

9,000 MISSING

County clerk concerned about voters

Where did all the voters go? That's what County Clerk Jerry Padgett is asking, after the Postal Service returned about 9,000 voter registration cards which were undeliverable.

Padgett said almost 20 percent of the cards his office mailed early last week have been returned, and that doesn't include Burkburnett, which hadn't been heard from as of yesterday morning.

Almost 25 percent of the 4,000 cards sent through the Iowa Park post office were returned.

Padgett's office was handed the duties of voter registration this year. He said the addresses apparently were four years old.

Those cards returned apparently were sent to citizens who moved during the past four years, but failed to notify the clerk's office of their change of address. The postal service forwards first class mail for a year after a change of address, but Padgett had instructed the mail people that he wanted correct addresses on the cards and if there were any differences, they were to be returned.

One Postal Service employee explained that some citizens receive their mail at a post office box, and had their street address on the cards, and for that reason they were returned.

It was also brought out that Padgett was one of those who didn't receive his registration card. He had moved from 702 Coleman to 708 Coleman, and therefore had an improper address on his card.

The county's cost of mailing the cards was nine cents, because they were "pre-sorted". But return of each card cost the county an additional 10 cents.

SOLUTIONS

Padgett said those persons who have not received their registration cards will not be able to vote in the general election in November of 1980 unless they contact the county clerk's office with proper information or vote in one of the party primaries next spring.

Those who failed to receive their card can go to the office, write or call the clerk's office and give them the information, Padgett said, and a new card will be provided.

Citizens who do not have a new registration card when the party primaries are held will be allowed to vote at that time, and information given at the polls will make it possible for new cards to be prepared.

However, those who do not receive a card or vote in the primaries will be placed on the office's "strike list", and after the primaries their names will be stricken from the list of eligible voters, Padgett said.

Padgett also said any citizen who received a card with misspelled names or any other improper information, should contact his office either in person or by mail...if you have the proper address, that is.

Restrictions discussed on mobile homes in city

A joint, informal meeting of the city council and Planning and Zoning Commission was held Monday night, following the council's regularly-scheduled meeting.

Purpose was "...to establish better communications on the mobile home issue" which has been raised at various times during the past year at council meetings.

Out of Monday's discussions came instructions to City Administrator

Steve Morath to draft a new ordinance which would restrict mobile homes locating here in the future to mobile home parks or subdivisions.

A second meeting between the council and commission, at which time the ordinance will be studied and discussed, has been set for 7 p.m. Monday in council chambers.

Commission chairman Robert Nolen told the council the members of his group had unanimously agreed that mobile homes should be restricted to parks or subdivisions in the future.

During the discussion, only one member of either group, Billy Gilmore, expressed any intention of voting against such restrictions.

Gilmore said young families had no opportunity to buy conventional homes, because of their costs, today. He did, however, say he would possibly agree to a subdivision where a mobile home owner could eventually pay off the land on which his home sat, thus not have never-ending rent payments.

Nolen explained that studies have shown that mobile homes are spreading rapidly throughout the original townsite, because only those subdivisions with deed restrictions prohibited them. He said neither he nor members of the commission were against mobile homes, but the facts brought out in various studies of property values indicate mobile homes diminished the values of permanent homes.

Alderman Bud Adams said his basic philosophy was that a person should be able to do with his property as he wished, but he realized that there must be some sort of restrictions in order to maintain community organization and control.

At last count, there are 128 mobile homes in Iowa Park, and less than half are in mobile home parks, it was brought out.

Nolen said the mobile homes were spreading "from the south and east throughout the original townsite."

Mayor Johnny Crawford told those in the meeting that there is another reason for certain limitations of growth in the city. Water is a limiting factor, he said, because Iowa Park has now been limited because of purchasing contract with Wichita Falls and the Iowa Park treatment plant capacity, to a population of approximately 10,000.

He indicated that with a population ceiling, homes with higher tax values than mobile homes would be necessary, in order to provide the taxes necessary to maintain city services and facilities.

When asked how many inquiries he has on moving mobile homes into Iowa Park, Morath said through the summer and until November, the average was three to four inquiries a week.

Christmas money to be given Dec. 8

Iowa Park shoppers will begin registering for free Christmas shopping money, courtesy Iowa Park Chamber of Commerce, starting Monday, according to Tommy Key, first vice president.

The money will be in the form of script, and drawings will be held frequently Dec. 8, following the annual Wichita County Christmas Parade, to name the lucky winners.

Those registering at participating Chamber member firms will not be required to make any purchases. They will, however, be required to be present to win the money.

Drawings will be for books worth $50 in $5 script bills. The script can be redeemed only at participating firms throughout Iowa Park.

A complete list of participating firms will be published in the Leader next week.

About 100 units are expected to participate in the parade, which will be followed by a chili feed by the Iowa Park MuleSkinners. A band will be playing music for the people while they eat.

Then the drawings will begin, and merchants are expecting to offer numerous money-saving specials for shoppers throughout the entire weekend.

City buys three vehicles

The Iowa Park city council Monday night purchased three vehicles, gave the go-ahead on construction of an additional ground water storage tank and took a step which possibly will lead to the opening of Fourth Street onto West Highway.

Aldermen turned down the lowest bids on two vehicles but accepted the low bid on the third.

Bates-Barrios bid of $6,295.15 was the highest bid on a new police car, but was accepted. Purchased was a 1979 Malibu Classic. Shaw Motor had offered to sell a 1979 LTD II for $5,750.50 or 1980 Granada for $6,245.63, while Longhorn Chevrolet offered a 1980 Malibu for $6,025.87.

City Administrator recommended the Bates-Barrios bid be accepted because he didn't feel either Shaw vehicle would give the fuel savings the city seeks, and service would be too far away should the Longhorn bid be accepted.

Though the city advertised for bids on two compact pickups, they accepted only one, but took a six-week option to purchase the second. They wanted to see what the costs are on a three-wheel motor scooter similar to what parking meter checkers in Wichita Falls use, to be used for water meter readers here.

Again Bates-Barrios' bid was accepted, though it was not the lowest bid. The local firm offered a 1979 LUV for $5,288.75, while Shaw asked $5,389 for a 1980 Courier. Longhorn's bid of $4,599.59 for a 1980 LUV was lowest, but a notation that the bid was "subject to price adjustment" was cause for council rejection.

Longhorn's offer for a one-ton truck chassis of $6,056.30 was accepted, though the vehicle was said not to be in stock. Bates-Barrios bid was $6,718.47 and Shaw $6,855.45.

Joe Barrios told council members he was unable to explain why the Wichita Falls bids were all lower than those from the local firms. He said he was embarrassed because "the prices are below my costs."

When deciding to advertise for bids for construction of the 500,000 gallon storage tank, aldermen also decided to advertise for bids to sell a 1970 pickup which has been used by the animal control officer but has recently been wrecked. The new compact pickup purchased by the city will replace the wrecked vehicle.

At the last council meeting, Ed Biggs, engineer, told council members he had plans and specifications for construction of the water tank completed. It will be built at the existing storage facility on North Victoria in order to give the city more space for water.

Aldermen approved re-appointment of Vern Mikkelson to the electrical board, and confirmed the appointment of Stanley Williamson to represent the city on the new county-wide tax appraisal board.

The council approved a resolution permitting the mayor to sign a lease/purchase contract with Deryl James to acquire property at 904 W. Highway.

Originally intended as a possible site for the city library, that proposal was ruled out by the library board. Mayor Johnny Crawford explained Monday that should the city exercise its option to purchase the property, the home could be sold and moved, and Fourth Street could then be opened to connect with West Highway, alleviating traffic and drainage problems in that area.

He also pointed out that Aldine could be developed, west from Third Street.

Under terms of the contract, the city is to pay James $200 per month for 12 months to lease the property, with the lease money being applied to a purchase price of $35,000 should the city exercise its option to purchase the land.

Most if not all the money spent by the city could be returned from renting the house prior to selling it, sale of the balance of the land not used for streets, plus improving the area which could be developed and taxable improvements then being erected, Crawford explained.

In other business, council members approved Tanner-Aulds Funeral Home to use its three gas yard lights, complying with a state requirement for continued use of gas lights; and approved write off of some $190 still owed the city after a former city employee bought an old police car, paid $160 toward the total purchase price, and left still owing the money.

Rash of thefts reported in city over weekend

Iowa Park city police reported a rash of thefts taking place over the weekend.

A tire and wheel were taken from inside a van parked at 407 Valley Drive between 9 p.m. and midnight Friday, according to L.D. Skelton.

That morning a box of honey was taken from the Sonic Drive-In between 5 and 9 a.m., and an order bell was broken.

Between 2:30 and 8 p.m. Saturday, a load of firewood was reportedly taken from the Kenny Jones in Shiloh Addition and at the same time a window in the kitchen was broken. The wood had been stacked near the driveway.

Three rolls of four-foot fencing was reportedly taken from 803 S. Wall Sunday. Leonard Davis, owner, estimated the value at $200.

Sometime Saturday night, a .22 caliber semi-automatic rifle, 12 gauge single shot shotgun, tool box and tools and a jack were taken from 1123 Louisa, according to Lonnie Hartman, who set the loss value at $580.

An officer on patrol found two windows broken on the junior high campus about 1:30 a.m. Thursday. One window was on the south side of the gymnasium and one on the south side of the band hall. Investigation failed to find anything missing or disturbed in either building.

Shower fetes recent bride

Mrs. Randy Blair, the former Pennie Baker, was honored at a postnuptial shower Tuesday evening.

The party took place in the home of Mrs. D.O. James. Other hostesses were Mmes. Joe Bell, J.C. Roby, J.C. Helms, W.F. Booher and E.T. Patterson.

The colors of blue and white dominated the decorative scheme for the miscellaneous shower.

The refreshment table, covered with a white Irish linen cloth accented with pastel embroidered designs, reflecting the artistry of the Bahamas, was the center of interest in the setting. Each appointment, including the centerpiece of white silk roses, baby's breath and blue candles arranged in a crystal cutglass bowl, blue napkins lettered with "Pennie and Randy", and crystal service, complemented the exquisite cloth.

The chosen colors were again noted in the corsages presented to the honoree, Mrs. Nina Baker and Mrs. Bernard Blair, mothers of the recently married couple.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Jim Stanlee of Burkburnett and Mrs. Bob Mataska of Henrietta, sisters of the honoree.

Knezek-Baker nuptial vows exchanged Saturday

The altar of the Sacred Heart Catholic Church in Wichita Falls was decorated with two sunburst arrangements of American beauty mums, valeria gladioli and dusty rose chrysanthemums flanked by potted greenery Saturday evening for the wedding of Miss Catherine Marie Knezek and Darrell Miles Baker. Silk bows in the same hues marked the church pews.

Candles were lighted by Stephen and David Eaves who served as acolytes.

Msgr. Charles King officiated the seven o'clock ceremony uniting the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo G. Knezek of Iowa Park and the son of Mr. and Mrs. L.L. Baker of Childress.

During the service, Henry Simons, lector, read the scripture passages selected by the couple, and the bride was given communion by her father.

Wedding musicians were Mrs. Ed Pastusek of Fort Worth, organist, and Mrs. Vincent Koetter of Bowie, vocalist, who sang "Ave Maria" and "Wedding Song". The organist played the accompaniment and traditional marches for the entrance and exit of the wedding party.

The bride wore a lovely formal wedding gown made by her mother when she was presented in marriage for both parents by her father. Fashioned of ivory Qiana, the front of the bodice was overlaid with Alencon lace embossed with roses and orange blossoms extending from the shoulders in front to form a band around the empire waistline. The lace trim was repeated on the long sleeves above the wrists, and the A-line skirt swept gracefully into a cathedral train.

For her headpiece, the bride chose a camelot cap of lace to hold her cascading walking-length tulle veil adorned with lace appliques. She carried a cascade bouquet of white butterfly roses centered with a white cattleya orchid.

To complete her costume, the bride observed traditions. For "something old", she carried a white prayer book, a wedding gift to her late grandmother, Mrs. Frank Pastusek, from her husband. "Something borrowed" was a diamond necklace which belonged to her cousin, Mrs. Daniel Holman of Holliday. She further followed tradition with the blue garter and sixpence in her shoe.

A matron of honor and a bridesmaid preceded the bride to the altar. Mrs. Stephen Findley of Arlington, the matron of honor, wore a long dusty rose gown styled with a V neck, long sleeves and shirred waistline in front. Mrs. Daniel Holman, the bridesmaid, wore an identical gown, except in rust. They carried colonial bouquets consisting of dusty rose daisies, bronze doty mums, bronze and dusty rose cascading silk streamers. They wore matching flowers in their hair.

MRS. DARRELL MILES BAKER

The groom chose a beige suit and wore a white rose boutonniere for his wedding. Bryan Keener, the best man, was attired in a beige coat and dark brown pants. George Knezek, brother of the bride, the groomsman, Daniel Holman of Holliday and Michael Ehrle of Pampa, ushers, wore solid brown suits.

Mothers of the couple wore white carnation corsages with their street-length dresses. Mrs. Knezek's blue sheer dress worn over blue taffeta was designed with a shirt collar neck and long sleeves. Mrs. Baker wore a brown double knit two-piece dress.

The bride's parents honored the newlyweds at a reception in the Parish Hall following the wedding. They were assisted by Mmes. D. Hooper, Leon Stutts, Jay McCluskey, David Stanley, Craig Chamberlain and Henry Simons.

The bride's table was characterized by impressive beauty and charm. It was draped with a formal white satin cloth overlaid with white net caught up in swags centered with white satin wedding bells adorned sequins and tiny wedding bells.

The bouquets of the bridal attendants were placed on the table in front of the five-branched silver candelabrum holding white candles in the center.

The bride's three-tiered white cake captured attention at one extremity of the table. The all-white theme was broken only by the pale green leaves on the white frosting roses that cascaded softly on the sides. Grecian pillars raised the top tier to show the beauty of the tier below centered with a small basket filled with the frosting white roses. The top ornament for the cake, most appropriate for the sentimental occasion, was the bride and groom that topped the bride's parents' cake at their wedding.

Other table appointments were the crystal punch service and ivory bridal napkins.

The groom's table was laid with ivory lace over brown linen. The appointments featured a layered chocolate cake iced in beige and decorated with white frosting roses with pale green leaves, a crystal bowl filled with silk flowers in autumnal shades flanked by tapers in single silver holders, and the silver coffee service.

The cloth on the table where guests registered duplicated the one on the bride's table. It held a bud vase filled with fall flowers, the bride's book and feathered pen.

A special wedding guest was Mrs. Marie Knezek of Seymour, grandmother of the bride.

The groom's parents hosted the rehearsal party at Highland Oaks.

Following a wedding trip to points of interest in South Texas, the newlyweds will live at 5124 Professional Drive in Wichita Falls.

The new Mrs. Baker was graduated from Iowa Park High School and received a B.S. degree in medical technology from the University of Texas at Arlington. She is employed as a student coordinator of medical technology at Wichita General Hospital.

The groom was graduated from Childress High School and served in the U.S. Air Force. He is self-employed by Baker Masonry Construction.

"And a little child shall lead them" Is. 11:6. It is a well known fact that children throughout history have had a strong influence in shaping attitudes, conduct and even lives of people as they have led them.

Today 28 kindergarten students at Bradford Elementary School are leading the Leader readers into a whole new world of foods under the guidance of their very competent teacher, Joni Whitis, who has just finished a two-weeks food study and experiment.

During the study, Mrs. Whitis taught the children the importance of the four basic food groups, balanced meals and importance of food for their bodies. One of the main points of the unit was to impress upon them that they should not always eat snacks.

The most exciting part of the unit for the students was getting to plan and cook their noon meals. Mrs. Whitis worked with five of them each day behind a screen so that those who were not on "kitchen duty" would not know what the bill of fare for the day was. They cooked in an electric skillet, crock pot or on a hot plate. Their mothers furnished all of the ingredients. Another fun part of the study was allowing each student to test his artistic talent by drawing a picture of himself or herself in the act of cooking.

Mrs. Whitis took a poll to find out the children's favorite foods, and the top three were pizza, macaroni and cheese, and scrambled eggs. She compiled two cook books for the parents, one containing simple recipes that the students can prepare at home, and this book also contains some recipes for the hyperactive children. The other cook book is filled with a few of the "odd" recipes that the children gave to her as their favorites. They also gave the methods for preparing them. We share some of the odd recipes this week as the young students lead us into another world of foods.

The Living Word

During the Thanksgiving season each year all of us should pause to consider how bountifully we have been blessed and to give thanks for our blessings. The Christian should live in a constant state of thankfulness, and during this time of the year each should evaluate his attitude of gratitude. One of the blessings we should all be thankful for is the capacity to love and to be loved.

We have the capacity to love God and to be loved by God. God created a magnificent world and placed man in it as his crowning work of creation. When we pause to observe the universe we find unmistakable evidence of God's love for man. God's love was shown again in an even more personal way when, after man's rebellion and fall, God sent Christ into the world to redeem man, John 3:16. James wrote, "Every good gift and every perfect gift is from above, coming down from the Father of lights, with whom can be no variation, neither shadow that is cast by turning." James 1:17. The central nature of God's being is love, as manifest in so many ways in his creation of the universe, in his continual care of mankind, and in his provision of a means of salvation for lost mankind. God is concerned to have man's love. This is shown in the fact that the greatest commandment in God's book is that man should love God with all his heart, soul, mind and strength, Mark 12:28-30.

As one surveys the life of Christ he finds the expression of love in every action of the Master. The truth is that Jesus loved everybody whom he met, those who were wholesome and fine, those who were besmirched with sin, Matthew 9:35-36. The quality of divinity which he most vividly displayed is the great love which he manifested toward all men. It is this that leads me to feel that we are most blessed in being created with the capacity that enables us to love and to be loved—as so beautifully displayed in the life of our Lord.

The second dimension of this great quality is seen in man's ability to love other human beings and to be loved by them. The love of a man and wife; parent for a child; child for a parent; friend for a friend. "But now abideth faith, hope, love, and these three; and the greatest of these is love." I Cor. 13:13. May we each develop this ability to love; for through it we will be blessed, our families and the world in which we live receives blessings when we love.

Inflation hits your electric bill just as hard as it does your grocery bill.

Every time you go to the grocery store you can see what inflation's doing to your food bill. But because you don't buy electricity by the can, you probably don't realize how inflation affects the cost of electricity. Fuel costs are up, particularly natural gas. Equipment costs are up. Power lines, transformers and poles cost us more every day. Just like milk costs you more every day.

The millions of dollars we must borrow to build plants to ensure your electricity needs in the future are costing us more. The cost of building these plants is higher, too, because of inflation. And because of the time and money it takes to comply with an ever-increasing number of government regulations. The longer it takes to build, the more inflation takes its toll. Inflation, overregulation and rising fuel costs are all making your electricity cost you more. But by using electricity wisely you can do your part in keeping that cost down in your home. At Texas Electric, we want you to know what you're paying for.
