

Party fetes Mrs. Smith

Mrs. Lee Smith, a longtime resident of Iowa Park and teacher in the school system who will be leaving the city soon to establish residence in Tyler, was honored at a surprise party and shower Tuesday evening. The function was given to conclude a regular meeting of Night Baptist Women of First Baptist Church in the Fellowship Hall of the church. Hostesses were Mmes. Roy B. Smith, V.I. Woodfin and Homer Blalock.

The refreshment area featured a serving table laid with white linen appointed with a Valentine tree and quartet tables centered with red Valentine-shaped candles. Favors were nose-gays fashioned of red, pink and white yarn. The honoree's new address was given to those in attendance on red and pink felt pin cushions trimmed in white lace.

Mrs. J. Louis Quick read an original "This Is Thelma Smith" tribute using the love theme as she presented a "house full of gifts" from the group to her. Mrs. Roy B. Smith who had designed the house from cardboard rolled it in on a little red wagon.

Miss Dosa Smith ordered a bouquet of fresh red and pink carnations, white chrysanthemums and baby's breath from the florist for the honoree which added decorative interest to the setting.

During the regular meeting of Night Baptist Women, Mrs. W.F. Booher presided. She announced that Home Missions Week of Prayer would be held March 4-11 and the goal for the local church had been set at $1750.

Mrs. Bill Curry conducted the prayer period for missionaries on the birthday calendar.

Mrs. J.A. Berg led the program taken from Royal Service titled "The Stranger in Your Land". She was assisted by Mmes. Lee Smith, Roy Smith, Woodfin, Quick and E.T. Patterson.

Cook of the Week

Someone has said, "It is a wise mother who keeps her family interest in her home-cooking with a group of dessert ideas". This description fits Mrs. Dewey Conley who shares five of her dessert recipes with us this week. Anyone of them would bring any meal to a delightful and satisfying finish.

Each recipe calls for sugar which is readily available to cooks in the 20th century. So accustomed are people to going to the store and purchasing a five or ten pound bag of sugar that not too many ever give any thought as to its origin.

Hundreds of years before the birth of Christ, the people of India learned how to make sugar from sugar cane. Not until the time of the Crusades was sugar introduced, by the Arabs, into Europe. At first it was considered a great rarity and was even used as medicine. Today, we not only have the granulated sugar but also powered and brown sugar to enhance the flavor of cooking.

The Conleys have lived in Iowa Park seven and a half years. He has retired from the Air Force after 20 years of service and is currently working as job development specialist for IDC. Amy Conley was graduated from high school at Longdell, Okla. She is president of the Christian Woman's Fellowship of First Christian Church and she enjoys fishing and plants, both indoor and outdoor. The family spent two years in Turkey while he was in the Air Force; however, she did not like Turkey cuisine enough to collect any recipes.

The Conleys have one daughter, Mrs. John Nelson of Wichita Falls, and five sons, Marty, Vernon, Mark, Daniel, Mike and Doug, all of the home.

The award, given for the seventh semester, cites those undergraduate students who achieve a 4.0 (straight A) grade point average for a minimum of 12 semester hours.

Leigh Seerest, interim vice chancellor and dean of the University. "These students who have achieved excellence in their academic progress worked hard for this honor."

Carey is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rollin C. Roberts. She is a junior majoring in home economics.

Here's why
it takes fuel to make electricity.

It takes fuel to make electricity.

A lot of people don't understand that, but it's true.

Most of the power plants in this country require steam to generate electricity. To make steam you must boil water, and that requires a lot of heat.

That's why we have to buy and burn large amounts of fuel, such as lignite coal and natural gas, every month. The steam we make with it turns the generators that make your electricity, which we distribute to you right when you need it.

The fuel we use costs money, more all the time, which is why we show it separately on your bill. At Texas Electric, we want you to know what you're paying for. And to remember: it takes fuel to make electricity.

Worth Quoting

There's an old adage about the similarity between cockroaches and politicians...it's not what they eat and carry off but what they fall into and mess up.

And that's about the way we feel about the federal government and this nation's energy policy. . . Washington has just about messed it up to a fare-thee-well!

The cockeyed policies of three administrations in trying to provide cheap natural gas and oil to the heavily populated northeastern section of the country, has about brought us to the brink of disaster. Signs are popping up all over the place that this country could very well face rationing of gasoline in some manner before Independence Day.

The last tanker from Iran unloaded on the East Coast Monday of this week and it's the last of approximately two million barrels of crude this nation imported from that embattled country daily.

And because our administration and congressmen in Washington are still involved in looking out for the next election rather than facing up to the fact of higher prices for oil and gas under deregulation, they haven't the foggiest idea of where to look for the shortfall.

Energy czar Schlesinger says the situation is critical-but he never mentioned the fact that only four short months ago he and the state department vetoed a deal with Mexico that would have brought over two million barrels of Mexico crude into Laredo to feed the nation's energy needs.

The deal was nixed by the administration because along with the Mexico crude, natural gas from that country would have to be purchased at a higher price than this nation currently pays for Canadian gas.

So rather than upset the northeast with slightly higher natural gas prices, the crude from Mexico was turned down. It could easily go down as the worst mistake of the Carter regime.

Refusing Mexico crude because the gas that came with it was higher than Canadian gas reminds us of the shopper who asked the grocer for the price of pork chops.

"Our pork chops are 89 cents a pound," the groceryman answered. "That's too high," said the shopper. "The grocery store down the street sells them for 49 cents a pound."

"Well, why don't you go down the street and buy his pork chops?" queried the grocer.

"Well, he's out!" said the shopper. "Well, friend, when we're out, we sell pork chops for 39 cents a pound!"

That's about the situation our friends in the northeast, who currently buy gasoline cheaper than we do in Texas, are finding themselves.

Personally, we feel if the federal government would get out of the cosmetic business—the habit of taking a superficial, looks good, shallow, short range, until-election-time, look at the nation's problems, and get down to the nitty-gritty of real problem-solving, the current gasoline shortage could be solved in the marketplace.

Better still, if Washington would simply fold its tent and take a long vacation, the private citizens of this country could solve most of the nation's ills—including that of energy.

JAMES ROBERTS
Andrews County News

As I See It....

Municipal governments in Texas have been issued a call to arms by Don Butler, utility counsel for the Texas Municipal League.

Butler, in a letter mailed to all communities in the state, has announced that "legislation has been introduced which would abolish all local authority in public utility ratemaking."

He says numerous utilities (not listing them) have joined together to wage a well-financed, all-out effort in support of legislation which would make all utility rate making the responsibility of a state commission, completely bypassing any local contact.

I was aware such a move was afoot, but certainly didn't think it was coming up so soon.

Having already announced I was not in favor of legislation creating the Public Utility Commission, I've seen nothing to change my opinion of such a group, and therefore am against this proposal.

As it now stands, utilities must approach the local city council whenever it wants to make a rate change. And for the last many, many years, those changes are increases.

Should the city council not approve the increase, or offer a lesser increase, the utility has the right to appeal to a state commission. This legislation bypasses local contact, and all rate matters would go directly to the state.

Butler lists 12 reasons why the legislation should not be passed:

1. Denial of full information to the public.
2. Discouragement of public participation in rate case.
3. Denial of independent representation of the general ratepayer.
4. If cities do not participate, many important issues may not be considered by state commissions.
5. If cities are not parties to proceedings before the state commissions, no one will have the right to appeal commission decisions except the utilities or special interest intervenors.

6. Actions of local bodies are valuable checks against poor state regulation.

7. Enforcement of service complaints would be thwarted.

8. The present system is neither cumbersome nor expensive as the utilities claim.

9. Continuance of local jurisdiction insures development of expertise at the local level.

10. Abolition of local jurisdiction would deprive consumer groups of their best forum.

11. Additional state funding would be necessary.

12. If certain cities do not wish to meet their responsibilities they may surrender their jurisdiction over local rates.

He forgot one. Commission membership is appointed, not elected. The only way such a member could be reached would be through election of a governor.

I'm against it, and I'm hoping Sen. Farabee and Rep. Finnell read this. I'm also hoping you will express your views, immediately.

Every homeowner is a masochist at heart. Who else could derive pleasure from the domination, mistreatment, slings and arrows of outrageous fortune that home ownership brings?

For years I had the only lawn on the block that had to be mowed on Christmas day; the only faucet that stopped leaking when the plumber arrived, and a toilet that hit an octave above high "C" everytime it was flushed.

I was trapped into home ownership by the federal government. Among the benefits provided to veterans of World War II were the G.I. college tuition bill and low down payment housing. I took advantage of both.

When my college days were over and I had mated for life, the next step was to select a house.

A subdivision builder ensnared me into the three bedroom trap, commonly called a G.I. house since the government provided financing through the veteran's loan program.

Two years of fighting crab grass, fixing squeaky hinges, and cleaning out the garage convinced me of one thing. That house was the government's revenge because I didn't reenlist.

My G.I. house boasted the usual appurtenances. Wall-to-wall carpeting on the floor and back-to-the-wall financing at the bank. A foundation with a hair-line crack and an ant bed covered with crab grass that served as a yard completed the picture.

As the benefits of the free enterprise system seeped down to my salary strata, the Lifetime Helpmate and I moved into larger and more expensive houses. But the problems of being a homeowner came with me each time I moved.

Then at last the youngest member of the household left the nest to find her way in the world. The Lifetime Helpmate and I decided to sell the old homestead and take up residence in a geriatric-set apartment complex.

The decision to sell the house filled me with joy. I marched into the front yard with a "For Sale" sign in my hand and drove it into the ground with the joy of an archbishop thrusting a stake into the heart of a vampire.

Now in the afternoon of my life, situated in a small apartment, I hear music when the Lifetime Helpmate answers the phone, turns to me and says, "That was the apartment manager. He is sending the maintenance man to fix the leaky faucet."

SPLIT VOTE

Contract not renewed

Holiday school board voted Monday night to renew its contracts with administrators Ray Coe, Dan Owen and Don Luey, but decided by a 4-3 margin against extending the contract of Bill Crabbs.

Trustees convened privately in executive session for half of the five-hour session that climaxed with the split vote on Crabbs' contract about 12:30 a.m. yesterday.

School board members went into the first phase of their executive meeting on personnel about 9:50 p.m. Tuesday. An hour later the meeting was re-opened to the public as the board decided by a 5-1 margin to renew its contract with superintendent Ray Coe through the 1980-81 academic year. Trustee Durhl Caussey cast the lone dissenting vote.

Trustees were in executive session only about five minutes before registering a unanimous decision to extend the contract of elementary principal Dan Owen through 1980-81.

The final phase of the executive session lasted 1 1/2 hours. When the public was invited back into the meeting trustees unanimously voted to extend through 1980-81 the contract of Don Luey, athletic director and head coach.

Caussey's motion to renew the contract of high school principal Bill Crabbs through 1980-81 was seconded by Bob Martin. They were joined by Wells in the vote to keep Crabbs.

When Gene Harmon, Jack Ayres and Terry Parnell voted against renewing Crabbs' contract, it caused a tie vote.

Mankins broke the tie by voting against renewal of Crabbs' contract.

OTHER ACTION

In other action Tuesday night the board scrapped its plans to implement a vocational agriculture program here, and set into motion a track renovation project.

Trustees voted 5-1 to table action based on the results of a vocational education survey taken among junior high and high school students here. Caussey, who had requested the survey, cast the dissenting vote.

Production agriculture had drawn the largest response in the survey, Owen said.

He said if the board elected to implement an agriculture program here it could expect to finance construction of an instruction building exclusively with local funds.

Owen indicated the state would fund half the salary of the teacher and the same percentage of the equipment as its regular contribution to the Holiday school operations.

He said a minimum of 21 students would be necessary to offer such a program here.

Consensus of trustees who voted to table the program indicated costs and availability of the vocational technical school in Wichita Falls to Holiday students were the chief arguments against implementing a program here.

After hearing rough estimates from Luey, the board voted to seek bids on work to rebuild the track facilities here.

The board will seek bids on altering the track to accommodate new metric measurements along with curb, drainage, base and asphalt for a new track.

Trustees were undecided whether they would opt for an asphalt or all-weather surface track.

Holiday Mayor Ben Ezzell approached the trustees about the possibility of consolidating the school and city tax offices.

"Holiday, in just a short while, will be without a certified tax collector," Ezzell said, explaining city secretary Evon Carter's certification will expire soon and that she has no desire to attend school for re-certification.

School tax assessor-collector Louis Hodge already provides the city with assessments. Nobody at Tuesday night's meeting knew the legal obstacles that would be encountered in such a consolidation, "but it's something we should look into now," Ezzell said.

Hodge and city officials were asked to further investigate the proposal which will be discussed again at the April school board meeting.

School board members called the regular trustee election for April 7 with boxes at Dundee, Holliday, Bowman and Lakeside City. The three places up for election are held by Mankins, Ayres and Wells.

The board also voted to contract with Pritchard and Abbott tax consultants to prepare letters to be sent to all property owners whose assessed values will increase $100 or more next year.

The computer service will cost the school $300.

Hodge also reported 85 percent of ad valorem taxes had been collected.

"That's about seven percent lower than normal and I can't give you any good reasons for it," Hodge said.

In other business the school board received a report on Phase III of its five-year self-evaluation plan and approved amendments to the budget.

Three candidates file for races

Two persons have filed for election to the Holiday school board and one candidate has surfaced in the city council election.

Both elections are slated for April 7.

Incumbent school board president Tommy Mankins has filed for re-election.

James Sellers also has filed for election to the Holiday school board.

The three trustee slots up for election currently are held by Mankins, Jack Ayres and Dr. Joe Wells.

COUNCIL ELECTION

Hershel McDaniel remains the only candidate to surface in the Holiday City Council election. McDaniel filed for election to the Place 5 council post currently held by Fred F. Maier.

Other council posts up for election and the incumbents include Melvin Bills, Place 1; Jim Virdell, Place 3; and Mary Denney, Place 4.

Deadline for filing in both elections is March 7.

Teams grab district titles

Holiday's junior varsity girls and eighth grade boys both captured district championships Monday night at Bellevue.

The JV girls upended Boyd 34-30 for the District 13-A title with Suzan Dillard turning in the top performance with 12 points. Laura Holt put in 10 for the JV Lady Eagles.

The Big Red eighth grade boys scorched Millsap 53-24 for the loop championship. Parker was highpoint with 16, followed by Lilley and Belcher with 10 points each.

Holiday's varsity boys and girls both finished the season with 7-4 district records.

Both units closed the season on a winning note with the Eagles rolling over Chico 85-43. Four Eagles were in double figures with Kirk Styles leading the pack with 20 points.

Kent Lemons had 16 while Mark Wells and Dennis Holt each had 14.

The Lady Eagles downed Chico 62-45. Mindy Lowder highpointed with 16 and Beth Barry had 13.

Hawkettes' last hope for title

Iowa Park's young and talented Hawkettes will find out if their basket ball season ends tonight, or is extended into playoffs, when they travel to Mineral Wells.

The Hawkettes, due to a quirk in scheduling, will meet the Ramettes in a first round game which was delayed until this evening.

Both Iowa Park and Mineral Wells teams were undefeated in first half play of the Dist. 4-AAA schedule. Under district rules, winners of each half play are to meet to determine the conference championship.

Hirschi won the second half play, and tonight's winner will meet the Wichita Falls school to decide who advances into the state playoffs.

Sporting a gaudy 20-5 season record, the Hawkettes were knocked out of second half play with losses to both Mineral Wells and Hirschi.

In the meeting between Mineral Wells and Iowa

Park, in Iowa Park's gymnasium, the Hawkettes lost their usual composure after numerous turnovers, and suffered their worst defeat of the season, 51-30.

"We're going to do some things different that last time," commented Coach Theresa Grace. "We've got a shot at it (the championship), and we're going to give them a run for it."

Two games are on tap at Mineral Wells tonight. The girls' junior varsity is slated to play at 6 p.m., followed about 7:30 by the varsity game.

BEAT GRAHAM

The Hawkettes improved their record to 20-5 Friday night when they took measure of the Graham Cowgirls, 45-35.

Though Graham has won only two district games this season, they were improving rapidly at the end, winning two of their last three starts.

Fouls, an early Graham cold streak and a third period hot streak by Jill Watts spelled the difference in the game. The Hawkettes jumped to a 11-2 lead, but watched it cut to 19-14 by halftime.

Graham actually outscored the Hawkettes 12-2 from the field in the fourth period, but seven of 11 free throw attempts kept Iowa

Park in the lead.

Jo Ann McClurg led Iowa Park scoring with 19, while Watts canned 12.

SBA drouth disaster deadline

The U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA) has reminded farmers and ranchers who suffered financial hardship due to drouth losses in 1978 crops that applications for SBA's Physical Disaster Loan Program must be returned before Mar. 6, the deadline.

"The Small Business Administration's 1978 drouth disaster declaration now includes 125 Texas counties," said Alicia Chacon, SBA regional director. "Because producers in counties adjacent to these 125 declared counties are also eligible, our disaster loan program covers almost the entire state."

So far, 5,159 Texas producers have been interviewed by SBA concerning 1978 crop losses caused by extreme drouth conditions. Loan requests totalling nearly $42 million have been received.

"These disaster loans may be used to pay outstanding obligations and operating expenses and for production costs in the new crop year," said Chacon. "However, they may not be used to refinance a Farmers Home Administration or other USDA loans."

Interest rates on SPA physical disaster loans are three percent on the first $250,000 and 6-5/8 percent on remaining amounts. Maximum maturity of the loans are 30 years with terms based on repayment ability. The loans normally are repaid in equal annual installments including principal and interest. A producer may borrow only the amount of his actual losses, and SBA loans cannot duplicate other disaster payments.

"Producers who are able to obtain credit from other sources are still eligible for an SBA disaster loan," Chacon said. "But we suggest that they check first with their local FmHA representative."

ON HUTCHINS' BASKET

Hawks edge Graham in frantic finish

Hawk forward Harry Hutchins slipped through the Graham defense on a fast break off a rebound and put in a twisting layup with nine seconds remaining in Friday night's game to give Iowa Park a 43-42 come-from-behind victory.

The win wound up the conference schedule for Iowa Park, even though the Hawks were to play Duncan Tuesday night, and have a makeup game with Weatherford which probably will not be played.

Graham had led through the game, by as much as eight in the second quarter.

The score was tied at 37-37 with two minutes remaining in the game, but with 46 seconds left, Graham nudged ahead 42-39.

It was Hutchins who narrowed the score to one when he hit a field goal with 30 seconds showing on the scoreboard clock.

Hutchins then gambled by fouling a Steer player, and with 21 seconds, the first free shot was missed. Graham's Ken Donnell grabbed the rebound, missed a shot, got the ball back and was tied up by Randall Griffith.

The Hawks controlled the tip and Hutchins drove the length of the floor to score, giving the visiting Hawks their only lead of the game.

At that point Coach Keith Barriek became embroiled in a bitter argument with the officials. One Graham official ruled that Graham called timeout as soon as Hutchins scored, while the other said the Hawks had committed a foul in the back court.

Graham got the ball out of bounds, but was unable to control it sufficiently as a long pass was intercepted by Richardson, who lost it to Graham's John Sedberry. Sedberry fired a 40-footer, but missed, and the Hawks erupted.

Hutchins finished the night with 15 points. Griffith followed with nine and Travis Little had eight.

Dennis Dillard and Richardson accounted for four points each.

Connally brings campaign to area next Thursday

Republican presidential candidate John B. Connally and his wife Nellie will take their tour of the state through North Texas next Thursday, where they will be guests at a continental breakfast in Wichita Falls. Dr. William L. Rector, event chairman, announced the plans. Vice-chairman is Lonny Morrison, and many prominent area citizens are serving as members of a host committee. The 8 a.m. breakfast will be held at the Tradewinds Motor Hotel and all Texans are invited to attend. "Gov. Connally wanted to start his campaign for the Republican presidential nomination in his home state," Rector said in revealing plans for the Texas tour. "The Connallys will visit more than 20 communities during seven days and meet and greet as many fellow Texans as possible." Following the Wichita Falls breakfast, Gov. and

Mrs. Connally will travel to Amarillo for a noon luncheon and will complete the day's activities with an evening reception in Lubbock. The tour will cover all parts of Texas and will close with a birthday reception for Gov. Connally in Houston Feb. 27.

Birk Circle has meeting

Mrs. Edna Lemond taught the Bible lesson for the Lucy Birk circle of the First Presbyterian Church at the meeting Tuesday morning in the home of Mrs. C.E. Birk. Her topic was "The Kingdom of God."

"As Jesus ushered in the Kingdom of God, he was both the Proclaimer and the Proclamation of the good news", she said. She told how he preached that the kingdom is "at hand" and spoke of "that day", a future time of the kingdom. To close she stressed that the Kingdom of God exists now wherever his reign is accepted.

Miss Titia Belle Blanks used "Patience-Experience-Hope" for the topic of the denominational emphasis and pointed out that faith without works is dead.

Mrs. Mae Shelton conducted the business. A salad luncheon was served following the program. Mrs. Lois Holloway was also present.

Alathean class holds meeting

The Alathean Sunday School class of First Baptist Church held the monthly business meeting and luncheon Tuesday in the Fellowship Hall.

Mrs. Guy Morgan directed the business when reports from officers and chairmen were given. Mrs. O.E. Lochridge reported that the class had sent a monetary gift to Cal Farley's Boys Ranch and had given gifts of candy and flowers to the shut-ins and ill.

Mrs. L.E. Brooks contributed a meditation based on "Love of God".

Mrs. Roy Fortner and Mrs. Allie Girard were hostesses for the luncheon. The Rev. Hal Farnsworth offered the invocation.

Mrs. Farnsworth and Mrs. Lowell Spruiell from Marble Falls were guests.
