

Ord Vote Cast In Election Saturday

atic Primary Held By Intense Contest; O'Donnell Polls 656 Votes

Democratic primary Saturday week chalked up a record of swift-moving action ever held here. Approximately 3500 votes were cast in the fourteenth polls of the scores of voters and among themselves of the right their political opinions. 97 such votes in the 10 records sent in from the precincts indicate that very same percentage prevailed Sunday.

Contested Races

By all the races were considered. Each office was a larger number of candidates, and with it into so many parts, out the various contests could be guessed.

greatest Interest

in the governor's race was the attorney-general and in following close behind, the governor's campaign, Alford in county, with Hunter a. H. Woodward led the ticket general, followed by Donnelly was easily the United States senator Mahon and Mullican contesting for Congressmen, on hand on their heels, there was considerable speculation of the county and judge Gordon B. McComb, is unofficially favored over his opponent, Judge Brownfield.

County Races Interesting

centered on the race for sheriff and collector, sheriff judge. In the county (apparently) Smith defeated H. M. Larkin, by a fair margin that he had been considered cut up, there men in the campaign for of the six five of them in public service of different ward out his political campaign, and came in Aubra M. Cade, present other contenders were loway, J. S. Weatherford and W. S. Cathey. Mr. never held a political of experience in county affairs directing relief work. Each her gentlemen have held office.

Full Count Given

on this page our readers complete table of results county voting. We wish to thank to the judges and officials, as well as to the chairman and executive committee the hearty assistance and in securing this complete of the county and precinct given by the box, while for totals are given for district offices. A number of noted singers will be in attendance and will have part in the program, so that this meeting should be one of the best ever held in this part of the country. The new Stamps books were secured several weeks ago, and the new songs are proving most popular. Make your plans now to be at OK Sunday afternoon.

Club Work Reaching Majority of Homes

Much credit is due Miss Sylvia Robb, Lynn county home demonstration agent, for the increased interest in club work, in the opinion of those who know something of the plans she has undertaken to carry out. At the beginning of the year, a goal of 85 per cent of the families enrolled in club work in Lynn county, the greatest number which has ever been enrolled in this county. There are ten 4-H clubs, with 308 members, and 11 H. D. clubs with slightly over 400 members.

Candidates for Governor to Speak In Lamesa, August 5

Lamesa, July 30. (Special to the Index)—On August 5th, both candidates for governor have accepted invitations to appear in Lamesa in the interest of their campaigns. Due publicity has been given this fact and friends of both candidates are expected to hear each of these men. Also, both George Mahon and Clark M. Mullican, candidates for Congress have been invited and will speak. As much interest has already been taken in this race and more as the second primary gets under way, large throngs of people are expected to hear these Congressional candidates.

Other district and county candidates are scheduled to speak also during the day.

The affair is a political campaign and rally for second primary candidates, sponsored by the Trades Day Association, that the voters of the South Plains may have a better opportunity of hearing and seeing the candidates of their choice. The program with the Lamesa band playing, will start at 10 a. m., with M. C. Lindsey, chairman, in charge.

Begins Taking Cotton Tag Applications

Taking of applications for cotton tags under the Bankhead bill began in Lynn county Monday morning, many farmers coming in to secure their reduction checks and to attend to this at the same time. A much enlarged office force has been busy several days transferring information from the cotton contracts to the application blanks for all those who desire tax free tags under the control act. Measurement of the cotton acreage under contract will also be started this week, county agent V. F. Jones said Saturday.

Gets a Big Reception

O. M. Bean Dies September 3 Named At Littlefield For Opening of School

News was received here shortly after midnight Saturday night that O. M. Bean had passed away about 11:30. His son, Harn Bean and Mrs. Mrs. M. Wilson and his sister, Mrs. M. Wilson and Mr. Wilson left immediately to attend the funeral services Sunday.

Mr. Bean suffered a stroke of paralysis about three weeks ago, and had never recovered, being unconscious most of the time. He was rational enough at brief intervals to recognize members of the family, and at one time was able to move one foot, but attending physicians had extended no hopes for his recovery. Funeral services were conducted at Littlefield Sunday, and interment was made in the cemetery there. The Index joins with the community in expressing sympathy to the bereaved family here and in Littlefield.

Election Judges Have Difficult Task

Few voters have ever taken the trouble to watch judges tabulate the results of an election, and hence have no idea of the magnitude of the task. For our own benefit and curiosity the editor spent almost an hour Sunday afternoon watching the judges at their work on the results of Saturday's voting and it was so new that we're passing it on to our readers.

The voting procedure is known to everyone, of course, including the fact that all ballots bear the initials of the presiding judge and are numbered, and that this number and the voter's name are listed by a clerk as the ballot is handed out. There are three clerks to mark, as everyone knows, it is folded and placed in a tightly sealed box, or drum. The counting procedure is as follows:

The box is opened as the judges and the clerks are seated at a long table. The judge takes the ballot from the box, unfolds it and glances over it before handing it to one of the clerks to call it. There are three clerks to mark. Each of these has a book, very much like a ledger, ruled off in small squares which are just large enough for four straight marks and the tally line. The names of the candidates are listed in these books just as they appear on the ballot. As the one clerk calls the name of the candidate favored by that particular ballot, the three markers call the number aloud so that any mistake in marking may be checked immediately.

And in those instances where there were not opponents, as in our watch-er's race, the name of the one candidate must be called and marked just as though he had a dozen opponents. Now folks, considering that there were several names on the ballot, and that O'Donnell had 656 of them, you can see why the indexing must have taken about 30 hours counting them.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Christopher of Littlefield have been on the road all day of his parents Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Christopher, and other relatives and friends.

Cotton Checks Arrive; Distributed This Week

Lynn County Farmers Sell 7,000 Cattle

County agent V. F. Jones stated at the close of last week that the total number of cattle sold by Lynn county farmers to the federal government will be approximately 7000. More than 6,000 head had been shipped or slaughtered when he made the statement. "We have already listed about 6,000 head, and will get at least 6,000 more," Mr. Jones said. "The percentage of animals being killed is something in the neighborhood of 40. Our work is apparently progressing rather slowly, but we had such a large number of cattle offered that it takes considerable time."

Local People Return From Gulf Storm Area

Mrs. E. D. Yeatts and son, C. E. Mrs. G. D. Wade of El Paso, Mrs. Levi Gray and son, Edward, and Mrs. Lois Entekin and baby daughter, Elsie Joan, returned Monday afternoon from the Gulf storm area. South Texas, during which time they were in the center of the gulf storm last week. Visiting their daughter and sister, Mrs. Abel H. Pierce at Palacios, they were right in the thick of last week's terrific rain and windstorm in which several persons lost their lives and thousands of dollars worth of property were destroyed. The house in which they visited was the roof blown off and was flooded by rain, but fortunately no one was injured. Mrs. Yeatts described the storm as one of the most awe-inspiring and terrifying spectacles she had ever seen, and declared that she preferred our West Texas sandstorms.

They visited San Antonio, Port Lavaca, and Palacios while they were away, returning home via Austin, where they went through the Capitol building. This was indeed an education trip, but the Index is heartily glad that our folks are safe at home with no injuries.

Cecil Foster Taken To Veterans' Hospital

News received late last week from Cecil Foster, recently evicted in the Citizens Conservation Corps, stated that he had been taken to U. S. Veterans' Hospital No. 55 at Ft. Bayard N. M., for an indefinite period of time. The change to a higher altitude brought a heart ailment which had never developed here, attendants at the hospital state, and Cecil will be forced to remain in bed for some time yet. The Index joins with other friends in the sincere hope that he may soon be fully recovered.

Farmers Asked to Help In Measuring Acreage

County agent V. F. Jones asks that we notify all farmers in our territory that measuring of acreage has begun, and that their cooperation in this work will be appreciated. The contract signers will be expected to mark off their rendered acreage and will also be expected to be at home when the inspectors arrive so that they may offer any assistance needed. Mr. Jones also stated that the allotment for certificates will be started this week, these applications to be made through the various local committees. Those interested should see their committee at once as possible.

Dry Weather Favorable To Mesquite Bean Crop

This prolonged drought is good for at least one crop, according to postmaster Hal Singleton, who has lived on the plains for more than thirty years. That crop is mesquite beans. Mr. Singleton has noted, from his years of experience, that it is only during extremely dry years like the present that the mesquite beans are a good crop. When it is wet, the mesquite does not bear so well. Mr. Singleton believes that this is a plan worked out by Providence to keep cattle alive during prolonged droughts. This year, for instance, scores of cattle would already have starved to death had it not been for these beans, because pasture lands for the most part, dry as the proverbial powder house. Well, we had always wondered else just what mesquite beans were for.

Lynn County Farmers Being Paid $109,500

With the arrival of approximately 2300 checks, totalling $109,500.00 at the office of county agent V. F. Jones Monday morning, funds from the federal cotton acreage reduction campaign are pouring into Lynn county. Mr. Jones said easily in the week that about 85 per cent of the expected total had been received in this group of checks, and that the remainder was expected any day. Notices were mailed out Saturday afternoon that the checks had arrived, and by noon Monday farmers from every part of the county were waiting in orderly line to receive their individual share. While the campaign for 1934 was hardly as large as that of the year before, results in the form of dollars will mean considerable to business. For the most part, farmers and business men are in somewhat better shape this year than they were in 1933, because so many persons were able to clear up past indebtedness with the proceeds of last year's reduction campaign and with the harvest money.

This year it seems that Lynn county will have very little harvest, and because of this fact much of the federal funds received by families will be carefully conserved and applied to the purchase of necessities. A fair crop this year would have placed practically every self-sustaining family in the county up in good shape. There are, of course, always some few families or individuals who would be public cares in the midst of boom days, but these are rare. Local business men are of the opinion that receipts of these checks will not necessarily mean a sudden increase in sales, because people want to see where more money is coming from before they splurge with what they have, but they do believe that the federal funds will form the basis for a steady business. Most merchants heartily endorse this conservative attitude on the part of citizens of the county, believing that a small volume of business on a cash basis is worth more than a large volume of credit business.

Visiting Pastor Sunday At Cumberland Church

We are asked to announce that the Rev. John W. G. Hill of Floyd, Ky. is engaged in a revival meeting at Cumberland Presbyterian church at both morning and evening hours next Sunday, August 5th. The pastor, Rev. W. H. Cheatham is engaged in a revival meeting here will thus not be able to fill his regular appointment. However, Rev. Hill will be an interesting and instructive speaker, we are assured by those who have heard him, so that the work here will be well cared for. Everyone has a cordial invitation to come and hear Rev. Hill and help in these worship services.

Mrs. Brown's Son Ill In Arizona

Mrs. W. T. Brown received news the latter part of last week that her son, Joe Roberts, is seriously ill at Whipple, Arizona, and that attending physicians give no hopes for his recovery. In view of the condition of Mrs. Brown's health, the trip to be at his bedside would be a most strenuous one but unless more favorable reports are received within the next few hours, she and Mr. Brown will leave for Arizona. The young man will be remembered by scores of friends here, all of whom join in extending best wishes for his improvement.

Expect Cattle Checks Some Time This Week

County agent V. F. Jones said Wednesday morning that checks from the federal government, payment for cattle purchased during the livestock reduction campaign just concluded, are expected any time. Checks will usually be received, Mr. Jones said, within two weeks after the cattle are inspected. With this as an estimate, he believes that checks for the first cattle inspected will be received sometime this week.

Friends Describe Western Trip

Our friends have asked for a description of our trip to Washington states. I will attempt to take this means of trip to them, and will be afraid we can not do subject justice in this begin—

27th of March, 1934, we left for our old home in went through New Mexico by car, climbing the mountains in Arizona and admiring the Coolidge dam on and on we reached the Imperial Valley do desert in California, riding but one great stretch sand, piled up by the great wind, passing out of the Imperial we passed pretty soon beautiful irrigated country (Sedona and Pasadena, was especially beautiful, country is covered with lemons, and orange orange trees were in full at the same time they were ripe oranges, in fact, all stages of maturity. We saw many orange blossoms and neotris continually. We left the irrigated country north through less and less. There was more sand as we passed out of California.

Crossing the Sierrita brought us into a densely country. Large stately oak trees as well as numerous. It gives one a restful feeling as if one were from every thing sordid and makes a Christian mind commune with God.

entering Oregon from the about two days to an old home at Salem. There friends whom we had not many years. Only those who knew it can know the old friends after long. We stayed four months, our stay entirely too short to the full satisfaction of all our old friends and all things earthly have an end of our visit came all

When our son and his wife went on through Portland city situated on the Yamette river, on up into a state which is also beautiful, much in the same Oregon.

Washington state we visited city of Seattle, which is situated Puget Sound. We believe the glory of our trip was when we took a trip by 20 miles out into Lake Puget Sound, which is in arm of the ocean. We play in the yacht and spent night out there. It was very different from the which we had been accustomed to life that we enjoyed it

That the time came to return to dear old Texas and we by an other route as we see more new scenes. We reached Idaho, Wyoming, Colorado, New Mexico, crossing the main in New Mexico.

At last we arrived in the great city of O'Donnell and were greeted by our friends and loved ones and that it was good to be again in the good old Lone Star State, after all the real home of the brave and the land of the free.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS A SUMMER DISEASE

Austin, August 1.—Dr. John W. Brown, State Health Officer, states that infantile paralysis, like typhoid fever, and bowel disturbance of infants, is largely a summer disease. Although cases may appear any month of the year, over half the total number come in July, August, September and October. To date 41 cases of Polio-myelitis have been reported to the Texas State Department of Health in 1934.

Direct contact between persons is regarded as being the chief factor in the spread of infantile paralysis. Because of the seasonal prevalence of the disease, flies and other insects have been suspected of conveying the virus or germ. Insect transmission has not, however, been demonstrated. Although animals are subject to paralysis, they are seemingly not susceptible to the human type of this paralytic disease. Carriers are difficult to determine; this fact makes advisable the reduction to the minimum of human contact during an outbreak.

Early symptoms of infantile paralysis comprise headache, fever, vomiting, bowel disorders, drowsiness and irritability, followed by neck or back stiffness. Prompt medical care, early recognition and reporting of cases make possible the use of valuable preventive and control measures. After the acute stage of the disease has passed and walking is finally permitted the patient, under no circumstances must the affected part be fatigued. It is truly observed that the secret of a successful rehabilitation lies in continuance of professional guidance and large doses of patience.
