

Child Labor Laws Are In Force This Year

Of interest to the farmers is the fact that the Federal law on child labor are the same this year as they were last year. Briefly, if a child is in session in the district school in the child care and sleep hours the child care and sleep hours the child care and sleep hours...

A Word From Supt. John Morris On Sporting Behavior

SPORTSMANSHIP, CITIZENSHIP, FOOTBALL, AND WHICH WAY ARE WE HEADING? FOOTBALL, HARD LOSERS, FOOTBALL.

Persons and Friends of the O'Donnell Schools: If we are to receive what we should from our SPORTS PROGRAM we must think deeply on just what we are trying to do for our boys and girls and then make up our minds just the best way to do it. As I consider the Athletic Program of the school it is not the main feature but is only one of the many extra-curricular activities that have been developed to offer a better balanced program for the growing boy or girl.

Introducing Our New Teachers...

Mr Williams

W. B. WILLIAMS, our new Junior High Principal is formerly from Brown County. He was born and reared at May. After finishing high school there, he entered Howard Payne college taking his B A degree and later doing M S work from Hardin Simmons. In the summer of 1950 he attended Texas State University doing post graduate work.

Mr. Williams has had quite a colorful career as a school man. He has taught 2 years as a classroom teacher and has had 23 years experience as a superintendent, 12 in Taylor county, five years in Brown county and four years in Comanche and Mills county. Next to teaching Mr Williams likes sports, his favorite being basketball. His teams have won three consecutive district championships.

He is a Lion, a Mason and is married, his wife being the former Miss Ima Grace Cadenhead, also a graduate of Howard Payne. Mr. Williams is teaching one section of the 6th grade. Their two children, Sandra Jane, 13, and Jerry Wray, 10, are finding life full of fun and work in O'Donnell.

Our town extends a most cordial welcome to the Williams family. Mr and Mrs Billy Barber of Big Spring spent last Saturday night with Mr and Mrs Robert Kendrick. Visiting Mr and Mrs Orbin Rushing this week were her brother Mr and Mrs Jim Miller, Mr and Mrs Bud Crawford and children of Oklahoma City and Mrs Katie Hambrick of Lubbock.

Deputy Dee Reese To Resign Nov. 1st

To The People of O'Donnell: Due to the business that am now engaged in, I find it impossible to continue as your Deputy Sheriff. My resignation was submitted to the Sheriff of Lynn County Oct. 1st to be effective Nov. 1st.

I wish to take this opportunity to express my appreciation for your cooperation in this work. Since I have spent two seasons in your community as a grain buyer, I feel that for my betterment I should stay in this field of work.

The first of the month I leased the former Holcomb elevator from Economy Mills of Lubbock. I will be operating under the name of O'Donnell Grain Co. I am in business for myself this year and am looking for all my customers I have had in the past two years.

Respectfully yours, W. D. Reese

Officers Make Another Big Fall Haul

Maybe the crops ain't up to par but fall is here by the showing of the local police docket. Sheriff deputy Dee Reese reported 9 Mexican women on vice charges, a negro bootlegger arrested for the second time in a week, a big liquor haul. A truck owned by a local latin was being repaired in a local garage when investigation showed 88 cases of beer and 80 half pints of whiskey -- enough to cure any snake b't. Assisting in the above cases were deputies Lloyd Bowlin and Otis Curry of Tahoka.

Cat Damages Car

You've heard the tune "Kitten on the Keys" Well, you should have heard the cat in Mrs W S Oats engine of her car one day last week. Mrs Oats pressed the starter and instead of the purr of a modern day car engine she heard the yowling of a very angry feline. It seems the cat was in the area between the fan and the radiator and when she opened the hood to the engine, the very peeved cat took to the bushes. P. S. damages to the radiator ran about $70.

Eagles Bow To A Very Good Amherst Team

Last Friday night a very good Amherst team rolled over a good Eagle team 26 to 0. The locals played a far better game than the score reflected; an Amherst star player, Nuttall, accounted for the Amherst victory with several runs of 70, 60 and 55 yards for scores. Two preseason choices to fight it out for District 4 A championship this year, O'Donnell and Denver City, clash here Friday night in one of the top games of the area. O'Donnell won its only district start and has two wins in 4 games. The contest will be the first loop tilt for Denver City which has won 3 games in four starts.

The Denver City team will go in to the games as favorites but reports are the Eagles are going to win this one. Mrs C C Menefee of Phoenix Ariz. is visiting Mr and Mrs S M Clayton and family.

Banks Report Increased Farm Loans; Reds Ask Peace Talks Be Resumed

FARM REPORT—A recent survey of rural bankers in the home towns scattered across the great midwest farm belt presents a new and somewhat startling picture of farm economy in the nation. Briefly, the survey indicates that farmers are borrowing more money this year, for that matter, than in several years, to make ends meet from day to day.

Reports a Kentland, Ind., banker: Operational loan demands are terrific. Three years ago farmers of the area purchased machinery with cash and had a surplus for operational expenses. Today 65 to 75 per cent of machinery sales are on credit arrangements.

A South Dakota banker presents this picture: For the first eight months of 1951 bank loans have increased 25 per cent over last year.

Says an Iowa banker: Loans are up 15 per cent over last year. Capital is tied up in machinery and livestock.

Says a Dover, Minn., banker: About 90 per cent of the farm machinery sales in this area are on credit. Loans have increased 10 per cent.

These conditions, midwest bankers report, are caused by the continued decline of farm prices, nearly 7 per cent since they reached a record high last February. In addition, farm operating costs have continued to increase.

As examples, fertilizer, which was selling at $44 a ton F.O.B. Chicago last fall, now sells for $64 a ton. In Minnesota farm hands are drawing $15 a day without board, comparing to $10 a year ago. Iowa farmers who paid $11.75 a 100 for binding twine last year must now pay $16.75. These examples indicate, midwest bankers say, that overall farm costs are up approximately 15 per cent over last year and 2 per cent over February when farm prices began their decline.

The only solution, according to the U.S. department of agriculture, is to keep farm prices at a high level. To accomplish this the department is expected to start a campaign this fall urging farmers to withhold crops from market. At present only six of 30 major commodities are bringing the parity price declared by law to be equally fair to growers and those who buy their products.

Calm on 'Bloody Ridge'

GI's relax among blackened stumps of trees on the devastated slope that is known as "bloody ridge" on the east central front of Korea. This ridge was taken from the Communists after some of the hardest fighting in the Korean campaign.

MONTH OF DECISION—It may very well be that future generations of American school children will study the month of September, 1951, in their history books as the month of decision—the month during which the free world consolidated its position against communism.

For during the month four significant things happened:

(1) Forty-nine nations met in San Francisco and signed the Japanese peace treaty which put that nation firmly on the side of freedom.

(2) The ministers of France, Great Britain and the United States met in Washington and decided upon a contract with West Germany that amounts to a treaty ad which will greatly increase West Germany's contribution to the defense of free Europe.

(3) Meeting in Ottawa, Canada, twelve Atlantic Pact countries debated and solved many military and economic problems related to their common defense.

(4) In Washington Italian and United States representatives discussed important revision in the Italian peace treaty, especially clauses relating to Italy's armed forces limitations.

All this activity adds up to strengthening of the free world's defenses against Communist aggression and thus, in turn, the very home towns of this country.

THE HALF WAR—One American soldier, who can be said to represent the average small town youth who makes up the United States army, said recently when informed that the Communists have unexpectedly asked for renewal of peace talks at Kaesong:

"Let's get this thing decided upon one way or another. 'We've been half fighting and half not fighting for months now.'"

This attitude is typical of most American soldiers in Korea today. Foreign correspondents report the men want a definite yes-or-no answer to whether there will be peace or not. If it is to be a fight they want to get at it and gain a clear cut decision.

This attitude is becoming more and more apparent in the small towns of the nation, too. This business of talking while men fight on a limited scale is not the American way. If there is to be peace, the American reasons, let's have it without a lot of beating around the bush. If it is to be war, let it be all-out-war.

POSTAL RATES—The house-senate conference committee will report within a few days upon bills passed by the house and senate to increase rates on postcards, newspapers, magazines and some other types of mail and services.

Although the senate and house versions of the bill are different in some detail, the two bills are similar in that they would raise rates on second-class mail, which includes newspapers, magazines and other periodicals by 30 per cent over a three year period in stages of 10 per cent a year.

The bills are also in agreement on postal card rate increase from 1 cent to 2 cents.

The final version of the bill is expected to produce somewhere in the neighborhood of $126,000,000 of additional annual postal revenues.

POLITICAL SCENE—Following his visit to North Dakota, Sen. Robert Taft returned to his home in Cincinnati where he told reporters: "If I got the same reception in a few more states, I think I'd decide to run (for president)."

And while the senator was making this statement, reports from Europe continued to circulate that Gen. Dwight Eisenhower was definitely interested in becoming a candidate, but only on the Republican ticket. The general, observers reported, would reject the Democratic bid because he did not want to be hampered by hanger-ons.

As for Senator Taft, observers said Eisenhower would try to beat him out because he felt the Ohio solon's isolation reputation would ruin this country's defense program and battle against communism.

PAY INCREASE—The house passed a series of bills increasing the pay of more than 1,500,000 government employees by a total of $670,045,600 a year. The bill will be reported soon from senate-house conference where differences will be ironed out between it and a senate version previously passed.

The house version provides: (1) A flat $400 pay increase for 1,043,614 government workers—totaling $417,445,600; (2) increases of $400 to $700 a year for 500,000 postal workers—totaling $235,760,000 annually; (3) an $800 limit on increases for 42,000 postmasters and 26,000 postal supervisors—totaling $19,690,000 annually.

DEFENSE PRODUCTION

50,000 Annual Plane Output Possible

Manly Fleischmann, defense production administrator, reports the nation will soon have the capacity to pour out 30,000 tanks and 50,000 planes a year—plus strategic stockpiles "to carry us through a year of total war."

In a speech at the 70th American Federation of Labor convention in San Francisco, he said stockpiles of strategic materials needed to carry through a year of all-out conflict would be available even though the United States is cut off temporarily from all foreign sources.

He also pointed out that steel capacity will be up 18,000 tons over the output before the Korean war and there now is a 90 per cent increase in primary aluminum capacity, with proportionate increases in electric power.

TRAFFIC FATALITIES

1,000,000th Traffic Death Will Occur During December

About the middle of December the 1,000,000th traffic death will occur in the United States.

It is shocking to realize that since the turn of the century, since the first automobile chugged and hissed to the derision and excitement of a horse-drawn era, the lives of almost 1,000,000 men, women and children have been squandered in one of the most senseless and tragic wastes of modern times.

There are numerous reasons for

By INEZ GERHARD

DONNA REED and John Derek make such an excellent team in "Saturday's Hero," a timely and truthful picture of college football, that Columbia promptly teamed them again in "The Dark Page." In New York to promote the picture they were being run ragged, what with meeting the mayor, keeping radio and television dates, and appearing at ceremonies all over town. At lunch Derek could hardly eat: the hardy veteran of those really tough football sequences was booked to appear on TV that night and was really scared. Donna wasn't afraid of anything except that her young family might need her before she gets home; her son's just a year old.

Donna Corcoran will become Metro's new Margaret O'Brien, if the executives' wishes come true. The nine-year-old has appeared in two pictures, "Angels in the Outfield" and "Young Man in a Hurry" and will star in her third.

Maureen O'Hara must like costume pictures, she makes so many of them. Her latest assignment is "Against All Flags," for Universal-International; she'll play the leader of a band of pirates, in the 18th century.

Here's something really new. Paramount will hold the first showing of "My Favorite Spy," new Bob Hope-Hedy Lamarr comedy, in the home of a movie fan, complete with guest stars and spotlights. Just write the winning letter stating "Why I would like to have 'My Favorite Spy' premiered in my home," address it to Bob Hope Contest, Box 382, Hollywood, California, and if you win you'll get the works. Bob is publicizing the contest for the next few weeks on his new NBC radio series. Good luck!

William Frederick "Old Pop" Losch has been a busy man in the wrecking field, with four houses, three barns and a Democratic club to his credit.

Before "retiring" to the life of a wrecker, he was a county official.

Vote-catcher, the Conservatives, like the Republicans in this country, as applied to the New Deal and Fair Deal programs, are inclined to approve it in time there will be no doctors to administer to the poor, at any price or on any condition.

On top of the income tax that runs to as high as 95 per cent, there is a purchase tax—our sales tax—which the merchants collect on every item you buy, other than the dire necessities of living, and that purchase tax ranges from 25 per cent on the amount of the purchase to as high as 150 percent of the total, on such automobiles as can be purchased, which is practically none of English make. They are produced for export only, as is true of most other of the better grade English productions.

And along with these conditions there is the rationing. Each individual can have two strips of bacon per week, two eggs, and whatever amount of meat of any kind he can buy for ten cents, with meat selling at prices as high, or higher, than we are paying in this country. Such are but a few examples of English rationing.

Despite it all, English socialism is not too unpopular with the English workers. They are receiving more wages than they did, though they are paying far more taxes, far more living expenses, and living far less better.

Believing the program to be a this great accident death rate. While most states have a statute requiring examination for driver's license, only a few administer the law strictly enough to give it meaning.

Thousands of drivers lack the skills, physical faculties and mental attitudes for safe driving. Re-examination of older drivers or those who have been involved in accidents or violations is virtually nonexistent.

Only 13 states permit tests of blood alcohol to be used in court against the most reprehensible motoring miscreant—the drinking driver.

Engineering and road building have fallen far behind the demands of the motor age. Lack of funds is the common excuse.

Automatic revocation of a driver's license for serious misconduct is invoked all too seldom. Jail sentences are few. The system of fines and penalties throughout the nation is a hodgepodge of improvisation, the temper of the court, and the stature and legal counsel of the defendant.

These are but a few of the more obvious holes in the dike of traffic safety. They can be plugged, but only through the aroused interest and insistent support of people who care.

Safety authorities report the most shocking thing about the accident toll is the inescapable fact that few Americans feel any real personal concern. As their fellows perish about them, they look on with a detachment and complacency that is difficult to understand and even more difficult to alter.

There rests the keystone of the entire traffic safety structure—personal concern. The duty of every responsible citizen is to strive for traffic safety as a voter, as a volunteer worker in whatever capacity his interests and abilities direct, and as a driver and pedestrian. Even the relatively small percentage of accidents caused by mechanical failure of motor vehicles could be reduced if owners would make sure their cars are in safe condition.

The question remains; what will it take to spur the nation into action? Will it be 1,000,000 deaths?

GRASSROOTS

Socialism in England Is Popular With Laborers

By Wright A. Patterson

THE DEFINITELY ANNOUNCED

purpose of the English Labor party is to equalize the wealth and the income of the English people. That is a vote-catching program, especially in England, and it is a program which the party can carry out. It can and is being done through taxes. On an income, which in America would be considered of a reasonable amount, the government is taking ninety five cents out of each dollar. Through taxes, it is easy to pull down the higher incomes, and through "doles" it is easy to increase the lower ones.

But the problem that must be faced is where the "something for nothing" (that represent doles is to come from when the wealth of the nation has been taxed to extinction.

Socialized medicine guarantees every one in the British islands a doctor when needed, a place in a hospital when there is a vacancy, which means waiting as much as two years regardless of the urgency of the need.

It means cheap doctor bills, but it is killing the medical profession in England. The doctor is permitted to have as many as 4,000 patients, for which the government will pay him $2.10 per year per patient, then promptly tax that doctor some 50 per cent on his $8,000 income. With what is left he must provide all the expenses of medical practice.

The result is that there is no inducement for the new medical graduate to hang out his shingle in Britain. He goes to the dominions—to Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa. The result will be that in time there will be no doctors to administer to the poor, at any price or on any condition.

On top of the income tax that runs to as high as 95 per cent, there is a purchase tax—our sales tax—which the merchants collect on every item you buy, other than the dire necessities of living, and that purchase tax ranges from 25 per cent on the amount of the purchase to as high as 150 percent of the total, on such automobiles as can be purchased, which is practically none of English make. They are produced for export only, as is true of most other of the better grade English productions.

And along with these conditions there is the rationing. Each individual can have two strips of bacon per week, two eggs, and whatever amount of meat of any kind he can buy for ten cents, with meat selling at prices as high, or higher, than we are paying in this country. Such are but a few examples of English rationing.

Despite it all, English socialism is not too unpopular with the English workers. They are receiving more wages than they did, though they are paying far more taxes, far more living expenses, and living far less better.

THE FICION CORNER

THE TRAP

By Daniel Shifren

"Trist!" Howie called again. "Trist! Over here!"

Tristram Olds set the rake against the barn and ran over the knoll to the orchard.

Howie was bundled against a tree, trussed wrist and ankle, very pale.

"Goodness, Boss-sh!" whooshed from Trist's dry, thin lips as he undid the bonds.

"There, that's good enough. I'll finish by myself. Get to the barn fast. It may be ablaze by now."

Trist, amazement on his whisker-framed face, jounced his aging bones and came up the incline beathing hard.

Flame licked over the haymow. He swept up two pails and raced down to the pump. Howie came running too.

They scampered around for half an hour. At last the smc' began to trail away.

"That's for now," said Howie, "but we'll have to keep a sharp lookout."

When Sheriff Gunfrey arrived, Howie had changed clothes and was rocking on the porch.

"What's all this, about burnin' barns down? Hasn't been anything like this since I copped the election."

"They tried it right enough," said Howie. "Know of any strangers in town?"

"Nope," said Gunfrey. "Well, little matter. They're from somewhere round here. But I guess either Sholl or Long is the guilty party—either one or both."

Gunfrey fired the crusty cake in his pipe and puffed. "How you figure that, Howie? They're neighbors, man."

He led a coil of black wire through deep grass until he reached the pine tree. He attached the wire to the house bell.

"In the last couple weeks they tried to buy out my farm. Kept upping the price, but I told 'em, 'No, I got no yen to sell this place.' 'Did they make any threats?' 'They sure wasn't pleased.' 'Hm. I'll hunt around town and ask 'em some questions. Ring me anything turns up.'"

Howie and Trist alternated on lookout. Chores were left undone. Then, during the night before Howie told Trist to discontinue the watches, he slipped out to the barn and emerged with a shovel and trowel. He worked and as light gray rose over the horizon, he laid out the last strips of straw and grass, returned the tools to the barn and came back.

He led a coil of black wire through deep grass until he reached the pine tree. He wound the wire around and attached the house bell he had in his back pocket.

The next morning he said to Trist, "No use to keep up the watches. They're not likely to come back."

Trist grunted. "Sure. Might'sh well get back to work."

The unexpected shrill of the house bell came that night. Howie rushed out without donning trousers. Trist behind him crying, "What's that bell for!" But Howie did not answer.

He swept the pit with a powerful flash, picking up their figures. One's bandanna slipped as he tried to escape the slippery pit and he recognized Jerry, Trist's youngest son.

"The boy's eyes, large with fright, lit on Trist and he cried out, 'Dad!'"

Howie's flash went out then. He heard them stumbling away.

The telephone rang before Howie could make his call. It was Gunfrey. "Which one of 'em was it bought out Trist's boys to fire my barn, Gunfrey?"

Gunfrey said, "You were right, Howie. I didn't know—I mean about Trist."

"More the boys. They wanted the money bad. Trist could 't do nothing with 'em. Afraid they'd get caught so he kept his mouth shut."

"Howie, I broke Long down. He tried to blame Sholl, but I got him to admit something like what he was up to."

"I was thinkin' I'd hate to prosecute anyone seein's no harm done. . . ."

"I don't want you to, Sheriff, only . . ."

"Yeah, I thought about that." Gunfrey laughed his cackle. "Long won't be around after tomorrow. I'm lettin' him leave town."

Reaches Bottom Quickly
An interesting new application of nickel has been in echo depth sounders in which the magnetostrictive property of nickel is used.

THE HOME TOWN REPORTER
IN WASHINGTON
WALTER HEAD, WNU Correspondent

Point of View

OBVIOUSLY, it all depends on the point of view.

For instance, Senator Dirksen, the Illinois isolationist, sought to amend the aid to Europe bill by providing a slash of a half-billion dollars on the grounds that his cut would mean a saving of $3.25 per capita in taxes to the people of this country.

The other side of the picture was expressed by Sen. Brian McMahon of Connecticut. Said the nutmeg senator: "I would urge members of the senate when they contemplate a saving of $3.25 per capita, as suggested by the senator from Illinois, to keep in mind: What will it profit a man to have even a fleet of motor cars, and a great home; what will it profit a man to have a job in the Ford motor plant in Detroit, or in any of the other great manufacturing plants of the country; what will it profit a man to have his little five-room house and his little children asleep upstairs; and what will it profit anyone to be told that he has saved $3.25 or $1.50 when the bombs begin to rain upon the cities of America?"

"Mr. President, destroy western Europe and let it pass, with its productive capacity, behind the iron curtain, and what is implied in the question would come to pass as surely as we stand on the floor of the senate. Let us be certain of one thing—let us be certain that we are talking about the survival of America."

Sugar Subsidy

There is a bitter argument underway in Washington because for a number of years there has been a law regulating the production of sugar, and a subsidy of a half-cent a pound which applies to only three American farmers, if you can call these bloated plutocrats farmers.

The point is not so much that there has been a sugar subsidy, but that the sugar subsidy has amounted to more than the support price on potatoes, or most anything else you can mention.

Discriminatory Taxes

Thirteen senators from 11 states, members of the senate finance committee, either have the urge to wreck farm cooperatives in this country, following the propaganda of the National Tax Equality Association, or they do not understand the real significance of the proposals to which they have agreed. The latter statement is merely the charitable view.

As the senate committee reported the tax bill, patronage dividends of farm crops would be allowed as deductions only if either of the following conditions were met: (1) The patronage dividends would have to be paid in cash or merchandise within 75 days after close of the year in which the patronage occurred, or (2) the patronage dividends were paid in the form of irrevocable obligations payable within a period of not more than two years after close of the year in which the patronage occurred. The obligation would have to bear interest at the rate of at least 3 per cent annually. Such obligations in order to be deductible could not exceed one-half of the annual profits of the cooperative for the year in which the patronage occurred.

Brannan's View

The action of the committee follows closely the propaganda line sponsored by most of the big business groups as represented by NTEA that farm and other cooperatives are socialistic.

Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan, who the national farm organization has sought to crucify for his stand on various farm objectives, said: "The tentative action of the senate finance committee in voting discriminatory taxes against farmer cooperatives gives this round to the NTEA. But it does not destroy my hope and belief that the decisive rounds to come will result in victory for the farmer."

Thus in the final analysis we find the secretary of agriculture, scorned by big business and flayed by officials of the farm organizations, on the side of the farmers and the farm coops, while the very business organizations supported by the farm organization officials as exemplified by NTEA, were about to walk over the prostrate form of the farm coops.

Cotton Crop

Representatives of big cotton growers were given a taste of their own medicine when John D. Small, chairman of the munitions board, told the senate preparedness committee that the government would buy some of the 17-billion bale cotton crop of 1951. Such action would set a precedent for producers of other crops and domestic materials to ask for stockpiling support when prices are not high. Small told the senate group.

MIRROR Of Your MIND

Some Persons Natural Friends
By Lawrence Gould

Do some people "naturally make friends"?

Answer: Yes, and they do so by being "natural"—that is, free from fear and conflict. It is true that all of us are born with "selfish" instincts which, if given free rein, tend to alienate others. But we also have an instinctive desire to be loved which normally leads us to restrain our selfishness so as to enjoy our neighbors' good will and affection. If we do not do this, it is because we are afraid to trust them to be friendly, which in turn means that we felt we were "rejected" by our parents. If you're basically fearless, you'll make friends as naturally as you breathe.

anything a boy can" and if she avoids the company of other girls in favor of that of boys, you have reason to be concerned. She may be developing a pattern of false masculinity that will hamper her becoming a true woman when she grows up.

Are VA mental hospitals progressing?

Answer: Yes, says Dr. Herbert C. Madlin, chief neuropsychiatrist at the famous Winter VA Hospital, Topoka, Kansas. Far from being the mainly custodial institution that so many mental hospitals have been in the past, the modern VA Hospital is concentrating on a positive mental health program which includes maintaining the health of recovered patients. This involves converting the neuropsychiatric hospital into a "general" one, providing first-rate medical and surgical care as well as social service and vocational rehabilitation. The new type of hospital is also a center of psychiatric research.

Should you be glad your girl is a tomboy?

Answer: That depends on whether her interest in boyish activities like climbing trees is natural or "compulsive." There is no reason why a girl of ten or thereabouts should not enjoy the same things that a boy does and be permitted to do so without interference. But if she plays baseball, not because she likes it, but to show "she can do

Shock Therapy in Outpatient Clinic

By Dr. James W. Barton

ALTHOUGH the name asylum which, at one time, had the word "lunatic" associated with it, has gone completely out of use, to be replaced by mental hospital, there are still some mental patients and families of mental patients who would sooner put up with odd behavior in the home than have the patient undergo treatment in a "mental" hospital, because of their horror of the word "mental."

It is admitted that shock therapy, shock treatment—insulin, metrazol, electric—has been the biggest advance in treatment of mental ailments of recent years. When a patient can enter a mental hospital of his own free will, receive shock treatment and in a few months be able to leave hospital cured, the greatest possible help is believed attained. However, since becoming an inmate of a mental hospital even for weeks is felt in some instances to leave a "stigma," a further step has been made recently that may help patients and families who dislike the name mental hospital. I refer to brief shock treatment in an outpatient clinic.

Although I referred to this method in a previous article, I believe it worth while to mention it again, so that more families may be willing to give their loved ones this opportunity to obtain professional help.

In Psychiatric Quarterly, Drs. Louis Linn and Samuel R. Rosen (Mt. Sinai Hospital, New York City) point out that electric shock treatment on an outpatient basis offers some important advantages in treatment of these mental patients. "It permits the patient to stay on his job, at his normal social routine, and in contact with his family. It spares him mental and emotional injury of confinement in a mental hospital. It offers opportunities for influencing his environment and changing attitudes of his present environment. It offers possibilities for intensive individual treatment on a scale not usually realized within a hospital."

HEALTH NOTES

Proteins create heat and thus melt and remove excess fat tissue.

Proteins not only build new cells, but repair and build up old or worn cells.

Salt and water are needed daily by every cell in the body, but the tissues of overweights normally hold too much water.

Exercise replaces fat tissue with muscle tissue.

Today, although physicians may not call obesity a disease, they treat it as a disease.

Gone are the days when the only prescription the overweight received from physician was "eat less food."

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Tomato Use
When tomatoes have been purchased, sort them and use the ripest ones first—then store the rest in the refrigerator until you are ready for them.

Chicken Roasting Time
Chickens weighing 3 to 4 pounds dressed weight usually require a roasting time of 1½ to 2 hours in a 350-degree oven.

Removing Spots
Water used in cleaning spots on clothes should have a temperature of between 120 and 125 degrees Fahrenheit.

Thrifty Breakfast
A thrifty, yet nutritious breakfast, would include fruit or juice, cereal, milk, bread and butter.

Lemon Flavoring
Lemon juice can be used as a flavoring for fish, seafood, tomato juice, sweet fruit juices, cooked greens, and other vegetables.

Leftovers
Save left-over cooked meats, poultry, and fish for use in casseroles, dishes, hash, or in stuffings for vegetables.

Ironing Board
When traveling, you can improve your ironing board by inverting a dresser drawer and covering it with a bath towel.

Family Picnic
Summertime is a good time for the family to get together at an outdoor grill or barbecue pit. An occasional buffet and picnic as hot meals give everyone a chance to relax occasionally from in-door mealtime.

Sharpening Scissors
You can sharpen your scissors by cutting through fine sandpaper several times.

Slicing Cake
To slice a freshly baked cake without crumbling it, dip a sharp knife in hot water, dry carefully and cut.

Top to Bottom
The Bright Young Thing entered the men's shop and approached the counter.

"I want a present for an old gentleman for Christmas," she said.

"Yes, ma'am," replied the clerk. "Something nice in ties?"

"No; he has a beard," the girl explained.

"H'm," the clerk murmured thoughtfully. "Perhaps a fancy vest might be suitable?"

"No; it's a long beard," came back the answer.

The clerk sighed wearily. "Well, how about carpet slippers?"

Overdue
Collector—"Say, I want to collect some back payments on your antique furniture."

Head of the House—"You're crazy. I never bought any antique furniture on the instalment plan."

"Well, maybe it wasn't antique when you bought it."

The witness looked at him a moment and asked quietly "Which eye?"

RAT CONTROL IS A CONSTANT FIGHT

Because of the economic losses they cause to industry and commerce and the annoyance they create in homes, rats have been considered a serious menace to mankind since long before their role as vectors of disease was understood. Today at least 6 diseases which are transmitted to man from the rat are known to medical science according to the State Health Department.

These diseases include the dread plague, typhus, trichinosis, a form of jaundice, tapeworm and food poisoning. The whole history of the role rats play in the transmission of disease remains as yet unknown.

It is necessary to public health that a continuous rat control program be maintained in every urban and rural area thruout Texas. This is of especial importance on farms where rats may flourish by feeding on grain and other farm products.

Rats, like other living things, require food and shelter if they are to propagate and increase in number. Destroying their shelter and breeding places includes the employing of ratproof design in buildings, the use of ratproof materials in construction, employing ratproof methods of construction and installation, and providing for periodic inspection of buildings to insure permanent safety. This program will force the rat out into the open where its destruction may be accomplished.

Of equal importance as a control measure is the elimination of all food supplies. This consists of storing all foods in ratproof buildings or in rat proof containers, the proper storage and disposal of garbage and careful feeding of stock to prevent waste feed from being picked up by the rats.

A vegetative cover on land forms a cushion to absorb the beating and washing from heavy driving rains; this cushion also absorbs water very rapidly and permits deeper moisture penetrating into the soil.

DON'T let disease reduce your wheat yields

Here is a study in contrasts for every wheat grower. The sickly head of wheat at the left of this picture has been the victim of covered smut. The two larger heads, from practically the same stand, show what the "runt" could have been, if it had not fallen victim to smut. The smut-infested and healthy wheat grew in adjoining fields, under the same conditions of soil, water and sunshine. The two healthy heads, however, were grown from seed that was treated against smut before it was sown. The grower had his seed wheat treated with a fungus-killing dust that killed the smut spores and prevented them from infecting the growing wheat plants. The "runt" head did not have the benefit of treatment. Fortunately, not all wheat is blighted by smut. Losses from this fungus disease are high enough, however, to more than justify fungicidal dusting of all seed wheat. Its small cost of one to five cents per acre is very cheap insurance against crop disappointments that can take many dollars out of the wheat grower's pocket. Talk with your County Agent. He can direct you to a nearby seed cleaning and treating machine.

WOMAN'S WORLD

Knitted Garments Easily Freshened by Home Treatment

By Ertta Haley

HAVE you started wearing knitted dresses and sweaters by this time? By this time college and career girls, as well as homemakers whose children are going to school are casting an eye on those knitted things, wondering just how best to clean them for most wear.

Knitwear is practical as well as smart because the clothing is designed for all occasions and because it gives freedom of movement. Many sweaters and similar garments are, however, needlessly ruined because of shrinkage and matting with poor laundering methods. It just doesn't have to be, you know!

Fortunately knitwear need cause no laundering headaches or cleaning bills because it can be done safely at home, and in speedy time, if you just use the simplest of precautions.

The biggest mistake made in doing the cleaning at home is hot water. This causes wool fibers to lock, thus shrinking the garment as well as matting it. These are then stiff, uncomfortable and unattractive. Water for washing knitwear should be almost cool.

Most women are so accustomed to rubbing sleeves, cuffs and collars on their other garments that they don't stop to think this should not be done with wool. Squeezing is the technique to use, and this is possible even on the soiled parts if you'll use one or two fingers for the job.

Sweaters and dresses can easily stretch out of shape if they are dipped in and out of the water, whether for washing or rinsing. The garment should, at all times while

Tab Trimming

Black silk faille makes this handsome afternoon dress that will take you to most occasions which demand something in the way of a good dress. The buttons between the tabs that march down the front make an interesting fashion detail. The small stand-up collar makes the diamond-shaped neckline.

can be used to secure it, and it will then dry to the exact shape and size which it was.

A firm surface such as the table in your laundry room is best for drying and pinning. Only rust-proof pins should be used, as the garment will be quite damp and you do not want rust stains which are difficult, if not impossible to remove.

Another good way to dry sweaters, especially is to use a stretcher or a form. In this case an outline is not necessary. Simply put the sweater on the form, and let it dry as though it were pinned, that is, in a place not too hot or cold, and not in direct sunlight.

Soft Water, Mild Suds Are Best for Wool
Hard water, naturally, will make a sweater or other knitted garment stiff, as it does any other, because it is in the water be supported with one hand, so that the weight of the water cannot run to one part and cause it to get out of shape.

Keep Outline Patterns Of Knitted Clothes
If you have some new sweaters or other knitted wear, it's a good idea to draw outlines of the garment on heavy brown paper, even if they're worn. This is their size and shape and the original measurements should be kept.

When you have already worn the garment, try to get an outline of it before washing, so you'll have some idea of how it's to look after washing. Lay the garment out flat on the paper and simply draw around it with a heavy pencil.

After washing set this outline out where the garment is to be dried, away from heat or direct sunlight and pat the sweater or whatever clothing you have on it. Small pins the minerals in the water get into the fibers.

If the water in your area is hard, it's best to use a water conditioner in it before making suds for knitwear. Then have a basin full of almost cool water for detergent or very mild soapsuds. The sweater is then immersed in this and kept under the water while you squeeze the suds through and through it several times.

Spots on the sleeves, collar or body of the sweater are best treated before the sweater is immersed by sprinkling on some fine soap or detergent and working into the yarn carefully with the finger. Only gentle action should be used.

Soiled garments may have to be washed several times to get them really clean.

Rinse in two or even three waters, as cool as the washing water, after the sweater has come clean. In this case immerse again, and squeeze the clear water out rather than bringing the sweater out of the water.

Squeeze the garment gently after rinsing, and do not attempt to remove excess water by wringing. It's far better to leave some water in the sweater, for it can be absorbed by Turkish towels easily. This is done by rolling the sweater in it and kneading. Unroll at once.

For heavy or large sweaters, or for those garments which have contrasting colors, insert a towel between the back and the front for quick water absorption. Now the sweater can be pinned to the outline or inserted on a form.

Inrequent Use of Knit- Often Leads to Damage

Knitted garments which are used only occasionally require good care and frequent checking against damage from rotting, mildew and moths.

Unless a woolen garment is absolutely clean before it is stored, it may readily rot and fade since perspiration and body waste cause damage to it, especially when standing.

Make it a habit to rinse a garment after wearing, and complete washing before it is put away in a drawer for any length of time.

Mildew in knitted wear often causes holes. This frequently happens to bathing suits which are rolled or sweaters which are folded before they are completely dry.

To protect against mildew, especially when you live where humidity is high, dry the garments out-of-doors in a good current of air before putting them away.

Any laundered garment may be steam-pressed in the above manner to block it properly, and also to restore some of the original finish.

Chemicals used in pools will frequently attack bathing suits. Wash these in mild suds after each use to remove the chemicals.

These Tips Aid You In Care of Woolens

Sweaters, bathing suits, socks and gloves which are knitted or crocheted should each be stored in separate bags when not in use. This may sound like a lot of effort, but you'll be thankful for the extra precaution if moth damage strikes. If the garments are separated, one may suffer while the others go free, and this is naturally a saving worth the effort.

Small plastic bags, each containing one garment, can be placed in a large storage box or chest. When you have to air them out, they're all together, and you don't have to go into several different places to get to them.

KATHLEEN NORRIS

Books Are Path to Happy Life

WHEN I WAS a little girl, my mother used to clear the decks for herself and the other women of the household on many a holiday morning by sending us all off on a picnic. This was no mere pleasure expedition, we had to take the very small brother and sister along and keep them amused until afternoon.

We went "up on the hill," where there were oaks, a view of the Pacific, and a breeze on the hottest day. We took sumptuous meals, because we packed them ourselves. We took extraneous matters like knives, string, pencils for games, salt for potatoes baked in ashes, a pan for bacon. We dragged a milk tin of cold water.

But above all we took books. The pervading fear seemed to be that we might run out of reading matter. Everyone took three or four. Lying on the brown California hillside, with the oaks over us and the flashing shadows of buzzards and meadow larks moving overhead, with the small children murmuring beside the tiny brook and the afternoon sun going down over faraway San Francisco, we read.

Good Books
We read some rubbish, I suppose, although the supply of it was not what it is today. We also read Dickens, Thackeray, Tennyson and both Kingsleys. We memorized poems: "The Lady of Shalott," "Sohrab and Rustum," "Prospect," "Grandmother's Story of Bunker Hill." We learned Lincoln's Gettysburg address by supper, and he matched our discoveries with his own. Fifty years after his voice was silenced, many a classic line comes back to me now in his accents.

Happy Childhood
How much a happy childhood does to create a happy life, who knows? My own life comes back to happiness after all its storms and stresses like a gyroscope. And the part that good books contributed in those young years is incalculable.

If only to show us what other men and women, in other great world crises, have endured and felt and cured, books are great teachers. Macaulay's England, Nansen and Shackleton seeking the poles, Swift, so weak and so witty, with his Stella and his Venessa, Pepys, Svelyn, Patmore and Thompson, and the moderns, Bolitho, Strachey—how they prove to us that terrors need not be realized, that stout courage wins against all odds!

Don't cheat yourself out of good reading. For our children the way is blocked by movies, radio, comics, television. They have no time for great words, for Steerforth lying dead in the cruel tide, "as I had often seen him lie as a boy, at school," for Cleopatra's good-bye to her handmaidens.

More Nebulae Charted in Sky

Clusters in Space Mapped by Survey

EIGHT HUNDRED new clusters of nebulae—great masses of gas and stars at incredible distances out in space—have been discovered by the new 48-inch Schmidt telescope at Palomar Mountain.

Photographs of the new clusters taken with the Schmidt Sky Survey telescope and the Hale telescope at Palomar have furnished new data to astronomers implementing the theory that the entire universe is expanding at speeds comparable to the speed of light.

Distant clusters never before seen—the farthest some 350 million light years away—have been found to follow the "law of red-shifts," Dr. Milton Humason of the Palomar Observatory staff disclosed to his colleagues of the Astronomical Society of the Pacific. They range out to the extreme observable limit of the Schmidt telescope, and finding more distant clusters—beyond the reach of the Schmidt—must hereafter depend upon pure chance, Dr. Humason said.

Only about 20 such massive systems in space were known prior to the start of the National Geographic Society-Palomar Observatory Sky Survey in 1949. The 800 others have been found in the last two years.

"Red - shifts" — the amount by which light from star clusters is moved toward the red end of the spectrum—indicate to astronomers in what direction a nebulaosity is moving. The red-shift brought about the formulation of the basic theory of an expanding universe about a quarter of a century ago. Moreover, the "red-shift" affords astronomers a measure of the speed at which other members of the universe are rushing away from the Earth's own solar system.

God's Untuned Harp

Lesson for October 14, 1951

CAN the perfect God make use of an imperfect man? He has to; there is no other kind. God is the perfect musician; his melodies and harmonies are flawless; but he has to play these on the harp of humanity, twanging strings as a sily broken, never long well-tuned.

One such doubtful string was young Jacob. He improved immensely, later in life; but at the time of the incident described in Genesis 28 he was a very rough diamond indeed. His own home was too hot for him. His father had been bitterly disappointed in him; his twin and only brother Esau had sworn to kill him at the first chance. He was a swindling liar, leaving home on the run.

If he had treated his neighbors with the same lack of conscience he had shown toward Isaac and Esau, there must have been "many a dry eye" when the news went around that Jacob had left town. As a matter of fact, he kept on, for some years after this, being the same sort of sharp trader he had always been.

His dream at Bethel did not convert him, as is sometimes thought; if it did, his conversion waited 20 years to "take." If the reader will examine Jacob's vow in Gen. 28:20-22, he can see that it does not express a very lofty view of religion on Jacob's part. Jacob makes his promise to the Lord with a large IF attached; IF the Lord will prosper him, keep him safe, bring him back and so forth, THEN he will give the Lord ten per cent. Who would not pay a ten per cent commission for guaranteed protection and prosperity? No, we cannot say that Jacob at this time was saintly.

God's Purpose
AND yet God spoke to him, made great promises to him. Was this only a conceited dream of Jacob's? It was a dream, of course, as the writer frankly says (verse 12); but was the dream only the kind of thing that psychologists call "wish-fulfillment," with no meaning except to show what Jacob had been thinking about? Or did the dream stand for something real?

The general belief of the church is that God really did have a concern for this man and did speak to him through his dream, even though it was the kind of dream which perhaps only a Jacob could have had.

But how could the perfect God "make a covenant" or come to any terms with such a man as Jacob then was? The answer is probably in the story itself and in what followed it. God had a purpose far beyond Jacob the man. He had a plan for him too; but it fitted into a far greater plan for mankind. "In thee shall all the families of the earth be blessed" refers, Christians believe, to Jesus Christ and what he has meant and will mean to the world. Without Jacob, and the race which would call him their ancestor, Jesus would not have been.

God's Harp Has Many Strings
ONE of the most remarkable titles for God in the Bible is "the God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob" (Exodus 3:6). We might expect the first name; we are astonished to hear the other two.

Abraham, of course, was a great spiritual pioneer. He was great in other ways too; a man who would be outstanding in any age, in any place,—one of the great religious geniuses of all time. Of course God is the God of such men, we expect it.

But what about Isaac and Jacob? Isaac was a nonentity, a weak character, far from bright. Even his sins were second-hand. As for Jacob, even after he became a changed man, as in time he did, his old crooked record remind a fact. The Bible does not try to conceal it.

Then can God be the God of the weak and the God of the sinner? Yes, that is the glory of the God who is revealed in his Word. Other religions know of gods who are friends of top-level human beings, geniuses and saints; only the religion of the Bible knows of a God who takes a personal interest in the weak and who pursues the sinner to change him.

Only the Bible knows of a God who draws to himself all sorts and conditions of men, and makes use of them for his great and gracious purposes.

Gift Drawer
A gift drawer containing wrapping paper, strings, and perhaps even an assortment of small gifts is a great convenience. When a forgotten holiday or birthday rolls around, the gift drawer saves the day.

Upstairs Screens
Upstairs screens should be securely fastened to prevent small children from falling out of open windows.

Useful Hint
To prevent a cake from sticking to the plate, sprinkle the plate with powdered sugar.

Preventing Burns
The handles of pots and pans should always be so arranged that they will not jut out from the edge of the kitchen range. Many severe burns have been caused by carelessly catching such a handle in pocket or sleeve.

Here is an idea a number of midwest farmers might use in their feed lots. Hinged at the bottom and held in position by chains, a section of fence is lowered to form a manger. Fire Rates Down

Texas will save an estimated $2,303,000 on their fire insurance during the next year under new rates which become effective October 1st. Fire insurance Commissioner Paul H Brown said that rates have been reduced on more than a score of types of buildings. Dwelling owners will pay up to 16 per cent less for their fire insurance unless they live in homes which are not near fire hydrants and other municipal fire protection.

Owners of mercantile buildings also will enjoy savings on insurance rates ranging from 8 to as much as 17 per cent depending on the type of construction. Schools and some types of churches also were among the classes granted lower rates. Brown said. Rate reductions were granted on the basis of the premiums earned by the insurance companies during the last five years as against the losses paid during the same period. The new reductions in fire rates follows a general trend toward low er insurance costs during the last several years. Last year fire insurance reductions in Texas amounted to near 2 million dollars, Brown said.

Farm Land Prices Up Sharply in Nebraska

Farm land dollar values in Nebraska have increased 124 per cent since 1939, according to figures of the bureau of agricultural economics. In the west north central region of the country, of which Nebraska is a part, prices have increased 3 per cent during the four months ending in July. This despite the usual seasonal reduction in farm real estate activity and a downturn in farm products.

Strongest Football Sector

OVER 500 N.C.A.A. colleges, embracing some 15,000 football players, have started the big jolting act. They have opened schedule that runs from September 15 to December 21, not including the various Bowls of New Year's day.

This means about as much football as even a football-minded nation can absorb without gagging.

The big gap will come from the absent stars of what would have been a magnificent Army team, now scattered to the winds.

The scramble for sectional supremacy will be keen this season as it always is. What sector will take over the lead? East, South, Midwest, Southwest or Far West?

The complete wreckage of a powerful Army squad, the most drastic in football history, weakens the East no little. Army, Pennsylvania, Cornell, Navy, Princeton and Villanova had the East well up. Pennsylvania, Cornell, Navy and Princeton won't be too bad, with possibilities from Yale, Fordham, Dartmouth, and Columbia.

The South, combining both conferences, can offer a rugged challenge to anyone. The South can offer Tennessee, Alabama, Maryland, Miami, Kentucky, North Carolina, Duke, Georgia Tech, Georgia, LSU, with possibilities from Florida, Ole Miss and Mississippi State. Tennessee, Alabama, Kentucky and Miami are dead certain to be packed with TNT.

When you move to the Midwest, you step into one of the star spots of the game. Here you have Michigan State, Ohio State, Notre Dame, Michigan, Northwestern, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa and others.

This section is always one of football's strongholds. It is usually challenged by the South and the Southwest in louder tones.

Tornado Land

The Southwest is football's tornado land. The far-spreading state of Texas furnishes most of the dynamite, but not all of it.

From the Southwest we get Oklahoma, Texas A. and M., Texas, Baylor, S.M.U., Rice, T.C.U. and Missouri.

A Southwestern championship is usually a carnival of form slaughter where everything can happen.

Texas A. and M. will be high. So will Baylor and Oklahoma. We like Texas A. and M., plus Baylor. This sector may produce five teams to match any other five. I doubt that any other section will have four teams better than Texas A. and M., Baylor, Texas and Oklahoma. Not even the Midwest.

What about the Far West? So far the early autumn dope doesn't indicate too much strength. But the Far West has a possible champion in Washington, with strong teams at California, U.C.L.A., and Southern California.

Washington can be quite tough and so can U.C.L.A., where Red Sanders has done an exceptional job of coaching. The sectional struggle should rest with the South, the Midwest and the Southwest.

Here may be the five top teams—

South—Tennessee, Alabama, Kentucky, Miami and North Carolina.

Midwest—Ohio State, Michigan State, Notre Dame, Wisconsin and Michigan.

Southwest—Texas A. and M., Baylor, Texas, Oklahoma, T.C.U. and Rice or S.M.U.

This time I like the South or the Southwest over the Midwest. Notre Dame and Michigan are not quite what they used to be.

The Autumn Stretch

NEW YORK—Saratoga is closed after a record month and the general excitement moves back to the Big Stem.

In the last month it seems that Princeton contributed another big winner to the new list. His name is John Gaver, trainer for the Whitney's Greentree stable, who is returning to New York tracks with a brace of thoroughbreds known as Hall of Fame and Tom Fool, two of the shining lights in the two- and three-year-old divisions.

The 1952 Kentucky Derby is now over eight months away. But there are more than a few sharp observers who have already moved Tom Fool into the front spot.

Mr. John B. Campbell will have to inspect Tom Fool, Cousin, Jet Master and also a couple of Calumet entries before he passes on his rating for the two-year-olds of 1951.

You may recall that last winter, Mr. Campbell named Uncle Miltie as the top horse with Battlefield ranked well up.

Uncle Miltie started like a shell from a howitzer until he broke.

Serve Hot Soup to Satisfy Family's Appetite

(See Recipes Below)

Soup Kettle Favorites
AS TEMPERATURES dip and family appetites start running away with your food budget, bring out the soup kettle and let it bubble away those high food costs!
 Did you ever notice how satisfying soup is to sharpened appetites? And how readily you can satisfy hunger pangs when the meal is preceded with soup? Give the family some hearty soup and see how much you can save on the food bill.

Soups have an almost endless variety, as a glance at some of these recipes will tell you, so start now and keep the soup kettle singing during the cold weather.

Minestrone Soup (Serves 8-10)
 1½ cups white beans
 1 can consommé or beef broth
 6 cups water
 ½ pound bacon, chopped
 1 medium sized onion
 1 cup diced carrots
 ½ clove garlic, peeled
 ¼ cup celery (tops and all)
 1 No. 2 can tomatoes
 1 cup finely shredded cabbage
 2 teaspoons salt
 ¼ teaspoon pepper
 ½ cup diced potatoes
 ½ cup peas
 1 cup spaghetti, broken
 Grated Parmesan cheese

Soak the beans in the water for several hours. Drain and put into soup kettle with consommé or beef broth. Add the bacon and all the vegetables except potatoes and peas. Cook over low heat for 1½ hours. Add salt, pepper, potatoes, peas and spaghetti and cook for 30 minutes. Serve in large bowls with grated Parmesan cheese.

"Shrimp Chowder (Serves 4)
 3 medium onions, sliced
 3 tablespoons fat
 1 cup boiling water
 5 medium potatoes
 3 teaspoons salt
 ¼ teaspoon pepper
 1 pound fresh shrimp
 1 quart milk, heated
 1 cup grated, processed American cheese
 2 tablespoons minced parsley

Saute onions in hot fat in deep kettle until tender. Add boiling water, then sliced potatoes, salt and pepper. Simmer, covered, 15 minutes or until potatoes are tender. Then add shrimp which has previously been cooked and spots from dresses, suits, hats, yourself—with Muffti. Easy to use on upholstery, drapes too! Keep it handy.

HERE'S A DELICIOUSLY different soup which is good enough for a main dish. Try it with grape and orange salad, popovers and chocolate cake for a really good supper:
Sparerib-Vegetable Soup (Serves 6)
 1½ pounds spareribs
 1 tablespoon fat
 4 cups boiling water
 1 teaspoon celery seed
 ½ teaspoon savory, if desired
 4 teaspoons salt
 ¼ teaspoon pepper
 2½ cups canned tomatoes

LYNN SAYS:
Here are Ways to Make Soups More Palatable
 Soup preparation is a simple task, but it should be done properly to get the most out of meat and vegetables used.
 Cooking soup stock at high temperatures is wasteful since high heat coagulates the protein in the meat and this floats to the top as a brownish scum, rather than remaining in the stock where it is palatable and nutritious.

Chicken Gumbo (Serves 8)
 1 small stewing chicken
 2 tablespoons flour
 3 tablespoons fat
 4 cups okra
 2 cups tomato pulp
 4 cups water
 1 tablespoon chopped parsley
 Salt and pepper

Clean chicken and cut into serving portions. Dredge lightly with flour and brown in hot fat. When browned add okra, tomatoes, parsley and water. Season with salt and pepper and simmer until chicken is tender, about 2½ hours. It may be necessary to add more water during cooking time. If desired, the following may also be added to the soup before it's cooked: 1 cup diced celery, ½ cup corn, 1½ cups potatoes (cooked) and 1 cup cooked rice.

Bacteria grow and multiply rapidly in soup stock which is kept at lukewarm temperature. Cool stock by placing soup kettle in a vessel of cold water, then refrigerate.
 Fat which forms on top of soup excludes air and retards spoilage. Do not remove the fat layer until ready to use the soup.
 Make crisp croutons for soup from stale bread by cutting it in small cubes and sauteing in a small amount of butter. Turn frequently for even browning and drain on absorbent paper.

FIRST AID TO THE AILING HOUSE

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Walls Cracked by Earthquake

QUESTION: After a recent earthquake I noticed that the outside plaster of my house was cracked all over on all four sides of the house. What can I use to fill up these cracks?

ANSWER: I suppose you mean "stucco" when you speak of "plaster." If the stucco had only a few large cracks, they could probably be repaired. Since it is cracked all over, you may need to have it stripped off and new stucco applied. Large cracks should first be widened a nd deepened, then patched with a cement mortar. The usual mortar mixture for stucco repair is one part Portland cement, either white or gray, and three parts clean, coarse sand with just enough water to make a workable mixture. Or you can get a ready mixed patching mortar—which is not the same thing as patching plaster. When widening a crack for filling, cut into it so that the groove is wider at the lath than at the surface. Brush out all loose cement, and then soak the edges well with water. Pack with mortar, and just before the patch sets, work the surface into a texture to match that of the stucco. Keep the patches wet for three or four days so that the cement will cure. Sometimes a white stucco wall can be matched with a white cement and a light yellow building sand, or white marb'e dust. For a good even effect, you can coat the whole wall with a dampproof cement paint. Very narrow hair line cracks can be filled by painting the stucco with the cement base paint. Get your materials from a dealer in building or masonry supplies. A stucco repair man would know what would be best to do.

Salad Dressing

A quick salad dressing can be made by blending two tablespoons of tomato paste with six tablespoons of mayonnaise. Season this with grated onion, a dash of chili powder, and a few drops of tabasco sauce. This is very good with meat or fish salads.
