War Bond Sales

Total sales of war bonds in Lynn county last Saturday amounted to $622,827.55. The county's quota is $695,000, leaving a balance of $72,172.45 to be met.

Wilson had sold $60,736; O'Donnell, $80,116.85; Tahoka, $471,974.70. O'Donnell sales are coming along very well, and it is hoped that our quota can be subscribed before next Tuesday, the final day.

Dale Butkett enlisted in the U. S. Navy at Lubbock last Saturday and will report for service soon.

Can you Drive a Car?

When you were a kid, did you always pester to "go along" on every ride? And now, do you get a kick out of handling the wheel like a man?

Women with mechanical ability are needed in the WAC at once. Other skills are needed too. And untrained women can learn skills that will be useful all their lives. 239 types of Army jobs need Wacs to fill them.

Get full details at the nearest U. S. Army Recruiting Station (your local post office will give you the address) Or write: The Adjutant General, Room 4415, Munitions Building, Washington, D. C.

New Firm Opens

The O'Donnell Implement Co., Farmall dealers, the city's newest business concern opened for business Monday morning, with Chas. Cathey and Jim Ward as owners.

Besides having the Farmall agency, the company is also authorized dealers for genuine I. H. C. parts, and will maintain a complete repair shop with skilled mechanics in charge.

Messrs Cathey and Ward need no introduction to our people. Mr. Cathey has been in business circles here for years. Mr. Ward, prior to moving to Brownfield two years ago, was with the Farmall agency here. Both are capable business men, have a wide circle of friends, and will enjoy a fine patronage.

Pvt. Fred Shook, who has been on maneuvers at Camp Polk, La., for some time, is here for a visit with homefolks.

Pvt. Jasper C. Harris, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Harris, was recently transferred from the Amarillo Army Air base to Lincoln, Neb.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Burks and Mr. and Mrs. Dick Golightly, of Brownfield, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Golightly.

Mrs. John Stephens and infant son have returned from Lubbock, where the latter recovered from an attack of pneumonia in a Lubbock hospital.

To date $126.86 has been raised here in O'Donnell in the Infantile Paralysis Drive

For Commissioner

Lewis Kenley, farmer and former business man at Draw and Grassland, announces this week as a candidate for county commissioner of precinct 2. He has lived in the precinct 12 years, has a wide acquaintance, and enjoys an excellent reputation.

Following is his statement: "In announcing my candidacy for commissioner of precinct 2, I wish to express my appreciation for the friends in the various communities in which I have served in public business. I trust that by having entered this race, my first political undertaking, that I shall not be anything done or said cause the loss of one friend, but shall only make more such friends. If elected, I will try to serve all in an unselfish and impartial manner. "I believe I am qualified to serve my precinct as commissioner, and will do my best, if elected, to work at the job. My motto: "Better roads while we live, for we must travel daily."

Suspect Apprehended

Rangers Norvell Redwine, B. L. Parker, and N. R. Smith, highway patrolman, apprehended a 35-year-old man in Borden county Tuesday and conveyed him to Lubbock, where he was held as a suspect in the attack and robbery of Mrs. Beulah Farmer at Seagraves Tuesday. After being slugged, the Seagraves woman was robbed of over $370.

For County Commissioner

R. L. (Bob) Butchee candidate for re-election to a second term as county commissioner, Precinct 2, Dawson county, was in O'Donnell Saturday greeting friends, and authorized us to place his name in our political announcement column.

Mr. Butchee is now serving his first term as county commissioner and is a candidate, subject to the action of the democratic July primary. He has resided in the precinct for over 20 years, has had years of experience in school matters as a trustee, and is well acquainted with all matters pertaining to taxation and the management of county affairs coming under the jurisdiction of the board of county commissioners.

Mr. Butchee knows the needs of his precinct and promises if elected that each portion will receive his impartial consideration. He is grateful for the splendid support given him in the past, and respectfully solicits your vote and influence in the July democratic primary.

Pvt. Fred Shook and sister, Dona were Tahoka visitors Monday evening.

Drop in a coin in one of those fruit jars for cigarettes for the boys in service.

To Preach Sunday

The congregations at the Methodist church are very gratifying, the services attended by large numbers. The Church School is showing fine interest, the attendance being maintained at a high level.

Dr. N. L. Lipscomb, Superintendent of the Lubbock District, will preach Sunday at 11:30 a. m. bringing an inspiring message. The pastor will preach Sunday night at 8 o'clock, building his sermon around the characteristics of the great man Jephthah.

The young peoples' meeting, at 7:15 p. m., sponsored by Mrs. Ervin Jones, is being well attended.

A cordial invitation is extended to all not obligated elsewhere, to attend any and all services.

Mayor Stansell Jones, who for the past several months has been in Uncle Sam's military service, was here this week on furlough for a visit with Mrs. Jones. Tuesday he was a guest at the Rotary luncheon and made a very interesting talk on events in his military service. He returns to the West Coast this week end.

J. William Roach was a business visitor in Lubbock last Saturday.

Mrs. Clarence A Moore left this week to join her husband, who is stationed at Yuma, Ariz.

Will Help You

Deputy Collectors Ben M. Hawkins and F. E. Nelson will be at the First National Bank, Tahoka, on February 21 to assist taxpayers in the preparation of their 1943 income tax returns. Also, Hawkins and S. E. Gillespie will be at the post office in Lamesa, February 29, March 1 and 2, for the same purpose.

Card Of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere appreciation for the many kind acts and words of sympathy extended us in the loss of our beloved Mrs. W. F. Pelts. Also for the floral offerings.

The Family.

Staff Sgt. Jesse L. Bolch, old home boy, arrived last Friday from Columbia, S. C., for a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Bolch. Stationed at Columbia Army Air Base this popular home boy is enjoying army life fine, winning promotions right along. His host of friends here were mighty glad to see him again.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Robinson and daughter, Lometa, and Skeet Golightly are visiting in Houston this week.

Pvt. James Lindley, of Camp Polk, La., is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. C. Lindley.

Friday, February 11, is the ninety-seventh anniversary of the birth of Thomas A. Edison

Our debt to Edison grows greater every year. Today, with the Nation engaged in a terrific war, the inventions and discoveries which the late genius developed for the benefit of humanity are playing an important part in the fight to preserve the American Way.

It was Edison who established the first steam-driven electric power plant. This was the beginning of the great electric power and light industry which has become one of the most powerful weapons in the war effort.

Today, America has the POWER for Victory -- more electric power than all the Axis nations combined -- thanks to the genius of Edison and the workers in the electric power and light industry.

BUY MORE WAR BONDS--LET'S ALL BACK THE ATTACK!

Sallies in Our Alley: Benny Goodman and a chap who just signed a Hollywood contract were discussing Movie Town . . . "How's the weather out there now?" asked the Broadwayite. "I'll be leaving for Hollywood shortly. What clothing should I take along?" "You might take a knife," said Benny. "A knife-proof vest!" . . . Congressmaid Clare Luce, at a party, was seated between playwright Frederick Lonsdale and producer Gilbert Miller . . . Lonsdale asked her: "If you had a choice, kissing me or Miller, whom would you choose?" . . . Clare hesitated. "I'll never," said Lonsdale, "forgive you for that pause!"

Somerset Maugham's first book was "Liza of Lambeth" . . . England's great book critic, Edmund Gosse, whose opinions made or broke a writer, wrote an ecstatic notice about it . . . The next day Maugham was on the road to fame . . . Once he had six plays running in London at the same time—all walloping hits . . . He followed through with "Of Human Bondage" and many other best-sellers . . . And critic Gosse constantly met Maugham at dinners and parties for twenty years and always said: "Mr. Maugham, that wonderful book of yours. How wise you are never to write another line!"

A legend in Cuba (the home of the famed Bacardi rum) is this. The rum was originally owned by ten brothers. Only two survive. Every time one of the Bacardi brothers passed on he was buried with a case of the rum—"knowing the brothers in Heaven were waiting for some!"

Pod'n the Round Shoulders: Margie Holliday tells of the chap who took out a lovely looker, who was unbelievably dumb. When he delivered her home after an endless evening he sighed: "You're very beautiful, but so stupid!"

"If you think I'm stupid," she gaged, "you should see my mother. She's all bent over!"

Yes, indeed! In the newsreels from the war fronts our brave commanders are usually photo'd leading their men to the attack. We saw a closeup like that last night. The General facing the camera. A woman in front audibly remarked: "He's certainly brave—but how about the unknown photographer who has his back to the enemy?"

The Magic Lanterns: "The Lodger," a classic among blood-curdlers (based on the sinful Jack, the Ripper), loses none of its shudders in its transfer to the screen . . . "Higher and Higher" is a pleasant song-and-dance film. It brings Prof. Sinatra into focus. He'll never get as many girlish squeals for acting as he gets for paper-dolling, but he gets by okay. J. Haley, Michele Morgan and the Hartmans help considerably . . . "The Miracle of Morgan's Creek" is wild waggery, a direct slap at Pop Dionne. Eduardo Bracken is a pranky parent, and Betty Hutton jumps out of her skin from time to time . . . "Where Are Your Children?" deals with juvenile delinquency. It skips the preacher angles and assumes its audience is more than eleven.

Willie Collier is dead. There was a comic. He had wit and showmanship and a style of offhand clowning that you hardly ever find in the days of stun-the-peasants technique. You remember him best from one of the first Music Box Revues, teamed up with the late Sam Bernard. That was where Willie popularized the word "nifty." A couple of seasons later he produced a show for himself and Bernard, called "Nifties." It died, but nothing of Collier's deserved to.

Another time Collier was a last minute replacement—for Lew Fields it seems. On his first entrance he turned to the audience and exhibited his shaking hands—and won the house. Later, making an exit, he was asked by the heavy where he was going. "Back to the dressing room," retorted Willie, "and study my lines."

Sallies in Our Alley: Over at The Gamecock a movie actor said that Hollywood "is wonderful to everyone except people with smallpox" . . . To which a cynic queried: "You mean to tell me that a guy with a flat wallet would be welcome here?" . . . "No," was the retort, "in Hollywood a flat wallet is the first sign of smallpox!" . . . D. Lowe's nifty: "When the Yanks take Cassino, they'll have to play with 5/2 cards as the Duce is missing."

Quotation Marksmanship: Barbara Nix: The minutes crawled by like wounded men . . . Msgr. Fulton J. Sheen: Peace without justice is like painting rouge on the international cheek . . . J. M. Barrie: In love-making, as in the other arts, those do it best who cannot tell how it is done . . . Paschal Boland: Pride is a one-man parade . . . Somerseset Maugham: They simply lived in one another's pockets . . . Joan Eden: She swallowed her tears . . . Anon: It's not the creed; it's the deed.

Washington, D. C.

SIGNIFICANCE OF RUSSIAN BLAST

Members of the diplomatic corps who have lived beside Russia and dealt with her diplomats for years point to some significant things about the Pravda report which set the world on its ear about the British negotiating a separate peace with Nazi Foreign Minister Ribbentrop.

In the first place, diplomats point out that, had the report been published in Izvestia, it would have been much more serious. Izvestia is the organ of the Soviet government, and anything appearing therein can be considered the gospel views of the Kremlin itself.

However, Pravda, organ of the Communist party, is one step removed, and anything published in it can be interpreted as close to but not necessarily representing the views of Stalin.

Thus, it was Pravda which dropped a ton of editorial bricks on the unsuspecting, well-intentioned head of Wendell Willkie, hitherto considered Russia's best friend. That editorial rebuke came after Willkie had discussed the Polish boundary question—in a manner quite sympathetic to Russia.

However, the Russians chose to rebuke their best friend as a warning to President Roosevelt and Secretary Hull that they did not want the Polish question discussed at all—not even by their friends. They could not very well come out and rebuke Hull and Roosevelt, so they chose a prominent American, one step removed, figuring Hull and Roosevelt would take the hint.

Therefore, remembering that Russian diplomatic moves are usually aimed obliquely at something on the other side of the billiard table, here is the diplomatic corps' explanation of the latest Pravda thrust against the British.

For about two years, it has been no secret that the British have hung back regarding a second front in western Europe. It is also no secret that, right down to the Teheran conference, Churchill pulled for a Balkan front or almost any other front except a western front.

PUTTING BRITISH ON SPOT

Stalin is a man who never forgets and, even if no friction had occurred at Teheran, he would have continued to be suspicious about British intentions of a second front, in view of the two years of second front debate. And on top of Teheran, plus Churchill's long stay in Africa, Stalin's suspicions may be boiling again.

Therefore, point out the diplomats, what could be more adroit than to put the British squarely on the spot by subtly accusing them of talking to the Nazis about a separate peace? In other words, after the Pravda article, the British now have to prove they want no separate peace by pushing ahead with the second front. If they delay it, then the Russians can point to the suspicion—no matter how untrue—that perhaps the British were talking to Ribbentrop after all—which, of course, they weren't.

The Pravda publication fits in, especially at this time, when there actually have been some hints in official circles that the Russians are doing so well that the Nazis will surrender soon, then we wouldn't need a second front.

It's complicated, but the Russian mind is complicated, and Russian diplomacy even more so.

SOFTENING CASUALTY MESSAGES

The war department has received many letters recently from ministers and private families, suggesting that, instead of sending casualty messages by telegram to bereaved families, they be sent to a committee of pastors in each community, one of whom would then deliver the message and seek to soften the blow of the tragic news.

So far, however, the war department has taken the position that it should continue delivery of the casualty messages by Western Union messenger boy. Army officials argue that delivery by a clergyman would cause confusion and delay, and that a clergyman might not be available at the time, or he might lack proper and immediate transportation.

Also, the army argues that a casualty message has a high priority, which means that its transmission is expedited, and this might be offset by delay at the receiving end if the message had to pass through the hands of a clergyman.

CAPITAL CHAFF

When diplomats run out of liquor, that's a story. Carlos Campbell of the Chilean embassy burst into the office of Chilean Ambassador Michels, saying, "Don Rodolfo, please lend me a case of wine for tonight; I'm having a party!" "I can't do it," replied the ambassador. "I have no wine myself!"

In the Library of Congress, back numbers of Esquire are kept in the Delta Collection, a special collection of sex books and other erotica available to adults, not to adolescents.

Pick Cave, Enjoy Winter in Italy

But There Is Not Enough To Go Around as Nazis Are Slow to Move.

ON THE ITALIAN FRONT.—If you are planning to spend the winter on the front, what you need is a good cave.

Of course, you just don't go out and pick one from the nearest real estate agent. It's a first come, first served basis, and the Jerries—having planned to spend the winter here—a little stubborn about giving up their caves, says an AP correspondent. Even when they do, there aren't nearly enough to go around, and thousands of soldiers up here have never spent a single night inside a cave.

This is a community cave high on the hillside. About 50 officers sleep here, most of them liaison men between the command post and the front. They've covered the mouth of the cave with canvas shelter halves which keep out the weather and hide the candle glow.

Bed Rolls on Floor. Cots and bed rolls are scattered all over the sandy floor; there is a poker game going on in the back, a quiz contest in progress along one side, and a lot of guys lying around reading or writing letters home.

I have an old "C" ration box for a typewriter stand and niches in the wall for candle holders. Even if it lasts only for a few days it's the best deal I have found anywhere along the front. It's warm, dry and cheerful, safe and even the constant sound of nearby guns seems distant and muffled.

Outside it's cold and bleak and raining and you never know when a shell fragment might rip a hole in your tent and let the rain in.

The only trouble is that it's a terrific grind to get up here. Steps have been dug into the 60-degree angle hill but still, with a bed roll, musette bag, and other equipment, it's a long labored upward trek.

"Once you get here though, it's worth it," said Lieut. Don B. Hankins of San Antonio, who had just come in from smoking a cigarette on the ledge outside. "A man ought to always sit on his front porch and smoke a while every night," he said.

Candle Shadows Flicker.

Lieuts. Robert W. Plunkett of St. Paul and Roger Sheppard of Rochester, N. Y., are arguing heatedly over whether those two Greek characters made their fatal flight on wings of wax purely as a scientific experiment or because the sheriff was hot on their trail.

"Poker's going up, two kings bet five bucks," said Lieut. Harold Zukker of the Bronx, N. Y., from the back of the cave.

"I'll see it," says Lieut. Tom J. Bostock of Elizabeth, N. J.

"Reckon I'll have to buy another card, too," said Lieut. Col. Edwin N. Harris of El Paso, Texas. Their hands reaching across the army blanket on the cot make flickering candle-light shadows on the rocky walls and ceiling.

In the momentary silence, someone says, "Sure going to be tough when we move on and have to leave the cave."

Zukker wins the pot and the cards are reshuffled. Someone coughs in his sleep from the other side of the cave and it echoes eerily back from the dark rocky recesses.

The argument begins again; outside the rain drips off the rocky ledge and the guns keep rumbling.

Trail of Tough Luck Is Brought to End by Judge

HAGERSTOWN, MD.—Judge Joseph D. Mish listened to a long hard luck story from Max Turner, 19, agreed that Turner had had enough, and paroled him.

Convicted of stealing 5,000 cigarettes, Turner told the judge that he stole because he was in arrears in his grocery bill, that his uninsured home was destroyed by fire, that his wife, a victim of infantile paralysis, fell and broke both legs, and that he himself suffers from bronchial asthma, and is 4-F in the draft.

Besides, Turner added, he must care for the baby while his wife is in bed.

Reports on Missing Are Due Every Ninety Days

WASHINGTON.—The war department moved to assuage the anxiety of relatives of soldiers missing in action by announcing that hereafter reports on the status of the missing will be transmitted every three months. If new information becomes available, it will be transmitted immediately.

The system is being inaugurated so next of kin need not fear that communications from the war department have been lost or misdirected.

Cow's Hair Being Used In Clothing for Danes

COPENHAGEN.—Cow's hair is being used in the manufacture of clothing in Denmark, according to reports received by grapevine in the United States.

Denmark also is making clothes out of paper. Flax is cultivated on 17,300 acres, the largest plantings in the last 100 years, and is providing the sewing yarn for the shoe industry.

War Has Made Map Business Thrive

Clamor From Parents of Men In Service Grows.

NEW YORK.—The war has made Americans so map-minded that cartographers, in the throes of an unprecedented boom, have rolled out 50,000,000 maps since Pearl Harbor.

"We've never seen anything like it," said Jacques Frazin, manager of the eastern commercial department of Rand McNally and company. "We're oversold on globes and atlases. Printed color map sales have more than doubled since peace-time. They follow the headlines and the boys in camp."

As soon as a new American theater of operations is opened maps of the region become sold out. There's been a corresponding clamor for maps of the United States from parents and friends of servicemen who want to visualize and measure how far Johnny's camp is from home.

In anticipation of the big invasion, maps of Europe are most popular at the moment. For the last few months Italy has taken the lead. "Sometimes," said Frazin, "we can guess from government orders where the next 'hot spot' may be."

"Bougainville was a dot to us in 1939 when we stopped surveys and boundary changes, and it still is," Frazin said. "But the boys' folks want detail, a couple of streets, maybe, so they can picture where the kid is."

World maps with colored pins and flags are as popular with soldiers in camp as with civilians at home.

Pictorial maps for children and luxury models for big executives are also setting sales records.

"We've done hand-painted jobs as big as 32 by 16 feet and costing a flat $4,000," Frazin said.

Window Washer Dangles Over Street, Loses Voice

CHICAGO.—Nick Kublik, the man who lost his voice five stories above ground when his safety strap broke as he was washing windows in a building at 35 S. Dearborn street, is back to normal now. He can talk.

Kublik had the most harrowing experience of his career as he dangled on one strap before onlookers. His lips were seen to move, but no sound came forth. Heads from various windows peered in horror at his plight.

Then two men, not content merely to watch, acted. Stanley J. Keldsen, an advertising man, ran from his office on the seventh floor and grabbed Kublik's leg. Samuel Lee, a furrier, also quartered on the seventh floor, grabbed an arm. A cooperative tug, and Kublik was safe.

U. S. Farmers Discover Britons Fonder of Work

LONDON.—A good harvest of comments was reaped today by British newspaper men who interviewed three American farmers who had traveled 5,000 miles in Britain.

Oscar Henline of Marcus, Iowa, said: "The British farmer is fonder of work than we are. He will walk behind a machine. We won't."

Robert J. Howard of Sherburne, N. Y., said: "I take off my hat to your land girls; they are wonderful."

Earl Robinson of Mondovi, Wis., said a Scottish farmer had financed part of their trip when they ran out of cash.

Lover Hidden 16 Months In Space 11 by 3 Feet

LONDON.—A story of a 33-year-old woman who hid a lover for 16 months in a coffin-like space—11 feet by 3—under her parlor came out of Chelmsford court recently.

By the official account related in court, the secret was so well kept that the husband never suspected. But, the court was told, the lover suspected that three other men also were friendly with the woman. He emerged and the police seized him on a charge of desertion from the French army.

The woman was sentenced to a month in jail for helping to conceal a deserter.

Round, Round He Goes; Where He Stops—Denver

DENVER.—Pfc. Stan Greenspan wanted a ride from Denver to New York for his brother's wedding.

"Simple," said his buddies. "Get a three-day pass. Hook a ride on a bomber at Lowry Field and—swish—there you'll be."

Greenspan caught a bomber but it went only as far as Wichita, Kan. Next he air-hiked to Kansas City. Then he was shunted to Chicago. There he was advised to try Salt Lake City. After a 24-hour layover in Utah, he caught a bomber ride to Denver, arriving just as his pass expired.

Marine Bugler Bags His Japanese Opposite

BOUGAINVILLE ISLAND, SOLOMONS.—Marine Bugler Robert L. Greenwell of Henderson, Ky., spotted four Japanese advancing. He opened fire, killing the leading man. The others fled.

Searching the dead soldier's pack, Greenwell discovered a bugle. It took a bugler to kill a bugler.

Who's News This Week

By Delos Wheeler Lovelace

Consolidated Features.—WNU Release.

NEW YORK.—After 1940 it seemed that Rear Admiral Ross T. McIntyre had had official instructions to look on only the bright side of all presidential military probes. In '40, after the usual pokes and taps and lab tests, he announced that his White House patient wasn't so good. In '41, however, he said the subject was in grand health and he said the same in '42 and '43. But now, following that recent bout with the flu, he is firm in his order that the President coast for a while.

This 3rd Termer Will Also Take 4th If Voters Say So

McIntyre, chief doctor to President Roosevelt for three terms and a cinch for the assignment if voters approve a fourth term, is stocky, broad-faced, full-mouthed, bald and assured, as all good doctors must be. Born in Oregon, he married and practiced for a while before entering the navy in 1916 as medical corps lieutenant, j.g. Until he took on the top-toe care of President Roosevelt he specialized in eye, ear, nose and throat matters and was good enough to be elected a Fellow of the American College of Surgeons. He has decorations from Brazil, Sweden and Belgium.

When he went to the White House he was a captain, but he was boosted over a lot of seniors into the navy's surgeon generalcy and made a rear admiral forthwith. His order is that the President keep between 184 and 188 pounds, which cuts off second helpings but allows an unlimited variety of food. He didn't order but approves the President's eight hours of sleep and breakfast in bed between eight and nine. Dinner he leaves to Mrs. Roosevelt.

KINFOLKS seem to have guided the hand of fate which brings Leighton Goldie McCarthy now to the post of first Canadian ambassador to the U. S. He is a top-draw-er statesman and business man, of course; and for that may take some personal credit. But consider his grandfather! A solicitor back in Dublin, he came to Canada because a partner left him short of cash and Canada seemed the best place for a fresh start. McCarthy wouldn't likely be the new ambassador except for that Irish trouble.

Then there is the fact that his family has long held a seat in the Canadian house of commons. Young Leighton, who was born in Ontario, near blue Lake Huron, helped his uncle win the seat in 1891 and that, no doubt, inspired him to run for the seat himself in 1898. He held it until 1908. He has been Canadian Minister to Washington since 1941.

Early in life he studied law in an uncle's office in Barrie, Ont. Relatives, again! He has represented aluminum interests and is chairman of Canadian Life, the oldest Canadian life insurance company. A humanitarian, he is a trustee of our National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis and visits the President yearly at Warm Springs. They are old friends.

Mr. McCarthy is a spare, polished man, six feet tall. Although he is 75 years old now, it is easy to believe that he once excelled at rough tough lacrosse. Fishing, golfing and riding are his present interests.

Reds Say There's Still Kings a Cat Wouldn't Look At

THE Russians can't be reading King Carol's recent clippings. When his expensive press agent was hired the idea was to fill even Moscow's new papers with stories of a sort to draw a halo around the head of Rumania's runaway ruler. A lot of pieces landed in a lot of papers, good ones, too. But here is Moscow calling Carol a comic opera fellow and warning that he will never, never get his throne back.

Such stubbornness will dismay Carol down in Mexico City's suburban Coyoacan where he lives a simple life intended to convince his worst enemies that he is changed for the better. A Hohenzollern on his father's side, kinsman of British royalty on his mother's, he keeps to a practically peasant routine. He and Madame Lupescu live in a small house with only one servant, six dogs and in the master's bedroom only seven suits of clothes.

Now and then they play bridge with neighbors, no stakes; but usually Carol is abed with the birds, which should surprise his old Paris pals, if any still live.

His typical day begins about seven in the morning. He breakfasts on coffee, toast, fruit, reads his mail and works in the garden, while Madame Lupescu suggests he might better have planted that there, or there. Then lunch and all the newspapers, then a motor ride to deliver Madame Lupescu at the Red Cross workshop, then home to receive official callers.

REFRACTORY CEMENT

Question: The heat of the past winter's fires has burned out the mortar between the bricks. I was told that I should use fire clay and that the fire back should have been laid up with fire clay instead of lime and plaster. I am told that lime and cement mortar are used in fireplaces. None of the lumber yards here know anything about fire clay. What can I use to repair the back wall of the fireplace?

Answer: Mason material dealers and plumbing and heating supply houses handle refractory cement and fire clay. Refractory cement is generally used and preferred as a mortar between fire brick. If you cannot get the material, try the following: Rake out the old cement to a depth of a half-inch or more; then brush out the loose particles. Soak the spaces with plenty of clear water and pack the joints with a fairly stiff mixture of one part portland cement, one part hydrated lime and five parts of clean, coarse sand. Keep the new mortar damp for several days and do not use the fireplace for at least one week.

CHIPPED SINK

Question: How can I improve the appearance of my kitchen sink? Parts of the porcelain have been rubbed off, showing the black iron surface.

Answer: If the damaged places are not below the water line, get a white enamel made especially for patching chipped porcelain surfaces. After cleaning the spots brighten the exposed metal by rubbing with steel wool, then wipe with turpentine and apply a coat of special undercoat and follow with porcelain enamel.

Blackened Sills

Question: I have had plants on my varnished window sills, and the water from these plants has gone on the sills and turned them black. Is there anything I can do to get them clean again? The black seems to be in the wood.

Answer: Take off the finish down to the wood with paint remover. The stains can be bleached out with a saturated solution of oxalic acid and denatured alcohol. Apply this liberally and allow to remain for several hours. Rinse well with clear water and allow the wood to dry thoroughly. Finish with a top quality spar varnish. If the woodwork has had a stain, try to match the color with the other woodwork before applying the varnish.

Javelle Water

Question: Will you please tell me how Javelle water is mixed?

Answer: Dissolve one-half pound of washing soda in a quart of cold water, adding one-quarter pound of chloride of lime with the lumps crushed. This mixture is allowed to stand until the sediment has settled; then the clear liquid is drawn off, strained through a thickness of cloth and bottled. In use, one part of the solution should be diluted with three parts or more of water. If used for laundering, remember to rinse out very thoroughly; for, otherwise, the fabrics will be weakened—if not ruined.

Cleaning Aluminum

Question: How can I remove a black line from the inside of one of my aluminum saucers? This line was caused by a liquid standing too long.

Answer: Boil a half-and-half mixture of vinegar and water in the pan for 20 minutes or so; further rubbing with a special aluminum cleanser (to be had from your grocer) or fine steel wool and soap may be needed.

Galvanized Pipe

Question: I would like to take down my galvanized furnace pipe. What can I do to prevent water forming on the pipe? Would the attic be a good place to store it?

Answer: After giving the pipe a good cleaning to free it from dust, coat both sides with light oil and store in the attic. If there are any rust spots, rub them off with steel wool or fine sandpaper before applying the oil.

Rusted Caster Holders

Question: I am using a metal bed that had been stored and the casters are attached on sections that fit in the legs of the bed. The holders are quite rusty. What should I do to make them usable now?

Answer: Take out the caster holders and soak them in kerosene. After a half-hour or so, the rust can be removed by rubbing with steel wool or sandpaper. When the metal is clean, give it a coat of light oil or varnish. This will retard further rusting.

Don't Worry, Ma

By ELLIS K. BALDWIN
McClure Syndicate—WNU Features.

SERGEANT JIMMY GRAHAM sat slouched over the writing table in the Post Exchange gnawing at the end of his fountain pen. He hated writing letters as much as his mother loved to receive them. It wasn't so hard at first but now he was running out of things to say. The only piece of news he could think of was something you couldn't put down on paper. The commanding officer had given strict orders about that.

Jim's nostrils twitched. The memory of the spicy aroma in his mother's kitchen took him across the miles to Burtonville. She was standing beside the stove with a long spoon stirring a batch of apple butter the day he broke the news.

"Enlisted? Jim, that's fine," she said firmly, pushing back a strand of graying hair which clung moistly to her flushed cheek. "The Grahams have all been good soldiers," she sang out as she cut a thick slice of fresh bread and loaded it generously with the delicious brown concoction.

He had noticed her fingers tremble ever so slightly when she handed it to him. Jim came from a family of fighting men, right back to Great-Grandfather Ebenezer who carried a musket in 1812, she reminded him, as if he didn't know it. He knew too they had all returned. Every one of them except his own father.

That accounted for Ma's trembling fingers. "Put a Graham in a cage with man-eating tigers and nothing but his bare fists and he'd battle his way out somehow," she'd often said proudly. But when she read

Kathleen Norris Says:

The Same Old Lottery

Bell Syndicate—WNU Features.

"Judd is home for lunch every day and I have no help."

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

WHOEVER said "marriage is a lottery" said it a long time ago, for I can't remember the time when I wasn't familiar with the phrase. Naturally it doesn't mean anything to children, nor even to youth, for young lovers feel perfectly confident of each other—no lottery about it, they know.

But later on, after a few years of matrimony, wise women recognize the truth of the old saying. For every wife gets good and gets bad out of her bargain, but the good isn't the good she expected, and the faults she presently discovers even in the most perfect husband, aren't in the least the faults about which she so lovingly and jokingly teased him when they were only engaged.

A woman named Tania Quinn writes me about it. Like a million other American girls Tania married a serviceman last year; she had known him only seven weeks when she became his wife, and at that time didn't think that he had any faults at all. He's a flier, and while all servicemen possess a romantic attraction for women, fliers have a special glamour. Tania admits that she has been unusually popular, that a great many of the boys wanted to marry her, and she says she made special stipulations before she would consent to say "yes" to Judd.

She must have her own separate room. He was never to be home for lunch. They weren't to have a baby for five years. At the end of the first year they were to have a frank talk, each telling the other the 10 qualities or habits he or she most disliked in his mate, and if they were not able to come to a fair agreement then they were to separate.

Flier Agreed to Terms.

Judd, rather weakly it seems to me, but perhaps he was too madly infatuated to be reasonable, agreed to these absurd terms; he and Tania were married, and he flew away.

Now he is home again, to stay. Because of a foot injury he can't fly any more, but has been placed as an instructor at an important post.

"Of course I was perfectly delighted to have him safe at home," says Tania's letter. "But everything came out differently from what I expected, and I want to know if I haven't the right to claim the old promises from Judd. Space is terribly short here; we have one room and a bath and tiny kitchen. Promise one. Judd is home for lunch every day and I have no help. Promise two. I am expecting a baby, which makes me simply furious although I have no doubt I will love it when it comes. Promise three. And when in June I proposed that we have that long talk and see how we really felt about things Judd only laughed. He hasn't the slightest notion that he is failing me so terribly and has broken every promise that he ever made me. I think that if he was sympathetic I would not care so much, but I am away from home, lonely, not a very good housekeeper and feeling miserably sick all the time, and I just go about resenting things and crying. Not my idea of marriage at all!"

Well, this letter, with its unconscious revelation of prolonged adolescence, would be funny if it were not so pathetic. Life has taken hold of Tania and made her a woman in spite of herself, and she doesn't like so abrupt a treatment. But one can't quite blame Judd, after his scalding experiences in the war, his

HUMANS CONSTANTLY CHANGE

Human beings are constantly changing either for better or worse. Rules of behavior cannot be laid down by one human for another to follow. That is the mistake made by the young wife in the situation discussed today by Kathleen Norris. This young lady laid down certain regulations that her suitor was to follow when they were married. He hasn't followed them and she is discouraged. Marriage is not a cold blooded proposition to be planned and worked out according to a formula. This young lady is finding this out. No husband or wife can be expected to remain the same year in and out. They change. Hidden qualities are developed, some good and some bad.

months of hourly danger, his heroism and his injury, for not taking too seriously Tania's high-school-girl conception of what true mating between a man and a woman is.

Men Changed by Marriage.

Take it as a law, you girls who are jumping so gaily and confidently into marriage: his faults and his virtues, his tastes and his dislikes, will all be a complete surprise to you, whether you've known him a month or ten years. The frequenter of night clubs and dance halls wants to settle down with the newspaper and the radio. The waster of money, who bought orchids and candy and champagne for you before you were married, turns out to be a miser at heart. The flatterer turns silent and unresponsive; the big burly outdoors hero is afraid of getting his feet wet.

But on the other hand, unexpected generosity, helpfulness, wisdom, knowledge, patience have a way of appearing, too. The man who seemed blunt and unappreciative during courtship days, amazes you with roses on an anniversary. The man who slighted your family develops, when he has joined it, a feeling of real affection for it. The man who didn't want or like children becomes the most infatuated father of them all. Good comes as surprisingly as bad.

And, anyway, it's living—it's life. So when fate offers it to you, take your lottery ticket like the rest of us.

Kerosene Will Remove Grime From Work Clothes

Grime can best be removed from dirty work clothes by soaking them in a solution of kerosene and water. (Don't use this system for your general laundry though—it's not necessary for most things.) The general proportion to follow is 2 cups of kerosene to 10 gallons of lukewarm water. Again, don't use hot water because it will set the stains and dirt rather than dislodge them.

Soak clothes in the kerosene water for about half an hour, or until you can see that dirt and grime are pretty well loosened up. When you're ready to do the actual washing, squeeze out as much of the kerosene water as possible and go on to the next step.

Rinse clothes well—two or three rinses at least—to remove every bit of kerosene and soap. A starched appearance is desirable in most work clothes. For heavy ones, such as overalls, add two cups of cooked starch to last rinse water. For lighter-weight work clothes a thinner starch will add a smooth finish that keeps clothes clean longer.

Let Hearts Be Gay on Valentine's Day!
(See Recipes Below)

Cupid's Share

Hold on to your heart! Here comes Cupid ready to do tricks to your heart on Valentine's Day! It's time for a party with cute Dan Cupid reigning on a mighty throne.

February's a short, short month but with plenty of opportunity for party-giving. You can have a Lincoln's or Washington's Birthday party, or you can be extra gay and colorful with a Valentine's party. These should be extra popular this year with the pepped-up pace of romance. If anyone in your crowd is about ready for a shower or wedding you might take the cue from Valentine's day and make Cupid's decorations your theme.

Pink-and-white or red-and-white are the gay color schemes and you can carry these out in both food and decorations. A simple but dramatic table picture is seen in the picture in today's column. Three large, red valentine boxes are set on their side in a row to form the main interest for the table. If you want to enlarge on this, get other pink-and-white or red-and-white decorations such as nosegays of roses and tie with a swirl of ribbon.

If you would rather carry this out in flowers, get a nice centerpiece of red-and-white flowers. But have a heart, somewhere along the way. If you have a valentine mold make a valentine cake or jelly mold and work out an arrow with a pastry tube or, if the cake is iced you might even put on an arrow made out of red paper.

Here is a luscious salad that takes it easy on rationed foods:

*Molded Raw Cranberry Salad.

(Serves 6 to 8)
2 cups raw cranberries, ground
1 envelope orange gelatine
1 cup chopped celery
1/2 cup chopped nuts
1 cup granulated sugar
2 cups water

Pour 1/2 cup water in a bowl. Add gelatine to water. Add 1 1/2 cups water and sugar and stir until dissolved. Add lemon juice. Set aside to cool. Grind raw cranberries, chop nuts and celery fine. Add these ingredients to gelatine. Place salad in one large or several individual molds and let jelly until firm. Serve with lettuce or greens.

These clever ham roll-ups add a colorful and festive note to your menu. They're simple to make if you just follow directions:

Ham Roll-Ups.

(Makes 4 Roll-ups)
2 tablespoons fat
2 1/2 tablespoons flour
1/4 teaspoon salt
Pepper

1 cup milk
1/4 cup grated American cheese
4 slices leftover boiled or baked ham, sliced thin
8 asparagus tips

Blend fat, flour and seasonings. Gradually add the milk. Stir until thick and smooth. Add cheese and stir until it has melted. Cut ham in thin slices 4 x 6 inches. Roll two asparagus tips in each slice. Secure with toothpick, place in a shallow pan and surround with cheese sauce. Sprinkle with paprika. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) 15 minutes. Insert sprigs of parsley at end of each ham roll. Serve at once.

Get out your heart-shaped cutter if you want to make sandwiches. For a simple children's supper party or for valentine refreshments for grown-ups, serve heart-shaped sandwiches filled with chicken salad and garnish the platter with buttered beets cut in heart shapes. Strawberry and vanilla ice cream with little sugar cookies—a tiny motto candy heart placed in the center of each cookie—is effective.

This chicken sandwich spread may be prepared the day before it is used to fit in the day's schedule:

*Chicken Sandwich Spread.

4 cups finely minced chicken
1 can pimientos, finely minced
1 cup pickle relish
1/4 cup grated onion, if desired
Salt and pepper to taste
Mayonnaise to moisten

Thoroughly mix all ingredients and store in refrigerator until ready to use.

Cherries can make food decorative for any Valentine party whether they are used in cake or pie:

Champion Cherry Pie.

Crust:
1 1/2 cups bread flour
10 tablespoons lard
1 teaspoon salt
5 to 6 tablespoons ice water

Sift flour and salt together, add lard and blend. Add ice water gradually and cool.

Filling:

2 1/2 cups pitted sour cherries, drained
1/4 cup cherry juice
2 1/4 tablespoons fine tapioca
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon butter

Soak tapioca, sugar and salt in cherry juice and let stand while pastry is being made. Then mix well with cherries, add butter and put in pie tin. Bake pie for 10 minutes at 450 degrees then reduce temperature to moderate or 350 degrees and bake for 20 minutes. Turn off oven and let stand at oven temperature for 20 minutes before removing from oven.

If you want sugar-saving suggestions, write to Lynn Chambers, Western Newspaper Union, 210 South Desplaines Street, Chicago 6, Illinois. Don't forget to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope for your reply.

DREAMS come pretty true in some instances, and we hope that this Georgia man's dream comes to pass. Virgil Smith, the Baldwin, Georgia, farmer who predicted the correct date for the end of World War I, says that the present war will end on Easter Sunday, 1944. Smith, who makes his predictions as a result of dreams, said three months before the end of the first World War that it would be over on Nov. 11, 1918. He even predicted correctly just how that war would end and how peace terms would be arranged. Smith also made another prediction that came true—that Italy would be out of the present war by the middle of October, 1943, and would immediately declare war on Germany. He said that major battles would be fought on Italian soil, and adds that before the winning battle is fought, the Allies will have gained enough strength to force Hitler to retire to private life on Easter of 1944. He said Japan would follow in "short order." We hope the Georgian's dream comes true.

MAYBE we will all be in the garlic business soon. At any rate, whether you like it or not, is being tested in many localities. You see, foreign importations have been cut down by the war. One safeguard is that not much garlic is needed—its consumption doesn't even increase when the price goes down. Some 3,284 tons of garlic were imported into the U. S. in 1932 from Spain, Italy, Mexico and Chile. In the U. S. California in 1941 produced 6,630 tons, Louisiana, 1,050 tons and Texas 570 tons. My goodness, that smelly crop must be as unusual as the weather in California.

THERE are 42 ways to win the war. Fight is one. Buy bonds is another. Never mind about the rest.

HUSKY Bruce Barton Bourgeois, of St. Louis Bay, Miss., stands 6 feet, weighs more than 200, and wears a size 12 shoe—was discharged from the naval reserves at Portland, Me., because he is only 14. The youthful sailor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel E. Bourgeois, confessed his age because he was worried over his mother's health. He enlisted when he was 13.

LAW enforcement officers are seriously disturbed over the large number of young girls being arrested on various charges. They believe the growing wave of delinquency will continue until parents turn over a new leaf and set a good example for the young people. Those who have made a study of juvenile delinquency declare the investigations lead them right back to the homes to ascertain the causes. Broken homes, homes where the parents take to night spots, or homes where both mother and father are engaged in war work and are unable to supervise the comings and goings of the children, are mainly responsible. In most instances, parents are unable to exercise enough influence over their children in the cases investigated, and some drastic action will be necessary to curb the growing wave of delinquency. The home is the proper place to inaugurate the improvement campaigns—but night spot papas and mamas will have to be reformed before you can get the young people started along the right path.

MAYBE all stout women are not that way, but Cousin Emma thinks all slender women are wicked. Emma is real stout and she is very critical of her sisters-in-law who are slender. She just knows in her mind that they are using their slender forms for flirting purposes, and she predicts that their souls will be lost. She gets mad if her husband looks at a slender woman, and if she had her way she would visit severe punishment upon every woman who remains slender. But in spite of this she is striving daily to reduce and she rejoices when the scales show that even a few pounds of herself have vanished. Cousin Emma doesn't want to be wicked, of course, but it looks as if she does wish that wickedness were within her reach.—Claud Callan.

PICKING a tomato in her garden, Mrs. Francis Dougherty of Wilmington, Delaware, wiped it on her apron and ate it. Doctors have been trying for two weeks to find in her body the needle which was fastened to her apron.

STRIKING up an acquaintance with a dear little old woman on a train, Mrs. Allen Francis, of Kansas City, Kan., discussed the silk stocking situation with her new friend. "I have nine pairs your size that won't fit me," the old woman said, "I'll send them to you." "Oh, yeah," thought Mrs. Francis. But awaiting at her home she found the nine pairs.

"You've earned some sort of medal yourself, I'd say, for giving lots of us drivers safe warning. Good thing you kept harping on rationing. You said limited driving couldn't keep clearing out the rank acids always left from combustion; they'd linger and corrode the engine. But you said that plating, of course, wouldn't soon let metals corrode. And you convinced me, all right, about keeping my engine OIL-PLATED with your patented Conoco Nth oil. Now my OIL-PLATED engine is seeing me through, and I say good for you!... helping the home front! They all should know how Conoco Nth gives engines protective OIL-PLATING!"

The how of it is that Conoco Nth motor oil--popular-priced--includes a costly modern synthetic. Its strong "power of attraction" fastens and maintains the OIL-PLATING on inner surfaces. Despite engine inactivity, the unavoidable acids aren't "working right through" the OIL-PLATING, and so the wartime risk of corrosion is cut! The more extras you're doing to hustle the boys home, the more you need your car and Your Mileage Merchant's Conoco Nth. OIL-PLATE today. Continental Oil Company

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

By HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, D. D., Of The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago. Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Lesson for February 13

JESUS ON THE MOUNTAIN AND IN THE VALLEY

LESSON TEXT—Mark 9:2-8, 17-27. GOLDEN TEXT—1 believe; help thou mine unbelief.—Mark 9:24.

The vision of the mountain top prepares the believer for service down in the valley. "Where there is no vision the people perish," said the wise man of old (Prov. 29:18). For want of a true vision of God, a knowledge of His truth, and the God-given constraint which makes men give themselves in sacrificial service, the people will perish in their sins.

But let men come to know the truth as it is in Christ, learn to know Him as the Son of God glorious and powerful, and then let them translate their knowledge of Christian truth and their personal spiritual experiences into the daily ministry to the needs of their fellow men, and there will be songs of salvation and joy.

I. Knowing (vv. 2-7).
The transfiguration of Christ doubtless meant much to Him in preparation for His coming death and resurrection. It was a foregleam of His kingdom glory.

In this lesson we are concerned with the experience of the disciples rather than the feelings of our Lord. Fundamental in both Christian life and service is a clear understanding of the person and work of Christ. One may come to Christ knowing little more than that He is the divine Saviour, and one may enter into Christian living with a meager knowledge of the doctrines of the Bible. But the Christian who fails to grow in knowledge will not grow in grace as he should.

God sets no premium on ignorance, in fact it is quite evident that the great blight on the Christian church today is the appalling lack of understanding of God's Word.

The disciples came to a fuller conviction that He was the Son of God as they saw Him transfigured and heard the Father say, "This is my beloved Son." They learned more plainly the truth of His coming death for the sins of all mankind. They saw in the indescribable beauty of that moment the foregleam of His coming glory. What important truths these are—His deity—His redemption—His coming kingship. Do we have a clear grasp of these truths? If not, let us search the Scriptures.

II. Growing (v. 8).
"Jesus only." He filled their vision and their hearts. They had had spiritual progress as they had seen His glory and heard the commanding voice of the Father.

Great experiences of spiritual re-awakening and power are necessary to effective life and testimony. They may not be in outward manifestation, in fact they are more often in the inner recesses of the soul; but they transform men and send them forth to magnificent living for God. One wonders if much of the dearth of power in the Christian church is not to be attributed directly to the lack of such experiences with God.

The disciples had an unforgettable mountaintop experience. Even so have many others found the secret of power.

Let us remember that such privileges are not reserved for a few, they are the birthright of every Christian. Power without knowledge is a dangerous and destructive thing, and knowledge without power is a dead thing.

Let us study God's Word, but let the truth be baptized in the overwhelming spiritual power of a personal experience with God.

In regeneration all that Christ is has for us is made available. We have not taken out our inheritance; let us do it at once.

III. Serving (vv. 17-27).
One of the lessons that seems hard to learn and to keep constantly effective in the life of a Christian is that mountaintop experiences of spiritual uplift are not an end in themselves, but a preparation for service. All too often we come to regard such times of peculiar blessing, whether in the privacy of our own room or in the great conference of Christian workers, as something which should glow warmly in our own hearts, making us glad in the Lord, and not as a preparation for ministry to others.

Jesus and the disciples went up the place of prayer, into the place of glory, and down to the place of service. How fitting is that sequence.

Much confusion exists in the church because those who have foolishly abandoned God's Word and substituted the energy of the flesh for spiritual power have been most prominent in service to humanity; those who know and accept the truth about Christ, and who profess to believe in the power of the Spirit-filled life, have failed to serve their needy neighbors.

But Jesus took him by the hand and lifted him up" (v. 27). Verses 28 and 29 indicate that the disciples had not done the same by believing prayer.

AROUND THE HOUSE

You can add a cute note to your skirt by cutting out musical notes from odd pieces of felt and sewing them around the hem. Or one applied on your sweater will make a nice conversation piece too.

If a small leak makes it impossible to use the hot water bottle in the regular way, try filling it with hot salt. You'll find it holds the heat even longer than water and will last a long time.

Chicken fat saved from stewed chicken may be substituted for shortening in pie crusts, biscuits, spiced or ginger cookies or cake.

Honey should be kept in a warm place in the kitchen. If it does granulate, place the container in a pan of hot water until it liquidizes.

Why not a spice bag to flavor that soup or stew? To make one, mix three sprigs parsley, six whole cloves, one bay leaf and a little thyme and tie them loosely in a small square of white cheesecloth. Drop the bag into the cooking mixture.

Mix plaster of paris with vinegar instead of water and it will not harden so quickly when you are filling in cracks and holes in plaster.

If it is difficult to make wallpaper stick to chimney, ceilings or walls, apply a coat of aluminum paint before papering. Then the wallpaper will not crack or come loose.

Might Have Been Different Had the Lady but Said

Before the bar of justice on wife-brought charges of desertion, Mose Brown meekly admitted his guilt and offered nothing in extenuation except that the lady talked too much.

"That's no excuse for desertion, Mose," the court said. "The constitution guarantees every woman the right to talk all she wants to."
"Judge, I knows it do. Only Lucy she never stop talkin'. She keep it up, mo'nin', noon, and night, till I just can't stan' it no mo'."

His mournful earnestness impressed the court. "She does? What does she talk about?"
"Judge, suh," he said, "she don't say."

A sharp knife, rinsed in hot water, will do a good job of cutting cake and keeping neat cake and frosting edges.

Rayon fabrics must be handled carefully when wet. When dry, rayon regains its strength.

Painted kitchen chairs often get a shabby look around the legs and rungs where shoes rest against them and the polish leaves a mark. Complete repainting of the chairs can frequently be avoided by giving these sections of the chairs a good soap and water washing. Dip a moistened cloth, sponge or brush into some soap jelly, or into thick suds and rub the soiled parts. Rinse with cloths wrung out in clear water, and dry with a soft, clean cloth.

Continual opening of the oven door changes the temperature and is a common cause of baking failures.

Tower of Justice

Although a leaning pagoda of Indo-China leans more than its famous counterpart at Pisa, Italy, it was built to lean as a "barometer of justice." As the administration of justice becomes less equitable, the tower, in native fancy, leans lower and lower. The remarkable tower is 80 feet high and was built 200 years ago.

Turn it DOWN, Lady!

HERE IS HOW YOU CAN HELP

1. Cook whole meals in oven. Cook "one-dish" meals on top burners.
2. Don't use running hot water for washing dishes or hands. Repair leaky faucets. Heat no more water than necessary.
3. Do not keep your home too warm. You can save gas and have more healthful living conditions by maintaining moderate temperature.
4. Reduce temperature at night and when away from home.
5. Keep all gas-burning equipment in first-class condition.

USE LESS NATURAL GAS and Conserve Fuel for the War Effort

The perspiration on the brows of Hitler and his gang these days is not caused by overheated rooms.

Let's keep the heat on them, by doing everything we can to back up our fighting men.

One of the things we at home can do is to conserve natural gas, a vital war fuel.

To do your part in saving fuel—use less gas today and every day.
