup corn syrup
- 1/2 cup flour
- 1 teaspoon soda dissolved in 4 tablespoons boiling water
- 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
- 1 cup chopped raisins

Bring to a boil in a saucepan, the corn syrup, shortening, and raisins and cook for 5 minutes, then add soda. Mix in oats, flour and nutmeg. Blend well and drop by spoonfuls on a greased and floured baking sheet 2 inches apart. Bake in a hot (375-400-degree) oven for 10 minutes.

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

In Ceylon wealthy natives with cars invariably point their tires red because of the superstition that this will obviate motor trouble.
The rubber tapper, or seringueiro, in Brazil lives partly off the forest he ranges in search of wild rubber. A shotgun and machete are his traditional equipment.
Superstitious negroes of Georgia believe that the best cure for rheumatism is to sleep with an old tire around the waist.
When dual tires are mis-mated, the larger tire carries most of the load, wears off its tread abnormally and fails early due to the generation of excess heat in its cord carcass.
It is estimated that the average tire loses 12 per cent of its weight in use and yields about 1/3 of its original weight in reclaimed rubber.

Man Scalded In Hog Vat Is Recovering

(From The Lynn County News)
 County Commissioner Lonnie Williams reports that his brother, Dock Williams, who was severely scalded when he fell backwards into a vat of hot water while engaged in killing hogs early last week at his place a mile west of the Tahoka-O'Donnell highway near Guthrie Lake and who was taken to a hospital in Lubbock for treatment, was able to return to his home Saturday.
 Williams was badly scalded from below the knees to the waist, and the accident doubtless would have proved fatal had not others present pulled him out of the vat.
 The accident occurred when another man struck him on the chest in mere play.

Sgt. Hulon Bolch, who has been stationed in Georgia, was on a furlough this week for a visit with his wife and son and other relatives, C. E. Cameron, Texas Electric Service manager of Lamesa, was a business visitor here Thursday.

It's fun for you... BUT WORK for your eyes!

Eyes are now being used at least 20% more in the home than they were a year ago . . . based on a recent survey of over 3,000 people in 514 families. Because of this, remember that lots of things which are fun for you, are work for your eyes. There's extra need to watch your light and guard eyesight!

"Yes sire, it'll whistle tomorrow!" Many a man now gets a big kick out of being the repair man around home. But you'll spend less time at it and see better if you avoid glare by having the right size bulb in your fixture.

"This plane's going to be a honey, sis" . . . and so is that new doll dress. But close work like this means greater risk of eyestrain. See that the lamp they work by is close enough and has at least a 100-watt bulb in it.

It's a game now for Mom . . . but how she works at it, trying to make everything, including Dad's socks, last longer! If she'd only move the lamp back close to her elbow, she'd find mending less tiring, and less strain for her eyes.

HOW TO GET MORE OUT OF LIGHT!

1. Keep bulbs and reflectors clean . . . dust and dirt waste more light than you think.
2. Arrange lamps and fixtures so each lamp can serve two or more people if necessary.
3. When you buy a lamp bulb, buy carefully; be sure it's the right size to protect eyes.
4. Replace dark shades or shades turned yellow; get more light.

All property owners of Lynn County are called upon to pay their 1942 taxes as quickly as possible. Payments now will greatly facilitate work in this office during the usual rush period.

All citizens between 21 and 60 years of age are required to pay a poll tax. This payment must be made when other taxes are paid.

Please remember that penalty and interest will be charged on all taxes after February 1st.
