FORMAL OPENING CORNER DRUG INTERIOR PLANNED FOR TONIGHT

Corner Drug Is Early Day Store

The Corner Drug Store was opened for business in 1915, but part of the present ownership started ten years later in 1925.

In 1924, the firm of Phillips & Williams of Rotan purchased the Corner Drug, with the late H. R. Phillips becoming sole owner in 1927.

An interest in the store was assumed by B. J. Boyd, present half-owner, in 1936, and this arrangement lasted until last year when Mr. Phillips passed away and Mrs. Florence Phillips of Rotan became the other partner.

Boyd has had an experienced connection with the drug business. He has worked in Amarillo, Dalhart, Clovis, Roswell, Fort Worth and Rotan. It was from the latter city that he came to O'Donnell. Through all the years Boyd has been in O'Donnell, he has always been among the first in any activity which would help the city, and has never lagged in donations to any cause, regardless of race or creed or religion. Civic, church, school, rural needs or sports, the Corner Drug was ready to assist, and few are the persons who can recall any "howls" from B. J. He just isn't made that way.

W. E. Vermillion, registered pharmacist, has been with the drug store since December 1, 1925, coming here from Wise county. Mr. Vermillion, too, has seen many changes in O'Donnell, and has been ready to give his sincere advice when called upon.

His hobbies are too well known to mention, but he is an efficient woodworker.

Happy Howery, efficient worker in all departments, has been with the store since 1936.

Buck Preston, soda clerk deluxe, is the latest addition to the force, making his start in 1940. He is a graduate of the High school here.

Will Tredway, now operating the Tredway laundry, and J. S. Fritz, auto parts service station, are past owners of the Corner Drug, both having been associated with the place in the early 1920's.

O'Donnell's newest cafe, the American Cafe, will open for business Saturday morning at 8 o'clock, according to the owners, George Cranford and Bill Graham.

Free coffee and doughnuts will be served to all visitors that day.

Marjorie Buchanan and Cassie Mae Newton are to be employed at the American.

New American Cafe Opens Here On Saturday Morning

O'Donnell's newest cafe, the American Cafe, will open for business Saturday morning at 8 o'clock, according to the owners, George Cranford and Bill Graham.

Free coffee and doughnuts will be served to all visitors that day.

Marjorie Buchanan and Cassie Mae Newton are to be employed at the American.

Whoops! Black-eyed Peas Are Good, But Not That Good!

Persons residing in this territory who like their blackeyed peas are urged to eat all they please, and not count the cost—because the "cost" as priced in the Line-Lambert Grocery advertisement on page 3 is "all wet".

Contrary to what your eyes may see, those blackeyed peas will not cost you 36c per pound, but only a fraction over 3c. Where that "six" came from, only printers and alleged copyreaders can tell.

Eat your blackeyed peas at a small cost!

EDWIN GODDARD HONOREE FOR PARTY

Edwin Goodard of Ft. Worth, who is visiting relatives here was honoree for a party Wednesday.

His grandmother, Mrs. Ed Goodard was hostess.

About fifteen guests helped celebrate Edwin's seventh birthday. Cake and ice cream was served.

FROM CALIFORNIA

Dr. and Mrs. R. E. Moose of San Bernardino, Calif., spent the week-end visiting Dr. and Mrs. O. H. Shepard.

Mrs. Moore is Dr. Shepard's daughter.

Formal opening of the "new" Corner Drug Store will be held tonight from 8 until 10 o'clock. The citizenship of the area has been invited to attend.

Special music and entertainment has been planned under the leadership of Mrs. Cary Shook and Mrs. Delores Burks.

An enjoyable evening is planned for everyone, according to B. J. Boyd, manager.

Due to other attractions scheduled for tonight, Boyd wished it emphasized that anyone may come and stay only a few minutes if they so wish, and then attend entertainment elsewhere. The program is to be so arranged that all evening attendance is not necessary.

The program for the evening is in the process of arrangement, and will feature some of O'Donnell's most talented artists. Mrs. Shook, Mrs. Newall Hughes, Mrs. Burks, Miss Katherine Teeter, Miss Florence Gary and a number of pupils of Mrs. Burks are to entertain.

There is no age limit as to attendance nor will anyone have to buy anything to attend.

Scouters Training School Planned

A Scouters training school will be held in O'Donnell on June 30-July 1, so announced Bevington Reed, field scout executive of Brownfield.

The school will be held to educate the men of the town scout work and what that work means to future citizenship.

"Men who have only daughters are especially urged to be present because someday those daughters will marry and should marry good men—and scouts make good men," said Reed.

Namon Everett, Walter Teeter, N. E. Boothe, Ben Moore, John Ellis and E. M. Haymes were named as group leaders at the meeting held here Wednesday.

FIRE DESTROYS CONTENTS OF MOTOR PARTS FIRM

Fire, which is believed to have originated from defective wiring, practically destroyed the entire $15,000 stock of auto parts, accessories and radios of the O'Donnell Motor Parts early Monday morning.

Only a small part of the equipment, workman's tools, escaped damage in the blaze.

Firemen battled the fire over an hour. Dense smoke hampered their efforts at first, and the blaze was quelled only when part of the firemen took to the roof tops while others battered through a wall.

As quickly as possible, the parts house will go back into sales, so Frank Liddell and Loyd Nowell, owners, said Thursday.

Negro Apartment Scene of Fire Wednesday Morn

Part of a building lived in by negroes was destroyed Wednesday morning by fire, and only prompt action saved the other small houses all joined together.

The occupant of the section that burned had built up a large fire in a heater, and the heat soon set the wood walls afire.

J. W. (Jeff) SHOOK ILL

Jeff Shook was taken to a Lubbock hospital Monday, his condition was serious but he was slightly improved.

Mrs. Shook and daughters, Mrs. Gus Sherrill and Mrs. Sterling Bearden, and son Jimmie Lee Shook have been in Lubbock with him.

PASTOR MOVES HERE

The household goods of the Rev. and Mrs. E. C. McDonald arrived here Thursday.

The pastor and his wife will occupy the Baptist parsonage.

Arrangements For Second Registration Day Made

The Lynn County Selective Service Board will meet on Thursday, June 26, for the purpose of making final preparations for the second registration of young men eligible for military service, which will be taken on July 1, according to Mrs. Lois McMahon, clerk.

It is requested that all persons who wish to volunteer their services in assisting with the registration shall meet with the Board at this preliminary meeting on June 26 and receive instructions as to their duties. Several persons can be used in this work but not a great many will be needed.

All registrations will be made at the office of the county board on the third floor in the court house or in the adjoining hall or near-by rooms on Tuesday, July 1. Tables and other equipment will be provided for the purpose. Registration hours will be from 7:00 A. M. to 9:00 P. M.

All male persons residing in Lynn county who have become 21 years of age since October 16, 1940 or who will become 21 on or before July 1, must register. This includes foreigners and aliens as well as American-born citizens. Heavy penalties are prescribed for any willful evasion or attempt to evade this law.

Members of the local board estimate that there are from 80 to 150 young men in Lynn county who will be subject to registration, although this is largely a matter of conjecture.

THANKS . . .

Our thanks to Mrs. C. F. Thompson for her recent renewal to the PRESS.

Mrs. Major Rodgers and Charles were accompanied by Levelland Saturday by Mrs. C. H. Doak who enjoyed a short visit with them.

Mrs. J. Ollie and daughter have returned to their home in Levelland following a visit in the Cabool home.

Softball Games Scoring Sprees

Swinging into the second go round of the schedule, teams in the softball league are beginning to show their real class.

Far head of the pack, with all wins and no losses, Shorty's Volunteers (who volunteer few runs to the opposition) smacked down their nearest competitor Friday night—the Druggists. Neither team had lost a game, but since that game the pillrollers were downed by the Builders.

Not enough games have been played in the girl's league to determine each team's actual strength.

A losing streak will stop (unless rain falls) for one team Friday night when the Farmers and Chemists tangle. Neither team has won a game.

Monday night, harmony and Shorty's battle, while the Builders take on the Farmers.

SON IS BORN

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Leo Schooler Saturday morning, and has been named Melvin Dewain. The new arrival weighed seven pounds.

Guy Bradley attended a district meeting of Conoco dealers in Big Spring Wednesday.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

By Edward C. Wayne

Sinking of 'Robin Moor' by Submarine Is Investigated by State Department; Byrnes, Jackson Named to High Court As Stone Is Appointed Chief Justice

EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper. (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

U. S. citizens are getting a first-hand look at the famous Nazi fighting plane, the Messerschmitt, now on display in a New York theater. Proceeds from the showing of this plane will go to buy "bundles for Britain." This is the first time that one of these aerial fighters has been shown in the United States.

COURT: Line-Up Changed

President Roosevelt's appointment of Harlan Fiske Stone to replace Charles Evans Hughes as chief justice of the Supreme court was announced at the same time as he sent to the senate the names of two new associate justices he had picked, Sen. James Byrnes of South Carolina and Attorney General Robert H. Jackson of New York.

A Republican, Justice Stone is 68 years old and was appointed to the Supreme court by President Coolidge in 1925. His appointment as chief justice came as somewhat of a surprise for many sources in Washington believed that Attorney General Jackson would get the nomination.

U. S.: Ship Worry

The Robin Moor, sunk in the South Atlantic well within the United States' neutrality zone, was declared by its few survivors to have been sunk by a German U-boat, the first in what most observers expected would be a series of international incidents, similar to that of the Lusitania in the last war.

The Robin Moor went to the bottom, bearing seven passengers including a little child, and the first lifeboat, the only one immediately found, contained only 11 survivors.

The first notice of the loss was given as "the result of a storm at sea," but the survivors told their rescuer that they had been torpedoed.

Following these reports by survivors, authoritative sources in Washington indicated that work on a formal note of protest to Germany was under way by the state department.

It was pointed out that in such a note restitution for loss of American life and property was only what the Nazis could expect.

DUCE: Calls Names

Celebrating the year that Italy has been in the war, Mussolini made a speech to his puppet legislators in which he defied the United States to become more active in the war, after saying that this country is "really in the war already."

He also likened President Roosevelt to Sulla, one of the bloodiest and most tyrannical of all the Roman dictators.

The Axis would certainly win, Mussolini told his people, and the sole effect this country's attitude would have would be to lengthen the struggle.

He made no references to Italy's losses of two-thirds of her empire, of the 200,000 prisoners taken in North Africa, nor of the losses Italy had suffered to her fleet.

STRIKES: A Formula

Ever since President Roosevelt's fireside chat the nation had been waiting for a strike-prevention formula, realizing that in the presidential speech there had been a definite pledge to halt defense work stoppages in labor disputes.

It remained for the strike at North American Aviation's plant at Inglewood, Calif., where 12,000 men engaged in building $196,000,000 in warplanes, to provide the answer, and the United States to wonder what kind of an answer it was.

Swiftly, methodically, the troops moved in and took over the plant, began weeding out the union's labor leaders, inspected even the contents of lunch boxes of returning workers, and put the plant back into production within two days that were reported to be "approaching normal."

Within 24 hours planes were rolling off assembly lines into test flights, and on the surface all was apparently well.

But observers began asking themselves questions during the next few days when trouble of various types began to appear, not at North American Aviation, but at other plants.

Several things bothered people who were wondering whether the use of soldiers to take over plants would be a workable system of strike-ending.

Some wondered if perhaps the strikers at Inglewood weren't a bit too willing to have the plant taken over. Others wondered if, perhaps, the strikers' demand of the government that the pay be raised to 87 1/2 cents an hour, or 12 1/2 cents an hour more than they were asking of private industry, and the same wage that the government, they claimed, was now paying workers of similar skill in similar jobs.

The union leaders were equipping men with signs reading "hold out and remember the army can't make planes"—but their pleas fell for the most part on deaf ears, and the second day of the army occupation they voted to go back in a body.

But the army wouldn't take some of them back, ordered others reclassified and shoved in the army at $21 a month instead of $20 or better a week.

C.I.O.: Red or Pink

One of the by-products of the Inglewood strike and its result was that the Dies committee findings came to the fore and began to render some sort of answer to the popular controversy of the past two years, whether the C.I.O. is red, white or just pink.

Rival unions used to call the C.I.O. red—the C.I.O. maintained it was pure white, and the Dies committee just hinted around that it might be somewhat pink—that there were Communists in the C.I.O., but that it was not proven that it was Communist-controlled or not.

Then came a wide, serious series of defense or partial defense labor troubles, most of them involving one branch or another of the C.I.O.

Alabama's Representative Starnes, active head of the Dies body, promptly made public that each of the striking unions had a Communist or an ex-Communist as its active leader.

In the aircraft industry, Chairman Frankenstein of the aircraft division, who had called the Inglewood strike "outlaw," "wildcat" and "unauthorized," found himself placarded in two ways—as a jackass and as a traitor to the cause by the very union over which he had jurisdiction just as soon as he admitted that the junior local union chiefs were, indeed, Communists.

He ordered them suspended from their jobs, then went to the Inglewood scene of action and made a plea to the men to go back to work. His plea was unsuccessful.

New Chief Justice and New Associates

The President has elevated Harlan Fiske Stone (center) to be chief justice of the United States Supreme court, succeeding Charles Evans Hughes, retiring. At the same time the President nominated Attorney General Robert H. Jackson (left) and Sen. James F. Byrnes (D.) of South Carolina, to fill the two vacancies on the high court.

Note how plainly she was marked with American identification. Eleven survivors were brought into port at Recife, Brazil, aboard the Brazilian freighter Osorio.

Aluminum Salvage Campaign Begun

The Office of Production Management has begun a salvage campaign to collect aluminum cooking utensils and other scrap metals to overcome major metal shortages facing the defense program. If necessary it may be expanded to a nationwide "pickup" campaign to begin July 4. The photo shows three Richmond, Va., residents with their contribution to the "sample" salvage campaign.

'Big Four' of Congress Meet With F.D.R.

My Week by Eleanor Roosevelt

A CHRISTENING Our drive to Hyde Park one was very pleasant and we stopped in Saratoga, N. Y., long enough to assist at the christening of a sweet baby girl. She never came at all when the water was poured over her head, which I am sure means that some day she is going to give her father and mother, and Mrs. Al William Kresse, a very hectic time. You see, I was brought up on the old superstition that babies must cry the "devil" out of them at their christening, and they don't it will surely come later on!

We spent the night with a friend and arrived home to face the usual mountains of mail which greet me after two days without any contact with the postman.

SAD LETTER

I found a rather sad letter from an old friend of the President's, who has always been very fond of the sea. Like many other people, this friend adopted an orphan during the last World War. But I think he must have taken it more seriously than the rest of us, for he has been in touch with him and really helped him and known him well.

The other day, the Daily Mail in London carried the story of this boy, now grown to manhood and following the sea, meeting his death, and have so many other gallant English officers, on his ship, the HMS Peoria. He was a first lieutenant and, when someone had to go below to free a hundred or more men who were trapped, instead of ordering a junior officer to do the job, he went himself and was never seen again, but nearly all the men on board were saved.

The story in itself will be one more tradition told on British ships on the seven seas to educate the young. It is the quotation in a letter from his wife to my husband's old friend which I want to give you. She writes:

"I am convinced that when he met this last trial, he maintained that quiet confidence, that unbreakable courage, and that smile of his that indicated peace of mind and soul. Danger at sea, he had always met without flinching, and this is as we must remember him. For my part, I am proud to have been his wife, even if for only eight years, and his sons (there are two, five and two years old) grow up as straight and as fine and clean as daddy, and shall be satisfied."

This is a courageous attitude to take, but it must be hard to attain such fortitude of soul. If that is the spirit, however, in which the British face all defeats and still keep such high courage then we may be sure that in the end, right must triumph over might. If our own courage and determination can be at the same level, perhaps, before long, might will be on the side of right.

As I write we are having our second day of steady rain. It is the kind of June weather when a fire on the hearth is pleasant. Yesterday I discovered that last year's robins, or their progeny, have returned, not to the same bathroom window, but to the one next to it. Two blue eggs lie in the nest, from which the mother flies away whenever she hears a noise. I really wonder whether they are wet and miserable when the rain beats upon the window and all the protection they have is the ivy vine which grows thick around them.

CHIEF JUSTICE HUGHES

The news that Chief Justice Hughes is retiring on July 1 comes as a shock. He always seemed to be such a vigorous person that I do not associate him with any particular age. It must be a great satisfaction, however, to reach the point where you feel you can decide your work and do only the things you want to do the rest of your life.

To be able to look back, as Justice Hughes can, on a successful personal career, a good name achieved professionally, a happy home in which children have grown to maturity and started out on their own lives with a satisfactory background, a public life which has brought posts of honor as recognition of his high ability and integrity, all this must give the Chief Justice happiness. His countrymen will rejoice with him and do him honor, both in the present and the future.

I cannot close these few words about him without saying how much I have always admired Mrs. Hughes. It seems to me, she has contributed greatly to the success of his career and that some honor and affection from her countrymen are due her as well.

VALUABLE LIFE

Several days ago I noticed the report in the papers of the death of a woman I have known for a long while. Miss Julia K. Jaffray was associated with the National Committee on Prisons and Prison Labor for 33 years. She came to the United States from Galt, Canada, as stenographer to Miss Helen Varick Bowell, who was secretary of that committee. Miss Jaffray, herself, served as secretary for 25 years. This Canadian woman became a leader and wielded great influence here.

Connally Measure Gets Results

WASHINGTON, D. C. June 18.—With word from the War Department that more men were on strike than at any other time since the beginning of the emergency, the bill to stop strikes by Senator Tom Connally of Texas effected a crystallization of sentiment among both executive and legislative authorities expected to end this irritating interference with national defense efforts.

The measure, known as Senate 1600, authorizes the government to take over and operate in the national interest any plant or factory engaged in the production of defense articles in which the production of such articles is hampered, delayed or impeded by the existence of a strike or other labor disturbance.

Senator Connally emphasized that strikers, who are stopping work in plants that ought to be running twenty-four hours per day in behalf of our defense, are attacking the national welfare and the national safety by a form of creeping paralysis.

"My bill," pointed out Connally, denies to no man his fundamental rights. It does demand that there shall be no stoppage of work in national defense plants. The processes of mediation and conciliation will be preserved. In the meantime, however, the plants must continue to operate under government direction and government protection. Men who do not desire to work may quit their jobs. Those who desire may continue to work with the government's protection. No right is denied any citizen.

"America faces a great crisis. The national security is involved. The nation does not propose to have its safety imperiled and its program for national defense delayed or bogged down by selfish and willful groups who seek to take advantage of the nation's necessities to improve their own condition at the expense of the safety of one hundred and thirty millions of people. Strikes in defense plants must stop. My bill will stop them."

Q. Where's the best place to choose your new car?

A. ON THE ROAD!

WELL MATCH the "showroom value" of the Ford with anyone . . . but if you want to know how great a car this is, take one out on the road!

TEST THE PERFORMANCE . . . IN ACTION. There never was another low price engine like this 90 horsepower Ford V-8. Take it out in traffic—then step out on the open road—challenge the toughest hills. Draw your own conclusions!

TEST THE RIDE . . . IN ACTION. Ride on the pavement, then ride the roughest road you know. You'll find the new Ford ride is the kind of ride you like. Smooth where the going's good. Soft and steady over the bumps.

TEST THE ROOM . . . IN ACTION. Measurements show

this Ford greatest in its whole field in actual passenger space. A ride will show what this means. Bigness counts and here it is!

TEST THE VALUE . . . IN ACTION. Stop with the biggest hydraulic brakes anywhere near the price. Rest your toe on the pedal of a fine-car type of semi-centrifugal clutch. Flick through the gears with the easy, silent kind of finger-tip shift that high-priced cars use.

FORD HAS THE QUALITY FEATURES

V-8 POWER—90 smooth horsepower. There never was a low price engine like this before.

NEW BEAUTY—When you look at the smooth flowing lines you see one of the few cars with really up-to-date styling this year.

A NEW RESTFUL RIDE—On the new Ford "Slow Motion Springs." A soft, quiet ride wholly new this year.

EXTRA VALUE—New ease of control with positive mechanical, fine-car type shift—extra-big hydraulic brakes—and the famous Ford semi-centrifugal clutch.

Gerald Mann Brings Campaign To The Panhandle-Plains

PLAINVIEW—Gerald C. Mann rode a fast campaign horse through West Texas this week, speaking in 40 counties, in thrice as many towns and traveling hundreds of miles over the Panhandle the Caprock and the Plains in his drive for the United States Senate.

Mann's Thursday schedule called for him to be in Canyon at 9:15 a. m., in Tulia at 10:30; here at 11:45 in Brownfield at 2:45 p. m., Tahoka at 4; Lamesa at 5:15 and Lubbock at 8 p. m.

Friday he will be in Floydada at 9 a. m.; Spur at 11:30 where he will ride in the rodeo parade; Stamford at 4:15; Haskell at 5:15 and Abilene at 8 p. m.

Saturday he speaks in Sweetwater at 9 a. m., Colorado City at 10:15; Big Spring at 11:30; Stanton at 1:15; Midland at 2:15; Monahans at 4; Pecos at 5 and at 8:30 in Odessa, before the Little International Oil Show in the Odessa auditorium.

The last week of the campaign Mann will spend in Houston, San Antonio, Corpus Christi, Dallas and Fort Worth, closing his campaign Friday, June 27, with a rally at Fair Park Auditorium in Dallas.

Even before his invasion of West Texas, Mann received the results of a poll taken by the Amarillo Globe-

News, which gave him a strong lead in that section. The vote, evenly spread over Amarillo and the Panhandle, was as follows:

Hopper Poison Is Now Available

Grasshoppers are causing crop damage in some areas of the county according to Don Turner, County Agent. All of the damage reported so far is in fields that adjoin pasture land. The hoppers are the wingless kind and do not migrate very far and it is not anticipated that any appreciable amount of damage will be done.

A truck load of poison bait materials have been secured and is now available to farmers who are having damage. Requests for this material may be made through County Agent Turner. A mixing station has been set up in Tahoka and farmers are requested to come in the afternoon to mix their poison and apply it early the next morning.

The Federal Government is cooperating in the program by furnishing a part of the poisoned bait materials and the Commissioners Court is cooperating by furnishing transportation, storage etc., of the material.

Portrait of a Man Pecking at a Portable

The N. J. government's dispossessing of the German-American Bund (from the state) sent the blood racing through my veins...

For the life of me I cannot figure out why "Amapola" is so popular. It has the corniest tune of them all...

When I read that the authorities say "no sabotage," as in that huge Jersey fire, I wonder—do the enforcement agents know that in Yorkville they brag: "That was our answer to the closing of Camp Nordland"...

The story of the week most unlikely to be confirmed: Japanese propagandists in the U. S. have just released the following flash: That "the Chinese invaded California in 500 A. D."...

I see news here and there and hear it, too, that Washington, D. C., is getting so crowded with people that it has become the nation's boom town. And that Broadway showmen and others are seriously thinking of opening night clubs there to cash in quickly...

Notes of an Innocent Bystander

Broadway Alien: The orchids go to the editorialist on the N. Y. Times for this: "The Dionne quintuplets are seven years old. In many respects it is a woman's most delightful age. At seven she sits on a man's knee without hesitation, affected or genuine, and without putting the knee to sleep. Unlike the older women of the household, she enjoys listening to him. In fact, she encourages him to talk, and she believes any story he tells her. Her curiosity over what became of his loss is unquestionably sincere. While unduly interested, perhaps, in the state of his exchequer and never too proud to accept pecuniary aid, she is no gold-digger whose gratitude is measured by the amount of the contribution. For as little as two copper cents she will bear-hug his spectacles all out of shape, and he feels sure she means it."

INSTALLMENT 9 THE STORY SO FAR:

Dusty King and Lew Gordon had built up a vast string of ranches in the West. King was killed by his powerful and unscrupulous competitor, Ben Thorpe. Bill Roper, King's adopted son, was determined to avenge his death in spite of opposition...

Jody Gordon's eyes had darkened in the dusk, making her face seem very pale. "What do you want me to do?"

Shoshone Wilce shrugged. "That ain't hardly up to me, Miss Gordon. But I'll tell you this: many's the time I've seen your father go stomping the board walk right here in Ogallala, alone, and not even armed. That won't do, Miss Gordon. If I was in your place, I wouldn't never let him out of the house without his gunbelt is strapped on, and the iron free in its leather. And wherever he goes, there ought to be three or four good hard-shooting cowboys with him; because, if I know Ben Thorpe, he isn't going into any gunfight alone!"

Jody peered at him intently. "What made you bring this word to me?" "I'm a Bill Roper man," Shoshone Wilce said. "God knows, Miss Gordon, stringing with Bill Roper has never done anything for me. But—well, I just thought Bill Roper would want you to know. I kind of got the idea he thinks a heap of you, Miss Gordon."

And now another pony came slashing up to the corral. One of the leading foremen had come in.

"I got to be getting along," Shoshone Wilce said quickly.

She turned away, but instantly turned back again, and gripped Shoshone's arm just as he was sliding out of sight.

"Stay around," she ordered him. "Stay here until—"

"Miss Gordon," came the quick whisper, "I've got to get on to Miles City. I—"

"I thought so. Bill Roper's somewhere up there, isn't he? Yes, Well, I'm going to join my father there—I'll ride with you in the morning."

"Four hundred miles! And no coach until—"

"Don't worry about that. It takes saddle ponies to make time."

"But—I'm afraid your Paw might think—"

"I don't know how Bill Roper ever used you," Jody said with contempt. Shoshone winced. "I—I'll be around."

He faded into the shadows as Jody walked out of the stable, her eyes hard and bright in the dusk.

CHAPTER XIII

Bill Roper sat alone at a rear table in the Palace Bar, in Miles City—the young, turbulent center of a vast, raw range, the possibilities of which were still unknown.

For three months Roper had ridden through the bitter Montana winter. It had been no trouble for him to sweep together a dozen malcontent cowboys who hated Lasham or Thorpe, or both. Already they knew Bill Roper's name.

Against their common enemy these youngsters could be led, wild, reckless and crazy for raid; and Roper had led them as Texas had taught him.

His new northern wild bunch faced conditions in many ways bitterly adverse. Here in the north were no ousted cattlemen, no established population to which he could look for help. The Canadian border was far away, and no market awaited the hard-pushed herds on the other side.

What Montana had that Texas did not have was a concentration of Indian tribes, principally Sioux and Cheyenne, deprived of their hunting grounds, and dependent for food upon beef which the government was pledged to supply. It was to this circumstance that Roper had turned.

The giant beef contracts which the government threw upon the market had inevitably attracted more than one kind of graft. The result was famine-pitiful, relentless. Starvation stalked through the lodges of the Sioux, the Cheyenne, the Crow—and with it, Roper's opportunity.

Scouring the country, Roper turned up four Indian agents who were already badly scared. They had overplayed their hands, and were now faced with a loss of life among their charges about which they could do nothing without revealing their own corrupt inefficiency. These men had connived with Lasham in bringing about a condition of tribal starvation; they were willing to connive with Bill Roper to cover up their position in any way they could.

By delivering beef to the reservations under these highly irregular conditions, Roper's wild bunch could little more than make expenses. But the advantage was this—a beef herd delivered to an Indian tribe disappeared over night, leaving little trace. A thousand hands skinned out the beef, destroying the portions of the hides containing the brands.

Constantly changing horses, perpetually in the saddle, Roper's saddle hawks swung across Montana. They first struck at Muddy Bend, picking up four hundred head of steers in the breaks of the Yellowstone. Three days' hard driving delivered these to a village of Assinibolans. Only four days later they by his sweetheart, Jody Gordon, and her father. Roper's successful raids against Thorpe's Texas holdings wiped him out of the state. When Roper visited Jody one night, she almost contemptuously called him a cattle thief and gunman. His determination unchanged, he now turned his attention toward Thorpe's ranches in Montana. Jody was secretly visited one night by Shoshone Wilce, one of Roper's men, who warned that her father's life was in grave danger.

Roper shrugged again. "Walk wants no fight with me." "You're going to force the fight yourself! That's what you've been waiting here for, ever since you came to Miles City. Any moment Lasham may walk in that door—" Marquita sat staring at him helplessly, in her eyes a fixity of devotion which his taciturnity seemed to increase. Against his will he was becoming something that was happening to Marquita.

He remained silent; and, in a little while, she went away.

An hour passed, while Roper, drinking slowly, played his solitaire and watched the door.

Then suddenly Marquita was back. She came behind his chair to speak close to his ear in a panicky whisper. "He's coming! He's coming along the walk—" "All right."

"Walk has two of his men with him," she said rapidly. "You haven't a chance, not a ghost of a chance. I can't bear to see you killed! I know you don't care anything about me. If you did I'd go anywhere in the world with you. But now you have to come out of here—quick—by the back way. I'll do anything—" Roper turned his head to look up into her face, very close to his. There was more to this girl than there was to the rest of her kind. Even now he was unable to recognize that Marquita was capable of a sincerity of purpose, and a passionate preoccupation in her purpose, not to be expected here. "I wouldn't step aside two feet," he told her, "to pass Walk or any man. I tell you, Walk won't fight!"

Suddenly she whimpered. Bill Roper saw that three men had come into the front of the Palace Bar.

The first of the three, a dark, lean man with wide, bowed shoulders, was Walk Lasham.

Marquita caught Bill's head in her arms, forced up his chin, and kissed him. He was surprised at the unexpected softness of her lips, hot against his mouth. Then abruptly Marquita stooped, and as she sprang away from him he felt the weight of his gunbelt ease. She flung over her shoulder, "It's for your own sake!" Her face was white, frightened.

He half started up, in instant anger, but the girl was running down the room. He saw her put something under the bar, and he knew it was his gun.

Roper rang his whiskey glass upon the table, trying to catch a bartender's eye. If Lasham had not seen what the girl had done, one of them could bring him his gun before it was too late. But the bar was thronged; the bartenders were working fast, in the thick of the evening rush.

The bar-flies had made room for Walk Lasham at the end of the bar, and Lasham and his two cowboys had their heads together now, consulting.

One of the cowboys, a man with a scar across his face that distorted his mouth in the manner of a hare lip, went quickly behind the bar, hunted beneath it, and returned to Walk. Roper saw Lasham's long face set. He said to himself, "Walk knows..."

Walk Lasham was fiddling with his empty glass on the bar, and the scar-mouthed man was watching Roper covertly with one eye from under the brim of his hat. Lasham reached for a bottle, filled his glass, tossed it off. Then he turned squarely toward Roper, and came walking back through the big room.

Roper played his cards, his hands visible upon the table. It seemed to take Lasham a long time to walk the length of the room. Roper glanced at the lookout chair, where a salaried gun-fighter usually sat. It was empty now.

Walk Lasham was standing in front of him.

"So you," he said, "are the tough gunman that killed Cleve Tanner."

Bill Roper raised his eyes to Walk Lasham's face. "And you," he said, "are one of the dirty cowards that murdered Dusty King."

A hush had fallen upon the room, unbroken by the clink of a glass or the rattle of a chip. Lasham and Roper looked at each other through a moment of silence.

He dropped his eyes to Roper's hands, and his own right hand started a tentative movement toward the butt of his gun. His spread fingers shook a little as his hand crept down. But he was grinning now, sure of his ground.

"Looks a little different to you now, huh?" "A coyote always looks like a coyote to me."

The smile dropped from Lasham's face. "I'm going to give you every chance," he said. His voice swung in even rhythms, low and sing-song. "I'm going to count five. Draw and fire any time you want to; because on five I'm going to kill you where you sit."

"I don't think you are."

"One; two—" Lasham said.

tion unchanged, he now turned his attention toward Thorpe's ranches in Montana. Jody was secretly visited one night by Shoshone Wilce, one of Roper's men, who warned that her father's life was in grave danger.

"National Defense is Part of Our Job, too"

"Fellows, we may not be in the army, but our job of supplying plenty of dependable electric service to industries engaged in defense production is mighty important to our peace and security. We've got a big job to do and a reputation to live up to. Good electric service doesn't 'just happen'."

• The entire Texas Electric Service Company system was designed and built with an eye to the needs of a rapidly growing West Texas. Experience gained during the World War period and the period of phenomenal growth in many areas of West Texas is proving to be of great value in meeting the demands for electric service growing out of the National Defense Program.

Today, our organization is far better prepared to cope with the demands for electricity than during the World War. Larger power plants and hundreds of miles of high voltage power lines have been constructed since that time, providing this section of Texas with an integrated electric power system.

Texas Electric Service Company employees realize the importance of dependable electric service in peace time and also in time of national emergency. They are working hard and planning ahead to provide electric power for every need—for use in your home or in turning out national defense equipment.

We Can All Be EXPERT BUYERS

By bringing us buying information, as to prices that are being asked for what we intend to buy, and as to the quality we can expect, the advertising columns of this newspaper perform a worth while service which saves us many dollars a year.

It is a good habit to form, the habit of consulting the advertisements every time we make a purchase, though we have already decided just what we want and where we are going to buy it. It gives us the most priceless feeling in the world; the feeling of being adequately prepared.

When we go into a store, prepared beforehand with knowledge of what is offered and at what price, we go as an expert buyer, filled with self-confidence. It is a pleasant feeling to have, the feeling of adequacy. Most of the unhappiness in the world can be traced to a lack of this feeling. Thus advertising shows another of its manifold facets—shows itself as an aid toward making all our business relationships more secure and pleasant.

EVERYTHING FOR HER NEW KITCHEN (See Recipes Below)

REALLY PRACTICAL!

Whether the bride-to-be is bound for a six-room "dream house" or for a one-room kitchenette apartment, you can't go wrong if you give her a kitchen shower . . . one that's practical, of course!

And, knowing that some of you are anxious for new, clever, unusual ways to entertain, I'm ready with plans for a kitchen shower that's really different!

In Chicago's huge Merchandise Mart, where buyers from all over the country come to purchase kitchenware, I found a variety of inexpensive, yet durable gadgets which anyone about to be married would love.

To make the party practically all play and no work for the hostess, I decided to place the gifts on the table (see picture at top of column). When luncheon is over, everything is hers!

The tablecloth is of a fancy new-type oilcloth, and the place mats and napkins are none other than dish cloths.

An angel food cake pan serves as the base for a "gadget bouquet" centerpiece of measuring spoons and cup, carving set, sugar scoop, funnel, spatulas, pancake turner, strainer, tea ball, grater and other vital kitchen helpers.

The plates are pie tins. The flatware is a very inexpensive kind with gaily-colored plastic handles. And note the spice jars to the right which, because they're to be gifts, hold salt and pepper while doing table duty. They're from the Griffith laboratories.

The first course of the luncheon is a tart "Cardinal Salad, set on the table right in its aluminum ring mold. A tasty Beef Stew in a casserole follows. Iced tea is poured from a tall aluminum pitcher into matching "glasses." And rolls, all buttered, are served from a compact, serviceable bun warmer, which may be the hostess's gift. Dessert is "Peach Upside Down Cake, served from a square cake pan.

Cardinal Salad.

1 package lemon gelatin
1 cup boiling water
¾ cup beet juice
3 tablespoons vinegar
1 cup cooked beets, diced
½ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons onion juice or grated onion
1 tablespoon horseradish
¾ cup celery, diced

SO YOU'RE TO BE MARRIED!

The date is all set, invitations mailed, your dress, white and simply beautiful, is hanging in the closet . . . well, then the rest is easy. But, in case you're perplexed about the after-ceremony refreshments, whether they be in the form of a breakfast, garden reception or dinner, please read next week's column. Lynn will tell you how to entertain your wedding guests correctly, yet inexpensively . . . Watch for "After The 'I Do's' . . ."

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water, add beet juice, vinegar, salt and seasonings. Chill until slightly thickened. Fold in vegetables and mold.

Peach Upside Down Cake.

1¼ cups sifted cake flour
1¼ teaspoons double-acting baking powder
¾ teaspoon salt
¾ cup granulated sugar
4 tablespoons softened butter or other shortening
1 egg well beaten
½ cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, salt and sugar, and sift together three times. Add butter. Combine egg, milk and vanilla. Add to flour mixture, stirring until all flour is dampened; then beat vigorously for 1 minute.

½ tablespoons butter
½ cup brown sugar, firmly packed
2 cups sliced peaches (fresh or canned)

Melt 4 tablespoons butter in an 8 by 8 by 2-inch pan over low flame; add brown sugar, (¾ teaspoon nutmeg may be mixed with brown sugar, if desired), and stir until melted. On this, arrange peach slices. Turn batter over contents of pan. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 50 minutes, or until done. Loosen cake from sides of pan with spatula. Serve upside down with peaches on top. Garnish with whipped cream, if desired.

Canned pineapple rings, cooked apricots or prunes, or sliced tart apples may be substituted for peaches in this recipe.

Going back to entertaining the bride-to-be, had you ever considered a Recipe Shower? A new idea comes to mind . . . why not serve a luncheon at which every dish, from the appetizer to the coffee, is prepared according to some favorite and tested recipe of one of the guests. Have each recipe written on the back of a place card, collect these, put them into a file box (gift of the hostess) and present them to the bride-to-be.

A shower that calls for an almost negligible outlay of money on the part of those who buy the gifts, but which will help the young bride to do some real housekeeping, is a "dime" shower.

The five-and-dime stores are bristling with simple little things the bride will use every day without being aware of them. If you'll contribute two ten-cent items, you'll be doing her a real service.

Matches, gummed labels, paste and waterproof cement (to repair the china she's bound to break sometime or another), playing cards and score pads, plenty of tissue cleaners, electric light bulbs, little wire flower holders, assorted pads of paper for shopping lists or addresses—they're all so inexpensive when purchased separately, but how they do mount up in cost if the bride has to go out and buy the whole batch at one time!

(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

LYNN SAYS:

There'll be lots to talk about at your party, and conversation, plus opening of shower presents may well fill up the allotted party time, but just in case . . . here's a clever game that suits a bridal shower to a "T."

To each guest pass a slip of paper titled "Things Found in the Bride's Home." Neath the title are these words (1) engr, (2) gothorhprrpa, (3) elmiunol, (4) fubfet, (5) hieira, (6) rifhifcoen, (7) pavndorte, (8) blaet, (9) nurcaef, (10) pardyer, (11) kecol, and (12) pocarbud.

Ask each person to rearrange the letters in each of these 12 words to make them spell an article of furniture that would be likely to appear in the bride's new home.

The answers are (1) range, (2) photograph, (3) linoleum, (4) buffet, (5) chair, (6) chifonier, (7) davenport, (8) table, (9) furnace, (10) drapery, (11) clock, and (12) cupboard.

To make the game more interesting, you might set a definite time limit. Collecting all papers after, perhaps, five minutes. Lollipops or some similar original, inexpensive gift may be awarded as first prize.

FIRST JERUSALEM CONFERENCE ON WORLD MISSIONS

LESSON TEXT—Acts 15:6-21.
GOLDEN TEXT—But we believe that through the grace of the Lord Jesus Christ we shall be saved, even as they.—Acts 15:11.

The conference on missions in Jerusalem was not the result of an appeal to a ruling church organization for a decision, but rather a gathering of the believers from Antioch with those in Jerusalem to confer regarding a serious difference of opinion. The earliest converts to Christianity were Jews, who had come by the way of Judaism into their new faith in Christ. But now, through the preaching of Paul and Barnabas, certain Gentiles had believed in Christ. Their new-found joy was soon beclouded by a theological problem. Certain teachers from Judea (Acts 15:1) declared that the Gentiles were not saved unless they came into the Christian faith the way of the fulfillment of the Jewish law. Paul and Barnabas at once realized that this was

I. The Vital Question—Is Salvation by Grace or Works? (vv. 7-11; see also vv. 1-5).

Paul and his fellow workers had rightly apprehended God's plan of salvation apart from works of the law. Paul realized that the entire future of the gospel ministry was in a sense dependent on the solution of this problem. Christianity is the only religious faith in the world that presents justification by grace as the way of redemption; all others follow (more or less) the path of salvation by works.

The question now was: Shall works of the law be mingled with grace—can Jesus Christ alone save men, or is salvation through Jesus Christ plus something else?

How was such a serious question to be settled? Should argument and strife be permitted to go on until the stronger party prevailed? Better judgment indicated the desirability of a friendly discussion and a joint decision with the believers at Jerusalem. This was

II. The Christian Solution—Council Rather Than Controversy (vv. 6, 7, 12-18).

There may be times when it becomes the duty of the Christian worker to take an uncompromising stand for the truth of God and refuse to be moved, come what may. But certainly there should be no such spirit in dealing with differing interpretations of Scripture on the part of sincere and earnest Christian brethren. How much would be gained in the Church today if, instead of magnifying differences and permitting personal desires and ambitions to intervene, men were willing to sit down in the spirit of Christ around the tables of Christian council and brotherhood, presided over and directed by the Holy Spirit (see Acts 15:28).

Observe the full measure of liberty in discussion, the attentive listening to the messages of the brethren. Note also that there were no secret sessions of a "steering committee" and no "steamroller" tactics.

The whole question was honestly and carefully considered by the council at Jerusalem, with the result that there was a vindication of the preachers of God's grace.

James finally spoke, giving the conclusion to which the Holy Spirit had led the conference (see v. 28). Here for all the future we have

III. The God-Given Answer—Salvation Is by Grace (vv. 19-21; see also vv. 22-35).

In his epistle to the Ephesians (Eph. 2:8, 9), Paul succinctly states this truth: "By grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God: not of works, lest any man should boast." The teaching of Scripture is very plain on this point, and we do well to receive it in all its beauty and grace.

Let us observe, however, that the decision in Jerusalem, while it laid no further burden on these Gentile believers (v. 28), did quite properly require of them that, as those who had been saved by grace, they must "walk in newness of life" (Rom. 6:4) which they had in Christ. Paul had the same thought in mind when he supplemented Ephesians 2:8 and 9 with verse 10, declaring that God has ordained that we should walk "in good works."

There are two opposite tendencies (both of which are wrong) in this matter, which consistently hurt the Christian church. The one which we have already stressed tries to mix works with grace, making salvation either entirely or partially by works. Sad to say, some who have sought to avoid this error have gone to the opposite extreme and have done violence to God's plan of salvation by making grace an excuse for sin, using their freedom from law as a justification of lawlessness. We are God's "workmanship, created in Christ Jesus unto good works" (Eph. 2:10).

1 FILL LASTED 13,398 MILES—Certified

Then how long is a quart of this great New Motor Oil?

STRAIGHT FROM SIZZLING DEATH VALLEY COMES YOUR ANSWER...

The lock-guarded engines of 6 coupes faced the Death Valley desert with oil exactly up to "Full!" Not a drop could be added. The destination of all 6 identical everyday engines was . . . Death!

Here were 6 high quality motor oils getting the same strictly fair opportunity to show how long they'd let an engine live on one exact fill and no more.

Down in Death Valley—hotspot of the U. S. A.—every car sped at 57 miles an hour, till its oil gave out and the engine smashed. The brand of oil that used up quickest was outlasted 8,268 miles by a revolutionary new oil in this impartial, certified test. This new oil exceeded the average mileage of the other 5 oils by all of 7,057 miles! Certified. This longest-lasting oil in the test, which your car can have today—at popular price—is new CONOCO Nth MOTOR OIL with its Man-made new Economy aid The record long life that defied Death Valley comes from a new laboratory creation . . . man-made . . . called Thialkene inhibitor. Its action in some ways suggests Vaccination—which puts the right protective substance on guard to keep a trouble from even starting on you.

The trouble aiming to start on motor oils lurks in the engine's normal firing. Filth is formed that tends to start the oil "festering." First one drop spoils—then two drops "catch it"—then four—then sixteen—faster, faster, FASTER. Soon oil stamina is sapped; the engine suffers, and cries for quart after quart . . . but not when the worst of this "festering" attack is nipped in the bud—inhibited—by the life-giving Thialkene inhibitor in new Conoco Nth motor oil.

IMPARTIAL
Latest available products of 5 leading competitors bought retail by Referee.

Now you'll never rashly exceed the proper oil-change period for your car and driving conditions—any more than you ignore traffic rules just to "get away with it." But Certified Proof from the desert that new Conoco Nth could outlast the other oils in the test by as much as 161%, gives you more than mere hopes of long Summer mileage between quarts. Change to Conoco Nth—at Your Mileage Merchant's Conoco station . . . today. Continental Oil Company—Pioneers in Bettering America's oil with Synthetics

AND CONOCO Nth OIL PLATES YOUR ENGINE!

Long the keystone of Conoco success, OIL-PLATING comes from another great Conoco synthetic . . . man-made . . . under the famed Germ Processed patent. By magnet-like action, OIL-PLATING is bonded to inner engine parts. Then it can't all drain down—not even overnight—not while you're using Conoco Nth. So OIL-PLATING is on guard against wear in advance! . . . and helps mileage, as it did in Death Valley. An OIL-PLATED engine is one more economy you get from a change to popular-priced new Conoco Nth oil.

CERTIFIED I hereby certify that the Death Valley Test and related work were thoroughly and fairly conducted. Engine Destruction occurred in each case at the mileage stated.
