World War II Ends

O'Donnell Goes Wild With Joy

Announcement of the war's ending struck O'Donnell with an impact of an atomic bomb causing sensitive ears to shudder to the vibrant waves of noise from horn honking, car dragging cars and the shrieks of the fire whistle. Our town went hog wild, pig crazy for awhile over the good news of the ending of the most bitter, bloody war in man's history. Many late Tuesday evening went to the churches to thank their Lord for release from four years of heartache and sorrow. Probably not a home in O'Donnell or in the nation has been far removed from the sorrow of this conflict.

With the wail of the town's fire-siren, Jones and Goad and Co. got out the fire wagon and a parade quickly formed that drove around the square several times. Shortly after the news at 6 p. m. stores began closing and Wednesday the town was deserted with not even one car on the streets in the afternoon. Comic signs bloomed out in store windows Tuesday late. "City Bakery had a 'So Sorry' sign in red and Emily's Cafe had a "Closed by order of Tokyo".

Miss Sue Goddard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Goddard of our city, received the B. A. degree with a major in speech from the West Texas State Teachers College on August 8th. Miss Goddard graduated from the O'Donnell High School in '42. Among the many honors Miss Goddard received were: member of Delta Zeta Chi, Alpha Psi Omega, member of National Dramatic Society, college beauty in '42 and '43, vice president Junior class, member of the Inner Club Council, and treasurer of Alpha Psi Omega.

Our friend, Jim Swope doesn't care whether school keeps or not since he has 1500 flying size chickens at his place. Now all he needs is lard.

B. L. Davis took the Temple of Truth man and Ben Moore on an inspection trip of his new cellar. It is as large as an average size room and finished in cement and plaster. Doc Howell did the work.

W. R. Hill and family of Sulphur Springs are visiting the G. M. Hill family. Mr. and Mrs. Hill returned home with a quantity of bull snakes and coach-wraps or what have you with the exception of rattlers. It seems Troop 5 of Lubbock Boy Scouts is coming down to our border town Thursday Aug. 30 and pull a big rat snake and the snakes are supposed to wring out some wet sky juice from our puffy clouds. Or so Leroy says. So, boys start hunting for the horrible critters mentioned above.

This rain business has the Index's two staff weathermen, Pink Brewer and Lee Brewer up in the air. They just can't savvy it!

Wanted: Snakes!!

Hear Ye! Hear Ye! -- all old time snake charmers come to the rescue of W. Leroy Waggoner and supply him with a quantity of bull snakes and coach-wraps or what have you with the exception of rattlers. Cpl. Eilly Joe Barnett left Sunday for Atlantic, N. J. after spending a 90 day furlough at home.

Mrs. Steve Anglin and daughter, Jerry and Mrs. Gene Gardenhire returned last week from Richmond, Calif.

James Lewis Fletcher of the Navy is spending a furlough at home with his family. His young son, Donnie, is so very critically ill.

Rebecca Peltis is adding a sixteen foot addition to his home this week.

Mrs. Clarence Daniels and two daughters attended a family reunion at Clovis last week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Ed Treadway visited Carlsbad Caverns last week end.

Miss Lovie Edwards is visiting in Dallas.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bligham visited at Sweetwater last week.

Infants are not conscious of God's law; their minds have not developed to that they can believe. Infants are unable to confess the Christ. Infants cannot discern between right and wrong, therefore cannot repent. The New Testament is for those that can search the scriptures, Jno. 5:39; give heed to reading 1 Tim. 4:13; study to show themselves approved unto God. 1 Tim. 2:15. To baptize infants in any form, with the understanding that they will be saved when they come to the end of life is teaching where the Bible does not teach, and coming under the condemnation of God for teaching false doctrine. STUDY your New Testament daily. Put into practice what you learn and God will bless you. Garnie Atkinson, Minister.

Marvin Lee Sherrill

Marvin Lee Sherrill, son of X. L. and Irma Sherrill, was born Aug. 27, 1936 and lived to the age of eight years, eleven months and fifteen days. He departed this life early Sunday morning, August 12 from the St. Joseph's Sanitarium of Ft. Worth following an operation Friday.

Funeral services were conducted at the Methodist Church Tuesday afternoon at 3 with the Rev. Jesse Young in charge of the service. Burial was in the O'Donnell cemetery.

He is survived by his parents, three brothers, Raymond, Jerry, Lynn and Donald Wayne; his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Sherrill and maternal grandmother, Mrs. W. A. Eakers besides a number of uncles and aunts and other relatives.

While his stay in this life was brief, yet it was sufficiently long to endear himself to the hearts and lives of parents, loved ones and all who knew him. Like the little flower, planted here in the earthly realm and transplanted in the garden of God, there to grow and mature in the wholesome atmosphere of God's Eternal Love and the gracious presence of Jesus who said while here on earth: "Suffer the little children to come unto me."

May the sorrowing, heart-broken parents and loved ones take consolation in this fact that Marvin Lee is in safe and secure hands and the same Lord will give to them His help and strength in this their hour of supreme need.

— Edward H. Crandall.
 The Index joins the community in mourning the passing of this sweet child who suffered a long illness and extend our deepest sympathy to the loved ones.

We have a group of men and women who constitute the teaching personnel of our Church School. You will find a helpful interpretation of the lesson in any one of these groups.

Domestic Problems to Test Truman's Mettle

Harmonious Relations on Foreign Policy Soon To Give Way to Contention Over Difficulties of Reconversion.

By BAUKHAGE
News Analyst and Commentator.

WNU Service, Union Trust Building, Washington, D. C.

The political armistice in Washington will end shortly after the President's return from Berlin. The Big Three meeting followed so closely on the heels of the San Francisco conference that foreign affairs have dominated the scene almost to the exclusion of domestic matters, which sooner or later must test the mettle of the new administration.

Another reason, perhaps, why President Truman's honeymoon has been extended is the fact that the main issue before the country, the United Nations charter, has been robbed of its partisan flavor. This is largely due to the long and arduous efforts of former Secretary of State Hull. He built up a working understanding on foreign affairs between the administration and the congress, which resulted in the only a former senator, but a former Supreme court justice. Byrnes provides an understanding link with the legislative branch as well as with the treasury. The secretary of the treasury, Fred Vinson, is a former member of congress as well as an ex-judge. Secretary of Agriculture Anderson is not only a former member of congress, but was head of the house food committee, which directed some of the most serious criticism against the former administration's handling of the food situation. This committee is now working closely with the new cabinet member.

While Secretary of Commerce Wallace does not bring to his department the close associations of the men over whom he presided as president of the senate, the scope and function of his office has been considerably reduced by the reor-whole-hearted cooperation of most of the leaders of both parties, steadily supported by public opinion.

Secretary Hull was able to achieve this harmony because of the confidence in which his former colleagues held him and also because of his experience as a member of the legislative branch of the government. Roosevelt could never have been as successful in this endeavor and, because he realized that fully, he left the matter largely in Hull's hands.

Chief Still One of the Boys

In the first place, President Truman stepped directly from the upper house to the vice presidency, and ever since he left the legislative branch for the executive, he has been acting as liaison between the two.

Shortly before President Roosevelt's death I had occasion to interview the then vice president. I talked about the forthcoming San Francisco conference with him (as well as the field artillery, of which we are both alumni). He indicated that he was holding aloof from any public participation in the discussions of international affairs but was attempting to carry on and to complement the work of Secretary Hull in promoting a sympathetic discussion of the Dumbarton Oaks agreement with members of the senate foreign relations committee, the house committee on foreign affairs and others.

One of his first unorthodox acts was to take lunch with some of his old colleagues at the Capitol. This was almost as if the king of England were to attempt to enter the City of London without first having a formal parley with the lord mayor. But it was a perfectly natural act on Truman's part—like his spontaneous remark to the effect that there was a certain Chinese restaurant where he would like to eat while he was on the West coast. On second thought he realized that, as President, he couldn't do such a thing and admitted it with a smile.

The President's informal visits to the Capitol haven't hurt him. Nor his formal ones. After his last appearance, when he delivered the charter, he lingered so long in the senate chamber, shaking hands and patting backs, that an aide had to hint gently that he wasn't a senator any more and must hurry back to his work.

His cabinet appointments are highly significant. Truman's secretary of state, James Byrnes, is not organization of the department and so is not a source of friction. In his secretary of labor, President Truman has a man who was exceedingly popular in the senate—another judge—Lewis Schwellenbach.

Fear Influence Of Party Bosses

Of course, when it comes to questions like the poll-tax and the fair employment practices act or any other measure in which the race question is involved, the old friction arises with the southern congressmen and any Republicans they can attract to their cause. Also, while there are those who say that the President is steering a course much farther to the right than President Roosevelt did, he nevertheless is committed to a number of the so-called New Deal "reforms," both because of his record in the senate and because of his natural leanings. However, since Truman is known to be a strong party man, it will be easier for him to keep the southern Democrats in line.

Of course, some of the radical New Dealers are doing a lot of eye-brow raising behind the bushes and a remark (perhaps written with tongue in cheek) which appeared in the Wall Street Journal sent shivers down some spines. That newspaper, which hardly depends on Democratic support for its circulation, said recently: "Not since the short-lived administration of Warren Harding has there been the prospect of teamwork as exists today."

If the results of the Berlin meeting are such that they reveal a marked improvement in Big Three relations and a harmonious settlement of some of the difficult international problems, the President's prestige will be greatly increased. However, by that time domestic discontent will be crystallizing, the honeymoon will be on the wane and the President will need all the "teamwork" he can muster.

If the Japanese war should, by any chance, end suddenly—before another year—it would mean that reconversion, threats of inflation and unemployment and a hundred other problems will be upon us and President Truman will be stripped of his protective authority as Commander-in-Chief. Then the slings and arrows which even Roosevelt's enemies were wont to deflect to congress and other government agencies will be aimed squarely at the man in the White House. Peace will not be too peaceful at 3200 Pennsylvania avenue.

BARBS . . . by Baukhage

Under the able direction of Harold McGrath, superintendent of the senate radio gallery in Washington, radio men were taken care of to the queen's taste. The big chains built excellent temporary studios at conference headquarters and all the separate stations were well taken care of, too. Hundreds of recordings were made and shipped out by airmail.

Field offices of the Federal Housing administration are now accepting applications from private lending institutions for principal loans supplemented by loans under Section 505 of the G.I. bill. The veterans' administration guarantees an equity on such loans not to exceed $2,000 where the principal loan, which must comply with FHA regulations, is insured by FHA.

Destroyer, Victim of Direct Suicide Hit, Is Ready to Add to Heavy Toll.

Newspaperman Staff:
Add Things I Never Knew Till Now: In 1912 a newspaperman named Nathaniel Rausavelt was taken into custody for refusing to divulge the source of his information about the secret activities of some politicians. . . . He was threatened and cajoled but stood firm. . . . Thus was established the principle of the reporter's duty to protect his news source. . . . The first American newspaper was discontinued by authority because it published some gossip about the family troubles of the King of France.

Heywood Brown was a skilled exponent of the rapier retort. He directed some of his most devastating arguments against Huey Long. . . . He once accused Huey of "murdering the truth." Long promptly shrieked for a retraction. . . . Brown replied: "Huey says that he never murdered the truth. That's because he never gets near enough to do it any bodily harm."

Along similar lines there's the classic about the small town gazette which conducted a vigorous campaign against the town council. . . . One of their yarns was headlined: "Half the Town Council Are Crooks." . . . The outraged politicians demanded an apology, and the editor promised to run one. . . . Next day the daily carried this headline: "Half the Town Council Are Not Crooks."

About a century ago the press was in its Mother Hubbard stage. . . . Nanny-pambysism was rampant. Editors took a long-term view of the news. This sidelight illustrates their ultra fuzzy-duddy attitude: One gazette front-paged an apology to its subscribers because a reporter had used the word "trousers" in a yarn when he should have used the word "unmentionables"!

Tiffs among newboys nowadays belong in the taffy-pull category when compared with the journalistic slug-fests during the James Gordon Bennett era. . . . Bennett was physically assaulted a half-dozen times by opposition editors who had been clawed by his barbed-wire editorials. . . . But Bennett refused to dilute his potent attacks against competitors. He merely reported the brawls on his gazette's front page and reaped added circulation. . . . The anti-Bennett journalistic barrage also blasted his family. The slanders finally drove his wife and children out of the country. They moved to Europe and made frequent visits to America, while Bennett continued his free-swinging style of journalism.

Joseph Pulitzer's N. Y. World set journalistic standards few newspapers have equalled. Yet Pulitzer arrived in America a poor, friendless, semi-literate immigrant. He spent all his spare time educating himself. . . . His enlightened opinions on the subject of newspapers are always worth absorbing. . . . Frisbie: "What is everybody's business is nobody's business—except the journalist's. It is his by adoption. But for his care every reform would be stillborn. He holds officials to their duties. He exposes secret schemes of plunder. He promotes every hopeful plan of progress. Without him public opinion would be shapeless and dumb. Our Republic and its press will rise or fall together. An able, disinterested, public-spirited press, with trained intelligence to know the right and courage to do it, can preserve that public virtue without which popular government is a sham and mockery."

Hollywood has depicted foreign correspondents as overgrown Rover Boys. . . . It has created the impression that these newboys have a glamorous occupation. Actually they have a difficult, perilous task with few rewards. . . . O. D. Gallagher, a British correspondent, dodged bombs and bullets, and traveled 100,000 miles in three years for his gossamer stories, which readers forget five minutes after reading.

This is the wisest counsel for columnists we have come across: "Get around town—find out what people are talking about. Give your readers a little daily jolt on something they are gabbling about at home, perhaps, and can gab about some more. Controversial stuff—so they can argue. The big idea is this: Make half of them happy and half of them sore."

Reporters aren't as hard-boiled as the legends would have you believe. . . . When President Wilson made his grueling cross-country tour (in an effort to gain the support of Americans for his world peace plans) he was broken in body but not in spirit. . . . Reporters who accompanied him were aware that he was sacrificing his life for his ideal. . . . As Wilson made his final stirring plea for world peace, newsmen listening to his eloquent address openly wept.

Destroyer, Victim of Direct Suicide Hit, Is Ready to Add to Heavy Toll.

SAN FRANCISCO.—A great rent gaped in her hull, 15 of her enlisted men are dead and 30 wounded, but the destroyer USS Ingraham will split the seas again with her trim nose for another crack at the Japanese.

The 2,200-ton "tin can," now in drydock for repairs at Hunter's Point, San Francisco, survived a direct hit by a Japanese suicide plane early in May north of Okinawa, and came home under her own power, the 12th naval district announced, according to the Associated Press.

Before receiving this nearly mortal wound the Ingraham had taken a heavy toll. She was instrumental in sinking three enemy vessels, and destroyed six of the seven suicide planes which chose her as their target in the flaming fury of a dawn attack by 70 to 80 Japanese aircraft of all types.

Nicknamed the "Mighty I" by her crew, the Ingraham was operating on the edge of the East China sea with another battle famed destroyer, the Morrison, when she was hit.

Moved in for Kill.
Enemy scout planes sighted the two craft during the night. As daylight came the big suicide squadron moved in for the kill, diving from all directions at the destroyers and their smaller support craft.

Lt. John D. Brink, USNR, San Diego, Calif., Ingraham gunnery officer, said the Japanese threw all available planes from modern fighters to old twin-engine float craft into the battle.

The Morrison was struck and badly damaged. The Mighty I steamed to her aid firing "at everything in sight." Then seven Jap suicide pilots peeled off toward the Ingraham. The ship's gunners knocked down six of them in two furious, action-packed minutes.

The seventh bored through the barrage of steel from all available ack-ack guns and crashed into the vessel's side at the water line, ramming into the crew's mess hall with its bomb exploding in the generator room.

Flames swept through the stricken ship, and she settled in the water until her decks were within five feet of being awash. Overhead other Japanese fliers poised to deal the death blow, but American combat air patrolmen sent them plunging into the sea by the score and none reached the Ingraham.

Helps Protect Carriers.
Forty minutes later rescue tugs took the crippled destroyer in tow and pulled her to safety.

The Ingraham, one of the Barton class of big destroyers, participated in the Leyte Island, Philippines, and other Southwest Pacific engagements before reaching the high mark of her 14-month career while escorting American carriers in strikes at the Tokyo-Yokohama area.

In late February she was off two island pounding enemy shore installations with her 5-inch guns. A short time later she joined the destroyer pack in protecting United States carriers softening up Okinawa for invasion.

Idle British Workmen Shout 'We Want Work'

LONDON.—Eight thousand employees of the Napier engineering factories in suburban Acton marched into Hyde Park shouting: "We want work!"

About 2,000 of the workers had been declared "redundant"—no longer needed on war work—and the remainder declared a strike in sympathy. Demonstrators carried banners bearing the slogans "We produced for war; we can produce for peace" and "Unemployment appeared in 1918, has this war been in vain?"

Pilot Escapes When Chute Tangles on Burning Plane

MANILA.—Lt. Dan Bradley, Detroit, escaped death spectacularly when 100 doughboys watched. Jap fire set his dive-bomber ablaze. He zoomed and jumped but his parachute caught and the flier was yanked behind the burning ship. About 100 feet from the ground the plane rolled and the chute slipped free.

It opened and the pilot landed unhurt, near gaping Japs. Americans hustled him through to safety.

War's Dread Is Over; Liner Oregon Sails

NEW YORK.—It was like pre-war days aboard the French liner Oregon. She pulled out of New York harbor, a tricolor flying. The Oregon was the first liner whose departure has been made public since Pearl Harbor. Her steamer chairs were occupied and children were playing shuffleboard in the sun.

'Secret' Airline to Sweden Saves 3,000

U. S. Army Planes Operated Under Noses of Nazis.

LONDON.—More than 3,000 important passengers were flown out of neutral Sweden during the last year of the European war by the U. S. army's "secret" airline which operated under the noses of the Germans.

It was one of the strangest military operations of the war and the Germans employed every trick they knew to stop it, but without avail. Some secrets of this mysterious pseudo-civil airline, which now has blossomed into a full-fledged military line between Scotland and Sweden, were revealed by Brig. Gen. Earl S. Hoag, commander of the European division of the Air Transport command, the agency designated to handle the job. Most of the flying had been scheduled purposely in bad weather.

The airmen, disguised as civilians, had become so accustomed to being shadowed by Gestapo agents in Stockholm that they didn't even bother locking their hotel rooms at night. They were followed everywhere, and their every move was noted by Nazi agents.

Among the passengers were hundreds of interned American airmen, Norwegian soldiers, diplomats, interned nationals and high officials of many governments, including Norwegian, French, Dutch and Russian. On one occasion the personnel of the Norwegian government in exile was flown from London to Sweden.

General Hoag disclosed that one of the most daring operations was the evacuation of some 2,000 trained Norwegian soldiers across German-occupied Norway to Britain, just prior to the invasion of France.

The Swedish government, after negotiations, had approved the release of the Norwegians, but just about the time the first flight was scheduled, it was discovered the Germans had learned of the plan and had started counter-measures.

The Germans alerted at least 250 Luftwaffe night fighters at fields in southern Norway, and had all suspected routes bristling with anti-aircraft and coastal defense guns. But they failed to shoot down a single plane during the operation, which extended over a period of several weeks.

Finds U. S. Public Wants 5,852,000 Refrigerators

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The public wants to buy 5,852,000 mechanical refrigerators, 4,501,000 vacuum cleaners, 3,451,000 sewing machines, 5,085,000 radios, 5,195,000 electric irons, 5,835,000 washing machines.

The war production board's office of civilian requirements says it knows the figures as a result of a nation-wide survey conducted for it by the census bureau.

The demand for these items has increased 25 to 100 per cent in the last year.

U. S. Navy Attack Bomber Crashes and Explodes

TOLEDO, OHIO.—A navy attack bomber, out of control after its pilot had bailed out, crashed and exploded 300 feet from the home of Robert A. Stranahan Jr.

The pilot, identified as Ens. Kenneth Baldwin, 22, St. Louis, stationed at Grosse Ile naval air station, parachuted to the fairway of the Sylvana Country club, two miles from where the plane crashed. He landed near a physician, who stopped playing golf to treat him for head and leg cuts.

One Day Proves a Lot In the Life of a Tot

WORCESTER, MASS.—A soldier's wife telephoned the Worcester Gazette to inquire whether she and her baby could have their pictures taken for the paper's V-photo column.

"Certainly," replied an editor, "can you come in today?"
"No, I can't come today," the woman replied. "The baby's too young."
"Well, how about tomorrow?" kidded the editor.
"Oh, that will be fine," was the response.

U. S. Airmen to Accept British Memorial Plan

LONDON.—The 375th fighter group of the United States 8th air force has accepted a tract from Sir Guy Hambling for a memorial to the fliers' 14 months of combat operations. The land in Yoxford, Suffolk, from which the squadron flew, will be the site of a building preserving mementos of the group. Money, material and labor will be donated by personnel of the group.

Women Pitch In, Load Scrap Tin for Salvage

FRANKFORT, KY.—A hastily recruited group of Frankfort women tossed aside their powder puffs, left their housework and social affairs go and pitched in recently to load 40 tons of scrap tin for shipment to a salvage center. The group of 10 volunteered after County Judge L. Boone Hamilton's plea for workers to load the railroad car produced only a 70-year-old man and a Boy Scout.

HITLER IN PATAGONIA
It may take a long time to find out whether Hitler and his bride Eva Braun escaped to Patagonia. The country is a series of vast Nazi-owned ranches, where German is spoken almost exclusively and where Hitler could be hidden easily and successfully for years.

The ranches in this southern part of Argentina cover thousands of acres and have been under Nazi management for generations. Because of absolute German control, it would be impossible for any non-German to penetrate the area to make a thorough investigation as to Hitler's whereabouts.

Along the coast of Patagonia, many Germans own land which contains harbors deep enough for submarine landings. And if submarines could get to Argentine-Uruguayan waters from Germany, as they definitely did, there is no reason why they could not go a little farther south to Patagonia. Also there is no reason why Hitler couldn't have been on one of them.

Column reported that "Hitler's gang has been working to build up a place of exile in Argentina in case of defeat. After the fall of Stalingrad and then Tunisia, they began to see defeat staring them in the face. That was their cue to move in on Argentina." The same column also cited chapter and verse regarding German-trained officials who ruled the new Argentine dictatorship. At San Francisco, Nelson Rockefeller and Jimmy Dunn insisted that the U. S. A. recognize Argentina.

Note 2—If it ever comes to identifying Hitler, Dr. Robert Kemper, former German police official now living in Lansdowne, Pa., has the answers. Kemper, who was in charge of the investigation after Hitler's beer hall putsch, says that Hitler's right thumb is abnormally long, his right ear pointed on top, and his mouth is very receding. Kemper has turned over his data to U. S. authorities.

MYSTERIOUS PEACE FEELERS

It's being kept very hush-hush, but something important is brewing behind the scenes regarding peace with Japan. Highest officials won't say a word about it, not even to some of their cabinet colleagues.

However, peace feelers which have come from the Japs have been much more than feelers—despite Secretary Grew's denials. One of them was debated by the combined chiefs of staff for more than a week. It proposed that the Japs withdraw from Korea and Manchuria and all China if (1) they could keep the emperor, and (2) they would not be invaded.

Meanwhile, Joe Grew and the army and navy have prepared a directive outlining the minimum terms we would accept from the Japs. This is one of the most highly guarded documents in the government. However, it can be stated on high authority that the Grew peace plan would permit the Japs to retain Emperor Hirohito.

It can also be stated that there is considerable difference of opinion inside the administration regarding the Grew memorandum, and some of his colleagues inside the state department, including Assistant Secretary Will Clayton and Assistant Secretary Dean Acheson, are vigorously opposed.

The whole situation is in a state of flux, and anything can happen overnight.

INSIDE JAPAN

U Jap workers are now being drilled for home defense at noon hours, some even using pointed sticks as spears.

The Japanese railroads are being torn to pieces by B-29s. Rail junctions are clogged for days before traffic can clear through them.

Jap prisoners taken in Burma, Indo-China and the Dutch East Indies haven't the ghost of an idea as to what is happening in Japan. They can't believe that U. S. forces are steaming close to the Jap mainland, still believe the Jap navy will reopen supply lines to the South Pacific.

There is considerable debate inside the U. S. high command regarding the necessity for landing in China. Some think a Chinese invasion is necessary to protect our invasion flank when we land in the main Jap islands. Others believe Chinese invasion would only use tight shipping and result in unnecessary casualties. The easiest way to aid China, they argue, is to defeat Japan quickly, not get bogged down with a long fight on the Chinese mainland.

The entire Jap administrative system has broken down. The Japs have now decentralized their government so every area has its own war production board, its own local defense system, even its own local tax collections.

We have also mined Jap harbors so Jap merchant vessels can hardly get through. . . . Despite the claims of cleaning up northern Luzon, still fighting continues. The Japs are beaten but they don't know it. They are still making things tough for MacArthur's men—despite official communiques.

COUNTY AGENT SAYS:

Dr. J. F. Campbell of O'Donnell came by the County Agent's office last month and reported on his Weeping Lovegrass demonstration. He said this Weeping Lovegrass demonstration was making very nice progress. Dr. Campbell planted around twenty five acres of Weeping Lovegrass last fall on a very sandy plot of ground that he hopes to return to pasture later. Although he received his seed several months late and was unable to get a good stand of the grass he reports that the grass survived the prolonged drouth this summer and is now looking very promising. Weeping Lovegrass is a bunch type perennial recently introduced from South Africa. This grass has made excellent stands and yields in both broadcast strips and rows in various parts of Oklahoma. It has completely controlled weeds or other undesirable competing plants on poor, eroded soil. It is a good seed producer and is easy to establish. It makes a vigorous growth on various soil conditions and has excellent value for erosion control purposes. N. E. Wood of the S. C. S. and Manuel W. Ayres, Lynn County Agent, accompanied Dr. Campbell to his farm where this Weeping Lovegrass was planted last month to observe the progress this grass was making. The opinion of this group was that Weeping Lovegrass is a very promising plant for this area for revegetating eroded and abandoned land.

Co. Agent Urges Silage This Fall

The additional moisture received last week should materially increase our chances at a grain sorghum crop this year. There is quite a large acreage however that was planted so late that there is little hope for a grain crop being harvested from it. With the prospects of a great many acres of young feed that has a very small chance of maturing a grain crop, there is on foot at this time a program to focus our attention upon the value of and need for more silage.

C. W. Jackson, who is in charge of the Farm and Home Radio program is plugging silage on his radio program almost every day. Accord- ing to the present prospects we are faced with a great need for more silage than at any other time. Many farmers with livestock ran out of roughage this year and had to buy expensive roughage when they would ordinarily be taking advantage of summer pasture. A few acres of grain sorghum put in the silo is the best insurance against this condition reoccurring.

Quite a number of letters from county landlords have arrived in the County Agent's office regarding the Johnson grass program in this county. Those who have written in are in agreement with the control program and think that we cannot over emphasize the importance of controlling the grass in this county. Most of the landlords are anxious to do their part in bearing the necessary expenses to control Johnson grass.

People are taking more stock in peace. We hope it isn't watered.

ISAAC'S TESTIMONY TO GOD

LESSON TEXT—Genesis 26:19-33.
GOLDEN TEXT—Blessed be the Lord God, the God of Israel, who only doeth wondrous things.—Psalm 72:18.

A man of peace in a war-torn world may seem to be a bit out of place, but he assuredly is not if the peace he has and promotes is the peace of God.

Our world has seen anew a demonstration of the awful results of the philosophy that might makes right. Violence and bloodshed have been man's way of asserting his supposed or assumed rights. One could hope that we are now ready to recognize that we need a new viewpoint, that patience and meekness are not weakness, that kindness and love are Christian virtues worth emulating and cultivating.

That result can come only if men will recognize Christ as the King of their lives and nations will receive His Word as their law. Let us proclaim His truth and the gospel of His grace anew, and win all we can to Him.

Isaac was a man of peace. He was a rather ordinary man, one of the common people, but his life is both interesting and instructive. He had come through varied experiences of victory and defeat before the time of our lesson. Fearing a famine, and apparently not trusting God at the moment, he had gone down from the promised land to the country of the Philistines, there re-digging the wells which his father Abraham had dug. The result was that he prospered. Ere long, however, envy on the part of his enemies taught Isaac that one may expect

I. Strife in the World (vv. 19-21).
Isaac had prospered, but he was still out of the promised land, and while he was in the land of Philistines he could expect no permanent peace.

We are in the world. We long for peace, and would throw all our influence and service into the cause of bringing a righteous peace to the troubled peoples of the world. But let us not be misled by that desire into the support of unscriptural and impossible peace programs. This world is a sinful world, and as long as that is true, there will be strife and war.

Our business in such a world is to preach the gospel of grace, winning men to Christ, that they may become men of good will. Isaac was such a man, willing to yield even what seemed to be his right, rather than cause contention.

Undoubtedly there are times when one must defend his name and his possessions, but all too often those who do "stand for their rights" have wrecked homes, churches, and nations, and have gained nothing but an empty victory.

The peace of this world is temporary. Is there then no real abiding peace and joy?

II. Joy in God's Fellowship (vv. 22-25).

When Isaac came up into Canaan, the land which God had promised to him, he found real peace and an abiding joy in renewed fellowship with God. Even so, the Christian man and woman who will step out of a spiritually destructive fellowship with the ungodly world and come over wholeheartedly into the spiritual Canaan of full consecration and separate living, will find true peace and satisfying communion with God.

III. Testimony in Right Living (vv. 26-31).

These men were wicked men, even speaking falsehood in their claim of friendship toward Isaac (v. 29). Now that they perceived that God was continually blessing Isaac in spite of their repeated injustice toward him, they decided it would be well to make a covenant of friendship with him. Even those who follow the way of war and aggression cannot deny the effectiveness of true Christian testimony.

Observe also that by his patience and kindness, Isaac ultimately made friends out of his enemies. "It is better to turn enemies into friends than to beat them, and have them enemies still." And so this man with the patient, self-sacrificing spirit brought peace not only to himself, but to those about him, because he believed and trusted God. "When a man's ways pleased the Lord, he maketh even his enemies to be at peace with him" (Prov. 16:7).

IV. Blessing in Service (vv. 32, 33).

The thing to do when the selfishness of others is about to cause strife is to go and "dig another well." If we will do that, we will find that God has been there ahead of us and prepared a rich flow of fresh water with which we may refresh and encourage ourselves.

Isaac's men said, "We have found water," and he then named the place Beersheba, which means "the well of the oath," referring undoubtedly to God's fulfilled promise to bless him. He had found the way of peace, fellowship and blessing, because he had gone God's way.

One Dessert—Many Variations
(See Recipes Below)

Variations on a Theme

I have often thought that most of us would be better cooks if we learned to make a few dishes well instead of gathering hundreds of recipes without ever learning how to do any one of them well enough to set in front of company. Then, if these few dishes get monotonous, there are always good variations to use to make them seem entirely different than the basic recipe.

One woman whom I know frankly admits that the only dessert which she can be certain of turning out "right and proper" is a Bavarian cream. But is it monotonous to have Bavarian cream whenever we go to have dinner with her? No, indeed. Sometimes it turns out to be maple flavored, garnished with pecan nuts. Another time she will cleverly flavor it with chocolate and coffee, a most intriguing combination. Then during the fruit season, she has a spree by adding delicious combinations like pineapple and apricots.

Basic Bavarian Cream.
(Serves 6)

- 1 envelope plain, unflavored gelatin
- 1/4 cup cold water
- 2 egg yolks
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 cup thin cream
- 2 egg whites

Soften gelatin in cold water. Scald milk in top part of double boiler, then gradually add the combined egg yolks, sugar and salt. Return to the double boiler and cook until custard-like in consistence. Remove from heat, add gelatin and stir until dissolved. Add vanilla and cream. Chill, and when mixture begins to thicken, beat until fluffy with rotary egg beater. Fold in stiffly beaten whites. Pour into mold or molds that have been rinsed in cold water. Chill until firm. When ready to serve, unmold and garnish as desired.

Bavarian Cream Variations.

Maple Bavarian: Make above recipe using shaved maple sugar in place of white sugar. One dozen cut marshmallows may be added or 1/2 cup chopped pecans or walnuts.

Butterscotch: Omit white sugar. Cook 1/2 cup brown sugar with 2 tablespoons butter and add this to hot custard.

Chocolate Rice: Beat 3 tablespoons cocoa into 1 cup cooked rice and fold into bavarian mixture.

Fruit Bavarian: Fold 1 cup diced fruit into bavarian cream after it starts to thicken.

Chocolate Bavarian: Add 2 squares melted, unsweetened chocolate or 6 tablespoons cocoa to scalded milk. Continue as directed. If a slight flavor of coffee is desired with the chocolate, substitute 1 tablespoon cold, boiled coffee for 1 tablespoon of the milk.

Coffee Bavarian: Substitute 1/2 cup cold, boiled coffee for 1/2 cup milk and add 1 tablespoon lemon juice.

Ice cream comes in for many delicious variations, too, if you have a good basic recipe:

- Custard Base Ice Cream.
- 2 cups milk
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 2 tablespoons cornstarch
- 3 eggs
- 1 cup heavy cream
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

Scald 1 1/2 cups milk and add all but 2 tablespoons of the sugar to it. Add cornstarch and salt to remaining 1/2 cup milk. Add to milk which has been heated in top part of double boiler, stirring occasionally. Beat 3 egg yolks and 1 white, add the hot custard and return to double boiler to cook for 5 minutes. Chill. Beat 2 egg whites with the remaining sugar until stiff and add to chilled custard with vanilla. Finally add cream which has been beaten until thick but not stiff. Freeze without stirring.

Ice Cream Variations.
Banana: Crush three bananas through potato ricer, adding 2 tablespoons lemon juice. Add to custard before adding egg white.

Caramel: Heat the sugar of the above recipe in heavy skillet stirring until melted and light brown in color. Add 1/2 cup water and stir until smooth. Cook the cornstarch with the milk and salt and add the caramel plus 1 tablespoon of sugar. Proceed as directed above.

Chocolate: Melt 1 1/2 to 2 tablespoons of chocolate over hot water adding to custard while hot.

Coffee: Scald 1/2 cup finely ground coffee in the milk, then strain through three thicknesses of cheesecloth. Proceed as above, adding 1/2 teaspoon almond flavoring.

Mint: Add 1/2 teaspoon mint extract for vanilla. Tint the ice cream a delicate green. Or, if mint extract is not available, melt 1 cup crushed or ground mints in milk. Tint pink or green, as desired.

Peach: Add 1 cup crushed peaches, 1/2 cup sugar and 1/4 teaspoon almond extract. Omit vanilla.

Now we come to an interesting variation in the meat department. When you want to dress up pork chops for company, here are two excellent suggestions. They are stuffed to stretch the meat.

Pork Chops I.

- 6 thick pork chops (cut pocket alongside bone)
  - 2 cups toasted bread cubes
  - Salt and pepper to taste
  - 2 tablespoons parsley
  - 4 tablespoons fat
  - 1 can tomato soup
- Stuff pork chops with toasted bread cubes and parsley. Pin together with a toothpick. Sear chops on both sides in skillet. Season with salt and pepper, add tomato soup, cover and cook over low heat for 45 to 60 minutes.

Pork Chops II.

- 6 thick pork chops, cut for stuffing
  - 1 1/2 cups cooked rice
  - 2 pimientos, shredded
  - Salt and pepper to taste
  - 2 tablespoons lard or substitute
- Stuff pork chops with a well seasoned mixture of rice and pimientos. Pin with toothpick. Sear chops until golden brown. Season with salt and pepper, and add 1/2 cup water, cover tightly, and cook until tender.

Tax on Whiskers

Americans who groan under their heavy tax load may be glad they were not living in Russia in the days of Peter the Great. To raise more money he put a tax on whiskers and compelled his subjects to pin their tax receipts to their beards.

The Country Editor

If we, as a free people, are to maintain our freedom of choice, freedom from bureaucratic nitwits, we must solve our social problems on a community and a county level. A central government, growing stronger every year, is always ready and eager to step in and establish a bureau to "solve" a problem that the community, or the county, or the state is too indifferent to solve.

Eddie Hill has recently returned from a visit to Amburst and he is well informed concerning the operation of that community's co-operative clinic and hospital. Operation of that civic enterprise has reduced medical treatment costs by about 75 per cent. We all know that a few weeks of hospital bills can wipe out the average family's savings. Social medicine is just around the corner -- in fact it is here in a limited fashion. Take for example the great success of the Blue Cross plan. Man is stepping out of the dark into a new era of preventive medicine. In the future we will pay the doctor to keep us well -- not to assist us in regaining health that is lost.

It is one of the crying shames of today that Lynn County does not have a County Health Nurse and a program to encourage preventive medicine. Dawson, as well as most Plains counties, have such an organization.

With our school year approaching every school child needs a medical check-up to determine the exact condition of eyes, teeth, etc. What price social progress? If a personal observation be permitted we wish to cite the great degree of civic pride of the citizens of Utah. In the early '90's, when the then Indian territory of Utah was being settled by the great Church of the Latter Day Saints. These folks were isolated from civilization by a thousand miles of desert and mountains. It was either co-operate and develop on a community scale or face disaster. For three years we lived in Utah and there saw community cooperation at its best. During the great depression of the '30's not a relief agency was to be found in the state. Those with plenty shared with those less fortunate. Every community of the size of O'Donnell had a community hospital where persons of all ages receive check-ups twice a year. More could be written on this experiment in true "Golden Rule" government.

Let us earnestly consider in the post-war era having a community owned health center. O'Donnell is the last town of any size on the Plains without such a project. Wouldn't this be a brave memorial to our Service Men? Service above self on a community wide basis. It makes your imagination run wild to think what a glorious community we may have.

Good mechanics are economists. Whether a workman is a competent millwright or a graduate mechanical engineer, he is an enemy of lost motion. And lost motion is a menace to prosperity, serious as fire. When an engine is running idle it is only wearing out. When a machine is driven with its brakes on, the waste is even more damaging; property is injured and energy thrown away.

What is true of a mechanical assembly is true of a human organization in this respect. The owners of a farm or the stockholders of a corporation are no penny richer for having a crew that works hard all day doing nothing. Work is necessary on a farm; sweat and calluses are only incidental; it's the crop that brings in the money and pays the men who till the land.

Prosperity results from work but not from all work. Prosperity results from productive work. People who keep busy but do not increase the yield might as well be resting. The man who figures out a way to increase yield without extra labor is the best man on the job. He works with his brain; knows enough to stop lost motion, to take precautions against fire and the like.

In England there is a magazine called The Economist. It is Britain's leading financial publication. It is read and respected by business men and financiers generally. Just recently it has been running a series of articles entitled "A Policy for Wealth." The articles have shown why England is poor; that is, why the English people must put up with low living standards.

A large and respected group of Americans often say "Mother England." The British are a proud and industrious people and the Americans respect them. The British well understand how to enjoy and appreciate life's good things. They deserve to live as well as anybody but they don't. What's the reason? Well, here's what one writer for The Economist, looking back at 1943, has to say:

"Industrial efficiency, as measured by production per head, was roughly similar in Great Britain and Germany while in the United States it was more than twice as great as in the other two countries." The statement is that of Dr. Leon Rostas, based on serious study of authentic records. Now there is a movement on foot in England to double her productive output per man by 1972.

No longer ago than 1943, when America and England both had full employment, our American workers were twice as well off. They were producing enough to live twice as well as the British. About that time Britain was investing only 3% of her income in equipment for additional production. It was like a woodman saying, "Why buy a file? A dull saw pulls easier."

The British point to Americans and say, "Look! They work less, earn more and live better than we, all because they encourage more investment in tools to produce more goods per man." Now England wisely plans to encourage larger investments to obtain greater production per man-hour, higher wages and higher living standards. Unless we adjust today's tax laws, we will be poor, watching the British produce and prosper in 1972.

SUCCESS IN CONTROLLING DISEASE

Austin, Texas -- The State Health Department's campaign to control venereal disease in Texas is showing highly gratifying results in the number of cases found, and cured in the quarantine and rapid treatment centers.

This campaign, Dr. Cox declared, has helped to keep venereal disease infections from spreading and has played a major part in aiding servicemen and civilian industrial workers to stay on the job. In fact, many days lost thru such infections, in the armed forces and in industry, have been brought to an all time low and Texas can list this gratifying result among its contributions to the nation's military and industrial achievements.

In a report this week, Dr. Cox disclosed that approximately 1,999 infectious cases are being treated annually and dismissed as non-infectious in the six rapid treatment centers now in operation. Located at San Antonio, Corpus Christi, Mineral Wells, El Paso, Waco, and Overton, these hospitals have a combined capacity of 525 beds.

MAHON TELLS ABOUT ATOM BOMB

Following the announcement President Truman of the new atomic bomb, Congressman George Mahon made known some of the facts in connection with the production of this deadly and spectacular weapon.

The eight man subcommittee Military Appropriations of the Mahon is a member provided funds for the project without making known to Congress such an undertaking was in operation.

In commenting on the new bomb Mahon said, "Our country has been working on the project for more than three years. General Marshall assured us of his faith in the faith of the President and backed it, providing the funds, and that if the two billion dollar experiment was a success it would shorten the war and save lives, apparently is what is to happen."

Finally after months of patient waiting for the production of the first bomb, Secretary of War Stimson came to the capital with five members of our committee. He said that the first bomb about to be produced were better 99 per cent. He requested that we proceed immediately to Oak Ridge, Tennessee and inspect the plant there. We were flown to the plant and escorted thru the different facilities by Major General Groves, manager, and a group of scientific experts in the high speed project. It was unbelievably and the complicated process for production of the bomb were being. We were cautioned as to secrecy and shown the whole process. The processes are not only secret they are incomprehensible to laymen. The final product is an inoffensive looking substance, its power defies description. It is up to the President to decide how much information can be made public.

The bomb has such terrific power it poses a threat to civilization itself. America must stay far ahead scientific research or face destruction. Our plans for future production must be well laid. We must insist upon an organization world peace. We must demand and make it work. That is the hope for civilization.

Apparently most talking men believe in keeping their powder dry.
