This Small Home Has Safety, Beauty

Architect Presents Plan for Home-Builders' Club Service

By ROBERT CHALMERS

The small home movement is the most effective step that should be taken for the protection of Americans from the possible economic and social storms of the future. A statement by one of America's sociologists, provides the reason: the nation's leaders in economic and financial circles are being attacked vigorously with the industry in the development of small homes movement.

Courtesy Home-Builders' Club—Randolph Evans, Architect

America wants a home in which she can live out of business hours. If she has a green field and rolling hills, much the better. For Mrs. Jones, it must be a home first of all for her family; then a place in which to entertain. John and Betty, it must be close to schools, parks, friends, and with room for a car. With the stimulation of the National Housing Act, Mr. and Mrs. Jones find it more practicable ever before to build and finance a small, medium-priced house or to raise the home they already own. Such far-reaching organizations as the National Retail Lumber Dealers' Association and the National Home Manufacturers' Association are leading the way in the attempt to build such homes within reach of millions of citizens as possible. The building movement embraces America, the significance of which is exaggerated. One of the country's outstanding architects who has interested himself in the small home is Randolph Evans, New York, designer of many large buildings throughout the United States. Despite other preoccupations of his profession, Mr. Evans has never wavered in his interest in the small home. Today he is architectural advisor to the recently formed Home-Builders' Club. The Home-Builders' Club is an organization national in scope, designed for cooperation with local architects, builders and building materials dealers throughout the country. The club, located by Harry L. Graf, with headquarters at 227 East 40th Street, New York City, will furnish monthly reports to members throughout the country. It includes new home designs by Mr. Evans and complete working drawings of at least one house each month. One of the homes, an attractive and colorful southern colonial, designed by Mr. Evans for the Home-Builders' Club—and for Mr. and Mrs. America. It is generous in the size of its rooms, with an ample living room and dining alcove, kitchen and entry on the first floor, along with two comfortably sized bedrooms and bath on the second floor, all conveniently reached through the central hallway. A very attractive feature of the living-room is the provision of full-length windows for easy access to the little garden in the rear. Upstairs, there is much more than the usual closet room to delight the heart of the aforementioned Mrs. America. And yet, overall, the cubic foot content of the house is slightly under 14,000 feet, making it an economical home to build in any section of the United States. Tasteful, harmonious, well selected color is the keynote of the home in which Mr. and Mrs. America and their family live today. Especially is this true of the roof and shutters on a small home such as this. The roof of this home is particularly well suited to the mineral-surfaced asphalt shingle, not only because of the tasteful and attractive appearance and color so well achieved by these shingles but even more because of safety. The fire-resistant quality of the asphalt shingle provides comforting and lasting protection from roof sparks and roof fires. For a home of the above type, one of the various pleasing shades of green or brown available in the mineral-surfaced asphalt shingle is suggested. As a parting word of advice, Randolph Evans suggests: "See your local architect. He is the home-builder's best friend."

According to the United States Bureau of Public Roads, the old time covered bridges were so constructed to protect them from the weather, and not (as is often supposed) to shelter travelers from storms. The above means of protection usually added many years to the life of wooden bridges, an inasmuch as the price of lumber formerly was cheap in many parts of this country, it did not cost much extra to cover the bridge with a roof. This type of bridge is still occasionally constructed in some sections of the country.

NOTHING'S BUSINESS

By JULIAN CAPRESE JR.

An apparently well-founded report that Tom Hunter, of Wichita Falls, thrice unsuccessful candidate for Governor, is being backed by the majority of Texas congressmen.

Lon Is Unhappy
The fact that he will oppose the following on the Railroad Commission, Ernest Thompson, running for governor, and Judge C. V. Terrell, seeking re-election, Railroad Commissioner Lon Smith, the "forgotten man of the Railroad Commission," this week wept bitter tears over his situation. Smith, who has fought his colleagues consistently, but unsuccessfully, being a minority of one, claims the commission has 422 employees, and that he has named less than 100, while his "right-hand man" ought to be around 140. He also let correspondents know that he plans to run for re-election in 1940, notwithstanding his previous announcement, while fighting for Thompson's re-election two years ago, that he would retire at the end of his present term. He has to be elected chairman of the Railroad Commission next January, succeeding Terrell, under the commission's precedent of rotation of the chairmanship but unless both Thompson and Terrell agree, Smith may lose that honor when his turn comes around.

Few Senate Changes
The completion of the next Texas Senate—regarded as the conservative branch of the Legislature—will not be much altered, regardless of the outcome of the gubernatorial elections, under present indications. Fifteen of the 31 senators are up for re-election, and to date, only eight of the 19 have opposition, and of these, Frank Rawlings of Fort Worth has announced he will not seek re-election. Claude Westerfield, of Dallas, has seven opponents, including two present Dallas House members; Grady Woodruff of Decatur is opposed by Reps. McConnell of Palo Pinto and R. C. Lanning of Jacksboro; ole Hill of Henderson faces opposition from E. M. Bramlette, former county judge of Longview, and Reps. Tompkins of Wichita Falls and George Moffett of Chillicothe are after the seat of Ben O'Neal of Wichita Falls, ex-law partner of Governor Alvin "Eck" Davis. Brownwood is opposed Penrose Metcalfe, whom Davis narrowly defeated four years ago. In the Rio Grande Valley area, Jim Neal has two opponents, Lon Messer of Entertaining in the Palmer home, Mrs. Faye Westmoreland and Miss Thelma Palmer were hostesses Friday to a party of lovely appointments.

Colorful spring flowers, including stock, verbena, tulips and hydrangeas, were used effectively in the rooms where the three tables of contract were in play.

And she is lamenting how far behind she became with her work—which must be done right if she is to have anything to do with it and will not let anything else interfere with her time to "stay on the job" unless it be sickness. . . J. L. Shoemaker, cashier of the First National Bank, wasn't satisfied to view the bank building repairs, but got right upon the awnings with the workmen several times. . . Better hurry—we heard two ladies in Cabool's store (guess just once) say they wanted to be prompt at the barbecue Friday noon. ### ALUMINUM FOR SPEED ON LAND, AIR AND WATER

RECIPE!— Take an ordinary stock automobile engine, "aluminumize" it and you have a powerplant for a speedboat, a race car or an airplane. One of the methods for obtaining the gains in speed and performance noted in racing automobile, marine and airplane powerplants is the improvement in efficiency made possible by more complete use of aluminum.

David E. Anderson, Chief Engineer of Bohn Aluminum points out how this super performance is obtained. In the manner of engineers, he explains it with curves. Referring to the diagram above, Curve A is an ordinary 75 horsepower automobile engine. Curve B shows the horsepower obtained by simply adding an aluminum cylinder head and boosting the compression a bit. Curve C includes the aluminum head with dual instead of single carburation.

A better combustion chamber boosted the horsepower up to 110

as shown in Curve B. With a still better combustion chamber and improved timing and using an Auto-Thermic piston the horsepower was pushed up to 114 as shown by Curve C. This is the engine used in the speedboat, airplane and race car illustrated in the insets in this picture.

Anderson points out that with the aluminum cylinder head and with the auto-thermic type of piston, it is possible to use a compression ratio and ignition timing which produce performance far beyond that possible with the original cast iron unit. This means more horsepower from the same size engine or equal horsepower from a smaller and more compact engine. All of the major performance records are obtained with engines which employ aluminum cylinder heads and pistons. Performance beyond the usual is necessary to have a high ratio of power to weight engineers explain.

Let We Forget

Below is reprinted a letter taken from the Terry County Herald from Miss Lynette Tinsley of Tahoka, to her friend Miss Louise Leonard, of Brownfield. The letter concerns the young people who were killed or hurt March 24, and while the publication of the letter is belated, it is nevertheless interesting:

Tahoka, Texas
March 30, 1938

Dear Louise:
I guess you heard about the terrible wreck over here Sunday afternoon. This has been the saddest, awfullest week of my whole life. I think Sunday afternoon we all intended to go to Coopers Canyon on a picnic. Norman Carver, Delma Carver, Dorothy Holland, Joy Reid, Randal Fuhs, Johnny

Lane, Turner Rogers, Clarence Overman and Ethelda Schaefer, were all in a '34 model Ford car, two door. They were in Norman's car and they had just gone out to 7-Bar after Clarence. It was about 4:30 then. Margie Donaghey and I were supposed to be with them and they were going to get us and then go after Clarence. (I was to go with him) so that we could go on to Coopers Canyon there because it is about 10 miles closer.

They couldn't find a after hunting about an hour, so they went on after Clarence. As they were coming back after Margie and me they had the wreck. There were nine in the car.

Louise, you know how you will fill up a car like that and not think a thing about it. Norman, Ethelda, Delma and Joy were sitting in front. Johnny, Randal, Dorothy, Turner and Clarence all in the back. They were double-decked, all but Johnny. They were going along about 40 or 45 miles an hour when the steering gear locked. Norman began to try to stop but before he could the car shot across the road right exactly in front of a '38 model Chevrolet. Ethelda's neck was broken. The head-on crash probably threw her up against the top of the car. Delma's neck was broken and also Jay's neck was broken. They said Johnny's body was torn up worst of all. They said the poor boy's head was simply cracked open all the way around, and there was a big hole in the back of his head. He always combed his hair straight back, with no part, but to hide the fractures they had to part it and comb it down on the sides, of course that made it impossible for him to be natural. Randal and Clarence were thrown out of the car and Clarence got a broken leg and Randal skinned up a little. Turner escaped with a sprained ankle. Just think of that, and four killed.

Dorothy has a broken leg and a few other things. Norman was almost killed but he wanted to come to Delma's funeral on Wednesday, so he came on a stretcher. Delma died about half way between Tahoka and Lubbock on the ambulance. Johnny lived to talk to his mother after he got to Lubbock. The ambulance was about to leave Lubbock with Delma's body when the doctors told them to wait, because Johnny was dying. They just waited, and waited for him to die. Doesn't that sound terrible? Ethelda started to say something and as she opened her mouth, blood gushed out and she died. She was killed almost instantly. I guess I was just plain lucky Sunday afternoon when couldn't find me.

Jay was buried Monday; Ethelda Tuesday; Johnny Tuesday, and Delma Wednesday.

We haven't had school all week. Poor Johnny was buried at Haskell, so we didn't get to go to his funeral, but I was a flower girl at all the others. Ethelda was 14; Dorothy and Delma, 14; Johnny 17; Clarence 15; Randal 17; Turner 15; Norman 18; Jay 21.

That was the first Sunday afternoon I hadn't been with them since we all started going somewhere on Sunday afternoon together. All the kids were my best friends and it was all so unexpected and such a shock, I will always remember those dear kids. The last time I saw them alive, Saturday, Johnnie and I were talking, when he got ready to leave he said, "Well, soon, I'll be seeing you." I saw him but he didn't see me.

Answer soon,
Love,
Lynette Tinsley.

1600 Boy Scouts Will Celebrate Circus On May 6

Approximately 1600 Scouts and Cubs will participate in the Second Annual Boy Scout Circus to be held at the Texas Tech football stadium on Friday, May 6, beginning at 8 o'clock.

Outstanding among the attractions that will be in Lubbock on the day of the circus will be the mammoth parade in which 25 bands from schools over the South Plains will participate competing for honors in the parade. In addition to the bands the entire 1600 scouts and cubs will be in the parade with their bugs and banners.

Following the parade the scouts and cubs will rehearse the circus to be presented in the evening. Additional entertainment is expected for the circus with parents and friends from all over the twenty counties where scouting is active. This promised to be the largest activity in the history of scouting on the South Plains.

Lost Species Point Warning, Says Jordan

Frederick F. Jordan, director of National Wildlife, and Sonny Jordan on the grounds of the Jordan home in Connecticut. The National Wildlife Federation was founded in response to the demand for a national-wide alliance of organization concerned with the future of birds in this country, are either extinct or in danger of extinction. Here are (1) the Labrador duck, last one killed in 1878; (2) Eskimo curlew, a "missing" species, may be extinct; (3) great ault, extinct for a century; (4) California parakeet, last one killed in Florida, 1904; (5) passenger pigeon, last one died in Cincinnati Zoo in 1914; (6) heath hen, last one died at Martha's Vineyard, Massachusetts, in 1933; (7) whooping-crane, a few stragglers left.

SCHOOL NEARING CLOSE

This week began the sixth and last period of the school year. With finals and graduation just ahead, all the students are working with increased zeal. The seniors and the seventh grade are especially eager for the close of school to come. To all the students vacation beckons.

RECITAL

Miss Pearl Elgin presented her made pupils in a recital on Friday evening, April 15. About fifteen students had a part in a program heard by a large, appreciative audience. Miss Elgin and her pupils have been highly commended for their excellent work.

SPRING FOOTBALL PRACTICE

High school football practice last Monday afternoon with a large group of aspiring candidates. According to Coach Dodson, the spring season will continue for three weeks which will be spent in drilling on blocking, tackling and running plays. With only six lettermen from last year's squad reporting for duty brings a cast of gloom over the Longhorn practice field, but the season is months off anything can happen. Freshmen have been known to bring smiles to a coach by excelling his so-called lettermen. If this theory holds true, Drew-Rodwin may develop a football club for it '38 campaign.

This department has been notified that football prospects have begun to brighten already with the discovery of a dark horse. This little man is none other than Odell Jones. His 125 pounds of slender weight and nerve should more than hold its own against charges sent his way.

WHAT DO YOU THINK,

Last Sunday night Helen had two ways home, this past Sunday night she had none.

Minister Drennan's Notes

I want to express my appreciation for the kind reception of my notes last week also to the editor for putting them in.

I am glad to see the merchants are advertising in the Press, because that is what it takes to make a paper go.

In regard to feeding the people today, I hope there will be better order and system than the last one held here. I helped serve them, and I know. We who served were run over and the food was wanted. Let's all have patience, because it takes quite awhile to serve four or five thousand people.

I want to commend the seniors on their play. It taught a good lesson, and the acting was superb.

I think the father and son banquet a good idea. We should need to live closer to our sons.

The Boy Scout movement is a great thing for young boys.

Mrs. Williams wants an automatic typewriter. She argues people should have player pianos.

Charles Florence putting the shot only forty-two feet. (Wonder what he had on his mind?)

Ruby Hale thinks all roads lead to O'Donnell.

Smackey Moyers has stood up a girl.

Mr. Green has ordered safety plane glasses.

Paul thinks that pasteurized milk is milk from a cow that runs on a pasture.

We all have our off days but Charles Florence can take the cake. Last Saturday at the district meet, Charles tossed the shot a mere 42 feet, to win fourth place. The winner's distance was only 43 feet and eleven inches. Then to climax the day, he placed fourth and second in the discus and javelin jumps.

In last year's meet Charles won two first places and a second to win high point honors.

According to latest reports, Florence may go to the regional if he continues to heave the shot as he has done the past few days.

SENIORS ATTEND RECEPTION

Members of the senior class were guests of the O'Donnell seniors at a reception given on Friday evening for the upper classmen of the schools in nearby communities. Those students who attended were Misses Ruby Hale, Elsie Williams and Thelma Jo Wallace and Messrs. Rex Jackson and Delton Hale.

BANQUET

The juniors are making plans for a junior-senior banquet to be given at the school building on May 3. The affair is to be a gala occasion, at which trustees, students and teachers will be entertained. Truett Holloway has been elected chairman of the committee in charge of the plans.

We need to provide something or some way to our boys to get rid of their excess energy. A pound of preventive is worth a ton of cure, we are told, and this sure is true of boy life. Unless we give our boys something to do, the devil will put them to work. Idleness is one of our worst enemies.

We had a great day at the church last Sunday, one precious soul was born into the family of God and others were much interested. We are hoping and praying that we may at least reach and rescue twenty-five lost souls this year. The church just has one mission in the world and that is preaching the gospel of Christ to a lost world.

We have ordered one hundred and twenty-five new song books, and will meet Friday night of each week to learn to sing. The public is invited. God authorized vocal music in the church—let's make it as good as we can.

Preaching next Lord's Day at 11 a. m. and 8:15 p. m. Bible study, 10 a. m.; Ladies Bible study, Wednesday, 3 p. m. and song practice Friday, 8:15 p. m. Come with us and we will do these good at the friendly church, where welcome is on the door mat and you are a stranger but once.

—R. P. Drennan.

Contest Very Close

This contest, so far, has proved to be the closest competition this manager has ever experienced in this line of work. No one has a walk away yet. Neither is anyone hopelessly beaten. Just a good bunch of subscriptions turned in by anyone of the various candidates this week would alter the entire complexion of affairs and furnish new leaders for our next published vote count next Monday morning. In fact, a few long-term subscriptions, from un-expected sources might be the ones needed to turn the tide of defeat into victory.

Candidates recall that many of their friends promised to subscribe later. NOW is the time to get those subscriptions. Most of them are "as good as gold," but make your friends understand their help is needed NOW and that by waiting until a later date they are withholding the full measure of their support from you.

We are now publishing the standing of candidates twice a week. Each Friday it will appear in the paper and on placards as they stand through Tuesdays report. Each Monday it will appear in the paper and on placards as they stand through Saturday's reports. These placards are located in the Corner Drug Store, in John Miller's feed store and the Press office in O'Donnell. One also is placed in each of the following places: L. F. O'Conner's store at Harmony; Joe McLaughlin store at Wells; Cook & Son store at Draw, and the store in which the post-office is located at Welch. Be sure to see one of these cards each Monday and Friday to see if your favorite is in the position you would like to see her hold. She needs your subscription to gain and win prizes.

Remember, Saturday is the last day that extra credits will be given on subscriptions. Also one week from Saturday is the end of the first period and at that time credits on subscriptions will be materially reduced. The ultimate winners are very apt to be the ones up near the top at the end of the first period. REACH that DESIRED POSITION while it is STILL EASY!
