City bans driving on dams

The Iowa Park city council put some teeth in the city's ban against vehicles driving on lake dams.

Council members approved an ordinance Monday night which sets a $100 fine for each offense.

Attempts to control traffic on the dams have been an ongoing frustration to various city councils since the dams were constructed. Signs erected to inform drivers last as long as it takes a hunter to level his gun sights, and barriers are knocked down and locks cut.

New signs are being erected and barriers replaced at each of the dams, according to Steve Morath, city administrator.

Morath cited a recent engineering report by the Texas Department of Water Resources concerning the dams at Lakes Buffalo, Iowa Park and Gordon, indicating the dams are safe but are in need of better maintenance.

"Prohibiting driving on the lake dams was one suggestion made in this report," Morath said.

The same state department made a similar comment some seven years earlier. Following that report, the city spent several thousands of dollars repairing the dams, but their conditions once again have deteriorated.

Alderman George Hammonds, who admitted he had been driving on the dams where he fished and was not aware he should not have been there, said large holes and deep ruts mark the tops of the dams from vehicle traffic.

The new ordinance prohibits unauthorized persons to drive a vehicle on any city-owned lake, and provides for a fine of $100 for each offense, upon conviction in municipal court.

The ordinance passed by a 4-1 vote, with Alderman Bud Adams voting against the measure.

BUDGET HEARING

The council held its first of two public hearings on a budget which will carry the city's business through a three-month interim period.

The city is changing its fiscal year to begin Oct. 1 instead of July 1, and an interim budget must be approved for the three-month period.

A second hearing will be held at a called meeting Monday evening, at which time the council is expected to approve the interim budget.

As explained at the first hearing, income during the three months will be $376,414, and expenses will be $387,525, with a carryover of $188,548 to start the new fiscal year. Part of the carryover is from uncompleted projects, such as paving, Mayor Johnny Crawford explained.

The new budget also calls for a five percent cost of living salary increase for all employees. Five positions will receive slightly greater percentage increases, to bring them up to minimum wage standard, Morath said.

Three members of the Parks Board were reappointed to new three-year terms. They are John Sibley and Mrs. Charlie Lee, both charter members, and James Owen.

In other business, the council took the following action:

- Approved a resolution to enter a contract for supplying of $5,776 worth of new traffic signs by the Office of Traffic Safety, with the city providing posts, clamps and installation.

- Approved the city joining with the Texas Municipal League in opposing the Texas Electric Company's increased rate proposal before the Public Utilities Commission, at a cost of $120 to the city.

- Approved payment of $19,152 from revenue sharing money for a new backhoe, which was recently purchased.

- Approved hiring a consulting firm to study a rate increase proposal by Lone Star Gas and to make recommendations to the council.

Those quarters you spend may really be dollars

Starting Monday, you're going to have to look, rather than feel, in your pocket or coin purse when you need change. What you might think is a quarter could well be the new silver dollar.

Banks throughout the United States will commence releasing the new Susan B. Anthony dollar Monday. The State National Bank has some $3,000 to put into circulation initially.

Weighing .3 of an ounce and measuring 1.03 inches in diameter, it is strikingly similar to the 25-cent coin. But it's worth a dollar.

Public Law 95-447, dated Oct. 10, 1978, authorized the issuance of the new coin, and it further provided that the minting of the Eisenhower circulating dollar coin be discontinued as of Dec. 31, 1978.

This is the first time that a portrait of an American woman, rather than a symbolic woman, has appeared on a circulating U.S. coin.

On the front side is a profile of Susan B. Anthony, who was born 1820 and died 1906. Miss Anthony was an early crusader for equal rights for women and a pioneer in the drive to win for women the right to vote. In 1920, her life-long work culminated in the ratification of the 19th Amendment to the Constitution giving nationwide suffrage to women.

The back side of the coin features the symbolic eagle of Apollo II landing on the moon. The Apollo spacecraft was christened "The Eagle" and landed on the moon at Tranquility Base on July 20, 1969.

In tribute to the first landing on the moon, the design originally appeared on the Eisenhower dollar coin (1971-1978) in accordance with provisions of Public Law 91-607, dated Dec. 31, 1970.

Both sides of the coin were designed by Frank Gasparro, chief engraver of the United States.

The Anthony dollar is a copper-nickel clad coin, as are all U.S. coins, valued at 10 cents or greater. It has an unique 11-sided border on both sides.

The coins are being minted in Philadelphia, Denver and San Francisco and distributed by the Federal Reserve Banks. The mint began production in December of 1978 in order to accumulate an inventory of 500-million coins prior to their release to local banks next week. Production will continue after release at the rate of 80-million per month.

The Treasurer Department claims that among the advantages of the coin, it can be used in vending machines to make direct purchases, thus reducing the need for bill changing.

A minimum of $4.5-million will be saved per year, according to the Treasury Department, since the old large Eisenhower dollar costs eight cents to produce and each new Anthony dollar costs only three cents to produce.

Additionally, any substitution of the dollar coin for the dollar bill will result in savings for private business as well as the Federal budget.

The dollar bill costs nearly 12 cents to produce and lasts some 18 months in circulation, frequently in bad shape. The new dollar coin will cost three cents to produce and will last 15 years or more in good condition.

But without looking at it, it could easily be mistaken for a 25-cent coin because of its size.

FUEL CRUNCH

Backyard holiday may be common

The family that spent July Fourth last year on some remote resort lake may wind up in the backyard with iced tea and hotdogs when the holiday rolls around next week.

Several service station operators here observe it as an excellent time to take a vacation while conserving gasoline supplies.

As far as fuel supplies look for the weekends that sandwich July fourth, the one on the tail end of June looks gloomy while the situation brightens for the first part of July when new monthly allocations begin arriving.

E&S Exxon will be closed July Fourth, and owner Jim Sargent expects his tanks to be empty before the end of the month.

He was expecting shipments yesterday and Friday, but even at that he anticipates to be out of fuel by Saturday.

Operating with 78 percent of the fuel that he received this time last year, Sargent hopes to have a good supply by the weekend following the holiday.

Ayres Fina will be closed July Fourth, according to manager Jim McGee. His station will not receive another shipment before the first of July.

McGee said he expects his station to have better supplies by the weekend following July Fourth.

Junior Collazo at Junior's Conoco isn't sure if he'll be open July Fourth or not, but he anticipates having good supplies both weekends that sandwich the holiday.

Iowa Park Gulf will be closed July Fourth, and for the weekends surrounding the holiday "it doesn't look too good," said manager Melvin Matthews.

Matthews said he has been having to close early in the afternoons because of short supplies.

Johnson Road Texaco plans to continue operating seven days a week including July Fourth, said LaJoyce Foster.

"As far as we know we're in fine shape and we don't anticipate any problems," she said.

All of the service stations here quizzed reported they had experienced at least spot shortages, averaging about a half of a day until new transports arrive.

One of the service station operators had a word of advice for consumers.

"Don't panic. Don't buy gas until you get down to a half of a tank or below," Sargent said.

REPAIRED BARRIERS, WITH LOCKS, TO STOP DRIVING ON LAKE DAMS
...city council sets $100 fine for violations

Fireworks are problem, even before July 4th

Iowa Park police are hoping for a quiet Fourth of July, however, they already have investigated several incidents of fireworks being exploded inside the city limits.

One of the reports was called into the police department yesterday morning. Officers found two youths tossing lighted firecrackers outside a bedroom window.

One of the youths wanted to know if his bedroom is inside the city limits.

In answer to his question, exploding fireworks inside the city limits is prohibited. That includes private property and bedrooms alike, and it doesn't take a lawyer to decipher the city ordinance governing the use of fireworks.

"It shall be unlawful for any person to sell, offer for sale or explode any type or kind of fireworks, including firecrackers, torpedoes, rockets, Roman candles and any other types of explosives commonly used for such purposes within the city," the ordinance states.

If found guilty of the offense, violators are likely to be fined $25.

In other police action officers investigated the burglary of a concession stand at the baseball field near the intersection of Washington and Bank. Kenn Kuckenbecker reported the burglary Monday.

After making a forced entry, burglars escaped with two boxes of candy and six soft drinks.

Last Friday police received a report from Roger Lynn Nolan, 700 W. Texas, that his pickup had been egged and two tires had been slashed.

Leader to print early next week

The Iowa Park Leader will publish a day early next week, due to July 4th holiday falling on the regular publication date.

Deadlines will be moved back 24 hours in order for the Leader to print Tuesday evening instead of Wednesday. The paper will be put on newsstands that are open for business Wednesday, and mail subscribers will receive their copies in the mail Thursday.

Display advertising and news deadline will be Monday afternoon for the edition, and classified advertising will be accepted until 10 a.m. Tuesday.

Anvil shoot set Wednesday

July 4th revelers who want more boom and excitement than a handful of firecrackers can supply, need only travel a few miles southeast of here to feel the earth shake and tremble.

Mrs. Don (Gayla) Daugherty will "shoot the anvil" for the public three times next Wednesday.

The Daugherty home is located on Peterson Road south of FM 367. It's just north of the Chaparral Baptist Assembly.

To shoot the anvil, Mrs. Daugherty places a mammoth railroad anvil on the ground, fills a small hole with gunpowder and spaces a smaller anvil over the charge.

Ignited by an electrical fuse, the explosion sends the smaller anvil sailing into the air.

Mrs. Daugherty's father began the unusual Fourth of July observance in 1963, and she has continued the practice the past six years.

Robertson-Wagoner vows recited in garden rites

The wedding of Miss Ruth Ann Robertson and David Price Wagoner was performed Saturday evening in the garden at the home of the bride's cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Gollehon in Wichita Falls.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Joe Robertson of Iowa Park and Mr. and Mrs. Robert "Hank" Wagoner of Wichita Falls.

The double-ring nuptials were officiated by the Rev. Delano Robertson of Sulphur Springs, cousin of the bride. The couple recited their vows before an arch covered with emerald flanked by stands holding mixed bouquets of roses, carnations, begonias and baby's breath. Seven-branched candelabra entwined with emerald holding white candles standing on either side of the floral arrangements and the kneeling bench completed the setting.

The bridal path was bordered with garlands of white silk ribbons draped over white newel posts accented with yellow and white silk bows. The chairs where relatives and guests sat were designated with white and yellow silk flowers, baby's breath, white wedding bells and matching silk ribbons.

The unity candle played a significant part in the scene and service. Fathers of the bride and groom lighted the two outer candles just before a recording of the Lord's Prayer was played. The bride and groom then used the tapers to light the center candle symbolizing that they, the offsprings of two different families, were joining together to become as one.

At the close of the ceremony, mothers of the couple were asked if they accepted the new member of the family. When they both responded "we do", the groom presented Mrs. Robertson with a long stem yellow rose and the bride gave Mrs. Wagoner an identical floral token.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a white Qiana gown fashioned with a Chantilly lace bodice, empire waistline, full skirt and a detachable scalloped-edged lace train. She chose a lace-covered white satin camelot cap to hold her shoulder length sheer veil and carried a lovely bouquet which was attractive with the prolific use of yellow roses supplemented with white carnations, baby's breath and cascading yellow and white silk ribbons.

To complete her bridal costume and to carry out traditions, she wore a pair of diamond earrings, a wedding gift from the groom, for "something new"; a jeweled hairpin that had belonged to her late great-grandmother for "something old". She used a Bible of Mrs. Royce Atchley's, the groom's sister, for "something borrowed", and adhered to the long-continued custom of wearing the blue garter and sixpence in her shoe.

Miss Betty Robertson, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor and Mrs. Robert Atchley, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid. They were attired in full length light yellow Qiana gowns with V-necks and front gathering that produced full skirts. Their bouquets consisted of the same flowers in the bride's bouquet styled on a smaller scale.

The groom wore a light yellow three-piece suit with a yellow rose and baby's breath boutonniere. His attendants and masculine participants in the wedding wore brown tuxedos. Richard Smith attended the groom as best man and Danny Lasseter was the groomsman. Danny Wagoner, brother of the groom and Phillip Martin were ushers.

Mothers of the bride and groom wore white carnations centered with pink rosebuds in corsages to enhance their long gowns. Mrs. Robertson chose a light pink Qiana dress topped with a lace cape and Mrs. Wagoner wore a salmon crepe dress.

The wedding reception, given by the bride's parents, was held on the patio at the Gollehon home.

The refreshment table was covered with white lace over white satin distinguished with a skirt swagged with yellow ribbons caught up with yellow bows. The centerpiece was created of yellow and white spider mums and fingertip candles. A bride and groom standing in front of an arch trimmed with yellow and white lace was the top ornament for the snowy three-tiered cake decorated with the prettiest of yellow frosting roses and lacing designs. Miss Pat Pohlman and Mrs. Pearl Wilson presided at the table.

The bride's book where guests registered was placed on a round table covered with white satin and lace with the addition of yellow ribbons and bows to follow the mode of the cover on the refreshment table. A bud vase filled with yellow roses and yellow net rice bags handed out by Joe-Joe Robertson, brother of the bride, Cory Wagoner and Bobby Slack, niece and nephew of the groom, appointed the table.

At the rehearsal dinner given Friday by the groom's parents at their home, the future bride and groom remembered each other with gifts and presented suitable gifts to their attendants. He gave her diamond earrings and she gave him a pair of boots. The bridal attendants were presented with gold bracelets and the groom's attendants received silver money clips.

The new Mrs. Wagoner was wearing a dark skirt with a dark satin shirt and peach-colored satin vest when the couple left the reception on a wedding trip to San Antonio. She is a student at Iowa Park High School. He was graduated from Iowa Park High School and is employed by Morris Plumbing Co. as a shop foreman. They will live in Iowa Park.

Attending the wedding from out-of-town were Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Clapp of Frederick, Okla., Mrs. Vera Howard of Henryetta, Okla., Jimmy Wilson, Mrs. Pearl Wilson and Mr. and Mrs. Steve Craft, all of Amarillo, and Mr. and Mrs. Gene Lowrance of Chico.

MRS. KENNETH HANK HARRELL

Wells-Harrell nuptials are exchanged recently

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Sammy Henderson was the setting for the June 16th wedding of Miss Gayla Lynn Wells and Kenneth Hank Harrell. The Rev. Miles Graham, pastor of First Baptist Church at Electra, performed the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Ronnie Hatcher of Iowa Park and J.C. Wells of Paducah, and the groom is the son of Mrs. Sue Ann Harrell of Wichita Falls and Frank Harrell of Orlando, Fla.

The couple stood before the fireplace in the living room for the recitation of their vows. The mantel was covered with flowering huckleberry and centered with two white china doves. Branched candelabra holding tall tapers stood on either side of the fireplace. The white-covered kneeling bench where the couple knelt for prayer and the unity candlestick decorated with baby's breath and white satin wedding bells provided further decorative interest.

which held her chapel illusion veil and she carried a spring bouquet with white satin ribbon streamers.

Mrs. Wayne Prine was matron of honor. She was attired in a long pink double knit gown with a V-neckline ruffled in lace and a lace-covered raised bodice. A self-fabric belt that circled the waistline above the A-line skirt tied in a bow with streamers in the back. She carried a long stem pink rose with matching ribbons. The groom and best man, Wayne Prine, wore white tuxedos, the groom wearing a white shirt and his attendant a pink shirt.

The bride will be a senior at Iowa Park High School next year. She has been active in girls athletics and FHA in high school. The groom attended school in Homestead, Fla. and was graduated from Rider High School where he played basketball. He is a mechanic at Holliday Auto Sales in Wichita Falls.

The swinging doors that opened into the dining room of the Henderson home for the postnuptial reception were decorated with large white satin bows centered with silver wedding bells, and the same ornamentation was suspended from the ceiling above the dining table.

The bridal white was emphasized in the cloth and centerpiece for the table. The cloth featured white net over white satin. A white satin ribbon at the top of the full gathered skirt was caught up at the front in a large bow. The centerpiece was formed of white roses in a crystal bowl flanked by white candles in crystal holders.

The three tiers of the white cake were separated with clear pillars and the frosting rosebuds on the sides provided soft contrast to the prevailing white theme. A bride and groom stood under a clear brandy snifter based with white doves for the top ornament. Charmagne Greenwood and Mrs. Tony Alexander served at the table.

Miss Cindy Wells, sister of the bride, directed signatures of guests in the bride's book at a table laid with white net brightened with pastel bows and an under-cover of yellow sheer. A spring bouquet and feather pen added further color to the table.

Miss Melissa Wells, another sister of the bride, handed out the pastel colored net rice bags during the reception. Other out-of-town relatives and guests included Mrs. Pierrette Lu Neau of Issaudun, France, the groom's grandmother, Mrs. Garvin Shawver of Electra and Mrs. George Wells of Bowie, grandmothers of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Mack Shawver of Electra, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Holder of Lake Kickapoo, Mrs. Frank Sosebee and Junior Harrell of Wichita Falls.

Four Chinese are visitors

Twenty eight members and eight guests attended the monthly dinner meeting of the Christian Workers Class of First United Methodist Church Thursday evening.

Hosts were Mr. and Mrs. George Trammell, Mrs. Effie Walsh and Miss Ethyle Kidwell.

Guests from Sheppard AFB were Major ChaoLiang Chu, Capt. Yin Chao, Capt. Fu Shing Lee and 1st Lt. Chia Chih Yeh, all from China. Rosemary Beck was the bus driver.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kibler were other guests and he presented the program for the evening on caves that he had visited in Texas and New Mexico. Using slides and narration of the caves located on government land where people have to obtain permission to visit them, he pictured the unusual formations and beautifully-colored plants that were to be found below the earth's surface.

Herman Mahler held a brief business meeting. Mr. and Mrs. George Warner who are moving to another city were presented with a memory book from the class.

"Power does not corrupt men; fools, however, if they get into a position of power, corrupt power." G. B. Shaw

Mrs. J.C. Wells, pianist, played a medley of wedding selections for prelude music and the traditional marches. The bride's father gave her in marriage. Her formal gown was fashioned of white organza enhanced with Chantilly lace that covered the empire bodice, formed the cuffs of the long sheer sleeves and ornamented the full skirt that drifted into a chapel length train. For her headpiece she wore a Juliet cap of lace

District meeting is hosted here

The District VI meeting of Epsilon Sigma Alpha was held in Iowa Park Sunday and hosted by Epsilon Eta chapter at the Recreational Activity Center.

"Herb Garden", the theme of the meeting, was observed in the decorations for the tables for the noon meal served by the Mule-Skinners. Covered with red and white checked gingham cloths, they were appointed with miniature picket fences decked with English ivy and small red bows.

The registration table where Mrs. Kenzie Jones and Mrs. Roy Johnson presided, was also covered with red and white checked gingham and held a candle arrangement for the centerpiece.

Mrs. Allen Gilstrap, Epsilon Eta president, welcomed sorority sisters from 11 chapters, and a special guest, Carlene Aiken of San Antonio, state president.

During the awards presentation, Epsilon Eta received first place on rushing and tied with two other chapters for the first place on the history. The local chapter received second place on the yearbook and third place on scrapbook.

Brenda Newsoon from the Alpha Tau chapter in Quanah was winner of the goodie basket.

Fifty-four were in attendance.

Inflation affects your electric bill even more than your grocery bill.

Every time you go to the grocery store you can see what inflation's doing to your food bill. But because you don't buy electricity by the can, you probably don't realize how inflation affects the cost of electricity.

Fuel costs are up, particularly natural gas. Equipment costs are up. Power lines, transformers and poles cost us more every day. Just like milk costs you more every day.

The millions of dollars we must borrow to build plants to ensure your electricity needs in the future are costing us more.

The cost of building these plants is higher, too, because of inflation. And because of the time and money it takes to comply with an ever-increasing number of government regulations. The longer it takes to build, the more inflation takes its toll. Inflation, overregulation and rising fuel costs are all making your electricity cost you more. But by using electricity wisely you can do your part in keeping that cost down in your home.

At Texas Electric, we want you to know what you're paying for.

How to get more capital from SNB

(It's as easy as one, two.)

one

Simply open an individual or commercial savings account at State National Bank. Because starting July 1, SNB will begin paying 5 1/4 % higher than we were previously permitted to pay you. And that's a nice boost for your savings dollars. That's more capital from SNB. But that's not all.

two

New four-year Money Market Certificates of Deposit will also be available at SNB on July 1. Available from $1,000, these special four-year non-negotiable CD's will bear an interest rate of 1 1/4 % below the average four-year yield for U.S. Treasury securities. The rate is determined by the Treasury and will be announced three business days prior to the first of each month. It will be effective for the full month. And it will not change during the period the deposit is outstanding. Any of our personal bankers will be glad to quote you the effective rate beginning June 27. As with all CDs, a substantial interest penalty is required for early withdrawal. So to get the best for your savings, bring your capital to SNB. We're all you need.

Evening Lions Club holds installation

The Evening Lions Club observed Ladies Night at an installation dinner held Tuesday at Holiday Inn Downtown in Wichita Falls. The meeting closed the year under the presidency of Wayne House when Sid Grant was installed as the new president.

A musical program presented by Ricky Blair, who played the vibraphone, Jan and Lynn McDaniel, pianists, the latter also a vocalist, and the installation ceremony by Dr. D.L. Ligon, past governor of Dist. 2 E1, were highlights of the meeting.

The retiring president acted as emcee. Sam Hunter introduced guests and gave a short resume of the year's activities preceding the meal. Rev. Mike Jackson offered the invocation.

The head table was centered with a bouquet of yellow roses, blue irises, pampas grass and stock and the other tables were decorated with yellow carnations in white milk glass bud vases. Each lady was presented with a yellow carnation corsage.

Following the meal, special recognition was given to Robin Doan, who the club sponsored in District Queen competition where she won first place and went on to be named second runner up in state. Mrs. G.L. McWilliams, club sweetheart, and Mrs. Homer Blalock, reporter. Each was presented with a gift.

In addition to wives and sweethearts of the members, other guests were the Rev. Clyde Markee, president of the Noon Lions Club, and Mrs. Markee, Mrs. Margaret Carter, Mr. and Mrs. George Blackwell and G.L. McWilliams.

Faith Baptist calls pastor

The Rev. Ken Cole, who is at present the pastor of First Baptist Church at Celeste, has accepted a call to become pastor of Faith Baptist Church in Iowa Park and will begin his service July 29.

He was graduated from Wayland Baptist University at Plainview and the Southwestern Seminary at Fort Worth. His wife, Roberta, is a registered nurse. They have three children, Sherrie 14, Robert 10, and Michael 9.

The church has been without a pastor since April 1 when the Rev. Bill Campbell accepted a call to the First Baptist Church at Dublin. The pulpit committee was composed of John Rentschler, Hoyt Watson, Les Curry, James Gilmore and L.F. Balch.

Pair recount Nigeria trip

Mrs. Roy B. Smith gave a report on her trip to Nigeria, Africa this spring when she and Mrs. W.A. George visited their children, Rev. and Mrs. Larry George and children there, for the Alathean Class of First Baptist Church at a luncheon Tuesday.

Mrs. Harold Lewis of Anchorage, Alaska and the Rev. Hal Farnsworth were visitors. Sixteen members and one bridge builder were present.

For almost 200 years a festival called the Fiesta of the Radishes has been held each December 23 in Oaxaca, Mexico.

Cook of the Week

This is the perfect time of year to pay tribute to the vegetables with so many different fresh ones growing so profusely in gardens all around. The consensus of most people is that nothing tastes quite so good as fresh vegetables.

It isn't difficult to understand why vegetarianism has appealed to such notables as Plato, Diogenes and others in times past and Dr. Reuben D. Mussey, Rev. Sylvester Graham and J.H. Kellogg in the U.S.

Vegetables can be prepared in so many inspirational ways and most of them are versatile. Mrs. Philip Welch reminds us today that spinach can be prepared in different ways. The leafy vegetable has been grown for a long time. It traveled from Iran with the Moors to Spain, then to the gardens of Europe and eventually to America.

Mr. and Mrs. Welch and their two children have lived in Iowa park three weeks. He is the State Farm agent here and she is serving as his secretary at the present time. Their children are Jennifer 7 and Jason 6. They are Baptists.

Ruth Welch was graduated from Crowell High School and a business college. She attended the University of Texas at Arlington. While the family lived in that city, she did volunteer kindergarten and first grade work in the elementary school system. She has worked as secretary for the director of Public Relations at Trinity University in San Antonio and for an insurance company in Fort Worth.

She listed sewing, different kinds of handwork, golf and fishing as her hobbies.

CHARLIE BROWN

A sharp man at his hobby

By LEWIS SIMMONS
 If Charlie Brown had been born 200 years ago his best customer would have worn buckskins with a knife in his belt and a .50 caliber Hawkin rifle cradled in his arms. Fortunately for Brown that image still attracts many men, although today's outdoorsman is more likely to be outfitted in clothes by Eddie Bauer with a Buck knife on his belt and a Winchester rifle cradled in his arms. Brown is a maker of custom knives. "Most men, you wave a handmade custom knife in front of them and they just go bananas," Brown said.

KNIFEMAKER CHARLIE BROWN
 ...Different stages of production

Working in his cluttered workshop-garage at 1019 Van Horn, Brown turns out handmade knives that can stir the emotions of men and boys. He gets his "jollies" shaping steel and brass into cutlery some customers wouldn't risk taking into the field any more than a coin collector would risk carrying a Spanish doubloon in the same pocket with loose change. Brown doesn't fret the idea of his knives winding up in shadow boxes for display, but he likes to cater to outdoorsmen who use his knives on deer, dove, quail and fishing outings. Brown, who works in production control at Siemens-Allis, made his first knife when he was 14. It was during his growing up years in Dalhart that a neighborhood railroad man whetted his appetite. "I just went crazy over that stuff, so he started letting me make a few," Brown recalled. "I fiddled around with it through high school and quit when I was in college." He holds a bachelor's in business from Abilene Christian College. He began making knives again about five years ago. When pressed for an answer as to how many knives he has made, Brown shrugged his shoulders and gazed at the ceiling. "About 150 or something like that," he said. Brown said he pursues knifemaking for fun and profit. "Mostly it's fun for me. It pays for my equipment, and I buy a few guns. But it's still just a hobby to me," Brown said. Ironically, Brown possesses few finished knives. He has a favorite short blade hunter he carries hunting and fishing. The other knives he keeps are first line designs or have some sentimental value. Most of his work today is filling custom orders. "In fact, that's just about the size of it any more. I've got several orders backed up now for Christmas, birthdays and what have you," Brown said. With $10 to $15 in materials going into the average knife, Brown hesitated to say what he charges for his knives. He is quick to admit he's not the best in the business where "the sky's the limit on what you can charge." Depending on the knife-maker and his reputation, some custom designs can go for as much as $150 to $200. His avocation has expanded in lucrativity because of a growing demand for custom, quality goods. Being an avid outdoorsman, Brown knows the punishment some equipment is subject to, although the thought of someone using a knife for a screwdriver makes him wince. Brown begins each knife with a section of high quality stainless steel. Using a bandsaw and bench grinder, the basic form emerges. The bench grinder and various grades of grit paper are used to style the blade's hollow grind. Guards are made from brass and handles from anything ranging from stag horns to mesquite wood. He can complete a small knife in about five hours. Larger knives take about two hours longer to produce. He also makes leather sheathes to fit each knife. Perhaps surprisingly, Brown is not stingy about sharing his talent. Sponsored by the Recreation Activity Center here, Brown is teaching a group of men the trade. Probing for a reaction to the analogy of what his customers would have been like 200 years ago, Brown said it is a humbling thought considering the technology, tools and high quality steel available to knifemakers today. "The knives being made today are the best the world's ever seen. But don't kid yourself because you can go to a museum and see some fine knives," Brown said.

As I See It....

Comments of Reginald Whitman, chairman of the board and chief executive officer of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railroad, Friday morning in Austin couldn't have come at a better time nor meant more to the audience. He was speaking at the 100th summer meeting of the Texas Press Association. Traffic on Interstate 35 in front of the Marriott Hotel, where the convention was held, was noticeably lighter than in other times, due to the lack of gasoline, and the morning newspaper was full of headlines about food shortages and all related problems caused by the independent truckers' strike. The railroads are far from going out of business, he said, eventhough some of the smaller lines have fallen by the wayside and the government is offering the only passenger service on the railways. It was interesting to note that, according to the speaker's figures, the railroads consume less than one percent of the energy used in the United States. In fact, the percentage is very near petroleum used in manufacturing plastics, seven tenths of one percent. And in response to criticism of railroad rates, Whitman pointed out the charge by his company for hauling coal is 11 mills, or one and one-tenth cent, per ton per mile. By my calculations, that certainly sounds reasonable. But while he was talking, I couldn't help recalling an observation I made a few years back, when it became obvious that the trucking industry was taking over the larger percentage of freight hauling from the railroads. I said then that some major problems would come of it, though I was thinking more of people and unions rather than fuel. And trouble we've got. It's hard to believe that people like independent truckers would be so militant as we are hearing about. Certainly none of the many truckers we have living in Iowa Park would turn to shooting other truckers, or burning their vehicles, or fighting with police, or trying to cause working truckers to have wrecks. Those are union goon tactics, and they have no place in our society. That kind of person belongs behind bars, rather than behind a steering wheel. The militant among the independent truckers are fighting to have their way, and it makes no difference how many millions of business dollars, or salaries of working people, are lost. Nor does it bother them that people, especially in the major cities, are soon to be without food and even fuel. From the stories I've read, what the truckers want is a faster minimum speed, more fuel at lower price, and less government interference. Please tell me how one can have less government interference if speed restrictions and fuel allocations at certain prices are to be obtained? Oh, well! I guess we needed something like this. It gets old complaining about the weather.

Trustees accept gym bids

School trustees, meeting in a called session Thursday evening, accepted the two low bids for construction of a second gymnasium at the high school campus. They approved the $181,572 from St. Den Hart Inc. to build the steel structure and a $32,119 bid from Marvin Groves Electric Co. to do the electrical work. One provision was placed on the electrical contract. The firm must provide a performance bond before the deal is consummated. When bids were opened a week earlier, trustees were elated with the figures they saw. The total of the two low bids, $213,691, was less than the second lowest bid just for the steel building without electrical work. And it was some $70,000 lower than the lone bid submitted the first time bids were sought. Also bringing elation, besides the money, was the time element offered by the contractors, who said they would have the structure completed on or shortly after the opening of school for the fall semester. Though the gymnasium will not be completed for varsity basketball games this season, it will be suitable for physical education classes, which was the primary purpose of the second gymnasium according to school spokesmen.

Shower fetes bride elect

Artistic decorations inspired by the colors of blue, yellow and white for a prenuptial shower Monday evening feted Miss Kathy Hines were characterized by freshness, delicacy and beauty.

The party took place in the home of Mrs. Bill Curry for the young lady who will become the bride of Mark Simons August 11 at First Baptist Church.

Composing the list of co-hostesses were Mmes. Clyde Patterson, Wayne Williams, Glen Miller, John Cummings, John Brown, Joe Ward, Pete Hughes, Gilbert Mueller, Eddie Sasser, Robert McIlroy, Alton Hunter and James Adams.

The colors chosen by Miss Hines for her wedding were first noted in corsages that she and her mother, Mrs. Ken Hines, and the future groom's mother, Mrs. John Simons Jr., of Artesia, N.M. were pinned with upon arrival at the party.

The honoree's corsage consisted of yellow and white daisies, white silk leaves and net poufs accented with a jeweled blue butterfly. The mothers' corsages were formed of yellow and white daisies and blue silk leaves.

Bouquets of yellow daisies were placed at vantage points in the spacious den where Miss Hines received guests and opened her handsome assortment of gifts for display. These were shown on long tables covered with white linen cloths bordered with wide embroidered lace and decorated with white pillar candles encircled with yellow daisies.

The refreshment table in the living room was keynoted by beautiful simplicity. Covered with a white embroidered cutwork cloth over blue linen, the floral appointment featured white daisies, yellow candytuft arranged in a blue bowl. The crystal serving dishes, blue bridal napkins, and refreshments repeating blue and yellow hues added the finishing touches to the decor.

Mrs. Clyde Hines of Vernon, grandmother of the bride-elect, Mrs. Ella Simons and Mrs. Emma Monschke of Artesia, N.M., grandmothers of the future groom, were among the special guests.

Mildew can ruin new paint

Remove all signs of mildew from a home before painting -- or expect the mildew to "come through" the new paint in a few days or weeks.

To remove mildew, use a water-based solution of tri-sodium phosphate, chlorine bleach and detergent -- readily available from paint stores, lumber yards, hardware stores and grocery stores.

Chlorine bleach kills mildew spores and lifts out stubborn stains, while tri-sodium phosphate cleans and "roughs up" the original paint surface so new paint will adhere.

Detergent helps clean, too, and it keeps the other two ingredients in contact with the old-paint surface for even more effective cleaning action.

Here's the formula: one gallon water, one cup tri-sodium phosphate, one cup chlorine bleach and one-fourth cup detergent.

Apply this solution to the old-paint surface with a long-handled brush that has stiff fiber or plastic bristles. Use a vigorous rubbing action.

Wear rubber gloves and other protective gear to avoid contact with the skin, since the solution can cause severe skin irritation.

Start at the top of an exterior wall and work down.

Scrub a five to six-foot area at a time, then rinse well with a high-pressure nozzle attached to a garden hose.

Let the cleaned surface dry completely before applying new paint. Then paint immediately to prevent new mildew growth.

If mildew removal alone is the plan, with no new painting job set for the near future, use the same solution -- but omit the tri-sodium phosphate.

Follow the same steps and take the same precautions, since many persons are sensitive to chlorine bleach.

Change of command Tuesday at SAFB

A formal change of command ceremony is scheduled for 4:30 p.m., Tuesday when Major General Robert W. Bazley becomes commander of Sheppard Technical Training Center.

Bazley will succeed Major General Charles L. Donnelly Jr., who departs July 4 for an assignment as chief, U.S. Military Training Mission, Saudi Arabia.

General Bennie L. Davis, Air Training command commander, is scheduled to officiate at the ceremony. A formal parade is set to follow the change of command.

Bazley comes to Sheppard from 13 months as commander of the Air Force inspection and Safety Center at Norton Air Force Base, Calif., and deputy inspector general for inspection and safety with the Office of the Inspector General, U.S. Air Force.

The 53-year old general was assistant for readiness and inspector general for Headquarters, United States Air Forces in Europe at Ramstein Air Base, Germany, for three years before going to Norton.

A veteran of both the Korean and Vietnam Wars, General Bazley has more than 4,000 hours flying time both as a navigator and pilot. He flew 50 combat sorties in Korea as a navigator and 257 missions in Vietnam.

He commanded both the 38th and 323rd Flying Training Wings during the early 1970s. The 38th is at Laredo Air Force Base, Texas, while the 323rd is at Mather Air Force Base, Calif.

Other assignments during the general's diversified career include two tours in England with tactical fighter wings; recruiting duty in his hometown of Pittsburgh; staff officer with the commandant of cadets at the Air Force Academy, Colo.; and nearly four years at the Pentagon, both with U.S. Air Force headquarters and the organization of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Married to the former Dolores B. Belin, the couple have four children: Sherry

Ann Martin, Barbara Lynn Murphy, William and Thomas.

CARD OF THANKS
 We wish to express our thanks to everyone who was so kind and sympathetic during the passing of our loved one. The food, flowers and prayers, the beautiful service conducted by the Rev. Gil Peters, the beautiful music at the funeral and the kindness of the pallbearers will forever be remembered. May the best things in life be yours as our wish for all who have been so gracious to us.
 Mr. & Mrs. Leon Shewmake and the Joe Clark Family.

Sports instruction clinics set

BASKETBALL
Two week-long basketball day camps will be offered at Iowa Park High gymnasium in July. Keith Barrick's Red River Basketball Camp will be open two weeks. The first session, July 9-13, is almost filled according to Barrick, and the second session will be July 16-20. The camps are open to boys and girls ages 8-16 and not a member of a high school varsity team, according to University Interscholastic League rules. Fee for each session is $25. Instruction will be by Barrick, Iowa Park varsity coach, and Steve Parr. Highlights, other than instruction and play, include practice ball to take home, camp tee shirt, highlight films of professional and college teams, and recreational activity.

TENNIS
An adult tennis clinic will be offered in Iowa Park for the first time, according to Dick Wineinger. Instruction will be offered to adults, from beginners to advanced players, by Jon Brotherton and Jane Tucker of Wichita Falls, for a $15 fee. To be held July 9-13 at the high school courts, classes will be from 6:30 into 7:30 in the evenings. Those wishing to register can contact Wine-inger at 855-4390 or 592-9441.

LIFE SAVING
Registration is now underway for a 21-hour Red Cross advanced life saving course, to be given at Bicentennial Swimming Pool. To begin July 16, a two-hour session will be held each morning starting at 8. To be eligible, a student must be at least 15 years of age and a competent swimmer, according to Dick Wineinger. Pool usage fee of $15 will be charged, but it will include a manual and materials required for the course.

Assistant city secretary hired

A new assistant city secretary was hired last Thursday in an emergency meeting of the Holliday City council. The council voted to hire Alpha Holton to fill the vacancy. After a discussion of water runoff on Cedar Street, the council voted to install two four-foot flumes and have the street paved by the county. Councilmen voted to purchase a new motor for the trash truck from Bill Bates Chevrolet and approved the purchase of a new muffler for the dump truck. Repairs to the city pickup's radio were approved. Don Pennington, police chief, reported letters concerning junk vehicles would be ready to be mailed yesterday.

Judy Aulds wins contest

Judy Aulds, a senior at Iowa Park High School, was crowned the new Wichita County Farm Bureau queen during ceremonies Saturday night.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Aulds, the new queen will represent Wichita County in district competition in August. Judged on poise, personality and appearance, Miss Aulds gained the honor from a field of six contestants.

Runner-up was Mickie Gregg, a junior at Iowa Park High School and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H.K. Gregg of Iowa Park.

Other entrants were Holley Hughes, Jill Watts, and Tammie Robertson, all of Iowa Park, Lauralee Wallace of Wichita Falls.

Miss Aulds, who is active in band and choir at IPHS, was crowned the new Wichita County Farm Bureau queen by last year's queen, Darlene Mahler.

The Wichita County Farm Bureau talent find contest was held in conjunction with the queen contest, and Miss Mahler, a singer, was selected to represent the county at the August district competition. The comedy singing team of Jill Watts and Tammy Robertson of Iowa Park was named runner-up in the talent find.

Other talent find contestants were Holley Hughes and Lauralee Wallace. Fred Dwyer, Wichita County Farm Bureau president, gave the welcome at the ceremonies staged in the fellowship hall of the First Christian Church here.

Pianist was Mrs. Raymond Schroeder of Burkburnett. Master of ceremonies was Jim Russell, program director for KLUR radio. Winners of the district contests where Miss Aulds and Miss Gregg will be competing will receive an all-expense paid trip to the Texas Farm Bureau convention in December.

Iowa Parkans cross fingers for Miss Texas contestant

A large delegation of Iowa Parkans will be sitting in the Tarrant County Convention Center in Fort Worth next week, with their fingers crossed. They'll be there supporting Janet Lax, Miss Wichita County, in the Miss Texas Pageant.

Though the 19-year-old is a Burkburnett resident, she's still the product of the contest initiated last February by the Iowa Park Optimist Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Danny Parkerson are her managers, and several members and their families from the Optimist Club will be joining Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Lax and others in supporting the first Miss Wichita County in the state competition.

Miss Lax, a sophomore speech and hearing therapy major at Midwestern State Univ., has been preparing since February for the Fort Worth event, which begins Sunday and continues through the following Saturday night.

She's been lifting weights, exercising, tanning, rehearsing, keeping up with current events and other physical and mental exercises, according to Parkerson. She will be singing "New York, New York" with the full Texas Pageant Orchestra Wednesday night when she competes in the talent portion. Thursday will be swimsuit competition, and Friday she'll be modeling in an evening gown.

The top 10 will compete again in all categories in the finals Saturday night.

For winning the Miss Wichita County Pageant, Miss Lax was presented a $750 college scholarship, a $500 wardrobe and numerous other prizes.
