

To the Citizens of Lynn County

In announcing my candidacy for the newly created office of Tax Assessor and Tax Collector or Tax Clerk, as passed by the 42nd Legislature following the election in 1932, at which time the people of Texas voted to make the consolidation of the two offices...

To the Citizens Of The 106th Judicial District

Through the columns of your local paper, I am presenting my formal announcement as a Candidate for the office of District Judge of your District.

I have lived in Terry County since December 1900. I started life here as a ranch hand, was commonly called "a ranch hand" and "a windmill". Saving my wages, and converting all of my possessions into cash, I entered Baylor University in 1909, finishing in 1914. The first year after my graduation from the year 1922, has been in the private practice of law since...

I am forty-seven years of age, in perfect health, with an ambition to believe. Opportunities do no longer knock at our door, we have to make them. I have in the past had occasions to look American Youth in the face at public addresses I have wished for, that the doors of opportunity would swing wide for them. I am now desiring that privilege for my self. There is but one District Judge's office. I wish there might be one for all worthy aspirants.

If you elect me as your District Judge, I'll be there to ring the bell. I'll stay there until its all over. I shall lend my best efforts as a Court to make life sacred, and property rights secure. I believe that the lance shield should be hurled through every shield that shelters crime, in a way that Dignity, and Respect for the law will be maintained.

No corporate power should scale such heights, that the strong arm of law can't reach. AND, no fortune should cause one to descend so low, that his whispering voice could not be heard in the Temple of Justice.

The Index is this week authorized to place the name of W. E. Smith in the political column as a candidate for re-election to the office of county judge.

FDR Grets Congress With Year's Plans

Dispensing with all the usual red tape and formality traditionally a part of the opening of Congress, President Roosevelt phoned over that 'he'd be over in a minute', and strolled into the meeting to deliver a history-making speech at the opening session last week.

Congress was asked to approve the biggest peace-time spending program in American history, and it seems that his plan will be unanimously passed.

Of the expenditures, $5,017,487 were listed as general outlays for the new or old of the government, and the remaining 1,512,317,200 were listed for emergency spending to further the recovery program.

Mr. Roosevelt did no shadow-boxing or soft speaking in detailing his all-important budget. He laid his cards on the table and told Congress and the country all the bad news without any side-steps or equivocations.

This method and this occasion further prove that Franklin Delano Roosevelt is a strategist and a statesman of the first rank. If he had soft-pedaled the news or attempted to juggle his figures for the purpose of deceiving Congress or the people, the opposition would have had an endless supply of ammunition to fire back at him. Instead he spoke frankly and to the point, following his usual method of taking the public completely into his confidence. And the country had frank confidence in him, trusting to his confidence in keeping nothing back which is essential.

And evidently the business life of the nation found nothing terrifying in his message. Congress, for stocks, cotton, and grain, began to rise immediately. Inasmuch as business will foot the bill, this reaction was highly significant. It indicated confidence in the recovery program, and especially in the financial end of it. Apparently the treasury will have little difficulty in carrying out the nine billion dollar financing program called for during the next few months.

The Ablet Morning News of last Friday remarked editorially: "Persons suffering budgetary shock from the President's request for financing operations totaling ten billion dollars over the next six months, can find one comfort in one aspect of the situation. It is that the Roosevelt budget for general expenses of the government for the next twelve months is almost $700,000,000 below the figures for the last year of the Hoover administration. That is a little short of the president's election promise to reduce governmental expenses by 25 per cent, but is probably a much better record than anyone could have made.

The extraordinary expenses, including the nine billion dollars deficit at the end of two years, represent a great nation's attempt to feed and give jobs to the people, to rehabilitate agriculture, finance, and industry."

We have never laid claim to any distinction as a financier or economist, but we agree with the country

Story Asks Return To Clerk's Office

A Story is a good thing, but a continued Story is even better. At least that's what H. C. Story, county clerk of Lynn for the past term, is hoping will be the opinion of the voters of the county in the election next summer, and he is this week announcing his candidacy for re-election to his office.

Mr. Story has been a most efficient and faithful clerk for the county during the past two years, and he and his charming family have made many friends. The duties of the office have not permitted as much time for visiting as they would have liked, Mr. Story said, but everyone who has had business in the court house is acquainted with him, with Mrs. Story, and also with little Miss Ruth Evelyn, their five-year old daughter. So far as we have heard, Mr. Story will probably not have an opponent, but he says that this fact will not prevent his deep appreciation of the continued support of his friends. His announcement follows:

"In making my announcement for the second term as Clerk of your county, I wish first to express my appreciation of the support given me in the past by the voters, and for the cooperation and support given during my tenure of office. This support has made my duties pleasant, and likewise made it easier to give my best in rendering public service. The salary of my office has been of great benefit to me and my family, and we wish the voters of the county to know that we appreciate it.

"If my services in the office have been satisfactory to the people of Lynn county, I ask the continued support and influence of the voters for re-election and will make every effort to be a more efficient public servant next term than I have during this one."

Commencement Exercises Here Friday Evening

Mid-term graduates from the local Grammar School will receive their diplomas Friday evening when commencement exercises are held in the high school auditorium. This announcement was made this week by Mrs. Paul Gooch, principal of the grammar school and teacher of the seventh grade.

Friends of the graduates and patrons of the school are cordially invited to be present at this ceremony. A recent ruling of the State Department of Education has done away with the graduation exercises in the grades Mrs. Gooch added, so that report cards issued this week will not have the notation of promotion to the high.

The following program will be rendered at the commencement exercises Friday evening: Prelude, Mrs. A. W. Gibbs; Invocation, Rev. Montgomery; music, O'Donnell orchestra; salutatory, Teva Payne; violin solo, Mack C. Bradley; musical reading, Eldon Carroll; valedictory, Aris Thompson; address, Superintendent E. E. Gilbride; program, an expedition to the Gilbride class song, Seventh Grade; benediction, Rev. Montgomery.

$1,148,000 Available For State Relief

Texas will have at least $1,148,000 for carrying on relief work this week when the Texas banks underwrite that amount in bonds in accordance with bids received on the bonds December 21, according to an announcement made Friday at Ft. Worth by J. L. Lafferty, secretary of the banker's committee which promoted the sale of $2,750,000 of relief bonds.

Lynn county has been allocated $1,150,000 of this amount. Of the $1,148,000 in bonds is expected to be received at the Fort Worth National Bank, fiscal agent for the sale. As quickly as the funds can be checked for signatures and interest coupons, the four banks will pay the bond funds into the state treasury and deliver the bonds themselves to a large number of banks and firms that pooled their bidding on that amount in December.

The funds will be used immediately to supplement Federal relief funds which have been cut off from this state until the bonds are sold.

M. C. Hamilton of Lubbock was here on business Tuesday.

that the budget sounds far less shocking and tragic than the spectacle of the 13,000,000 jobless men going to work. The American people had rather be going somewhere than twiddling their thumbs. At least we are not to die of inaction and dry rot. Mr. Roosevelt, inaction, right or wrong, and in the parlance of the youth of the day, we're 'fer him'!"

O'Donnell Defeats Wilson 43 to 26

O'Donnell defeated Wilson in a fast snappy basketball game here last Thursday afternoon to the tune of 43 to 26. The Eagles took an early lead which they never lost throughout the game, but which was threatened several times by the visitors.

The Eagles changing from a five-man defense to man-for-man after the holidays, looked rather ragged in that department. Several times the visitors went under the basket for nice spin shots as the Eagle defense was evaded. Simmons was easily the best offensive man, and quite often "bumped" under the goal for field goals. Greenlee was the offensive star, but was weak on the defense. Pirtle and McLaughlin had a hard afternoon's work trying to stay with the flashy Krebs from Wilson. Line looked best among the forwards on defense and equally as good on offense, although Key, Tredway and Chiles turned in nice exhibitions.

The Eagles will spend this week away from home, playing New Home at Tahoka and Wilson at Wilson. Should they escape defeat this week they should be in a good position to win the remaining games with Lynn county teams. Redwine and New Lynn however boast strong teams, but the Eagles should be hitting their stride by then and will give them a merry battle for the crown. Thus far, Tahoka, Wilson, Draw and Titar have fallen victims to the Eagles, but were top-heavy losers to Lamesa.

LATE NEWS: O'Donnell defeated New Moore at Tahoka Tuesday afternoon 48 to 13. McLaughlin was the bright spot of the Eagle offense, with Chiles and Greenlee also doing some nice work. Lines looked several as well as Key. The second and third strings played most of the game.

The Eagles play Draw Wednesday and Wilson Friday.

LATER: A relative received a note from Mr. Small Tuesday, saying that he is in perfect health.

Toneys Attend His Parents' Anniversary

During the Christmas holidays, Mr. and Mrs. Royal Toney and sons were guests at the golden wedding anniversary of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Toney of Buffalo Gap.

Mr. Toney described it as one of the happiest reunions he had ever seen. Sixty-five descendants of the honorees were present for the occasion, including the fourth generation.

Open house was held at the family home at Buffalo Gap and hundreds of friends called to pay their respects.

Miss Millie Halsey, Editor Hill Engaged

Announcement was made at Albany on January 4 of the engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Millie M. Halsey, county home demonstration agent of Shackelford county, and E. L. Hill, editor and owner of the Lynn County News at Tahoka. Date for the wedding has not yet been named.

The announcement was of much interest to West Texans and to Lynn county in particular. Miss Halsey was the first demonstration agent in the county, and numbers her friends by her acquaintances. She has been in the extension work for sixteen years serving in Baylor, Lubbock, Lynn and Shackelford counties. Her work has won recognition throughout the state.

Mr. Hill may also be termed the dean of West Texas newspapermen. He has for years been a leader in political and civic affairs of his district, and his ability in his profession is unquestioned.

The index extends hearty congratulations to a fellow publisher, and best wishes to both Mr. Hill and his fiancée for their happy life together.

Miss El Frieda Harrison, agent for Lynn county for the past two years, was recently elected to take Miss Halsey's place in Shackelford county.

Miss Belle Miles and T. A. Greenwood Marry

The marriage of Miss Eula Belle Miles and T. A. Greenwood, which was solemnized Sunday afternoon in Carlsbad, N. M., united two of the most prominent families in O'Donnell.

Rev. Weldon, Baptist pastor at Carlsbad, performed the simple ceremony, and Miss Dessa Holman and Sumner Clayton were witnesses. For their marriage Mrs. Greenwood wore a tailored frock of golden brown crepe, with harmonious accessories.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Miles and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Miles. She has spent her life in O'Donnell, graduating from the local high school in the class of 1931. She has for a number of years taken an active part in social and musical circles of the town.

Mr. Greenwood is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Clark Greenwood of this place, and is well-known to a wide circle of friends.

The couple has not yet announced definite plans, but they will no doubt continue to make their home here or at Wells, where Mr. Greenwood's family own farming and gin interests.

The index joins with other friends in extending congratulations and best wishes to this popular young couple.

Mack Noble Heads County Debt Body

J. Mack Noble, Jr., manager of the Lynn County Motor Company and prominent in business circles of the county for a number of years, was elected chairman of the County Farm Debt Adjustment committee organized at Tahoka last week. Other officers are J. C. Wells, Tahoka, vice-chairman; R. W. Fenton, Tahoka, secretary; George Small and L. C. Haney of Tahoka are also members of the committee.

Appointed some time ago by Governor Miriam A. Ferguson, these committees are, the Governor said in her letter of appointment "to serve both debtor and creditor in an effort to arrive at a friendly, sensible, and fair solution of debt problems. It is our thought that such efforts will tend to conciliate many problems of the type which have heretofore resulted in unnecessary foreclosures. It is likewise hoped and expected that these voluntary committees will serve in the future as a basis for developing harmony between contending interests in various localities of the state."

Mr. Noble states that the committee plans primarily to act as disinterested intermediary, and that any debtor or creditor seeking readjustment in the debt relationship, one with the other may ask this committee to investigate and make recommendations to either or both parties for the purpose of effecting a satisfactory solution of any existing difficulties.

Planned and arranged under the supervision of Mrs. W. S. Cathey in her dining room at the O'Donnell Hotel, the 1934 banquet was declared one of the loveliest affairs of the kind ever held here.

The spacious dining room was attractively arranged for the occasion and the tables where the delicious turkey dinner was served presented an appetizing appearance. Before the first course, Mayor Cathey opened the occasion with a few well-chosen tributes to the fire department. Roy W. Gibson, chief, responded for the fire-boys, and during the evening each member of the organization was called on for a short speech.

Lynn County Included In Business Survey

Scheduled to be completed by February 15, a census of American business is beginning this week in District 2, which is composed of the South Plains counties.

The district has a total of 5,073 business firms that are to be covered by the survey, according to statement issued Tuesday by James A. Hughes, assistant supervisor. The survey is to include working conditions, and the real state of business compared with those of 1929, when a similar survey was conducted. It will also include the volume of business during this year, number of people employed, the payroll, and other items, covering retail businesses only.

We were unable to learn the name of Lynn county's enumerator, or the exact date when he will be here, but the cooperation and courtesy of the business men of the county are asked when the survey does begin.

Little Miss Margaret Gibbs, who has been quite ill with flu and threatened pneumonia, seems to be well on the road to recovery.
