STEEL TOWER POWER LINE BUILT BY TEXAS ELECTRIC

Ft. Worth -- The longest steel tower electric power transmission line ever built in the Southwest has been put in operation by Texas Electric Service Co. between Ft. Worth and Odessa. The line, which is 329 miles long, more firmly links Texas Electric's eight power plants and various major load centers served by the company. Announcement of completion was made by Beeman Fisher, president and general manager of the company.

Construction of this new line is further evidence of Texas Electric's confidence in the continued growth and progress of the North Central and West Texas area we serve," Fisher said.

Construction of the big, new line required nearly 800 carloads of steel and conductor. Fisher said, pointing out that the line was built in the shortest time of any line of its type and size anywhere in the U. S. The western terminus of the new power line, which now operates at 135,000 volts built is designed for conversion to 345,000 volts as the use of electric power increases in near Odessa.

I NEVER WALKED ALONE

By Arpie White
I never walked the road alone when he went away.
God took my weak, trembling hand And kept me night and day
I always knew that He was near When hot tears had to fall For Jesus wept at Lazarus' tomb. Our griefs, He bore them all.

It seemed when sleep would not come And nights were long and bleak, In gentle voice so soft and low, To me He'd always speak and say, "My child, this weary road I had to walk alone, None to me did comfort give, I bore my cross alone.

But then the tomb was opened wide I'll live through endless years, I'll give a gentle hand to those Who seek me through their tears.

I'll give them comfort, joy and love Throughout eternity, I'll give them grace to carry on, If they but ask of me."

God, help me live the life I should, May I with patience wait 'Till you shall call me safely home, And open wide the gate. (reprint of a card sent to Mrs. Cletus Cox.)

WHITE FUNERAL HOME, TAHOKA, TEXAS

ONE OF THE WONDERS OF THE WORLD

Beneath the desert plant studded foothills of the Guadalupe Mountains of southeastern New Mexico lie the Carlsbad Caverns, a vast subterranean wonderland, into which the first organized tour party was taken 40 years ago.

No cave in all the world can compare with Carlsbad Caverns National Park in sheer beauty of formations, size or geological history.

Ornate formations -- fragile chandeliers, pillars, folds of translucent draperies, fantastic domes and fanciful figures -- decorate the network of huge chambers and corridors.

New Mexico cowboy Jim White was the first man to explore the deep recesses of the cave. This was in 1901 and he immediately recognized it was one of the wonders of the world. Yet when he tried to convince others he was considered "loco" or a "champion cowpunch-ing bar". It was not until 1922 that White was able to entice enough people, including a photographer, to make up an organized tour. Recognition came swiftly after pictures of the King's Palace and the 14 acre Big Room were published. The following year Carlsbad Caverns was made a National Monument and by 1930 it had become a National Park.

Since White lowered the first tour party into the cavern in an iron bucket, millions of dollars have been spent to bring elevator service, smooth hard surface trails, concealed lighting, an underground cafeteria and other modern facilities to make the cavern easily accessible and convenient to visitors. The marvel is that all of this has been accomplished without a jarring note to the natural beauty.

Guided tours are conducted every day of the year at Carlsbad Caverns National Park. In addition there is a daily tour for photographers since time and flash exposures are not permitted on the regular tours. The finest daytime facilities, with nursery and kennel service are found at the Park's Visitors Center.

Throughout the summer, the evening bat flights attract hundreds of thousands of visitors as the beneficial Mexican freetail bats put on the biggest wild animal show to be seen at any National Park. A free program by the Park naturalist precedes the flights.

Commuter Snags Train But Can't Hold It

EUREKA, Calif.—Loafers around the railroad station here tell this for the truth. Seems the station agent heard a loud crash on the platform. He ran out and saw the rear end of a train disappearing around a curve. A disheveled gent lay prone on the ground, surrounded by the contents of his banged-up suitcases.

An owlish youngster stared at the gent, but made no effort to assist him. "Was he trying to catch the train?" the station agent asked the youngster.

"He did catch it," replied the youngster, "but it got away."

Tennessee Bear Ruins Revenuers' Evidence

NASHVILLE—In the Tennessee hills there lives a bear which seems to know bad whisky when he tastes it. While Alcohol Tax Unit agents were waiting to trap the owner of a still they had just found, the bear lumbered out of the forest and decided to sample the product. He rolled it around his tongue and then smashed the still to pieces.
