Wet petition is due today

A spokesman for the Spirit of '76 Committee said Wednesday he is confident the group has more than enough signatures needed to force an election on off-premise consumption liquor sales.

If the committee's claim proves valid, Iowa Park and JP Precinct 3 voters could be called to the polls sometime in October.

Today is the deadline for the committee to file its petitions with Wichita County.

"Although the petitions have not yet been validated by county officials we have over the required amount to call the election," Leigh Holder, committee chairman, said Wednesday.

Holder did not disclose the exact number of signatures the group had garnered, but indicated it was more than the 406 required by law.

He said the petitions would be handed to county officials sometime today.

Jerry Padgett, deputy county clerk, said it would mandate about two weeks to purge the petitions of unqualified signatures.

He said petitions for a similar election in Burkburnett were to be filed Wednesday, placing an additional workload on county workers.

If and after it has been determined the petitions bear the signatures of at least 406 qualified voters, the issue will then be forwarded to Wichita County Commissioners.

Commissioners will meet next in regular session on Sept. 13, at which time they would be forced to set an election date if the signature petitions are valid.

Using that tentative timetable for the basis of his forecast, Padgett indicated the election probably would be set for sometime in October.

Only organized opposition to the liquor vote movement has been from a group, the Committee of Concern, which has waged a massive mail and telephone campaign against the issue.

Chairman of the opposing committee, Jim Miller, was unable to be contacted for comment.

Schools open here Monday

When the school bells ring at 8:30 Monday morning, they will be signaling the start of another school year in Iowa Park.

And it will be a year of comfort for junior high students, as the old building has been completely airconditioned in the recent remodeling project.

All faculty members of the district began their in-service training Tuesday, and will continue through the balance of the week.

Students who will be attending school in the Iowa Park system for the first time, and who have not yet been registered, are urged by administrators to do so before Monday.

High school students will be picking up their class schedules today and tomorrow, according to Bob Dawson, principal.

Seniors will get their schedules and locker assignments between 9 and noon this morning, juniors between 1 and 4 this afternoon, and sophomores from 9 a.m. to noon Friday.

Freshmen will report to the auditorium at 1 p.m. Friday for orientation, before picking up their schedules and locker assignments.

Locks on lockers are optional, according to Principal Dawson. Those wishing a lock will be required to make a $1 deposit, which will be returned at the end of the year when the lock is returned.

Personal locks will not be permitted.

A change was made recently in the boundaries for elementary students, in determining which school they will attend.

Students residing north of the railroad tracks will enroll at Kidwell, and those residing south of the tracks will attend Bradford. Students residing outside the city will be assigned by the school administration.

Starting of school will not close pool

Soon to be replaced by fall activities, only two weeks remain for persons to enjoy the new Iowa Park Bicentennial Swimming Pool.

Coinciding with the beginning of public school classes Monday, the pool will be open from 4-8 p.m. weekdays for the next two weeks.

The pool will be open from 1-8 p.m. Saturdays and from 1-6 p.m. Sundays.

Last day for swimming in the new facility will be Labor Day Monday from 1-8 p.m.

IOWA PARK'S BILL PERRY

Champ of the Okie muzzle loaders

Bill Perry of Iowa Park put a feather in his coonskin cap last weekend when he ventured across the Red River to win the Oklahoma State Muzzle Loading Championship.

It proved to be quite a thrill for Perry, who missed winning the Texas championship last year by one point.

Perry's weekend win in Oklahoma City was not his first Sooner State title. In 1971 he won the Oklahoma State Archery Championship.

Ironically, it was the inconvenience of traveling to distant archery competition meets that switched Perry's attention to black powder firearm competition, a growing sport which offers more frequent and closer-to-home competition.

Unlike many of the smaller shooting meets attended by Perry, the Oklahoma championship paid off in more than prestige.

He returned home with 13 medals, three small trophies, two large trophies, a plaque and two rifles.

However, in order to garner all the loot, Perry had to out shoot 155 marksmen in overall percussion, bench shot, pistol and musket.

Out of a possible 500 points, Perry scored 441 points to take the championship.

Perry has a various array of other trophies, medals and awards to attest to his expertise including the Texas State Light Varmint Championship title he picked up three weeks ago.

Asked if there were any secrets to his success, he grinned, "Yeah, there's a lot of them."

He then retrieved a briefcase containing electronic equipment. "I do a lot of research," he said, explaining the equipment was "the latest thing."

The electronic equipment he displayed is activated by the shock wave produced by the round when the weapon is fired. It measures the exact speed and velocity of the bullet to determine the weapon's accuracy.

Davy Crockett, nonetheless, probably would snicker at such a contraption.

Another important element in competition shooting is the equipment used.

"Most of my guns are hand built by someone else or by me, or at least reworked by me," explained Perry, a machinist by trade.

He made the analogy between his sport and stock car racing. You don't buy a car and race it like it comes off the lot. Likewise, you don't buy a gun off the rack and expect to win with it.

The thrill of competition and a zest for winning are not the only factors that attract Perry to black powder weaponry.

"Most shoots are on weekends ... you get to see people from all over the state ... you get to know them," he explained.

Most meets begin on Friday and are highlighted on Saturday night when some of the marksmen turn minstrels for old time music picking and grinning around the campfire.

"It takes your mind off your job. It's a family affair where you take your wife and kids," he said.

Perry, a member of the Red River Renegades, said the sport also revolves around tradition reflected in the authenticity of equipment.

While many of the better black powder shooters are in the vicinity of 35 years old, Perry acknowledged, "I'm a little younger than most of them." He's 28.

But unlike many other competition sports, Perry's interest is not limited by age. Men, women and children of all ages - from small fries under 10 to grandpas in their 80s - can shoot in competition.

And women, yes, women toting around those long and heavy rifles and pistols, have made quite an impression on Perry. The conversation didn't stray into the issue of women's lib, but he did offer this observation:

"As a matter of fact, the women can flat eat your lunch. They look like sweet, little things and they shoot your brains out."

Whether or not Bill Perry will ever see the day when the women are outshooting the men remains to be seen.

But as Perry often claimed, black powder weaponry is a sport in which the enthusiast can usually get a fair return on his investment if he ever decides to throw in the powder horn.

Mother Nature up to old tricks

After an unusually cool early part of the summer, Mother Nature decided it was time for things to get back to normal around here.

Tuesday marked the 11th consecutive day for the temperature to reach 100 degrees or higher, and the forecast for Wednesday was "more of the same."

And it's dry, too. Though rainfall through the first four months of 1976 was ahead of the previous year, it's gotten considerably behind to date.

The last measurable rainfall received here, measured by the Experiment Station southeast of town, was 1.69 inch on July 29.

A total of 14.61 inches has been measured thus far this year, down from the 25.97 inches reported for the same period in 1975.

Directors hear Whoop-T-Do

Letters are being mailed this week to organizations encouraging them to make plans for the annual Whoop-T-Do on Sept. 25.

Chamber of Commerce directors were told Monday of the effort by Don Flowers, project chairman, during the monthly Chamber meeting.

The Whoop-T-Do is a carnival type celebration held on the Saturday following the annual Iowa Park High School homecoming, which will be played Sept. 24 this year against Azle.

Flowers acknowledged that the event is several weeks earlier this year, but said he expected a "bigger an better" Whoop-T-Do than ever in the past.

Also discussed during the meeting was "outstanding" participation at the new Bicentennial Swimming Pool, and the upcoming September meeting of the Retail Trade Committee which will feature a Burkburnett speaker on that community's efforts to warn merchants of hotcheckers.

New student handbook approved

Iowa Park High School students will have their first updated handbook since 1970 in about three weeks.

A proposal to print a new handbook for students was requested by two members of the Student Council Tuesday evening, during a called meeting of the board of trustees.

Bryan Catlin, Council vice president, explained that there were numerous reasons for needing a handbook, among which was the printed rules and regulations under which the student body was to operate.

Catlin said sample handbooks were obtained from about 10 other schools. This information, along with updating information printed in the last handbook available to local students, was compiled in written form and approved by Principal Bob Dawson.

The books will be distributed to all high school students and will be updated each year in the future.

Another Student Council proposal was also approved.

President Jim Stevens sought permission to open a Student Council store at the school, to sell special order knit caps and also to sell school supplies.

The store would be the basketball concession stand, which would be open only between 8 and 8:30 a.m. School supplies would be purchased at a discount from a local store, retaining all money in town.

Mrs. John Meux, Council sponsor, explained the revenue from the sale of caps and supplies would provide money for various projects, for which funds had to be requested each year before any plans could be made.

Trustees gave approval to amend the 1975-76 budget, which indicated more money was spent than received. Estimated expenditures were $3,355,274, while revenue anticipated was $2,702,240.

Part of the preceding fund balance of $857,997, which figured into the expenditures and not in the income, was money in the bank from the sale of bonds for remodeling the junior high school, it was explained.

Junior High Principal Jimmy Alsop proposed that equipment in his school's football concession stand, offered for sale by a group of special education parents, be purchased with school funds.

He said the $125 expenditure would be recovered by leasing the facility to groups from Notre Dame High School, which will be playing its home games here this year.

Alsop told trustees that when Iowa Park games were played here, various organizations would supply the help, and receive the profits to finance their individual functions.

During a discussion period after the regular agenda was completed, Trustee Robert Wilcox told board members that dirt piled on the all-weather track while the retaining wall was being built had inflicted heavy damage to the surface.

A representative from the track's contractor is to be here next week to determine how much damage was sustained and discuss repairs.

Registration set Monday for college classes here

Registration will be at 6:30 p.m. Monday at Iowa Park High School for fall classes offered here by Vernon Regional Junior College.

Monday evening classes here will begin Aug. 30, and Thursday evening classes will begin Sept. 2.

Late registration will be at 6:30 p.m. Sept. 2. Final examinations for the fall semester are scheduled for Dec. 13-16.

Crafts, Introduction to Business, Real Estate Principles, Composition and Grammar, College Algebra, American Political System and Introductory Sociology.

Home, vehicle burglaries keeping local police busy

Burglaries of homes and vehicles loaded the court reports here during the past week, with almost all the offenses taking place Friday through Monday nights.

Several items were taken from the tool shed of Highland Cemetery between 5:30 and 9:30 p.m. Tuesday. Listed as taken after the burglar had pried open the door were a $130 chain saw, half a case motor oil, two small boxes of tools, a pipe wrench, an electric compressor and electric grinder.

Two CB antennas, a meat label stamp gun and a pocket calculator were taken from an Owens Sausage truck parked at Jim's Texaco Monday night, according to Charles Friday. Entry was gained by breaking out the window.

CB radio was taken during a minute period, between 5 and 5:30 Sunday, from Richard Green's truck parked at Jim's Texaco Monday night, according to Charles Friday. Entry was gained by breaking out the window.

The evening before a side mirror and rubber mounting was removed from a vehicle owned by Jerry Guyton, while parked at 1009 Cornelia.

Matthew Chapman reported a $22 pocket knife was taken from his pants while he was swimming at the Bicentennial Swimming Pool Thursday afternoon. He had left his pants near the wading pool area.

Police investigated a house breaking at 108 E. Jefferson Tuesday. Someone, according to the report, pried the lock off the house's back door but couldn't enter, so a side window was knocked out to get inside. However, nothing was reported as being taken.

The driver of an automobile, identified as being owned by an Electra resident, allegedly got gasoline from Robinson's Fina Station self service pump and drove off without paying, according to Don Hammonds, who gave police the license number.

Carter-Whitis nuptials exchanged in Abilene

In a ceremony performed Saturday evening in the chapel of the First Baptist Church in Abilene, Miss Joni Lynn Carter became the bride of Robert Glen Whitis.

Glen Whitis of Abilene and the late Mr. Whitis. Officiating at the double-ring ceremony was the Rev. Jacky Newton, pastor of the First Baptist Church at Abilene and a former pastor of the Faith Baptist Church in Iowa Park.

The center of interest in the altar area where the couple repeated their vows was the stained glass window and the decorations were candelabra entwined with commodore foliage holding white tapers. Arrangements of wedding greenery flanked the candelabra and marked the steps leading to the altar area. Pews were decorated with ivy.

A program of wedding music was provided by Mrs. Larry Dempsey of Abilene, organist, Mrs. Jim Jones of Lampasas, pianist, and Miss Lenora Bouza of Omaha, Neb. soloist. Accompanied by the pianist, Miss Bouza sang "When You Wish Upon a Star", "Sweetheart Tree", "I Love Him So" and concluded with "The Lord's Prayer". The organist played the prelude numbers and the time-honored wedding marches.

Her five-tiered bridal veil cascaded from a Juliet cap applied with Alencon lace and pearls. The bride carried a long cascade of miniature carnations, stephanotis, butterfly roses and baby's breath on top of a white Bible that her parents had given her when she was installed worthy advisor of the Iowa Park Assembly of Rainbow Girls.

The sentimental accessories that the bride wore to complete her wedding costume were diamond earrings that belonged to her maternal grandmother, Mrs. A.A. Brannan of Wichita Falls for "something old and something borrowed", the touch of blue chosen by most brides through the years and the sixpence in her shoe.

Serving as matron of honor was Mrs. Mack Quarles of Wichita Falls and Miss Beverly Whitis of Abilene, sister of the groom, was maid of honor. They were attired in long sea green polyester gowns accented with white chiffon capes embossed with blue, green and yellow flowers. They wore clusters of mixed greenery in their hair and carried the foliage formed in cabbage roses with trailing foliage streamers.

Bridesmaids dressed like the honor attendants, except in alabaster blue, were Miss Sara King of Abilene, Miss Mignon Williams of Hamlin, Mrs. Paul Wright of Hunt and Mrs. Cecil Westbrook of Abilene. Kristen Berry, the flower girl, also wore an alabaster princess frock. She was assigned by the bride to honor the mothers of the bride and groom by presenting them with white roses carried in her basket. Mrs. Carter wore an aqua polyester crepe gown overlaid with floral chiffon emphasizing shades of blue, green and yellow. The groom's mother was attired in an azure blue chiffon dress accented with rhinestone trim and each wore a cymbidium orchid.

Sibley-Mahler wedding vows recited here Saturday evening

One hundred and fifty cathedral candles dominated decorative arrangements and illuminated the nuptial space for the formal wedding in which marriage vows were recited here Saturday evening by Miss Sylvia Lou Sibley and Barry Wayne Mahler. The First United Methodist Church was the scene of the impressive ceremony during which the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Sibley exchanged nuptial vows with the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence H. Mahler.

Several hundred relatives and friends witnessed the double-ring service performed by the Rev. Jim Connatser, pastor.

The extraordinary lighting effect was achieved through the use of spiral and arched candelabra, small and large candle trees holding the luminous tapers. Spiral candelabra were placed in flanking positions to the stained glass window high above the chancel. White and blue gladioli, the chosen flowers for altar decorations, were combined in attractive arrangements in Grecian urns raised tall by handsome matching columns in the pulpit area lighted by small candle trees.

The couple stood before the altar table, the focal point of decorations, to plight their troth one to the other. Accented with commodore plaques, the table held an open Bible backgrounded by a gold cross and tall candle trees stood on either side. To complete the lighting, arched candelabra were placed at the extremities of the lower altar.

The wedding party approached the altar along an aisle marked with hurricane lamps, leather leaf and satin bows.

A musical setting for the wedding was provided by Mrs. Glenn Schell of Vernon, organist, and Mrs. Phil Anderson of Holliday, vocalist. The organist accompanied Mrs. Anderson for her solo, "You Are the Sunshine of My Life" after the mothers of the bride and groom were ushered and seated and "The Lord's Prayer" for the benediction.

For the prelude offerings, Mrs. Schell played "Whither Thou Goest" (Singer), "One Hand, One Heart" (Bernstein), "Walk Hand in Hand" (Cowell), "The Twelfth of Never" (Livingston), "Wedding Prayer" (Dunlap), "Traumerer" (Schumann), "Liebestraum" (Liszt).

MRS. BARRY WAYNE MAHLER

"Claire de Lune" (Debussy) and "To a Wild Rose" (MacDowell). Continuing her concert with the processional from Wagner's "Lohengrin", she concluded her offerings as members of the wedding party left the church, playing the recessional by Mendelssohn.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father, John E. Sibley, who presented her in marriage for both parents. Her diminutive beauty was enhanced by an elaborate bridal gown of ivory silk organza and Alencon lace beaded in pearls over peau de soie. The gown was designed with a molded bodice and long sleeves fitted at the wrists, both richly encrusted with the lace, and a carpet length skirt accented with a scalloped lace hemline that swept into a chapel train in the back. The bride's smart veil was created of three floor-length silk organza panels cascading to the floor from a cluster of cabbage organza roses attached to a cap of beaded Alencon lace and seed pearls. The delicate beauty of the gown was enhanced with her modified cascade bouquet consisting of gardenias, stephanotis and English ivy.

As she observed the bridal traditions, she wore her mother's birthstone ring, a sapphire in her shoe borrowed from Mrs. Stephen Sibley, her sister-in-law, and the popular blue garter.

The bride's chosen colors of blue and almond were reflected in the sophisticated gowns worn by her two attendants, Mrs. Kenneth Via, matron of honor, and Mrs. Ronnie Surley of Fort Worth, bridesmaid. Fashioned of blue, almond and white paisley voile, they were accented with bodices overlaid with ecru lace, lace sleeves and the ornamental trim was repeated at the scoop necklines and in wide front skirt panels from the waistlines to the deep hem flounces. They wore bandeaux of stephanotis and greenery and carried gardenias, stephanotis and English ivy arranged in colonial bouquets.

The groom and his attendants wore medium brown tuxedos trimmed in dark brown velvet. The groom's boutonniere was of stephanotis and the others wore white roses.

Michael Boyd of Wichita Falls was best man and Raymond Lane of Wichita Falls was groomsman. Duties of ushering and seating guests were assumed by Stephen Sibley of Fort Worth, brother of the bride, Henry Mahler, cousin of the groom, C.R. Carrillo-Miranda, his brother-in-law and James Richter.

The mothers of the bride and groom graced their formal gowns with cattelya orchids. Mrs. Sibley chose a light blue Qiana gown with a distinguishing front capelet that fell in modish floor-length drapes in the back.

Mrs. Mahler was attired in a pink double knit full length gown patterned with a ruffled V-neckline, fitted waist and pink lace jacket.

The bride and groom are both graduates of Iowa Park High School. She was graduated summa cum laude from Midwestern State University and received a M.A. degree from Texas Christian University at Fort Worth. At MSU, she was a member of Alpha Chi, Psi Chi and Alpha Lambda. She is employed by the Vernon Mental Health and Mental retardation Center as a staff psychologist. The groom is a part-time student at MSU, a member of Wichita County Young Farmers Association and is engaged in farming with his father.

The wedding was followed by a formal reception in the Fellowship Hall of the church, with the bride's parents the host and hostess. The receiving line was composed of the parents of the couple, the bride and groom and their wedding attendants.

As the guests approached the registry table they were handed scrolls from the bride and groom thanking them for their presence at the wedding from dainty brown straw baskets by Gregg Carrillo-Miranda and Jennifer Adams.

Miss Darlene Mahler, sister of the groom, presided at the bride's book placed on a table covered with white satin overlaid with white lace. The appointments included the couple's decoupage wedding invitation, the handiwork of Mrs. Stephen Sibley, the bride's sister-in-law, a bouquet of stephanotis, blue Killian daisies, wheat and bunny tails banked by a spray of white gardenias, and the plume pen.

Perfect detail was accomplished in the designing of the bride's table and the groom's table. The bride's table was gracefully draped with white lace over white satin featuring swags of smilax caught up with blue Killian daisies and satin bows. The centerpiece was a long arrangement of blue Killian daisies, white starburst poms and baby's breath from which tall blue candles arose.

The five-tiered bride's cake captured the attention of the guests. Iced in candlelight, it was accented with cascades of almond-colored roses with pale green leaves and ten-inch fligree pillars between the third and fourth tiers to provide space for lace-covered wedding bells trimmed with lilies of the valley. The finishing touch on the top tier was a cluster of the almond colored roses. The crystal punch service and white napkins imprinted with the newlyweds names and date of their marriage completed table appointments.

The groom's table appropriately reflected a bucolic atmosphere in keeping with his work. Covered with a beige textured burlap cloth trimmed with brown braid, the wheat motif was emphasized in decorations on the chocolate cake and in the centerpiece where heads of wheat were arranged with pampas grass, cardone puffs, bunny tails and cat tails. Coffee was served from a brass samovar and the napkins were brown.

Near the groom's table, a garden scene was arranged to further emphasize the outdoors. Covered with green, the area featured a silver lighted fountain topped with a white net cone ornamented with wedding bells and white doves. White steel tables and chairs completed the setting.

During the reception, blue and almond rice rosebuds were distributed from large brown straw baskets.

Reception assistants were Mmes. Stephen Sibley, sister-in-law of the bride, and Dean Wilkerson from Fort Worth, Janice Adams, C.R. Carrillo-Miranda, sister of the groom, T.C. Berry, Glen Miller, G.K. Beall, Floyd Adams, John Salkoff of Vernon, James Richter and Miss Mary Mahler, cousins of the groom.

The groom's parents hosted the rehearsal dinner Friday evening at the Village Square Restaurant in Wichita Falls. The U-shaped table was covered in white and appointed with a centerpiece arranged with statice, baby's breath and greenery encircling candles in blue votive cups. Blue satin runners topped with blue candles were spaced at intervals and extended the length of the side tables.

An occasional table held the bride's book opened to pictures of the betrothed couple along with their decoupage wedding invitation. The centerpiece was a cone of white net with white bells and doves.

Immediately following the reception, the couple departed for Colorado, their honeymoon destination. The new Mrs. Mahler traveled in a textured knit ensemble with a striped crepe blouse and jacket and a japette orchid. They will live in Iowa Park.

Special out-of-town relatives were Mrs. John Arney of Marlin and Mr. and Mrs. John W. Sibley of Lott, grandparents of the bride. Other out-of-town relatives attending were Messrs. and Mmes. Ralph Tindie, Waco; Harry Robbins, Stillwater, Okla.; Larry Williams, Houston; Earl Luby and Tommy, Fort Worth; and B.J. Williams, Houston.

 The Young Homemakers of Texas (YHT) held their first meeting of the new season Monday at the Iowa Park High School Home-making Department.
 Mrs. R.L. Redditt, vice president, gave an outline on program topics for the coming year, and ideas were discussed for involvement in the annual Whoop-T-Do.
 Members were reminded of the area YHT meeting to be held at Stephenville Sept. 25.
 Disappointment was expressed by members when Mrs. Maureen Klein, of the Wichita Falls YWCA, failed to attend and give the scheduled program on Slim-nastics.

Cook of the Week

Someone has said, "The discovery of a new dish does more for the happiness of mankind than the discovery of a new star". No doubt, scientists who have their telescopes ready to record data on any new star that appears in the sky would disagree with the above statement, but people who have the responsibility of preparing meals find a new recipe a boon in the truest sense.

We predict that Mrs. Jerry Wood's recipes this week will be a boon to many cooks. Some of them will perhaps be new; others are old ones with a new twist that gives promise of adding new flair and excitement to meals.

Linda Wood is the wife of the new high school assistant coach. She finished high school at Dundee, Okla. a small place near Healdton. She worked at the Central Accounting Office in Oklahoma City before her marriage.

She and her husband and two daughters, June a seventh grade student, and Leah a third grader, moved to Iowa Park from Hobbs, N.M. where they had lived for 13 years during his work as coach and counselor with the school system. He received both B.A. and M.A. degrees from East Central State University at Ada, Okla.

In Hobbs, Mrs. Wood worked as educational secretary of First Baptist Church and she is presently serving as secretary of Faith Baptist during the regular secretary's vacation. She enjoys doing handcraft including macrame, bread dough, etc. and she says that she dabbles in oils and acrylics for her own enjoyment.

BEEF KABOBS

(Serves 4)
1/2 envelope (1/4 cup) dry onion soup mix
2 T sugar
1/2 cup catsup
1/4 cup vinegar
1/4 cup salad oil
1 T prepared mustard
1/4 t salt

Dash bottled hot pepper sauce
1 1/2 lbs. beef chuck, cut in 1-inch cubes
Meat tenderizer (instant)
Green pepper, onion, cherry tomatoes, pineapple (or whatever desired)

In saucepan, combine first 8 ingredients and 1/2 cup water; bring to boil, reduce heat and simmer 20 minutes. Cool. Add meat; toss to coat. Refrigerate overnight. Drain meat, reserving marinade. Use tenderizer on meat according to directions on label.

Thread meat, peppers, onions, pineapple and tomatoes on skewers. Broil over medium coals, brushing with marinade 2 or 3 times. Heat remaining marinade to pass.

CAULIFLOWER-BROCCOLI SALAD

1 lb. raw cauliflower
1 lb. raw broccoli
2 cups Hellman's Real Mayonnaise
1 small carton sour cream
1 medium onion
2 T sugar

Worcestershire sauce

2 T vinegar
Tabasco sauce
Cut cauliflower and broccoli in small pieces; dice up onion. Add other ingredients and let set overnight.

HOMINY'S SOUR CREAM

Drain (almost) 1 large can hominy. Place on burner with 1 stick oleo. Sprinkle generously with garlic salt, simmer. Remove from heat, add 1 carton sour cream, 1 can chopped green chilies. Put in casserole, top with grated cheese. Cook in 350° oven until bubbly.

A good dish to serve with Mexican food.

FRUIT SALAD PIE

1 can pitted cherries
1 flat can crushed pineapple

6 bananas
1 cup chopped pecans
1 T vanilla
2 cups sugar
1 T red food coloring
7 T cornstarch
Dash salt

Drain juices of cherries and pineapple and add enough water to juices to make 2 cups. Add sugar, corn starch, coloring, vanilla and salt. Cook juices until thick. Cool and add fruit and pecans. Top with whipped cream. Will make 2 large pies.

BUTTERSCOTCH OR CARAMEL APPLE DUMPLINGS

Pastry for two pie crusts
6 large or 8 small baking apples

Prepare pie crust. Roll dough into a large rectangle approximately 14 x 21 inches or larger. Dough should be thin because these dumplings are very rich. For large apples, cut dough 7-inch squares; for smaller apples, six-inch squares will be enough.

Peel and core apples and set each apple in center of pie dough square. Bring up corners pressing the edges to seal together. Place in shallow pan just large enough to hold dumplings without crowding. Cover with sauce and bake at 350° for 45 minutes, basting several times.

BUTTERSCOTCH OR CARAMEL SAUCE

(Enough for six or eight apples)
1 cup butterscotch or caramel sauce from jar, usually used as ice cream topping
1/4 cup butter
1/2 cup packed dark brown sugar
1 1/2 cups water

Combine all ingredients in a saucepan and bring to a boil; boil for 2 minutes and pour over dumplings. Cool for 1 hour before serving.

"How can I control my air conditioning costs this summer?"

UNDERSTANDING YOUR ELECTRIC BILL

Here's a checklist of things you can do to keep your cooling costs down when the temperature is up.

- Have your air conditioning unit checked to be sure it's operating at top efficiency. Try a thermostat setting in the upper seventies. Keep filters clean. Check them every month. Keep air vents clear so air can flow freely.
- Close fireplace dampers. Keep direct sunlight out with awnings, draperies, blinds or shades. Keep doors and windows closed. Try to limit traffic in and out. Vent clothes dryers to the outside. Use kitchen and bathroom exhaust fan only to remove excess heat and moisture. Schedule cooking, washing and ironing for the cooler times of day to avoid adding excess heat to your home. Raise your thermostat at least five degrees if you're going to be away for several hours. Turn off air conditioning unit when on vacation unless there are items that might be damaged from heat. Attics should be well ventilated to prevent excess heat buildup. Make sure your insulation is at least up to the latest FHA standards. Weatherstrip or caulk around all doors and windows. Keep shrubbery trimmed back from outside units to allow good air flow. Consider cooking outdoors more this summer. Consider storm doors and windows. Think of them as insulation. Remember that a window unit is designed to cool only one room. Turn it off if that room is not being used. If buying new air conditioning, get the unit with the highest energy efficiency ratio (EER) — at least seven or better. For a free copy of our newest booklet on how to save electricity, give us a call. Or request one on the comment portion of your bill.

REMEMBERING...

By BILL D. BROOKS

MESQUITE TREES

Mesquite trees have long been a traditional part of the landscapes of the Southwest. To some people they are beauty, to some ugliness. Others admit they are useful, while many see no value in them at all.

The mesquite is a bushy, thorny, twisted tree that thrives in widely varying conditions. It can be found among the rocks of mountain slopes, in the sands of dusty prairies, even in the rich black bottomlands. The bark of the tree is near black in color, its leaves bright yellow-green. Its fruit is beans with pods six to eight inches in length. The younger branches bear sharp, stiff thorns. The root system is hearty, sometimes growing as deep into the soil as the tree is tall.

Years ago Indians used parts of the tree for medicines and early settlers made jelly from the beans. The beans were sometimes eaten raw and I must say that if they are picked at just the right time they are very tasty. Cows eat the beans, though they probably prefer grass. Horses and goats eat the bark from the young trees. A gum-like resin stuff comes out of the trunks of some mesquites and it's OK to eat too, though I don't think you'd want to make a meal of it.

According to many the wood is unequalled for fire places and barbecue pits. A few years back many barbed wire fences were constructed with mesquite posts, usually cut right there on the spot. The trees offer good nesting places for many different types of wildlife as well as food for some. Many oldtimers are able to forecast weather by the mesquites. They can tell if we are going to have an early frost, last frost, cold winter, etc. I don't know much about weather forecasting but I do know that when the mesquites put out in the spring, there will almost certainly not be another freeze. Thick growths of mesquite prevent erosion of soil by wind and water as well as add a certain beauty to the countryside.

The good things we can say about mesquites just about weigh evenly with the bad things. Most farmers and ranchers would just as soon do without the trees. Horseback riders suffer from the brushy limbs and thorns. In fact, chaps probably came to be worn by cowhands because of mesquites. The trees, uncontrolled, can overrun pasture land and their root systems can sap the ground of its moisture, leaving none for the range grass. The trees are hard to clear from fields because if the roots are not completely grubbed out, new sprouts will come out each year.

Surprisingly enough, mesquites are not actually native to most areas of the Southwest. They were imported. No, not by man. Cattle are chiefly responsible for spreading the growths of trees. As mentioned earlier, cows eat the beans. The growth of mesquite trees in the northern sections started on and around the cattle trails. When the herds went north the cattle droppings left behind seeds that became trees in the years to come. The growths spread quickly, being both good and bad, useful and useless, ugly and beautiful but, all in all, trees worth remembering....

Family farming is still alive

Family farming in the United States is holding its own as the most permanent and dominant influence in America's agriculture.

This view of modern agriculture expressed by Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz, was recounted by Soil Conservation Service Administrator R.M. Davis in an editorial in the July issue of Soil Conservation magazine.

According to Davis, Butz reports that about 95 percent of all U.S. farms are still family farms and produce about 60 percent of all farm produce sold. More than 90 percent of the farms are closely held family operations rather than large agribusiness firms.

"The ability of the family farm to survive is good news for conservation because the family farmer is also the mainstay of soil and water conservation," Davis said. "Family farms have been first in conservation since the beginning of the Soil Conservation Service."

It was the family farmers who offered their farms as demonstration sites for new conservation practices. They organized conservation districts, tried out new agricultural practices and products, installed conservation measures, and developed and supported soil stewardship in local churches.

"Almost always, it is the family farmer or rancher - frequently encouraged by sons and daughters - who is the first to try out new parallel terrace systems or no-till farming, then invites the neighbors over for a look," Davis said. "As we mark the 200th anniversary of our country's birth in freedom, we should remember that it was the yeoman farmer, the family farmer, who 'fired the shot heard around the world,' and eventually won our independence.

"Now it is the family farmer - and rancher - who keeps alive our voluntary program of soil and water conservation ... who conserves and improves our basic resource," Davis concluded.

As I See It....

by BOB HAMILTON

At the time of this writing, it is way too early to comment on the outcome of the national Republican Party primary. But there's plenty to be said about what went on early.

Our merchants and sales people could learn some valuable lessons on how to dress ... for the Crazy Day sales promotion we have each year.

And the actions of many of those wanting all the public exposure they can get is living textbook for children, on how they should not act in public.

These are the people selecting presidential candidates?

I don't know how much of that sort of thing went on before television coverage of the conventions, but I suspect most of it is purely for tv exposure.

There's just something about a television camera that makes unthinking people want to make an ass out of themselves. And, boy, it comes in loud and clear on the boob tube.

It appears, after Tuesday's floor fight over the rules change to force a presidential candidate to name his running mate before nomination, that Ford has it. And there's no surprise.

The incumbent has the upper hand, mainly because he is in the position to apply pressure another candidate can't. And, too, I still believe Reagan ripped his britches over his choice for vice president.

Letters to the Editor

Gentlemen:

We enjoyed the July 1 edition of the Iowa Park Leader so much, and are enclosing a check for which we hope you can mail us three additional copies of that issue. We have relatives here who would like copies.

We saw many names in your reprint of the June 14, 1901 issue of the Iowa Park Register, which we had completely forgotten.

We hear from Tom Corridon and Gale Lowrance occasionally. I also have a sister there, Mrs. Jas. A. Sewell, also my wife has a brother, J Roy Lakey, and a sister, Miss Alma Lakey, there.

If copies are not available do not bother to return my check.

Very Truly,
Bert Davis
Reseda, Ca.

Did you hear about the little boy who stopped before a large bronze plaque in the foyer of a big church?

"What are all those names up there?" he asked the minister.

"Those, sonny," the minister replied, "are the names of people who died in the service."

"Which one?" asked the youngster. "The 9:30 service or the 11:00 one?"

Great News FOR THE World

"Fearfully and wonderfully made." That's how the Bible describes YOU. Could it have been put better than that? Consider the complex marvel of your own conception and birth. Consider the bewildering and awe-inspiring cleverness that there is behind the design of your eye, your ear, your skin, your hair, your blood and any organ or gland you care to name. Go beyond the contemplation of your own self, and think about the myriad marvels in the life of plant and insect and fish and bird and animal. Whatever your field of knowledge - whether it is just a few popular magazine articles or really detailed scientific knowledge in one specialised field - you are driven to ask yourself a thousand times over: "How did it all happen? Where did it all come from?" And the answer is either: "A terrific sequence of glorious flukes spread over millions of years." Or: "GOD" One of these answers strains your imagination a good deal less than the other. Which? REV. KEITH PIERCE

Keith Pierce moving to Beaumont

The Rev. Keith D. Pierce, who has served as minister of the First Christian Church for the past four and a half years, has resigned to become the minister of education at the First Christian Church at Beaumont where the Rev. Glenn Moore is the pastor. He will assume the new position Sept. 15th.

Rev. Pierce, a native of Kansas, received a B.A. degree from McPherson College, McPherson, Kansas. He served in the U.S. Army for four and a half years, and later taught school at Exeter, Neb. two years and Fairmont, Neb. two years, teaching band and chorus and other subjects.

He decided to enter the ministry and went to Phillips University at Enid, Okla. where he earned a bachelor of divinity degree. During his seminary years, he was pastor of the Church of the Brethren in a small community near Enid. He later went to Wellington, Kansas where he was youth-choral director for five years.

In 1954, Rev. and Mrs. Pierce and their family moved to El Paso, Texas for him to become the assistant minister and advisory to the Christian Education Department of First Christian Church. He served there almost 10 years before moving to Albuquerque, N.M. where he served as minister of the Los Altos Christian Church for five years. Moving back to Texas, he became assistant minister and was in charge of the educational program and youth work at the First Christian Church in Odessa for three years before accepting the call to come to Iowa Park.

Mrs. Pierce, the former Sarah Jane Olwin of Cushing, Okla., has been a valuable helpmate to her husband in his ministry here as well as in the other places that he has served. They love Iowa Park and the people and have mixed emotions about leaving. One adjustment that they will have to make is getting adjusted to living in a large town again. Both of them grew up in small towns, then his work took them to large towns and cities, so when they moved to Iowa Park they had to readjust to small town living.

The couple's children are Mrs. John Shockley, Jr. of El Paso, John Pierce of Albuquerque, N.M. and Vickie Pierce, who will become the bride of Sam Callaway Friday evening. The Rev. Pierce made the observation that he and Mrs. Pierce would be making the move to Beaumont by themselves. They have four grandchildren.

In Iowa Park, Rev. Pierce was serving as president of the Iowa Park Optimist Club and Friends of the Library and as secretary-treasurer of the Ministerial Alliance at the time he made the decision to move. He has been Christian Education Chairman of District 19 Christian Education of Texas, assistant secretary of the board of directors at Lake Brownwood Christian Retreat. He has been active in the Ministerial Alliance and Council of Churches where those organizations have existed in every town where he has served. He thinks that associations with Christians, regardless of their church affiliations, is very important.

Optimists view education film

Joene Garrison from Region IX Service Center provided a program on Project Research through lecture and film for the Iowa Park Optimist Club Monday night.

She explained that the program is sponsored by Texas Education Agency and Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation and is seeking to locate and identify handicapped persons between the ages 3-21 not currently being served by a public education program. Also included are persons who have returned from a state institution or persons residing in a state institution.

The speaker stated that it costs the state $20,000 to educate a handicapped child but it also costs the state and taxpayers $200,000 not to educate the handicapped child. She said that Region IX has 120 referrals so far. Encouraging the group to refer people who might be helped by the program, she said that it could be done by calling 817-322-8297 or writing Project Reach, Box 7086, Wichita Falls, Texas 76307.

Rev. Keith D. Pierce presented the speaker with a certificate of appreciation.

At a board of directors meeting following the program, Alan McNally was elected president of the club for 1976-77 replacing Rev.

Pierce who will leave Iowa Park Sept. 15 to join the staff of First Christian Church in Beaumont. The installation banquet was set for Sept. 13 at the First Christian Church. Plans were discussed for putting new meaning into the club's slogan "Friend of Youth" during the new year.

SEASON OPENS SEPT. 1

Dove count 'little bit slim'

Wood patches and stock ponds may prove to be the most profitable hunting areas in the Iowa Park area when dove season opens Sept. 1.

Fate Pittman, information officer for the Wichita Falls field office of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, said the average this year's dove crop will be a little below normal.

"It looks a little bit slim right now, but of course there are always some hot spots," Pittman said.

He said the food situation for mourning doves will be a critical factor in how many birds hunters will be able to bag this season which runs through Oct. 31.

Farmers have cleaned their fields well this year which makes it less enticing for doves.

Patches of wild sunflowers, cotton weeds and milk weeds may prove to be a hunter's best bet. If these wild seed plants mature well, it could improve the situation somewhat, Pittman explained.

"This may be the year that our stock tanks are more productive," Pittman added.

As always, a cold rain early in the season could dampen a hunter's prospects even further, he said.

In addition to doves, North Texas has been granted a special teal season this year, he said.

Open season for the migratory water fowl runs from Sept. 18-30, sunrise to sunset daily.

There is a four-per-day bag limit on teal, along with a limit of eight in possession.

For doves the daily bag limit is 10. Possession limit is 20.

Unlike as it may seem, over possession is not the most common violation committed by dove hunters.

The most common violation is hunting from a public road. Dove season is closed on all public roads and within 500 feet of them, Pittman said.

Violations of hunting regulations are a federal offense and can carry fines ranging from $25 to $200, Pittman explained.

In addition, a hunting license expires Sept. 1, so hunters should have them renewed prior to the season, he said.

A hunting license is $9.50 per year, while a combination hunting and fishing license is $9.75.

Area hunters out for teal must obtain a duck stamp.

Pittman added a hunting license is not required for dove hunters shooting in their home county.

For the best results this dove season, Pittman suggests hunters scout out a prospective hunting site prior to the opening of the season.

Merchants win another tourney

Iowa Park Merchants Softball Team maintained an unblemished performance last weekend to win the Jimmy Fox Invitational at Chattanooga, Okla.

The Oklahoma win marked the sixth tournament this year in which the Iowa Park club has returned home with a trophy.

Iowa Park Merchants opened the tournament with a 15-5 win over Lawton Realtors.

Iowa Park continued its winning streak by downing Fort Hill 8-2 and Western Mobil Homes of Lawton 12-4.

The Iowa Park club entered the championship playoff undefeated, and continued its winning stretch by downing Lawton Realtors 18-3 for the championship title.

Iowa Park Merchants will be looking for their second sweep of the Wichita Falls Classic when they do diamond battle Friday, Saturday and Sunday at Scotland Park in Wichita Falls.

New phone books Hawk Band in concert here Friday

Iowa Park residents will begin receiving their 1976 telephone directories this week, according to Southwestern Bell manager Gary Cook.

The colorful cover of the new book features a painting "Dad Hunt and Good Water" by Donald York, which depicts a scene of the beauty and diversity of these beautiful Texas landscapes.

The annual cover of the new directory is a member of the Texas Association of Publishers.

According to Cook, the 1976 directory is estimated to contain 100,000 listings, including 1,000 telephone numbers, and 1,000 listings of 10 or more listings.

"Thought 75 per cent of all directory assistance calls are for local numbers, the remainder are for numbers in other cities," the manager continued. "We provide directory assistance, most of these numbers in the hope that calls will refer to them instead of calling directory assistance."

The Hawk Band will perform music at a pre-season public concert at 8 p.m. Friday at City Park on Cash.

The high school band will perform music at a special concert that band will perform a close order marching drill.

The band has been holding rehearsals the past two weeks in preparation for the coming marching season.

Special practice sessions were held for freshmen members.

Band members were named last week's freshmen members.

Squads led by Ricky Blair and Kathy Johnson led for first place.

Blair's squad included Tim Aitken, Lori Dick, Lisa Roberts and Margaret Wynn.

Members of Miss Johnson's squad were Bobby Sherrill, Wendy Hicks, David Forsyth, Joann Jennings and Carrie Mahler.

NO SCRIMMAGE

Hawks can't find opponent for this week

Mean Green football fans will apparently have to wait another week before they see the Hawks knocking heads with somebody other than themselves.

The scrimmage this week with Lawton Eisenhower is off, according to Pat Tone, head coach.

Tone explained that when he called the Oklahoma coach to get the time and place established, he was talking with a complete stranger on the subject.

Lawton Ike changed coaches during the summer, and the new mentor explained he knew nothing about the scrimmage which had been arranged last spring, and already had one set up with another school.

"We sure needed a scrimmage this week," lamented Tone, who said he had called schools in Oklahoma, in the Panhandle area and Fort Worth areas, trying to find a school that wasn't already booked.

"Our players are getting tired of hitting each other and need to see how they can play against someone else," he said.

There is no problem with next week's scrimmage against the Bowie Jackrabbits, he confirmed. The time, date and place have not yet been finalized, but Tone said he wanted to leave it here if he can get the field marked in time.

The Hawks, larger and more experienced than this time last year, put on their pads for the first time Friday. They have continued two-a-day practice sessions each day except yesterday morning, when coaches were scheduled to attend a faculty meeting. But that practice was made up with a session last Saturday morning.

Tone is carrying 32 players on the varsity at the present time, and says he has 69 players in all who represent the upper three grades.

Besides the usual aches, pains and bruises that are holding a few players out, three have been injured. Billy Farmer received a serious knee injury before the varsity cut was made and likely will miss the season. Two other players who are not practicing but are expected to be back in pads soon are Kip Fuller and Billy Ray, both of whom sustained minor concussions.

Two players vying for starting quarterback position are David Wright, who started in that slot on the junior varsity last season, and Rex Huckaby, an excellent passer who has not played football since 1973, when he was a freshman.

Tone complimented the effort of his players, saying their physical conditioning was very good for this time of the year, and they were working hard to adapt to the new offensive and defensive plays.

Friday will be the final two-day session for the Hawks, who will begin regular afternoon practices when school starts Monday.

HUSTLIN' HAWKS. PREPARE FOR SEASON

Women's Doubles - Debbie Brown and Cheryl Dowell def. Jerri Gray and Pansey Bowerman 6-1, 6-0.

Girls' 1416 Singles - Debbie Brown vs. Cheryl Dowell 6-2, 6-1.

The club is planning another tournament in October and expects to add brackets for players 35 years of age and over.

Association meetings are held each second Thursday of the month at 7:30 pm. at Texas Electric Service Co. building.

The meeting will be held tonight as planned.

Knight-Miller wedding ceremony held Saturday

The home of the bride's parents in San Antonio was the scene of a wedding ceremony Saturday evening uniting Miss Constance Knight and Bobby Joe Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Joe Miller of Route 3, Wichita Falls. Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Jon Patrick Knight.

The groom was graduated from Holliday High School and is a senior at Texas A&M University.

The ceremony was officiated by Rev. Christopher Jones before the bay window in the living room centered with a large arrangement of yellow daisies. The hurricane lamps outside the house leading to the entrance were decorated with bridal bows.

The earth tones were carried out in the bride's wedding dress and the dresses worn by her attendants.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a long ivory Indian cotton dress accented with dainty tucks and heavy lace on the bodice featuring a V-neckline, bell sleeves and full skirt. She wore a bandeau of baby's breath and carried a nosegay of white roses, yellow daisies and baby's breath.

Her attendants were dressed identically in long dresses fashioned of lightweight Indian cotton striped in brown, turquoise and rose tones. They carried nosegays of roses, carnations and baby's breath. The attendants were Mrs. Carlos Pena of San Antonio, sister of the bride, matron of honor, Misses Marcy Kurtz, Carol Gomez and Allyson George, bridesmaids.

Donald Jay Miller of Wichita Falls, the groom's brother, was best man. Groomsmen were John Streckfuss of Brookshire, Mike Newton of Houston and Gary Gilmore of Bryan.

The wedding reception was held in the garden where its natural beauty was enhanced with fresh daisies bordering the flower beds. The bride's three-tiered cake was topped with lovers doves. The groom's chocolate cake was on a separate table. A patio catered meal was served following the reception.

Following a wedding trip to Nassau, the couple will live in Bryan.
