Luncheon Club Have Good Meet Monday

At a regular meeting of the O'Donnell Luncheon Club on Monday morning of this week, Chairman C. H. Doak was present and presided during the meeting. He told of a conversation followed and each member present agreed that what has been done at Spur can be done in O'Donnell. It was suggested and finally put into action that J. L. Shoemaker, Jr., who is personally acquainted with Mr. Lee, write him extending an invitation for him to speak before the committee and the chair appointment subject with the view of interesting the people in this section in a similar enterprise.

The Trades Day proposition came up next for discussion and it was finally agreed to hold the first Trades Day first Monday in September. The committee consisted of C. H. Mansell, W. E. Guye, B. J. Boyd, Guy Bradley, and J. W. Roberts, reported the town had been canvassed and the business houses were almost one hundred per cent for the inauguration of such an event. This committee was retained as advertising and arrangement committee and C. H. Mansell, C. H. Doak, E. M. Wilder, B. M. Haymes, A. A. House, Ben S. Coir, A. C. Fairley, E. O. Stark, J. P. Aylor, and D. A. Edwards.

Meeting adjourned to meet at the McClung Hotel Tuesday at 12:30 for the next regular luncheon.

CONTRACTOR FRIDAY PLAYS GOOD SAMARITAN SUNDAY

M. L. Friday, contractor of O'Donnell's $40,000.00 water system, assumed the role of Good Samaritan on last Sunday following the heavy rains of Saturday night. Motorists were stranded Sunday morning in almost every part of town where their cars had dropped into the ditches which were refilled and staked placed as a warning to other motorists.

Mr. Friday did all this at his own expense and without solicitation from anyone which is a very commendable act and one that was undoubtedly appreciated by many who were in distress.

Big Rattle Snake Kill

In the past years Childrens county people have been indeed fortunate in that few people have been struck by rattle snakes, although there has always been plenty of them in this section of the country. When the first settlers came the snakes were numerous, being found in almost every foot of ground. But of late years the snakes have been killed out and few have been found around the city.

J. M. Davis, who is living on his father's farm, eight miles east of the city reports the kill of 28 rattle snakes within the past three or four weeks. The snakes were in size from two to three or four feet long, having from two to five rattles.

It is said there is quite a large prairie dog town upon the farm lands, and it is believed the snakes live in the old and abandoned holes in this dog town. The snakes live there through the winter months, coming to the surface early in the spring or after the danger of freezing is over.

The number killed will go a great ways in thinning out the snakes in that neighborhood and the work performed is a good one and Mr. Davis is to be congratulated upon the work done.—Childrens Index.

JUNCTION—Ten thousand folders in three colors, descriptive of Kimble county, have been prepared by the local chamber of commerce.

LUNCHEON CLUB ENJOY MEETING TUESDAY

The regular luncheon of the O'Donnell Luncheon Club was held Tuesday at the McClung Hotel from 12:30 until 1:00 o'clock with thirty six members and guests present.

E. M. Wilder acted as toastmaster and Don Edwards gave the invocation and the words were furnished by Miss Jessie Gary and Florence Henderson who rendered several beautiful and appropriate duets which added charm to the lovely occasion.

Mr. Martin recently employed Vocational Agriculture teacher of the O'Donnell High School was the principal speaker at the luncheon. He spoke for several minutes on Vocational Agriculture and asked the cooperation of the members of the club in selling the idea to the people in O'Donnell territory. Vocational Agriculture is something new to a majority of the people of this territory and the Luncheon Club promised Mr. Martin their whole hearted cooperation in putting over his work.

J. P. Aylor also made a splendid talk, using for his subject "Thinking" and in his usual impressive manner brought out some good thoughts.

Rains Halts Work On Water Tower

Work on the erection of the 50,000 gallon standpipe for O'Donnell's $40,000 water system has been delayed during the past week due to the heavy rains. It was almost impossible for workmen to remain on the job until yesterday because of torrential rains which covered the South Plains.

Practically all the mains in the city have been laid and pumps have been set ready to be put in operation as soon as the tower is completed. Work favorable to the people will be complete within the next two weeks as plenty of water will be flowing through the mains of the new system.

F. M. PAGE HAS FINE PROSPECTS FOR COTTON CROP

F. M. Page who lives five miles northwest of town was here Tuesday and called at the Index office exhibiting two stalks of cotton that looks as fine as any we have ever seen at this season of the year. One of the stalks had eighteen bolls and squares while the other had thirty two. Some of the bolls were at least two thirds grown and Mr. Page says the blooms were found in his field on the last day of June. Mr. Page will be picking cotton by the first of September. He has two hundred and fifty acres of cotton from which he expects to harvest one hundred bales provided nothing happens to the crop before harvesting time. He also has fifty acres of feed that he believes will make a good feed.

BEN F. SMITH, WEST TEXAS NEWSPAPER MAN HERE MON.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben F. Smith, well known newspaper folks of West Texas were here Monday on a prospecting trip. Mr. Smith recently severed connections with the Hutchinson County Herald, a Nunn, Warren publication published at Smetters. Prior to that time he was in the newspaper business at Lockney, Snyder, and Slaton.

He was greatly surprised at the rapid development of O'Donnell and territory during the past few years. Mr. Smith stated O'Donnell had made greater strides in development than any town on the South Plains since his last visit here.

Another New South Plains Town

A cotton gin is to be built this summer at Sundown, the new town on the Bob Slaughter ranch about fifteen miles southwest of Levelland, and is to be owned by the Slaughter interests, and will be ready for the coming crop.

Slaughter is having a 400 acre tract broken up and will have it planted to cotton the present season. It is also reported that a hardware and implement business will also be established at Sundown shortly.

Grounds have also been set aside for a school building, the erection of which awaits action by the county board of education in the formation of a new district, or provisions for putting up another building in the Clauene district, which embraces that territory at the present time.—Levelland Herald.

Plans have been made whereby the people of O'Donnell and surrounding territory will receive the returns in the Democratic Primary election on Saturday night. Those who wish to see how our favorite candidates run when the returns come in, come to O'Donnell Saturday evening. Returns will begin to come in soon after the polls close.

A large bulletin board will be erected in a place on the north side of the Wilder-Hubbard Chevrolet Co. building with the names of candidates from State to Precinct offices and the returns will be posted as they come in and will be tabulated until a late hour.

The returns will be received direct from the Texas Election Bureau at Dallas.

Interest in Saturday's primary has been growing the past few weeks and O'Donnell is expected to be host to a large crowd on Saturday night. Come in and watch the speed of your favorite candidate.

As the date for the Primary Election draws near let me say that I have endeavored to see all the voters of county and present to them personally for my candidacy for the office of Sheriff and Tax Collector, and while I have met a great many of the voters, it has been impossible for me to see each and every one and I take this method of soliciting the support of those I have failed to see personally.

I have conducted my campaign on a high plane and have refrained from all questionable methods for I am asking the support of the voters of the county on my merits as a person and will at this time renew my promise to the citizenship during my campaign that I shall strive diligently to enforce all the laws with the age-old principle, equal rights to all and special privileges to none, as my guide in discharging my duties to the people.

If you see fit to give me your support I shall greatly appreciate it and promise that I shall give you the very best service that I am capable of rendering as your law enforcement officer.

TO THE VOTERS OF LYNN COUNTY, TEXAS

Sincerely,
J. H. Yarbrough

J. P. BOWLIN ERECTING COTTON GIN AT LOOP

Machinery has already been placed on the ground and workmen are busy installing. They expect to have the new gin ready for operation by the time this year's crop is ready for harvest.

CITY RECEIVES 1,000 FEET NEW FIRE HOSE THIS WEEK

Fire Chief Grady Gantt notified the Index that the department received one thousand feet of new fire hose Wednesday of this week. The new hose will enable the fire department to reach practically every piece of property in the city limits in case of fire which assures good fire protection as soon as the new water system is completed.

FIFTH MONDAY SOCIAL WILL BE HELD THURSDAY

The Fifth Monday social which was to have been held Monday at the First Presbyterian church has been postponed until Thursday following, from four to six o'clock. The Presbyterian ladies have arranged a good program for the occasion. BANKER-FARMER MOVEMENT GROWS
Funds Supplied by Banking Organizations in Many States to Finance Studies and Contests.

The nationwide movement being conducted by county and state bankers' associations and the American Bankers Association in co-operation with the state agricultural colleges and county agents for the purpose of bringing about both local and national solutions for farm economic problems has shown notable results during the past year. A review of those activities in the Bulletin of the Agricultural Commission, American Bankers Association, summarizes some of the chief points as follows:

In Missouri a meeting was held at the College of Agriculture at which the bankers again appropriated $1,000 for boys' and girls' club work. Saline county bankers have raised $500 to stimulate beef calf clubs and report definite results obtained in getting farmers to lime their soil and grow alfalfa. County "key bankers" to promote banker support of farm betterment projects are being appointed and another Short Course in Agriculture for bankers is being planned.

In Kansas no less than fifteen counties are reported by the Extension Service as having definite banker-farmer work. County key bankers attended four district conferences during the year.

The Louisiana bankers' agricultural committee at the College of Agriculture in connection with a bankers' farm course. The bankers are thoroughly aroused to the wisdom of tick eradication and are co-operating to that end. County key bankers are being selected and county meetings with bankers throughout the state will be arranged.

Results Shown

In Kentucky key bankers have been appointed in each county with the result that the bankers of the state are co-operating with the College of Agriculture more specifically than any other group of business men. Some of the fruits of this co-operation is demonstrated by the fact that the number of dairy cattle in the state has increased seven per cent and the production per cow twelve per cent. Three counties in the state have eliminated all scrub hogs.

In North Carolina the outstanding accomplishments have been the honoring of "Class A Farmers," that is, those attaining a degree of proficiency in a well balanced and sound system of farming as indicated by a score card prepared by the College of Agriculture and the Bankers Short Course given there. Future plans provide for the continuation of the county key banker system and the arrangement of county banker-farmer tours.

In Virginia $15,000 has been raised by subscription for boys' and girls' club work, largely from bankers. A group meeting was held at the College of Agriculture with two hundred bankers in attendance. The Committee on Agriculture of the State Bankers Association voted to continue and check up on the county key banker work.

The reports from New York on the activities for the past year included the distribution of 20,000 short form credit statements prepared co-operatively by the agricultural college and bankers. The bankers' agricultural committees also arranged to send suggestions to the banks of the state to aid in financing purchase of dairy cattle to replace those lost by the tuberculosis test.

Bankers' Farm Schools

Bankers' Farm Schools or "Short Courses" continued popular during the year. Several colleges held such courses under the auspices of the state bankers' agricultural committees and are repeating this year.

"Minimum of Talk—Maximum of Demonstration" was the character of program put on by the Kansas Agricultural College for the second Bankers' Farm School in April. Four representatives were invited from each of twenty counties, consisting of the county key banker, the county agent, the secretary of the county bankers association, and the president of the farm bureau. Proper farm methods were brought out by demonstrations, then tours were made to farms whose owners had followed the practices and methods outlined by the college to illustrate the lessons. Emphasis was placed on the important part bankers can play in developing agriculture.

In South Dakota specific plans for the ensuing year are the appointment of county key bankers, co-operation in boys' and girls' club projects and group meetings of county agents and key bankers. In Minnesota the county key bankers system is to be continued with special emphasis on bringing the county agent and key banker into closer co-operation.

At a banker meeting at the North Dakota Agricultural College it was decided that the key banker organization would be completed and in order to acquaint the bankers with agricultural needs county bankers' livestock were planned during the year.

At a conference held at Montana State College it was reported that county key bankers had co-operated in arranging for a livestock special train which ran for seventeen days, made twenty-nine stops and came in contact with 22,000 people; that bankers had assisted in six district conferences that led to the formation of a state agricultural program, and that twenty-eight counties reported definite work under the leadership of the county key bankers such as assisting in the purchase of county bankers' livestock and loans to club members.

Other States in Line

Idaho College of Agriculture was the scene of a special meeting attended by thirty-five bankers and college representatives. The conference voted to join the key banker ranks.

In Oregon the first banker-farmer short course was held in January with a good attendance and marked enthusiasm. A meeting of the state bankers' agricultural committee held in conjunction with the course voted approval of the banker-farmer contest sponsored by Agricultural Commission, American Bankers Association, and appointed a committee to confer with college authorities on methods to prevent spread of contagion in dairy cattle.

California held twenty-two successful county tours during the year and as a result it is planned to extend the tours to every county in the state and also to arrange a state-wide tour. The county key bankers played a big part in pushing this work. At an Arizona College of Agriculture meeting of bankers county key bankers were appointed and plans made for community conferences of bankers, farmers and others where local agricultural needs will be discussed.

In New Mexico bankers and county agents met at Clovis as a step in the plan to acquaint bankers in different sections of the state with agricultural conditions and to bring about greater co-operation between them and the county agents. At the Colorado College of Agriculture plans were formulated to select county key bankers, to follow up work with key bankers and county agents and for chairman of the state bankers' committee to attend and address group meetings.

In Nebraska four "farm outlook" meetings were held, largely attended by bankers. Sixty-nine county key bankers were appointed during the year and follow up work between them and county agents is to be pushed.

For Iowa effective co-operation is reported between bankers and the Extension Service of the state college in their farm bureau programs. Every third farmer in the state is a member of the bureau. The key banker system is to be continued and special emphasis is to be placed on team work between county agents and key bankers.

Director D. H. Otis of the Agricultural Commission American Bankers Association attended many of the meetings.

STRAIGHT TALKS WITH AUNT EMMY

On When Women Come Into Money.

As Aunt Emmy sipped her tea she heard the conversation drift to the Slade sisters. The fact that they had inherited a large fortune and would have to administer it themselves created considerable comment.

"My husband says old man Slade made a big mistake not putting it in the bank for them," said Mrs. Burt. "He says women never should handle large sums of money because they are 'financially uneducated'—he really means 'dumb'."

"All women aren't dumb about money matters, are they, Aunt Emmy?" exclaimed Miss Pringle.

"Of course not," Aunt Emmy agreed. "There are all sorts and kinds of women the way from very prudent to very foolish."

"Well, anyway, an awful lot of women have been victimized in financial things—just look at all the widows that have been robbed," insisted Mrs. Burt.

"There won't be so much of that in the future as in the past," Aunt Emmy said. "Women have been easy to victimize because they know up to about money affairs, but now they are realizing this danger more and more and are taking advantage of the financial advice departments their bankers have set up for them. One thing that has led to women's financial undoing is their natural love of pretty things. This trait often leads them into foolish investments and speculations to get money quickly. Once a woman sets her heart on a thing she can't wait until it is hers."

"But if women didn't buy things, there wouldn't be any business," spoke up Molly. "Women are the natural spenders of the family, Dad says."

"Yes, but they would have more to spend if they'd go a little slower," replied Aunt Emmy. "Every time I see a woman falling for some pretty get-rich-quick scheme I think of the nice things she could buy with the money she is going to lose. If they'd go slower—they'd get farther."

"From what I know of the Slade girls," Molly began—but just then the Slade girls themselves came in.

"We're so sorry to be late," they apologized, "but we have been having our first lesson in finance down at the Trust Company. They are going to give us quite a lot of time and explain all the things we ought to know about money to keep us out of financial trouble."

"Well, my dears, you are going to the right school," said Aunt Emmy. "If every woman would do that there'd be less trouble and more pretty things for all of them."

Sunday school at the Methodist church was well at the spite of the muddy roads. Our motto is "Always have a Sunday school even if the number is Small." An interesting feature of Sunday school is the Birth day jar. If you have a birthday during the week while a song is being sung you step to the chancel and drop pennies one at a time into the jar for each year of your age. This only trouble some have used ten and twenty five cent pieces owing to the scarcity of pennies of course.

Bro. Weems' sermons both morning and night were most appreciated. Epworth League met at the church Sunday night with the largest crowd they have ever had. They had a radio program which was very interesting as well as helpful. The young ladies are always present at these meetings but sometimes the boys are nearly absent. What is wrong with our boys? Come out boys. You will enjoy these meetings as the girls do and they will be glad indeed to have you.

TECH GEOLOGICAL PARTY RETURNS AFTER LONG TREK OVER MOUNT WEST

LUBBOCK, Texas, July 26.—Having spent six weeks in a 4,720 mile trip which carried them to every place of geological interest in the Western and Northwestern United States. Dr. Leroy T. Patton, head of the department of Geology of Texas Technological college and ten students returned to the campus this week from an annual summer geology field trip of the school. The group left here in the college bus on June 4.

Mr. Capitan near Roswell, New Mexico was the first stop of the boys after which their wanderings carried them by way of Raton Pass, along the east front of the Rockies to Fort Collins, Colorado, up into the Black Hills, and on to Glacier National park where two weeks were spent in tramping over the park in pursuit of their studies in general geology.

Leaving the park they motored in to Alberta, Canada, and then back through the Yellowstone National park to Salt Lake City. Places visited along the way included the Great Plains, the Northern Rockies, the Columbia River Plateau, the Interior East and the Colorado River Plateau, besides numerous other less important places for field duty.

The boys making the trip were: Ira Clingsmith of Hart; L. B. Worthy, of Snyder, Carl Stultz, of Dallas; P. A. Hargrove, of Colorado; Craig H. Perry, of Coleman; Russell Thomson, of Ballinger; and Ned Camp. Frank Wilson, Dan Boone and Wayne Burkhardt of Lubbock.

Scout Camp at Post Will Enforce Rules for Safety of the Boys Who Attend the Gathering

A scout bank is always maintained in camp to take care of the scouts spending money. Mr. B. S. Williams of the Citizens National Bank will spend a part of his vacation in camp acting as banker for the boys. All money will be deposited with Mr. Williams and each day canteen checks for the purchase of candies and cold drinks will be issued. The purchase of scout equipment and paraphernalia will be handled on regular checks drawn on the scout bank. A Boy Scout is limited in the amount of money he may spend for sweets in order that his digestive system may not be upset and thereby spoil his camp.

A carefully prepared menu of balanced foods that are best suited to the needs of a growing boy will be prepared by expert camp cooks. Pastry is cautioned not to send candy, cake and other sweets to their boys at camp as the boys have plenty of well cooked food and any extra delicacies may spoil their camping program.

The joy of every boy's life is the opportunity for swimming. The camp itself does not have swimming facilities but arrangements have been made to take the boys each day to Two Draw Lake just outside of Post. Here the boys are taught swimming and life-saving. Every Boy Scout should be a swimmer as he is a potential life saver. Many new scouts who are unable to swim are taught to swim during the camp period. Swimming activities are under the direction of expert watermen. Life guards are on duty during the entire camp period to see that their proper rules of safety are carried out and to effect a rescue in case of an accident of any kind. The "Buddy System" used universally by scouts, will be carried out at the Post camp.

In this system the boys are paired off and do their swimming and diving together. A senior guard blows a whistle at intervals of various lengths. When the whistle sounds all activities cease and the "Buddies" hold up their hands. This gives a while at intervals of various lengths. When the whistle blows they are asked to come out of the water and they lose their swimming privilege a certain length of time, according to the infringement rules.

The camp this year will specialize to a great extent on handicraft work and preparation for the coming county and community fairs. Mr. Frank White will spend some time in camp instructing the boys in plaster of paris casting and modeling. Indian bead work and many other kinds of Indian handicraft are on the program. The scouts will also have the opportunity to observe and study the different types of tent and shelters. A number of these will be constructed from natural material obtained on the campsite. A number of burros will be available in camp in order that the scouts may learn to throw the diamond hitch and other ways of packing the equipment over the mountain trails. Burros will also be used for polo and other games. A number of special awards are being offered for camp. Chief among them is the McMillan Trophy offered by W. G. McMillan, chairman of the camping committee, to the scout troop making the best record in camp. The Siltan Chamber of Commerce is offering a banner to the boy who makes the best fire making set from natural material at camp. Special prizes of archery tackle will be awarded to the boy who makes the best showing in archery work. Other prizes will be awarded for knife and ax work, rope making, rope spinning, swimming, camping and many other activities. The Post Chamber of Commerce has made arrangements with the Pathe News to take several reels of the camp activities.

T-BAR DISTRICT VOTES SCHOOL BONDS

Bonds in the sum of $20,000.00 were voted by the citizens of the T-Bar community last Saturday for the erection of a new school building in that district. The vote was 22 for the bonds and 4 against.

The building will be of brick and concrete construction and will contain five rooms and an auditorium. This will be one of the best rural school buildings in the county.

T-Bar is one of Lynn county's most progressive communities, and the erection of the new buildings will be keeping with the rapid growth and development that this section has been undergoing the past few years—Lynn County News.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Waller and children, Marvin and Margaret of Pride, visited Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Crawford on Sunday. They report a fine rain and Mr. Waller had also found a number of worms in his cotton.

The people of Lamesa are to have a municipally owned band in the future, according to official returns of an election held on the 17th day of July for the purpose of levying a tax for the support of Lamesa's band in the future. Results showed 617 voters favored the tax, levy while 132 voted against the proposition.

Every town should have a band in the opinion of the Index there is no better or fairer way to support a band than by the levying of a tax for the purpose. At one time O'Donnell had as good a band as could be found on the South Plains and the burden of supporting it was borne by a few of the most progressive citizens. An election was called for the purpose of levying a tax for the support of our band which resulted in a victory for those opposing the measure and incidentally dealt a death blow to O'Donnell's band. The band that attracted so much attention at the Amarillo convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce two years ago winning first prize in its class, today lives only in the memory of those who loved it so well—all because of the lack of support.

For encouragement of farmers who are finding their breath and watching every indication for worms since the continued wet weather the following clipping is taken from Texas Extension Service News: "On Mr. Prior Clark's farm near Hillsboro, Texas, eight bales of cotton was produced from ten acres of land as a result from poisoning boll worms and boll moths. These worms had completely stripped the cotton and on August 15th, under supervision of Mr. J. C. Gaines, an entomologist for the Experiment Station, they began poisoning the cotton with calcium arsenate. It took seven pounds per acre, and repeating the performance every five days until three applications were made. This was not such a great success and results surely paid for the trouble."

BIRTHDAY GIVEN BY MRS HOMER RICE ENJOYED

Mrs. Homer Rice gave her husband and friend, Miss Irene Martin a joint party for the evening of July 20th which event was greatly enjoyed by the number present. Two tables were arranged for 42 and many interesting games were played. Those present on this happy occasion all unite in wishing Mr. Rice and Miss Martin many many more happy birth days. Mrs. Rice served lovely ice cream and cake to the following: Mr. and Mrs. Sam Eaton, Misses Irene Martin and Juanita Millsap, Messrs Emory Bean and Homer Rice.

YOUNGER SET ENJOY BIRTHDAY PARTY

A jolly bunch of girls met at the home of Mrs. Dovie Kirkland Saturday night to celebrate the thirteenth birthday of Miss Geneva Bean. Interesting games such as "Flying Dutchman," Fruit Basket Turn Over and many others were enjoyed by these girls. So enthused were they in their play no one noticed the approaching rain cloud until some of the mothers and dads came for their youngsters and some had to leave in such haste they were not permitted to enjoy the dainty refreshments of a tolly pop and coconut cake. The girls who enjoyed the occasion were Misses Mandelene Crawford, Gladys Gibson, Jewel Bean, Waldine Kirkland, Gwendy Kirkland, Willis Kirkland, Geneva Bean, Kathryn Veazey and Evadne Kirkland.

O'Donnell is progressing far too swiftly for some of our ladies who seldom are on the streets. Four of these ladies were enjoying window shopping last Wednesday afternoon when suddenly a telephone ring was heard the sound coming from somewhere over head. Finally they located the bell on top of a telephone post and noted the question what was it? One lady said it was a long distance telephone call, another said it was a little fire alarm and one lady suggested it was a police call. This last suggestion met the approval of all the other ladies so they calmly took their stand on opposite side of the street to watch for the disturbance and see the police come in haste to settle the trouble. He never arrived and they saw nothing unusual happen. The same thought struck all four ladies at the same instant—they believed the police is coming after us. They departed quickly each one going her own way, wishing that when O'Donnell gets up any thing new they would let it be known—where it is and what it is for.

Flows Up Human Skeleton

Emmett Orcutt, son of L. E. Orcutt of near Wellman, will exploring rather deep on a knoll in their field last week, plowed up the skeleton of a human, presumably a man, from its site, one day last week, and brought the skull to town, and it is now on exhibition at the court house. One side of the skull was ethere torn away by the lister, or it had rotted. He was only plowing 8 inches deep when the skeleton was found.

The location of the find was about four miles north of the old Dumas place, and about three hundred yards from the Orcutt place, on a small hill of hard land. This is on the south east corner of section 20, block D. Physicians who have examined the skull are of the opinion that it has been buried anywhere from 50 to 150 years, and that it belonged to a Mexican, from the fact that its feet were to the west and the head to the east. We understand that this is the way Catholics bury their dead. It also appears that it was an unusually large man, as the teeth seemed to not be badly worn nor decayed. It does not seem to be in place when buried. In measurement the bone from the elbow to the shoulder was some three inches longer than the ordinary man of the present day. Mr. Emmett Orcutt is an ordinary sized man, and he said it measured full three inches longer than the bone of his arm. Now this skull is still at the court house and all you "jologists" can now freely examine same and as freely make a "guess" about the matter.—Brownfield Herald.

The Combine Here to Stay

"The combined harvester-thresher is a success. It is here to stay. It is the greater part of the Southwest, no other method of harvesting is comparable to it. It reduces labor, cuts down harvesting and threshing costs and saves from one to two bushels more grain per acre. It does all of this and more," says H. M. Bainer, director, Southwestern Wheat Improvement Association. "It puts the grain on the early market, avoiding long delays in threshing and handling and leaves the straw scattered over the field. The advantages mentioned the combine makes it possible to prepare the field early for the next crop of wheat, thus killing the weeds, saving the moisture and insuring a better yield on the following crop. Many combine owners, knowing the value of early preparation for wheat, use the days and on their disks, listers or plows during the nights, thus finishing their traces on the combine during the earliest possible minute. "The combine has serious drawbacks all of which can be overcome through proper operation. Good operators that more heat-damaged and

MISSIONARY SOCIETY HAS SOCIAL HOUR

The lovely hostess served lemonade and cake to the following: Mary Shook, Hope Shook, Frances Ramey, Thira Painter, Lucille Martin, Alice Joy Bowlin, Lucille Grimmelt, Anna Belle Sates, Mandelene Crawford and Kathryn Veazey.

MRS. GOOCH CELEBRATES WITH BIRTHDAY DINNER

Sunday, July 22nd, being Mr. Paul Gooch's birthday, Mrs. Gooch prepared in his honor a wonderful birthday dinner. Reports are that he succeeded in a remarkable manner and as yet no bad effects have resulted. Mr. Gooch's many friends wish for him many more birthdays as nappy as this one.

Bridge Men Ncoveer Ancient City

While making the excavation for the San Christoval bridge on the Tinkle highway, the bridge crew of the state highway department uncovered three skeletons in perfect condition. The crew becoming interested worked back from the road and soon uncovered the remains of a mummy, more skeletons, pottery and evidence of a high degree of civilization.

The skeletons were all found in sitting posture with the head between the knees. They were near the doors of the houses, ranged against the outer wall. Further investigation revealed what was either a water system for drinking water or for irrigation, lateral paved with carefully cut rocks. They dug down from a basin in the rocks of a nearby hill which was evidently once a spring. The rocks were cut so well and true and were in such moldy grain comes through its use than any other method of harvesting. This is largely due to the fact that the combine is started before the grain is mature enough or when it is damp from dew or rain. Then, too, during the first few days of cutting the combine are green patches in and around the edges of the field and if this green or wet grain is permitted to go to the dryer or mat, the grain is likely to add enough moisture to cause all of it to heat. Cutting green weeds in grain will meet the same objection as cutting green or wet grain. Fortunately, these troubles can be largely overcome by waiting until the grain is thoroughly ripe; cutting the green, wet or weedy grain with a binder and by storing the damp grain by itself in a ventilated granary or in thin layers so it can be shovelled over.

About three hundred feet east of the highway, high on the side of the hill, a long gallery of pictographs cut on sandstone boulders was discovered. The pictures on these were so clear and of such excellence that the bridge men interpreted the stories to their own satisfaction without any trouble.

One series of pictographs tells the story of man hunting with a stone club and a dog, his skull and subsequent dragging in of the quarry to his people. Snakes, lizards, trees, kangaroo rats mountain lions and bears are all pictured with a fine skill in draftsmanship. The gallery is about three quarters of a mile long.

Tourists wishing to visit these interesting remains may turn off Hinkle highway at San Christoval which is the first creek south of the old Pankey headquarters ranch. The ruins of the pueblo, skeletons and pottery remains are found about 200 feet east of the highway and directly on the creek bank. The cutting action of the water is gradually uncovering the whole pueblo. The picture

An Ancient Symbol of Hospitality

PICTURESQUE old rectory in Rhode Island was recently being restored. Covered vines, its colors mellowed by one hundred years. The doorway on this old home is the doorway of the sea. Admiral deFermay, and is of the famous carved doorways of England. When the dust of time was brushed from the carvings and the central panel disclosed, it proved to be a pineapple.

The pineapple in the midst is an ancient symbol of hospitality. It is also a symbol of hospitality that is allowed to decay over the doorway of a priest, whose doors must be open to the sheep of the flock. May the old pineapple be a symbol of a real welcome for every one to come!

Jones Outlines Platform In Wellington Speech

LARGE CROWD HEARS CONGRESSMAN OUTLINE WORK IN OFFICE

From Speech of Marvin Jones at Wellington, Texas:

"When I was elected to Congress," said Mr. Jones, "I succeeded a man who had served twenty years in Congress, and who was 73 years of age. He was a good man, a worker, capable entire service as a member of the Indian Affairs Committee, and he had spent his entire life in the service of his country."

"I promised the people that I would try to secure a committee assignment that affected their interests. I asked for the Agricultural Committee, but there were 75 applications for the three vacancies on that committee. I was given four committee assignments, but three years later there was another vacancy on the committee on Agriculture. With 32 others I applied and was fortunate enough to secure the assignment."

"I am now the second ranking man on that committee, and am still the youngest man in the Texas delegation of 18 members. Only four of the Texas delegation have served a shorter period than I have. One of them, John Garner, has served 26 years, and is in line for the Speakership at the time the Democrats control the House. Texas has been a member of the Union since 1845, and has never had the Speakership."

"Right or wrong seniority and experience count in Washington in attending to your business. The United States is a business institution—you are the shareholders—you are to select a Director to attend to your affairs."

"As your employee I want to tell you of the work I have been doing in order that you may determine whether or not my services have been satisfactory."

"Among the numerous acts that I have had a part in passing, I am the co-author of the measure to have the merchantable and non-merchantable cotton listed separately in reporting the carry-over. Heretofore it has all been reported together, and the bad cotton has depressed the market the same as the good cotton."

"Pat Daniels of Austin, Texas, a cotton merchant and farmer of 35 years experience, has written me that this is the most important law that has been passed affecting the cotton farmer during those 35 years."

"I am also the author of the measure which provides for investigation into new uses for cotton. Already new uses have been found for 400,000 bales, and the work is just beginning. Cotton bagging, all kinds of sacks, wrapping materials, and the blending of cotton with other materials in making many useful articles are in prospect of development."

"I secured the adoption of an amendment forbidding employees of the Department of Agriculture from giving out future price prediction on cotton and wheat."

"My friends you cannot wish a Bill through the House of Representatives. There are 424 other members. There are 21 members of the Committee on Agriculture. Only four of them are from cotton growing states. The four must convince the other 17 in order to get a Bill out of the committee; and about the same proportion exists in the House."

"In 1921 I offered an amendment to abolish gambling in farm products. I now have a Bill pending. Similar Bills have been introduced by Senator Caraway; also by Hudspeth and Sanders of Texas, Reed of Arkansas, Lanford of Georgia, and others. While we are greatly outnumbered the sentiment is growing."

"I helped kill a Bill five years ago by the terms of which the South wheat section tried to impose 3 1/2 percent No. 1, and wheat with 3 1/2 percent foreign matter No. 1 in the grading, by showing that our wheat tested much higher, and was much cleaner; and that while such a measure might lift the price of their low grade wheat it would materially reduce the price of West Texas and Southwestern wheat."

"A key position on the Committee on Agriculture gives a member a voice in all legislation of this character. I have worked on agriculture problems, because they vitally affect our section. I want to see the South manufacture her own commodities in her own land, and thus have an all round development. Few people have really worked on Southern problems, and it offers a wonderful field. I believe that the knowledge and experience which I have gained will enable me to do much effective work in the future."

"In the event of another war, I am in favor of drafting the factories engaged in manufacturing the essentials of war. I am opposed to cancelling the war debts. If we cancelled them, they would probably be fighting again within ten years."

"I was born in North Texas, and have lived on the Plains since boyhood days, and am deeply interested in the problems of the great Southwest."

Plow UP Wheat; Plant Cotton

Loss of wheat on large acreages in this region because of lack of moisture will not result in serious harm to farmers generally.

This is the view taken by many of them, who say that the opportunity for planting cotton and the increasing interest in dairying will help to recover a large portion of the loss.

Wheat between Childress and Vernon is very poor this year, and there are thousands of acres which will not be cut even if rain were to fall at once. There are some fields which would possibly make a fair yield if rain should fall at this time, those fields having been better cultivated before the grain was sown than is usually the case, but these do not amount to much. In some instances the farmers are plowing up their wheat and preparing the land for cotton and feed stuffs, making for an increase in the cotton acreage this year above last.

In Childress county, it is believed by many the increase in cotton acreage will be from 5 to 10 per cent above a year ago, although the dry weather has prevented as much cotton being planted up to this time as would have been the case under different conditions. The Kirkland neighborhood, or the east part of the county, is the only section where a great deal of wheat was sown, some of the farmers have already plowed the wheat under and the ground is prepared for cotton planting as soon as sufficient moisture falls.—Childress Post

Expert Declares Country in Fine Condition

AUSTIN, Texas, July 26.—"Agriculture in Texas has taken an upward turn this year," Bernard Nichols, editor of the Texas Business Review issued monthly by the Bureau of Business Research of the University of Texas, said in discussing the results of figures he has compiled on the agricultural situation during June.

"Acreage under cultivation is greater by two per cent than it was a year ago," he explained, "and prices have declined little so far. Weather conditions have improved during the last two months and farmers are greatly encouraged."

"The corn crop promises a good yield, although since acreage is reduced this year the final output is apt to be below that of the 1927 harvest. The oat crop is estimated at 53,750,000 bushels against 42,000,000 bushels a year ago. Wheat harvesting is well along and the crop will be larger if expectations turn out well. A sharp decrease is estimated in the sweet potato and rice acreage. Fruits and vegetables are moving to market at record rates, shipments of watermelons and tomatoes being especially heavy at this time.

"Prices on fruits and vegetables declined somewhat, but cotton gained two cents a pound, while corn and wheat went up several cents a bushel. Oats and rye held steady, but hay and feeds showed a seasonal decline.

Mr. J. W. Gates and daughters, Misses Sue, Mary Jo and Aline Gates and son, Wilfred, left here early Monday morning for McAllister, New Mexico, to visit Mr. Gates' parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Gates. ### Principles Of OPERATION

We believe that a bank should not only be depository of funds, but indeed a haven where the rich and poor alike can confide their financial troubles, fears and doubts to the attentive ear of their mutual friend and counsellor the BANKER. The bank, the foundation of all saving, should be solid like the granite, standing the acid test of time pursuing a conservative but friendly course.

This bank like the great Oak from a little acorn, of persistent effort and sound business principles has grown. It stands today like the Oak, its many services and ample resources like the limbs, cast their shadow of protection over those who seek its shelter, a mecca which invites the confidence and patronage of the public.

"Judge Electrical Service by its Results"

Says George E. Roberts,
Vice-President, National City Bank,
New York

Science may measure electricity in terms of volts and ohms; business, in terms of kilowatt hours and the curve of production; homemakers, in terms of its labor saving and comfort-making advantages.

However measured, its extension and application by the electric light and power companies to every department of our industrial and domestic life stands out as among the most important basic causes of America's well-being. From its wires has sprung the golden flood of America's unprecedented prosperity.

But economists no longer limit wealth to things. They echo John Ruskin's sound doctrine, that "there is no wealth but life." And judged from this point of view also, the development of electric service in America will go down as one of the most far-reaching events in history.

These things have been made possible by the application of the sound American principle of leadership through competition and elimination—in short, by the principle of individual enterprise.

To the degree that this principle is maintained will the benefits derived from electric light and power continue to be multiplied.

TEXAS ELECTRIC SERVICE CO.

"In the business world today, the positions of leadership and responsibility are held by men who have been advanced to them under a system of competition and elimination. The test of fitness is an economic test—a test of ability to produce economic results. The fact that as a rule the men in positions of responsibility have come up from the ranks is proof that the system is fundamentally sound and effective. Society cannot afford to change from the economic test of leadership to an arbitrary or political system of selection."

Facts About Texas

Given by Toastmaster E. M. Wilder at Tuesday's Luncheon at the McClung Hotel.

Texas occupies all the continent of North America, except the small part set aside for the United States and Canada. Texas owns the north of the Rio Grande, the only dusty river in the world; also the only one, with the possible exception of the Trinity, which is navigable for mud cats and pedestrians.

Texas is bounded on the north by twenty-five or thirty states and on the east by all the oceans of the world except the Pacific and on the south by the Gulf of Mexico, and on the west by the Pacific Ocean, Milky Way and the real sire of the loaf from the rest of the United States into the Panhandle, it would float out into the ocean as it rests upon a vast subterranean sea of ash water.

Texas is so big that the people in Brownville call the Dallas people yankees and citizens of El Paso sneer at the citizens of Texas as Texas, as being big snobs from the effete east.

It is 150 miles further from El Paso, Texas, to Texas, Texas, than it is from Chicago to New York City; Fort Worth is nearer to St. Paul, Minnesota, than it is to Brownsville.

The chief occupation of the people of Texas is trying to keep from making all the money in the world. The chief pursuit of the people of Texas is to be Mexican bandits. Now it is land buyers, Steers and Texas crop records.

The U. S. with Texas off would look like a three-legged Scotch terrier. Texans are so proud of Texas that they cannot sleep at night. If a Texan's head should be opened the map of Texas would be photographed in his brain. This is also true of his heart. Unless your front gate is 16 miles from your front door you do not belong to society at the constituted in Texas. Mrs. King's gate is 150 miles from her front door and she is thinking of moving her horse back further so that she will not be annoyed by passing automobiles and peddlers.

Other Texas landlords have whole mountain ranges and rivers on their ranches. One Texan has forty miles of navigable land on his farm. If the proportion of cultivated land were the same as Illinois the value of Texas as crops would equal that of the forty-seven other states. Texas has enough land to supply every man, woman and child in the whole world with a tract of five by twenty feet, and have enough left over for the armies of the world to march around the border five abreast.

There are alfalfa which if baled and built into a stairway, would reach to the pearly gates.

If all the hogs in Texas were one hog he would be able to dig the Panama Canal in three rots.

If all the Texas steers were one steer he could stand with his front feet in the Gulf of Mexico, one hind foot in the Hudson Bay, the other in the Arctic Ocean, and with his horns punch holes in the moon, and with his tail brush the mist from the Aurora Borealis.

If all the cotton raised in Texas annually were made into one mattress all the people in the world could take a nap at one time.

As Wise As A Squirrel

THE squirrel has been made a symbol for industry and world foresight for thousands of years because he labors and stores up food for the winter season. His hoard is a good winter food for humans and man has shown that he realized this by helping Nature to produce large supplies of nuts by planting and cultivating nut trees. Even then the whole problem was not solved, for the nuts would not keep between crops. The answer to this was found in the discovery that shelled nuts, packed in tin cans from which the air had been exhausted, kept perfectly. So now man is the equal of the squirrel in supplying himself with this winter food.

Nuts in the Diet
Nuts are rich in protein and fat, and, with the exception of chestnuts, are rather bulky. Their most extremely concentrated served as part of a meal, he will chopped before. Comparatively few are a main dinner dish of nuts, but how well they fit for luncheon the following should prove popular: chopped onion in a tin of butter, add two cups nuts and breadcrumbs, milk, two eggs slightly teaspoon of salt, one of poultry seasoning, a spoon of chopped parsley in a battered bread pan hot water for forty moderate oven. Serve unto sauce.

BOY SCOUT CAMP

With the opening of the annual Boy Scout Camp, only a week off, every scout and scout official is thinking of the camp. Sunday afternoon, 35 or 40 of the scout officials and their families will gather at the Post camp site to work out the final details of the camp.

The annual camp for the Boy Scouts of the South Plains is held at Post, Texas, on a four hundred acre camp site presented the boys by the estate of the late C. W. Post. This camp site is probably the wildest and roughest country in the vicinity of the plains. It is a natural home for birds and all kinds of wild animals. Trees and shrubs of many kinds give the scout an opportunity for all kinds of nature study. There are a number of natural springs on the camp site around which the Indians of former days probably gathered. Buffalo bones and arrow heads have been found on the camp site. The heavy rains last winter have exposed many arrow heads and the scouts will probably make a nice collection this summer. The camp has many interesting and romantic features that appeal to the imagination of the growing boy.

As the ancient Indian hunted through these ravines with his bow and arrow so the modern boy will hunt with his bow and arrow. As the scout is interested in the conservation of wild animal life, artificial targets of natural size are being made by W. G. McMillan, and Lonnie Baker, who will have charge of work in camp. By making archery tackle available at the scout camp.

During the heavy rain day night lightning struck a barn at the C. H. De resulting in a total loss and damaged the residence. The water storage rear of the home was damaged. ## CHEVROLET MAKES SPLENDID RECORD

One of the most remarkable achievements in the automobile industry comes to light today in the announcement of R. H. Grant, vice-president of the Chevrolet Motor Company in charge of sales, that 750,000 "Bigger and Better" Chevrolets have been placed in the hands of owners since the introduction of the new car January first.

With deliveries to customers averaging 30,000 a week, Chevrolet in the first seven months of the year, established a record for public acceptance of a new car unrivaled in the history of modern motor cars. Each week, each month, each quarter shattered all marks for the corresponding period of any previous year.

Much of the credit for making possible this remarkable showing is given the efficient manufacturing organization and the tremendous production facilities employed by Chevrolet. Fourteen great factories in various sections of the country shared in the effort that enabled the sales division to make prompt deliveries immediately on the announcement of the car in January. From Oakland, Cal., to Tarrytown, N. Y., factory wheels have been spinning at a record clip since the first of the year, turning the various models as fast as the exacting requirements of precision operation would permit.

The unusual public favor shown Chevrolet in the first seven months through the demand for 750,000 cars indicates beyond doubt that Chevrolet will build and sell many more than one million units in 1928, breaking by a wide margin all existing records for the manufacture and sale of a new model and further guaranteeing Chevrolet's position as the world's largest automobile producer.
