

TULE LAKE

Fabulous Crops Being Produced On Dry 90,000-Acre Lake Bed

Modern pioneers have struck pay dirt in the now dry bed of a 90,000-acre lake near the California-Oregon border. Instead of rich ores, in the past five years they have taken $27,000,000 from the rich soil in the form of Klamath potatoes, malted barley and clover.

The new farmers, most of them veterans of Uncle Sam's fighting forces, homesteaded and developed the area, after the waters of shallow Tule Lake had been drained by the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation.

At first, even the surrounding terrain was inhospitable. It lies on a 4,000-foot high plateau, rimmed by rugged mountains and the desolate Modoc lava beds.

But the soil was fabulously rich, and needed only irrigation water and the hard work of the willing veterans to eventually transform the area into a prosperous, modern, comfortable agricultural community.

This is a typical field of barley nearing maturity in the Tule Lake homestead area. The old shoreline of the lake can be clearly seen at the base of the hills in the background.

Star Dust

By INEZ GERHARD

EVER after appearing in more than 25 pictures John Beal was still hoping for a big break, the one role that would take him straight to the top. It was given to him by Stanley Kramer, the star maker; Kramer called him, in New York, to ask if he'd like to play the prison psychologist in "My Six Convicts", at Columbia. Beal says he reacted very calmly—except that he still has a lump on his head from hitting the ceiling of his hotel room. Between films he has done radio, television, and appeared on the New York stage; two plays he starred in were bought for the movies, but someone else was given the roles he created.

Just how valuable are movie stars in radio? "Pulse of New York", a top research organization, has reported the result of its survey. The week all those M-G-M programs featuring such stars as Bette Davis, Ann Sothern, Lionel Barrymore and

Truman Will Be in Ring Fighting for Nomination

By Wright A. Patterson

AT A PRESIDENT'S PRESS conference in Washington, with the bright and shining lights of the nation's correspondents in attendance, Harry S. Truman stated he would not reveal his political plans until the last week in April. The Democratic primaries for United States senator from Missouri will be held the last week in April, and the all-ways-awake newspaper boys immediately popped at the President the question: "Do you intend to enter the race for that senatorial post?" but he would not say.

They knew he could not seek both the presidential and the senatorial nominations. Those newspaper correspondents figured that as a democratic presidential candidate, he might be beaten. As a democratic senatorial candidate in Missouri he would have a far better chance of winning. They knew that as a Missouri senator he had been far happier than as president.

They jumped at conclusions and wired their papers that he would attempt to secure the Missouri senatorial nomination, but the President had not said he would make such an attempt.

The correspondents pointed to the fact that he could not have both nominations and that he was never happier than when serving as Missouri's United States senator about the close of World War I and as chairman of a committee to renegotiate army war contracts through which he saved the government large sums. There were no criminal charges involved then as there have been in the internal revenue scandals, which, as President, he has not cleaned up.

As a Missouri senator he cannot continue to be the big boss of the Democratic party. He would have to listen to others, and that would not be acceptable. The President likes the sound of coins jingling in his pockets. He has not turned his salary back to the treasury as did Hoover.

He has spent his $50,000 expense money, and he paid no tax on it, nor was the account audited. He has enjoyed the privilege of using the President's yacht as a diversion; he has appreciated having his boon companion General Vaughn in the White House to distribute deep freezes. He likes to spend his winter holidays at the Key West naval base, which he could not do as a Missouri senator, but can continue to do as President. Such are some of the prerequisites he would have to surrender when he quits the job of President. And then, instead of living in the rent free White House, he would have to again pay rent.

Now what would he gain by a switch from the presidential to a senatorial job—if he could get that? It is only reasonably possible that he could. Instead of a $50,000 untaxable, un-audited, expense account, he would have only $12,500, quite some difference. Instead of some 1,200 White House employees to do his bidding, he would have one, probably Bess as his secretary. And her salary could be added to the family income. He would just

THE FICTION CORNER

SHARE ALIKE

By Richard Hill Wilkinson

3-Minute Fiction

THE second week after they reached the cabin on Wolf Creek, Sid Condon, exploring a tributary alone, found gold. He spent half a day estimating the value of the find. It was a pocket and would probably net a total take of between $40,000 and $50,000. Sid filled his pipe and sat down to meditate. The thing to do, of course, was to get Duke Brandon, his partner, clean out the placer, and hit for Big Rock settlement before the snow came.

Sid sucked on his pipe, and his eyes grew crafty. Into his mind there came a picture of thin-lipped Duke Brandon. Why should he share this find with Duke? A man with $40,000 could retire and live for the rest of his days in comfort. A man with only half that amount would have to scrimp. Forty thousand dollars!

Duke Brandon was in a surly mood that night. He had had no luck. The food supply was getting low. Snow would come soon. Why not quit now while their chances of getting out were good?

"Wait a week," Sid urged. "Might as well make sure we ain't missin' anything."

So Duke was prevailed upon. The next morning they started out again in opposite directions. Sid went south, circled west and came to his claim. Working feverishly he panned a handful of gold and carried it up stream a half mile, caching it beneath a large moss-covered rock.

The next day and the next and the next it was the same. Duke Brandon took a small sack from his pocket and filled it full with the dull, yellow dust. His breathing was heavy as he knelt there. His eyes glowered feverishly. He knotted the sack together and rose from his knees—and stopped dead still.

Sid Condon was standing not 15 feet away. Sid's left hand contained a sack similar to the one in Duke's. It was not full, but the bulge was evidence enough as to its contents. For split seconds the two men stared at each other. Significance of the meaning of the situation dawned slowly in their sluggish brains.

Sid Condon's lips flattened against his teeth. His eyes narrowed to slits.

"So!" he cried hoarsely. "So! This is how it is! Partners, eh?" "Partners," Duke Brandon echoed. "Partners!" he repeated in ugly scorn. "You louse!" Sid Condon laughed harshly. He was bigger than the other man, and he felt confident.

With the speed of a snake his hand flashed to his hip where hung the revolver. His finger contracted on the trigger and flame belched from its muzzle.

With the speed of a snake his hand flashed to his hip where hung the revolver.

There must be $30,000 worth of metal in the cache. Half of that was his, according to the unwritten law. The other half—but what could a man do with a mere $15,000?

Sid Condon saw his partner's body jerk convulsively, and he knew he had scored a hit; knew it only dimly though, for the sound of his own gun had come from a great distance, and there was a drumming and pounding in his ears. He sank to his knees, and through the haze of his vision he saw that Duke Brandon was also on his knees.

Then he knew that Duke had equalled him in speed at the draw. They lay, so close they could almost touch, each holding firmly to a sack of gold; lay and cursed and were eventually silent while the silvery stream rippled on, and might finally ebb.

Department of Commerce Reports Personal Incomes at $251 Billion

ELIZABETH II—At first glance it would not seem important to the average American home towner that a young woman has assumed the duties of Queen of Great Britain and the British Commonwealth of Nations. But it is important and may have a great bearing on the future of many people in the cross-road towns of this country. It is around this young woman—Elizabeth II—the British people will rally in their last-chance fight against bankruptcy and breakup.

In the last 15 years the empire has been breaking up like a ship drifting in stormy seas. As recently as 1938 the empire was able to pay its way in international commerce.

Today, however, Britain is the debtor of the world. And a complete break-down of British economy would be felt in the cross-roads of America. Britain's present situation is almost entirely due to World War II. To win that struggle she sacrificed most of the money she had saved at the peak of her power when she directly ruled 450 million people. She spent many of her overseas investments to pay for guns and food.

In addition, the war altered the balance of power in the world, making the United States and Russia the dominant powers. Here again Britain becomes important to the United States because she is an ally by history, treaty and language.

So, the new Queen becomes a symbol of unity in the empire and an important figure in the balance of power between the United States and Russia. She is the figure around which the British people will rally. Whether she succeeds or fails is of vital importance to this country economically and politically.

CONTROLS—The fight is on. It began when President Truman requested an unenthusiastic congress to strengthen anti-inflation controls and extend the Defense Production Act for another two years—until the middle of 1954.

Again the President slashed out at the Capehart, Herlong, and Butler-Hope amendments which he unsuccessfully attempted to have appended last session. He also swung a haymaker at congress generally by declaring "most people" already are having trouble paying present prices and congress should devote itself not to legislative formulas for raising prices, but instead to finding ways of moving prices downward.

The President's strong language caused many of the legislators to believe the chief executive was making 1952 campaign material. Controls and inflation are touchy subjects they know from experience. They also know they must take some kind of action that will impress the people in the home towns, but how they will get around the pressure groups, if they do, is another question.

PERSONAL INCOME—The Department of Commerce reports total personal incomes of Americans in 1951 was 251 billion dollars, 12 per cent above 1950. The department said that by the end of 1951 total individual incomes had advanced to an annual rate of 257 billion, compared with 238 billion at the end of 1950.

Except for a steady increase in farm income and in government salaries, other phases of the economy reported on showed incomes had become stabilized over the past six months.

The department reported the biggest increase was in government payrolls. They jumped by 33 per cent to an annual total of 29 billion. Farm incomes increased almost 25 per cent to a total of 17 billion. Higher farm prices accounted for most of the increase, the report said, but there was also slightly increased production.

In private industry, payrolls increased from 123 1/4 billion in 1950 to 140 billion. Increased employment and higher wage rates were credited with the increase.

VETERAN TRAINING—Since enactment of the original GI bill, 7 1/2 million veterans in the United States have taken advantage of its educational and vocational training provision, a house committee studying new legislation for Korean veterans reports. The bill's educational provisions—by far the most widely used and most expensive benefits—have cost the taxpayers $12,347,162,546 as of July, 1951.

Subsistence payments to veterans in school amounted to $6,645,203.670. Educational institutions received $3,276,046,930 in payment for tuition. Other payments for books and supplies (including tools for veterans in trade schools) came to $425,911,946.

Although not begrudging the money to veterans, the committee reported "graft and waste plagued the program" and an excessive number of VA employees took bribes, gifts, unusual loans, gratuities, services and ownership in schools.

Under the new bill just introduced in congress payments of all educational benefits will be made in a lump sum directly to the veteran. Single men would get $110 a month. Married veterans would receive $150.

FOREIGN AID—Fearing congress may severely cut foreign aid funds, the United States has warned European leaders to agree quickly on plans for a European defense force, including German troops, if they want to increase their possibility of getting economic assistance.

Secretary of State Acheson and other administration leaders feel that congress may become stubborn over foreign aid funds if they can not show real progress in European unity and the incorporating of German troops in the defense plan.

The growing movement to draft General Eisenhower for the GOP presidential nominee, got a big shot in the arm with a Madison Square Garden rally. The Texas delegation is shown on its arrival in Penn station in New York. It was estimated over 15,000 people attended the whooping-up rally.

FARM REVOLUTION

Big Drop in Farm Labor Is Forecast

Increasing use of chemicals on American farms is expected to displace about 3 1/2 million farm workers by 1970, a senate labor-management relations subcommittee said in a recent report.

Conducted by Dr. Francis J. Weiss for the subcommittee, the study reported "we are at the threshold of a new era that promises plentiful food and fiber, but is also fraught with the dangers of economic and social disruption against which we have to prepare our nation no less than against the dangers of armed aggression."

Weiss' report says chemical and mechanical labor-saving devices will reduce farm workers from the 1950 level of 9,320,000 to 7,785,000—a 17 per cent drop—by 1960 and another 2 million by 1970.

Farm Bureau Drive Ends
April 1st

Officers, directors, and a few workers of Lynn County Farm Bureau held their annual membership drive "kick-off" dinner, heard a thought-provoking talk, and made plans for opening their permanent office Monday night at the American Legion hall.

Workers are now out signing up old members and securing new ones. The organization, the only one designed for the purpose of fighting the farmers' battles, hopes to secure a membership of 500 to 600 this year.

The workers securing the most members will receive a $25.00 prize. President Jay Moore announced, and other leaders will be presented certificates. Elmer Blankenship is the membership chairman.

The organization is opening a temporary office at Tahoka Co-op in, where a secretary will be maintained to carry on the business of the organization. One of the services offered farmers will be the filling out of gas exemption forms free of charge to all farmers. Another is insurance service.

A delicious chicken dinner was served to the men Monday night prepared by two ladies and arranged by Blankenship and Guy Smith.

Officers and directors of Tahoka Chamber of Commerce were guests, and Charles Verner, president, spoke briefly pledging full cooperation of the Chamber of Commerce to anything the farmers wanted. He said the Tahoka body recognized farming as our one and only means of existence and called attention to the fact that a farmer who works in the farm Bureau, Hubert Tankersely, had served as president of the Chamber of Commerce, and that another, Fred McGinty, is a present director.

President Jay Moore presided at the meeting. J. R. Strain gave the invocation.

The principal address was by Sam Allen, Dawson County Farm Bureau president and Poka-Lambro coordinator.

Mr. Allen told briefly of the rain increasing project and the progress of the rural telephone co-operation.

He then presented an address in two parts, one he entitled "A message to city people" and the other "Examine the sick Patient."

In the first part of his talk he defended the farmer's alleged part in the rising cost of living. The rising costs, he said, are frequently charged to the farmers, which is not true. The farmers compose but 18 percent of our population. He defended support prices, and presented facts and figures to show that the price of farm products is not causing the continue rise in prices generally.

As an example, he said in 1947, somebody figured out that a bale of cotton sold by the farmer for $150 produced bankerchiefs that retailed for $6,000. Somewhere between the producer and the consumer is the wide spread of increase, he indicated.

In the second part, he made a plea for the people to wake up if they hope to continue the democratic way of life. He cited efforts of the Executive Branch to put over the fair Employment practices act, the national health insurance (socialized medicine), the recent refusal to grant access to records of Government men accused of disloyalty, the threat to freedom of speech and of the press by placing a "gag" on department heads.

He criticized the Supreme Court for not permitting Attorney General Price Daniel of Texas to present the treaty under which Texas was admitted to the Union, or to present other documentary evidence in the Tidelands Case.

He also discussed the Brannan plan for agriculture, which he termed socialistic, the Interior Department's attempt to limit the size of farms in a reclamation project, and the attitude of the Secretary of the Labor toward farm labor.

Following the meeting, officers and workers laid their plans for the membership campaign.

Team Pancakes with Rosy Scrambled Eggs
(See Recipes Below)

Serve Pancakes

STACK THEM FOR breakfast, luncheon, dinner or supper — pancakes, of course! These versatile cakes, made thick or thin according to your taste will go to any meal.

Make them plain for the morning and serve with breakfast meats, plenty of syrup. Then, if you like pancakes as a main dish, add eggs or meat to the menu to serve as an accompaniment.

With very sweet sauces, whipped cream, confectioners' sugar, berries or fruit or jelly, pancakes make a lovely but simple dessert.

Have your griddle so hot that drops of water will skip around on it. It takes only a few seconds to brown one side of the cake and have it puffy and full of bubbles when the griddle's properly heated. Before the bubbles break, turn the pancakes, if you want them light.

Pancakes are easily made thick or thin by adjusting the liquid in the batter. Have them to your taste!

Here's a dish that goes to breakfast, luncheon, supper or snack with equal ease:

Pancakes, Rosy Scrambled Eggs
(Serves 7-8)

- Pancakes
2 cups pancake ready-mix
2 cups milk
- Scrambled Eggs:
6 eggs
2 teaspoons salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons butter or substitute
- 1 1/2 cups well drained, canned whole tomatoes

Add milk to unsifted ready-mix all at once and stir lightly. Somewhat lumpy batter makes light, fluffy cakes. Pour 1/4 cup batter for each pancake onto a hot, lightly-greased griddle. Bake to a golden brown, turning once. Keep pancakes hot in the oven while making scrambled eggs.

To make scrambled eggs, beat eggs, salt and pepper with a rotary egg beater until foamy. Melt butter in frying pan; add eggs and cook over low heat until eggs are thickened but still moist. Cut tomatoes in wedges and fold into eggs.

To serve, put two pancakes together sandwich fashion with scrambled eggs between and over the top.

Here are pancakes that are served with sausage, but this is a bit unusual for the sausage is used for a spicy sauce which is spooned between the cakes:

Spicy Meat-Filled Pancakes
(Makes 14-16 Pancakes)

- Sauce:
1 pound pork sausage meat
1/2 cup chopped onion
1/2 cup chopped celery
1 tablespoon flour
1 cup tomato juice
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon brown sugar
- Pancakes:
2 cups pancake ready-mix
2 cups milk

To make sauce, brown pork sausage meat slowly; pour off fat. Add

LYNN SAYS:
Here are Baking Tips That Assure Success
Pastry and biscuits will brown more readily if they are brushed lightly with milk before baking. Pies will be attractive if they're sprinkled with a bit of granulated sugar after brushing with milk.
Prevent berry pies from running over by not having too much juice in the pie if canned berries are used. For fresh berries, dust them lightly with flour before placing in the crust.

vegetables to meat and brown lightly. Stir in flour. Add remaining ingredients and combine thoroughly. Cover and cook slowly for one-half hour.

For pancakes, add milk to ready-mix all at once and stir lightly. Bake on lightly greased griddle, using 1/4 cup batter for each cake, turning only once. Put two or three pancakes together with sauce between and over them.

Those who like old-fashioned buckwheat cakes for breakfast will enjoy these which can be set in the evening for rising overnight. Since the recipe makes a large quantity, all the batter need not be used at once, but may be kept in a cool place.

Buckwheat Cakes
(Makes 24 cakes)

- 1 cake compressed or 1 package dry yeast
3 tablespoons molasses
2 1/2 cups lukewarm water
1 cup milk
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
2 cups buckwheat flour
1 cup sifted white flour
Dissolve yeast in lukewarm water; when thoroughly dissolved, add molasses. Scald milk, add salt and cool to lukewarm. Add yeast, then stir in buckwheat and white flour gradually. Beat until smooth. Cover and let rise in a warm place overnight. Stir down and bake on hot, greased griddle. If some batter is kept for later use, add to it 1/4 teaspoon soda before using.

Pancakes for dessert should be small and thin. You'll want to use several for each serving, of course. Here's a recipe that makes them thin, tender and delicious:

Dessert Pancakes
(Makes 30 3-inch cakes)

- 1 cup milk
2 tablespoons butter
2 eggs, beaten
1/2 cup sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt

Heat together milk and butter in a saucepan. When slightly cooled, beat in eggs, flour, baking powder and salt. Beat until smooth. Bake in a small skillet, pouring some batter in lightly greased pan and tilting to cover the bottom evenly. Cook for one minute, then turn and cook other side until lightly browned. These pancakes may have to be turned several times to brown them evenly.

Honey Sauce for Pancakes
(Makes 1 1/2 cups)

- 1 cup strained honey
1/2 cup maple syrup
1 teaspoon cinnamon
Mix together honey and syrup in top of double boiler. When thoroughly heated, remove from fire and blend in cinnamon. Serve hot over dessert pancakes.

Custards will not be so watery if they're baked in a pan of water which will help keep the baking temperature more moderate.

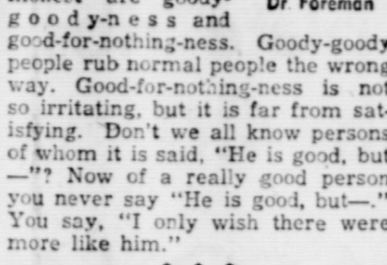

If you want cakes and breads to rise well, do not grease the sides of the pan in which they're being baked.

Freshen your muffins, biscuits and rolls in the oven by placing them in one pan which is then placed in a pan of water and let heat through. The steam from the water will prevent them from drying too much.

Talent for Goodness
Lesson for March 2, 1952

MANY people can paint, or swim, or who have no special talent for painting or swimming. So, many people are good who do not seem to have a special talent for goodness. This talent is not so common as we all wish it were. Goodness, real goodness, has many limitations. Two of the commonest are goody-goody-ness and good-for-nothing-ness. Goody-goody people rub normal people the wrong way. Good-for-nothing-ness is not so irritating, but it is far from satisfying. Don't we all know persons of whom it is said, "He is good, but—" Now of a really good person you never say "He is good, but—" You say, "I only wish there were more like him."

Dr. Foreman

He Chose to Help
SUCH a man was Barnabas, one of the leaders of the first Christian church. He was called "our beloved Barnabas" not by a single congregation but by a great church council. The whole Christian family of his time thought of him as "our Barnabas," and they loved him.

He was not what you would call a specially gifted man. He was very impressive in personal appearance, for we know that among superstitious people he was taken for Jupiter or Zeus, the most powerful of the Greek gods. But he was not a gifted speaker, and if he wrote anything we do not hear of it.

His one great gift, his God-given talent, was goodness. He is described as a "good man, full of the Holy Spirit and of faith." He is first heard of as a property-owner who sold his land and turned over the proceeds for the benefit of his fellow Christians. He was one of those who "called not anything their own" but contributed all they had.

He Could Take a Back Seat

IF I can't be corn I don't want to be shucks" is a proverb Julius Caesar might have thought of if he had been a farmer instead of a general. Once that famous man was marching through a miserable little mountain village and one of his aides said something about "this hole." The general turned on him: "I would rather be first in this village," he said, "than second in Rome."

Most of us know how old J. C. felt, because most of us are not very good. But a really good person never feels that way. Your imitation-good person will take a back seat hoping soon to get his invitation to come up higher, and if he doesn't get it he will feel very peevish about the whole business.

A truly good person will be just as contented with the back seat if there is an abler man in the front seat. Now Barnabas was a good man, and he could take a back seat gracefully, could even do what is most difficult, resign from the front and slip into the rear.

He and Paul were the first missionary team in Christian history. During the time of their work together in the city of Antioch, and at the time the church commissioned them as missionaries, they are mentioned as "Barnabas and Saul." But, when they came back from that journey they were "Paul and Barnabas" and so they remained.

Paul was Barnabas' protegee, his pupil, his assistant; and some men would be mightily irritated if their smart young assistants push into first place; but not Barnabas. He had that talent for goodness which includes being glad to play second fiddle to a better musician.

He Could See God

BARNABAS had another rare quality found in pure goodness: he could see good in others that was not on the surface. When Saul had just been converted everybody in Jerusalem thought he was faking; but Barnabas was the first to take him by the hand and believe in him.

When the church at Antioch, an inter-racial experiment, was worrying the old-line church at Jerusalem, Barnabas was sent up to look the situation over. Where others saw only a doubtful experiment, Barnabas "saw the grace of God and was glad."

Barnabas was the leader who recognized he could not do everything alone; he was the one who went after Paul and gave him his first real chance to become a Christian leader. Later on, when Paul wanted to fire young Mark as a quitter, Barnabas believed in him—and turned out to be right, too. It takes the truly good to see goodness!

Economical Cough Relief! Try This Home Mixture

No Cooking. Makes Big Saving.
To get quick and satisfying relief from coughs due to colds, mix this recipe in your kitchen.
First, make a syrup with 2 cups granulated sugar and one cup of water. No cooking needed. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.
Then get 2 1/2 ounces of Fines from any drugist. This is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well-known for its quick action on throat and bronchial irritations.
Put Fines into a pint bottle, and fill up with your syrup. Thus you make a full pint of splendid medicine—about four times as much for your money. It never spoils, and tastes fine.
And for quick, blessed relief, it is surprising. You can feel it take hold in a way that means business. It loosens phlegm, soothes irritated membranes, eases soreness. Makes breathing easy, and lets you get restful sleep. Just try it, and if not pleased, your money will be refunded.
FOR EXTRA CONVENIENCE GET NEW READY-MIXED, READY-TO-USE PINEX!

IF PETER PAIN PUMMELS YOU WITH Back Ache

CPL. SEAY WRITES . . .

Jan. 30th
Dear folks,
Here I am again with a few more lines this Wednesday noon. Everything is going just fine. The sea is a little rough today. I have not gotten sea sick any more. Just finished eating dinner. I have not cooked any yet. Maybe I won't have to until I get overseas.
We got up at this morning and had chow, then we had to go up on deck until after inspection which was at 10, then we had a fire and boat drill. I guess it is a good thing to have. The sun was trying to shine a little this morning and it is not as cold as I thought it would be. This is our 4th day at sea and I don't know how much longer it will take. Not many of the boys are sick today; everyone seems to be making it just fine. One of the boys had not eaten anything since Sunday, being seasick. I went to the movie yesterday and saw "Bright, Victory".
There are about 10 dogs in cages on deck. They have a certain time to walk them around and feed them and I saw a cat on deck this morning. It sure seems funny to stand on deck and watch the big waves as the boat rides over them. You won't come as near getting sick if you stand on deck where you can get fresh air.
