Healthful Breakfast Will Appeal to Family If Menus Are Varied

All those in favor of bacon and eggs have the right idea for there's no denying the importance of a substantial breakfast. In addition to bacon and eggs, the pattern should include fruit or fruit juice, toast, butter and a beverage.

You can't expect a first-class health rating if you skip breakfast frequently. And you can't do your best work, be you business man, farmer, housewife, career girl or school child, if mid-morning hunger pains bother you.

The remedy? A well - rounded breakfast that gives you foods essential for health.

You say you can't eat breakfast? Nonsense. Of course, if you're one of those skip-breakfast people, it may take you a little time to get used to eating it, but little by little you can do it and really like it. It's worth it, if you feel better and can work better, isn't it?

Afraid of gaining weight, you say? No, not if breakfast includes a citrus fruit, soft boiled or poached egg, dry toast and coffee or tea without cream or sugar. You won't have nearly as hard a time resisting the snacks which put on weight if you're fortified with a nicely balanced break-

We have variety in lunches and inners, why not plan to have it in reakfasts? It will make them ever so much more interesting.

Prepare eggs in several different styles, scrambled, poached, soft boiled, coddled, fried, baked or creamed. Have interesting breads bulk. Bake rolls in a hot oven 25 and spreads.

Don't forget that meats add variety, too. Try sliced or frizzled ham as well as bacon, sausage, canadian bacon or dried beef.

Then, too, you can find interesting variations for pancakes and waffles. Why not this:

Bran Griddle Cakes. (Makes 15 cakes, 51/2 inches in diameter)

14 cup sugar 214 cups milk 3 cups sifted flour 2 tablespoons baking powder 11/2 teaspoons salt

1/3 cup melted shortening

1/2 cup bran Beat eggs and sugar until light and fluffy. Add milk and mix well. Sift flour with baking powder and salt; add to first mixture, stirring until flour disappears. Add shortening. Fold in bran. Bake on a hot griddle, turning only once.

2 eggs

You'll find that Dutch pancakes will do a nice filling job during breakfast, as well ascontributing the valuable protein of eggs for this meal.

Dutch Pancakes.

(Serves 4) 4 eggs 1/2 cup sifted flour 1/2 teaspoon salt

1/2 cup milk 2 tablespoons soft butter Confectioners' sugar

Beat eggs thoroughly. Sift flour and salt together and add to eggs alternately with milk to make a smooth batter. Spread butter over bottom and sides of cold frying pan. Pour in batter and place in a hot (400 degree) oven. Bake 20 to 25 minutes, reducing heat gradually to moderate (350 degrees) during the baking. Pancakes should puff up at the sides

LYNN SAYS: Remember These Facts About Yeast Breads

Rising time on bread or rolls usually follows this pattern: Dough made with one cake of yeast and two cups of liquid will take three hours to rise. Each subsequent rising takes less time.

Rising may be hastened by using more yeast. However, not more than two cakes of yeast should be used in the average recipe for fear of giving too much yeast flavor.

Sour Cream Coffee Rolls. 2 cups milk

1 cup sour cream 4 cup shortening

1 teaspoon salt 1 cup sugar 4 beaten eggs

2 cakes yeast 4 cup warm water 13 cups flour

Scald milk and cream. Add shortening, salt and sugar, then cool. Add the eggs and the yeast which has been softened in lukewarm water. Add the flour to make a stiff dough. Blend well. Let rise until doubled in bulk. Punch down. Cover the bottom of large muffin tins with 1/2-inch thick pieces of dough. Cover with filling and place another piece of dough on top. This may be baked as a coffee loaf in the same manner, covering the bottom of a loaf tin with dough, putting on the filling and covering with another piece of dough. Let rise until doubled in minutes. For bread, use a hot oven for 10 minutes, then reduce to moderate for 40 minutes.

Hardly anyone can resist piping hot pancakes with butter and syrup for breakfast. For those with substantial appetites and large caloric needs, serve pancakes often. Or, use them to add variety to the breakfast pattern.

Filling. 1 cup cooked, chopped prunes

½ cup sugar 1/2 cup chopped nuts

1 teaspoon cinnamon 3 cup raisins

Mix together thoroughly. The sour cream coffee dough will make three loaves of bread and several dozen rolls.

Banana Sour Cream Bread. (Makes 1 large loaf)

14 cup thick sour cream ½ cup brown sugar 11/2 cups mashed banana

1 cup bran 11/2 cups flour 2 teaspoons baking powder 1/2 teaspoon salt

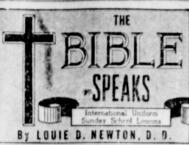

1/2 teaspoon soda Blend the first four ingredients. Add, sifted together, the dry ingredients. Place in a greased loaf pan and let stand 20 minutes. Bake in a moderate (350 degree) oven for about one hour. Make this the day before, and toast for breakfast. It's delicious. Released by WNU Features.

Sugar is yeast food and it also gives flavor to bread. Too large amounts retard the yeast growth. Sour, heavy bread is caused by too high temperature during the rising time. Crisp crusts on bread are made by brushing the top with slightly beaten egg white 10 minutes before the baking. This also will give a browner crust.

Soft crusts can be achieved by brushing with melted fat just before baking.

The Personal Witness

Lesson for March 7, 1948

DR. ALBERT SCH-VEITZER, described by Hermann Hag dorn as "Prophet in the Wilderness," is a living example of what Sunday's les-like our Saviour Jesus did. The lesson passage is found in Acts 8:26-39, and is the story of Philip, leaving his very successful evangelistic campaign in Samaria to follow the lead of the Holy Spirit into the way that goeth down from Jerusalem unto Gaza, which is desert. There he found a man in search of God, and through his witness the man was saved.

But to the people of Equatorial Africa,

he looks and acts

THE STORY OF JESUS

THIS man was not of Philip's race. He was an Ethiopian. But he was a man. And God loves every man of every race and of every condition of life. Jesus never did meet an unimportant person, nor will any true follower of his. Jesus said, "As the Father has sent Me, even so send I you," John 20:21.

This man was reading in the Book of Isaiah, where the prophet was foretelling how Jesus would suffer for the sins of the whole world. He could not understand the wonderful words. And the Spirit directed Philip to go and join himself to the eunuch. Philip ran to the chariot in which the rich man rode, asking, "Understandest thou what thou readest?" He was quick to give his witness. That is the first lesson of the lesson. . . .

AND THE MAN LISTENED

WHEN we faithfully obey the Holy Spirit, he enables us to effectively witness for Jesus. We cannot be effective witnesses if we rely upon our own wisdom and our own judgment. The boy in your street who does not know Jesus will listen to your story if you go in the same glad obedience to the command of the Spirit of God as did Philip.

A lad told me this story. He had neighbor who had never been to Sunday school, and he wanted to enlist this friend. He thought about it seriously. But he was not quite sure of himself. And then he prayed, asking God to direct him. The next day the boy asked him, "What are you doing Sunday morning?" With this opening the lad invited his neighbor to come along with him, and the result was that the little neighbor, of another race, accepted Christ as his Saviour and is today a regular attendant at church and Sunday school.

TO WHOM SHALL WE WITNESS? THE question now emerges, To whom shall we bear this witness? We cannot all go as missionaries, as did Dr. Schweitzer. Most of us must remain at home and carry on the work of our everyday pursuits of life. But every Christian can witness. First, to those immediately about us. In every community in our beloved country are people who do not know Jesus Christ as Saviour and Lord. We can witness to them, not to all of them, but to some of them, perhaps to one of them. And I would remind you that if you miss that particular person to whom you may be directed by the Holy Spirit, he or she may never know about the Saviour's love.

Second, we can share in the sending of the missionaries to earth's remotest bounds, through our gifts. I delight to think that I am in partnership with many great men and women on foreign fields, through my gifts and through my prayers.

Third, we can witness through personal correspondence with people in other lands. The present far-reaching media of relief for stricken peoples of the world affords a wonderful opportunity for this very witness. Ask your pastor for the name of some person your age in one of the lands to which your church is sending relief, and write that person a letter, telling of your joy in serving God.

The eunuch went on his way rejoicing. Why? Because Philip had taught him the way of salvation. He had been used as an effective witness in leading a man of another race to experience the peace that passeth all understanding. And Jesus is saying to us today,

"So send I you." (Copyright by the International Council of Resigious Education on behalf of 40 Protestant denominations. Released by WNU Features.)

What the government does with it."

That is a real poser! To be sure, government has to spend a lot of government has to spend a lot of money. We are a big nation. Moreover, we find it necessary to take on obligations in many foreign

But whether the government (specifically the federal government, where they throw around big sums) spends no more than is needful is important to everyone. Government is not a luxury; it is a necessity. Yet, to read the budget figures you would think all operations were on a luxury basis. Government Spends

That government is expensive was proved again by John T. Flynn, who showed in Reader's Digest that TVA, a government project, forgot to include certain items in its bookkeeping. Instead of the indicated profit, there was a real deficit of $130,000,000 to June 30, 1944. Flynn shows there was an actual loss in sales of power to that date of $15,-000,000. This demonstrates that efficiency is a quality unknown to government operations.

Here's a prophecy. Wait until the budget is presented to this Congress, then watch the departments and bureaus fight any reductions. Increase the appropriation and swell the payroll - but shrink the swollen department? Never.

Way to Depression This kind of selfishness means meager tax savings. It permits little tax reduction for folks who so much need relief. The more we tax and the more we spend for government, the nearer we get to depres-

Taxes of all kinds are too heavy these days. Corporation taxes are burdensome. Income taxes on all levels are too high. The individual income taxes cut down the rewards of the wage earner, keeping him from saving and investing. Instead, his tax payment is earmarked: "government expense." Some people oppose tax reductions for corporations and individuals, without realizing that continued heavy taxes will undermine our economic system and their own standard of liv-

Decisions Lie Ahead

Obviously, one of the quickest ways to halt wasteful and unprofitable bureaucracy is to stop feeding fuel to its fires. Government, with out a plentiful supply of tax money, could hardly be wasteful government. Congress has the power to say what the government shall spend and what amount it shall collect in taxes. It is up to us to see that our Congress keeps a proper tures.

Unwise spending and taxing could take this nation into the bank ruptcy of communism. It could do it more quickly than anything else. Indeed, the power to tax is the power to destroy. We must see to it that America keeps an efficient and well-managed government, not a wasteful bureaucracy. That will be a powerful factor in deciding, in the coming months, whether America will remain prosperous and eco-

Formula Computes Feed Required for One Hen

High egg production clearly takes more feed, but just as clearly the feed brings a greater return in terms of eggs than the same amount fed to low-producting hens. Dr. L. E. Card of the Illinois experiment station explains how to compute the total feed required for one hen for Multiply the live weight of the bird, in pounds, by 8. Add 25.

Divide the total number of eggs the hen lays by 7 (e. g. 105 divided by 7 equals 15) and add this figure to the total obtained by the Brat two steps. An example:

Weight of hen-5 pounds Five times 8 equals 40; plus 25 equals 65.

Hen lays 105 eggs per year. Divide this figure by 7. Result 15. Total feed required - 80 pounds (65 plus 15).

Plowing Is Major Step In Garden Pest Control

It's smart gardening to do cross garden insect pests by late fall spading or plowing in preparation for spring planting. Plowing is one of the most important steps in insect control because it interferes with the natural and normal activities of the insects for living through the winter. Insects wintering above the ground can stand severe cold but not burying in moist cold soil and those below cannot live.

Myth of Current Price Dip: 'Truman Planned It That Way'

By BAUKHAGE

WASHINGTON .- It is still open season for economists, financial experts and market wizards. It took about a week after the first drop on the commodity market to send them into their holes. Up to that time, you could get a prognostication anywhere from the Chicago stockyards to Broad and Wall streets or Pennsylvania avenue and 15th street.

But along about the sixth day of the dip, anybody who would tell you whether we were facing a permanent nose-dive or just weathering the flutter of a few yards of ticker tape was as rare as a vote against taxreduction (that issue, itself, had changed after the sixth dip).

The reason no expert would talk was that all of them had been making wrong predictions ever since

Coolidge's per-

tary of the Treas-

manent plateau of prosperity of pre - depression days or Hoover's corner around which prosperity was always duck-The most silent man in Washington was Secre-ury Snyder. He knew that too many people remembered what he and others had said two years ago last fall. Snyder, at that time reconversion director, had predicted that by the spring of the next year (1946) eight million people would be unemployed. In fact, so many others believed that that Henry Wallace, already dreaming of a home with white pillars on Pennsylvania avenue, decided to make "Sixty Million Jobs" a comehither plank in his platform. He ians employed by 1950. But somebody must have stolen the idea or else they wanted to play a mean trick on Wallace-and on Snyder-anyhow there were 57,149,000 persons employed in this country as of January, 1948 - two years early, and 10 months before presidential campaign time.

wrote a book with that title and it became a best seller. His book set a goal of 56,500,000 to 57,500,000 civil-

Likewise, in October of 1946, several astute Washington inside-stuff letter writers were saying privately to their thousands of clients, and the AFL monthly survey was saying in public print, that by early 1947 prices would come down. One could say on January of 1947, with considerable accuracy, that there was a general agreement on recession beginning soon and followed by more little later.

Other writers predicted it a little by summer, were insisting that deflation already was

But what happened? In the very year of that doleful prophecy, prices started on the upshoot that took them into their all-time high.

Many other similar bad guesses might be mentioned, all of which contributed toward making the prophets reticent, and so when the slide came in February of this year, nobody would even whisper "fox" for fear that not even a kit would appear. They knew that nobody would believe them after all the without-the-wolf-wolfing that had been going on.

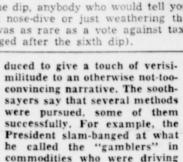

In any case, this dip, drop, depression or delusion, whichever it turns out to be by the time these lines reach print, or later, will have its garland of myths and legends

The best myth, of course, is that Mr. Truman "planned it that way.'

The blueprint is simple enough if you are good at reading a blueprint between the lines. Prices were getting too high. At worst, they might bring on a real depression before election; at best, they would bring a series of strikes and work stoppages which might seriously hamper the Marshall plan on the one Land, and add to the discontent of the voters on the other. It would be like any operation, not dangerous from the surgeon's point of view. Just a little amputation of credit, at least so said doctors who work on the body economic, which would let enough blood out of some businesses to cause a little unemployment. Enough to scare off strikes and make businessmen a little more cautious about expansion.

There was some evidence that this may really have been intended because the President did ask in his November 17 message to congress for credit controls and increased bank reserves. However, when congress said "humph" to that along with the President's other recommendations, he turned around and demoted the man who is said to have written the deflation prescription from the chairmanship of the federal reserve board (Marriner Eccles), and put in a man supposed to have more sympathy with an opposite course.

However we mustn't spoil a good story by facts. There are other points which can be intrograin and other futures. That did open a Pandora's box, and some of the plagues released alighted on the very rooftree of the White House. But it also threw a scare into the marketeers and the up food prices by speculating in

Then came the day of a White House press and radio conference when the President made a remark -credited at the time by some of his friends as an unhappy slip when he said that if the cost of living was not controlled, there would be a crash. That got headlines, frightened a lot of little fellows who pulled out their chips and, combin-ing with other evil Jinns released from the economists' Jinn bottles, did the trick.

There are many others of these tales which will grow, such as the creating of sun-spots by the administration's atomic-energy experts. But one is enough for the moment.

Taft-Hartley Issue Losing Its Potency

There has been a lot of noise over the Taft-Hartley act lately, and on the surface it looks as if the law might become an issue in the presidential campaign. If that should happen, it certainly would help the prestige of Senator Taft. But the old-timers say it can't happen.

As you know, last autumn, right after the act went into effect, a lot of people felt its provisions would decide the votes in the bye-elections. But those elections came and went, and it was hard to adduce any statistics to prove that T-H had figured very much, if at all.

Later on, animosity aga law died down. But now both the CIO and AFL have announced their preliminary plans for campaigning against the men who voted for it; Taft has used it in his campaign speeches in Midwest centers where labor is strong; Philip Murray was indicted under its provisions, and both Murray, representing the CIO, and the International Typographers' union have charged it is unconstitutional. But the issue still fails to command any real dramatic in-

This is another proof of how a controversial issue that calls forth bitter debate and stirs up nationwide interest at the moment, can fade into the background as time passes, and by election day have little or no effect on votes.

It is much like a fire that makes Page 1 because it breaks out just as an edition of an afternoon paper is going to press. It may get a banner on Page 1 if the news is light, but by the next edition, it may have shrunk to a single head on an inside page. Recency expands the importance of all events. You may recount excitedly at dinner how you almost got hit by a truck on the way to work. But by tomorrow night, you'll be telling with much more gusto about a fish you caught last summer.

Aid for China Asked; Senate OKs Budget Cut

Although it was obvious that his heart wasn't in it, President Truman presented congress with a request for 570 million dollars to be sent to China as a prop for the foundering economy of Chiang Kaishek's Nationalist government.

White House and state department sources admitted that the request was something less than a half-measure and claimed that the President had acted under pressure the Republican congress which has insisted that the U. S. must support Chiang against the Communist revolution in connection with the European recovery plan.

At best the 570 million dollars is a token gesture-just a chip in relation to the vast amount of timber that would be needed to restore the rotting derelict of Chiang's govern-

Theory behind this latest extension of aid, which will be used to finance Chinese imports of cereals, petroleum, coal, fertilizer and so forth, is that the money will enable Chiang's government to free other resources for purchase of arms and ammunition to continue the fight against the Communist guerrillas.

But that is more of an idle hope than a valid theory, because the government forces, despite their American arms and equipment, are being bested consistently by the Communists.

BUDGET CUT:

Indifferent

With little discussion and a good deal of outright indifference, the senate adopted a resolution to gut President Truman's fiscal 1949 budget by 2.5 billion dollars.

How much significance the senate resolution would have in the final analysis was questionable, in view of prevailing uncertainties which might affect both sides of the ledger.

The 2.5-billion-dollar reduction would leave an estimated 10 billion dollars for tax cuts and debt reduction. Republicans, therefore, were feeling increasingly confident that an income tax slash of up to 5 billion dollars could be enacted.

Brevity of the senate discussion and its lack of apoplectic oratory was in direct contrast to last year's strident contest over the budget committee's recommendation of a 6-billion-dollar cut in the 1918 budget.

Democrats made no effort to block the proposed spending slash which had been recommended by the house-senate budget committee. It still requires house adoption.

Biggest bug in the senate's budget recommendation was the fact that it probably embodied a number of inaccurate estimates. Republican sponsors of the measure admitted that accurate estimates of budget needs were impossible at the time.

Sen. Styles Bridges (Rep., N. H.), chairman of the budget committee. compared the estimates with "a pre-game guess at the final score. But Sen. Alben Barkley (Dem., Ky.) called the procedure "a step in the dark."

IRELAND:

New Premier

Even to members of the Eire as sembly who had helped defeat him it was strange to see Eamon De Valera, premier of Ireland for 16 years, sitting quietly on the opposite side of the house as leader of the opposition.

In his place as premier was John A. Costello, former attorney general, whom the assembly had voted into office after a new six-party coalition had taken control of the legislative group as a result of the previous elections.

Costello, in a dignified speech to the assembly, explained his sudden emergence as premier of Ireland: "I consented to this nomination at the request of a number of parties who felt that the interest of the country required that there should be an inter-party government and that the premier of that govern-ment should occupy a position in political life detached from the controversial bitterness of the past."

The "inter-party government" whose choice Costello was is compounded of six political parties of apparently divergent ideals: Re-publican, United Ireland, Labor, National Labor, Independent and Farmers.

Just how long a government made up of so many diverse components would last was the subject of much speculation in Ireland. In their present cooperative mood the parties of the coalition may carry on for a year or two, but few wer prepared to give the government a much longer span of life.

CAT FEET:

First a Dream

Like the fog that "comes on little cat feet," Carl Sandburg, honored and honorable free-verse poet and voluminous biographer of Lincoln. was creeping into the senatorial race in Illinois. A hitherto almost imperceptible drive supporting Sandburg as a possible candidate for senator picked up considerable impetus with the release of a public opinion poll indicating that he might become a popular choice over the Democratic candidate, Paul H. Douglas, and the SANDBURG Republican candi-date, Sen. C. Wayland Brooks.

As far as the question of how a poet can turn into a politician is concerned, those favoring him say he is a "good man," he understands the common people and is educated and well-informed about the country's needs. The opposition claims he is politically inexperienced and. since he is a writer, is an impractical dreamer and an idealist. But Sandburg, the poet, once

Soap Operas Benefit Society

Schmoe" every day at 11:15 a. m., brought to you through the courtesy of Philbottom's Ossified Sheep Dip. The news is now out that soap operas, as presented interminably on the radio, actually might do you some downright good.

An anthropologist, Prof. W. Lloyd Warner, and a psychologist, Dr. William E. Henry, tuned in on a daytime radio serial over a long period and arrived at the ponderous solution that soap operas are "of considerable value to our society."

The two scholars, consultants for a research organization which di-

Women being the chief listeners, it is they who derive the greatest benefits from these daytime dirges by having their egos bolstered and their spirits strengthened by hearing stories of fictional women going through problems and experiences that parallel their own, the scientists pointed out.

"The basic and primary theme is that good and noble women who are wives and mothers are invincible within their own arena of life, the American family," said the report.

"Men, who are superordinate elsewhere, are subordinate and derected the study for Columbia pendent (in the story) on the wis- ened and blase critics.

theme always triumphs over the second theme which runs counter to it-that family ties can be broken and a woman's security threatened chiefly by the loss of the husband to other women, and, quite secondarily and obliquely, by death."

Moreover, the social scientists said, the program, among other tnings, provides its women listeners with "moral beliefs, values and techniques for solving emotional and interpersonal problems - and makes them feel they are learning while they listen." In brief, the report added up to a clear-cut spiritual and moral victory of the soap opera over its hard-

Mirror of Opinion

SPEAKER of the House Joe Martin recently told members of the American Small Business organizations meeting here that there was an "insidious campaign" to undermine the prestige of congress in the minds of the people. The canny New Englander, a newspaper publisher himself, resents criticism of congress. Speaker Martin has been in the public eye for many years, and we cannot believe that he is so complacent or naive as to believe that the 80th congress has not given grounds for honest criticism, even for abundant

The trouble with most politicians who grow old in the profession of politics, is that to disagree with them is to criticize . . . and that seems to be the basis of Speaker Martin's plaint. This writer believes that the one single group of men in the country who most accurately mirror the opinion and thought of the home towns of the country and rural America are the publishers of the weekly newspapers of the country. So it is with deep interest we note that a poll of country edi-tors by a trade magazine shows a large majority of the country editors favor 7 of the 10 major proposals made by President Truman to congress. On one of the 3 which they oppose, the sentiment is almost even.

The results: 65 per cent of the editors favor universal military training; 65 per cent approve a long range housing program including public housing for low income people; 54 per cent favor the $40 tax cut for each taxpayer; 61 per cent approve the Marshall plan and $6,800,-000,000 outlay for the first year; 66 per cent favor extension and strengthening of rent control; 60 per cent approve extension of social security benefits; 80 per cent favor granting statehood to Hawaii and Alaska; 51 per cent oppose the President's civil rights program by law, but seem to approve it by education or other means; 74 per cent oppose a national prepaid health program, and 61 per cent oppose tacking the $40 individual tax cut onto the corporation taxes.

Surely Speaker Martin and the GOP majority in congress who oppose most of these proposals do not consider this attitude of rural editors a part of the "insidious campaign" against congress.

Carroll Reece, chairman of the Republican national committee, wrote to Eugene Hensel, general counsel for the National Association of Farm Cooperatives, declaring that his party was proud of its long The chairman's face must have been red indeed when the majority committee report of the house ways and means com-mittee on Chairman Harold Knutson's $6,500,000,000 tax cut bill contained the statement that "small businesses are being bankrupted by competition of tax-free co-operatives." #### Cushion for Depression

While many here both in and out of government are jittery over the break in prices, fearful of a depression, this reporter's opinion is that there never can be a depression comparable with the 1929-1930 crash.

The truth is, the administration is doing everything possible to stave off a recession until after election, and the Republicans are doing everything they can to bring it on before election. But many economic and social reforms will serve as cushions to prevent a catastrophe such as happened 18 years ago. The private power lobby continues to get its foot into the door of congress and whittle away at public power. Latest instance is on the Rockwell bill, HR 2873. As it came out of committee, the bill would modernize the reclamation law and encourage development of western resources. For two or three days it withstood amendments from the floor seeking to weaken the bill. All failed. Then majority leader Charles Halleck took a hand and the bill was recommitted. It came out mangled and mutilated. It increased power rates on public reclamation projects and deprived irrigation farmers benefit of financial aid from power

Housing Issue

Housing will be a hot issue in the presidential campaign. Congress is awaiting a six months study by a committee headed by Rep. Ralph Gamble of New York, due March 15. In the meantime plans are to grant a moratorium on rent control, which ends February 29, preparatory to ending all control. Housing expediter says rents will rise 50 per cent if controls are removed. Congressmen will feel effects in hotel bills at Philadelphia conventions.

Gleefully, he pictured himself setting up ambush for the next time the publisher came in with another girl.

After an hour of planting imagiary booby traps all over the newspaper plant, the managing editor had mentally destroyed the publisher and all the girls on the staff a dozen times over. Just when he was halfway through his masterpiece of stuffing Geldhorn and the girls through the news press to be delivered as supplements to the 5 o'clock edition, Mike Bales with a face full of lather tore into the

TOWBOAT PILOT

By Elston J. Melton (Caxton Printers . . . . $4)

By Lyn Connelly.

Here at last is an intelligently written book for adolescent boys, one of the best of its kind since the immortal Mark Twain penned that perennial favorite, "Tom Sawyer.

Tom Briggs is essentially a good boy, but because he takes precious time away from his daily chores to swim with his chum, Johnny Sanders, and because he dreams constantly of the day when he might be a towboat pilot on the mighty Gasconade river, he is considered lazy and shiftless by his cruel stepfather and many of the town citizens.

You'll share Tom's frustration when, after he works hard to buy himself a small boat so that he can fish to support his family, his stepfather sells the boat and pockets the money. You'll share his horror when his hunting rifle goes off accidentally in the post office and he is accused by Mr. Pugh, the postmaster, of having deliberately attempted to kill him.

Despite his many handicaps, Tom proves through sheer perseverance and courage that he is capable of being a towboat captain. The story carries him from the age of 12 when he is in the dream stage, through the age of 21, when he makes his first cruise as a pilot. But long before the realization of his ambition, he earns the respect of his neighbors when he clears Mr. Pugh of a possible murder charge of which only Tom knows he is innocent, thus proving that he holds no malice in his heart for the postmaster who would have sent Tom to a juvenile home when he, too, was wrongly accused of a crime.

The book is a joy for those loving the great outdoors. Mr. Melton, a prominent Missouri newspaper man, knows his subject well and handles it beautifully with the result that there emerges a book full of tears and joy, tenderness and adventure.

New Uranium Discoveries

Show Wide Distribution The world is expanding its known sources of uranium, vital mineral of the Atomic Age.

Both newly independent Burma and the Union of South Africa have announced the discovery of extensive uranium deposits, National Geographic society notes. These latest finds are further evidence that the atomic-energy ore is much more widely distributed around the globe than popularly believed.

Prospecting for uranium lodes is much simpler than searching for gold. The uranium can be detected easily by a scientific "divining rod." Radioactive by nature, the mineral literally broadcasts its whereabouts in the ground. Forty years ago Hans Geiger, a German scientist, invented the instrument which hunts out the hidden ore.

THE UNTOLD STORY

OR more than 40 years I covered national political conventions as a newspaper reporter. My job at such conventions was to find and write the story of what actuated a nomination, what trend or specific action resulted in the delegates picking the selected candidate.

At the Republican convention of 1940 in Philadelphia I did not write the real story of what nominated Wendell Willkie. I did not find what was back of that nomination until the day after the convention had adand my journed. story of the urge of the home folks on the delegates that swept the convention into the Willkie bandwagon, had been printed.

The only Willkie organization I had found in Philadelphia was a group of nyloned stockinged New York social debutantes, who presided over what was termed Willkie headquarters in one of the better class hotels. They gushed over the glamour of their candidate, but knew nothing of politics and could exert no influence on the convention.

On the day on which the nomination was made, following the maximum vote both Dewey and Taft could produce, but without a needed majority for either aspirant, the delegates had been literally showered with telegrams demanding the nomination of Willkie. More than 100,-000 such wires were delivered to delegates from every state.

I saw those wires rolling in, but I did not read more than three or four of them. I never before had witnessed such a demand on the part of the rank and file of either party in support of a candidate for a presidential nomination. That was the story I wrote, and put on the wires immediately after the nomination was made. I treated it as a spontaneous expression of the Republican rank and file.

On Friday the convention named a vice - presidential candidate; thanked the police and fire departments of Philadelphia; the doors of the great hall were closed and locked, and the convention was over. I was detained in Philadelphia for a couple of days. Saturday afternoon I met in the lobby of the Benjamin Franklin hotel a Washington newspaper acquaintance I had not seen at any convention session.

In response to my query he said he had been in Philadelphia throughout the convention, but had never been out of the real Willkie headquarters located on the tenth floor of that hotel. He suggested that I go with him and see what was left of those headquarters.

On the desk of my acquaintance I found the original of some 22 telegrams. He had written all of them, all worded differently, but all demanding the nomination of Wendell Willkie. Occupants of that tenth floor had been a group of public util-ity executives. They were di-recting the Willkie convention campaign by remote control.

They had supplied copies of those telegrams to utilities throughout the nation, and employees of those utilities had rung door bells in every city and town to secure signatures to wires.

Too late I had found what was back of the Willkie nomination. It was a good story, but I had missed it. It demonstrated that those backing the Willkie candidacy were not the novices political leaders had credited them with being. They had created a demand at comparatively small cost, and without the actual source of that demand being sus pected.

'Common Man' in Action His appearance was that of a tramp. I watched him as he wearily walked up the street. Each step was a bit slower than the one before it. At a spot directly opposite my window he stopped and made an effort to thumb a ride. Car after car passed but none stopped. Finally the seeker of a ride picked up a hefty stone. As the next car rolled by without stopping he heaved the stone through its window. His depredation gave impetus to his weary legs, and he took off at a run down the street. The individual was a specimen of what Henry Wallace would class as "the common man." He was demanding what he considered his rights-a ride.

There has been too much talk and not enough action in regard to national economies on the part of congress. Individual Republicans are loud in their demands for less spending but collectively they continue to vote for things we could do without. Individuals condemn the maintenance of an army of useless bureaucrats. Collectively they vote the money to continue to pay their salaries.
