AN APPLE FOR THE TEACHER

Think hard now. How many times have you heard a teacher complain? Very likely the total is zilch unless you are one or are closely associated with one. They, like the noble creatures of farm and field, whimper not.

It's about time someone spilled the beans, and it might as well be I, because I've suddenly been taken tired of hearing criticisms leveled against teachers by persons who don't know what they're talking about.

Teaching is one of the most physically, mentally and emotionally taxing jobs in existence, if it doesn't rank first in that category. You rise early, eager to tackle a new day head-on, only to be met at the classroom door with a broken pencil sharpener, a wall clock that hasn't been re-set since the power failure, and a note saying your paper order from last year will arrive in June.

A bell rings, and you greet the children—12 more than the state maximum—but you greet them all cheerfully. Two have colds, one has a mysterious rash, one is a diabetic who must be watched closely, three are hyperactive, one forgot his spelling book, and one fell into a puddle on his way to school. You attend to all their needs.

You pledge allegiance to the flag, take lunch count, collect milk money, and ask if Lucinda's mother is home from the hospital yet. Math class is moving along well when the custodian comes in to replace a light bulb in the middle of the room. You wait and watch and there goes the students' interest.

In the middle of the spelling test Jimmy has to leave the room. After lunch Suzy throws up. At recess Larry falls off the swing and breaks a permanent tooth. You fill out an accident report in triplicate, but not until you chase a dog off the playground, and leave Larry with the nurse.

After school you have a staff meeting and hope it's over in time to grab a sandwich before you leave for night class at the university 30 miles away. You arrive home at 10:30 to find the water heater is leaking all over the carpet, the dog has chewed the left arm of the easy chair, and your son has the mumps.

By midnight you realize that you haven't graded the day's English themes, so you make a pot of coffee, grade papers, and record the scores. About 2:00 a.m. you fall into bed, and the next sound you hear is the alarm.

Today runs more smoothly than yesterday did, but you're tired. At 3:00 p.m. you head for the door when a colleague reminds you of the in-service language arts class in the library.

You make a quick call to postpone a dental appointment and nod off a couple of times during the lecture. On your way out you find in the mail-ox a memo that the monthly PTA meeting is tomorrow night, that report cards are to be ready for distribution next Thursday, that school pictures will be made on Friday, and that all those who do not have at least three semester hours in educational philosophy must complete the course before the end of the year or seek work elsewhere.

Once home you relax with the morning paper and read that the school district will not be able to give anyone a raise next year because funds are just not available. Three columns over you

The Rev. Mr. Tom Hilger performed the marriage ceremony. White gladiolas and palms and arrangements of greenery decorated the altar.

The bride was wearing an Empire gown with sashed waistline made with long puffed sleeves. Seed pearls were embellishments of the gown and veil. She carried pink sweetheart roses, purple asters and white baby's breath.

Miss Marty Burroughs, maid of honor, wore purple and pink voile lined with pink. She carried pink and purple asters. Miss Sandy Worthen was dressed in a similar gown lined in white. She also carried purple and pink asters.

George Rodkin was best man, and Jim McElvain was groomsmen. Keith and Scott Parter were candlelighters. Lance Spragins and Mark Wilson, brother of the bride, seated guests.

The stack of mail on the piano includes the usual bills plus a bank statement indicating you're overdrawn again. You sigh and wonder if it's all worth it, if you should try a more lucrative profession. No, this is no time to change. You can pick up a few dollars next summer clerking at the department store. Besides, you like teaching and think it's an important job.

You're a good teacher and you know it. You can't complain about that!

Bird Lore

by Lafayette Stankewitz

That mystic time of year is here again when birds begin responding to that irresistible urge to head south. Just why or how, we don't know and not being birds probably never will. All we know is that birds have within them a "biological clock" to direct their move.

In recent years some of the regulators seem to have been upset. Birds have been found in places far off their beaten paths. Ornithologists speculate it might involve genetic changes.

It's time for our purple martins to begin congregating in great numbers and then leave for South America. Yours may have already left your box, for the parents take the young on ever-lengthening flights in preparation for their departure. T. E. Gilbreath reports that he had fledglings to leave his house as late as Aug. 6. That is unusually late since most are airborne by the first week of July.

Their departure may extend to a period of weeks. This is Nature's way of helping preserve the species. It helps assure them sufficient food along the journey, for flocks can number hundreds of thousands. Also an entire bird population of certain areas could be lost in a single great storm.

All martins in our colony are gone now—16 adults and 39 young—and with them go our prayers for a safe journey back to their winter home. They have made this season for us one of the most enjoyable with their constant singing and chattering.

Yes, our backyard is a little lonelier place today.

Mrs. Hart presided for serving of yellow slush, pink, yellow and white cookies. Mrs. Shelton was in charge of the gift display and Mrs. Lemond welcomed guests at the registry table.

(a) All occupation taxes shall be equal and uniform upon the same class of subjects within the limits of the authority levying the tax; but the legislature may, by general laws, exempt from taxation public property used for public purposes; actual places of religious worship, also any property owned by a church or by a strictly religious society for the exclusive use as a dwelling place for the ministry of such church or religious society, and which yields no revenue whatever to such church or religious society; provided that such exemption shall not extend to more property than is reasonably necessary for a dwelling place and in no event more than one acre of land; places of burial not held for private or corporate profit; all buildings used exclusively and owned by persons or associations of persons for school purposes and the necessary furniture of all schools and property used exclusively and reasonably necessary in conducting any association engaged in promoting the religious, educational and physical development of boys, girls, young men or young women operating under a State or National organization of like character; the endowment funds of such institutions of learning and religion not used with a view to profit; and when the same are invested in bonds or mortgages, or in land or other property which has been and shall hereafter be bought in by such institutions under foreclosure sales made to satisfy or protect such bonds or mortgages, that such exemption of such land and property shall continue only for two years after the purchase of the same at such sale by such institutions and no longer, and institutions of purely public charity; and all laws exempting property from taxation other than the property mentioned in this Section shall be null and void."

TOPS 138

Members of TOPS 138 are looking forward to the meeting next Tuesday at 7 p.m. in Bethania hospital at Wichita Falls. At that time Mrs. Shirley Wooten, area supervisor will conduct a workshop. All area chapters are invited to participate.

Twelve members of No. 138 weighed in Monday evening at Texas Electric office. Pat Nurely's name was drawn from the money jar, but she was on vacation and missed the prize. Louise Helms was queen for the week.

The contest that has been running 12 weeks will close next Monday and it will be determined who will receive all those gifts that have been collecting because of the weight gainers. Few remain on the eligible list.

Monday the winners in the tape measure had lost 34 pounds, needing only a loss of two more to arrive at the goal of 36 inches deducted.

An interesting program was given by Mrs. Mildred Beall as she told of the experiences she and other members of the church of Christ had in Utah this summer conducting a vacation Bible school for Navajo Indians.

Others present were Era Mae Baxter, Lela Garrels, Melba Bush, Betty Lowe, Gay Williams, Willie Robertson, Pauline Steele, Shirley Hicks, Mildred McLemore, Geraldine Wood.

Sewell Visitors

The presence of children and grandchildren is adding happiness to the James A. Sewell home this week.

Here from Princeton, N.J., are Mr. and Mrs. James Patrick Sewell, Bret, Gunnar and Thea. Pat is visiting lecturer on political science at Princeton university.

Michael, who lives in Iowa City, Iowa, is doing graduate study and is teaching at University of Iowa. The David L. Minters are here from Houston, where he is professor at Rice university. They have a son Christopher and a daughter Frances.

When contacted by Mrs. M. L. Hines all of them were enjoying a feast of Texas watermelon.

Spruiell Reunion

Mr. and Mrs. Hill Spruiell and son Dewey spent last weekend in Sweetwater where 150 relatives of Mrs. Spruiell gathered for a reunion.

They had rains all along in the Snyder, Roby and Rotan areas, but found little at home and missed the big one that night in the Abilene area.

Monday, Mrs. Fannie Bonner and daughter Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Willis and son David of Midland arrived here from the reunion to visit further with her sister Mrs. Spruiell.

Arts and Crafts

Iowa Park's first art and crafts show will be open to the public at 10 a.m. Saturday, Aug. 26, in the Christian church fellowship hall. It has been planned to stimulate interest in arts and crafts and to encourage people to become interested in hobbies for relaxation and pleasure. Each person in the will have opportunity to see a variety of beautiful and useful things that have been made in Iowa Park and area.

There will be demonstrations of art and crafts at many of the table displays.

If anyone wishes to exhibit and has not made arrangements at this time, call Mrs. Joe Singer at 592-4416 or Mrs. Earl Watson at 592-4212.

Each exhibitor will be responsible for his display. It is suggested that exhibitors arrange for someone to sit at the display tables during the day.

Doors to the fellowship hall will be opened at 8:00 Saturday for exhibitors to arrange their displays, which must be in place by 9:30 a.m. They must be removed at 6:00 p.m. Saturday. Exhibitors will be responsible for removal of all articles.

Although some tables will be furnished, it is recommended that artists bring card tables to make certain they have space for all the work.

Oils, water colors, etc. should have the owners' names on small white cards in the right hand corner of the pictures.

Cards will be provided at the registry table where Mrs. Chauncey Weiler will accept lists of articles being exhibited.

Please remember that 10 percent of receipts from articles sold will be given to the Iowa Park Library children's books fund.

Sandwiches, cake, pie & drinks will be sold during the day. Proceed will be placed in the books fund also.

Admission is free.

Another local business has been sold. The Dairy Palace, formerly owned by Mr. and Mrs. Don Beals is now owned by Mr. and Mrs. Jim Daniels of Gainesville.

Mr. and Mrs. Danies are former owners of Dairy Palace. They have placed Mrs. Betty Hodges in charge as acting manager. She invites all her friends and acquaintances to come out and bring the family to eat with her.

TESCO to Build Nuclear Station

Texas Electric Service Co. announced this week studies underway more than a year have resulted in a decision to proceed with construction of a nuclear-fueled generating station about 4 miles north of Glen Rose in Somervell county. It will be owned jointly with Dallas Power & Light and Texas P & L companies.

Construction will start in 1975. A 1,100,000 kilowatt unit is planned for operation in 1980 and a similar unit is planned for 1982.

TESCO president Burl B. Hulsey Jr. stated, "Studies have shown it to be an excellent site for a generating station and a reservoir. About 5,000 acres will be used for a lake to provide cooling water for station operation. The lake will be formed by construction of a dam on Squaw creek and additional water can be obtained from the Brazos river authority."

Much of the reservoir will be made available for public recreational purposes.

"Nuclear fuel," Hulsey stated, "will provide a dependable fuel source. It has been proved safe and clean for many years in generation of electric power."

A nuclear generating station produces electricity in much the same way as a conventional station. The heat source is the only difference. Nuclear fuel produces the heat which makes steam. The steam turns turbine-generators to make electricity.

And all newborn babies are now helped to adapt to life conditions by the controlled temperature, humidity and light of modern incubators. Built-in equipment monitors each child's health. These machines extend the skills of highly-trained medical professionals.

And they all require electricity to make them work — electricity that will be required in even greater supply in the years ahead. When additional power is needed, we'll be ready to provide it to hospitals and to all our customers.

School Continues Hair and Clothing Rules for Students

The Herald has been authorized to remind prospective students of Iowa Park Consolidated Independent School District and their parents and guardians that the following regulations are to be enforced until changed by official action of the board of trustees:

3.34 SCHOOL DRESS AND GROOMING

There is a strong relationship between how one is dressed and how one acts. Good grooming and proper dress are encouraged at Iowa Park Schools. In this day, many institutions of education have lost prestige and respect of those who once held them in high esteem. It is intended that reasonable line of regulation is held at Iowa Park Public Schools. Iowa Park High School is a responsible educational institution, and for the good of all concerned, some definite guidelines are necessary for students to follow concerning grooming and proper dress. The following policy is for all students in Iowa Park Schools:

HAIR

All boys must keep their hair neatly trimmed at all times according to the following limits:
Hair must be well above the eyebrows if combed forward.
Hair must not be long enough that it overhangs the ears.
Hair must be trimmed to look neat in the back and on the sides.
The hair in the back should not extend into or over the shirt collar.
Sideburns must not be lower than the bottom of the ear.
Boys will be clean-shaven; no beards are permitted.
Anyone in violation of this policy will be suspended and not be readmitted until they have complied with this policy.

STUDENT DRESS

Student dress is also a matter of good taste. The dress of all students in Iowa Park Public Schools should be in keeping with modesty and decency.

Girls are to wear dresses or skirts and blouses to school. Pant suits are acceptable. Tunic tops are acceptable. Slacks other than blue jeans, levis or stretch pants are acceptable, provided an acceptable vest or coat is worn. The top must be long enough to cover the bottom of the hips.
A pull-over sweater is not acceptable as a top to the slacks. A school jacket is not acceptable as a top to the slacks. A large sweatshirt is not acceptable regardless of the length. T-shirts are not acceptable. Ponchos are not acceptable.

A cardigan type sweater is acceptable, provided the length is proper and the sweater fits as a vest and not as a sweater. All knitted or crocheted vests must be closely woven. Fish net type crocheted vests are not acceptable. Maxi dresses are not acceptable. No culottes, wrap-around skirts, mini-skirts, or extremely low-cut necklines are to be worn.
Boys will wear full length slacks or jeans at all times. Boys will wear shirt tails tucked in, with the exception of sport shirts that are cut straight around the bottom. Shirts must be buttoned up to the top button below the collar.
No slogan sweatshirts or T-shirts are permitted. Neck medallions or ornament medals should not be worn by boys. Use your good taste. A school classroom is a formal situation. Dress regulations apply at any school activity unless otherwise advised.
Violation of the policy concerning dress is grounds for dismissal.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

OUR SOIL ★ OUR STRENGTH

"Where did all the land go?" This may be a question people living in and around Wichita Falls and other big cities will be asking soon.

A resolution passed recently by the Wichita Soil and Water Conservation District board of directors is aimed at preserving the best agricultural land in Wichita District members pointed out that prime agricultural land should not be used for commercial, industrial or other non-agricultural purposes without the willing consent of the land owner.

SWCD Chairman Donald Hill explained that in many cases, projects that used Class I and II land could have used class III and IV land instead.

Prime acreage in Wichita Co. has declined by seven percent since 1958. We have only 103,000 acres of class I and I soils left for food and fiber production.
