Council disagrees on selling water

Iowa Park city aldermen will be asked to vote again at their next meeting on a proposal to sell water to a location not inside the city limits.

Council members approved, on a 3-2 vote, Monday night to sell water to Harvey Eaton.

Eaton has purchased a building and land on West Highway which is entirely encircled by the city, but which has never been annexed into the city.

The city council has held a policy of not selling water to any tract immediately joining the city, without it first annexing into the city. But three members Monday night voted not to adhere to that policy, in Eaton's case, and voted for his appeal for water.

Mayor Johnny Crawford said yesterday morning that he had verbally notified each member of the council, as well as Eaton, that he was exercising his right under state statutes to withhold extending the service until the council met again and voted once more on the issue.

Crawford cited his reason as "There possibly may exist a conflict of interest by one of the council members."

Originally built and occupied a number of years as a home, the 902 W. Highway location was sold and used as a used car sales lot. It is located between Ken's Pizza and Cabe's.

Through the years, all the property surrounding the tract has been annexed into the city, though owners of the property have never petitioned to join the city.

Eaton recently purchased the tract. Johnny Lee, who is a real estate salesman, handled the transaction. Lee is also a member of the city council, and voted along with Billy Gilmore and George Hammonds to sell water to the new owner. Lita

Watson and Bud Adams voted against the proposal.

Eaton, appearing before the council Monday, explained his property had been served in the past by city water, but was not hooked up on the sewer line. When he bought the property, he felt he would receive water whether he came into the city or not.

A resident of Iowa Park 25 years, Eaton said, he wanted to park his oil well pulling rig on his new property, build a shop, and possibly live there in the future.

Whether he could have the property zoned, once he came into the city, for use as he planned was another subject of discussion between Eaton and members of the council. Crawford said he was concerned for the surrounding residential owners if the property were used for parking and working of oil field equipment.

The next meeting of the city council is scheduled for Sept. 24.

FIRST HOME GAME

Hawk-Eagle clash Friday

Iowa Park's Hawks have had little time to think about their successful season opener at Bowie last week, because they are facing another toughie tomorrow night.

Coach Tommy Watkins' crew hosts the Decatur Eagles in Hawk Stadium at 8 p.m. for the season's opener at home.

Both teams will be undefeated for the season when they clash, both having scored impressive victories in their openers.

The Hawks were taking measure, 21-0, of the touted Bowie Jackrabbits. Saturday night, Decatur came from behind, scoring all their points in the fourth period, to defeat a fine Fort Worth Nolan High by a 20-14 margin.

Nolan, a Catholic school, has some 900 students enrolled.

The Eagles are much like they were last year, personnel and ability-wise. "They have good quickness, good over-all backs, well-coached offensively and defensively," said Head Hawk Watkins.

The Iowa Park mentor says he feels the Eagles are a better team than they were last year.

If they are, that could spell some problems for the Hawks, if they should take Decatur lightly. Of course, the Hawks are better than they were last year, also.

Eventhough Iowa Park shut out Decatur 12-0 last year, it still was not an easy win. The Hawks won the battle of statistics by a very wide margin, such as 298 yards rushing to only 22 for the Eagles, but Decatur was still able to hold down the score.

Three of Iowa Park's main starters were having their physical problems early this week. Tackles Tommy Ross and Billy Maupin had muscle problems, Ross from the Bowie game and Maupin from straining during out-of-school work. And wide receiver Robert Hastings felt badly enough he sought the help of a doctor Wednesday.

Watkins wasn't at all complimentary about Tuesday's workout, either. He said the junior varsity gave the varsity a pretty bad time during a scrimmage session.

But the players will be out in uniform tomorrow night, Watkins is confident. Only on the field will he find out how they really feel and how much they want to win.

HAWK POWER SWEEP - Tail back Troy Thompson follows the blocking of tackle Tommy Ross to Bowie's two yard line late in the second quarter of Friday's season opener. The Hawks scored their second touchdown of the evening on the next play. Iowa Park defeated the touted Jackrabbits, 21-0, in the non-conference clash.

Parade entries are sought

Variety and entertainment should be the keynote of this year's Iowa Park High School homecoming parade, which was the reason the sponsoring Student Council adopted the television show title "Almost Anything Goes" as this year's parade theme.

Entries are now being registered at the high school principal's office for the Sept. 28 event, according to Jeff Shaw, Student Council president.

The parade, which will start at 4:30 p.m. from the junior high and wind its way through the business district before ending at Park West Shopping Center, will precede the Iowa Park-Jacksboro football game.

An entry fee of $5 will be charged for all non-school related groups, according to Shaw, who said they want everyone participating with floats, cars, bicycles, horses, and marchers, because "almost anything goes."

A cash prize for the best entries will be awarded.

Shaw also said the Student Council has decided not to hold a bonfire the night before the homecoming football game "because this early in the year, it would probably be too hot to enjoy."

Instead, the organization is planning a town-wide pep rally, similar to one held in 1972 for the big game with Brownwood. A bonfire is planned before the final season game against Vernon, Shaw said.

Student projects, trips approved by trustees

Approving fund-raising projects proposed by students posed little problem for the Iowa Park school board Tuesday night, but trustees had to do some studying before they approved one of the trips submitted for their consideration.

A proposal for the high school choir to hold a whirlwind, three-day candle sale to raise money for new risers was approved after Janet Walker, director, said the project was no-risk to school finances and "very little detriment to the community."

The teacher said the old risers were unsafe, after many years of use, to the larger high school students, but could be used, after minor repair, by the smaller junior high students. She said new steel risers would cost approximately $1,200.

Board members also approved all trips proposed for vocational agriculture students, as well as the class's annual fruit sale this winter.

The trips are all competition ventures, it was explained, except one. But when it was explained that a trip to Brownwood is the only one proposed each year for ornamental horticulture students, trustees agreed to permit it.

There was some question, however, on whether to permit the pep squad to attend the football game next week at Dallas.

Trustees, going into the year, had expressed the high cost of student travel to extracurricular events, but they had not considered the Dallas trip until the subject was brought out at the Tuesday meeting.

After a lengthy discussion of what time school would be dismissed in order for the number of buses to be available to carry football players, band members and the pep squad on such a lengthy trip, trustees approved the proposal "if the trip can be made without the organizations not missing any more school than the rest of the student body."

Board members also nixed a suggestion of hiring bus drivers for the Dallas trip to relieve the two band directors, who traditionally drive buses carrying band members.

Three teachers and three teacher aides for the West Wichita Co-op were given official approval to be hired, even though they were already at work.

Hired were teachers Carol Edwards, Iowa Park, Gloria Laveland, Valley View, and Stanley Willman, Electra; and aides Jackie Cranford, Electra, Claudie Honeycutt and Jimmie Phillips, Iowa Park.

Supt. Faris Nowell told board members student enrollment continues to rise since the first week of school, and he was aware of a few more students who were to start here during the next couple of weeks.

He said enrollment as of Tuesday was 1,893, up from the 1,862 counted the second day of school, but still down slightly from the 1,910 students who started at the opening of the 1978-79 school year.

Trustees are expected to approve a new school policy at the next meeting, after the policy is drafted to members' liking, which would require all administration and supervisory personnel to reside within the school district.

The policy will have a grandfather clause which would not include any personnel presently residing outside the district when new contracts are extended.

Members agreed with a suggestion by Trustee Roy Boutwell that an ambulance should be standing by at a local football stadium whenever a game was in progress. They wanted more information as to cost before voting on the proposal, however.

Boutwell explained his concern for an Electra player who was injured at Hawk Stadium the previous Thursday, and said he felt an ambulance should be here for all games.

The board took no formal action to join a county-wide tax appraisal district, which was mandated during the last session of the state legislature.

Trustees were told by Bill Steger, tax assessor/collector, that action was not actually needed, because the district's entering the county-wide district would be automatic in 1981.

Steger said he had no recommendation as to whether to take the action or not, explaining his only concern was who would be in charge of the county district once it was formed. As to joining now, he said there was no benefit either way.

OTHER BUSINESS

In other business, the city council passed an ordinance granting Texas Electric Service Company a 2.74 percent rate increase, approved a bid for radio equipment to be installed in all city vehicles, and named themselves as the board of adjustments.

Texas Electric had filed for a system-wide rate increase of 16.1 percent, giving the utility company approximately $87-million additional revenue per year.

The ordinance grants a 2.74 percent, which reportedly would produce an additional $14,558,000 new money system-wide.

Since the ordinance does not charge, it calls for TESCO to provide a rate schedule within 20 days of final passage of the ordinance. No representative of the utility company was present to comment on the ordinance.

The city received three bids on radio equipment for all city vehicles, and accepted the low bid of General Electric for $7,085. One other bid was lower, but did not include all the equipment in the specifications. The other bid, from A.J. Communications, was for $8,156.

Mayor Crawford appointed all city aldermen to serve on the board of adjustments, as recommended by the Planning and Zoning Commission. The board is to hear appeals from persons not satisfied with findings of the Planning and Zoning Commission, it was explained.

During a general discussion period, aldermen were given a progress report on demolition work on dilapidated structures, and paving work in Colonial Heights. Members instructed Steve Morath, city administrator, to draft a tentative lease agreement for Billy James to lease city-owned land behind his place of business.

Sheriff gives Lions' program

John Gibson, Wichita County sheriff, and Bill Burrow, a deputy, presented the program for the Evening Lions Club Tuesday. They gave a demonstration of the mimic machine, the department's latest piece of equipment which has proved to be a valuable tool in their department, according to the sheriff.

Gibson stressed the importance of one being very observant of his attacker noticing his height, weight, hair, eyes, nose and mouth. The men demonstrated the building of a picture of the assailant through the information given by the victim. The $3500 machine has already enabled the sheriff's department to identify and arrest two assailants within the four months that it has been in use.

R.E. Waters was program chairman and introduced the men.

United Way campaign gets kickoff today

Iowa Park, Burkburnett and Wichita Falls volunteers will kickoff the annual United Way Campaign to raise over a million dollars today at noon in Wichita Falls.

The two-month long drive will solicit funds from businesses and company employees to fund 33 agencies in the three-city area. The goal for the 1979 drive is $1,314,500.

Justice of the Peace R.L. "PeeWee" Stewart and his western band will start the festivities.

Dale Terry, administrative assistant in charge of Public Affairs for the Texas State Department of Highways and Public Transportation in Wichita Falls, will be master of ceremonies.

Rev. Lamoin Champ, Burkburnett Campaign Chairman and minister of the Burkburnett First Baptist Church, will deliver the invocation.

Tom Locke, campaign chairman for the annual event, will make introductions with the "keynote" talk to be given by Dr. Morris Chapman, minister of the First Baptist Church in Wichita Falls.

Bob Schleider, vice-chairman of the general campaign, is in charge of the kickoff events.

Iowa Park's campaign will be in full swing following the kickoff under the leadership of Keith Aulds. Others heading divisions for the year locally are Dr. Carter Pirkle, Professional, David Parkey, Advance Gifts, Vern Horsky, Major Firms, Steve Morath, Public Employees and Bill Steger, Metro.

Brown-Hartgrove vows are recited here Friday

Nuptial rites of impressive solemnity and dignity were performed Friday evening to unite Miss Patricia Ann Brown and Scott Edward Hartgrove.

The ceremony took place in the Church of God with a host of relatives and friends witnessing the recitation of marriage lines by the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerald Brown and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Hartgrove. The Rev. W.F. Williams was the officiating minister.

The sanctity of the occasion was enhanced by the tasteful beauty in altar decorations which spotlighted a white wrought-iron arch festooned with garlands of boxwood greenery. White orange blossoms were scattered throughout the greenery, and hovering at the center top were two large white feathered doves backgrounded with a big white satin bow and cascading wedding bells.

A votive brass arch candelabra behind the arch and seven-branched votive candelabra at rostrum extremities, each appointment entwined with the chosen foliage, provided the only illumination for the wedding.

The setting was completed with the unity candlestick entwined with boxwood in the lower altar. At the close of the ceremony, the bride and groom lit the significant candle attesting to their intention of being devoted exclusively to each other until separated by death.

Mrs. Arnold McDuffie of Wichita Falls, organist, offered a prenuptial concert which included favorite wedding songs. She accompanied Robin Fox, vocalist, who sang "Evergreen" and "Wedding Song" and played the traditional processional by Wagner and Mendelssohn's recessional.

The bridal path leading to the altar was marked with white satin pew bows. The bride was escorted by her father who, answering for both parents, presented her in marriage.

Simple elegance was the gown designed of ivory organza accented with Alencon lace and pearls that the bride chose for her wedding. The gown was fashioned with a slightly raised bodice featuring a sheer yoke, high neck enriched with lace appliques, and cap sleeves. Appliques of the exquisite lace were strewn over the full skirt lending themselves beautifully to the wide encircling rows of lace and the self-plaited ruffle that formed a chapel length train.

A small pillbox cap covered in lace and pearls and accented with a lace flower held the bride's waltz veil of bridal illusion with pencil edging, giving added beauty to her costume. She carried a cascade of white roses, white daisies, stephanotis and silk gardenias attached to a needlepointed Bible, handiwork of Mrs. David Gilmore.

In observing the bridal traditions of wearing "something old" and "something borrowed", she selected pearls that Mrs. David Gilmore of Wichita Falls, her aunt, wore at her wedding. In her shoe, she wore a sixpence and a touch of blue was also added to the bridal attire.

The bride's selection of her three sisters for her attendants and niece for flower girl attested to strong family ties. Mrs. Gary Galliton of Iowa Park was matron of honor, Mrs. David Metzger of Fort Worth was bridesmaid, Miss Jerri Lynn Brown of Iowa Park was the junior bridesmaid, and little Miss Jessica Galliton was flower girl.

The attendants wore mint green silesta chiffon dresses featuring blouson bodices, split sleeves and accordion-pleated skirts. They wore mint green carnations and baby's breath in their hair and carried nosegays of mint green and peach carnations, yellow daisies and baby's breath.

The flower girl wore a mint green silesta chiffon dress styled for a little miss with a slightly raised bodice, round neckline with a self ruffle, and three-tiered skirt topped with a satin sash. She carried a white basket of flowers in the bride's chosen colors.

Mothers of the bride and groom wore flattering gardenia corsages with their long gowns they selected to wear. Mrs. Brown's mint green Qiana dress was patterned to emphasize the blouson bodice, split sleeves and three-tiered skirt. Mrs. Hartgrove's peach Qiana gown featured a slightly raised bodice, draped neckline and A-line skirt.

The groom wore an ivory western tuxedo and boutonniere formed of a white rose, baby's breath and ivy leaf. All male participants wore ivory tuxedos with brown vests and pants.

Steven Stevens of Irving, the groom's nephew, served as ring bearer, and carried the rings on a traditional white satin pillow. Jimmy Brown was best man and Gary Galliton was groomsman.

Mrs. David Gilmore directed signatures of wedding guests as they arrived at the church. The round table, covered with white satin overlaid with white lace, held double votive candles encased in etched crystal globes banked with boxwood, the bride's book, and a white plume pen in a white velvet-based holder.

The Fellowship Hall of the church was the scene of the reception given by the bride's parents. They were assisted by Miss Teresa Feltman, Mrs. Roy Adams and Mrs. Henry Stevens. Houseparty members were Mmes. Bobby Fox, Jim Riddlehuber, Johnny Lee, Jack Headings and Bob Perkins.

Reception decorations were especially attractive and effective and attained the acme of perfection at the refreshment table.

The white satin floor length cloth featured a gathered skirt adorned around the top with garlands of smilax caught up with nosegays of peach roses, yellow and mint green daisies tied with yellow bows and streamers. The centerpiece was a handsome four-branched silver candelabra holding tall white candles and a dream-like bouquet of yellow, peach and mint green carnations, yellow and white daisies, baby's breath and sprengeri fern. The crystal and silver servicing pieces, bridal napkins engraved with the newlyweds' names and the date of their wedding, and the cake combined to achieve a general effect of beauty.

The wedding cake, which will always be remembered by the bride and groom as one of the happiest memories of the most memorable day in their lives, was an ethereal four-tiered structure. It was lifted by six tall white pillars above a fountain sending sparkling sprays of water from a bowl concealed in a ring of greenery and flowers used in table decorations. The cake was dexterously decorated with cascades of handmade butter cream petunias, roses, agapanthus, forget me nots and stephanotis, and the top tier lifted by four pillars was ornamented with a most dramatic cluster of the same flowers.

The gift table featured a cloth of white satin bordered with wide lace and a skirt of pure white silk. The decorative appointment was a white bird cage topped with bells outlined with pearls and tied with lilies of the valley. White and peach silk carnations cascaded on the outside, and on the inside two white feathered love birds were perched on white silk leaves and lilies of the valley.

During the reception, Christi Metzger, niece of the bride, and Steven Stevens, nephew of the groom, handed out the pink, yellow and mint green rice bags from dainty white baskets.

MRS. SCOTT EDWARD HARTGROVE

The groom's parents were hosts for the dinner held in connection with rehearsal for the wedding Thursday evening at Underwood's.

The new Mrs. Hartgrove chose a sheer eggplant two-piece dress for travel when the couple left for Lake Murray, Okla. to spend a short honeymoon. The dress was designed with a V neck blouse with three quarter length sleeves and a pleated skirt headed with a sash. They will live in Iowa Park.

Both young people were graduated from Iowa Park High School. She served as an officer in VOE two years and is working for the Velfree Shop. He played football, served as president of Building Trades and works for DenHart Construction Co.

Special wedding guests included Mrs. Dee Gilmore of Wichita Falls, and Mr. and Mrs. Steve Brown of Iowa Park, grandparents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Harlie Cooper of Lawton, Okla., grandparents of the groom, and Mr. and Mrs. Troy Walker of Lawton, Okla.

Shower fetes bride elect

A miscellaneous bridal shower was given for Miss Sandy Bea Lee, bride-elect of John Kenneth Moorhead, Tuesday evening at Texas Electric Reddy Room. Hostesses were Mrs. Joe W. Owen and Mrs. Joe D. Owen.

Decorations for the event were governed by peach and brown, colors chosen by the honoree for her wedding. Corsages fashioned of peach carnations and brown ribbons were presented to her and to Mrs. Betty Lee and Mrs. J.B. Moorhead, mothers of the engaged couple, upon their arrival for the party.

The refreshment table was laid with white lace over peach, the top cloth featuring peach bows and streamers. The attractive centerpiece was a five-branched black wrought-iron candelabra holding peach candles, peach and brown anemones and leaves. The sheet cake was decorated in the same colors and these were repeated in the daisy-shaped mints and punch.

The couple will recite their matrimonial lines September 21 at First United Methodist Church.

Members view tape machine

A highlight of the Band Boosters meeting Tuesday night was the showing of the video tape machine that the club purchased last year by Mark Cartwright, junior high school band director.

David Robnett presided during the business when the budget was approved and fund-raising projects were discussed. These included the calendar sales now in progress, the dunking machine at the Whoop-T-Do Sept. 29, and the possibility of sponsoring a buffet supper Sept. 28, prior to the homecoming game.

MRS. BILLY WAYNE ENGLAND

Cates-England nuptials exchanged by candlelight

Wearing an exquisite candlelight Chantilly lace gown over crepe of her own designing and fashioned by her mother, Miss Brenda Faye Cates became the bride of Billy Wayne England in a formal candlelight ceremony Saturday evening at Faith Baptist Church. The officiating minister was the Rev. Gary Lyles.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Dorothy Cates and James Cates, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilburn England.

The beauty of the bride's wedding dress was enhanced with a bodice distinguished with a high neckline, chiffon yoke edged with a chiffon ruffle that formed a V in both front and back, and long billowy sleeves that terminated in lace petal point cuffs closed with tiny self-covered buttons, repeating the trim on the back of the yoke. Capturing special attention were two narrow bands of chiffon held in place at intervals with pearls, one encircling the waistline and the other heading the wide flounce at the bottom of the ankle-length skirt.

The bride complemented her gown by wearing a candlelight chiffon-covered hat adorned with beaded lace appliques and a chiffon band duplicating the ones on her gown. The brim was turned up at the back to hold her billowy gathered illusion veil that cascaded to fingertip length.

To complete the charming picture, she carried a natural basket overflowing with shaded burgundy and pink silk orchids, mums and asters and fill-in sprays of white dogwood, pastel orange blossoms, lilies of the valley and baby's breath. She also remembered to observe bridal traditions.

The bride was escorted and presented in marriage for her parents by her uncle, Sam Fairchild. As she approached the altar, she presented her mother with a red rose of love and gave the groom's mother an identical floral token following the ceremony.

Mrs. George Huckaby III, pianist, accompanied Coy Lee for his solo offerings "What a Difference You've Made in My Life" and "Let's Take the Long Way Around the World," and played the time-honored wedding marches.

The couple exchanged their vows before an arch covered with boxwood greenery. Two seven-branched candelabra decorated with boxwood and burgundy silk bows on each side of the arch held lighted tapers to illuminate the setting. The family pews were marked with large white bows and other church pews were decorated with large burgundy bows.

The bride was attended by her sisters, Mrs. Toby Paddy as matron of honor, and Miss Marye Cates as maid of honor. They were attired in ankle length sheer burgundy gowns imprinted with muted pink flowers designed with long sleeves slit from shoulders to wrists, and deep ruffles at the hemlines.

The attendants wore pink hats banded with fabric like their dresses featuring turned up brims held with double burgundy silk carnations at the back. They carried smaller versions of the bride's basket and flowers.

The groom and his attendants wore burgundy vested tuxedos with pink ruffled shirts, the groom wearing a burgundy carnation surrounded by baby's breath for his boutonniere. The ushers wore candlelight ruffled shirts with their burgundy tuxedos.

Larry Goetze attended the groom as best man, and James England served as groomsman for his brother. Mike White and Wayne Moss were ushers.

For the wedding, Mrs. Cates selected a formal off-white sheer gown splashed with turquoise, gold and gray worn over turquoise knit. The dress was styled with a round neck and sleeves that opened at the shoulders and tied at the elbows. Her corsage consisted of bluish gray silk flowers and turquoise rosebuds. Mrs.

England wore a corsage of blue and yellow silk flowers with her long blue knit gown fashioned with a round yoked-neck and long sleeves gathered at the wrists.

The reception following the wedding was held in the Fellowship Hall of the church. The tables used in the setting and the one used in the foyer where wedding guests signed the bride's book were topped with burgundy overlaid with white lace and featured floor length white net gathered skirts over white. A wide band of burgundy ribbon edged the special tables for the newlyweds.

The bride's table gave the impression of sweetness, freshness and femininity. It was centered with her throw-away bouquet flanked by burgundy candles aglow in crystal holders. The other adornments included the crystal punch service, candlelight rice paper napkins, silver cake knife and server, all engraved with names and wedding date of the bride and groom, toasting glasses and cake.

The bride's cake, with its storybook look, was a four-tiered structure divided with two sets of Grecian pillars and draped with very pale pink roses and candlelight lilies of the valley. The confection was topped with triple white satin wedding bells completely rimmed with pearls and filled with lilies of the valley to complement the chimes of a blissful wedding.

Mrs. Sam Fairchild and Mrs. Billie Prater, aunts of the bride, served at the table during the reception. The groom's western style hat filled with silk burgundy and pink flowers and other colored blossoms to lend accent was the appropriate centerpiece for his table.

The three-tiered chocolate cake was decorated in tiny pink flowers and wedding symbols and topped with the humorous run-away groom. Adding interest to the table were small cake boxes lettered with names of the bride and groom and their wedding date holding pieces of the chocolate cake. These were presented to the guests for them to "take home and dream on."

Miss Leora Copas, who had presided at the bride's book earlier, and Miss Carolyn Copas served at the table.

Another table in the reception room held a tall rice bag tree uprising from a wicker basket circled with burgundy ribbon. The tree was decorated with rice bags of pink net tied with candlelight ribbon, and miniature wedding symbols.

A woven flower basket on the table was also filled with the bags. Miss Dana Hawkins, cousin of the bride, was in charge of handing out the novelties.

The rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents Friday evening at Underwood's. The engaged couple remembered their attendants with gifts of appreciation.

Following the reception, the newlyweds departed for a wedding trip to Colorado.

They will make their home in Iowa Park. Both were graduated from Iowa Park High School. She is employed by Best Products and he is with Cryovac.

Birk Circle has meeting

The Lucy Birk Circle of Women of the First Presbyterian Church met Tuesday morning with Mrs. Edna Lemond, Mrs. L. Shelton was the presiding officer.

Mrs. C.E. Birk served as lesson entitled "Courage for Commitment." She stated that after the disciples saw and knew the risen Lord their courage and commitment never wavered. "Their belief in the risen and victorious Lord profoundly changed their lives, as they lived and died as true disciples. As we think of our own commitment, we must remember that we have always lived on this side of the resurrection," she concluded.

A salad luncheon followed the Bible lesson. Six members were present.

Texas Electric TIPS help keep home electric bills down.

Saving energy—and energy dollars—in your home can be as simple as using energy wisely.

For example, make sure filters are kept clean in your furnace, air conditioner and clothes dryer. This ensures units are operating efficiently. And using less energy.

For additional savings on heating and cooling, keep drapes closed for extra insulation on overcast winter days and hot summer days. But on sunny winter days, open them to let the warm sunshine in.

And, turn off ALL appliances when you're not using them. When you stop and think of the many ways you use electricity, you'll see what an energy saver this can be!

Mr. and Mrs. James Patrick Fish are at home in Iowa Park after their recent wedding which took place at the Calvary Temple Church in Irving.

Miss Joy Lynn Underwood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Travis W. Underwood of Irving. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Billy Fish Sr. of Plano, former residents of Iowa Park. He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Fish of this city. The Rev. Joe Bailey officiated for the double-ring ceremony. The Rev. Leon Bird, grandfather of the bride, served the holy communion and had special prayer while the couple knelt at an altar beneath a curved candelabra holding white tapers which were also included in altar decorations.

The bride was attired in a lovely white gown of sheer nylon. The gown was designed with a high round neckline of sheer illusion, a basque bodice embroidered with seed pearls and crystal beads, long sheer sleeves cuffed with Chantilly lace. The hemline of the skirt repeated the lace trim. Her veil of sheer illusion featured the chosen lace framing her face and created a chapel length train.

Miss Renee Mobley of Houston was maid of honor and Miss Terri Victor of San Antonio was bridesmaid. Taking part as junior bridesmaid was Miss Eva Jeanne Fish of Plano, sister of the groom. They wore identical peach-colored Qiana gowns patterned with round necklines and matching bows that tied at the back waistlines. They carried oval-shaped beige fans decorated with peach-colored silk roses, daisies and ribbon streamers, designed by the bride.

Billy J. Fish Jr. of San Antonio was best man for his brother. Groomsman were Jeff Spruiell of Iowa Park and Dewayne Underwood, brother of the bride. Ushers and candlelighters were Joe Spruiell and Dickie Ashton of Iowa Park. The bride's mother wore a gown of peach Qiana trimmed with matching lace, and the groom's mother was attired in a green Qiana gown with a shirred belt. After the love candle ceremony, a reception was held at the church. The cake table was covered with white satin. The three-tiered cake towered over a lighted fountain. White columns lifted the top tier to show the layer beneath decorated with low pedestals holding peach roses and daisies. Miss Susan Odell of Irving served the cake to wedding guests.

A round table draped with a floor length white satin cloth held the crystal punch service. Miss Teresa West of Irving presided at the table. Peach satin rose rice bags were handed out by Miss Sherri Bray of San Antonio, cousin of the bride.

The bride was graduated from Irving High School and had been employed by the City of Irving Municipal Court. The groom was graduated from Plano High School and attended Richland College at Dallas. He holds a Texas plumbers license and is employed with Morris Plumbing Co. in Wichita Falls.

Attending the wedding from Iowa Park were Mr. and Mrs. Jim Fish, grandparents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. R.A. Ashton and Dee Ann, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Spruiell, Miss Jan Spruiell, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Noel and Jackie.

Other out-of-town guests were Rev. and Mrs. Leon Bird, Mountain View, Okla. grandparents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Fish Jr. and Shannon Leigh, Mrs. Barbara Bray, Donnie and Sherri, all of San Antonio, Mrs. Judy Smith, Gainesville, Mr. and Mrs. F.C. Carney, Fort Worth, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Robinson, Jacksboro.

Worth Quoting

I guess everybody gets shafted every now and then, but feels a little worse when you get "legally shafted" as I did this last weekend.

I had just caught my fourth trout and we were cruising into shore to eat dinner Saturday morning at Eagle Nest Lake. A New Mexico game warden pulled up in his pickup and called us to shore with a megaphone. We weren't too worried because we all had our proper fishing licenses ($5.25 each for one day) and we didn't have near our limit, but we figured it was a routine check.

It came as some kind of shock to us to find out we were speeding, yeah, we were going too fast on the lake with our 10 horsepower motor pushing the 15 foot boat with four men aboard. The lake was placid that morning and even a mother duck and her babies were making some sort of wake behind them, but we were arrested. I happen to have had my hand on the powerful throttle which supposedly was churning up the lake.

Well I would drive slower I informed the warden, hoping for warning, which I felt was fair considering the circumstances.

But he reached for his ticket book and I decided to accept the citation; I wasn't going to let it spoil the vacation. No, that wasn't enough of a punishment for this law abuser, it seems I was from Texas; enough said. "Son you'll need to post $60 bond he said." This seemed pretty stiff but we were still pretty cooperative.

After he refused to accept a check, my brother, father and I dug through our wallets and scraped up the $60 bond money.

"What if we couldn't come up with the bond money?" jokingly I said, "would I have to go to jail?"

"Yeah, I'm afraid so," was his sympathetic response.

Anyway, this dangerous water fiend was taken to the Cimmaron police station, a torn down dump 35 miles away, and posted bond before he was released three hours later.

There are a lot of legal technicalities involved which irk me, but I guess what bugs me the most about the whole ordeal is that here in this great free country of ours, that a person can be jailed for such a trivial matter as just described. The whole incident reminds me of stories I've heard where Americans have been jailed in foreign countries over insignificant matters, and that's sad.

Anyway I got shafted royally, but I did learn one thing from the whole affair. I now know the wisdom behind the phrase, "DON'T MAKE WAVES."

Letters to the Editor

Dear Mr. Hamilton:

On behalf of E.S.A. and the Jerry Lewis M.D. Telethon, I want to thank the residents of Iowa Park for their concern. We had total pledges of $887.00 and cash for our fish bowl of $320.30. Our pledge total would have been higher if it were long distance to call Wichita Falls. Several hundred dollars were called directly to the T.V. station cutting the Iowa Park total considerably.

We also send a special "Thank You" to the following for their door-to-door collections: Tammi Gibson, Stacy Wright, Bill Chandler, Tim Smith, Eddie and Christine McDonald, Mike Williams, Harry Skinner, Jr., Sheila and Larry Langston and Doug Dietrichson. They are beautiful, healthy young people and we are very proud of their efforts.

Martha Dudley
Pledge Center Chairman

Mr. Hamilton,

I went to a city council meeting Monday night to petition for city water outside the city limits at 902 W. Highway. I bought this property as commercial property to park my equipment and build a shop. I also intend to live on said property. My reason for not coming into the city limits was because I was informed that my plans for the property did not coincide with the future plans for the city. I will admit that a pulling machine might not beautify the city. But in what way can it harm it?

The council voted in my favor. I was to receive city water the next day. When I called to make arrangements for water service I was refused. It makes me wonder why we have a city council if their vote can be disregarded so easily.

As I See It....

There's no question in my mind that more and more new homes are going to be built completely or partially underground, to conserve on energy and cost of operation.

The pioneers, when they came to this part of the country and started settling, built homes similar to many being built over the nation today. They would dig out the side of a hill, usually along a creek bank near a water source, for the flooring of the house, and use what wood they could find for the upper part of the walls. The roof would be built of wood, covered by dirt, giving the name of the structures "sod houses".

Building such half dugouts was faster than ordinary homes, even where wood was plentiful. And those pioneers experienced, as did cave dwellers, natural insulation from the elements, thanks to the dirt cover.

People got away from dugouts as time progressed. I suspect that was because of problems of water seepage, insects, and the like. But now, with the technology of the construction industry, those problems are now overcome, and more and more homes over the nation are being built underground.

The first new home built underground, I was aware of, was back in 1962 in Plainview by a contractor named Jay Swayze. It was during that time Americans were afraid of an atomic war.

The home was beautiful, and so successful it is still a showplace. Shortly after its completion, an entire elementary school building was constructed underground in eastern New Mexico. It, also, was highly successful.

I didn't think a whole lot about it, until the last year or so, when the cost of electricity and natural gas started rising so rapidly....much more rapidly than my ability to increase my income. And when my utility bills started exceeding my home payments, I started looking around for solutions.

A number of articles have been published during the past couple of years on new homes being built partially or completely underground.

From what I've read, my interest lies with the partial underground home, because of construction costs and visibility outside.

Swayze, the contractor at Plainview, held a day-long seminar in Wichita Falls Saturday. Not a whole lot of interest was shown (maybe because he charged $40 per person) because only 31 persons, including speaker and Swayze staff, were in the room.

But to my surprise, five were from Iowa Park. And I'm aware of at least three others who would have attended, but didn't, for various reasons. So the interest is here in our community.

Three different articles I've seen, indicate tremendous savings on utilities. For instance, a home in Hamilton County that is very similar to one in Minnesota reported utility bills of about $50 per month last winter. And we all know how rough last winter was.

With that kind of saving on utilities, plus savings on insurance and exterior maintenance, it makes underground living very attractive.

There apparently is so much interest in underground homes, that the University of Minnesota produced a 313-page book on the subject.

Dolores and I have agreed to make our plans to build an underground home. We've yet to decide on a floor plan, or even where it will be located. But one thing is for sure, we don't like as much of our spendable income going to pay for utilities. We'd rather take that same money, and put it in on a nicer home.

Mean Green humbles top-ranked Rabbits

Happy Days Are Here Again

The only thing missing Friday night, while the Hawks were opening their 1979 football season with an impressive 21-0 victory over Bowie's Jackrabbits, was a band playing "Happy Days Are Here Again."

Backed by a stadium and fence packed with Mean Green supporters, Iowa Park looked like teams of old as the Hawks almost completely shut down Bowie's vaunted offense.

Offensively, ball carriers Mike Ray and Troy Thompson carried the major load, sharing between them 37 carries and 135 yards.

For all practical purposes, Iowa Park's fans could have packed up and started home after the Hawk Band made its season debut during halftime. Bowie was completely demoralized and outplayed in the first half. But everyone went through the motions of the final 24 minutes, anyway.

Through the first half, Iowa Park had amassed 14 points, 10 first downs, and 123 yards offense, while holding the host Jackrabbits to a mere two first downs, 25 total yards offense, no points, while losing two fumbles and having a pass intercepted.

There were two major factors in the game which had a major bearing on the outcome: kicking and penalties.

Senior Ron Taylor handles all the kicking game for Iowa Park. He booted six punts for an average of 36.3 yards per, and was perfect with his new point-after kicks. Only recently has he switched from a toe to soccer style kicking, and he was never close to missing an attempt. During the warmups, he was sailing the ball through the uprights from 40 yards.

Iowa Park fans started getting on the game officials pretty hard in the first half, when 55 yards were chalked off against the Hawks on five infractions. During the same half, Bowie was assessed 16 yards on four flags. There was another flag, but that play was rerun because of offsetting penalties.

At one time, an infraction against Iowa Park brought the ball all the way back from Bowie's 30 to the Iowa Park 30. Thompson was given the ball on a third-and-41 situation from the Hawk 42, and apparently had picked up a first down. But when the officials had finished stepping off the penalty, Iowa Park had third down again, but was 59 yards away from a first down. They punted.

The Hawks scored on their second possession, when Ray, junior starting fullback, punched over from a yard out to cap a 43-yard drive. Ray, who carried four of the last five plays on the drive, slashed over his left guard for the Hawks' first touchdown of the season with 2:07 left in the first quarter.

A pass interception by Robert Brown set up the second-quarter touchdown. Starting from the Bowie 37, the Mean Green offensive machine required only seven plays to score. That TD was another one-yarder by Ray, and again over left guard. The score board clock showed only 1:48 remaining in the half.

Iowa Park's proud defensive platoon set up the third score of the game, when defensive end Ronnie Reusch jarred the ball loose from a 'Rabbit runner and the tackle Tim Blackwell claimed in on the Bowie 15.

Thompson ran twice, for five and four yards respectively, and Ray set the ball up only inches from the goal line. On the next play, Ray banged his way over right guard for his apparent third TD of the evening, but the play was called back on a motion penalty.

On the next play, from the six yard line, quarterback Curtis Martin threw a strike to wingback Randall Schram in the end zone. That took place with 10 seconds remaining in the third quarter.

Picking up most of the yardage during the evening for Iowa Park were Ray, 18 carries and 83 yards; Thompson, 52 yards on 19 carries; and James Spears, 19 yards, five carries.

Tackle Tommy Ross and Spears each claimed possession of Bowie fumbles, and noseguard Mike Smith was credited with two. Actually, Smith had a third fumble to his credit, but a penalty nullified the play.

Bowie quarterback Bart Brooks attempted only three passes for the evening. Brown stole one of them, Jeff Crenshaw another, and Spears was upset with himself when he knocked down the third pass and thought he should have caught it.

The Hawks so dominated Bowie that they ran 44 offensive plays to Bowie's 46, indicating their control of the game.

JACKRABBIT FUMBLE - Bowie players lost four fumbles during Friday night's season opener with the Iowa Park Hawks. But this wasn't one of them. Noseguard Mike Smith covered the ball, as he did two others. But this one, a punt return, was called back when a penalty was called on the Hawks.

Cubs upset Eagles in opener

The Olney Cubs, aided by timely penalties and a surprise game plan, cost the Holliday Eagles their season opener, 7-0 Friday night at Olney.

The Cubs took the opening kickoff all the way to paydirt using a critical spearing penalty on Holliday's Kent Lemons, and a successful ground attack, while the Eagles waited for them to employ their reputed air attack.

With a first down on the Big Red's four-yard line, the Cubs lost three on a fine tackle by Jim Ezzell. However, an offside penalty put the ball at the two-and-a-half, where full-back Tim Pendleton dove over for the goal.

The PAT by kicker-quarterback Robert Myers froze the scoreboard at 7-0, with 7:31 in the opening period remaining, and the Eagle fans shaking their heads in disbelief.

The remainder of the quarter became a defensive struggle for both teams as neither could muster much of an offensive threat. After Olney had marched to its 44-yard line, a driving tackle by an Eagle defender forced a fumble with Jeff Smyers there to cover.

The Eagles started the second quarter with quite a bit more intensity than the first of the game, with running backs James Porter, Jim Ezzell, and Ron Looney bulling their way from their own 19 to the Olney 42.

Then Looney took the pitch from quarterback Gregg Graves and sprinted around right end outrunning his defenders to the goal-line and what appeared to be an Eagle TD.

But a late flag for holding brought the ball back and then some.

Graves then threw a 30-yard completion to wing-back Shane Owen for a first down. The drive then fizzled to a stop with two incomplete passes and a one-yard loss by Porter. The snap from center on fourth down went sailing over punter Cameron Honea's head for minus 22-yards.

A late drive by Olney before the close of the half was snuffed by an interception by Owen on the Eagle 38.

The second half opened with a 39-yard kickoff return by Porter. The Big Red churned to the Cub 16 with runs by Looney and Porter, and a 12-yard completion to tight end Kent Lemons. On second down, the Eagles were again called for holding. Porter ran on third down for 15 yards.

Faced with fourth-and-one, an Eagle gamble came up short as Porter was stopped for no gain.

In the fourth quarter, Owens ran back a punt for 50 yards to the Cub 33, setting the Big Red up in good field position. But disaster again took its toll as Graves pass to Owens came up short and was intercepted.

The Eagle defense held the line on the next possession by the Cubs, forcing them to punt from the 34. Porter returned the ball 23 yards to Olney's 33. After a quarterback sack for minus nine yards and a delay of game penalty charged to the Eagles, Porter took a pitch from Graves, pulled back from the line of scrimmage and fired a 22-yarder to Owens for a first down. Time ran out on the Eagles with third and seven on the Olney 24.

Dietetic foods - for whose diet?

By Barbara Cornelius
County Agent

Don't be misled by a "dietetic" label on foods.

"Dietetic" doesn't necessarily mean the product has fewer calories than the regular product.

In fact, many products labeled "dietetic" aren't meant for weight control diets they're for persons on low sodium, low cholesterol, diabetic or other special diets.

Calorie wise, many dietetic foods don't differ much from regular foods.

For example, one-half cup regular ice cream contains 230-248 calories, while the same portion of dietetic ice cream has 200-211 calories.

The main difference between them involves substituting sorbitol or mannitol for sugar in the dietetic product.

Sorbitol and mannitol-like sugar-are metabolized as carbohydrates in the body. They provide the same number of calories as sugar, but at a slower rate. This is important for diabetics, who can't metabolize sugar adequately.

So, dietetic ice cream, which usually costs more and lacks the taste of regular ice cream, is intended for the diabetic rather than the weight-conscious person.

Dieters or weight-watchers will find that ice milk has lower fat content-and fewer calories.

Another example involves "diet" bread, which has the same number of calories per ounce as regular bread-but is sliced a little thinner.

However, dietetic flavored gelatin actually contains fewer calories than regular flavored gelatin-nine calories per one-half cup, compared to 70 calories for regular flavored gelatin.

To find other foods low in calories, weight watchers are advised to read labels.

Although some labels furnish the content's calorie count, the ingredient list also provides a key.

Ingredients are listed with largest amounts first.

Teachers, driver hired

Highlights of Monday night's Holliday school board meeting included the hiring of two new teachers and a bus driver.

Hired were Donna Case, kindergarten, and Debby Gove, second grade. Cecil Hamady was hired as a bus driver.

In other action, the board also voted to participate in the Archer County Tax Appraisal District.

Reports on enrollment were announced, with a marked increase in enrollment in both the elementary and high school classes. The kindergarten through sixth grades reported 355 students, or 27 more than last year, and the seventh through twelfth grades showed an enrollment of 373 pupils, or an increase of 22.

In further action, the board voted to sell season tickets for home football games. Details will be available at the next meeting. The board also voted to change out the aging telephone system, and upgrade it with new equipment and more lines.

Staff named for Express

The Eagle Express, Holliday high school's official newspaper, announced the staff for the 1979-80 school year. They are: Teresa Bryan, editor; Tim Flaherty, managing editor; Kent Lemons and Kenneth Denham, editorials; Kyle Stone and Johnny Craig, features; Scott Reece, Charlie Wilson and Joe Chase, sports editors.

Jamie Smyers was named copy editor, Mike Emmons, production manager, and David Skelton, photographer.

Journalism I students will all officially be reporters for the school paper. There are 22 students in that class.

Eagles seek return to winning trail

Holliday's Eagles, still smarting from last week's upset loss to the Olney Cubs, will face a stern test tomorrow night against the Electra Tigers in their first game at home.

In the past, Holliday-Electra bouts have not been decided until near the end of the game, with fierce hitting and outstanding offensive play. This year should be no different.

The Tigers have seven veterans starting this season, anchored by middle linebacker Dyke McMahan (6-0, 200). McMahan is a proven athlete in this position and reportedly has all-state potential.

The Tiger offense will feature Sammy Weaver (6-2, 180) at fullback, Brad Klein and Jessie Jacobi (6-0, 185) at the ends, with Shawn Matthews at the helm.

Last week, Electra squeaked by Archer City, 12-0, with both touchdowns scored on runs of 20 yards. But the Tigers also missed at least two chances to score earlier in the game, losing the ball on fumbles. A total of five fumbles were recorded that evening by them.

The Eagles will be without the services of two-way starter Jim Ezzell for at least two weeks due to a slight concussion suffered during the Olney game. Doctors have advised Ezzell to lay out for 10 days or more as a precautionary measure.

Otherwise, the Eagles will have an excellent opportunity to erase some bad memories tomorrow night at home. Game time is 8 p.m.

Cook of the Week

"The language of food is the language we all speak, a subject in which we are all interested" (From David Wade's Magic Kitchen). This statement, in its broadest sense includes people of all nations, and implies that they have an interest in foods of other lands as well as those of their own lands.

Each country has its own food specialties, some with extraordinary names and equally extraordinary tastes. Many of the recipes call for a special piece of equipment or formidable techniques, which discourage people from trying them. For instance, some foods in India are cooked in a clay oven, called a tandoor, which accounts for their intriguing flavor and appearance. The techniques of many have been modified without taking away from the taste, and it is our good fortune to have Dixie (Mrs. Virgil) Blackwell, who spent four years in Saudi Arabia, to show us how we can prepare foods from five different countries with our own tools and techniques.

Mr. and Mrs. Blackwell first moved to Iowa Park in 1967 right after their marriage. She has the fondest memories of the four years they spent in Saudi Arabia. He is presently associated with Northrop Corp. at Sheppard AFB. A graduate of Big Spring High School, Mrs. Blackwell worked for Kent Oil Co. before her marriage. She likes to cook and considers homemaking her true career. She is assistant organist and pianist at Southwest Baptist Church in Wichita Falls where the family attends.

The Blackwells have two children, Andrea, a third grader at Kidwell Elementary, and Kevin, two years old.

Mrs. Virgil Blackwell

Do not put anything in them except butter and a dash of salt as they need to be dry also because they will need to be divided into balls about the size of golf ball. Chill until they put out like a pancake in the palm of the hand. Cup them and put a teaspoon of meat mixture in them, then close potatoes around the meat. Roll in bread crumbs and fry in small amount of oil until golden brown.

Church group helps needy

Nineteen members of the Friendship Class of First Baptist Church attended the monthly business and social meeting Monday in the home of Mrs. Homer Blalock, with Mrs. M.E. Goforth the co-hostess.

Mrs. C.L. Metz, president, was in charge of business and directed monthly reports of officers and chairmen. Mrs. Elmer Singleton, community missions chairman, reported that the class had sent sugar, clothes, linens and laundry supplies in the amount of $109.79 to Faith City Mission during August. The members voted to accept Beacon Lighthouse for the Blind for the September project.

Mrs. E.T. Patterson used "A Bag of Tools" for a theme of the devotional program stressing that each one had abilities and materials possessions that he could use as tools for "going about doing good", following Christ's example.

The next meeting will be the annual salad supper and installation service Oct. 9 at the church.

Hobby club has election

The Friendship Hobby Club was organized recently in the home of Mrs. Emmett Bernstein. Officers elected included Mmes. Harold Bartow, president; Argie Gould, vice president; Patty Brown, secretary; Johnny Bernstein, treasurer; Pete Walls, reporter; and Emmett Bernstein, telephone chairman.

The group has worked on decoupage and plaster of Paris articles at salad luncheons since organizing.

Soil fertility seminar tonight

By Don Decker
County Agent

The soil fertility seminar is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. today in the Reddy Room of Texas Electric Service Company in Wichita Falls. Special emphasis will be placed on wheat fertilization since growers are beginning to fertilize the wheat crop soon to be planted. However, the information will be applicable to other crops and pastures.

Fertilization provides maximum response under proper cultural practice. With this in mind, land and seedbed preparation for wheat will be discussed by Fred Dwyer of Bacon Switch. Seeding rates will be presented by Rex Wells of Iowa Park.

Functions of nitrogen, nitrogen sources, and micro nutrients will be presented by Dr. Carl Gray, Extension Soil Chemist. Dr. Gray was formally associated with the agricultural department at Midwestern State University.

Phosphorous and potassium with their effects on plant development will be given by Dr. Dale Lovelace, Extension agronomist. Their availability in the soil will be briefly considered. He will also discuss fertilizer placement.

Adaptions of liquid fertilizer to row crops, small grains, and pastures will be given by Tom White of Thornberry. This event is under the sponsorship of the county field crops committee headed by Dwyer. Membership includes Fred Daume, Rex Wells, Loys Barbour, Ralph Harvey, Ed Pryor, Mike Isbell of Iowa Park, Raymond Schroeder, Dan Glass, Frank Morton of Burkburnett, Cecil Jarvis, Tom White of Friberg Cooper, Otto Malone, and Larry McAlister of Electra.

sorghum demonstrations to late planting (about July 1). This late cropping system has some built-in problems - available moisture for planting is questionable, bird damage on the fall ripening crop, and difficulty in getting the moisture low enough for harvest in the fall.

Teams split first games

Iowa Park football teams, other than the varsity, broke even in their season openers. There were two wins, two defeats, and a tie.

The Junior Varsity delighted several hundred fans in Hawk Stadium Thursday night by defeating the Wichita Falls Rider JV club 7-6.

Iowa Park Freshmen lost 8-16 to the Electra Junior Varsity. That game proved expensive, in that the team lost the services of its outstanding fullback Steve Stewart for two or more weeks with a broken arm.

An Electra player was also injured in that game. Troy Craighead injured his neck and was taken by an ambulance to Wichita County Hospital. Reports this week, however, indicated his injuries had not been serious and he was recovering well.

Tuesday evening three junior high teams split a triple-header at Burkburnett.

The Seventh Grade "A" team won 8-0, on runs by David Atwood. The Seventh Grade "B" team tied, 0-0. But the Eighth Grade team lost 0-24.

Thespians make plans

The Iowa Park High School Thespians discussed various activities coming up in the future, when the organization met Tuesday afternoon.

They discussed holding money-making projects, such as theatre productions and bake sales, as well as holding tournaments and other events in which members will be involved.

Jeff Shaw is president, Michael Sharpe is vice president, Tracy Johnson is secretary, and sponsor is Brenda Beebe.

Registration continues

Registrations for the 1979 Punt, Pass & Kick Competition, sponsored locally by Shaw Motor Co. continue to roll in. The contest, open to any youngster eight through 13 years of age, has become a success throughout the country.

Any boy or girl who meets the age requirements and who can punt, pass and kick a football - or who'd like to try - will want to compete. Participants compete only against others their own age, and there is no body contact.

No special equipment is needed and participation does not impair a youngster's amateur standing. Each youngster competes in three categories - punting, passing and kicking. Judges score one point for each foot the ball travels on the fly, minus one point for each foot the ball lands to the right or left of the center tape.

Youngsters, accompanied by a parent or guardian, may register for PP&K at any participating Ford dealer. There is no entrance fee.

Double cropping with cotton

By Don Decker
County Agent

Ray Hicks may have hit the "jackpot" on putting cotton behind wheat graze-out land or on wheat stubble. Normally, the wheat uses most of the available moisture and the double-cropped cotton suffers for moisture the remainder of its growing season.

Skip-row planting by Hicks on wheat graze-out land looks good this year. He established a demonstration which includes every row planted on 40-inch row, two rows planted with one row skipped, and four rows planted with two rows skipped. Either skip-row system leaves one-third of the land fallow between the rows of cotton. This enables the cotton to draw moisture from the skipped rows, which helps to overcome the moisture deficit problem created by the previous growing wheat crop.

Yield checks will be made to measure the results of this practice. Under a regular cropping system, the skip-row planting produces less cotton than every row planted. However, under the double cropping system (cotton planted immediately behind wheat), skip-row cotton may have an important place.

Hicks had cotton behind graze-out wheat last year on this same land. The every row cotton yields were very poor. This same practice modified by the skip-row planting has prospects of three-fourth bale cotton.

This system may prove the best of growing from wheat to cotton in a rotation system.

Clean fence rows have a lot of advantages. Some which come to mind include the prevention of spreading weed seeds into the adjoining fields, ease of maintaining fences, reduction of sand drifting into the fence row, and improved appearance. For example, a tumbleweed growing off a fence row breaks loose, and the wind carries it across the field scattering seed as it tumbles. Chemicals are available which will do a good job.

The crops tour last week stopped at the W.H. and Terry McAlister farm where grasses and weeds are controlled in the fence rows with chemicals. They are using Hyvar XL. A single treatment gives control for about 3 years.

One gallon of Hyvar XL mixed in 100 gallons of water treats a strip about 3 feet wide for about one-third mile of fence row. The material is applied to the ground with a tractor mounted sprayer. A nozzle is attached to a front-end loader which can be adjusted upward or downward as the operator drives along the fence. Terry McAlister said, "We started out with a hand sprayer but changed to the tractor mounted sprayer to reduce labor."

The Hyvar XL cost about $26 per gallon. McAlister went on to say, "A mile of fence row can be treated for about $75, and it will last for about 3 years. This task can be performed in early spring during slack season." The chemical is carried into the soil by rain, and the mode of action is through the roots.

On the tour Fred Daume asked about the distance of lateral movement by the chemical in the soil. Cotton growing in the field had been killed to about 5 feet away from the fence.

PUBLIC NOTICE
BRIEF EXPLANATORY STATEMENTS OF PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS
SPECIAL ELECTION
NOVEMBER 6, 1979

PROPOSITION NO. 1 ON THE BALLOT (H.J.R. 108)
House Joint Resolution 108 proposes an amendment to the Texas Constitution relating to the appointment and terms of notaries public. The proposed amendment would: —Require the Secretary of State to appoint a convenient number of Notaries Public for the state; and —Authorize terms of office of Notaries Public of not less than two years nor more than four years.
A temporary provision of the proposed constitutional amendment provides that the amendment would take effect January 1, 1980; that each person who was appointed a notary public before January 1, 1980, would continue to serve as a notary public for the term for which the person was appointed; and that this temporary provision would expire January 1, 1982.
The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:
"The constitutional amendment to provide for the appointment of notaries public for a term of not less than two years nor more than four years as provided by law."

PROPOSITION NO. 2 ON THE BALLOT (H.J.R. 133)
House Joint Resolution 133 proposes an amendment to the Texas Constitution to provide for legislative review of the process of rulemaking by agencies in the executive department. The proposed amendment would allow the Legislature to enact laws: —To provide for legislative review of the process of rulemaking by agencies in the executive department; —To prescribe conditions for rules to take effect; —To provide for suspension, repeal, or expiration of rules; —To prescribe procedures; and —To delegate powers to either or both houses or to committees of either or both houses.
The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:
"The constitutional amendment to provide for legislative review of the process of rulemaking by agencies in the executive department."

the process of rulemaking by agencies in the executive department."

PROPOSITION NO. 3 ON THE BALLOT (S.J.R. 13)

Senate Joint Resolution 13 proposes an amendment to the Texas Constitution authorizing the Legislature to provide for the guarantee of loans used to purchase farm and ranch real estate for qualified borrowers. The proposed amendment would allow the Legislature to provide for, issue, and sell general obligation bonds called "Farm and Ranch Loan Security Bonds" of the State of Texas not to exceed 10 million dollars. All money received from the sale of such bonds would be deposited in a separate fund with the State Treasurer and administered by the commissioner of agriculture without further appropriations. These funds would be used to guarantee loans for the purchase of farm and ranch real estate. The commissioner of agriculture would use these funds, under provisions to be prescribed by the Legislature for the purpose of guaranteeing loans used for the purchase of farm and ranch real estate, to acquire real estate mortgages or deeds of trust on lands purchased with guaranteed loans. These funds would also be used to advance to the borrower a percentage of the principal and interest due. The Legislature may also authorize the commissioner of agriculture to sell at foreclosure any land acquired in the manner authorized by this amendment. The commissioner of agriculture would be required to charge at least 6 percent interest on such loans. The proposed amendment appropriates an amount that is sufficient to pay the principal and interest on the bonds that mature or become due during the fiscal year less the amount in the interest and sinking fund at the close of the prior fiscal year.
The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:
"The constitutional amendment authorizing the legislature to provide for the guarantee of loans for purchase of farm and ranch real estate for qualified borrowers by the sale of general obligation bonds of the State of Texas."
