Salad Parade

Salads lead the health parade because in them you eat so many fruits and vegetables before they get a chance to lose their vitamins and minerals. All through the ages people have turned to salads they because craved things fresh from garden and orchard. Besides, certain foods are more attractive and appealing served in their raw state, or in salad form. Salads may accompany the main course, and then they are served on fore serving time. a side plate, but alongside the main If you want to entertain in course. a special way, the answer is a salad platter or salad bowl. Use fruit or vegetables as your taste dictates. Don't forget the party or dessert salads which are in a class by themselves. These are full of fruit and even whipped cream, the fairy princesses of the salad world. Serve them for special occasions as a topping to a meal or as a party dish. Frozen Banana Salad. (Serves 10 to 12) 1 tablespoon lemon juice

One or more of the following may be added for variety if you want to tease the palate: Sliced radishes, chopped green pepper, diced cucumbers, cut celery, sliced stuffed olives, tomato sections, sliced pickle, sieved hard-cooked eggs, rolled anchovies, minced onion rings, garlic salt, celery salt, celery seed, or a light sprinkle of thyme, curry powder or chili powder.

Here are some tempting varia-tions for a cole slaw type of salad: Plain Cole Slaw: 4 cups finely shredded cabbage, 1 tablespoon celery seed, 1 cup cooked salad dressing. Optional additions: 1 tablespoon either dill seed or caraway seed or mustard seed.

Soft Corn Requires Special Attention Several Methods Given For Profitable Feeding

Saving soft corn will be a problem facing many farmers this year. Much of the crop went in so late that frost became a factor in maturity, as well as in winter handling of the corn. Next to chopping and feeding green, one of the best ways to get full value from soft corn is to put immature crops in the silo or pasture them off with cattle, hogs or sheep, Capper's Farmer points out.

Another method used by many growers in the last big soft corn year, 1945, was to build emergency cribs five to six feet wide. The farmers set two rows of poles in the ground, wired the tops together to keep the cribs from spreading, and fastened woven wire or slat cribbing on the inside of the posts. These cribs, built in east and west directions, took best advantage of prevailing winds.

Farmers in many northern areas, where corn is likely to be caught by frost before it is mature, regularly cut up large quantities and cure it as fodder. Ears later are husked by hand or with a shredder. Most hybrid corns are stiff stalked and have a good root system. They will stand with few fallen ears well into the winter. Since ears will dry with less spoilage on a standing stalk, many farmers prefer to let hogs, cattle or sheep harvest the crop.

Some New Weed Killers Give Excellent Results

New weed killers to supplement 2,4-D are appearing with good reports. Quack grass and crab grass are two weed pests which 2,4-D does not control. IPC was developed in England during the war and now is giving good results in the control of quack grass, stolons and seedings, in tests conducted by the U.S. department of agriculture. It is harmless to persons and to some broadleaf plants.

Be Patient About Your Baby's Growth

F YOU'RE concerned about how your baby is growing, just give him the best possible care and be patient, advises Beulah France in an article in Capper's Farmer, one of the leading farm magazines. He will develop only as rapidly as nature intends.

"How fast your baby grows de-pends on 2 things," she writes in the magazine read by 1,300,000 farm families. "One is heredity-traits he inherited from both sides of the family. The other is environmentbaby's surroundings-which include the food he eats and the treatment he receives.' In the early months, once a week is often enough to weigh your baby, she says. Later, once a month will be sufficient. Baby usually doubles his birth weight in 6 months. At one year he should weigh about 3 times his birth weight. Your baby may begin to sit alone for a moment or two at a time when he is 7 months old. But he must not be propped and left that way. He will sit without support WASHINGTON .- Here are some more notes from a reporter's notebook (of course, reporters don't really carry notebooks-they write on whatever is handy-this is a menu) at the United Nations.

Some of the people who are reading this column attended sessions of the United Nations. I think I recognized some of you. It was hard to get in because so many nations felt this session was so important that they brought much larger staffs than ever before. A colleague of mine, a most restrained and thoughtful commentator (Pauline Frederick, with con-siderable experience here and abroad) told me something which is worth repeating. She was interviewing Eleanor Roosevelt at a luncheon at Hyde Park. Whatever you may think of Mrs. Roosevelt's domestic politics you must know in what high regard she is held as a member of the American delegation to the United Nations.

My colleague asked her if her heart weren't heavy over the world situation today. I haven't her exact words here, but Mrs. Roosevelt replied in the negative. She said we had expected too much too soon from the United Nations. And then she went on to point out what so many of the delegates have said, namely, that faulty and ineffective as the United Nations may be. it is far better than nothing. How many times have I heard while farmers have about $1.09. At the same time, the biggest cause of the wage earners' problem is the sharp rise in the price of food. The average family now pays more than $1.31 for the same amount of food that a dollar bought a year ago. It also pays $1.06 for each dollar on rent, $1.18 to the 1946 dollar for clothing and $1.23 for miscellaneous expenses.

"This continued divergence between farm and city buying power," the survey pointed out, "indicates that a serious unbalance may threaten the stability of our economy. A close balance is essential."

The most to cut expenses. striking thing, the editorial added, is "the determination of the United Nations (that means the member nations) to survive.

One strange phenomenon which appear to persons not too well acquainted with the ways of such gatherings is the friendly and entirely normal manner in which the delegates to the United Nations who attack each other on the rostrum, consort in the corridors and lounges provided in the two buildings which now temporarily house the executive council and the general assembly, respectively. That's nothing new to people who have covered congress.

Dispensing of News Is Vital to U. N.

The longer I serve, covering these meetings, the more I realize that the most important of all the groups, not excluding the delegates themselves, are those which serve to dispense the news and information concerning the United Nations.

It would be impossible, of course, for enough people to visit the sessions to affect public opinion greatly. But many of the people who do come go back with a message which stirs great interest in the organization in their communities. Proof of this interest was contained in the report of the secretary general. Lie, when he said that information had been sent out and other steps taken in cooperation with a thousand meetings in the past year.

But more important than anything else are the actual reports of press and radio direct from one or the other of the two headquarters, or as a result of the many interviews with members of the permanen: secretariat.

Here is what they've done with radio alone

Russia wants the Ukraine, which, although an integral part of the Soviet Union, have a separate U. N. delegation. U. S. contention is that the Ukraine is not a sovereign nation, therefore does not rate a separate status.

In the background of the affair was the Stalin - Roosevelt Yalta agreement which gave the Soviet Union three votes in the United Nations. Russia proper, the Ukraine and White Russia each has one.

How the U.S.S.R. came to get votes probably happened three something like this: Both the Ukraine and White Russia, intensely nationalistic, did not like to lose their identities by being merged with greater Russia. The Communist politburo, therefore, as a sop to their nationalism, granted the two territories a sort of nominal independence.

CAROLYN TAYLOR looked at | herself critically in the full

She was more charming, more desirable than the pretty young Carolyn of eleven years before when she finished col-

That was the Carolyn who, all her senior year at college, had to keep reminding herself that this was earth she lived on, and not really heaven, as it seemed, because of Lee. Lee, who was tall and lean, with intent blue eyes, and delightfully unruly hair. Lee, who loved her and treasured the secret of their engagement. Lee, who was so sweet about wanting to present her to the family as a beautiful surprise after Commencement. Not even his adored older brother had been let in on the secret.

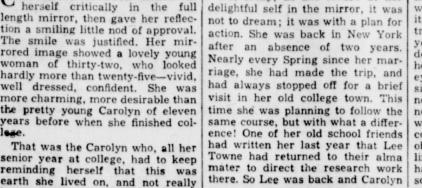

Then, with Commencement still three weeks away, it happened. Just after Lee passed the final examinations for his doctor's degree, he was offered an extraordinary chance to do the very research work that he most wanted-a unique chance for "an unmarried man, prepared to devote at least five years to the project.

Carolyn remembered how honorable Lee had been in breaking the news to her. He might have let their engagement continue, he told her; he might have kept on seeing her, deceiving her about their prospects for marriage, putting it off, or promising to marry her at the end of the five years. But he did not consider that the right thing to do. No. it was only the part of a gentleman to tell her that it was best to break off. She was not to feel hurt, there was no other girl, just his career.

He put anguish into Carolyn's heart, but managed somehow to impress her with the difficulty of his own part in the scene. Even in the pain and shock of losing him, Carolyn told herself that Lee was the finest person she had ever known.

That belief had never left her. Three years later she married Jefferson Taylor, a big, broad Westerner, done in shades of brown. She sometimes felt a slight disdain for Jeff's substantial size, remembering Lee's aristocratic slenderness, but she repressed the thought. Lots of fun, Jeff was, and with a practical mind for business that made them enough money to enjoy a pleasantly luxurious life. She loved Jeff, of course. But there was a part of herself that she withheld, one section of her heart and mind walled off, that would always belong to Lee.

She never spoke to Jeff of this reservation. Only in secret did Carolyn now and then open the door on that precious might-have-been part

ADVENTURE LIMITED By IDA BREED

But today, as she looked at her, that she could have stopped him with a word, but she did not speak it. This was the Lee whom she had treasured in her heart for eleven years! Lee, still tall, but with shoulders stooped; still lean, but with a hollow-chested look. Lee, his blue eyes intent now only with a nearsighted, peering expression; his hair no longer unruly, because there was not enough of it to be, just some wisps "borrowed" from one side to cover a pale bald spot. And it was obvious that for all he saw of the life humming around him, he might have had his eye bent to a microscope as he walked.

Carelyn had to keep reminding herself that it was earth she lived on, not really heaven.

was going to see him. Accidentally, of course. She had it all planned. There would be a casual drifting about the campus in her flattering new Spring suit, lingering over a table in Crofton House, where everybody dropped in at tea time. Then when Lee appeared-Carolyn had this part rehearsed in her mindshe would give just the right look of pleased surprise, just the right degree of invitation to remember. Lee would see what he had missed all these years. What would happen after they met-what did she want to happen? That Carolyn did not quite know, and she stopped short of trying to decide. This was to be an adventure. The adventure proceeded as if acted from a well prepared script. Carolyn chanced into Crofton House at tea time. Two men at a nearby table stared at her with obvious admiration; they were younger faculty members that she did not know.

Carolyn sat and stared, helpless to force her gaze away from this changed Lee. What of the distinguished gray at the temples, the impressive look of the scientist that she had pictured!

The men at the next table were noticing her concentrated gaze; she finally forced herself to look away. The next minute, with no more poise than a school girl, she jumped up and hurried away into the next wing of the building to the telegraph blanks.

"Leaving for home tonight instead of next week," she began to write. There was something reassuring about the thought of Jeff's bulk; she was glad that her husband was such a substantial person in every way. Such nice, thick hair, too, and straight shoulders. She had never been as sweet to him as he deserved, but she would make it up from now on. Why, he was the finest person that she had ever known! Back at their table, the two curious young men continued to speculate after they had watched Carolyn rush from the room.

Creative Power of Faith Lesson for October 19, 1947

THIS lesson takes us to the Westminster Abbey of the Bible-Hebrews, eleventh through the thirteenth chapters-to meditate for a season upon the valiant souls in the long ago who obtained a good report as they stood at the passage of destiny and sounded the trumpets of triumph, even the trumpets of faith. The reader will be richly rewarded to stop right here and open his or her Dr. Newton Bible and read these three chapters. Your attention will be riveted to the word, faith.

'Now faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen. For by it the elders obtained a good report. Through faith we understand that the worlds were framed by the word of God, so that things which are seen were not made of "things which do appear.". Hebrews 11:1-3.

A Journey to a New Land

WANT the boys and wirls to look at the passage which describes how Abraham, "when he was called to go out into a place which he should after receive for an inheritance, obeyed; and he went out, not knowing whither he went."

How could Abraham leave his pleasant situation in Ur? Through faith in God, and that alone. A memory verse is bere suggested: "I will trust, and will not be afraid," Isaiah 12:2. Abraham might well have been afraid of unknown enemies, of disease, of poverty. Men do become afraid of these things, unless their faith is in God. But Abraham believed in God-had faith in God. And he went forth, holding the hand of God.

There is creative power in such a faith. Abraham discovered that every step he took was accompanied by God. He built altars. He talked with God, and God talked with him. Such will be the experience of every boy and girl who stakes his or her all upon implicit faith in God.

WHAT AGE IS THE BEST AGE?

Personality knows no age limits, and a developed personality can go on with undimmed lustre as long as life endures. Indeed, the full fruition of a personality seldom comes much before middle-age or older, because it is a long time in building and each successive day adds a bit of charm.

Women famed for their beauty are seldom the very young. Quite often as not they have passed middle-age. Frequently they will be what the world calls old.

Consider Ninon L'Enclos, perhaps the most beautiful and charming woman of history. She was unheard of until she was fifty, yet at eighty she was still sought after by rich and fashionable gentlemen, who could have taken their pick of the court beauties. It wasn't her youth that gave L'Enclos charm. It was her ageless personality.

But perhaps the crowning achievement of personality in a woman is the career of Elizabeth Browning, wife of the English poet.

Elizabeth was an invalid from childhood, bed-ridden, but illness couldr.'t quench her spirit nor rob her of her beauty, and the long hours she spent in solitude had enabled her to develop something into her personality that made her irresistibly beautiful.

Then came young Robert Browning, six years her junior, to fall madly in love with her, and she with him. She was bed-ridden, mind you, but she arose from her sick bed and they eloped into the night and were married.

For sixteen years they passed a life of unbelievable happine together. And when she died, at the age of 56, with her head on her husband's arm, he wrote the next day that her face was the face of a young girl.

Step by step through the quiet years personality develops. And it is never too late to start or to create one out of what you have, out of what you are. That is the fascinating thing.

sidering a life career. This lesson would seem to clearly indicate that God has a purpose and plan for each life. He will reveal that plan to those who trust him for guidance. Faith in God at this point is absolutely essential if we are to live victoriously.

Read again the eleventh chapter of Hebrews and see how these heroes of faith in the long ago cast themselves wholly into the will of God for their lives. We can have no doubt about their ultimate success.

Parents and teachers are here reminded of their solemn responsibility in pointing intermediate boys and girls to the truth of Sunday's lesson. Life is too valuable. too fleeting, to be frittered away in purposeless drifting.

Faith is the bright shaft of God's presence and power to guide young people into his will. It is the unfailing light to direct their steps daily. It is the creative power to sustain them each step of the way.

This Power at Work

TAKE any one of the characters portrayed in these three chapters of Hebrews and see how faith in God produced men and women who changed the course of history.

Young people are interested in biography. I would commend to you the lives of the great men and women of modern times, who lived in the creative power of faith in God.

John Wesley, for example. There was a man whose life, when strangely warmed by the spirit of God, lifted England from the depths of secularism and set her feet once more on the high way of worthy achievement.

Martha Berry is another splendic example. Miss Berry devoted her life to God's will and purpose to open doors of opportunity to the under-privileged boys and girls of the southern mountain areas. Today, at Mt. Berry, stands a school with the largest campus in the world-a school which reveals what one life can accomplish when that life is built by the creative power of faith in the Living God.

"Take my life and let it be, Consecrated, Lord, to Thee."
