'DADDY OF 'EM ALL'

Spectacular Pikes Peak Speed Classic Revived

By WNU Features

COLORADO SPRINGS, COLO.-Nature and man have contrived to provide the world's most spectacular and grueling testing grounds for an automobile on Pikes Peak, one of America's most famous mountains, where the annual Labor Day auto races will be revived this year after a wartime lapse.

A record field of big-time drivers is expected to vie for $7,500 in prize money posted for the race against time up the famous Pikes Peak highway, William H. Geisler Day race at Indianapolis. reau reports.

Rise of 6,000 Feet.

The highway, known as the "world's most wonderful motor road," is a double track boulevard, 20 to 50 feet wide for the entire distance, and as smooth and even as pavement. Breath-taking hairpin curves mark the entire course, which is noted for the sensational rise of more than 6,000 feet in approximately 12% miles.

From many points on the course, visitors may look downward thousands of feet to the starting point and watch the speed demons climb the rock-walled sides of the giant peak to the snow-clad summit above the clouds.

Equally thrilling is the magnificent view, heralded as the most spectacular ever beheld from an automobile. A vast, 300-mile panorama of the mighty Rockies can be viewed from the New Mexico border line on the south, through the entire state of Colorado, to Wyoming on the north, Eastward, the billowy ocean of plains rolls far into Kansas while spread out below like a huge black carpet is the Pike national forest Often dubbed the "daddy of 'em in the realm of hill climbs, the Pikes Peak race assumes proportions of an international event with cars and drivers entered from foreign countries as well as the United States.

Undergo Severe Strain.

As the racers roar up the steep slopes of Pikes Peak, their vehi-cles undergo terrific tests which are used by manufacturers as the basis for new car improvements. From the tires to the spark plugs, the test of strength and stami is more intensive than any required of a regular passenger car.

The graveled roadbed with its hairpin curves and steep grades is a severe test for tires. The climb of 6,000 feet in a short distance demands expert performance for carburetion, cooling, ignition, spark plugs, wiring and other parts of the motor, as well as a real test of oil and gas.

Thirty years amidst hams and eggs is the reward of Otis S. Oneal, Negro extension worker at Fort Valley, Ga. #### JESUS AND RIGHT USE OF PROPERTY

LESSON TEXT-Exodus 20:15; Proverbs 36.7.0. Matthew 5:25-33.
MEMORY SELECTION—But lay up for yourselves freasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust doth corrunt, and where thieves do not break through nor will be here will your heart be also (Ma't. 6:20-21).

Labor Day tomorrow! And much in the thinking of all America will be the right division of the fruits of investment of time and money. Property rights are fundamental. God's Word teaches us the proper attitude toward our own rights and the rights of others; namely, honesty, yes, just plain old-fashioned

In such a time, the believer in Christ needs to be doubly vigilant lest be accommodate his own standards of honesty to those of the world.

I. Honest in Purpose (Exod. 20:15). We cannot tolerate anything in word or deed that can be regarded as stealing what belongs to another. The very commandment against stealing implies that men have a right to that which they have made, earned or saved.

If no one had any property rights there could be no stealing. Some of our-modern political and social isms deny such rights, but their reasoning is clearly not biblical or Chris-

"Thou shalt not steal," forbids every kind of theft, and this includes more than robbery or ordinary stealing (see Lev. 19:11-13).

It relates to every kind of false dealing with another, such as op-pression or the withholding of just wages. That, too, is stealing in

Perhaps we ought to be more specific and apply the truth to our own day. Stealing includes such things as loafing on one's job, borrowing money from the cash drawer, taking goods from the stock with which one is working, stealing another man's sermon and preaching it as one's own, lifting material out of another man's book without credit, contracting debts which one can never pay, using false weights and measures, adulterating food or other material, "watering" milk for sale, selling worthless stock, dodging taxes or lying to the tax assessor, or using a slug instead of a nickel in the telephone to escape proper payment.

One might add gambling (which ts taking another man's property by skill or by chance), making an unduly large profit on the labor of king money out of the sorrows and failures of others, etc. To be honest means to be fair, and that has broad implications.

II. Humble in Practice (Prov. 30:

It may sound a little odd to hear this man pray that he should be delivered from prosperity. To ask to be kept from poverty is certainly to make a wise request, but to be delivered from riches, why that's certainly not sensible. So reasons the world, but as usual, it is entirely wrong. Experience has demonstrated that the man who has an abundance of good things usually becomes selfsatisfied, assuming that he deserves the credit for his affluence, he forgets God, and what had been a good and useful life is soon destroyed. On the other hand, it is true that extreme poverty tends to break down a man's morale. Watching his family starve is not conducive to honesty if a man can lay his hands something to save them, whether it be his or not. We do not justify stealing at any time, but we can well understand that starvation can turn the mind of a normal man into abnormal channels.

III. Heavenly in Principle (Matt.

The Bible is concerned almost entirely with life on this earth. It tells us very little about heaven except how to go there. But (and here is the important point for us just now) it does give us laws from heaven for life on earth. Our life here, our attitude toward property, is to be heavenly in principle.

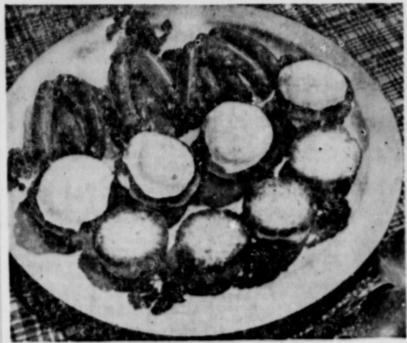

We are not to be anxious (the correct translation of "take no thought," vv. 25, 27, 31) about our life, about food, raiment and other necessary things. Proper fore-thought is all right, but worry?

How shall these things be pro-God will provide. Consider the birds. Do they have nervous breakdowns about where their food and shelter are to come from? They cannot even pray and they are not able to work, and yet God feeds them. Consider the glory of the flowers of the field, for not even a king can dress as they. The Lord does it. "Are ye not much better than

What about the future? It is in God's hands, and even if it were in our hands what could we do with it? Even tomorrow with its needs, its blessings, its joys and its sor-rows is not here yet, and when it does comes there will come with it God's gracious provision (v. 34).

Public Good

Freedom of the press has been talked about more in the last few months than in the previous few years. Comment began when the Supreme Court ruled in favor of an editor who had been hailed into court by a notable who felt (perhaps justifiably) injured by something the editor had published. Not everybody thought the case would turn out as it did. Many were surprised.

I would not wish to review the case here, even if there were room for it, but I am glad the Supreme Court surprised a lot of good people and set them studying and talking about this purely American liberty, freedom of the press. Let me say this: You don't publish stories in the old country that hurt the feelings of potentates and get away with it America Is Different

In this country, it is assumed that a man is not fit for public office unless he can take all the razzing and criticism that goes with it and still hold his temper and do a good job. Think how long a crooked official might stay in office if he could pretect himself from criticism all the time, and yet encourage newspapers to magnify the faults of other men who ran for his office.

Editors better not get careless and publish uncomplimentary statements about their neighbors, or about things their neighbors have to sell; courts make them pay or the damage, if any. Editors dare not get mean and print malicious lies about people because courts send writers to jail for that. Publishers can't do whatever they please. That's apart from freedom of the press.

For the Public Good

It is recognized by law in the United States that the people are entitled to know what goes on. Public information is for the public good. In line with this very principle, the Post Office Department will move 60 times more news tonnage for the money than letters which are private, not public. Our government considers spreading news an important public service.

If a publisher makes known things news an important public service.

If a publisher makes known things that are true and in the people's interest, it is for the public good and he has the protection of law. When the keen lash of publicity strikes the corrupt deeds of public payrollers, let the hit dog yelp. The press is a vocation of "checks and balances." Publishers have power they don't have to use, but if they use it they must use it for the public good.

A Parallel Case

Some day, I believe, these same checks and balances will control the enormous powers of labor unions which have done more to improve the living standards of the American people than any other organized movement. They have enhanced American freedom. The right of collective bargaining is as sacred as the right to vote, but some labor leaders have been known to abuse their power.

In a republic, power is abused when it is used destructively, in a manner that injures, rather than benefits, the public. The famous Case Bill is dead with all its miscellaneous regulations for labor unions. Many conservative thinkers will concede that it will be better if the unions regulate themselves for the public good, rather than having it done by law. Industrial peace must be achieved. Reform is inevitable. The workers can do it better than some bureau.

Washington and Indians are the only states technically American in name. Washington was christened after the first President. Indians was so named because large tracts there were purchased and settled by the Indians.

Texas is an Indian name meaning friends' -- as is Dakota.

Arizona means "place of the small springs" and not "arid zone"

Idaho is derived from an Indian word meaning "gem of the mountains."

The Indians had two translations for the word Wyoming. One was "extensive plains" and the other was "mountains and valleys altern ating."

State Highway Engineer DeWitt
C. Greer Sunday assured accidentscarred Texas that by a comprehen

In a radio broadcast from Houston the veteran road chief outlined the hope engineering offers in traf fic accident prevention by "improv support of a balanced highway improvement program designed to add proven safety features to the present highway system and simultaneously bring rural Texas out of the mud.

His address was sponsored by the Texas Safety Association as a part of the current nationwide crusade to check traffic accidents which threatened to claim 10 thousand lives and pile up a property damage loss of $500 thousand in Texas during the next ten years.

"For virtually every type of accident the engineer has a road design which will reduce the likelihood of such accidents virtually to the vanishing point, at the same time per mitting the swift, congestion free movement of all vehicles." Greer said. He cited the gratifying results obtained from a former nationwide program to engineer the hazards out of railroad grade crossings.

"The overpasses and under pass es built under this program made it impossible for a car traveling the highway to collide with a train traveling the railroad." he pointed out,

"Since 1923 the grade crossing accident rate has dropped 65 per cent." the engineer said. He assured the public that it is physically possible to achieve equally dramatic results if the same engineering princ iples could be extended more generally to road intersections where 55 per cent of the highway fatalities now occur. Divided lane pavements were offered to reduce the 20 per cent of fatalities now caused by head on collusions side swiping and other passing movements.

Upholding the feasibility of clover leaf grade separations, divided lane roadways and other features sometimes criticized as "Engineer Monuments," Greer said, "Thhose who berate these safety improvements have not yet had their accident. Those who have already had their accident and escaped with their lives are almost unanimous in their acciding of these improvements which reduce the penalties for the inevitable human error in driving."

"In the past ten years Texas has paid nearly $300 hundred thousand for traffic accidents that adeq uate highway design could have prevented. This is nearly half the total capital investment of the present entire Hhigway System of Tex as." He warned that accidents would claim the cost of a safe and adequate road system during the next ten years if the present rate of slaughter on our highways remains unchecked.

He urged support of a three point program to protect and maintain present road construction revenue, to secure a controlled access law to realize the maximum safety benefits from roads now built, and a balanced road improvement plan designed to simultaneously bring rural Texans out of thhe mud, provide increased safety to motorists on heavily traveled roads and to bring some relief to congestion and hazards of motor travel thru urban and thickly populated areas.

THE OLD AND THE NEW

New World's Oldest City Stages Anniversary Fete

Moss-covered ruins of some of the first buildings in America stand picturesquely among modern structures, suspension bridges, spacious boulevards, fine hospitals and schools in the oldest city in the western hemisphere, Ciudad Trujillo in the Dominican republic, which on Sunday, August 4, observed the 450th anniversary of its founding.

As a highlight of the fete, a threemasted caravel, modeled after one of Columbus' ships, sailed up the Ozama river to re-enact the founding of western civilization's first permanent site. Wearing late 15th century costumes, sailors moored the ship to a replica of a tree used by Columbus' brother, Bartolome, when he founded the city in 1496.

Share With Haiti. The original city, named Nueva (sabella in honor of Spain's queen, was located on the south shore of the island which Columbus named Hispaniola. Hispaniola, second to Cuba in size among the West Indies, lies between Cuba and Puerto Rico in the Greater Antilles chain, Sharing the island with Haiti, the Dominican republic occupies its eastern two-thirds.

Long called Santo Domingo, the city was renamed Ciudad Trujillo (Trujillo City) in 1936 after President Rafael Trujillo, in gratitude for his efforts in reconstructing the city along modern lines after a hurricane in 1939 almost completely demolished the city.

Proud of their capital city's long history, the 2,000,000 people of the Dominican republic are even more conscious of its modernity and up. of the city's ultra-modern tuberto-dateness. Ruins of the first hospital built in the Americas are a short distance from the sun decks

CHURCH TREASURE . . . Valued at five million dollars, the above church treasure was on display during Ciudad Trujillo's anniversary fete. Included are the original cross planted on the is-land by Columbus, an altar bell designed by Benvenuto (ellini, famous Italian artist, and other priceless items.

culosis hospital. The vine-covered arch of the first monastery in America offers an exciting contrast to the modernistic verandas of the Jaragua hotel, reputed to be the finest resort hotel between Miami and Rio de Janeiro. The Cathedral of Santo Domingo, another "first" in the Western hemisphere, is close to a long row of modern government buildings.

Wrecked by Hurricane.

Two violent hurricanes striking 428 years apart each stimulated the community's growth. The first occurred in July, 1502, demolishing the few flimsy buildings of the sixyear-old post. The second struck the Dominican capital in September, 1930, a few days after Trujillo became president.

Through most of the 16th century, Santo Domingo thrived as Spain's capital of the western world. Columbus visited it often, even ignoring a royal decree when he stopped there on his last voyage. In accordance with his wishes, he was buried there. Ashes of the great admiral now rest in the Cathedral of Santo Domingo, awaiting transfer to the Columbus Memorial lighthouse, soon to be built on a high promontory just outside the city as a beacon for ships and planes.

Nobles seeking gold, scientists and explorers, rich, enter-prising merchants, flocked to the new world's capital, making it a springboard from which new conquests were launched. Cortes, Balboa, Pizarro, Ponce de Leon, De Soto and others made it the starting point of important voyages of discovery.

Two centuries of decay followed capture of the settlement by Sir Francis Drake in 1586. Spanish interest was diverted to mainland mineral wealth. Internal quarrels, attacks by English, French and pirates thinned the colony to 500 people by 1735.

Car of 1911 Vintage Embarks On Lengthy Endurance Test

Did a second Rip Van Winkle awaken from a long sleep and go automobile-minded?

That is what service station attendants from coast to coast are wondering as they behold a car driven by John Bacon of Wellesley Hills, Mass., Harvard university senior, on a new type of transcontinental endurance test.

Amazed by the klaxon horn, acetylene lamps and antique mien of the vehicle, the attendants soon learn that the car is a Locomobile of 1911 vintage.

Abandoned 25 years ago and stored in an Exeter, N. H., barn, the ancient car was discovered by Bacon when he was attending Phillips Exeter academy. He purchased it this year after returning from four years of army service.

Repairs Cost $1,000. Always interested in old cars, Bacon is confident the venerable old seven-passenger Locomobile can put 1946 models to shame on the endurance test. After acquiring the car, he dismantled the six-cylinder engine and put an estimated $1,000 into repairs and parts to ready it

Motorists throughout the country will be startled as Baon's 35-year-old wonder speeds past them—it can do 70 miles an hour without effort, he in-sists. He has no fear of bad roads, low wheel base and rug-ged construction combining to give a smoother ride than modern-day cars.

Bacon admits there are a few drawbacks to the ancient vehicle. The wheel is hard to turn and the foot pedals work a little hard "until you get used to them," he says.

Has 10-Day Goal. A mark of 10 days for the Boston to Los Angeles run was set by Bacon as he embarked on the trip. He plans to spend some time sightseeing in California before the return jaunt.

Although he has no doubts about the success of his junket, Bacon has refused to take up scoffers on proposed wagers.

"I just don't want to take their money-it would be too easy," he

AVIATION NOTES WHO BUYS AIRPLANES?

Through a survey conducted by the Aeronca Aircraft corporation, through its 1,200 dealers all over the U. S., some enlightenment was obtained relative to potential personal plane buyers:

Apparently the biggest group of otential light-plane buyers falls inthe age group between 18 and 30 years, but Aeronca dealers report no marked decline in interest until beyond the 40-year mark. The number of people who prefer to buy on time or pay cash are about equally divided, the survey shows.

Another 40 per cent of potential light-plane owners are about equally divided among lawyers, doctors and educators on the one hand and highly successful business men and industrial leaders on the other. The remaining 20 per cent are independently wealthy people who defied classification as to gainful occupa-

Three Per Cent Women.

Men far outnumber women as prospective light-plane owners. Only about 3 out of every 100 potential customers are women. But, as might be expected, many women accompany their menfolk to dealers to look at models and talk airplanes.

Where the man usually asks such questions as "How fast is it?" "How much does it cost?" and "What is the operating cost?" the women want to know "How safe is it?" "Is it easy to fly?" and "How long does it take to learn to fly it?"

Sixty per cent of the dealers reported that it was their experience that men learn to fly more readily than women. Another 25 per cent said they could see little or no difference between men and women in aptitude to learn to fly. The other 15 per cent showed what must be a mixture of high honesty and diplomacy by refusing to commit them-

America's economic system is what made America great. How It Works

Freedom of opportunity fires everybody to try; thus men of great genius come to light and the whole nation benefits. Then competition between men of special ability stimulates them to zealous effort in turning out products of excellence at fair prices to develop and hold profitable markets. By BAUKHAGE News Analyst and Commentator.

Paris Peace conference even got gave the bullet or projectile a underway we learned that the house of representatives. It wasn't until after the primary returns were in, and Representative (Truman - hater) Slaughter of Missouri, a mem-ber of the rules committee, was defeated, that most laymen realized the importance of that battle, and why the President stuck his neck out as far as he did in helping to beat him.

I can see the President now as he looked up with that pert, birdlike glance he has-just enough of a smile to make you try to listen sympathetically - and say that if Slaughter was right, he (the President) was wrong. Think what Slaughter could have said if he had been elected! But he was defeated - and the day after the primary, the real sig-nificance of the battle became

Never in American history has any administration been up against the situation which developed when the Roosevelt honeymoon ended. I am not arguing how or why that situation came about. But the fact is we have had a situation where party lines meant little, and the age-old principle of majority rule, the theory on which congress, as a was a superior weapon. working body, is organized, has been violated.

Outstanding example was the rules committee. There were five southerners - anti-administration Democrats-on that committee, and with Slaughter's help, they could tie up the vote and tie up any legislation Truman asked for.

Now maybe the fact that the administration couldn't get its legisthat. I merely say that what happened is not a good thing for the two-party system. And as the situation grew more acute, congress wasn't a working body.

Let's take the testimony of a thoroughly loyal Republican member of the committee and acting established right up into the zone of the advance, and even nearer Michener of Michigan, If the Democrats retain control of the house. Michener said, the absence of Representative Slaughter will permit the rules committee to function the way it was intended to function; namely, the legislation of the party in power will be sent to the floor.

That didn't mean Michener wanted the rival party's legislation passed. It simply meant he knew that Slaughter, teaming up with the anti-administration Democrats and the Republicans, was able to tie the vote and stymie action. And that isn't two-party government.

Air-Power Big Killer in War

This has been an aviation year. The first peacetime year that America has been acknowledged as mistress of the air as well as of the sea and the land. It has been a time of reminiscence, of recapitulation, as well as forecast and foreshadowing.

I remember the interview I had with a certain army official dur-ing the war. His impatience, smashing the ordinary rules of censorship, had revealed the secret of the bazooka kept "confidential" long after it was in use, and the details of which Germans had long since learned to their sorrow. (The bazooka functions on the rocket principle.)

The officer pointed to an old print on his wall. It was a picture of American soldiers discharging a rocket projectile in the War of

Why, then, if the rocket principle was known to us in those early days, did we not develop it as the Germans did, I asked.

The reason the rocket was neglected in the Civil war period, I was told, was because ordnance the development of the breech- taken.

powerful as the The emphasis was still on the powerful rules rifleman rather than the artillery, committee of the and such statistics as we have indicate that the infantry in the Franco - Prussian war of 1870 wounded 10 times as many men as the artillery did. Undoubtedly the bayonet claimed many.

> By 1914-15, however, artillery produced one-half the wounded, showing the rapid advance which, in part, made experts forget the rocket again.

Artillery, according to the old definition, is "group-served, mounted firearms of caliber greater than that of small arms." This definition could easily be made to include the firearms, shells, or bombs carried by planes, or contained in the war-head of a rocket.

I mention the effectiveness of "artillery" in the latter sense, not to belittle the doughboy who is really the "ultimo ratio," but because the projectile, either carried in a plane or by propulsion in a rocket, is what might be called the definitive weapon.

The point is we did not develop the rocket in the Civil war because we felt we had something better (breech-loading rifled artillery and small arms). And again the rocket was set aside by a decision arrived at before we engaged actively in World War II when our experts, both in the army and out of it, including the great industrialists who could gauge our production capacity, felt the airplane

We did not entirely neglect study and experimentation on the rocket during the war, however, and now we are probably farther advanced in this type of "artillery" than any other nation. We also have learned to project our "artilby means of the "drone" (pilotless airplane). On August 7. the dones droned their way from Honolulu to California. One of them lation before congress, or couldn't dropped a bomb. The rest landed get it passed when it did, was a successfully. A plane with no pilot good thing. I am not discussing can bomb a nation that far distant without risking human life.

Is This the Army, Mr. Jones?

In World War I when YMCA and Red Cross canteens were the front, some of the "old timers" of those days wrote to the editors insisting that the Civil war was won on "salt horse and likker" (I recall that phrase in one of the letters) and we were just softening the boys. Well, it didn't soften them too soft for Chateau Thierry and the Argonne.

Then came World War II, and some of the veterans of the earlier war raised their eyebrows at the USO, turkey dinners at the front Thanksgiving, ice cream (instead of beans, salmon, corn willy or nothing).

But, soldier, you ain't heard nuttin! When they say "This is the army, Mr. Jones," to you future G.I.s, you'll hardly believe it.

Did you hear what Field Marshal (blood, sand, and green for the Normandy hedges) Montgomery had to say? He believes enlisted men in the British army ought to live like other folks. Bedrooms, not barracks.

"You had your breakfast in bed before," goes the warning song. "but you won't have it there any Maybe not. But if Monty has his way, British soldiers can read in bed.

And what about those tricky uniforms American soldiers are going

Blue! (like the boys in blue who said good-bye to Blue Bell). And perhaps "two-note," with a light-er shade for the trousers! And overcoats AND CAPES!

You aren't in the army now, Mr. Jones. You're in grand opera!

And then there is that terminal leave pay bill passed by congress, I suppose, to pacify the fellows who got out of the army without knowing what they were going to miss. Almost three billion dollars dumped into G.I. pockets to even them up with what the officers reexperts were concentrating on ceived for furloughs they hadn't

U. II.'s Food Organization Discusses World Problems

CARM leaders, agricultural experts and government officials interested in agriculture are placing great stress on the outcome of the meeting of the food and agricultural organization of United Nations, which opened its fourth session in Copenhagen on September 2. The session likely will last approximately two weeks.

Organized in the United States, the FAO has held three organizational meetings, one in Mexico City, another in South America and the third in Canada. This fourth meeting is in Denmark.

Each of the national farm organ izations has one representative at the meeting to press for the production and distribution plans which were the result of the recent international agricultural meeting in London. The state department, as this is written, has not an-nounced names of the American official delegates, but the department of agriculture already has designated several men who will become, along with farm organiza-tion leaders, a part of the American advisory group. These include Under - Secretary of Agriculture Dodd, production and marketing administration's Shields, Wells of the bureau of agricultural econo ics, Bowles (not Chester) of the foreign agricultural relations de-partment, Lambert of agricultural research and Stiebeling of home

This meeting of FAO will hatch the first long range program for world agriculture, based upon a worldwide survey, which has just been completed and which includes 70 countries. John Orr of Scotland, director general of FAO, will present the proposals for this food program which, if adopted, will be laid before the meeting of United Nations at its scheduled meeting in Octo-

Many Smaller Meetings

This program is the result of exploration into the reasons for surpluses and shortages in world food supply, and is expected to contain provisions for preventing the re-currence of such conditions. In the meantime, committees of the organization have been holding meetings in various European cities on such questions as diet, nutritional goal, possible changes in production to meet the goal, a current appraisal of the food situation in all the countries of the world, economics and statistics, forestry and agricultural production and search. Reports on these various phases of the agricultural picture will be presented to the meeting for rejection, adoption or modification.

Farm leaders here are con vinced that the future of American agriculture is closely boun ! with world agriculture, and that never again can the United States draw within her shell with a polic's of isolation.

Our own agricultural market is so sensitive that it will be governed largely by world agricultural production, prices and distribu-tion. No longer can our expanded production depend upon the domes tic market for consumption.

Seventy countries are now mem-bers of the FAO and two new countries, Italy and Switzerland, are expected to apply for membership at the Copenhagen meeting.

In connection with the economics and statistics report, it might be well to consider the recent report of the bureau of economics of the agriculture department, supple-mented by findings of the Federal Reserve board, to the effect that some 32 million families in this country still are earning less than $3,000 per year. If that figure is true in this country, and it undoubtedly is, think what the meager income must be of untold millions of families of the rest of the world.

Most People Have Little

Despite the fact that the American people have savings of something like 81 billion dollars in bank deposits, currency and government bonds . . . yet 70 per cent of the American people have little or nothing saved for the inevitable rainy day . . . the saving being concentrated in the upper income brackets . . . the people who take in $10,000 or more a year, and who were well off before the war.

So the war, which poured hundreds of billions of dollars into the pockets of the American people, still left the country with the in-come divided just about as it was before the war. What then must be the plight of European and Asiatic countries? So distribution, surplus and price too, at this important meeting of FAO will be one of the major fac-tors to be discussed in any long range agricultural program in which feeding of the world's popu-lation is the most essential job before the organization,

Made Possible by Recovery In Steel and Coal, Says . OPA Chief.

WASHINGTON .- On the strength of rapid recovery in steel and coal, a record volume of goods may flow to consumers in the next six months, according to Civilian Production Administrator John D. Small.

A new postwar peak was hit in June in factory output, Small revealed in his quarterly report, quoted by the Associated Press. It toppled prewar monthly records in washing machines, vacuum cleaners, gas ranges, electric irons and table model radios.

Some slumps were noted, but not enough to offset the general rise. Autos dropped 11 per cent in June from May but rose again in July; farm equipment and tires also de-clined in June, by 3 and 10 per cent respectively.

"Additional production gains were registered in July in spite of uncertainties concerning price controls and the adverse effects on production resulting from holidays and vacation periods," the CPA administrators said.

One warning note was sounded: It is probable that a "serious shortage of labor is developing" which may prove to be "an important limiting factor in production by the end of the year."

Must Get Labor Back.

"The prospects are that business will, first, have to recruit back into the labor force large numbers of those who have left it since V-J Day, and second, require that large amounts of overtime be worked if production schedules are to be met," the CPA chief predicted.

Despite the fact that 10,000,000 veterans and 50.000,000 war workers have been discharged into the labor market in the last 12 months, the industrial demand for workers has been so great that unemploy-ment has risen only 1,600,000, and "still may be considered remark-ably low," Small said.

Small took sharp issue with organized business groups which con-tend that removal or relaxation of price controls will bring a spurt of goods to remedy consumer short-

Auto Output Sagged.

The automobile industry, still suffering from the steel, coal and railroad strikes, turned out only 142,000 cars in June, down 11,000 from May, but Detroit reports for this month have shown a marked upturn.

Tire output sagged because of the synthetic rubber shortage but stayed above prewar levels with 5,200,000 casings produced. The June record in other goods:

Refrigerators-210,000, up 7 per cent from May but still 32 per cent under the prewar production.

Washing Machines-193.000, up 4 per cent from May and 22 per cent above prewar. Radios-1,378.000, up 16 per cent from May, which already was above prewar levels. Vaccum Cleaners-177,000, up 7 per cent from May and 13 per cent over prewar. Sewing Machines-27,000, down 13 per cent from May and only about 50 per cent of the prewar level. Electric Ranges-46,000, nearly 50 per cent over May and almost at the prewar volume.

Ranges-141,000, slightly above May and 11 per cent above the 1939, average.

Predict Low Food Supply for World

Crop Increase Is Offset by Cut in Bread Grain.

WASHINGTON .- An "uncomfortably low" world food supply in the 1946-47 crop year is forecast by the agricultural department, the Associated Press reports.

In a report to the President's emergency famine committee, the department said crops will be larg-er than in the 1945-46 year but the increase will be largely offset by a sharp reduction in bread grain and other carry-overs.

The Far East was termed the "darkest spot" in the food picture, with many deaths expected before the fall rice harvest.

Wheat prospects, the report said, point to a crop almost equal to the prewar average of 5,900,000,000 bushels, compared with last year's 5,200,000,000 bushels. A near-record crop is in prospect, it said, for North America, with increased production in Europe, North Africa and Turkey.

In war-wasted Europe, the department reported crops will reach almost 90 per cent of their prewar average, compared to 80 per cent in the 1945-46 year.

World crops of rice and rye, the report said, will increase over last year but remain below prewar average levels, leaving wheat as the major commodity for relief in food-shortage areas.

The report gave these summaries for 1946-47: The world sugar crop will increase over last year, with the United States expected to raise its proaction one-fourth. Supplies of fats and oils will continue far below requirements. World supplies of meats, dairy products and eggs probably will be smaller than in the 1945-46 con-sumption year due to feed shortages.

20 Million in Bonds Still Due Veterans

WASHINGTON. - Most World War I veterans who were given government bonds in 1936 cashed them in almost immediately, but about 20 million dollars worth are still outstanding although they have drawn no interest since June 15, 1945, the treas-ury department disclosed.

When veterans of the 1917-18 war were given bonds-of bonus-in 1926, they were permitted to turn them in for cash of the $1,900,000,000 worth were redeemed promptly. bonds in $50 drew 3 per cent interest from the June 15, 1936, date of issue and if held until June 15, 1945, were worth $63.50.

Hear Russians Looted

Hungary in Withdrawal

BUDAPEST .- A high Hungarian official asserted that Hungarian government reports said withdrawing Russian troops had looted two Hungarian towns, leaving nine dead and several injured in one place. The reports did not indicate the direction of the Russian withdrawal.

This official quoted government reports from PECS, champagne center in southwest Hungary, as saying that withdrawing Soviet soldiers broke into 24 houses there, taking all the furniture, rugs and kitchen utensils. Nine persons were killed and an unstated number wounded while resisting the looting, the reports said.

The officials also quoted official reports from the town of Nyir-Bator, about 23 miles northeast of Debrecen, as saying that the Russians loted "many scores" of private homes in which they had been bil letted.

I don't want them. I never want to see the island again!"

Disasters Followed Finding of Treasure

"Did the crew know about the submarine and the treasure?" Dick asked, approaching her side.

"No, Father and I kept it to ourselves. We brought the money and gold and other things aboard in a basket, and hid them in the cabin. No one suspected we'd found anything but fresh gulls' eggs. We made five trips, and always brought eggs back with us. When we sailed away we had enough treasure aboard to make us rich-rich enough to buy another schooner and a home ashore.

She smiled at him, as if to indicate that her idea of riches was moderate, and not of the inordinate, greedy variety.

"We could have had more," she added, "if we'd taken the diamonds and rings that-that- But I couldn't touch them!" she broke off passion-"They were stained with blood, or at least I thought so. Father laughed at me, and said it was the salt that had tarnished them; but it made no difference. I couldn't touch them!"

She drew a deep sigh, and remained silent to regain her compo-sure. "That's why I told you," she said then, laughing gently, "that it was tainted money—blood money— and I wasn't sure I dared touch any of it. Would you?"

"Bloed money put to proper use is no crime," he replied simply. "You're entitled to it. You're not superstitious?"

"No-o-but ever since we had the money aboard disaster has followed us. First, there was the storm that wrecked the schooner; then Fa-ther's accident, and then the desertion of the crew. Next Tucu and his pirates came, and-"

"Your father will need it," Dick replied. "He's made his last trip if if he doesn't recover his mind." An expression of pain swept across her face; then a little flercely, with hands clenched, she said: "But he will recover. I feel it! I shan't lose hope-not if we can reach land."

"With money to pay a good doc-tor he'll recover," Dick replied smiling encouragingly. "That's where your treasure will prove a blessing. It can't hoodoo you any

"Are you sure of that?" she interrupted, pointing to the speck on the horizon. "Isn't that the lugger again?"

Dick gave a violent start and folowed her hand. The object in the distance was still too vague of outline to determine its character, but either through imagination or dis-torted optical illusion they thought it to be the San Miguel returning to finish the work Captain Tucu had planned.

"Isn't it?" Rose repeated after a long pause.

"I don't know," Dick murmured. 'It looks so, but we may be mistaken. If it is-"

"-we'll take a raft and leave the schooner," she finished for him. "I'll never stay aboard if Tucu comes."
"What good will that do?" He'll overtake us on the raft. We couldn't escape.

The truth of this, borne in upon her mind, made her silent and thoughtful. After a while her face brightened. "We may buy Tucu off," she said eagerly. "He'll let us go if we give him that treasure. That's all he wants."

"That and the mythical jewels from the steamer," smiled Dick. She watched him anxiously, and then sighed. "I see," she murmured. 'one wouldn't be sufficient. He'd want both."

"Tucu's greedy." "And you couldn't find the jew

"They never existed." "Then we'll keep the treasure. Tucu'll never find it. I'll die before

Dick frowned. "Perhaps you'd better buy your freedom with it. He'll do that much for the treasure."
"And hold you a prisoner until-"

"Never mind that. I can outwit log couldn't be found, and there was Tucu. I did it once, and I'll do it again. You make him promise he'll put you ashore, and-"

"Dick," she interrupted, "don't couldn't do it. I wouldn't let talk nonsense. If it isn't enough to

> The blur in the distance they had taken, rightly or wrongly, for the lugger remained stationary, or at least so fixed a point on the horizon that it neither grew larger nor faded entirely away. At times a mist swept between it and the schooner and temporarily blotted it out, but it returned later, and always it appeared a little closer, but not much clearer in outline.

Something Appears On the Horizon

They watched it with puzzled eyes, thankful that it did not approach, but disappointed that it did not vanish entirely. "If it's the lugger." Dick remarked once, "she's been crippled by the storm, and is drifting before the wind."

"Then we have an equal chance to get away," replied Rose eager-ly, "if she's no better off then we drift as fast as we do."

"That's right. It is nearer, and it must be land."

They glanced into each other's eyes, hope dawning in them for the first time since the storm, giving a radiant expression to their fea-tures that was contagious. Dick spoke first. "It's land, Rose, and we'll reach it before Tucu can come back and find us. I told you that treasure was no longer a hoodoo. It's going to bring us good luck."

Kathleen Norris Says:

Nation Threatened by Internal Corruption

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

FEW months ago there was enacted in the San Francisco law courts a tragedy as simple and as terrible as any ever written by the classic Greek dramatists. There were four figures in it. One was that of a young strong man who lay dead, shot through the heart. Another was that of an innocent small boy of less than two years. A third was a returned serviceman, scarred by lonely, homesick years of war. And the completing figure was that of a young wife, her face a mask of humiliation, resentment, shame and despair. All four lives as completely ruined as was that of the man who lay dead.

The story is a common one today, a fearfully common one. That it is common will remain an enduring scar on the reputation of American women for all time to

The husband was away fighting for his life, and all our lives. The woman was lonely; the other man was willing to solace her in her loneliness. They became lovers.

When the husband came home, longing for the peace and affection and security of his own fireside, news that greeted him was that his wife was living with another man and wanted a divorce.

She Broke Her Promise.

He tried to be reasonable; he talked to them both. It was arranged that for a year the wife should belong to neither man, and that at the end of that time she would choose. It seems to me that the defeated and defrauded husband showed fare restraint when he forced himself to this much consideration of the pair.

But the wife and her lover were no respecters of bargains or promises. Very shortly the husband discovered them together again, unable to exercise even under these circumstances, either decency or self-control. He shot the lover other men. through the heart and faced a The home husband, lover and child. This story would not be so impressive if it were not true of so many wartime homes. Other women have run the fearful risk that this woman ran. Other men are coming home to that smug, selfish announcement, "you see, dear, I was lonely and bored, and Bob managed to avoid the draft, and he was right here, with lots of money - and I'd like it so much if you'd just be agreeable about it and give me a divorce."

Nation in Peril from Within.

A man who sabotages in war-time, and deserts his job, is shot. But there is no recognized punishment for women who break their marriage vows, break up their homes, break their husbands' hearts, and expect to step charmingly into a fresh marriage and

WEAK AND SELFISH

Lonely, foolish war wives have been responsible for a lot of heartaches and broken homes. In some cases the consequences are even worse. Many times the returned veteran, unable to bear the realization that his wife has been unfaithful, kills or wounds her and her "lover." Such a case is the theme of today's article.

A San Francisco murder trial brought out these facts: A soldier returned to discover that his wife had been carrying on an affair with a man who had plenty of spending money because of his war plant job. She developed such affection for him that she was unwilling to give him up when her husband came back. She asked for a divorce. The husband, with rare forbearance, asked her to give the other man up for a year. She would also live apart from her husband, taking ther two-year-old son with her. Then, at the end of the year, she would choose the man she wanted.

She agreed to this remarkable arrangement, but it was not long before she was seeing the "other man" again. When her husband heard about this second breach of faith, he could stand it no longer. He killed the other man in the "love nest." A jury quickly acquitted the outraged husband, but his life is ruined. So is his erring wife's. Their little box. too, will have to suffer for his mother's selfishness.

No enemy from without could ever injure us as deeply as will the slow, steady, penetrating destruction of eur homes. It may not show on the surface, but it corrodes from within -the homelers, unwanted pays for it, the demoralized and scattered children pay for it, and in the end the woman pays-pays all through the rest of her life.

If you happen to be a woman meditating upon just how you'll break the bad news to John, reconsider it. Believe me, within a very few years the new infatuation will lose its glamour, too, and then it will be too late to go back. Give your husband a chance! Help him through the hard days of transition from wartime to peacetime, from the strange world that is the camp and the battlefield, to your sheltered world of gardens and telephone and bridge games and wiping the dishes.

Unless hundreds - thousands millions of American woman are ready to take up this all-important work of preserving the home, and keeping the children there with mother and dad, we have indeed lost the war.
