Standard Bearers

AFTER the reams of copy which have been written on the subject, speculation is still rife throughout the home towns of the country on the standard bearers of the two major parties in 1952.

Two fairly well-used politicians will go to the wire. For the Republicans, Robert A. Taft of Ohio. For the Democrats, Harry S. Truman of Missouri. It will be the third try for Senator Taft and President Truman's second start. As to who will win, the answer to that is another story.

Both men are eligible. Senator Taft eagerly so and the President a more or less reluctant candidate. There is nothing, either in the private or public lives of these men the American people don't know, so they can pass muster despite the glare of pitiless publicity incident to any political campaign. And the campaign would be a true test between the conservative Republicanism of Senator Taft and the Fair Dealism of President Truman.

There are indications that if either MacArthur, on the Republican side, or General Eisenhower, on either side, were to be permitted to make a nationwide campaign glamorized by those five-star uniforms and with their speeches unchallenged, either would sweep the country.

But that isn't the way we play politics. It is a tough game, rough and tumble, particularly this campaign. It is going to be bitter, perhaps a lot of in-fighting and hitting in the clinches. The five-star generals would not be able to take the gaff; they would be torn to shreds, personally and politically, maligned and tongue-lashed, smeared and blackened in the eyes of the American people.

Favorite Sons

On the Republican side, and still among the eligibles as favorite sons, are Governors Warren of California and Dewey of New York, Senators Dirksen of Illinois and Duff of Pennsylvania. And there is Harold Stassen, who some say is fast talking himself out of consideration for anything.

On the Democratic side there is Chief Justice Vinson, able and no stranger to politics, but who does not possess the appeal or personality to fire the people. Justice Douglas' support comes chiefly from the extreme left in the Democratic party. And Governor Byrnes of South Carolina will wind up with about the influence and support, or even less, than did his predecessor, Gov. J. Strom Thurman, the original Dixiecrat.

This campaign will not be so much a battle of issues or of platforms as it will be a turf of personalities of the two contenders: Taft, reserved, cold, rhetorical, unsmiling; Truman, warm, earthy, with a winning smile and speaking in the dialect of the people.

Truman Reluctant

President Truman would much prefer not to run for President again. Some say he has taken to heart the constitutional amendment which prevents a third term, but which specifically does not apply to him; that he would like to retire with his Truman Doctrine and his foreign policy working for peace in our time.

If possible, his greatest delight would be to return to Missouri and run against Republican Senator Kem. His life as a senator from Missouri was far happier, easier and more care-free than has been the case since he succeeded President Roosevelt in the White House.

Farmer's View

Here's the first campaign story. A mid-west farmer was being given a quick run-down on inflation and phony prosperity; that synthetic dollars would not help the farmer. He was not impressed.

"See that new automobile over there by the fence?" the farmer said. "And see that new red tractor there in the barnlot? I own them, they're paid for and there's nothing phony or synthetic about either of them."

Many observers believe the mid-western farmer will take this view of the political situation when the 1952 election comes around. Farmers have attained a high degree of prosperity under recent Democratic administrations. For this reason, the Republicans must offer more than a lecture on phony prosperity and the dangers of inflation.

Washington Silhouettes

It's possible that neither of the two national chairmen may be around when the campaign gets underway. . . . Sen. Hubert Humphreys of Minnesota says the new tax bill has more loopholes for the big taxpayer than any other tax measure ever before the senate. . . . Here's a new one, the tax leaflets distributed by the National Small Business Men's association says U. S. has more "socialized" income than has Socialist Britain.

Kaesong Once Center Of Korean Power

Kaesong, the site accepted for truce talks between UN and Red Chinese-Korean leaders, is in line to pick up again a long lost historic spotlight.

Although left behind in modern times by many faster growing and developing Korean cities, Kaesong was once the center of Korean power and culture.

The town was made the capital of the Koryo, or Wang, dynasty in the early 900's A.D., and as such was the focal point for the first centralized control extended over the peninsula. Kaesong maintained its position for nearly 500 years, and after its fall the dynasty name was carried on in the name "Korea."

Meanwhile, toward the end of the weakening Koryo reign, numerous invasions by Mongols from the north had brought about foreign domination of the entire country for the first time. With the retirement of the Golden Horde and the rise of the new Yi dynasty, the capital, in 1392, was moved to Seoul.

Here's the secret millions of folks have discovered about FEEN-A-MINT, the most effective chewing-gum laxative. Yes, here is why FEEN-A-MINT's action is so wonderfully different!

Doctors say that many other laxatives start their "flushing" action too soon... right in the stomach where food is being digested. Large doses of such laxatives upset digestion, flush away nourishing food you need for health and energy.

But gentle FEEN-A-MINT, taken as recommended, works chiefly in the lower bowel where it removes only waste, not good food! You avoid that typical weak, tired, worn-out feeling. Use FEEN-A-MINT FEEN-A-MINT! No increase in price—still 25¢, 50¢ or only 10¢.

Yes! Research has proved these medicines thoroughly modern in action... has shown you where to look for relief from those distressing, nervous "cramps" of sorts' feelings of mid-life "change"!

It acts through a woman's sympathetic nervous system to relieve distress of those awful "heat waves"!

KIDNEYS MUST REMOVE EXCESS WASTE

When kidney function slows down, many folks complain of nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness. Don't suffer longer with these discomforts. If reduced kidney function is getting you down—due to such common causes as stress and strain, over-exertion or exposure to cold. Minor bladder irritations due to cold, dampness or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages.

Chile Produces Some Of World's Best Wool
Three-Fourths of Crop Is Shipped to U. S.

The small American farmer has learned from experience just how profitable a small flock of sheep can be to his general farm program. And in the western part of the country great flocks are maintained by producers.

One of the greatest producers of wool, now selling at a record price, is Chile. The industry is valued at $170,000,000 and employs more than 10,000 people.

Chile's first sheep were brought from Spain by the Spanish conqueror Pedro de Valdivia over 400 years ago. In 1877, 300 head were brought to the Punta Arenas area from the Falkland Islands.

The huge English Marsh Romney will produce 12 kilos of long staple wool, or 30 pounds. This type wool is often called the best in the world.

The industry specializes in the famous English Marsh Romney sheep which produces, according to many experts, the finest long staple wool in the world. Today, Chile has a total sheep population close to 7,000,000 head.

Three quarters of the nation's wool crop — about 15,000 metric tons — goes to the United States.
England gets the remainder.

Farm Worker Crop Output Triples in Fifty Years

Fifty years ago a farm worker produced enough food for himself and five other persons. Today the crops raised by a single worker are sufficient for 15 persons.

Although machinery has had much to do with this spectacular productivity record, a major factor is the expanded use of fertilizers. The nation's farms last year consumed 18,346,132 tons of soil food—six times as much as in 1901—at a cost of $744,000,000.

At the turn of the century 265 million acres of crop land, tilled by 13 million farm workers, were needed to supply the crops required by a population of 76 million. Now 10 million workers produce from 345 million acres of land the food required by twice as many Americans, as well as thousands of persons in other countries.

Agricultural authorities say that the use of fertilizer is responsible for roughly one-fourth of the volume of all crops.

The use of fertilizer is expected to continue upward for an indefinite period.

Seed Beds

It is a long time from planting seed beds, but gardeners and farmers might spend some of their spare time during the winter months making one. Seed beds with plastic covers are hailproof, shatter-proof and light in weight. A plastic-coated wire mesh, weighing less than glass, passes on to the plants most of the sun's ultraviolet and infrared rays. This material is available at most farm equipment dealers and hardware stores.

Poultry and Egg Eating Increases, Experts Say

Poultry experts report the American family is consuming more poultry and eggs and predicts the increase will continue during the rest of 1951. Forecasts indicate the average American will have eaten 30 pounds of chicken by the end of 1951, 10 per cent more than last year; 406 eggs, slightly more than in 1950; and about five pounds of turkey meat, approximately the same as last year.

Food Poisoning Can Be Prevented

Recent outbreaks of food poisoning show every strikingly the need for special care in handling and refrigerating any food that must be prepared some time in advance of eating, states Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health officer.

Prevention of food poisoning requires clean food handled as little as possible and consumed while it is fresh. Foods prepared hours before serving and allowed to stand at warm temperatures become good culture media for bacteria. Cooked products of a perishable nature are readily subject to decomposition and must be kept well refrigerated.

Most food poisoning is caused by infection by certain types of bacteria which grow rapidly under favorable conditions such as high temperatures and high humidity. The infection may come from dirty hands, utensils, flies, rats, contaminated water, infected food materials and in some cases in certain types of bacteria which are rapidly spread and not necessarily associated with filthy conditions.

If food must be prepared much in advance of use, cook it thoroughly keep it refrigerated and otherwise protected at a temperature under 50 degrees until you are ready to use it. Avoid serving foods that are readily infected such as certain salads and cream filled pastries.
Any foods that are not to be served immediately should be kept on ice. Milk, ice cream and dairy products in general should be from approved sources.

"special" models in the Ford Truck Economy Run. Every one of the 5,591 trucks were stock model jobs, equipped with the standard Power Pilot.

What Should It Cost per mile to run a truck? The only way to find out is to check the running cost experience of other men in your kind of work! Now you can do that—for the first time—with this important new Ford service. Only your Ford Dealer has it!

Electric Ranges Require Care

Housewives who are lucky enough to have a shining new electric range in their kitchen, might like to have a few tips on keeping it in good condition. Home management specialists with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service stress cleanliness as the most important item.

The porcelain top should be cleaned after it has cooled with warm soapy water. Be sure to wipe off lemon, vinegar or other acids immediately, use a dry cloth if the range is hot. The oven may be cleaned with soap and water followed by rubbing the inside with unsalted fat to prevent rusting. The broiler pan should be stored clean in a utensil drawer when not in use.

Mulching With "Not" Prevent Frost Leaves, Grass, Straw Are Good Materials

Even though many gardeners have used mulches for years and are aware of its value, they are not sure of their reasons for mulching. It is not to prevent plants from freezing, as often thought, but to prevent quick freezing and thawing.

It prevents drying out of plant tissues, and freezing and thawing from heaving plants out of the ground. It also prevents plant development too early in the spring when buds might be harmed by late frost.

The gardener looking for mulching materials could try leaves when available in quantity. They Mulching is nature's way of providing plant protection. Leaves, grass, straw, peat moss and ground corn cobs are all good mulching material.

are satisfactory for perennials, borders and beds, rock gardens and around evergreens and shrubs.

Straw is another good material, especially good for strawberry beds. Oat straw is preferred over wheat and others.

Peat Moss is often used and does an excellent job of preventing temperature fluctuations, but has a tendency to crust on top. Grass clippings are good, too, if available in large quantity.

Ground corn cobs have recently come into use as a mulch, especially for roses. This material is reported to also improve the soil by stimulating the growth of micro-organisms.

Clean the heating elements by burning off any spilled food and brushing with a soft brush. Never scrape it off or use water to clean the unit. The specialists suggest keeping the drip pans beneath the surface units clean, too, to prevent burning of wires which lead to the surface units.
